RIOTING AT OSHKOSH.

Violence Grows Out of Wood-workers' Strike.

ROCKS, EGGS, PEPPER.

Several Persons Injured, but Nobody Fatally—Sheriff Swearing in Deputies.

Oshkosh, Wis., June 23.—A serious riot occurred here this morning at the Morgan plant, the result being a crowd of workers' strike. Several hundred women armed with clubs, rocks, eggs and paper sacks of pepper gathered at the south end of Light street bridge near the Morgan ash, door and blind factory and waited for workmen endeavoring to enter the factory. The police were powerless to disperse the mob and not a man was allowed to enter the factory, even the proprietors being driven back by threats of violence. Non-union laborers were singled out and chased for blocks, a number of them being struck with stones and eggs. As a consequence the plant was ordered closed down and the manufacturer is awaiting a conference with the strikers.

Streets Impassable.

The streets were so impassable that the managers of the mill could not reach their offices on account of the crowd. The streets were filled with eggs of indefinite age. It was impossible to run the mill because of the shortage of the city officials.

About 10 o'clock C. H. Paxton of the McMillan company, with the superintendent, went to the mill to see that the workman who was injured on the south side last night and they were escorted by the police to leave the mill. The men were taken to the hospital and one man was taken to the morgue. The streets were covered with blood. The patrol wagon was called out several times in the course of the riot.

Sheriff Asked for Aid.

The chief of police put on a special force of men at the beginning of the strike, but it was not until after the bridge was burned that the sheriff was called for aid. The sheriff is skimming around for deputies.

Chief of Police Warned.

The chief of police warned Mayor McMillan that the riot was spreading and that the streets were impassable. The mayor called on Sheriff Lampert to take a force of deputies, and if serious resistance is shown the governor will be asked to send in a militia.

City Officials, after a conference, decided to put the matter in the sheriff's hands. The sheriff will take hold at 4 p. m. He says he will have five hundred men with him.

If the sheriff is unable to preserve order a request will be made to the governor for militia. The governor has been asked to send in a militia.

It now seems that the trouble was started by a woman who was pointing a revolver at some of the women doing picket duty. The strikers set upon the woman and she was killed. The police were called out and a woman was killed. The police were called out and a woman was killed.

CHARGED WITH NEGLIGENCE.

But Allegations Against Doctors Chief Surgeon, Matting, Who Sent Unfounded.

INVESTIGATION MADE.

Letter a Darlington Private Sent Home—Nobody Will Admit Authorship.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 23.—[Special.]—Surgeon McMill and Evans of the medical staff of the First Wisconsin regiment were subjected to an investigation this morning on a charge of neglecting the sick of the regiment. The investigation, so far as it went, failed to show that there was any ground for complaint, on the contrary, the First is believed to be better off in that respect than almost any other regiment in camp. The trouble came from a letter written by Darlington private, complaining that the sick were shamefully neglected. The letter was sent to Senator Spooner, who forwarded it to Senator Spooner, who appointed Maj. Wilder of the First North Carolina, Maj. Surgeon of the Fourth Wisconsin and Maj. Adams of the Second New Jersey, all surgeons, a board to investigate the matter. When they came to the hospital, they found that the sick were not neglected and nobody would own up to having written such a letter. Capt. Flanagan said that he had never heard of any complaint and was not aware that any had been made. An adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when all the company commanders will be summoned.

Young Joseph Leiter of Chicago made a monumental failure of his attempt to control the wheat market and was finally compelled to settle his gigantic deals at a very heavy loss. A month ago he was millions ahead of the game, but he could not get out of it a winner. Notwithstanding his failure, however, he is the most popular man in the country with the wheat farmers. They closed out their grain at the high prices which he made for them and they bless him for it. His misfortune at the end of the great deal did not affect the farmer who was sensible enough to sell his wheat when the market was up. No wonder young Leiter is popular with them. If he should be a candidate for president he could safely count on a pretty solid vote among the wheat farmers.

Next week the people of Wisconsin will have the opportunity of seeing one of the most elaborate spectacles in Milwaukee that has ever been witnessed in the state. The Cream City will be one blaze of beauty during the whole week of the semi-centennial carnival, and there will be more strangers within its gates than ever before. The street pageants will be wonderful, and those who miss them will never have another such an opportunity. The railroad rates are down to the lowest possible notch, a cent a mile, and it will be cheaper to go to Milwaukee than to stay at home. The semi-centennial of Wisconsin as a state will be most cheerfully celebrated at an expense (cheerfully borne by the public-spirited citizens of Milwaukee) of more than $60,000. It will be something to talk about for years, and the people of the state owe it to themselves to see it.

The war with Spain seems to have accomplished what congress in the exercise of sound, sober sense would have avoided, the annexation of the Hawaiian islands. A resolution providing for annexation has already passed the house by a large majority and is now pending in the senate, which will undoubtedly pass that it will be approved by the president is certain, for one of the first acts of his administration was the negotiation of a treaty of annexation with the island government, which congress refused to accept. At that time there was no prospect of war with a foreign country, and congress rejected the treaty on sound principles. But the war has changed the situation. We have a fleet on the opposite side of the ocean in possession of the harbor of Manila. It must be reinforced by a considerable army. The steamers cannot sail the whole distance without coaling on the way. Honolulu is 2,100 miles from San Francisco, or about one-third the entire distance, and furnishes just the coaling station needed. Hawaii must either be annexed and made a part of this country or must enter an alliance with us, as a neutral government could not afford our fleets coaling privileges. The changed conditions have to be met, and this can only be done by annexation. That is all there is of it, but it is enough. Anti-annexationists in congress were compelled to become annexationists by force of circumstances. Deplore the result as we will we must accept the logic of the situation. There is now no other solution to the problem.

ST. KILIAN SHARPS.

Mrs. John Steichen of Hartford visited relatives here lately. A number of children here received their first holy communion Sunday. Miss Lizzie Zwasehka returned home from the Cream City last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. George German called on friends at St. Bridget last Sunday. SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

The school commencement exercises in Guenther's hall last Saturday were so exceptionally well rendered that the parents of pupils were well satisfied that our public school scholars have been in the hands of efficient teachers during the past term. The welcome address, as delivered by Gretchen Paas, proved such a treat to the audience that it could have been repeated without becoming a trial to anyone upon hearing of her voice. The recitation entitled "One Thing Lacking" was so well recited as to convince one that there wasn't anything lacking in Nellie Farrel's delivery of it. "Our Own Dear Land," as rendered by R. Sackett, was given in the proper spirit, while B. Sackett set all the "paps" in the audience glancing at one another when he told about "When Papa Was a Boy." The Misses Lydia and Alice Van de Zande, the former in a recitation entitled "Good-bye" and the latter in another entitled "Summer Vacation," did themselves proud. Edna Haskin delivered "A Hundred Years From Now" so impressively as to remind one of passages in "Looking Backward," while Louisa Paas' rendition of "Number Four" showed the recitation to be a great deal more interesting than the title would indicate. The "Doll Show" dialogue was well rendered, as was also that of "May Queen." The "Exhibition Song," by Loy Goss, was very good. The essay on the United States flag was quite creditable to Thomas Fuller, while that on Education was worthy of praise for Mat. Theisen. W. Martin and P. Uelmen were also very good. The debate was decided against giving women the privilege of voting, and the arguments advanced by Lou Flint did considerable towards winning the decision for her side of the question. The "Trotlee" song was well rendered by the Primary pupils and won great applause, especially when the little boys did the whistling part. The duet by Stella Klotz and Clara Phiel was decidedly good, as was also the double quartet "Good Night" and "Freedom's Banner" by the Grammar department. "We Meet to Bid a Fond Farewell," as rendered by Laura Ebert, Lou Flint and Flora Kohler, was deservedly applauded.

Near the close of the exercises Myron E. Keats, the county school superintendent, made a few remarks, in the course of which he said our school had made a showing equal to any in the county, thus complimenting Professor Wucke and Margaret Fellenz very highly, also the school board and citizens. After a few brief remarks to the graduates and presenting their diplomas, Mr. Keats gave way to a closing selection by the Campbellsport band, which had interspersed the programme throughout.

Though there were 400 or 500 people in the hall all listened with interest. Following is a list of the graduates: Louis Fellenz, Anna Ludwig, Edna Holmes, Sarah Rosler, Ray M. Sackett, Peter Oelmen, Mary A. Phiel, Mathias Theisen, Freddy Martin, Joseph A. Harter, Lou Flint, Edna L. Haskin, Thos. G. Fuller and Mamie Flynn.

—Wm. Ludvig came up from Milwaukee last Tuesday to visit his grand-parents and friends before leaving the Cream City for Camp Douglas, where he goes with the Milwaukee battery to join the 4th regiment.

—Aug. Backhaus, Jr., will deliver the oration at the 4th of July celebration in the Southside park, and as the present war has served to make us all more patriotic than usual, we may expect a stirring speech from "the boy orator of Kewaskum" on the anniversary of the date which fixed our nation's fate.

—The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wittenberg met with a very painful accident last Sunday noon. The little fellow was running around with a pointed stick in his hand, when he suddenly fell, running the point into his mouth and through his cheek to such an extent that a doctor was summoned to sew up the wound.

—Posters are out announcing that Independence day will be celebrated at both the Northside and the Southside parks, on July 4 5th, and preparations are being made for a large attendance. The West Bend City band will furnish the music at the Northside park, while the Kewaskum band will be at the Southside pleasure resort.

—Last Monday morning a spot was found in the lumber yard which looked as though a meteor had fallen there, the ground being swollen around the indenture, while the grass near by was torn as if by electricity. Dirt was also scattered over lumber-piles from 10 to 15 feet away, as would be the case were a cannon-ball dropped from on high.

—The new, German Evangelical Friedens congregation held a special meeting at John Schaefer's place on the 19th inst. to select a plan for the new edifice. Architect Wiperman of Plymouth received the job of drawing the plans and specifications. The building will be of the same style as the Fillmore church, except that a basement will be added for use as a school and furnace room.

—Mamie, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, narrowly escaped drowning while standing on the outer edge of the row-boat landing at the Northside park last Monday afternoon. The water had produced a green scum on the outer board, and upon stepping thereon she suddenly slid into the river. Luckily she arose without getting under the raft and was immediately rescued.

—A trio of negroes, two men and a woman, struck the town last Tuesday afternoon and sang to guitar accompaniments for whatever their audiences were pleased to contribute. They did well for a while, too; but we understand that "booze" broke up the combination in the evening, one of the men boarding a midnight freight with the dusky damsel, while the other fellow left the next morning, "all by his lonesome."

—In the evening of the 17th inst., a party was tendered Miss Mary Harter, by Rosa Remmel, in honor of the 20th anniversary of the former's birth. Dancing, card-playing and parlor games formed the chief amusements of the evening, while music was furnished by Joe Harter's string band. Lunch was served at midnight, but it was not until dawn that the guests departed, wishing May many happy returns of the anniversary.

MATRIMONIAL.

—On last Saturday, June 18th, at 5:30 p. m., Miss Olga Dahlke and Andrew N. Voss, from Milwaukee, were made husband and wife at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dahlke, with Rev. S. Moldenhauer officiating. The Misses Clara Dahlke and Ida Voss acted as bridesmaids, while Messrs. Johnny Dahlke and Edward Pax, Jr., were the ushers. Only near relatives attended the wedding, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Greenway of Chicago, Mrs. N. A. Voss and daughter, Ida, from Hays City, Kas.; Edward Pax, Jr., from Milwaukee, and Annie Moldenhauer. The young couple left for the Cream City last Sunday, where they will make their future home. They were well remembered by many of their friends with valuable presents.

—Rev. S. Moldenhauer was very pleasantly surprised by the members of his congregation last Sunday, on the occasion of his 25th anniversary as pastor of the Lutheran Trinity church. The valuable gift of a parlor set and table, which was presented by members of the congregation and other friends, shows that Rev. Moldenhauer is honored and beloved by all who know him. In the afternoon a crowd gathered at the parsonage, where ladies of the church served refreshments of all kinds. The Firemen's tournament prevented the reverend gentleman's Kewaskum friends from attending. However, all who were present had an enjoyable time, and everyone left the parsonage to have him in their midst for a golden anniversary celebration of his pastorage.

—Herbert Sentenced to Waupun. John Herbst of Barton, who last spring paid a one-dollar bill from one to ten dollars, and then succeeded in passing it on Jacob Gilbert, a hotel-keeper in this city, was taken before the United States court at Oshkosh last Wednesday. Herbst pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him and was immediately sentenced to the prison at Waupun for a term of eighteen months, and besides was fined one hundred dollars.—West Bend Pilot.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

The fifth annual meeting of the Firemen's association of Washington and Ozaukee counties, though the first ever held in Kewaskum, proved to be about the gayest yet recorded in the history of that organization, thus demonstrating that the village which forms the marketing and shipping center of this section can acquire itself creditably when it comes to entertaining. Thanks to the good feeling inspired by our firemen, all the men, women and children in the place not only participated in the various and entertaining festivities, but they encouraged and materially aided our fire-laddies in making it pleasant for all.

Dawn of the day was announced by firing salutes from the village cannon, and upon arising a while later those who feared wet weather were pleasantly surprised to find the sky so clear and cloudless that the church bells of neighboring towns could be distinctly heard chiming in the distance. Thus assured of good weather, many concluded the preparations which they had left unfinished the night previous, so that by 9 a. m. every business house in town was fronted with flag-flecked evergreens or trimmed with starred and barred bunting, while large copies of the national emblem waved from every flag-staff in the village. Moreover, the principal streets were overhung with banners bearing joyous words of greeting or welcome to visiting firemen and all others within our borders. However, the crowning effort in this latter line was erected at the head of Main street, where a triumphal arch twined with cheerying of the patriotic pattern spanned the driveway.

Though some of the Hartford boys arrived earlier, Jackson furnished the first visiting company of firemen, and immediately after leaving the 9:20 train they made the village lively for their presence by parading with their brass band. The local band turned out soon after, and as nearly all of the visiting companies paraded our streets to the tune of brass music on their arrival, the occasion assumed the double air of both a firemen's and a band convention.

After the reception of firemen was completed the local company gathered at the engine house for the purpose of inspecting the apparatus. Soon after Chief Mertes sounded the alarm, and within 3 minutes from the tap of the bell his boys had the whole outfit across the railroad track, hose-couplings made, ladders connected and the roof of Rosenheimer's warehouse sealed by the nozzle-men, while water spouted over the building. The boys surprised all onlookers, and we doubt if they could ever make the run in better form, as they acted in perfect union, and had the engine worked so smoothly the test would have been made in less time.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the delegates met in the Grand opera house, where credentials were presented by Cedarburg, Grafton, Hartford, Jackson, Kewaskum, Schlesingerville and West Bend. The treasurer's report was laid over until the next meeting. President Fitzgerald of Cedarburg was unanimously re-elected, with Geo. Miller of Hartford as vice-president, Wm. Froehlich of Jackson as secretary and Peter Klumb of West Bend as treasurer. A resolution offered by Cedarburg was adopted, whereby further business was suspended and the meeting of delegates changed to January, at the most centrally located town represented in the organization, the date of convening to be duly announced by the president.

In the afternoon the grand parade formed on Main street in the following order: Cedarburg delegates, Hartford, with band and ladies, Schlesingerville, with band, Theros, with band, West Bend, with band, Jackson, with band and ladies, Grafton delegates, Kewaskum, with band, Citizens in carriages.

The procession was a grand sight. The Hartford company, with its excellent band and performing drum-major cut quite a figure, while Theros furnished the largest company among the visitors, besides having had about the brightest uniformed boys in the bunch.

The line of march was eastward across the bridge, thence back to West street, thence to Wilhelmine, to Railroad street, to Malthouse, to Fond du Lac and back onto Main, thence up Rail-road street to the park, upon entering which the boys were immediately thrown into good humor by a sign reading "You are Getting There."

At the park the companies were each given headquarters, after which music was rendered by the Kewaskum and other bands, while the crowd indulged in innumerable pastimes, pending the address of welcome by Dr. Hausmann, which was short, to the point, and contained much of interest to the public generally as well as the firemen.

After the address of welcome President Fitzgerald made a few remarks explaining that at the meeting of delegates in the forenoon it had been decided to hold the convention proper in January, in order to better transact the business of the association.

The festivities of the picnic were indulged in with renewed vigor, after the addresses, and were kept up with scarcely a lull until early Monday morning.
