CHICAGO will soon have a new daily paper which will advocate the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

We have learned, from a reliable source during the past week, that the Populist state convention will be held on the date of the Democratic convention (Sept. 2) and that fusion is probable.

THE Republican convention in Milwaukee last Thursday nominated Edward Scofield of Oconto for governor.

WE acknowledge receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Minnesota State fair at Hamlin (midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis)...

WHATEVER else may be said of the financial communication, which appears upon this page, the writer seems to be mindful of the fact that education really consists in ability to sift statements.

CAMPBELLSPORT CULLINGS.

Mertie and Daisie Foltz went to Fond du Lac to attend the summer school.

Miss Amalia Wehling of Oshkosh visited with Mrs. J. H. Pass last Monday.

Miss Albrecht of Mayville and Miss Phillips of the Cream City are guests of Olga Wedde.

Dr. S. L. Marston of Hartford is visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Sackett.

A large number of our villagers enjoyed Sunday afternoon at a basket picnic in Schrauth's park.

A couple of sheriffs passed through here last Thursday looking for a horse thief, who escaped at Racine.

Mrs. Dr. E. J. Orvis and Miss Florence Orvis returned home last Friday after a short visit with relatives at Stevens Point.

Mrs. L. C. Kohler and May Howard left Thursday morning for a few weeks visit in the Cream City, Madison and the Dells of Wisconsin.

Some attraction, apparently not to be enjoyed at home, exerts its persuasive powers over Peter Bonesho, Ernst Martin and John Kohler, as they make regular trips to Kewaskum.

Albert Budahn, O. H. Budahn, H. Folzmann and Miss Ida Budahn of Theresa; Mrs. Nennan and Miss Harris of Toledo, O., were callers at the residence of Prof. and Mrs. Wrucke last Sunday.

Platt Durand went to the Cream City Wednesday morning to attend the state convention as a delegate from the second assembly district.

One evening this week Messrs. and Meses. Wm. Klumb, E. J. Orvis, H. A. Wrucke, John H. Paas, I. Klotz, A. S. Paull, C. R. Van de Zande, L. Rhodes and C. Schmalz assembled at the Northwestern hotel to extend their greetings to Philip Guenther on his birthday anniversary.

A rocker as a reminder of the pleasant event was tendered him, while the evening passed away very socially. If Philip will reach the years allotted him, it will be a small matter to put Mathusalem to shame for not having lived longer.

FINANCIAL COMMUNICATION.

Kewaskum, Wis., Aug. 4, 1896.

Editor Statesman.—As a contributor on the financial question, I would say that the last dose of bonds, administered by Cleveland, gagged us so that we have soured on the "gold cure."

ASSERTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A gold-bug story here is that an American lady, while traveling in Mexico, purchased a piece of 18-dollar dress goods for $9 upon tendering our silver dollars therefor.

"Oh, but," says a gold-bug, "the price of gold will go up, if we adopt the free and unlimited coinage of silver; and the price of silver will go down."

Another assertion is that the free and unlimited coinage of silver will drive gold out of this country. Let's see: We are not going to stop coining the product of our gold mines; but, we are going to stop paying speculators a premium for drawing it out of our treasury as fast as we get it—that's why the Chicago platform is opposed to issuing bonds in times of peace.

Another gold-bug story is that if the Chicago platform is carried out, Germany will demand gold for her goods and tender silver for ours. Let's see: Mr. Rhine ships a cargo of wine to Mr. Chicago and demands payment in gold, because that is the only money we have which he can use readily in Germany.

So it will be with the adoption of the free coinage of silver—let us make the lead in this direction, and other countries will soon free themselves of English bonds and follow in our wake.

Then, in regard to a Michigan gold-bug paying his workmen two Mexican dollars for every 100 cents due them, I would say that although workmen are entitled to their pay in U. S. money, gold-bug employers (like Upham, for instance) often take advantage of their position to such an extent as to pay off in store orders, so that their workmen are now glad to get any kind of money.

Some gold bugs also say that free coinage here will prompt Americans to go into the practice of making raw silver of Mexican dollars there and marketing the same at the U. S. mint for 100 cents. Let's see: We believe that the law against willfully defacing or destroying coin of the realm would also prompt the proper officers to land the guilty parties where they keep counterfeits and their kind; and, as for legitimate importations of raw silver, they will be regulated under our revenue tariff plank.

Another assertion is that the Chicago street car men will not vote for free silver because of the selfish view of a conductor, who said: "As a city ordinance prohibits the company from charging over 5c a ride, they cannot increase my wages, no matter if times do get better—I am going to vote the Republican ticket."

"Oh, but," says a Republican, "How about some Democrats supporting our standard? Why, that's history repeating itself. When Moses returned from the convention on the mountain he, too, found a number of his constituents worshipping a golden calf; but, like D. B. Hill et al, they gradually admitted their error and finally rallied to the support of their leader."

"Oh, but," says another, "some banks are now demanding gold of their debtors." Well, isn't it rather singular that while some bankers in this state are doing that others in California are paying out gold promiscuously? Now, doesn't it look as though the badger bankers are trying to intimidate their debtors and scare others into voting for McKinley? If they were honest about it—if it was purely a business matter with the originators—does anyone suppose that they would act so foolishly as to (before election and in view of the fact that the new president will not be inaugurated until March, 1897,) resort to a practice which, if indulged in by the rest of us at this time, would bankrupt this country? We haven't the gold to carry on such a practice.

If France and Germany should adopt the free and unlimited coinage of silver, does any one doubt that this country would soon follow? On the other hand, if this country should adopt it, does any one doubt that it would be long before Germany and France would follow?

Under the present system, the stock and bond gamblers of Wall street can present at the sub-treasury in New York a sufficient amount of Sherman notes to extract every dollar of the gold reserve; and they can repeat this as often as they please, and thereby force the government to sell them bonds in order to get the gold back. In other words, the money speculators now have us by the throat; and, whenever they squeeze, we must "cough up" to suit them. They revel in luxury, while the farmers and laborers of this country are bathed in the sweat of industry and asked to keep it up by voting for McKinley.

I will oppose the Republicans this fall because their excuse, for not inserting the silver plank in their platform, is really un-American. They said they were in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, provided other countries would consent or agree to it. Did Uncle Sam await an international agreement before consenting to interfere in behalf of wronged Venezuela? How long—how long, I say—would Cubans wait to form a republic had they depended upon the support of other nations or the consent of Spain? How long—how long, I repeat—would our forefathers have waited before establishing this grand republic if they had depended upon the consent of England or an international agreement? We made a move, other nations sympathized with us, and later followed our example.

So it will be with the adoption of the free coinage of silver—let us make the lead in this direction, and other countries will soon free themselves of English bonds and follow in our wake. Reopen our silver mines and increase the amount of farm and factory products used here by giving more of our idle men an opportunity to earn enough to comfortably clothe and feed themselves. Then there will be no Coxy armies storming our halls of legislation or even looking at the grass growing upon the capital grounds at Washington.

Bettel and Gruber shipped a carload of choice stock to Chicago last Tuesday. Mrs. Knuth and children spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the city. L. D. Guth attended the Republican state convention at Milwaukee, Wis., as a delegate. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Donahue of Niagara guests of Mrs. Donahue's sister, Mrs. F. Andrea. Ed. Heissmann and Thos. Grimmer, and the doctor now has the fastest horse in town. Miss Helen Rouse returned to Kewaskum last Monday, where she resumed work as a dressmaker. Ed. Alenhofen left last Wednesday afternoon for Milwaukee, where he remains until school commences. Ed. Assmann, Jr., has been re-elected to teach School No. 6 in the town of Kewaskum for the third year. The fire department will turn out on our streets for practice next Monday, and we hope they will have good success. The Grand Lodge, D. O. H., is in session at West Bend. The programme will close with a picnic at Moser's park tomorrow. A heavy shower of rain fell last Wednesday as a result of a heavy wind storm which was brought on by intense heat. August Backhaus, Jr., went to Milwaukee last Wednesday to see the republican candidate for governor nominated. Wm. Woel of Philadelphia is the guest of Adel Rosenheimer at the latter's summer home on the shore of Star Lake. A. G. Koch was elected as a delegate at Jackson last Saturday, to represent this village at the next congressional convention. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schaefer arrived here from Grand Rapids, Mich., last Tuesday, where they have been for a few months. Mrs. C. Dalhke and daughters, Elizabeth and Adela, left for Milwaukee last Thursday to spend a few days with relatives and friends. Our baseball club now has challenges from Plymouth, Waukegan, Adell and Theresa. However, no decisive action has been taken thereon. Herman Dalhke took advantage of the camp rates to an extent, this week and visited his wife, who is receiving medical treatment there. The proprietor of the Central hotel, N. J. Mertes, has arranged the story of his house on Railroad street so that it furnishes room for two bunks. Our station agent reports that part of his uniform, as an employee of the Northwestern R. R., has arrived and that he expects the balance soon. So, he is only wearing the cap now.

Fell From a Ladder.

Adam Kirsch of St. Bridget fell off a ladder yesterday forenoon and was seriously injured. His wife arrived here at noon and summoned a doctor. The victim's injuries are regarded serious on account of his advanced age.

Farm Property Consumed by Flames.

Last Tuesday the barn, granary, 3,000 bushels of last year's grain, and all of this year's crop, owned by Geo. Rash, who lives 1 1/2 miles southwest of Kohlville, caught fire from a threshing-machine engine and was burned up. Geo. Rash has some insurance in the Theresa Mutual, but it will not cover this loss.

Suffered From a Broken Rib.

While returning to her home on Prospect avenue via the railroad track one day last week, Mrs. C. Uke fell and sustained injuries which were considered slight at the time. However, the victim suffered such pains since that she finally called upon a doctor, who found that she had broken one of her ribs.

Caught Between Separator and Engine.

Last Thursday while Schulz & Magritz were going down a road-hill with their threshing outfit the king-bolt of the separator broke, and the machine ran against the engine. As Gus Magritz was doing the engineering, he got caught in the collision and sustained serious injury that a doctor was summoned while Geo. Schlot conveyed the victim to the latter's home. The latest report is that Mr. Magritz will recover.

Wrecked by a Windstorm.

The wind storm of last Wednesday did considerable damage to Charlie Weddig's new brick house on Fond du Lac avenue. The mason work has been completed and Carpenter Brand had workmen roofing the structure when a heavy wind came from the southwest and tore off both gable-end and part of the south wall, and the east side wall was almost totally torn down. The joists of the first floor were broken by the falling walls, while one of the carpenters narrowly escaped with his life. The damage is estimated at $200.

Injured by Falling Into a Cellar.

Mrs. P. Klein, who lives 1 1/2 miles east of New Fane, while here attending the funeral of Mrs. Marx last Thursday, went to the Central hotel at about 11 a. m. and subsequently fell headlong into the cellar through mistaking the door for that of a room which she desired to enter. As the cellar floor is cemented she was shrewdly injured upon her head. The proprietor, N. J. Mertes, heard groans emitting from the cellar-way soon after, and when he reached the victim she was unconscious. However, medical aid was immediately summoned and hopes are now entertained for her recovery.

Mrs. Klein's husband was killed at a railroad crossing in Barton, several years ago.

Excursion from Milwaukee to Kewaskum.

The first excursion from Milwaukee to Kewaskum will occur on the 23d inst under the auspices of the John Pritzfall Hardware Co's employees. A large crowd is expected, as many Cream City people have expressed a preference for a new picnic place this year—a place where they will be free from dust and heat—a place where ladies, as well as gentlemen, will find a desirable park for out-door pleasure. If natural features and plenty of room are advantages seldom found in other parks, we predict that the Milwaukeeans will go home satisfied that Kewaskum is the best place they ever struck for a picnic; and, then, other Milwaukee parties may turn excursions here, also. However, the excursion in question will leave Milwaukee about 9 a. m. and return from here at about 11 p. m. The fare will be $1.25 for the round trip, good to return within three days. The picnic will close with a grand ball in the evening. FOUND—Lady's purse. Call at office.

OBITUARY.

DIED—MARX—At her home in New Fane, on Tuesday, Aug. 4, 1896, at 6:45 a. m., of consumption, Barbara Marx (nee Lang), aged 40 years. The deceased was born in the village of Kewaskum on March 15, 1856; and, since she married John Marx (Jan. 20, 1878) has resided in New Fane, where Mr. Marx is engaged in the general merchandise business. Besides her husband, she leaves eight children, two sisters (Mrs. John Okenfels of Kewaskum and Mrs. Joseph Muckerbide of Wausau), two brothers (Andrew of Appleton and Mat. of Gillet) and an aged mother who resides here with her daughter, Mrs. Okenfels.

ST. KILIAN SHARPS.

J. P. Klein of Kewaskum was over here last Tuesday. Jo. Schmidt and wife of Kewaskum were visiting here last week. Tossie Strobel, our popular dress-maker, is staying with Mrs. J. Mack. Martin Leonard left for Antioch, Ill., this week, where he will take a position with a shoe company. Don't forget to attend Jo. Mack's grand Harvest picnic and ball, Sunday, Aug. 16th. M. McCullough has been engaged by the town board to teach Dist. School No. 8 the coming winter. Rev. J. Pierson, assistant at St. Anthony's church of Milwaukee, was a guest of Father Burrellbach over last Wednesday and Thursday. A. Strachota, of the firm of A. Strachota and A. Flasch, has a nice, heavy span of horses for sale at a reasonable price. The team weighs 2700 lbs. Last Saturday, at high noon, the gill-net, about 7 feet long, was placed in position on top of the tower of the new church. This brings the total height of the tower up to 105 feet. Andy Strahota, our enterprising young business man, and A. Strobel, the genial and hustling blacksmith went to Milwaukee last Wednesday to escape the scorching heat, which tortured the inhabitants of this vicinity. While threshing last Monday, Anton Kohler had the misfortune to cut three fingers of his left hand; and, the same day, his right hand was caught in the cylinder. The injuries, however, are not serious, and he will soon be able to resume work again. Our new 1500-pound church-bell will be dedicated on Sunday, Aug. 9th at 4 p. m. The Rev. F. X. Heller of New Cassel has been delegated by the Archbishop to perform the ceremony. The chiming of our church now consist of 3 bells of 450, 850 and 1500 lbs., respectively. Mauch & Krenz, cigar dealers of Hartford, unexpectedly came to grief last Tuesday. While driving over one of the ugliest hills east of our village, they broke their wagon tongue. It was a sorry sight to see the two men drive into the village with a wagon battered up; but, A. Strobel was equal to the emergency and soon repaired the damage. John N. Kuntz, a gentleman nearly 50 years of age but as hale and hearty as a man of 40, surprised the people of our village one day last week by climbing the scaffolds of the new church tower. When he reached the base of the slated roof, which is about 85 feet from the ground, he walked around the entire tower upon a single plank and then waved his hat and gave 3 lusty cheers to the workmen, who heartily responded. The exterior of the new church is practically completed with the exception of the stone steps leading to the main entrance. Louis Hegen and J. Assmacker of Hartford have commenced lathing and expect to finish the work this week. Plastering will commence in the early part of the coming week. The stained windows of cathedral glass, with emblems, are ready for delivery and will be put in as soon as the plastering is finished. The windows are 14 in number, the majority of which were donated by families among individual members of the congregation. Don't trifle away time when you have cholera or diarrhoea. Fight them in the beginning with DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Remedy, and it leaves the bowels in healthy condition.—Charles Miller. Highly Respected by Parliament. There is a certain family in Great Britain which is so highly respected by the royal family that its members are permitted to wear their hats even in the presence of the queen, or in the house of parliament when that august body is in session. The curious custom is a memento of the famous contest between the representatives of King John of England and Philip II. of France. A difficulty arose between these two royal personages respecting affairs in the Duchy of Normandy, in 1189. It was decided that the matter should be settled by a combat between an Englishman and a Frenchman, the champions to be chosen by the monarchs of the respective countries. When both came on the field the champion of France fled without exchanging a blow with the burly Englishman. When King John asked his representative to name his pick the man replied: "Neither lands nor titles; but, in remembrance of this day, only the privilege for myself and my successors to remain covered in the presence of your self and all other sovereigns of this realm." The request was granted, and that man's descendants still wear their hats when in the presence of royalty.

Well, Jack, how is it about your bag? Chris. says that, although he had no control of his speed, he managed to light on his feet. Somewhat of a hurricane went east from here last Wednesday and took all of our street sweepings with it; and, the sprinkling which followed made the driveways in the burg look neat. However, some straw and grain stacks were blown down. Not Turned to the Wall. Over the windows in the dining-room of a hotel in New York are the portraits of A. J. Dam and his family. A sedate pair were dining there the other day, when the prim lady asked the waiter whose portraits they were. "Those portraits, madam," responded the attendant, with much dignity, "represent the whole Dam family." Of course the explanation appalled the irate husband, who was informed that Mr. Dam formerly ran the hotel, and the pictures would never be turned to the wall. Europeans in the Senate. Knute Nelson of Minnesota enjoys the somewhat singular distinction of being the only member of the United States senate born on the European continent—Europe outside of the British Isles. He is a native of Norway, the most conspicuous representative in office of the Scandinavian population of the great northwest. It is a fact, not generally known, that there are four Englishmen in the United States senate; or, more properly, four natives of England—Pasco of Florida, Mantle of Montana, Wetmore of Rhode Island and Jones of Nevada. There are two Canadians—McMillan of Michigan and Gallinger of New Hampshire. There is one Irishman—William J. Sewell of New Jersey. There are nine Ohio men.

Parties who appreciate this class of work should call, examine goods and get my prices before placing an order for anything in my line.
