The Conditions will Improve Now that Santiago Has Capitulated -The Refugees.

Before Santiago de Cuba, July 15 .-[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—The American soldiers encamped on the hillsides that fall away from our entrenchments have been awaiting day after day for the result of the combined truces and conferences between Spain and the United States to be made known. They learned yesterday that Santiago had capitulated. This news was sent along the lines to right and left from ten. Wheeler's headquarters by Col. John Jacob Astor, and with it went interesting that the lines to the lines to the lines to the lines that the lin weeks' fighting, hunger and hardship had Strain of Watching is Removed.

During the afternoon men climbed to he trenches to look again at the city they and taken but were not allowed to ener, and some were glad for peace and there called for more fighting. The had taken but were not allowed to enter, and some were glad for peace and others called for more fighting. The strain of the watching and waiting was removed, and soldiery resolved itself into getting as comfortably fixed in the camp as the and world remains to getting as comfortably fixed in the camp as the raud would permit.

At sunset yesterday, as the regimental bands all along the line played national airs, as is the camp custom, and as a tired soldier boy hummed the words of "The Star Spangled Banner," to the band's time, he chanted the victory he had not been permitted to cheer.

The hardships of this campaign let The hardships of this campaign, alone the fighting that scattered graves of comrades side by side with the tents of the living, have been splendidly sustained by our men. Now that the heavy rains of the first of this week have ceased conditions are better, but rain-clouds cover the sky every day and any hour may see knee-deep rivers sweep-ing through camps, and it may be next to to start fires to cook food. Then food has been scarce, the roads from here to Siboney have been almost mpassable during the rains, and at all times they have been rough and teaming has been heavy. When men put up with three pieces of hardtack and half a cup of coffee a day, the question of nutriment is serious, and when unseasoned soldiers go seventy-two hours without sleep, it can be truly said they endure hardship. But they have borne it all with fine courage and good nature that was never long absent.

With the courage and determination of our men, one notes the excellent physical condition of our mules and horses after three weeks of the heaviest kind of incessant labor. All day long and far into the night pack trains and provision wagons toil up to the front and the Red Cross ambulance bring back the sick and wound-

The Poor Cuban Women. Poor Cuban women, footsore, starving nd weary, drag themselves along the muddy roads from Caney in a search for food, and our men and ambulances pick them up and succor them. At El Caney the food is insufficient. Weak women and children get none, and starvation there is

A Cuban woman from El Caney stag-gered in camp this morning. She was pale and pinched and the ragged silk dress that half covered her body spoke of past luxury and refinement more than did her features and her despair and utter exhauspital tent for half a day in return for food, and sat down to the welcome army fare with hands bleeding from the unac-customed labor. At dusk she turned earily back toward El Caney, six miles wearny back toward El Caney, six lines away, the richer by one meal.

The camps have up to this day been pitched where bad conditions existed and their locations have seldom been good their locations have seldom been good their locations. from the point of comfort and health. Now that the "game" is over, our sol-diers will be moved into locations where these points are considered. The country affords good sites and when once the evacuation conditions are settled and the capitulation properly confirmed changes will be made.

An Unsettled Feeling. An unsettled feeling pervades the line and men gather together personal belong-ings and are looking over old battle-fields for mementoes of the three days' fight and ten days' weary waiting. A farmer's boy from Michigan will secure the horn-handled pocketknife of a dead peasant from the Asturias as a souvenir to the American lad of the days he fought to free Cuba. And if the Michigan man ever grew enthusiastic and gen-erous, back in Michigan, over the idea of fighting to help the struggling Cubans gain the same liberty from Spain that his forefathers won for him from England, these same ideas have been pretty thoroughly knocked out of him by actual con-tact with the Cubans. The Cuban does not stand high in the opinion of the United States army. Expressed in different ways, the opinion prevails that "We will soon be back in Cuba to thrash the Cumore ready to eat American provisions than help American soldiers, and in-stances of Cuban greed, inhumanity and cowardice are common talk among the army. These epinions of our men are known among the Cubans and will undoubtedly result in a growing antagonism on the part of the men we are fighting for—an antagonism that will result in their being in the future less reliable and less worthy of trust by the United States

Result of the Inquiry Into a Collision Which Cost Hundreds of Lives.

Halifax, N. S., July 28.-The decision of the court of inquiry given here today exonerates Capt. Henderson and the officers of the ship Cromartyshire from all

This report was made by Capt. W. H. Smith of the British Royal navy reserve with whom was associated in the investi gation Capt. Bloomfield Douglass, R. N. R., and Capt. Lewis Anderson, nautical

Capt. Smith refers briefly to the voyage of the Cromartyshire up to the night of July 3 and dwells at length on the incients of the collision as described by the master and crew of the sailing vessel and says then: "At the time the two ships came into collision the concussion was so violent and the blow inflicted so heavy that the sailing vessel was driven appar-ently considerably from the course she was heading, although the number of points she was caused to deviate is not exactly stated, but the effect of the blow caused her headway to be storned and John Jacob Astor, and with it went instructions that our boys were to make no demonstrations of joy, in order that the feelings of the Spaniards in the trenches a few hundred yards away would not be hurt by the echoing of victorious cheers. So the news was received very quietly. There was, however, some cheering among the crowded tents when our men learned that the object of three weeks, fighting hunger and bardship had with the effect of the blow caused her headway to be stopped and made her unmanageable. The jib-boom and bowsprit of the Cromartyshire passed over the side of the steamer and was broken and torn away from the starboard side of the sailing ship with all of the gear attached and cast over the lee side. The foremast was all broken and came down from aloft and fell over the same side of the ship. The collision bulkhead side of the sailing ship with all of the gear attached and cast over the lee side. The foremast was all broken and came down from aloft and fell over the same side of the ship. The collision bulkhead remained intact, which saved the ship from foundering. The decrease this was

Only one man on board the sailing ves sel noticed any person on the steamer's deck. This was William Healy, the lookout man. He says: "I saw some people on the steamer's deck forward and two men on the bridge. The men shouted in a foreign language and I could not tell what they said."

Capt. Smith's report sets forth the measures taken on the Cromartyshire to dis-cover if there was loss of life on the steamship and special attention is drawn to the international regulations for pre-venting collisions at sea, which, the re-port says, "should have been observed by these vessels."

There can be no doubt, it is added, "that the steamer was supplied with an efficient steam whistle and that it was sounded at regular intervals. The officers of the sailing ship and most of the crew heard it several minutes before the collision. Abundant proof is also produced that the sailing ship had an efficient horn and was using it according to regulations. From statements made by witnesses in this case there is an indication that the sailing ship's horn was heard on board sailing ship's horn was heard on board the steamer and was answered by her. With regard to the speed of the steam-er at the time of the collision, the report says, nothing can be absolutely and correctly known as to its rate, except from the inferences drawn from the various statements made in the evidence. Perhaps her speed will never be accurately known. From the sudden manner the steamer first came in sight, on the port bow of the sailing ship, and her equally quick disappearance in the fog imme-diately after the casualty, as shown by the evidence, the court is forced to the conclusion that the steamer was proceeding at a very high rate of speed.

Article 20 states that when a steam vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of ollision, the steam vessel shall keep out f the way of the sailing vessel. For reasons unknown to the court, the

For reasons unknown to the court, the steamer did not keep clear of the sailing vessel.

Article 21 says: "Whereby of these rules one of the two vessels is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed."

The evidence upon this point is of a clear and satisfactory character and conclusively proves that the sailing ship under the circumstances did keep her course and speed, according to the provisions of the act. The court is of opinion that there is no suspension of hostilities prior to the agreement to suspend milities prior to the agreement to suspend mili and speed, according to the provisions of the act. The court is of opinion that her master would not have been justified departing from the statutory regulations unless he could have sheltered him-self under the conditions pointed out in

All the necessary duties were performed on the sailing ship with proper caution, and due diligence was exercised in her navigation by her captain when the char-acter of the fog was taken into consideraand the officers of his ship are therefore exonerated from blame for the collision and its consequences.

Capt. Smith, in his report, adds: "It appears to me that La Bourgogne, as a mail steamship starting from New York, was not in the position at the time of the collision as indicated by the steam lanes on the pilot chart of the North Atlantic. It also appears to me that it is highly desirable the rules of following the steamer lanes should be made more binding on all steamers navigating the Atlantic when plying between New York and European ports. Although in this inquiry I have not been called upon or npowered to make any investigation as to the conduct of the master and officers of La Bourgegne, or as to the navigation of that ship, it is evident that had the commander, Capt. Deloncle, adopted the rules laid down his vessel could not have

The report concludes with the recom mendation that new lane routes be established for fast passenger steamers be-tween American and European ports.

DEATH RATE IS LOW. Surgeon-Gen. Sternberg is Not Apprehensive About the Yel-were of a mild type encourages the hope that the death rate will be small.

The largest number of fever cases reported—2924—shows that not only yellow fever, but typhoid and other kinds are numerous. Surgeon-Gen. Sternberg says that it is the history of yellow fever that it spreads rapidly, and having once got started in the camp is sure to infect many soldiers.

got started in the camp is sure to infect many soldiers.

Speaking of the other fevers he said that not only in Cuba but in the camps in the United States there had been many cases, and it was the history of all new armies that fevers, especially typhoid, became quite common. This was due to the change of climate and mode of life of the soldiers. Even where the water was pure, cases would arise. Soldiers bought and ate many things not furnished by the commissary, such as milk and other things peddled about the camps. Often these foods caused sickness. Another feature he mentioned was the indifferent care the men took of themselves when they joined men took of themselves when they joined the army. It was his belief that as the army became more seasoned there would be less sickness.

KEWASKUM, WIS., SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1898.

Spain will be Charged Up with What Miles, Dewey, et al, Spain's Complaint is Not Well Have to Spend.

> Washington, D. C., July 28.-It has been suggested in some quarters that Spain has been disingenuous in making Philippines, hoping in this way to secure the active support of some European powers that have so far held aloof from

While this belief is not seriously entertained at the state department, the gov-ernment, without regard to its soundness, will proceed in a plain, straightfor and way to let Spain know what is expected of her if she desires peace. It is not likely that the European powers could profit improperly by learning what the intentions of the United States are, but at any rate it is due to the world at large and in the interest of fair dealing in international matters that our statement should be made.

It must be confessed that little hope is entertained that Spain at once will accept the terms proposed. On the contrary a wave of popular indignation is expected to sweep over the peninsular upon the an-nouncement of the conditions that will cause the Spanish government to drop the negotiations and sullenry fight on. If there were any chance to procrastinate, to secure an armistice without committing themselves, in fact to adopt any course that would postpone the evil day of set-tlement, the Sagasta ministry undoubtedly

But from that point of view their case is hopeless. Meeting the Spanish overtures with frankness, the United States will demand that it shall be treated in the same spirit. If there must be talk instead of action upon the United States' proposal, the discussion may proceed, but absolutely without in any way retarding military or naval operations. Dewey and Merritt will proceed uninterruptedly to execute their pro-gramme in the Philippines; Miles will continue his advance upon Porto Rico, and Watson will head with his squadron for the shores of Spain.

As these extensive movements will cost a great deal of money the Spanish gov-ernment, if it delays, must expect to meet the expense when it comes to a settle-ment. The present disposition of our government is to demand no money indemnity from Spain, although it might be fairly questioned whether the small proprosed territorial acquisition of Porto Rico and a couple of coaling stations is anything like an adequate recompense for tures operate to stay the course of mili-tary operations is little short of amazing, and as directly contrary not only to the military law of the United States but to the half-billion dollars' expense that the

Chicago, Ill., July 28.-Three of the morning papers of this city have given notice that on August 1 the price of their the advance of last Tuesday, and that her real purpose was to develop the position of the United States respecting the the Times-Herald:

explained in the following editorial in the Times-Herald:

On and after Monday, August 1, the price of the daily edition of the Times-Herald in the city of Chicago will be 2 cents per copy. At places outside of Chicago there will be no change in the present price, which is the same as the new rate in the city.

This is a return to the price at which the Times-Herald sold for a number of years until keen rivalry brought about a reduction to 1 cent per dopy. This latter rate was insufficient to cover the cost of white paper, and the Times-Herald, in common with the other morning newspapers, had to rely solely upon advertising for its income.

Since the beginning of the war there has been a large increase in the cost of white print paper, which has, of course, increased the loss on each copy of newspaper.

This additional item of expense is only one of many created by the war. The war news syndicate, of which the Times-Herald is a member, has placed a corps of 125 special correspondents in the field, some of whom are celebrities commanding large salaries. It also became necessary to charter a number of dispatch boats for regular service, in order that our readers might have the carllest news from the seats of naval and military activity.

Another formidable item of additional outlay has been the tolls on cablegrams from the Philippines, Cuba, Porto Rico, Jamaica and Hayti. The reader may form an idea of the heavy expense of the Times-Herald's syndicate cable service when it is stated that the cablegram from Santiago detailing the destruction of Cervera's fleet cost $5000.

Not withstanding this enormous expense there has been no increase from advertising in the revenues of Chicago newspapers. In fact some lines of advertising affected by the government war tax, such as proprietary remedies, declined heavily or ceased altogether.

The Times-Herald desires to do business on a business basis, and this is not notices.

The Times-Herald desires to do business on a business basis, and this is not possible upon a basis of 1 cent per copy, hence the decision to return to the former selling price of the daily to 2 cents.

The Sunday edition will continue to be sold for 5 cents per copy.

The Inter Ocean says:

On and after Monday, August 1, 1898, the price of the Daily Inter Ocean will be 2 cents per copy. The subscription price per week, per month, and per year of the Daily Inter Ocean will be relatively advanced to new subscribers on the same date. The Sunday Inter Ocean will be sold as heretofore at 5 cents per copy. This advance in price has been forced upon this newspaper by the advance in the price of newspaper print and by the unusual expenditures made necessary in gathering the great war service of the Inter Ocean.

It is impossible to supply such a newspaper as the Inter Ocean is giving its patrons at 1 cent per copy except at a loss. For a long time past the advertisers in the Chicago newspapers have been called upon to bear too great a share in the expense of getting out the daily paper.

Our readers will get the best newspaper provided in this country for 2 cents and our advertising patrons will be relieved of some of the burden they have carried in the past.

It has been noticeable that since the con-ferences with members of the cabinet following Ambassador Cambon's presenta-tion of Spain's preliminary note there have been few important conferences at ually, but none has come by prearrangement. This is taken to indicate that the formal response of the administration already is clearly outlined and is only awaiting the final consensus of opinion at tomorrow's cabinet session. Many persons who called on the President today on political matters made in-quiries as to the peace situation, but gathered little important information. Several, however, who have talked with the President and Secretary Day say the administration is prepared to meet any steps the Spanish government may take. DAVIS ON THE WAR.

Tells How Much Depends on the Future of the Philippines-The Alliance.

St. Paul, July 28.-Territorial expansion and an Anglo-American alliance were the keynotes of a historic address Racine are spending the day with Maj. by Senator Cushman K. Davis at the laying in this city yesterday afternoon of the cornerstone of Minnesota's new $2,000,000 capitol building. The position of Senator Davis as chairman of the form eign relations committee of the Senate adds to his utterances the stamp of semi-official authority, and his remarks on the two great questions of which he treated have created a profound impression. "The situation is plainly one of alternatives," he said, in referring to the fu-ture of the Philippines. "The Un.ted States must become an efficient element in the Asiatic situation, or it must en-tirely abstain from any participation in it, return to its own shores and cover the smallest possible share of its commercial advantages and prepare for its defense against the same aggressions which have reduced China to her present condition."

In referring to the renewed agitation for an Anglo-American alliance Senator

"The unpleasant relations which have existed between the United States and England for so many years were caused by a traditional aversion, which was aggravated by certain events of our Civil war and by many minor irritating con-troversies, the worst feature of which is the fact that few of them have ever been settled. But through all this it has been felt by the people of both countries that a tie binds them together, however much they may irritate each other by straining it."

Manitowoc Man, Alleged to Have His Wife at High Bridge and Commits Suicide. Ashland, Wis., July 27.-[Special.]-Herman Boch, a resident of High Bridge, shot his wife twice and then killed himself with the same weapon last night. The woman's wounds were most serious, but a telegram from there this noon stated that she was still alive. Boch's habits had been so outrageous and his conduct towards Mrs. Boch so cruel that she commenced divorce proceed-ings against him. He came to town yesterday and begged her attorney to with draw the action. The attorney agreed to write Mrs. Boch a letter, asking her to withdraw the suit on the condition that Boch would keep away from the house until matters were fixed up. This he agreed to do and last night he returned home bearing a letter from the attorney to his wife. When Boch delivered the letter, its contents provoked a bitter discussion, which ended in Boch drawing a revolver and shooting his wife, after which he killed himself.

MINING IN ALASKA. Rich Quartz Rock Accidentally Dis-

"The latest strike on the other side of the divide is one of quartz. One thousand men at least have made locations on sand men at least have made locations on the rock of Nine-mile creek, which pours its waters, speckled with gold, into the lake with the prosaic name of Mud, which is a few miles this side of White Horse Rapids. The gravel bed was small, and a hunt was at once begun for the origin of the gold, which was located in the quartz on the sides of the creek. Every man now going to Dawson drives stakes on Ninemile creek on any kind of rock. Not less than 100 men, who have been lucky in making the best locations, will remain on Ninemile greatly and the presented from pulpits and proclaimed in legislative halls, and inforced in courts of justice; in short, let it become the political religion of the nation."

Breaking in a Hawaiian Servant. When the white people first went to live

When the white people first went to live in Hawaii their native servants, 'tis said, persisted in calling them by their Christian names. An English woman of strong will determined, on her arrival in Honolulu, that her servants should never call her Mary, and instructed them carefully in the presence of her husband. One day, when she had visitors, her cook put his head in at the drawing-room door and politely inquired: "What vegetables for dinner today, my love?" He had heard her called that, and seemed proud of remembering not to say Mary.—Syracuse Standard.

A PONDEROUS FLOWER.

The Blossom Weighs Fifteen Pounds and is a Yard Wide.

Among the marvelous plants that the st century has made known none is ore remarkable than the huge parasite Rafflesia. It d rives its name from Sir Stamford Raffles, who, in 1818, was gov-ernor of Beneoleen, in Sumatra. He was ernor of Beneoleen, in Sumatra. He was at one time on a tour of the island, ac-companied by Lady Raffles, Dr. Arnold and quite a party of Europeans and natives. Suddenly they alighted upon a flower of prodigious size and repulsive odor, more than a yard across, and weighing fifteen pounds. Its color was a ight orange, mottled with yellowish white, the whole thing livid and visited white, the whole thing fivid and visited by carrion insects. Later investigations showed the plant to consist of flower alone, directly parasitic on a species of cissus. It never has stem or leaves. The famous Robert Brown bestowed the name on the plant Rafflesia Arnoldi, commem-orating thus the titles of both discoveries. orating thus the titles of both discoveries Several species are now known, differing much in size, but little in essentials. Their entire growth occupies but a few months. They first appear as knob-like protuberances protruding from the bark of various species of cissus. The flowers remain ex-panded only a few days, then becoming a disgusting mass of putrition. As in the similar case of one well-known carrion flower, the insects, attracted by the odor, oms more prominent. They have been altivated in various botanic gardens, specially in the East.

This plant is among the giant flowers, ranking in size with the great water lily of the Amazons, and with some of the huge tropical aroids. A peaflower in Trinidad is said to be several feet in ength, its banner or upper petal being done one foot long. The range from hese titans to the almost invisible flower of water star-wort is tremendous, but the little is fashioned as carefully as the great. Nature leaves no corner unfinished, for the reason that it is minute.—Provi-lence Journal.

PLOWING MADE EASY.

A New Invention-A "Stone Dodger' Plow.

From The Farm Implement News. The Fuller & Johnson Mfg. Co., of Madison, Wisconsin, have brought out a new implement, namely, a riding plow, that is attracting much attention where-ever it is seen. Heretofore there has been very serious objection to the riding plow where there is stone. In striking a stone not only has there been danger of breakg the plow and harness, but the blow a the shoulders of the horses was very jurious, and worse than all, the driver as in danger of being thrown off and njured. These objections are overcome in this appropriately named "stone dodg-er" plow. When it strikes a stone the plow part only is raised up and slides over the stone and pulls itself into the ground again without any action on the part of the driver. The sulky part is not raised at all. A boy or an old man who can andle the team can thus readily do the much interest has been taken in his plow wherever it has been shown that the manufacturers have adopted a novel plan to aid in presenting its manifest advantages to the farming community. They are having a large number of models made and in any section where there is no sample plow that can readily be seen, any rep-utable farmer can, by writing to the company, have a model sent to him by exoress for inspection, without expense to nim, the company paying the expressage both ways. The farmer, after examinaoth ways. The farmer, after examina-ion, simply returns it to the express office, The model is a nice piece of work. It weighs only ten pounds. The plow is made as a single plow for three horses nade as a single plow for three horse and as a double or gang for four horses. A very effective potato planting attach-ent can be had with these plows at small

A Strange Use for Bibles.

It seems that gold-leaf for decorative irposes is, as a regular matter of busi ess, packed in little books ound pages of Holy Writ cut to e requisite size for the purpose, and tched together. On inquiry, I learn hat the practice of packing the material this way is a well-established one, and that the Bible is selected for this purpose because, as a rule, the type is more evenset, and the printing generally finer nd better executed. On the other hand, hear from other sources that the use of the Bible is looked upon as a sort of guarantee that the leaf is of the best possible quality. It appears that the Book of Common Prayer is also employed for the same purpose. Gold-leaf books are made up and supplied to the trade by an entropising for its Bissister. trade by an enterprising firm in Birmingham. An enterprising gentleman in London also supplied them. Sultan's Gift to William.

—Simon Sargent, who died at West Gouldsboro, Me., at the age of 93 years, was a sea captain in his earlier years. He lost his sight and had to quit the business of the ocean. He lived near the sea, and it was his custom to have him-self taken to the beach when the weather was fair, and there he would sit until his friends returned him to his cottage. Once his sight was regained and he saw the ocean for a moment, and then the light went out forever.

No report is given of the cost of this artificial milk. We shall be very much surprised if chemical ingenuity devises means to make a supply of milk at so low a cost as a good cow on grass or ensilage feed can do it. Packing of Fine Fruit. The manner in which the packing is done often controls the price at which really choice fruit will sell. This is particularly the case with so juicy and tender-skinned a fruit as the pear. A little bruising will often cut down the price of pears one-half. When one has really fine Bartletts, Anjous and other choice pears of large size it is worth the while to take some care to get them into the market in as fine shape as pos-

Buckwheat in Orchards. The only grain crop that can be profitably grown in an orchard is buckwheat. It is not exhaustive, and the shade which its broad leaves furnish helps to preserve moisture quite as much as to take it from the soil. Whenever there is a cool night, a great amount of dew falls on the broad buck wheat leaves, and this dropping to the ground moistens the surface soil, and supplies the shallow roots with the water needed during the day. Young Cattle More Pleutiful. It is now more than two years since farmers began to realize that there was a marked shortage in beef cattle, and make efforts to restock. Throughout 1896 and 1897 comparatively few calves were marketed. Pastures were generally abundant, beef cattle sold well, and there was every inducement for farmers to increase their production of beef. In the Ohio Valley a good many yearlings were brought from Canada and some from Kentucky and Tennessee. Hence succotash seems to be the natural result, as where both have to be boiled it was inevitable that some time they should be cooked together. It is a dish which the American Indians learned to use before the white man visited them. The ideal succotash is made from sweet corn, young and tenler, and the large, fully grown Lima bean. About one-fourth beans will be enough. The Lima bean is much the richest and best bean for making succotash, and in the country, where it can be grown as easily as any other, it ought always to be used for this purpose. The Lima bean requires to be poled, but if its first crop is picked before it is fully ripe, the vines will continue blossoming and bearing until

Topping Lima Beans. It is a common mistake in poling Lima beans to use poles that are much possibly to let the beans grow higher and produce more. Such poles require very deep setting to stand, and even then are liable to be blown over or broken off at the ground from the strain of the overburdened top beaten about by winds and storms. There is no advantage in having the tops of Lima bean poles higher than six or at most seven feet. When the bean vine climbs to this height it should be topped then or after it has fallen over and

It has been settled, however, that in cooking a cupful shall be just half a pint. There are now on the market measuring cups of this denomination, and the cups are divided into halves, fourths and thirds, so that accurate quantities may be obtained. A set of these cups are now considered a necessary part of a kitchen furnishing.-Woman's Home Com-

GATHERING OF IVORY.

Elephants will Soon be Extinct Unle They Are Protected.

From the time when palaeolithic ma first drew the rude outline of an animal on a mammoth's tusk, ivory nas always been a favorite material for the artist to work upon. The Egyptians and Assyrians used it extensively for making ernaments, and among the Greeks some of the masterpieces of sculpture were wrought in ivory. Fashion has indeed brought about a change in this respect, and ivory is not now so much used in art at for more prosaic purposes it is still great demand, and in the manufacture of billiard balls alone thousands of tusks are used annually. Indeed, the demand are used annually. Indeed, the demand for ivory is constantly increasing, and unless regislation interferes to put a stop to the whôlesale slaughter of elephants they must soon become extinct.

The world's annual consumption is estimated at something like 500,000 pounds, valued at $4,500,000, and to supply this amount 70,000 elephants must be killed. The consumption in Sheffield alone requires the annual slaughter of 22,000 annuals. Africa. of 22,000 animals. Africa supplies the great bulk of ivory, the Indian wild ele-phant having become so scarce of late years that India is now obliged to import a considerable quantity of ivory. A vast amount of fossil ivory is also exported from Eastern Siberia to variou countries, chiefly to the continent, where t is more highly esteemed than in Eng Africa, then, remains the happy hunt

Africa, then, remains the happy hunting-ground for the ivory collector. African ivory, too, fetches a higher price than any other, being denser in texture, susceptible to a higher polish, and not so liable to turn yellow when exposed to the light as the Indian kind. In Africa itself the quality is found to vary greatly, the rule being that the warmer the region the finer is the ivory found there. finer is the ivory found there. The finest tusks, however, are generally met with at seme distance from the equator. The finest pair of tusks ever brought to Europe came from Uganda, and are valued at $940. A SCHOOL GIRL'S BATTLE.

From The Mail, Milford, Ind. Miss Emma Rybolt, a prepossessing school girl, of Milford, Ind., is of more than usual intelligence, and is ambitious to rise in the literary world. "In the fall of 1896," said Mrs. Rybolt, "Emma was taken ill. She was a close student and her work began to tell on her. She grew weak, pale and nervous, and complained of pains in her back, chest and limbs. The doctor said she was a victim of nervous prostration, and should have been taken from school weeks carlier. She grew worse, her nerves were so tense that the least noise irritated her and she had a fever and a continual twitching in her muscles. The symptoms

Between Royal Families of Asiatic States Celebrated at Mandalay. A curious wedding took place in Manalay a few days ago that is worthy of ote. The betrothed were the Chief of Theinni, one of the Slav states tributary to Burmani, and the daughter of the chie of Nyoungwe, another Slav state. The emony was performed at the house of bride by the chief commissioner of The lovers were gorgeously arrayed in robes of state, which cost nearly £100 each, and which will be used hereafter on special occasions in the state. The bride groom wore a long purple velvet robe braid, and on his head a kingly crown that might have done duty to any fairy tale. The bride was arrayed chiefly in that ernamental angular cardboard ar-rangement in which the souls of people in these parts delight, till she looked all points and corners. Her headgear was a peculiar sort of compromise between a skull cap and a Roman helmet, but very becoming withal, and in front shone diamond butterfly. At the back of her dress she wore a glittering tail, that gave
