AN exchange quite aptly remarks that "Cleveland has not much hair on his head, but he has enough congress on his hands to keep him warm until hot weather sets in."

OUR British ambassador, Bayard, will undoubtedly breathe easier upon learning that the resolution of censure prepared by congress is general in its application to men in his position.

THE czarism of Russia bids fair to elevate social life among the fair sex of that country. Recently upon entering a room, in which were several of her ladies-in-waiting, she said: "I consider a cigarette in a woman's mouth as foul as an oath in a man's."

THE selection of James J. Dick of Beaver Dam as the candidate for judge in this (13th) district, is due to the ability displayed by Dodge county Democrats last Thursday at the convention in Waukesha. H. W. Sawyer, our county judge, would otherwise have been the nominee.

IT is not prize-fighting itself which is becoming so objectionable in this country; it is the foul gastric belches of the pug, which prove so offensive to the public. To illustrate: The fight is over but the result started Corbett talking again with no power on earth to stop him short of a right-handed jab from "Fiz."

WE acknowledge having received official notice that a convention of Wisconsin authors will be held in Milwaukee on March 10th, under the auspices of the Milwaukee Ethical society. Any one wishing to compete for the cash prizes offered (which amount to $140) should apply to John B. Powell, 419 Fifteenth street, Milwaukee, for further information.

THE death of "Bill" Nye marks the demise of our greatest American humorist. His worst writing was not tiresome reading, while his best compositions may be said to have compelled laughter upon the part of the reader. Born and reared in this state, as he was, our pride in the literary accomplishments of his life is only equalled by our sorrow at his death.

WITH Foraker, Manderson, Quay, Elkins and Bradley aspiring for the Republican nomination for president, we are led to believe that those gentlemen are not pleased with McKinley, Reed or some other leading candidate, and are in the field for the purpose of making it hot for whoever they dislike. However, a copious supply of "grease" has been known to take the heat out of better metal than any of the late candidates are composed of, politically applying it.

THE demoralizing effects of the use of money and other forms of bribery in our elections do far more to degrade the morals of the people than horse stealing or petit larceny. The vice of intemperance cannot be compared in magnitude with that of bribery and corruption, both in official and private life. Drunkenness does not usually destroy the integrity of its victims. Bribery always does. A drunkard is the enemy of himself, while the bribed is the enemy of humanity.—Columbus Press.

GEORGE WASHINGTON was a man of few words, a taciturn, close-mouthed person, which gives to the modern idea of a proper celebration of his natal day the aspect of polite satire.—Chicago Chronicle. The average daily newspaper of the period naturally does not take kindly to a "close-mouthed person." However, if Mr. Washington was a man of few words, it naturally follows that he did not indulge in self-praise; therefore, it is proper for others to praise him in high terms, only drawing the line at that which might disturb his rest in peace—a lie.

AS increase of the navy is very desirable. We should strengthen that service materially. We want battle ships, fighting cruisers, torpedo boats, etc., and we want coast defenses very argently. Too much money cannot be expended in that direction until we shall have made ourselves at least measurably secure against attack. But there is no necessity for an enlargement of our regular army. The army is already large enough for all present purposes, and no good purpose could be served by adding to it. There is no place in this country for vast military establishments such as the European powers maintain. We have no use for them.—Washington Post.

THE Fitzsimmons-Maher meeting in Mexico, Feb. 21st, proved that prize-fighting in any country is preferable to the United States in the eyes of pugilists, and the condition of Maher's optics proved that Mexico is not a good place, either. Still, in view of the great number of our people who encouraged the mill by spending money freely to see or read about it, we doubt that "prize-fighting is dead" in the United States.

AS to the assertion, made by some people, that newspapers make prize fighting popular, we would say that the great demand for such news makes the papers which publish it popular to such an extent that extra copies invariably have to be printed to satisfy the people. Newspaper publishers, like all other business men, endeavor to supply the wants of their patrons and will continue to do so as long as their existence depends upon public patronage.

A Common Want Now.

Wanted, in one hundred thousand households in America, a willing, sunny daughter, who will not fret when asked to wipe the dishes, or sigh when requested to take care of the baby; a daughter whose chief delight is to smooth the wrinkles upon her mother's brow, and who is as willing to lighten a father's cares as his purse; a girl who would model a man after her own brother. The miscreants who have been hanging plows and gates upon trees, near Schrautt's place, and performing other difficult feats with slack bar-wire upon public roads, should not persist in having fun at the expense of their neighbors.

Mr. Schrautt's machine is standing below the dam on the south side of the mill, which stands on an abutment 20 feet high. The smoke-stack of the machine is only 24 feet high, so the mill nearly caught fire recently while the wind was blowing from the south.

However, 24 feet more has been added to the height of the stack since, so that there is not so much danger of the mill catching fire now.

Recently a couple of girls here agreed to go out riding provided their fellows would go out in the dark and sneak the old man's team. The boys undertook the task and were getting along hugely until they heard a brother of the girls coming home, when they skeddaddled for home themselves. However, when the mother of the girls went out to milk in the morning and opened the barn-door, she threw up her hands, dropped the milk cans and went screaming back to the house upon beholding two cows harnessed.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt died last Wednesday night at 1 o'clock, of lung disease, after a short illness. The funeral will take place to-day (Saturday) at 1 p. m., and the remains will be interred in the Evangelical Protestant cemetery here. The girl was born Feb. 15, 1894. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

Mr. Peter Kirsch invited a number of young and married men to come and help him clear off a piece of timber land on the 17th inst. Quite a crowd responded; and, as a result, 5 acres were cleared and the trees cut up into cordwood lengths. Judging from their talk, John Hawig and Joseph Wahlen were the champion sawyers and Wm. Arnet the champion chopper. In the evening they all engaged in the merry waltz and gay gallop. Herman Knarr furnished the music. All had a good time, and those who didn't stay to dance went home with a back-ache.
