GEO. NUGENT, Editor.

The 20th century will begin with 1901 instead of 1900 as supposed by some writers.

The Argentine republic and Chili are now becoming tangled up in a boundary line. Next!

It seems singular that every strike except that of employes of the Racine Times has been endorsed by that paper.

The greatest difference between the British and American survey of the Alaskan boundary amounted to six feet in width. Better split it.

The conduct of Postmistress Mottweiler of Georgetown, Ind., in failing to deliver mail for a period of over two years can only be attributed to negligence so extreme as to seem criminal.

The state semi-centennial celebration convention convened in Milwaukee Wednesday for the purpose of deciding where and on what date it would be advisable to celebrate Wisconsin's 50th anniversary in 1898.

We are pleased to note that all of the recent gold finds reported from different parts of the United States are so far south of the Canadian boundary that the British cannot drag any of them away from us with a Shomburg line.

The bond syndicate, which was worked up by J. Pierpont Morgan, has been dissolved, and the new issue of government bonds are about all in the hands of our own people; and, even Mr. Morgan, we trust, is pleased therewith.

The announcement that a Maine Yankee is devising a sidewalk that can be turned up for the purpose of dumping snow from it, will be received with pleasure by the inhabitants of incorporated cities and villages who use brooms and shovels for that purpose.

The Philadelphia Record says: "The 'pluck-me-store' is un-American and ought to be impossible in any commonwealth where government by ballot exists." Still we have both "pluck-me-stores" and "government by ballot" in this state.

The question of adopting a uniform trade-mark law in the United States is to be acted upon at the National Board of Trade meeting next month, and we hope that such a law will be adopted, as it would prevent much litigation and settle quite a number of disputed claims of ownership.

The file clerk of the House of Representatives, who recently produced clippings from the English press of 1823 showing that British sentiment was generally in favor of the Monroe doctrine at that time, has placed the English press of to-day in an unenviable light to say nothing of Lord Salisbury and his supporters.

The supreme court justices have agreed to advance the appeal in the case of the Oshkosh fishermen, and arguments will be heard in that tribunal about the 1st of next month. The questions involved in the appeal are fish law and whether it is due process of law to destroy nets, etc., without an order from a court.

GERMAN exports to the United States during the last quarter of 1895 showed an increase of 50 to 100 per cent. in various districts, compared with the same period in 1894. In Berlin the increase was $2,000,000, in Frankfurt $420,000 and in Hanover $230,000. From Hamburg the exports to this country showed a decrease.

It would seem that the privileges of leap year have been somewhat abused at Marion, Ill. Mrs. James Jordan and Mrs. Charles Roberts recently met in Denison's dry goods store there and engaged in a genuine rough-and-tumble knock-down-and-drag-out scuffling match, as the result of the former finding a loving epistle and the latter's picture in Mr. Jordan's pocket.

The work of the International Migration society of Birmingham, Ala., is commendable. It has gathered up about 400 negroes for shipment to Monrovia, Liberia, and secured a guarantee from the Liberian government that each family will be given twenty-five acres of land and a town lot in Monrovia, and each single person ten acres of land and a lot. Last March 300 negroes left Savannah, Ga., and all except five are still in Liberia and prosperous, according to the U. S. consul there.

If the Cuban insurgents appear before congress as representatives of a new government in that country, instead of an insurrection, it will be time enough to take some action relative to recognition upon the part of Uncle Sam. The Hawaiian experience would seem to teach this. Moreover, there are sugar investments in Cuba held by citizens of the United States to the extent of about $30,000,000, which are suffering enormous damage at the hands of the rebels in their raids; and, so long as the revolution has no recognized standing, Spain is responsible for these losses and the owners hope to secure reparation. If this government formally takes notice of the fact that a state of war exists in Cuba our citizens will have no ground upon which to base their claims. These considerations will retard if not defeat the present movement for recognition.

ABOUT THE HOLIDAYS.

According to the Julian calendar our Jan. 6th was Christmas and last Monday was New Year's day. This calendar is observed by Russian, Servian, Armenian, Greek and Turkish Christians; and the difference between our holidays and the above comes from the fact that Pope Gregory the pious was a greater scientist and mathematician than Julius Caesar, emperor of the Romans. Caesar, in his palmy days, was a reformer. Up to his time the calendars of the world were wonders that a man might master only after a lifetime of study. Only the sages of the various races could tell the people what the month and day were. A single month in the course of a dozen years would appear in all of the seasons, and in addition would disappear at times.

Caesar started out to set the world right for all time. After much observation he settled on a year and set of months that would keep pace with the sun, as he thought. His calendar would be one that all men might swear by down through the ages. But he failed to take the exact measurement of the year as marked by the sun, and in the course of a few centuries the equinoxes and the seasons began to get askew.

They were not enough out of place to trouble the common people, but the hard, exact men of mathematics who sat in observatories lost sleep on account of it. Therefore, Pope Gregory, who took great interest in the higher sciences, remeasured the year, and found that Caesar had erred in his estimate of its length by several seconds. And the pope started the western world out afresh.

He devised a new calendar, with our present system of leap year, and skipped twelve days to make up for the time lost under the Julian calendar. Western Europe adopted it, but eastern Europe, which had since the time of Caesar come under the rule of the Greek church, at the head of which is a patriarch in Constantinople, stuck to the old, or Julian, calendar, content to stay twelve days behind the rest of the world.

However, the Servians have much the same traditions of the Yule log that obtains among us. The Budajing, as they call it, is brought in by some stout fellow, usually the master of the house. The log is invariably a big one, as large as the fireplace will hold. After the bearer has set it on the hearth, the oldest woman in the company rises and casts a handful of wheat over him. This act is an invocation of a good harvest. Next the log is christened, the red wine of Serbia being poured over it before it is lit. After the fire is well started the people divert themselves much as do those in less romantic lands.

ELMORE ETCHINGS.

It looks as if Han Gardien was buying more stock in our neighborhood than any one else.

On Jan. 23, 24 and 25th Saemann, Loeb & Knickel will slaughter prices of goods at their store in Campbellsport.

The success that Dentist Hildreth is meeting with every Tuesday at Campbellsport is due to first-class work at reasonable prices.

The success attendant upon the sinking of dry wells here is due to the fact that our village has a solid foundation; and well drillers are pleased therewith.

Our villagers have a right to boast of their good Schmalz all the year 'round, but if asked about their butter now days they have but one word for reply, "Scarce."

We hope that our Campbellsport friend will eventually balance those fellows who owe him in such a shape that their money will go toward him instead of over the bar.

It looks as if the rest of our old batchelors are destined to burn out instead of die out, as old man Wunsch had not taken proper care of his ashes. Another party, while smoking sausage, created a blaze.

A sad accident happened last Saturday night at the mill pond in Theresa. An aged and respected man named Lehman, while going home broke through the ice and stood with his head above the water until frozen to death.

THE STATESMAN prints posters while you wait, if necessary, as we have the latest and best appliances out, being the newest printing office in the county. We also carry a full and complete stock of blank notes, receipts, etc., for the accommodation of our patrons.

Our well drillers are Zilke Bros. and our diggers are Gus Hundertmark and John Guntly. However, the former is principally engaged in walling out wells, as a majority prefer John Guntley for digging on account of his experience with Adolph Matthis in digging prospect holes in the Iron Mountain Mining district near here.

BARTON BARDS.

Look out for the cold wave! A. E. Nigh visited friends in Auburn this week.

Nigh Bros. took an inventory of their stock this week.

Chris. Hartman has returned from West Bend to live with his brother.

Herman Dalke and John Klug went to Beechwood last Thursday for saw-wood.

Pete Gerhart and William Krueger are saving the ice for the neighboring farmers.

S. Windisch is busy planning for the house which is to be built next summer.

Matthew Stabler purchased 80 acres of land for $3,000 from Michael Schiltz last Thursday.

Mrs. B. Ramel, Albert Ramel and Wm. Fick attended the funeral of Wm. Meske at Scott last Friday.

Dentist Hildreth operates in all branches of dentistry at Campbellsport every Tuesday. Railroad fare paid.

When tramps "bowl up" they invariably "make Rome howl;" and, on the occasion in mind, they made their host do most of the howling as a mark of appreciation of the latter's hospitality.

Having been refused lodging at August Klug's last Sunday they were welcomed to the home of Gus Backhaus, and in the morning the din of a row there was so dense that neighbors interfered and drove the tramps to town, where they were severely dealt with by the marshal.

WAYNE WATINGS.

Louis Moll and wife of Cascade was the guest of Wm. Abel last Sunday.

Geo. Abel of Kewaskum spent last Sunday with parents and friends here.

Fred. Stork and P. W. Harns of West Bend had business here one day last week.

Painter R. Frenz and Emma Smith Sundayed with Herman Marose and wife at Knowles.

Kuehler Bros. have the contract for making 100 cords of wood for Henry Smith and Brother.

Stork & Schmidt have finished sawing at Luedt's woods after cutting 25,000 feet of lumber.

Henry Baer and J. H. Martin spent Sunday at Barton with the former's cousin, Chris. Klumb.

A whalebone whip was found here last week. Owner can have same by calling on Postmaster Martin.

Remember the Wayne masquerade, the only one ever given at Petri's hall, takes place in the near future.

C. Brandt is busy hauling ice from the Kohleville pond for his new saloon, which he will open next spring.

John Lehner has accepted a position with Blacksmith Kippenhan. William must be doing a land office business.

Dentist Hildreth will also extract your teeth, if need be, without pain. Every Tuesday at Campbellsport, Wis. Railroad fare paid.

Four of our young men whose birthdays fall on the same date, are making grand preparations for the affair, which will be duly celebrated at Petri Bros.' hall in the near future.

The party at Anton Werner's last Saturday was given in honor of Katie's 24th birthday. That it was an elaborate affair is attested by the fact that it had the largest attendance of anything of the kind given hereabouts.

NEW PROSPECT NOTES.

A boy was born to Chas. Spradau and wife last Tuesday.

B. G. Romaine of Byron was here on business last Saturday.

W. Backhaus was through here last Tuesday buying stock.

Miss Gertrude Doyle returned to Fond du Lac last Friday.

Mr. Walters of New Cassel was here last Monday delivering pictures.

F. Tice of Aurora spent Sunday and Monday with the family of L. B. Reed.

Saemann, Loeb & Knickel will conduct a clearance sale in Campbellsport on the 23, 24 and 25th.

A party of young people assembled at B. D. Romaine's last Saturday evening and had a pleasant time.

J. W. Bell and wife have returned from the northern part of the state, where they were visiting relatives.

F. Dickman has a number of men at work filling his ice house. Ice was never clearer nor better than this season.

A Maine Fond.

A phenomenon in the recent severe drought in Maine, which caused wells never before known to be without water to fail, was that a reputed bottomless pond at Fort Fairfield was 18 inches higher than ever before.

Are you getting your masquerade costumes ready?

Justus Klein, our well digger, is now drilling for Philip Leinberger.

The Cooley Drilling Co. of Fredonia are now working for C. F. Gall in "Canada."

Boys, get your cow-bells and dishes in high sounding trim, for that wedding is coming off soon.

Items of interest are rather scarce this week, so our readers will please excuse us. We are pleased, however, that we have no deaths to record.

The wedding of Henry Schnorrenberg of the town of Polk to Miss Agnes Walther of this place will take place at the groom's home on next Saturday.

A number of young folks from Fillmore and vicinity tendered a pleasant surprise to Mr. Schubert, the genial director of Schubert's Cornet band, last Sunday. The evening was spent playing all manner of games, and all went home rejoicing.

We recently chanced to visit the rooms of Cheese Club No. 1001 and found its members sitting on empty beer kegs, a wood pile on the floor.

We applied for a constitution and by-laws of the order, but learned that every member makes his own rules. Spitting on the floor is strictly prohibited by the Grand Master, so they all have to wait till they go home to get rid of that tired feeling.
