The big interests on the Mesaba range, the Rockefeller-Carnegie interest and the Minnesota Iron company were unable to agree, and it was announced after the meeting that the different companies on

Chicago, Ill., March 24.—A well-defined belief exists in the iron trade of Chicago that a disturbing element in the iron ore trust, otherwise the Bessemer Ore association, is nothing less than the Carnegie-Rockefeller combination. Pres-ent conditions are considered in line with the breaking up of the steel rail trust a few months ago and the open war it heralded between Carnegie and Rocke-feller on the one side and the Illinois Steel company on the other for the control of the Western market.

At the time of the steel rail collapse the Illinois Steel company came out with flying colors, having captured by all odds, it is claimed, the largest portion of Western orders. But Carnegie is endeavoring now, it is thought, to rescue victory from defeat by keeping mine owners apart. It is true that the general belief in the East has been that the Carnegie-Rockefeller people were en the other side of the ore rust question. But is is now said that this idea is based upon a wrong suppo-sition as to the conditions under which sition as to the conditions under which the Carnegie mills are supplied with ore. While the mines leased from Rockefeller furnish any amount of Mesaba ore, it is necessary to mix with it a large amount of "hard" or "lump" ore, and of this the Carnegie people are always large purchasers. But it is held they would be able to get what they want at a low figure if they went into an open market. Being the largest consumers and having unlimited credit, they would be expected to make more advantageous deals with mine owners than anyone else, and so would have a big advantage over Seacoast and Civilization.

It is an odd theory, yet no doubt the correct one, that the coast area of Europe has probably had more to do with the commercial and social supremacy of that continent than any other cause. Investigation will show that Europe has a mile of coast for every 164 square miles of its land area, while the Americas, which rightly come next, have 359 square miles of land to every mile of coast. Asia has 376 square miles and Africa 530 square miles to each mile of coast. The low order of culture still prevailing on the Dark Continent, though its history is as old as that of any other portion is as old as that of any other portion of the world, is almost indisputable evi-dence of the correctness of this theory.

CONGRESS.

Within Hailing Distance of Each Other in a Cafe, but They Did Not Speak.

San Francisco, Cal., March 23.—Mrs. Fitzsimmons' intention to prevent her husband from again risking his harden are reputation has caused Corbett and Brady to be a little shy about broaching their pet subject when the lady is within hearing distance. She seems to know this and takes care never to be far away. They were within hailing distance of the New Zealander last evening in the Baldwin cafe, but no overtures were made to a nearer approach.

While Corbett, accompanied by Col. Burns and Joe Brady and Harry Corbett, were at lunch, Fitz and his wife entered the room and took seats at an adjoining table.

The histrionic ability of both principals to the late Carson fight stood them in good stead on this occasion and though cach was terribly conscious of the presence of the other he acted in such a way as to seem blissfully ignorant. Bob talked to his wife in a loud tone about the baby's health, while Jim conversed clequently with Col. Burns concerning the Nevada weather and its effect upon the appetite.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons soon gave her husband the signal and they swept by the Corbett party, broadcloth and black silk glittering like banners of victory in the bright sun. A few hours later Fitz left for Sacramento to give an exhibition and for another twenty-four hours Corbett's proposed verbal challenge will have to lie dormant and gather fresh clouwing nominations: John Hay of the District of Columbia to be aerotary of the centure of New York to be ambassactor of the Interest States for the States to Great Britain. Berlin, March 23.—The weather was bright and warm today, the last of the celebration of the centennial of the birth of Emperor: William I. The streets were crowded, especially Unter den Linden, where the best view was obtained of the great procession. This was composed of burghers in the costume of former days, corporations, societies, clubs, veterans' associations, Turners, cyclists, carsmen, sharpshoeters and trades organizations. The whole procession was about three miles in length and it is estimated that over 40,000 persons took part in it.

As the military authorities had refused to send military bands, non-uniformed bands had to be secured. At intervals were floats representing scenes from the life of the late Emperor. Germania was represented by the wife of a sculptor named Schott. She was surrounded by 100 steel-clad knights. Everywhere were bodies of men picturesquely attired, mostly on horseback, and the scene presented was most attractive.

forty minutes' debate to be allowed on each bill. The rule for the consideration of the appropriation bills was adopted—173 to 16.

The first day of the tariff debate in the House was rather tame, both from a speciacular and an oratorical standpoint. The galleries were well-filled on the 22d and the members on the floor listened conscientionsly, but there was an absence both of that sharp cross firing which keeps the nerves on edge and that brilliant eloquence which inspires and holds the imagination. The opening of the debate was delayed over two hours by the full reading of the bill of 162 pages, and this, to begin with, had a somewhat depressing influence. The Republican leaders insisted on this to avoid the possible charge in the future should the consideration of the bill not be completed under the five-minute rule, that the bill was never read in full in the House, a thing which happened in the cases of both the McKinley and Wilson bills. Only four speeches were made at the day session. Mr. Dingley, the chairman of the ways and means committee, opened in an hour's speech for the najority, and Mr. Wheeler of Alabama fired the broadside for the opposition. The Democratic plans had miscarried. Mr. Bailey, leader of the opposition. The only other speaker at the day session was Mr. Hopkins of Illinols, a member of the ways and means committee.

Although several sharp passes at arms somewhat enlivened the tariff debate in the House on the 23d the brilliant speech of Mr. Sadowing feature of the day. Baraboo Church Celebration.

Baraboo, Wis., March 23.—[Special.]—
The members and friends of the Presbyterian church relebrated the forty-seventh anniversary of the organization last night with a banquet and programme.

The pastors of the other churches in the lite ware present and assisted. Thus, when the British were storming Badajoz, the General rode up while the balls were falling around, and, observing an artilleryman particularly active, inquired the man's name. He was answered "Taylor."
"A very good name too," remarked Wellington. "Cheer up, my men! Our one of the terms of settlement was that the defendant was to retain a life interest in a very large farm while she was to come into the ownership of it at his death. It was further agreed that she was to receive a small portion of the profits each year while he was to pay all of the expenses of the farm and leave it in as good condition at his death as when he assumed control of it. He was when he assumed control of it. He was charged with removing some of the valuable timber and other property, which resulted in Mrs. Lassallette bringing suit to recover $3000 in damages. Besides the $300 she was granted an injunction restraining the defendant from removing any more of the property.

WHEN?

When words are deeds. When fiction is fact, When credit is cash, Other flour may be as good as White Pearl.

The Worry cow might have lived till now If she hadn't lost her breath; But she thought her hay wouldn't last all day, And thus worried herself to death.

Though every rival does its best, White Pearl leads all the rest: Look high or low you'll always find White Peal leaves the rest behind.

There were many important bills on the Assembly calendar on the evening of the 22d, among them Mr. Hall's bill for the appointment of a committee to investigate the armings of railway companies, and Mr. Anson's bill to regulate the practice of pharmacy. Mr. Treat's bill to restrict the sale of liquor in the vicinity of the National Soldiers' home was on the calendar for engrossment and third reading. A resolution by Mr. Woller was adopted to allow Mr. Overbeck to introduce a bill for the erection of a pier or dock into the waters of Green hay. By a vote of 32 to 31 the Assembly refused to adopt Mr. Mosher's resolution for the appointment of a committee of three to ascertain the amount of the mill tax since 1885. On motion of Mr. Wheeler No. 35 8, to provide that banks be not required to pay the fees of the bank examiner for examinations, was recalled from the Senate. Mr. Wheeler entered a motion that the vote by which the Assembly refused concurrence in the bill be reconsidered.

In the Assembly on the 23d special com-fight this morning the Assembly, by a viva voce vote, ordered the bill forbidding the sale of liquor on section 35, which wipes out the saleons at the Soldiers' home gates in Milwaukee, engrossed and read a third time.

The unfinished part of the morning calendar was taken up by the Assembly on the night of the 23d and disposed of. There was considerable discussion of Mr. Latta's bill, No. 563 A. relating to the levy of taxes by towns. The measure is aimed to settle the difficulty in the town of Iron River in issuing bonds for electric lighting and waterworks purposes. Mr. Staples made a speech in favor of the bill, and it was ordered engrossed and read a third time. Among the committee reports received was Mr. Miss' bill for the appointment of a commission to devise a plan for utilizing the forest resources of the state. The newspaper libel bill was ordered engrossed and read a third time. Among the committee reports received was no opposition to advancing the measure was no opposition to advancing the measure Mr. Austin's bill, No. 354 8, was passed. The measure instructs the attorney-general to examine the reports made by railway companies with the end in view of finding out whether they are paying their just share of taxatron. A joint resolution along this line was introduced by Mr. Hall two years ago and was adopted in the Assembly. As no appropriation was provided the Senate deemed an investigation would amount to little, and the resolution was defeated. This method, though perhaps a little more tedious than the other, is exceedingly good, and makes the lace look fresh and new without the suspicion of an odor.

Another way is to sew the laces carefully on a cloth, which must then be stretched and tacked to a table, then go carefully over the lace with a rag, vsing carefully over the lace with a rag, using chalk wet with ammonia and water. chalk wet with animonia and Arter the lace and cloth have thoroughly dried the chalk may be shaken out have the very best results when trying this plan the drying should be done by

Children are neither angels spoiled in the making, nor are they to be counted as illustrations of natural deprayity. They are at first simply animals of a lower order in the scale of development, in whom the mental and moral qualities are nascent, and of whose present needs and future possibilities we present needs and future possibilities we can obtain no adequate conception, except by an intelligent study of the lower species which they resemble. Each individual child follows step by step, in its personal growth, the path by which the race has progressed to its higher destiny. It begins life, prenatally, as an aquatic animal. Its first attempts at locomotion are, like those of its brute ancestors, made on all fours, while it possesses nat-urally during the first year of life pre-hensible powers greater than it can ever afterward attain without the training of an athlete, and equaled only by those of its cousin, the ape.—Harper's Bazar.

Cholly's Predicament,

A party of out-of-town gentlemen who are at the Murray Hill hotel were invited yesterday by a well-known New Yorker to a private dinner party at the Metropoli-tan club. About 5 o'clock one of the gen-tlemen, who is several times a million-aire, rushed into the hotel with the inforaire, rushed into the note with the information that evening dress was not good form in New York city for Sunday. "I've just been told," he said, "that this mark of respect for the day is generally observed in the club circles of London, and that the custom has been adopted here."
There was consternation in the party, for each had brought evening dress, but had a scant wardrobe outside of that. Finally it was agreed to ask the host. Evenng dress was worn.—New York Press.

The common clothes moth also hatches | output last out of its woolly cocoon in April. It Whiskers lays its eggs in crevices and cracks. A spray of benzine is sure death to this animal. The killing may be done with an ordinary throat spray or with any

All fabrics that show signs of being caten by these moths should be thoroughly shaken and aired. This will do more to exterminate the common clothes moth than any anti-moth preparation. The buffalo bug, on the contrary, seems to enjoy an airing, and yields to nothing but benzine or steam. It seems to thrive on all other anti-moth preparations.—New York Tribune.
