THE BATTLE OF SANTIAGO.

The campaign in Cuba, by which Santiago was taken and the Spanish naval power destroyed, will go down into history as one of the most wonderful military campaigns on record. In its results it would have done credit to the greatest military commanders in the world. Though the army involved in it was not large, that fact conducted to celerity of movement and rendered the execution of the plan of the campaign possible in a short time. Exactly one month from the time Gen. Shafter left Tampa, he received the surrender of a Spanish army near a thousand miles away, the capitulating force being fully equal to his own in numbers. It is a record that may well challenge the admiration of the whole world.

The sequel to this short and brilliant campaign is not so satisfactory, yet how it could have been obviated is impossible to see. The army had to move upon Santiago when it did, for the Spanish fleet was shut up in that harbor and had to be crushed. It is true that the stronger American fleet was outside, but it could not enter the harbor to give battle on account of the fortifications and the mines, and the danger was that the Spanish vessels might slip out in a storm, when the American fleet was compelled to leave the vicinity of the shore for safety. That was a contingency that had to be avoided, and the only way was to invest Santiago by land and make the harbor untenable for the fleet.

The sequence is now known, and it is in one sense deplorable. The American soldiers, enervated and exhausted by this service, became easy victims to the climate, and fevers have raged in the camp with terrible results. The army did its work well, but the men were not proof against the results of their campaign. The soldiers have so far escaped that most dreaded scourge of the Cuban climate, yellow fever, and they may be moved to the north in time to save them from it. Transports are carrying fresh troops to take their places, and the heroes of Santiago will be taken to Long Island, there to recuperate and recover their vigor.

War is a merciless destroyer. Disease is worse than bullets and claims more victims. Especially is this true in such a climate as that of Cuba, when the invading force comes from the north, which is free from the pestilential fevers that prevail in that climate. The only consolation in this case is that the dire results could not have been well avoided under the circumstances. Had it not been for the absolute necessity of breaking the naval power of the enemy, the campaign might have been delayed until the fever season had passed, but that of itself might have been more disastrous in other ways. The greatest error that was committed was driving the nation into war in the early part of the year, when the army was compelled to fight both enemy and climate. Had war been declared sooner, or postponed all this time, it would likely have cost this country less than it has.

SPAIN ACCEPTS THE TERMS.

After considerable delay, doubtless for effect, the Spanish government has finally accepted the peace terms proposed by President McKinley, and the war will cease. This is good news for every American, and it should also be hailed with delight by every Spaniard, though for a different reason. There never could be any reasonable doubt of the issue of the contest. Spain was certain to lose in the struggle. She was greatly out-classed in every respect, without resources and unable to carry on an expensive war against an enemy her superior in all respects.

THE BATTLE OF THE ALAMO.

The battle of the Alamo, Texas, was one of the most thrilling fights in American history. The Mexican bombardment of the place had lasted eight days and nights. On the evening of the eighth day, March 3, 1836, about 2 hours before sunset, it suddenly ceased. Col. Barrett Travers, taking advantage of the lull, immediately collected his little army of patriots in single file and gave them one of the most stirring and portentous speeches in history. Among other things he said: "Our fate is sealed. Within a few days—perhaps a few hours—we shall be in eternity. * * * Our business is not to make fruitless efforts to save our lives, but to choose the manner of our death. * * * Let us resolve to withstand our enemies to the last, and at each advance to kill as many of them as possible. Kill them as they scale our wall! Kill them as they leap within! Kill them as they raise their weapons and as they use them! Kill them as they kill our companions, and continue to kill them as long as one of us remains alive! But I leave every man to his choice. Should anybody prefer to surrender or attempt to escape, he is at liberty to do so. My own choice is to stay in the fort as long as breath shall remain in my body and to die fighting! This I do, even if you leave me alone! Do as you think best, but no man can die with me without affording me comfort in the hour of death!"

Barrett Travers, taking advantage of the lull, immediately collected his little army of patriots in single file and gave them one of the most stirring and portentous speeches in history. Among other things he said: "Our fate is sealed. Within a few days—perhaps a few hours—we shall be in eternity. * * * Our business is not to make fruitless efforts to save our lives, but to choose the manner of our death. * * * Let us resolve to withstand our enemies to the last, and at each advance to kill as many of them as possible. Kill them as they scale our wall! Kill them as they leap within! Kill them as they raise their weapons and as they use them! Kill them as they kill our companions, and continue to kill them as long as one of us remains alive! But I leave every man to his choice. Should anybody prefer to surrender or attempt to escape, he is at liberty to do so. My own choice is to stay in the fort as long as breath shall remain in my body and to die fighting! This I do, even if you leave me alone! Do as you think best, but no man can die with me without affording me comfort in the hour of death!"

THE PEARL INDUSTRY.

The pearl industry of Wisconsin has practically subsided on account of the exhaustion of the mussel beds in the creeks and rivers. George F. Kunz of Tiffany & Co., says the Milwaukee Sentinel, is authority for the statement that within the past eight years pearls have sold for a value of over $200,000 have been sold from the district around Beloit, Rock county; Brodhead, Green county; Boscobel and Potosi, Grant county; and Prairie du Chien and Lynsville, Crawford county. Of these pearls more than $10,000 were sent to New York within three months, including a single pearl worth more than $500, and some among them were equal to any ever found for beauty and coloring. The colors were principally purplish red, copper red and dark pink.

-The term of canicular days will expire next week. The rising and setting of Sirius, or the dog star, with the sun, has been universally regarded as the cause of the excessive heat that generally prevails at this particular season.

-The canines that are made to bear the infamy of this source of our discomfort, are perhaps allied in some manner to the extreme heat of the interval between July 15 and the 20th of August; but they, as well as human beings, share alike the afflictions that are common during dog days.

-Fire companies from the following places were present, viz: Mayville, Schlesingerville, Lomira, Hustford, Reeseville, Juneau, Horicon and Kewaskum. About 100 from here drove over, and as the weather was fine the drive proved pleasant.

-Theresa spared no pains to make the occasion pleasant for her guests, and our people were all pleased, except some who disliked the arrangement of having all of the bands at the head of the parade. However, this did not interfere with the amusement portion of the programme, so it may be said that all had a good time. At the business meeting of firemen Lomira was chosen as the site of the next annual convention.

-Drank Fly Poison. A 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ogenorth of this city drank a quantity of fly poison and chewed the paper generally placed in the plate and which contains the poison. The little one became seriously ill, but her condition was improved in time to save her life.

WEST BEND BLORE.

Fine weather. Indications for an abundant crop in this vicinity are good. Work on the County insane asylum is being pushed right along. The building will soon be under roof. The farm now bears a fine crop of oats, corn and vegetables.

The Wisconsin Lime company of South Germantown has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. Sheriff Weddig has charge of the plant pending a settlement. Fred Krieger, the president of the Krieger Mfg. Co., has purchased 1 1/4 acres of land on the east shore of Little Cedar lake, from Chris. Thema, and expects to build a cottage there on next year.

Many of our citizens are enjoying their usual summer outing on the shores of our neighboring lakes. Large Cedar lake is fast becoming a popular resort. People from large cities take up permanent quarters at the hotels for the summer months. On Sunday all the public places at the lake are crowded with people from far and near. Cedar Lake Park hotel, now under the efficient management of John Rosenheimer, is crowded with guests. In connection with the hotel is a steam yacht, which makes regular trips around the lake.

Hon. S. S. Barney is now canvassing this district for delegates to the congressional convention. From all reports his nomination is assured. In a few localities there exists a feeling of hostility toward Mr. Barney, occasioned by reason of his appointments of postmasters, but this seems to cut no figure in his case before the people of his district, as he has ably and conscientiously represented them in the nation's council. The experience gained by Mr. Barney during his incumbency, in addition to his unquestioned natural ability, ought to be considered of greater importance than the distribution of offices, which is a custom imposed upon congressmen against their inclinations, and constitutes a stumbling block in the paths of duty.

L. D. Guth of Kewaskum has announced himself a candidate for assembly many of this county. Considering Mr. Guth's strict integrity and faithfulness as an officer in positions of trust which he has so creditably filled, we can think of no better man for the position. As chairman of his town, as well as a member of the County board, he has proven himself to be made of the right material. Every act of his was based on right principles. Let us elect to that office a man whose record as an officer is a guarantee of his worth, and in whose integrity we can place the utmost faith. We write this with no intention of flattering Mr. Guth, but to express our individual approval of honesty and integrity in public officials.

BEECHWOOD BEAMLETS. Mrs. B. C. Kicken gave a very pleasant sewing bee last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Cascade visited at John Clifford's place last Sunday. Frank Graham returned to Chicago last Sunday, after spending a week with friends here.

See the Big Robinson Parade. So much interest has been aroused by the advertised visit of the John Robinson Greatest of All American Shows to West Bend, next Tuesday, that we would suggest to our many readers who join the excursionists on circus day to make every effort to be in time for the magnificent free street display, which precedes the performances of the big show. The John Robinson parade is undoubtedly the finest processionary display ever presented by any circus in the United States. Not only are there more horses, more elephants, more tableaux cars, more open dens of wild animals and more beautifully-costumed people, but the entire parade is so replete with new, novel and unique features as to constitute a revelation in circus processions. The initial performance will be given at 2 o'clock and the final one at 8 p. m. Both will be equally complete. Over 200 performers contribute to the entertainment, hundreds of horses are used in the arena and hippodrome displays, and the special attractions headed by Louis Cyr, the Canadian strong man, are such as can be seen with no other show on earth.

Some time ago a little bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy fell into my hands, just at a time when my 2-year-old boy was terribly afflicted. His bowels were under control. We had tried many remedies, to no purpose, but the little bottle of Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy speedily cured him. -Wm. F. Jones, Ogleby, Ga. For sale by L. Rosenheimer.

PROSPERITY. A man's condition depends almost entirely upon himself. Luck is but a small factor to most men in attaining wealth. Industry, perseverance and good judgment make the foundation upon which a man builds well. The first start in life of many of our great men has been upon a farm. Opportunities are as good as present as they have been in the past. Fine hardwood farming lands in northern Wisconsin, adjacent to the Wisconsin Central lines, are still to be had at very reasonable figures and on easy terms. Build a home of your own and be happy. THE WONDERFUL DEPOSITS of iron ore, clay, kaolin and marl, together with the large hardwood timber tracts in northern Wisconsin offer extraordinary inducements for the location of manufacturing plants. The Wisconsin Central lines run through some of the richest localities in the state and afford the manufacturer excellent facilities for reaching the market quickly and at reasonable rates.
