CHANCE FOR FREEDOM.

Wisconsin Supreme Court Directs New Trials for Emery and Lord. Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The supreme court at Madison today handed down its decision in the case of Charles H. Emery and William Lord, serving life sentences in the state prison under conviction of conspiracy in the murder of Peter Houston in Wood county June 2, 1883, who appealed to the Supreme court for another chance for freedom through the medium of a new trial, alleging errors in the trial which were corrected.

Emery and Lord were found guilty in the October term of the circuit court of Wood county upon information charging them with having on the 2nd day of June, 1883, at Wood county, murdered Peter Houston, and were sentenced to imprisonment during life in the state prison. Houston's wife was the daughter of David Jacobs and trouble was directed between Emery and Houston arose out of some dispute in regard to certain lands.

WANT THEIR RIGHTS.

Oneida Indians Claim the Government is Holding $1,700,000. Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 8.—[Special.]—Thomas Savage of Keshena in the city, his purpose being a consultation with the Oneida Indians, the reservation here in reference to securing about $1,700,000 which they claim is due the government. At a council held yesterday afternoon, the Oneida Indians were appointed to take such steps as may be necessary to bring the matter before the secretary of the interior.

The basis of the claim may be stated in brief, when the Oneida were allotted their lands in severally some ten or twelve years ago the government agreed to give them $25,000 to assist them in starting farming operations. At one time $5000 worth of agricultural implements were granted and later about $2000 worth leaving them from the government, according to their claim, $17,000. No previous demand has been made for this claim and it would seem the government has simply forgotten its case. Mr. Savage is not aware of the nature of the agreement and cannot tell what evidence may be found to substantiate the claim. He will assist them, however, as far as he can.

The present winter is an unusually long one, and is especially so in the north. Savage apprehends considerable suffering among the more improvident ones. It is his opinion that the Oneida are improving very rapidly in habits of frugality.

EMPEROR WILLIAM.

Imperial Majesty will, his majesty declared that he would not recognize any claim of suzerainty over the Transvaal. (Great Britain and Germany) Germany suzerainty over the Transvaal. A semi-official denial was issued this morning of the statement from Cape Town contained in a dispatch to the London government, which stated that the secretary of state for the Transvaal, with a secret fund at his disposal, had been authorized to introduce 5000 German military settlers into the Transvaal.

London, Jan. 8.—The feeling here against the Transvaal is very much increased on account of the former's dispatch of congratulatory letters to President Kruger, apparently ignoring British suzerainty over the Transvaal. The London government is very much displeased with the action of the Transvaal, and the war sentiment against Germany rises as time goes on. THE GOVERNOR, W. H. Upham, has appointed H. N. Stocking of Eau Claire as a delegate to the Mexican exposition.

LAST Monday was the 45th anniversary of the revolution in Mexico and yesterday was the 51st anniversary of the annexation of Texas.

A POPULAR loan of $100,000,000 will bring out the gold in the old stockpiles and it will not get back there until the thrifty have found time to make the saving.

WHILE one set of government printing presses is in constant operation producing new greenbacks to be re-issued as fast as the old greenbacks are bought in and redeemed, the other set of printing presses will be kept busy in producing bonds for new issues to replenish the gold reserve.

AN important order for the expedition of the mails across the Mexican borders was issued on the 21st inst., providing for the first exchange of the mails of railway postoffices of the United States and Mexico.

A MACHINE for setting, justifying and distributing type has recently been patented which comprises no less than 18,000 different parts, according to the Washington Star.

THE bulk of the time of the present session of congress will evidently be taken up by tariff taxes and money matters; home manufacturers seeking to shut out foreign competitors and foreign gold bugs endeavoring to handicap home silver producers.

THERE is war and rumors of war, still the price of grain remains unaffected. With insurgents burning plantations and threatening a raid upon Havana, there seems to be better prospects for an advance in the price of cigars and sugar than anything else in Cuba.

ST. CROIX, St. Thomas and St. John, the three West Indian islands which belong to Denmark, and which Denmark is said to be willing to sell, may supply the United States with a coal station.

WHEN we stop to consider that notwithstanding the report of the Behring sea commission, congress refused to assent to the payment of $425,000 and recently moved to negotiate with Russia, Japan and Great Britain for the appointment of a joint commission to investigate the matter, some idea may be obtained as to how Great Britain will treat the report of our Venezuelan commission.

an increase of a little less than $1,000,000 and from internal revenue an increase of about $3,350,000. For the last six months the receipts from customs show an increase over the corresponding period last year of $12,377,000. There was during the same months a loss in the returns from internal revenue of about $5,276,000.

THE Indiana state board of health has adopted a new set of rules relating to transportation and quarantine, which apply to every town and city in the state, and which hereafter are to be enforced with the utmost rigor.

THAT little trouble down in South Africa will serve to illustrate to foreign powers the grasping greed of Great Britain, especially where there is mining territory to be had.

Moreover, a dispatch from Paris says: "Not one of the newspapers of this city minces words in commenting upon the invasion of the Transvaal territory by the filibustering expedition under Dr. Jameson."

Great Britain's land grabbing capacity is only equalled by her greed for gold, as witness the following from the Milwaukee Sentinel: "Their territory of British Guiana was gained practically by force from Holland."

Miss Adella Carroll attended the public installation of officers at the Masonic hall in West Bend Saturday evening, Jan. 4, and report having had a very enjoyable time.
—August Backhaus, Jr., left Thursday for the Cream City where he contemplates continuing his studies in law. August is a young man of good qualities and high ambition. His many friends wish him success.
—Wenzel Guldan delivered to L. Rosenheimer six bags of new seed oats. The six bags tipped the scales at 713 pounds. This is early oats and the heaviest on record. Farmers wishing seed can get it at the above mentioned place.
—Gerhart Lehman is now hauling tile from town for the purpose of draining a lake on his farm which extends over 15 acres as mentioned in the last issue of the STATESMAN. The drain pipe is to extend over a distance of 300 feet and at an average depth of 23 feet.

—At a special meeting of the village board on Jan. 3, resolutions to prevent the spreading of diphtheria were adopted and have been strictly enforced. The result has been to confine the disease within very narrow bounds and gave our physicians a good opportunity to stamp it out with the use of anti-toxine and other skillful treatment. The few cases at present are improving rapidly and our village authorities should be commended for their prompt action regarding this matter.
The Anconda (Mont.) Recorder says: Don't get mad if your visitor's name does not appear in the personal column. Perhaps you did not tell the editor; he's no mind reader. Don't get mad if your neighbor's doings are referred to more frequently than your own. Your neighbor uses his mouth. Your modesty may be keeping you in obscurity. That's no dream. A country newspaper man can't spend all his time on the street—and make three meals a day. If you know an item of news, hold us up and give it out of your system. Sixteen to one if we get it second-hand there will be a blunder in it.

VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS.
KEWASKUM, Jan. 6, 1896, 7:30 P. M.
Board met in regular session with President Adolph Rosenheimer in the chair and the following trustees present: Wm. Krahn, Albert Buss, Matt. Feisbier, Matt. Remmel, and Frank Smith.
Minutes of previous regular and special meeting of Jan. 3, were read and approved.
Committee on street lighting reported as follows:
As the C. & N. W. R. Y. Co. agreed to pay to the village $5 per month for one light to hang over the Main street crossing, therefore one more lamp was bought for the sum of $46.50.
On motion the report was accepted.
The proposition presented by the president from the C. & N. W. R. Y. company's agent that the company agrees to pay $5 per month for lighting the crossing are lamp, was accepted and the clerk was instructed to place the proposition on file.
The contract with the Kewaskum Electric Light company for furnishing current for eight arc lights, for the term of two years at the rate of $40 per month payable at the end of each month, was accepted. The president and clerk were authorized and directed to sign the contract. The clerk was instructed to place same on file.
The following bills were allowed:
Kewaskum Electric Light Co., lights, $46.50
Adolph Rosenheimer, services, 8 00
L. Rosenheimer, merchandise, 34 39
Statesman, printing, 1 50
David Casey, salary, 75 00
J. B. Blake, board, 20 00
On motion board adjourned.
JOSEPH SCHMIDT, Clerk.

Dr. Orvis went to Milwaukee Tuesday to attend the meeting of the Brainard medical association.
From the latest information at hand the digging of dry wells at Elmore proves an entire success.
The installation of officers of Isaac Hendricks Post, No. 246, G. A. R., took place Friday evening.
Platt Durand and Eli Strobel went to Fond du Lac Tuesday to look after matters in the probate court.
Dentist Hildreth will save your teeth. Others will boast of extracting them by the hundreds. At Campbellsport every Tuesday. Railroad fare paid.
The annual meeting of the Campbellsport Mutual Fire Insurance company will take place next Monday, Jan. 13. All members are requested to be present.
There seems to be considerable controversy in the papers lately as to the meaning of the word "dudel-sack," although generally admitted to be a Scotch bagpipe. We would suggest that it is called an inflation caused by gas whose tones are played by the teacupful.
The concert, drama and dance under the management of Mrs. L. C. Kohler, took place Wednesday evening. A large audience greeted the players, each of whom rendered their part with credit. The small children taking part did exceptionally well. After the concert the dancing was started by the players with the fairies' waltz after which the audience enjoyed the privilege of the floor. All had a good time and only regretted that the hours passed so quickly. The music for the concert and dance was furnished by Rhodes' complete orchestra.
The case of Siegel vs. Brennan was called in Justice Hanson's court, Wednesday morning. The plaintiff was represented by Ed Glantz of West Bend and the defendant by T. J. Hoey of Fond du Lac. The controversy arises out of the claim of both parties to the same sheep. The entire day was taken up by the plaintiff and the case adjourned until Thursday morning 10 o'clock. From the testimony we were able to hear some of it is rather contradictory. It was sworn to that some of the sheep were bald-headed and in particularizing their bald-headedness it was liked to one of attorneys in the case. The court found the defendant not guilty and rendered judgment for the costs, amounting to $50.05, against the plaintiff.
Balancing the books for the year is completed. How much more satisfactory it would be if the cash were in your pocket instead of being on paper. We might then be able to get a small slice of government bonds.
The annual meeting of the Ashford Mutual Fire Insurance company was held at the Good Templar's hall, Tuesday, Jan. 7. The by-laws were not materially changed except that the company assumed the risk on horses and vehicles outside of chartered territory, but the insured being liable for expenses incurred in adjusting loss.
The reports of the officers were received and from the report of the secretary the company is in good standing.
Our genial landlord, Wm. Schaefer, and daughter, Mary, spent a few days in the Cream City last week visiting relatives and friends.
Louis Glassnap spent a few days with his father-in-law, Ph. Baum, last week. While here he repaired some machinery at O'Connell's creamery.
William Meske died at his home Tuesday morning, Jan. 7, aged 76 years. The interment took place at the Lutheran cemetery Friday morning, Rev. Otto officiating.
The Beachwood Cinch club seems to have stranded owing to the fact that many of the members attended a dance instead of being present at their last meeting. Those who still cling to the organization will have to make the most of it.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla has over and over again proved itself the best blood purifier medical science has ever produced. It cures when other medicines fail. It restores the unequalled in the history of medicine. Its success is based upon its intrinsic merit.

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, mild, effective, and safe. All druggists.

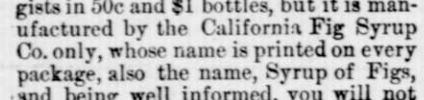

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

AN EASY WAY TO LIVE.

Getting Paid for Playing Cards and Chess with Invalids.

Think of people making a living by playing a suitable game of chess, checkers, cribbage, euchre or casino, now and then. It was learned from a nurse, the other day, that there are several men and women on Manhattan Island who are making a business of these pastimes.

It seems that there are a number of rich invalids, who have every attention in the world from their families, friends and servants, people to read to them, people to soothe them, people to talk to them on any desired subject, but they love chess, or checkers, or high five, or some other game of cards, and they can't get a suitable antagonist at that every day, or any hour in the day. It is here where the nurse can recommend a friend, man or woman, whose business is to be agreeable, play anything under the sun, and play it well, and be on hand at any hour appointed, or stand as ready as a physician to answer a call.

Such people are a delight to the invalid, a business to the antagonist, and some old men who could play the simple game of euchre from sunrise to sunset, and be interested in the game, and not get bored at the beginning. They may have been devoted to that amusement for years and years.—New York Recorder.

English Army Pensions. The ordinary pension to the widow of a lieutenant in the regular army is $200, and $50 for each child. A captain's widow has $250, and $60 for each child; an infantry colonel's widow has $300, and $80 for each child; a general's widow has $400, and $100 for each child. If death is caused by fatigue, privation or exposure, the pensions are increased by half as much again; if the death is caused by action, or if the wounds within twelve months of the battle, the pensions are doubled.

Money in Truck Farming. The truck farmers around Norfolk, Va., according to Gen. S. D. Grover, make about $2,000,000 a year. "I know of one man," he adds, "who makes a clear profit of $25,000 a year on produce shipped to the Northern markets, mostly kale and spinach. Norfolk is improving all the time, and a future is bright as any city in the South. The Southern railway recognized her many points of superiority, as was shown by her recent principal Atlantic terminus of the system here, and the acquisition of valuable real property. Besides the Southern will put on a new line of boats, that will be a great addition to the shipping interests of the port."—New York Herald.

Of the Paris subsidized theaters the Grand Opera and the Comedie Francaise alone made both ends meet last year. The receipts of the Grand opera have steadily increased since 1892, when there was a deficit of $90,000, and now there is a small balance to the good. The receipts of the Comedie Francaise, Wagner's "Walkyrie" and "Lohengrin" drawing the largest audiences, $450 a night. At the Comedie Francaise the receipts for the year fell off $85,000, as the expenses were cut down by $100,000, a surplus was shown. The Opera Comique lost $20,000 and the Odéon $7000 by the year's business.

Various Styles of Protected Drain Outlets—An Inexpensive Shelter for the Pig—A Valve of Glass as a Crop—A Convenient Milk Stool.

Protecting Tile Outlets. Unless special care is taken to protect the outlet of a tile drain, there is danger of its being more or less injured. If it is in the pasture, stock tramping about it are liable to crowd the tile out of place or break them. Where land washes very easily, heavy rains will frequently displace them. It is also sometimes desirable to so close the opening in the drain that snouts, rabbits and other vermin cannot enter during a dry time and build an obstruction. Several such devices are illustrated in the cut.

Outlet D is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet C consists of a wooden box made of 2-inch hard wood, open at one end, which is slipped over the end of the drain. At the outer end a door, hinged at the top, is so arranged that a water can readily flow out, but nothing can go up the tile. The similar box outlet, B, is square, and the outer end over which iron rods are secured or a piece of strong wire netting is fastened.

Outlet A is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet B is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet C is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet D is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet E is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet F is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet G is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet H is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet I is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet J is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet K is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet L is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet M is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet N is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet O is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet P is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet Q is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet R is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet S is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet T is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet U is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet V is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet W is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet X is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet Y is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet Z is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet AA is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet AB is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet AC is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. This protection prevents the washing away of earth from about the outlet or a displacement of tile or earth by freezing. Where stone is abundant, this style of an outlet is as practical as any and more substantial than any other.

Outlet AD is particularly suited to a tile which has its opening in the bank of a creek or ditch some distance from the house. It is merely a wall of stone or brick laid in cement. of food are rich in lime, as wheat and peas. Where these are given no extra lime will be needed and none will be wasted. Corn is very deficient in lime, and if fed exclusively the egg shells will be thin and fowls will get in the habit of eating their eggs. Besides, corn is too concentrated food, and does not give bulk enough in proportion to its nutrition. Clover is rich in lime, and if cut in fine pieces it will be eaten by fowls in considerable quantities. It also aids the digestion of less bulky food.

Making the Pigs Comfortable. On any farm the hogs are kept in pens in one and a large shed, or barn building that is likely to be cold in winter, even though the walls may be secured against the entrance of wind. Growth cannot be expected when an animal is suffering from the cold. If the hopen cannot be made warm, one may at least build such a place as is suggested in the illustration. In one corner of the pen is built a small box-like affair, just large enough for the pigs to get into and lie down. A swinging door is provided, and in this small enclosure the heat from the animals' bodies will keep the air very comfortable. This plan has been tried in a cold building with great success.

Peach Culture in Cold Climates. We have stated recently that "It is not the severe cold of winter which injures peach trees so much as freezing after the sap has begun to stir in the spring." I believe, says B. F. Ferris, in the Agriculturist, if this were the case Southern Missouri trees would be liable to injury as those from Northern Iowa. If not, why not? All fruit trees in Missouri have to pass through as much freezing as those in Iowa, and there is as much or more thawing and freezing following a mild winter as there is after a severe one.

Will, our fruit trees are in better condition after a mild winter than after a cold one. Iowa is now raising many peaches, not because we have had less severe changes during late years, but because varieties have been produced which will stand more severe cold weather, and further because of late our winters have been mild. Sunscald may be caused by a sudden cold snap after the sap has started, and I think this is the case. But black-kneed trees are caused by low temperatures in midwinter.

A Handy Milk Stool. The seat of the stool shown in the accompanying illustration is made of a one inch board twelve inches wide and sixteen inches long. The two front legs are made of inch boards; the other is a round piece of wood. A hoop on the front end holds the pail in position, while a projection
