Number of Bills Introduced at Madison.

WISCONSIN, WIS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1897.

SENATOR-ELECT SPOONER.

Final Legislative Proceedings in the Selection of Mr. Vilas' Successor.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 27.—[Special.]—The last act in the legislative proceedings to select John C. Spooner United States senator took place at noon today when the two houses met in joint convention in the Assembly chamber to announce the vote taken yesterday, which gave Spooner 117 votes to 7 for W. C. Silvertown and 1 for John C. Spooner.

The formalities of announcing the vote were soon over and a committee was appointed to notify Mr. Spooner of his election. The latter appeared and made a short speech of thanks, and he is now residing at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. Vilas, which he will occupy on March 4 next.

At the stroke of 12 Speaker Buckstaff's gavel descended and the Assembly instantly became quiet. The sergeant-at-arms announced the arrival of the state and the members of the Senate and Supreme court. The assembly then arose and stood while the national anthem was played.

The senators were called first and each stated his name and the name of his district. When the name of Senator Spooner was called he rose and said: "I have the honor to announce to you that I have been elected to the United States Senate by the people of Wisconsin."

Mr. Spooner then declared John C. Spooner duly elected as a United States senator, and the announcement was received with applause. The speaker then announced the election of Mr. Spooner as senator from Wisconsin.

EX-CONVICT ARRESTED.

Edward C. Allen Accused of Complicity in the Murder of George Bromley.

Waupun, Wis., Jan. 27.—[Special.]—District Attorney Ellsworth of Barron county sent word today that Edward C. Allen was arrested yesterday morning near Little Rock, Ark. Allen is the ex-convict who is said to have investigated the murder of George Bromley, near Barron, on the 23d of last November.

The real murderer is a fellow who is now serving a three-year sentence for burglary under the name of Thomas Rosso. The watch and chain belonging to the murdered man were found in St. Paul, which fact led to evidence that Rosso was the murderer, and on December last, Sheriff Waterman of District Attorney Ellsworth came from Barron and secured a full confession from Rosso.

On February 8, 1896, Rosso then giving the name of Rosso was sent up from Barron county for grand larceny for six months, after which he was discharged on reduction of time July 24. During the time of his confinement he was in the company of Edward C. Allen, who was in prison for a year and a half for a similar offense.

Allen, however, when he got out of prison, did not go to his home in France, but came to this country at the age of 35, and introduced the bill Mr. Roche sent himself out as a probable candidate for the office of sheriff in Barron county, and he is now in the city of Little Rock, Ark., where he is said to be making the acquaintance of city clerks and other officials.

FORGED TICKETS FOUND.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Secures the Indictment of Twelve Men.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 27.—The grand jury today indicted on complaint of officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad the following named men, who are accused of forging tickets: William Burns, Charles F. Stott, C. G. Wickham, V. Cunningham, H. Neunrich, Charles Chubb, William O'Rourke, James Colan, Archie Mahon, George Cochran and D. Flaherty.

The men under indictment are alleged to have forged tickets on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The officials of the railroad before the grand jury had $4000 worth of forged tickets with them, and the plates and dies from which they were printed were also found. It is said that the tickets were forged by the men named, and that they were used before the counterfeits were detected.

PROPOSED TAX ON BEER.

Michigan Plan to Raise Primary School Fund.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 27.—A plan to raise revenue for the primary school fund will shortly be sprung in the Legislature. It consists of a 2-cent per barrel tax on brewers. Two years ago it was raised, but it is asserted that the revenue has not been sufficient to cover the cost of the fund.

PHILADELPHIA FIRE LOSS.

Wanamaker Had Been Without Insurance—Just Took $1,000,000.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—The total loss on the Philadelphia fire is variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000. It is said that it will be impossible to secure accurate figures. The losses are very generally covered by insurance.

GEO. NUAGENT, Editor.

The final acts in the election of John C. Spooner as United Senator was accomplished by the state legislature this week.

The death of George Koeppen, editor of the Germania of Milwaukee, on last Monday evening, marked the demise of one of the leading German journalists of Wisconsin.

Unless all signs fail, the man who made the motion which resulted in laying Hall's anti-pass resolution on the table, Mr. Polachek will be "laid upon the shelf" at the proper time.

Now that Senator Sherman has announced his acceptance of the portfolio of secretary of state, Gov. Bushnell of Ohio may appoint Mark Hanna as Mr. Sherman's successor in the United States senate.

The action of Mayor Swift of Chicago in instructing the police department to provide for all destitute people in Chicago during the late cold spell, shows that that officer has a heart well fitted for a man in his position.

The cold spell, which struck this place on the 22nd inst, prevailed for a week; but, although the thermometer registered as low as 27 degrees, none of our people suffered any material injury, while the loss of life and property reported from other parts of the country in the same latitude was appalling.

A bill prohibiting football playing has been introduced in the Indiana legislature; also one making it unlawful to wear high hats in public gatherings where an admission is charged. The war being waged against big hats may be all right in some theaters, but there are others wherein the ladies' headgear of the audience forms the prettiest part of the show.

The resolution of Senator Timme, to have a committee investigate the state departments with a view of reducing the number of employes therein, is a move in the right direction. Now let Mr. Timme watch and see that no snap jobs are created during the present session of the legislature, and his constituents will have occasion to feel proud of him.

CONGRESS should find some other and better way of reducing expenses than by passing the Land bill. Literature cannot be too cheap or easy to get to suit the people of a free country like the United States; and, as for the class of literature known as "obscene," there are good and sufficient laws to prevent transmission thereof through the mails.

The senate committee on naval affairs has postponed action on the report of Senator Chandler until next Tuesday. However, the senator's investigation will disclose nothing which Iron King Carnegie cannot attribute to "carelessness of the workmen" if he finds it necessary to account for some defects in his armor plates. The committee should know by this time that the Czar of Homestead has other and better business than blowing holes in the plates himself.

REVELING in luxury and flaunting riches in the face of poverty is dangerous to the peace and prosperity of any country; therefore, State Comptroller James A. Roberts gave a timely warning in New York recently when he said that "the rich must consent to pay a large proportion of the expenses of the government and so relieve the people if they would avoid worse things."

If all officials of this state paid their fare, the legislature would soon conclude that 3 cents a mile is too much; but, so long as our law makers can ride free of charge, their constituents may walk for all they care. This explains why a man, regardless of "race, color, creed or previous condition of servitude," is tendered a railroad pass on being elected as a member of the legislature.

SAM JONES insists that the eighth commandment should not be read: "Thou shalt not steal—if likely to be caught at it." He says Boston people read it that way, and it is probable a great many others do.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth. Judging from the above, either Sam Jones or the editor of the Commonwealth has broken the eighth commandment, whatever Boston people may be doing with the seventh.

SOME of the eastern papers that are wont to criticize the "rowdy west" because filled up suddenly with newcomers and because the gambling houses and saloons are the only centers of social intercourse would do well to look to their own balliwicks. Bad as is the west, it cannot hold a candle to the east. It may be admitted in passing that New Yorkers especially seem to have a keen relish for imported vices.—Memphis Commercial-Tribune.

AMONG the states which are wrestling with the convict labor problem is Kansas. She proposes to divide her convicts into classes, setting one class at the work of digging irrigation ditches, another at building roads and another at growing farm produce for the use of wards of the state. The more vicious convicts will be set at the laborious task of breaking stones for roads. A good idea should not be snuffed at because it comes from Kansas.—Evening Wisconsin.

The indictment of Herbert Barnum Seeley by a New York grand jury adds a feather to the stage attractions of "Little Egypt."

We hope that Mrs. McKinley's inauguration gown is not receiving so much attention that Bill has to tuck his pants to his 'spenders with shingle-nails while the children play "whose got the button," as it were.

The proposed beet sugar bounty is limited to the one factory now in the state on the ground that it takes a year to build such an establishment. Then, there is no need of such a limit, especially if the bounty is limited to one year by the measure now before the legislature.

The fact that many state legislatures have wrangled for a week over the selection of United States senators lends emphasis to the assertion that such officers should be elected by popular vote. But, that would be too much like having a government "of the people and by the people."

The announcement that Lyman J. Gage of Chicago has been tendered the position of secretary of the treasury by President-elect McKinley, has been followed by a later report saying that Mr. Gage has accepted the portfolio. This looks as if the gold Democracy is to be given material recognition at the hands of the coming administration.

The Milwaukee street railway strikers who were arrested on the charge of having shot Motorman Breen and Conductor Schwarz on the night of the 4th of last June, are now being tried after much difficulty in securing an acceptable jury. With Atty. Williams to defend them, we predict that the accused will not be convicted of shooting the motorman or the conductor, as there were too many different parties firing off revolvers at the time; and, as for the minor portion of the manifold charge, we presume that one-half of the street railway men (union and non-union) carried concealed weapons during the strike.

SOME short-sighted persons are saying that the public will benefit by this great industrial battle between the sugar trust and the rich firm of coffee dealers. But a moment's reflection will show that just the reverse is true. If one combination kills the other, the victor will be free to raise prices to a point at which he will soon recoup himself. If the giants call it a draw they will immediately conspire in the friendliest way in the world to take from the people all that both have lost, with heavy interest. In this war, as in all similar wars in the past, however the battle goes, the monopolists win and the people lose.—New York World.

One of the reasons why the army of no other nation is clothed in scarlet like the British is that material of this particular color can be manufactured satisfactorily only in England. The water of the West of England lends itself to the dyeing of this cloth as no other water does.

The man who thinks he has a talent for amusing little children was telling the 5-year-old a story about the unfortunate who swallowed his false teeth. "And they went right down his throat into his stomach and he could never get them again," said the story teller. "My goodness," interrupted the youthful listener. "After that couldn't he chew anything till he swallowed it?"—Buffalo Express.

Gen. McClelland, when in command of the army, conducted a waiting campaign, having been so careful not to make any mistakes that he made very little headway. President Lincoln sent this brief but pertinent letter: "My dear McClelland: If you don't want to use the army, I should like to borrow it for awhile. Yours respectfully, A. Lincoln."

The London Church Times tells of a low church clergyman who, on going to a new parish, inquired if there were any Puseyites in the community. "Nav, sir," said the clerk, "there used to be some, but for the last two years the boys have took all their eggs." This reminds the Advance of Chicago of the Georgia "cracker" who replied to a Sunday school missionary that he did not know whether there were any Presbyterians in the neighborhood "but there was some varmint around which was catching the chickens and lambs."

"Megargee," in the Philadelphia Times tells a good story of how Louis Aldrich, the actor, "got even" with a hotel landlord in Lowell, Mass., who served such bad meals that his theatrical company was driven to another house. The last night of the company's engagement, a double bill was given, "The Stranger" being first presented, followed by "Black-Eyed Susan," in which Aldrich took the part of the admiral, John W. Norton that of Capt. Crosstree and E. L. Davenport that of William. In the latter play William is found guilty of striking Crosstree, and the admiral sentences him to be hanged from the yard-arm, concluding with "and may God have mercy on your soul." Upon this particular occasion Louis Aldrich spied (sitting in the front row of the theater) the landlord of the hotel, accompanied by his three buxom daughters, all evidently pleased with the play and themselves. Aldrich's soul thirsted for revenge; so, in pronouncing sentence upon William, he said: "I sentence you to board at the house for two weeks, and may God have mercy on you." Davenport at first hesitated and then gave a wild, derisive shriek of laughter, whereupon the landlord and his daughters sprang to their feet and rushed from the place, while the audience held its sides and ached with laughter.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"I am sorry that Miss Bankum is out. You won't forget to mention that I called?" "No, indeed, sor. O'll run right up an' tell her now."—Chattanooga Times.

Full Payment.—She—Did your friend take the doctor's advice? He—Certainly. She—And did he pay for it? He—Well, I should say he did! He's dead.—Yonkers Statesman.

Dr. Willing says: "A simple remedy for a cold in the head is the juice of a ripe lemon. This is squeezed into the hand and sniffed up the nose. Two or three applications may be necessary."

Queen Victoria's coronation ring is never out of her sight, and is worn by her every night. It is a band of gold containing a cross of rubies surrounded by diamonds. A coronation ring is supposed to symbolize the wedding of the sovereign with the nation.

In a law case at New York an attorney asked a question of 663 words in length. The witness was unable to follow the intricacies of the query and asked that it be repeated. His request was granted, whereupon the witness answered: "I don't know."

A murder was committed at Emporia, Kan., recently, and the murderer confessed and his attorney admitted that the accused did the shooting; still, the coroner's jury considered such evidence incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and failed to agree on a verdict.

Hawkins—See here, Dubill, I understand you turned over a new leaf the first of the year. Now, I'd like to know when you're going to pay that $25 you owe me? Dubill—My dear boy, don't speak of it. I have turned over a new leaf. I've blotted out the past. Please do not recall those days of my indiscretion—and yours.—Philadelphia American.

To a young lady who declared that Kentucky produced the handsomest women, the fastest horses and the best whisky on earth, Gen. Grant once replied: "I unequivocally indorse the first part of your statement. As to the horses, I admit that also, for I own some of them myself, and I am considered a good judge of horseflesh. But, as to the whisky, you will pardon me if I doubt your position. Whisky, in order to be good must be old, and your Kentucky men drink it up so fast that it doesn't have time to get old."—X.

There is a man in Boston who might well have served as the original of the modest, lovable characters which Dickens set forth in the famous Cheeryble brothers. While mailing a package at the postoffice just before Christmas, he learned that many packages were being held there for unpaid postage. He paid the postage on the whole lot, so that the parties to whom the packages addressed did not lose any presents on account of a lack of postage. The man was careful not to disclose his identity, evidently being content with the reflection that he had contributed towards making others happy on Christmas.

Father Hugh Lagan of San Rafael is a pious priest and an excellent raconteur. His reverence relates that he was called in recently to administer the last rites of another church to a dying sinner who, like himself, was a native of the Emerald Isle. "I have but one request to make, father," said the dying penitent. "What is it, my son?" inquired the priest. "That when I am dead, father, you will put me to rest in the Hebrew cemetery." "And what for?" asked Father Lagan. "Because, your reverence," moaned the sick man, "it is the last place on earth where the devil would look for an Irishman."—London Figaro.

"Who was that 'Squire Huxtable who died last week?" asked the caller at the newspaper office. "He was a man," responded the editor of the Perkins Junction Palladium, "who had taken this paper nineteen years, always paid for it in advance, never expected me to make a local item about it when he put a new roof on his barn or sold his pork, when he came in to ask me a question never began by saying 'An editor is supposed to know everything,' always sent a $2-bill with the wedding notice whenever any of his family got married, and never had an idea he could run my paper better than I could."—Chicago Tribune.

When the Rev. Dr. Short was pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church at Scranton he was zealous in the work of securing new members. One man, with whom he had labored exhaustively, was finally persuaded as to his Christian duty, but could not make up his mind whether to become a Baptist or a Methodist. Finally he hit upon a compromise, and wrote to the doctor that he had decided to unite with the Methodists, but would like to be baptized in the Baptist church by immersion. This so exasperated the good doctor that he sent the following reply: "I regret that I cannot accommodate you, but this church does not take in washing."—Argonaut.

LAUNDRY LOCALS.

The three from daylight till dark is being done.

The cold snap broke up a great deal of the New Year resolutions.

—The late cold snap brought out the following recipe: "If you freeze your ears or nose, rub vigorously with snow and do not go into a warm room until all the frost is out."

—Some time ago we made mention of some Eden saloonkeepers having been acquitted of selling liquor without license.

—The citizens of Hartford are considering the question of offering a bonus for a best sugar factory.

—The late cold weather has made tramps quite bold, and some farmers are minus fur coats as a result thereof.

—The marriage of Philip Jung, Jr., to Mary Ohmanud will take place soon.

—The first masquerade ball ever held here will be given in Petri's hall some time next month.

VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS.

Kewaskum, Wis., Jan. 23, 1897, 8:00 p. m.

The Board met in special session with Adolph Rosenheimer in the chair and all trustees present except Frank Smith and Albert Buss.

The meeting was called by the president for the purpose of extending the time for paying taxes.

On motion the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the time for the payment of taxes be and the same is hereby extended to March 10, 1897, and that the president and the clerk be and are hereby directed to endorse such extension upon the warrant annexed to the tax roll of the village treasurer.

On motion the board adjourned. JOSEPH SCHMIDT, Clerk.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE ARRANGEMENTS.

The meeting held in Nic. Marx's new hall last Wednesday at 2 p. m. for the purpose of making arrangements for the Farmers' Institute, to be held here on March 4th and 5th, resulted in the election of Wm. Colvin as chairman and the selection of the following committees:

Educational—G. F. Koepke, J. J. Altenhofen and Adolph Rosenheimer. Supper—Mrs. M. Rosenheimer, A. G. Koch and H. J. Lay.

Kewaskum Literary Society.

The following program will be rendered at the meeting of the society on Friday evening, Feb. 5:

Piano Solo—Miss Celia Wright. Preliminary—Gustav F. Koepke. Declaration—Miss Augusta Schmidt. Solo reading—Miss Meta Miller.

WAYNE WAFTINGS.

The marriage of Philip Jung, Jr., to Mary Ohmanud will take place soon.

George Petri transacted business at West Bend and Milwaukee last week.

Mrs. H. J. Lay of Kewaskum visited relatives here for several days last week.

H. Menger, the ice contractor, is busy cutting congealed water with his crew of workmen.

The first masquerade ball ever held here will be given in Petri's hall some time next month.

Frank Mayer, a poultry dealer of Oconomowoc, spent a few days with relatives here last week.

Wm. Kohl was here in the interest of the wholesale liquor firm of Barwig Bros. of Milwaukee last Thursday.

Wm. Foerster and Andrew Martin had business at the county seat last Monday. The latter, who is our town treasurer, made a final settlement with the county treasurer.

Jacob Mayer, aged 62 years, had the thumb of his right hand so badly injured last Friday in the gearing of a feed cutter that Dr. Haunsman found it necessary to cut off the first joint.

John Lay returned last week from Kansas, where he spent two months. He says it is well to be a "Woodman, as his life was in danger three times during his absence—once when a locomotive exploded and twice again while traveling.

Nothing Like Being in Style.

The Chicago Record tells a good story of a Kansas farmer who entered a general store in Emporia and inquired for "some thin nice to put on griddle cakes."

"Molasses?" queried the storekeeper. "Now, somethin' nicer. 'Ben eatin' molasses for twenty years. Ain't ye got somethin' slicker?" The grocer told him about maple syrup and praised it highly.

"All the toney people of Emporia use it," he said. "That's what I want; the hightonedist you've got," replied the farmer. By a strange mishap, when the boy went to pack the goods for the socially ambitious farmer he took a tin of varnish, which was put up similar to the maple sap. Three or four months afterward the man came back to town and reported at the store. The proprietor, having discovered the mistake, was in a panic. At length he ventured to ask how the syrup suited. "Oh, she was all right," said the customer. "Kinder highfalutin eatin' but good."

My wife at first said she thought it was some rancid, but when I told her what you said about it bein' a hightonedist she seemed to take a second holi, and now she won't have anything else. I thought there was a kind of snap an' bite to it that sorter reminded me o' what we used to git when prohibition first struck the counry, but in general it's mighty good stuff."

"Was there any bad effect at all?" inquired the amazed storekeeper. "Well, now, I can't say there wasn't. You see it was my wife's first experience with dude grub, an' she kinder lost her head; got ambitious; allowed that if we was good enough to have that kind o' eatin' we was good enough to have some other things to match. Bought a lot o' new chiny dishes from the peddler an' made me promise I'd get her a new hat with red on it an' a dress, this trip in town. Yes, I s'pose you might say that they was some bad effects, 'cause vanity is certainly sinful; but you're a married man yourself an' know they ain't no way to stop a woman's ambitions when she begins to kinder get in society. Gimme a couple gallons more o' that syrup, an' if you have some that has jes' a leetle more o' that pleasant bitin' sting to it, why let's have that."

All the different forms of skin troubles, from chapped hands to eczema and indolent ulcers, can be readily cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great skin cure.—Chas. Miller.

CAMPBELLSPORT CULLINGS.

L. C. Kohler went to Fond du Lac on business last Thursday.

John Petri, while sawing ice this week, froze his face and ears.

Philip Guenther made a business trip to Kewaskum last Tuesday.

John Hendricks went to Milwaukee to accompany the remains of Dr. Wenzel hither.

While riding his pony, last Monday, Gregor Hofmann took a tumble, but did not hurt himself.

Leonard Hall, who has been at work in Chicago for the past six months, is home for a short vacation.

Henry Wenzel, who has been very sick with lockjaw, caused by the pulling of a tooth, is out again.

Robert feels very happy since he won the belt, while Hall is correspondingly sad and downhearted.

John G. may be all right at cutting hair, but he is not in it when he plays sheepshank with the Elmore sharps.

The G. A. R. masquerade, mentioned last week, will not be held. Instead, Phil. Guenther will have one on Feb. 10th.

News has reached us that Dr. Wenzel of Milwaukee died last Thursday. The funeral will be held today (Saturday) at 9:30 in the M. E. church.

A. S. Paul was suddenly called to Princeton last Monday on account of the illness of his grandmother. Mr. Lindsay acted as agent here during the former's absence.

A cinch party was held at Deghardt Bros.' residence last Sunday evening. Enough were present for six tables. Mrs. L. C. Kohler won the first prize and Mrs. John Bonesho the second.

ELMORE ETCHINGS.

Minnesota Ulrich is still in our burg, and is evidently here on a gear hunt.

Mrs. Peter Lefebre, who has been ill for some time, is now slowly recovering.

Geo. Senn of Minnesota is visiting his brother, Ulrich, and some old-time friends.

August Krueger struck a new dear trail lately and now travels it quite regular.

Frank Kleinhans left for the town of Rhine last week to visit relatives and friends.

Fred. Reinking of Appleton attended the auction of Ulrich Legler last Thursday.

Charley, we would advise you to keep your eye on the corners, for there is danger in the neighborhood.

Peter Senn has returned from Minnesota, where he was staying with his brother, Henry, the past summer.

Eddie Senn, who left for Milwaukee some time ago, paid us a short visit last Saturday and returned Sunday.

Miss Katie Gundie, who spent several months elsewhere, has returned here feeling that there is no place like home.

Mrs. Mary Tischhauser from Valley Falls, Kas., is visiting her brother, Ulrich Senn, and other relatives in this vicinity.

A Young Men's choir has been organized here with Michael Litscher as instructor, and 19 members are now enrolled.

A bouncing little baby boy made its appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Klokey last week. We congratulate Billy.

Frank, we would advise you not to do your sparking on the Main street of Campbellsport whenever your sweet heart comes around again.

Ulrich Gundley, who spent the past six weeks with relatives here, left last Monday for Turin, Mich., where he will spend the remainder of the winter with his brother, Fred.

The Elmore band has arranged for a grand masquerade ball on Feb. 17th in the Elmore hall. A boueous supper will be served at 11:30. The Schmidt family orchestra will furnish the music.

Our town treasurer, Chris. Schmalz, has extended paying time in the town of Ashford till Feb. 1st. All who have not paid up, should hustle to settle before the above-named date and save 5 per cent extra.

LITHIA BEER.

This beer is brewed with water containing lithia, in a natural form, from our artesian well. Lithia is a recognized remedy for kidney disease and gout affections. This, combined with the admirable tonic qualities of our beer, makes it a most excellent beverage.

WANTED.—Wood on subscription. A PROGRESSIVE STATE. No other State in the Union offers greater inducements for the location of Industries and Manufacturing Plants than Wisconsin, with its limitless Iron Ore deposits, abundance of Hardwood Timber, numerous Clay, Kaolin and Marl beds, and other advantages.
