THE BADGER VOLUNTEERS.

Two of the three Wisconsin regiments which left the state for the war with Spain last spring have returned and will be mustered out. While they had but little active service to perform both regiments have suffered much from sickness, and many a home has been left desolate. The second Wisconsin regiment was sent to Porto Rico after the capture of Santiago and aided in the conquest of the island, having some sharp little fights with the Spaniards. When the war came to an end and Gen. Miles found the regiment so reduced by sickness incident to their hard service and the change of climate that he ordered it back to recuperate, and the War department sent it home on a furlough of 60 days, after which it is expected that the regiment will be mustered out of service.

The first regiment was in camp at Jacksonville, Fla., under command of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee and expected to go to Cuba with him this fall to aid in the pacification of the island. The terrible inroads made in the ranks by typhoid fever so reduced its strength that it was selected as one of the regiments to be mustered out when it was decided to discharge half the volunteers, and it was the first regiment to start for home. At one time nearly one-third of the regiment were in the hospital, mostly victims of typhoid fever, and another third were unfit for duty. Nearly a hundred members of the regiment are still in the hospital, too sick to be brought home.

The third regiment is still in Porto Rico and is likely to remain there for some time. It was in the same brigade with the second and participated in the fighting, but it did not suffer so badly from the diseases incident to the change of climate.

The fourth regiment, which was enlisted under the second call, left Camp Douglas this week for the military camp at Anniston, Ala. The regiment will probably be sent to Cuba when the army goes there to take possession. The Milwaukee battery has been mustered out, it being no longer needed.

The results of the war to Wisconsin soldiers cannot be summed up for some time, so many being yet ill with the diseases contracted in the service. In many cases, also, men who came home apparently well last week have since come down with the fever, and their names may possibly be added to the death roll, which is already too long. However, our brave boys have shown their mettle; they sprang to the call of the country, hearing the voices of patriotism and duty, but deaf to all other considerations. Those who died in the service have earned undying fame. Every parent who has lost a son in this war has reason to be proud of his record, even while his death is mourned.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY is having a hard time to find military men who will serve on the commission to investigate the charges that the soldiers in the war with Spain were not properly treated. Every such man who has been asked to serve has declined, pleading pressure of private business. There is a growing sentiment throughout the country that the soldiers have been subjected to disease that could have been avoided if greater care had been taken in the location of camps, the appointments of the hospitals, the quality of the rations, the hard drilling and marching and other similar things. There was undoubtedly a great mistake made in sending northern troops so far south at the beginning of summer, when they were not needed for active service. The refusal of such men as Gens. Schofield, Gordon and Manderson and ex-Secretaries of War Lincoln and Lamont to tackle the problem indicates that they believe the administration wants the record whitewashed, not investigated.

ELECTIONS THIS YEAR.

This may be an "off" year in politics, but the importance of the elections does not make it appear so. Twenty-eight states elect governors and state legislatures, as follows: Rhode Island (last April), Oregon (last June), Alabama (last month), Arkansas (Sept. 5), Vermont (Sept. 6), Maine (Sept. 12), and New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Kansas, Tennessee, California, Nebraska, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada on Nov. 8th.

Besides these Illinois elects a state treasurer; Ohio, Indiana and Iowa each a secretary of state; Missouri, North Carolina and Florida justices of Court of Appeals or Supreme court, and Delaware a treasurer and an auditor.

The importance of the state elections lies in the fact that legislatures elect 30 United States senators. The legislatures electing are in the following states: New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana, Texas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Tennessee, California, Virginia, Maryland, Nebraska, West Virginia, Connecticut, Maine, Utah, Washington, Mississippi, Vermont, Rhode Island, Montana, North Dakota, Florida, Wyoming and Nevada. In some of these states, notably Maryland, Ohio and Rhode Island, the legislatures have already elected senators. The control of the next United States senate depends on the State elections to be held.

Again, the last congressional elections of 1900 are to be held this fall. Upon their results depends the composition of the next house of representatives, which shall determine the future course of the United States relative to the territories acquired by the war, and shall solve many perplexing questions arising from the war. Never, since this government was founded, has there been an appeal to the judgment of the people of graver consequence.—X.

Rough Riders Let Loose. Roosevelt's Rough Riders are now loose in New York, where they are enjoying the sights and receiving a great deal of attention. While enroute to Coney Island a crowd of them created a commotion on the bridge by firing a salute from the trolley car. A squad of policemen naturally rushed up to find out what was the matter, but the Rough Riders were not molested. Another party visited the Stock Exchange, Subtreasury and other points of interest on Wall street. Four of them wandered into the members' entrance and were grabbed by an enthusiastic crowd of brokers. High jinks followed. A reception committee formed and led the Rough Riders to the center of the floor, where the spiritsome members danced about them while the heroes received the unprecedented honor of the freedom of the floor.—X.

Volunteers May Become Regulars.

In order to keep the regular army up to the maximum of 61,000 men, the War department will have recruiting officers at all stations where volunteers were mustered out with a view of getting experienced men into the regular service. The time which they have served in the volunteer service will be allowed them as a part of the continuous service in the regular branch. It is estimated that the regular army is some four or five thousand below the maximum allowed by the bill which provided for increasing the regular army when the war began.—X.

All in the Aim.

It was in 1813 when the London Times said: "The fact seems to be too clearly established that the Americans have some superior mode of firing, and we cannot be too anxiously employed in discovering to what circumstance that superiority is owing."

It is in 1898 when the London Spectator remarks: "The lessons of all our conflicts with America was that the American soldiers and sailors shot markedly better than our own and won astonishing victories. It looks as if the old lesson holds good today."

It was because the Confederate cruiser Alabama was largely manned by British sailors that the superior gunnery of the American crew of the Kearsarge won the naval duel off the coast of France. We don't wish to crow over our very affectionate British cousins, but it is well to remind them that our part in the proposed international friendship will include a sure eye that can send to its mark with unerring certainty either a 13-inch projectile or a nickel-tipped bullet, says the New York Mail and Express.

LOST—GOLD WATCH.

In a Large Bin of Flour, 25 Ladies' or Gent's Gold Watches Will Be Given Away Before January 1st.

Every watch will have a ticket, which will be sealed up in a tin box, said box to be dropped into a bin of flour, which will be drawn off into sacks, and the party lucky enough to buy the sack of flour containing the little box will get a watch free of charge.

We thus propose to proceed until the 25 watches are given away, as it will induce many people to try our flour, and our experience teaches us that where once tried White Pearl is continually used.

Over 2,000 Soldiers Died of Disease, While but 200 Were Killed in Battle.

Disease among our soldiers is proving more deadly than even Mauser bullets were. It is to be deplored that a war so gloriously ended in the field should have attached to it the odium of official mismanagement and incompetency, the direct result of which has been the loss of eight times as many lives by disease as were lost in battle.

The war with Spain ended on August 12th, when the protocol was signed and an armistice proclaimed. There had been 114 days of hostilities, but not many days of actual fighting. The records, which are quite authentically compiled, show that 279 American soldiers and sailors were killed in battle.

The war has now been over a month, and during that time nearly 2500 soldiers have died from disease. This is not wholly due to climatic conditions. Men have been compelled to subsist on food unsuited to their wants; they have wasted away for want of physicians to give them proper attention and nursing, or physicians on hand have lacked the proper medicines. A comparison of the losses in battle and those from disease follows:

RECORD OF WAR. Killed in the army..... 260 Killed in the navy..... 12 Killed in the marines..... 7 Wounded in the army..... 1,400 Wounded in the navy..... 10 Wounded in the marines..... 13 Total killed, 279; wounded, 1,423.

RECORD OF DISEASE. Dead in camp at Santiago..... 341 Dead on troopships..... 90 Dead in camp of recuperation..... 150 Dead in camp of mobilization..... 800 Miscellaneous, hospitals and homes 750 Total killed by disease, 2,130.

This horror of war began before Santiago fell and is still on. But at Santiago disease and death rode hand in hand. Regiments that had gone to war only a few months before with full ranks and with every man in the full flush of youthful strength and vigor were decimated, and it was only when the brigade commanders under Shafter signed a protest (the famous robin) that a move was made to get the men to the North, where there would be some hope of saving their lives.

The record shows that in the camps at Santiago nearly 350 men died from disease—far more than were killed in all the war with Spain.

The War department clerks at Washington are at work on the lists and expect to soon give the exact number of those who have been killed in battle and those who have died from disease.—Ex.

HOME FROM SANTIAGO.

Frank J. Fellenz, who went through the battle of Santiago in Co. H of the Fourth regiment under Gen. Shafter, returned home for a 30-days furlough on the 8:48 p. m. train Wednesday and received an ovation at the hands of our patriotic citizens.

On the train's arrival at the depot Peter Fellenz's pride in his son seemed shared by the whole village, as the hero was saluted with cannon, greeted with music by the Kewaskum band, and personally welcomed by relatives and innumerable friends and well-wishers of Uncle Sam's brave boys in blue.

Private Fellenz was among the first soldiers sent to Cuba and went through all the hardships of the hottest battle fought with the Spaniards. He was seriously sick for 4 weeks prior to leaving Cuba, and after his arrival at Long Branch, N. Y., having a doctor call on him daily.

He recruited at Milwaukee on May 28, 1897, and was stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., until the 20th of last April, when his regiment was ordered to go down to Tampa, Fla. There they remained from April 24th until May 29th, when they were among the first ordered to "the island of blood."

Accordingly they went to Ft. Tampa, where ships were waiting them. After spending 4 days in preparing, the fleet of 14 transports set sail under the protection of 12 accompanying gunboats. The Fourth regiment, consisting of 400 men, and the Twenty-fifth, consisting of 600 negroes, were on one ship, and the rest of the transports were rather crowded, also, the men banking in tiers of four, over one another.

On arriving at Jarajua, Shafter desired to land his army immediately, but Sampson convinced the general that it was necessary to first clear the bush of Spaniards by bombarding the place, so the troops did not get ashore until 2 days later. Then three regiments (one of which was the Fourth) started out under Col. Graubridge and marched 5 miles towards Santiago, reaching camp Sibney (12 miles from Santiago) before evening. The path was good for 4 to 5 miles, but then it became very rough and the men were carrying more than they could carry.

The three regiments stopped at camp Sibney that night and were fired upon by Spaniards at sunrise. The Don's had 8-inch guns and fired from 12 to 15 shots, but they were so ineffective that the firing soon ceased.

The same morning at about 8 o'clock Frank and his comrades heard firing in the direction of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, who had located 15 miles to the left. The Riders were attacked by 1500 Spaniards, so Col. Graubridge's men endeavored to go and close in at the back of the Spaniards with a view of capturing them, but the enemy had flown when Graubridge arrived. Mr. Fellenz says they found that the Rough riders had lost 8 privates and 3 officers but claimed to have killed a great many Spaniards, though Frank says that a diligent search failed to reveal a solitary dead Don, whereupon Graubridge and his men returned to camp Sibney.

At West. [In sacred memory of our beloved mother, Mary Trautman of Kewaskum, Wis.] She has gone to rest, our mother dear, Deep in the earth she has found her bed; We will hear no more the loving voice, Nay, nevermore for she is dead.

PROSPERITY. A man's condition depends almost entirely upon himself. Luck is but a small factor to most men in attaining wealth. Industry, perseverance and good judgment make the foundation upon which a man builds well. The first start in life of many of our great men has been upon a farm. Opportunities are as good as present as they have been in the past. Fine hardwood farming lands in northern Wisconsin, adjacent to the Wisconsin Central lines, are still to be had at very reasonable figures and on easy terms. Build a home of your own and be happy. THE WONDERFUL DEPOSITS of iron ore, clay, kaolin and sand, together with the large hardwood timber tracts in northern Wisconsin offer extraordinary inducements for the location of manufacturing plants. The Wisconsin Central lines run through some of the richest localities in the state and afford the manufacturer excellent facilities for reaching the market quickly and at reasonable rates. A Land of Many Thrills.

The Egyptian never travels without his goshak. He fills it with filtered water, and in the morning can command a pint or more of water cooled by evaporation through the unglazed clay. This provision he does not waste on unsatisfied thirst. Taking off the long white wrap which he wears, he pours the water over his head, neck and hands. The Egyptian never travels without his goshak, seeks first to relieve his overmastering thirst. There are in Egypt as many kinds of goshaks as there are of men. The throat is a lump of dry clay, and one feels what it must be like to be a mummy—Corr. of the London Standard.

A Remarkable Find.

A remarkable find has been made by the station agent at Fringale, S. D. In prospecting for a shaft down eight feet through rock under a pine tree, at which depth the dug out a revolver. The barrel is 20 inches long, is thick and was evidently intended for a rifle. The stock is of hollow wood. A hammer, quaint design carries a point that strikes through a slot in the barrel. There are no signs of a trigger, and the trigger is a curious rear sight but no forward sight. It bears no date.

Improvements in Flying Machines.

Inventors are plenty who can make a machine that will rise and float in air, but none has succeeded in making an apparatus that will glide through the air. Hottel's Stomach Bitters acts as a safe guide by curing stomach, liver and blood diseases, giving a good appetite and a strong constitution.

Ladron's Native Hoop.

When the American troops took the Ladron islands a soldier lost a revolver and immediately went out in a boat and visited every transport until he was able to restore the article to its owner. An example of scrupulous honesty comes from a place whose name of which means "Thieves' Island."

They Are All Coming.

Thousands of people from all parts of Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa, are now pouring into Milwaukee to visit the Exposition, which opened on Saturday evening last, and which has been pronounced the greatest and best show of the kind yet given in that city. Tea cars of four spaces are crowded with wonderful, interesting and instructive exhibits and many new things in the scientific and mechanical world are to be seen. The railroads of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan sell round trip tickets, at one and a third fare, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during the Exposition season, and return until the following Monday. The big show continues daily, except Sunday, until October 15.

HANDSOME PICTURES.

Four Plaques of American Game With the Republic.

Probably at no time in the world's history has so much attention been paid to the interior decoration of homes as at present. No home, no matter how humble, is without its handwork that helps to beautify the apartments and make the surroundings more cheerful. The taste of the American people has been raised with the age, and almost every day brings forth something new in the way of a picture, a draping, a piece of furniture or other form of mural decoration.

They are handsome paintings and are especially designed for hanging on dining room walls, though their richness and beauty entitles them to a place in the living or a bedroom. These four plaques have been purchased at a cost of $50,000 by J. C. Hubinger Bros. Co., manufacturers of the celebrated Elastic Starch, and in order to enable their numerous customers to become possessors of these handsome works of art they have had them reproduced by a special process, so that the colors and beauty of the original. They are finished on heavy cardboard, pressed and embossed in the shape of a plaque and trimmed with a heavy band of gold. They measure forty inches in circumference and contain no reading matter or advertisement whatsoever.

Until Oct. 1 Messrs. J. C. Hubinger Bros. Co. propose to distribute these plaques free to their customers. Every purchaser of three ten-cent packages of Elastic Starch, flatiron brand, manufactured by J. C. Hubinger Bros. Co. is entitled to receive one of these handsome plaques free from their grocer. Old and new customers alike are entitled to the benefits of this offer. The plaques will not be sent through the mail, but only to be obtained when being from your grocer. Every grocer store in the country carries Elastic Starch for sale. It is the oldest and best laundry starch on the market and is the most perfect cold process starch ever invented. It is the only starch made by men who thoroughly understand the laundry business, and the only starch that will not injure the finest fabric. It has been the standard for a quarter of a century and as an evidence of how good it is twenty million packages were sold last year. Ask your dealer to show you the plaques and tell you about Elastic Starch. Accept no substitute. Bear in mind that this offer holds good only a short time and should be taken advantage of without delay.

France.

That was a strange error of our eminent contrabandier—or, as he hopes, of the reporter who misquoted him. "Our heart is not on that side; it goes out toward France." Toward France, the close ally and bosom friend of absolutist Russia; France, devoted to militarism and the conquest of the world; France, the champion of the national intellect which seems to take to have gone so far astray; they admire the French, for whom Mr. Xie was doing his best. Millions of small tubes are formed, through which the water is drawn upward, and to prevent the loss the tubes should be broken off or sealed at the top. This is done when the surface soil is stirred to the depth of an inch, the dry earth serving as a blanket to keep the moisture in the soil. If a shower comes and again dampens the surface the stirring of the soil should be repeated.

No Blacksmith Needed.

A horse shoe which the veriest neophyte can make can replace upon the hoof that casts it has been invented. This horseshoe, which is needless, has been invented by a Glasgow man—Mr. M. McDonough. It is of the usual shape, but has two projections, one on each side at the back, which engage rings at the ends of a band, which passes

Seeding Timothy with Buckwheat.

On low land, where buckwheat is the crop chiefly grown, it is often desirable to seed the land again. Sowing timothy seed along with the buckwheat while it is growing will do this as well, if not better, than any other plan, especially if there are rains. The young grass will be well rooted by the time the buckwheat is ready to be plowed. No plowing is needed, and though there is always some waste of buckwheat in harvesting, no harm will be done, as the timothy will so occupy the ground by spring that there will be little and perhaps no buckwheat in next year's hay crop.

Ventilation of Barns.

Many barns and other farm buildings are made very uncomfortable in summer by the heat that comes in through the windows. The cut shows a good plan for keeping out the sun. Cover the glass with whitewash or flour-paste, make the glass opaque; then set the windows out at an angle, with board side pieces, as suggested in the cut. These side pieces keep out much sunlight that would otherwise get in at the sides of the windows. If windows

A Missouri Mole.

The city council of Brunswick, Mo., recently passed a resolution of respect and condolence expressive of sorrow at the sudden and tragic death of the city marshal. The measure was signed by the mayor, who in a street altercation with a fellow municipal servant had fired the shot that ended the marshal's life, himself narrowly escaping death from wounds inflicted upon him in the dispute.

Best Feed for Lambs.

Sugar beets are worth at the factories about $4 per ton. It has been found that the pulp is superior food for lambs, the beets being then worth $6 per ton. In Canada the farmers find that it pays to grow sugar beets for use on the farms without regard to their value at the factory. In Texas sugar beets are now used for producing what are termed "sugar lambs," the lambs being fed on beets and finished on corn, butchers preferring them to all others and paying extra prices therefor.

Various Hints for the House.

If farmers' wives will fold a newspaper bias and the funnel shaped around the top of churn it will save the cream splashing on the floor and kitchen furniture. Some tacks put in baby's feeding bottle will clean it quicker than anything else. Start your little chicks with millet seed, and it will save you a number of dollars' worth of poultry. A pair of rubber boots or overshoes is the best carpet stretcher there is, and never injures the carpet.

A Great Milker.

The cut represents the Jersey cow Adelaide, the property of Messrs. Miller and Sibley. She is 75 per cent. St. Lambert. A glance at the udder, as represented here, would indicate an unusually heavy milker, but her actual record outstrips even this indication. For the thirty-one days beginning May 25 and ending June 24 she gave a total of 2,000 1/2 pounds of milk. In making this record she was milked three times a day at intervals of eight hours. Every milking was witnessed by at least two persons; sometimes by as many as six. This beats all previous records in the Jersey breed. Adelaide's average per day during the test was 64.85 1/2 pounds, her best day 77 1/2 pounds, followed by records of 73 and 70 1/2 pounds. As she weighs 1,002 pounds, her milk yield during the thirty-one days is seen to be more than twice her weight. But her best one-day record was made in May, 1897, when she once gave 82 1/2 pounds of milk.—Montreal Star.

Jersey Cow Adelaide.

Stir the Surface Soil.

A hard rain packs the ground, the moisture, however, going into the ground that has been loosened instead of flowing away. Water will evaporate from the ground during warm, dry days, and as the moisture from the surface is lost that from below rises, by capillary attraction, to take its place. Millions of small tubes are formed, through which the water is drawn upward, and to prevent the loss the tubes should be broken off or sealed at the top. This is done when the surface soil is stirred to the depth of an inch, the dry earth serving as a blanket to keep the moisture in the soil. If a shower comes and again dampens the surface the stirring of the soil should be repeated.

Keep Guiltless Fowls.

If you have guinea fow, get a pair and raise a brook of them. They are the most cheerful fowl we have—always feel well and are good layers, and are as good to eat as a pheasant. Many a guinea appears on the tables of city restaurants as prairie chicken, and no one is cheated, for there is not enough difference between the flesh of the two birds to enable any one to tell one from the other.—Farmer's Voice.

Clover as a Fertilizer.

Land that has been seeded to crimson clover and the crop turned under has been found to contain twice as much humus, moisture and nitrogen as that which had no clover. This demonstrates that it pays to grow crimson clover as a natural crop, leaving the gain of nitrogen entirely, the large amount of extra moisture retained by the clover land is an important gain when considering the next crop to be grown on the land.

Some Dairy Hints.

If the butter is too soft, feed the cow some potatoes.

Wash all milk vessels with cold water before sending.

Crimsons are usually better for farmers than pure breeds.

Straw milk can be cured by keeping the cows clean.

White-washed stables mean fewer flies and more milk.

A cow that tests below 3 per cent is not worth keeping.

Whenever possible test the cow's milk before buying her.

If the butter is mottled work it a little more after salting.

Cows and horses should not be allowed in the same pasture.

Bachelor fowls does not mean richer milk; it means more milk.

Many dairymen like an ounce of salt to the pound of butter.

Do not wet your hands when milking; if you do you flavor the milk.

When butter is poor don't blame the cow. Blame your own want of skill.

Adding hot water to cream while churning is the worst of all practices.

Heating milk to 109 degrees Fahrenheit is 81 1/2 continually while hot.

You waste 25 per cent of your butter in summer by not using a separator.

Warm milk from the cow does not absorb odors. While cooling keep it in a pure atmosphere.

gets through it. If the upper eight or ten feet of wall are of brick or stone, lay in cement, so that contaminated surface water cannot reach the household supply. Much sickness can be traced to impure water.

Art of Butter-Making.

Butter is an article that sells strictly on merits. A dairyman who gets his own price for butter states that churning is not the most important work in butter-making, as the beginning is in the management of the cow and the handling of the milk. Whether the market is fully supplied or not, there is always a demand for "choice." Although "good" and "medium" grades may be quoted, yet there is no half-way house in the quality of butter. It is either "choice" or "bad," and the inferior kind is that which sells low. Some dairymen get 60 cents a pound for their butter, while others, by churning the milk at the proper time, get 70 cents a pound for their butter, not affecting it, as it sells strictly on quality.

Buckwheat in Orchards.

Perhaps as good a crop as any to get in the orchard is buckwheat. Its seed is so cheap, and the mulch its growth makes is so effective, that it more than offsets the poverty of buckwheat in fertilizing material. Where buckwheat is sown in orchards the land will be made extremely light and moist, especially if the last crop of buckwheat in the season is plowed under. The only drawback to this is that growing buckwheat leaves the soil bare, and in a severe winter frost may penetrate deeply enough to injure the roots of fruit trees. The peach tree is especially apt to be injured by winter freezing of the soil near the tree.

Kaffir Corn.

What is known as Kaffir corn is becoming quite popular among Western farmers. It is a kind of sorghum in which the juices are not sweet, and are changed to seeds at the top of the stalk, much as broom corn seed and sorghum seed are grown. The grain of Kaffir corn is about twice as large as that of sorghum. When ground it is preferred by many, for griddle cakes, to buckwheat flour. The stalks of Kaffir corn lack the sweetness of corn stalks, and are used for stock feed, but they surpass ordinary corn except where it is found that it will stand dry weather better than other corn will.

Windfall Apples.

Good vinegar is usually a scarce article. There is at all times a full supply on the market, but not the best cider vinegar. Farmers who use windfall apples, or those that are decayed, make a mistake. The best vinegar can only be made of sound apples, and where such crops cannot be sold at fair prices they should be converted into choice vinegar. If fruit growers would make a specialty of good vinegar, a few weeks' effort would find them a market for their surplus. It is found that it will stand dry weather better than other corn will.

Carmel Ice Cream.

Take three pounds of dark brown sugar, stir in an iron saucepan over a brisk fire until it is liquid, add to this a pint of boiling milk, stirring until it curdles, strain off the liquid, put it aside to cool. When cold add this liquid to a gallon of cream or sweetened custard, which it will both sweeten and flavor. It improves this ice cream to add a pound of almonds blanched and shredded fine when it is nearly frozen.

Blackberry Cordial.

Take any quantity of berries, mash and strain through a cloth. To quart of juice and three cents' worth of ground nutmeg, three cents' worth of cloves and allspice mixed, three quarters pint of water, one pound of sugar. Boil slowly one hour; then add one quart brandy (or good whisky) to two quarts of juice. Let partly cool. Bottle and cork tight, but need not seal.

Duchess Potatoes.

Blend with two cups of potatoes freshly boiled in salted water and beaten with a fork until light one-fourth their bulk in dry grated cheese and the same amount of peanut flour, add the yolk of an egg and a tablespoonful of lard. Form into small cakes, dollar size, place on a buttered tin, brush with melted butter and toast a light brown in a hot oven.

Peach Dumplings.

Roll good puff paste into rounds six inches across. Shape the rounds into cups by pinching up the edges. Set the cups in a baking pan and put in each a half ripe peach on the seed, also a generous quantity of sugar and butter. If you like things rich, use sweet cake dough instead of puff paste, cook the same time as biscuit.

To Prepare Tomatoes.

Every housewife knows that when a great pan of tomatoes must be skinned for stewing or canning it is the work of a few minutes only to pour scalding water over them, then cool them, when the skins will slip from their little magic. The same plan has been tried with peaches.

Nursery Furnishings.

Bread and milk tables are among the new nursery furnishings that commend themselves by reason of their practicality. They come in oak or enameled wood, and consist of a child's low table with vis-a-vis seats, the three pieces held together at the bottom by a wood rail.

Banana Croquettes.

Strip the skins from four bananas, cut in halves crosswise, make straight on ends, roll in powdered sugar, pour over the juice of three lemons and let stand covered in cold places for an hour. Dip in egg, then in bread crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Ice-Castanets.

Cut the melon pulp in uniform pieces, sprinkle lightly with a tablespoonful of sugar and saltspoonful each of salt and lemon sifted together, pack in frozen can, surround with ice and salt and let stand an hour.

How We Feel Pain.

It has long been maintained by some French physiologists that the feeling of pain is a special sensation, apart from those of touch, sight, etc., and transmitted to the brain by a special set of nerves. When a boy falls and hurts his head, according to this view, he has two sensations, one of contact with the ground transmitted to the brain by the ordinary nerves, and one transmitted by the pain nerves. These sensations may not even reach the brain at the same time; in fact, the pain usually gets there later.

Not of Discepol.

Persons organizing ecclesiastical professions should heed this solemn warning from an English critic who described a recent elaborate function:

Any one who ties his hands or feet over his head, especially if he be a bishop, and his hands over a red one, strikes a note of discord that nothing can redeem.

Nothing to Fear.

Deacon Goldberg (Missidy)—Would you holler if I kissed you, Miss Kitty? Miss Kitty (coolly)—Yes, Deacon; but ma' n' a' is as deaf as two posts.

A new kind of cloth is being made in Lyons from the down of hens, ducks and geese. Seven hundred and fifty grains of feathers make rather more than a square yard of light, water-proof cloth.

During the siege of Paris no fewer than 22,000,000 letters sailed out of the city in fifty-four tallons, dispatched between the 16th of September, 1870, and the 28th of January, 1871.

THE HOUSEHOLD

For Soiled Clothes.

A place for soiled clothes may be made from a barrel. Sugar barrels are best because they are strong and well made. Have a cover made of wood and hinge to the barrel, then line the barrel and cover the lid with unbleached muslin or any material preferred, and tack it securely in several places. For the cover select some strong scrub oiled good. Cover the top drawing the goods tight and tack securely on the under surface four inches from the rim and finish with a circular piece of lining to hide the raw edges. Gather the fabric on stout strings for the upper and lower edges and tack securely all around the top and bottom of the barrel, allowing enough fullness to give a lined effect.

Cooking Meat.

A thick joint takes longer to cook than a thin one of the same weight. Meat with bone cooks more quickly than meat without.

Put the meat in a hot dish and keep it hot while you make the gravy.

Pour away the dripping into a clean basin.

Pour a sufficient quantity of hot water or stock into the dripping tin. Add pepper and salt and a dredge of flour and boil up.

Carmel Ice Cream.

Take three pounds of dark brown sugar, stir in an iron saucepan over a brisk fire until it is liquid, add to this a pint of boiling milk, stirring until it curdles, strain off the liquid, put it aside to cool. When cold add this liquid to a gallon of cream or sweetened custard, which it will both sweeten and flavor. It improves this ice cream to add a pound of almonds blanched and shredded fine when it is nearly frozen.

Blackberry Cordial.

Take any quantity of berries, mash and strain through a cloth. To quart of juice and three cents' worth of ground nutmeg, three cents' worth of cloves and allspice mixed, three quarters pint of water, one pound of sugar. Boil slowly one hour; then add one quart brandy (or good whisky) to two quarts of juice. Let partly cool. Bottle and cork tight, but need not seal.

Duchess Potatoes.

Blend with two cups of potatoes freshly boiled in salted water and beaten with a fork until light one-fourth their bulk in dry grated cheese and the same amount of peanut flour, add the yolk of an egg and a tablespoonful of lard. Form into small cakes, dollar size, place on a buttered tin, brush with melted butter and toast a light brown in a hot oven.

Peach Dumplings.

Roll good puff paste into rounds six inches across. Shape the rounds into cups by pinching up the edges. Set the cups in a baking pan and put in each a half ripe peach on the seed, also a generous quantity of sugar and butter. If you like things rich, use sweet cake dough instead of puff paste, cook the same time as biscuit.

To Prepare Tomatoes.

Every housewife knows that when a great pan of tomatoes must be skinned for stewing or canning it is the work of a few minutes only to pour scalding water over them, then cool them, when the skins will slip from their little magic. The same plan has been tried with peaches.

Nursery Furnishings.

Bread and milk tables are among the new nursery furnishings that commend themselves by reason of their practicality. They come in oak or enameled wood, and consist of a child's low table with vis-a-vis seats, the three pieces held together at the bottom by a wood rail.

Banana Croquettes.

Strip the skins from four bananas, cut in halves crosswise, make straight on ends, roll in powdered sugar, pour over the juice of three lemons and let stand covered in cold places for an hour. Dip in egg, then in bread crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Ice-Castanets.

Cut the melon pulp in uniform pieces, sprinkle lightly with a tablespoonful of sugar and saltspoonful each of salt and lemon sifted together, pack in frozen can, surround with ice and salt and let stand an hour.

Boston's "Sand Gardens."

In seventeen of the school yards of Boston, says the New York Evening Post, hundreds of children flock every day to play in the "sand gardens." Rare and beautiful as these spaces are, compared with the country playgrounds, they are fascinating enough to make the children of the poorer wild to get within the enclosure. The children are provided with little pails and shovels at public expense, and the sand is kept in a large, apparently the most popular enjoyment. Skating rinks, also provided, are in great demand, and the larger boys play ball in a designated avenue, where they are not molested by the police. The public side of these glimpses at the ways in which the children of the poor amuse themselves is a matter of which the older ones look after the babies. If the big girls are having a game by themselves and the boys are playing with the girls, they will not tolerate the slightest indication that others may bestow. The extension of the sand garden plan is being provided for world otherwise by throwing the steps of tenement houses or learning first lessons in vice in all sorts of miserable places.

Charity Which is no Charity.

Going blindly into charitable work, for the simple sake of being charitable, works far more injury than good," writes Edward Bok in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Too many there are of such charities which do not supply the help at the wrong place. No practical results come from such work; on the other hand, antagonism is aroused, and positive injury is effected. A well-intentioned charity is useless except where it is intelligently directed and comprehensively applied. Mere organizations for good purposes must first be studied. It is not to be wondered at that the needy often refuse the charities offered them. It is not that they are unappreciative. But they do resent, and justly so, the charity which is no charity at all. Although charity which is misapplied shows its ignorance of their true needs, and which, well intentioned though it be, does them more harm than good by diverting their help to the use of it in a way which is not for their benefit."

Don't Hide in a Thunderstorm.

A great deal of nonsense has recently been published to the effect that a man should not hide in a bicycle perfectly safe in a thunderstorm, because it is supposed to be insulated from the earth by the rubber tires. As a matter of fact, the bicycle is usually covered with a film of water from the rainfall, and they are not insulated from the ground. The danger is not in the lightning stroke, but in the fallacy of this reasoning is shown by the fact that the man who is struck by lightning while on a bicycle is usually killed while hurrying home on his bicycle. The man who is struck by lightning while on a bicycle is usually killed while hurrying home on his bicycle. WOMAN'S HEROISM.

From the Register-Gazette, Rockford, Ill.

During the Civil War nearly as much heroism was shown by the women of our nation as by the brave soldiers. Many a woman, weeping for her dead son, joined the ranks of the army, and in the face of the most terrible dangers, she bravely fought for the cause of freedom.

On the battle-field, she was the nurse, the comforter, the encourager, the one who gave the soldier the strength to fight, and the one who gave the soldier the strength to fight.

MANY FEMALE ILLS RESULT FROM NEGLIGENCE.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Ordinary Tasks May Produce Displacements That Threaten Women's Health.

Apparently trifling incidents in women's daily life frequently produce displacements of the womb. A slip on the stairs, lifting during menstruation, standing at a counter, running a sewing machine, or attending to the most ordinary tasks, may result in displacement, and a train of serious evils is started.

The first indication of such trouble should be the signal for quick action. Don't let the condition become chronic through neglect or a mistaken idea that you can overcome it by exercise or leaving it alone.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If it has troubled you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Mrs. MARY BENNETT, 314 Annie St., Bay City, Mich., writes to M.S. Pinkham: "I can hardly find words with which to thank you for the good you have done me. For nearly four years I suffered with weakness of the generative organs, continual backache, headache, and all the pains that accompany female weakness. A friend told my husband about your Vegetable Compound and he brought me home two bottles. After taking these I felt much better, but thought that I would write to you in regard to my case, and you do not know how thankful I am to you for your advice and for the benefit I have received from the use of your medicine. I write this letter for the good of my suffering sisters."

The above letter from Mrs. Bennett is the history of many women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Irish Bulls.

"Some fifteen years ago," says a correspondent of the London Spectator, "I addressed the congregation in St. Mary's church, Harrocar, in this wise: 'If there be any of you here, dear brethren, whom God in His mercy has taken to Himself. In the same discourse, pleading for some charity on account of generosity, was sought to be stirred by the following sentence, descriptive of the miseries of which Ireland was then the victim: 'In the sister-country, where for some time we have been suffering from visitation, might I be allowed if we have been a little disturbed while undergoing the process? Might I suggest that the following be added to your remarkable collection of bulls?' A person who evidently knew the name of William, and who is not an Irishman, but in my mind worthy to be one, said: 'As long as I am alive I shall never give the name of William to one of my sons.'"
