Peters was made prisoner while taking pictures outside the lines. He was thrust into a filthy jail, where he was visited by a native captain who tested his sword on his body and threatened to kill him.

The rebel chief then called in a number of naked savages, all armed, who executed a war dance and made passes at Peters, one of the savages wounded him in the arm. The next morning he was taken to Malolos, where he found eight Americans, two Englishmen and a Spaniard. From here he finally secured his release through the intervention of American officials.

"GO IT, BOYS," SAID KING

Wisconsin General Now at Manila Said All H-I Couldn't Stop Idaho Savages.

Boise, Ida., March 23 .- When the Idaho boys return home from Manila they will bring with them two Krupp guns, captured by the regiment during the battle of Manila, Gen. King having given orders to that effect. A letter has been SUPREME COURT INTERVENES, received here from Lieut, D. L. Bradley Co. A, giving a vivid account of the battle, with particular reference to the part played by the Idaho boys. He

Here is the experience taken from an educational journal of an English manu-facturer, an alderman in his own town who went to France knowing only his own language: "I went to Paris, staying at the Hotel de Lille et d'Albion. Never having been before, I lost my way, and could not find my hotel again, because I neither spoke nor understood French. Thinking some of the people I met might understand written English.

French. Thinking some of the people I met might understand written English, I went into a stationer's shop and bought a large card on which I wrote 'Please tell me the way to the Hotel de Lille et d'Albion.' Again I sallied out, showing my card to several, but still to no purpose. At last a gentieman read it, and silently beckoned me to follow him, which I did as silently, for a mile or more. Then he pointed, still silently, to the sign of the hotel, and when I saw it I broke the silence by exclaiming 'Thank you.' 'What,' he replied in amazement, 'are you an Englishman? So am I, but I took you to be deaf and dumb.'" Another illustration of the truth of Tom Hood's famous maxim:

/ No one is better able to speak of this fact than Miss Hazel Snider, a charming young woman of Ariington, Ind. To-day she has rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes and a plump form, which prove that she is in good health. A year ago Miss Snider was very thin, her cheeks pale, eyes sunken and dull. She was troubled with nervousness and general debility. She says:

"After several months' treatment from the family physician we saw he could do no good. I was discouraged and did not know what to do. One day I read an item in a paper of the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I tried the medicine, and when nearly through with the second box noticed a change for the better. After I had taken eight boxes I was cured, and have had no occasion to take any kind of medicine since. I owe much to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, probably my life, and I advise any one suffering with troubles similar to mine, to take these pills."

Little time was wasted in the preparation of the original plans for the dam. But the officials having the matter in charge, intent only on the utilitarian as-pect of the problem, brought about their heads, four years ago, a widespread out-burst of indignation, when it was anounced that the treasured ruins of Philae would be submerged for months at a time, were their recommendations carried into effect. Meetings were held by learned societies everywhere to protest against any desecration of Philae, and their memorials poured in to the Egyptian government for months. From every country in Europe, from the United States, and from the centers of learning in the East, antiquarians, Egyptologists, archaeologists and literary people generally, joined in vigorous protest. The late Sir Frederick Leighton, president of England's Royal academy, did not hesitate to say that "any tampering with Philae would be a lasting blot on the British occupation of Egypt." This stinging remark brought the subject into the realm of British politics, and did as much as all the protests to cause the too practical plans of the English engineers to be held in abeyance until a modified project, conciliating archaeological inter ests with engineering necessities, could
