GEO. NUGENT, Editor.

The committee on arrangements, for the banquet to be given at Milwaukee on June 22 in celebration of Queen Victoria's jubilee, is in doubt about inviting ladies, as the gentlemen will indulge in an after-dinner smoke. Invite the ladies and let the gentlemen go out into the "swearing room" for their smoke!

The interview which a Milwaukee reporter recently had with Senator Mitchell of that place would seem to indicate that the Democratic senator believes that he can conscientiously support the Dingley bill; because, while it increases the tariff on imports, it does so only to the extent of providing necessary revenue.

The farmers who beat about the bush and undergrowth beneath the hiding place of the Waukesha county murderer, while he viewed them from the tree-tops, likely believe that he was not so bad as he might have been. But, the chances are that Pautz needed all the ammunition he had for the purpose of killing himself in case the farmers discovered him, as death at his own hands was preferable to being captured by neighbors of his victims.

It now seems that some Republicans as well as Democrats, place their only hope for the future in the organization of a new party. At a banquet of the Business Men's league of Philadelphia recently John Wanamaker, ex-postmaster general, commented on the failure of the promised prosperity to appear in consequence of President McKinley's election, and said that the low state to which the political religion of the nation was brought by unscrupulous bosses must eventually result in a new party.

The Cream City is making considerable noise over the death of N. B. Clark. The Evening Wisconsin says "Milwaukee must in defense of her reputation convince the world that when murderers ply their awful trade within her borders, heaven and earth will be moved in an effort to hunt them down." The earth may be torn up somewhat, but the chances are that heaven will remain unmoved. Still, experience in the Waukesha county case would seem to justify extending the search as far heavenward as tree-tops, anyway.

TURKEY'S ENORMOUS DEBT.

It Exceeds $600,000,000, Nine Tenths of the Amount Being Held in France.

For nearly half a century the Turkish empire has been floundering in a bog of financial indebtedness, getting deeper into the mire almost every decade, until now there is only the most distant probability of its being ever able to pay. The United States Investor gives this outline of the financial course which the government has pursued:

"Between 1851 and 1873 the government contracted fifteen loans, the entire nominal value of which was about $1,100,000,000. The first so-called budget was published in 1862. In the following year the drastic measure of the retirement of the paper money was undertaken, and a court of accounts created. But, in spite of this, the financial difficulties of the sultan grew from bad to worse. At length, in 1873, the policy of paying old debts by contracting new ones at a higher rate of interest came to a conclusion. The government, therefore, determined two years later to pay one-half of her coupons in gold and the other half in bonds, which were to draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent, with the illusory promise of payment in five years.

"At the Berlin congress in 1878 the great powers made arrangements to protect the financial interests of their subjects by appointing a committee on which each of the contracting parties was to be represented, except Russia, who then, as now, was a borrower rather than a lender of money. Since last autumn, however, the representative of the czar at Constantinople has been clamoring to be admitted as a member of this committee on account of the political interests involved.

"By the decision of this congress also Bulgaria and the other states at that time separated from Turkey were each required to assume their portion of the debt. In 1881 a wholesale conversion of all outstanding obligations took place, but this step did not by any means put a stop to further borrowing. Four per cent loans were issued in 1890-91, and one at 3 1/2 per cent in 1894. But the most important loan in recent years was that at 5 per cent in 1896, based on the security of the Turkish customs. The amount issued was about $30,000,000 (par value), of which the greater part was taken in Paris.

"The present Turkish debt certainly exceeds $600,000,000, and it has been claimed by French socialist organs that it even exceeds $800,000,000. Nine-tenths of this amount is held in France. Consequently, any disaster to Turkey would produce a shock in Paris equal to that occasioned by the fall of the Panama company. The rest of the debt is held in England, Germany, Austria, Holland and Belgium."

TO LOAN MONEY TO FARMERS.

A recent report from New York says that the greatest financial institution in the world has been projected there. It is, in short, the establishment of a credit company under federal supervision on the plan of the credit foncier of France, but with greater powers. John R. Dos Passos has the charter and says it will be submitted to congress within two weeks. He claims he has received the approval of the administration and leaders in congress.

The company, as planned, is to have a capital of $100,000,000, with the privilege of doing a business of $2,000,000,000. The prime purpose of the company is to lend money to the farmers, especially of the west and south, at a rate almost half that which they are now paying. In addition the charter will authorize the company to do a general trust and banking business within well defined limits, the object of this branch of the business being to give farmers short loans on crops and the more perishable farm products.

Result of Prostration.

If the old soldier pensioner of Indiana, who became so delighted on receiving his pension voucher on May 7 that he went off at once and married an old sweetheart, could have anticipated his happy union by one week he might not only have left his name to the woman after he shall "shuffle off this mortal coil," but she would have been comforted by the right to a widow's pension. The bill introduced in congress by Senator Carter acts directly against this case, for it provides that "no widow shall hereafter be entitled to a pension on account of the services of her husband in the army or navy, unless it is shown that the marriage on which her claim is based was contracted prior to the first day of May, 1897." This is evidence that the motto should ever be borne in mind never to put off till another day what you could have done a week before just as well.—Evening Wisconsin.

CENTER EXTRACTED FROM GOLD PIECES.

One of the most puzzled men in town, says the San Francisco Call, is a Montgomery street restaurant-keeper, who recently took in a $20-gold-piece which filled all the ordinary requirements of genuineness so far as a superficial test could reveal the true facts. But a few days ago a banker stepped into his place and saw the $20-piece. The banker had a queer look in his eyes as he took the coin and rapped it sharply with his knife, and the restaurant-keeper had a stranger expression as he saw his supposed $20-piece break in two pieces.

"How is this?" he demanded. The banker answered: "It is the same old game. I had one of these pieces myself, and since then I have tested gold pieces of the $20 denomination very carefully. If that had been genuine my test would not have broken it."

Then the restaurant-keeper and the banker carefully examined it together. The outside of the gold-piece was all right, seemingly, when the disassembled parts were placed together. The milling seemed to be up to the standard. The weight was correct. But the inside of the piece was half filled with a composition which was not the customary gold and alloy. Still closer examination revealed that the gold had been sawed through with exquisite care and skill, just inside of the milling. Then the milling had been removed, and from the interior of the piece some gold had been extracted and the baser composition was made to take the place of the more precious metal. Then, with equal deftness and skill the milling had been replaced and soldered in some way, and the trick was done.

Study of the Stars.

Six miles west of the city of Lake Geneva, Wis., a great, brown dome rises upon the horizon from the summit of a lofty hill, like a monster balloon awaiting the signal to rise. Beneath the dome extends a beautiful building of brick and stone, two stories high, for about 200 feet. At the corner of this building, furthest from the mighty hemisphere, glowing in the sunlight, is another dome, larger than the ordinary observatory but dwarfed by proximity to its giant neighbor. The whole building, with a myriad of tiny windows in its walls, commands a view of the beautiful Lake Geneva, and above the main doorway are carved the words "Yerkes Observatory, University of Chicago."

During the first week of July, convocation week of the aforesaid university, the great Yerkes telescope will be formally dedicated and the university will possess the greatest observatory in the world. All the work on the immense building has been completed and the telescope itself is perfect, and has a larger lens than any yet made. Chas. T. Yerkes of Chicago is the donor of the observatory.

The Seniors and Juniors of the West Bend high school give an entertainment in Moser's hall there tonight. Joseph Strobel suffered so from sore eyes this week that he found it necessary to wear blue-glassed goggles. The advance agent of the H. B. Marshall Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. billed the village for a tent show here on the 20th inst. NOTICE—All who have settlements to make with me will please do so before the 25th inst. and oblige Nic. Deusch. —John Mack of West Bend, who represents the McCormick Harvester Co., was here on business, a few days this week. —N. M. Deusch will move to New London, Wis., next Tuesday, where he will take possession of his saloon by the 1st of June. —Attend the special sale of men's and boys' summer clothing and ladies' wearing apparel, next Wednesday, at L. Rosenheimer's. —Parties who did not receive a copy of the laws enacted at the last session of the legislature, can obtain the same by calling at our office. —G. B. Wright and his force of men started for Cedar Lake last Wednesday to paint the summer cottages of Adolph and Moritz Rosenheimer. —The baseball game between the Uppertown and Lowertown lads, last Sunday, resulted in victory for the latter by a score of 24 to 19. —Rev. J. O. Bushnell, assisted by some members of the Hartford Y. P. S. C. E., will assist in the meetings at I. O. G. T. hall tomorrow. —David and Miss Lena Rosenheimer took an overland trip to Watpau, last Wednesday, and attended the wedding of a relative there in the evening. —Henry Wittenberg had the interior of the bar-room of the Northwestern hotel papered, this week, and it now presents a very bright appearance. —Nic. Enders, a special traveling agent for the Deering Harvester Co., spent a few days hereabouts in the interest of that company, this week. —C. C. Schaefer, the liveryman, is having a bus rigged up for transferring people to and from the parks, when occasion requires, during the season. FOR SALE—A second-hand Telegram bicycle, in good condition and cheap; also, a new "Hare" wheel for $37. Address: Wm. Ludwig, Kewaskum, Wis. —The 16th inst. was the first fine Sunday of the season; and, as a result, many went fishing or strolled about the woodlands and parks adjoining the village. —The Kewaskum creamery is receiving a large increase of patronage, this season; and, as a result, its average daily product of butter has reached 1,000 pounds. —Chas. Groeschel has purchased his stock of tobacco from representatives of Milwaukee houses, and he expects to commence manufacturing cigars the 1st of next month. —Wm. Backhaus, who deals in livestock, has been seriously ill at his home here since last Sunday with appendicitis, attacks of which he has been subject to for a long time. —Mrs. P. Miritz, will be held in Petri's hall at Wayne on Saturday, May 29th. A Winchester rifle is the prize to be awarded whoever holds the lucky ticket in the raffle. —A number of our young people witnessed the baseball game between Fond du Lac and West Bend, at the latter place last Sunday, and they report that it was very interesting. The result was in victory for West Bend by a score of 10 to 4. —Nic. Remmel has a new card out showing a cut and giving a description of his New Improved Brass-Cylinder Tank-Pump. The pump is a model in construction and will undoubtedly be as favorably received on the market as he well pumps are. —The opening of Marx's new ball, last Sunday, was not well attended owing to the pleasant weather, which developed a penchant for out-door amusement. Still, those who attended the concert in the afternoon and the dance in the evening, enjoyed themselves unstintedly. —Dr. Hausmann and F. C. Gottlieb spent Sunday at Winneconne, and while out on the Wolf river there they caught 149 white bass in six hours. They used the hook-and-line method exclusively, and report that about 2,500 fish were caught in the same way there last Sabbath. —Last Monday was the "Norwegian Fourth of July," and, in this connection, it may be stated that the Norwegian flag has been hoisted higher upon the globe than that of any other country. FATALLY INJURED BY A FALL.
Wenzel Kudeks Falls off the Schoenzer Building and Sustains Injuries Which Result in His Death.
Last Wednesday, a few minutes before noon, while nailing roof-boards on the peak of Jacob Schoenzer's house, Wenzel Kudeks lost his foothold and slid off the roof to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. Fellow workmen carried him home, where a physician was summoned and found the patient suffering from a severed spine and such other internal injuries that no hopes were entertained for his recovery. DIED—KUDEKS—At his residence here on Friday, May 21, 1897, at 5:10 a. m., Wenzel Kudeks, aged 55 years. The deceased was born in Bohemia Austria, on Jan. 24, 1842; came to this country in 1857; and, seven years later, on May 17, 1864, he married Magdalena Kraus, after which he resided on a farm three miles west of here until 7 years ago, when he let his son Joseph have the place and moved into Kewaskum, where he built a comfortable home. He was a very industrious man, and during the dull season on his farm he often worked at carpentering, having learned the trade in his youth. He was one of the first directors of the village, and was re-elected at every election held since. He was honest, upright and highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two sons (Joseph and Frank) who are sorely grieved and have the sympathy of the community in this their hour of affliction.
