WAR ENDS CENTURIES.

Each Period of a Hundred Years Closes Amid Battles.

Every one hundred years since the year ten hundred has ended in a blaze of wars. This century may be like the eight before it, and go out 'mid the roar of guns.

Man seems to have been born to fight, and the conditions of life tend to make it a battle. He can't even keep his health without defending himself against a host of foes, but if he uses Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption he can fully protect himself against many of these.

This marvelous medicine is made of purest herbs of the chest, throat and lungs. For twenty-five years this peerless remedy has been curing Consumption, the most obstinate Coughs, the severest Colds, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Asthma, Hemorrhage, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, Lung Fever, etc.

If you have any bronchial trouble now is the time to cure it. Do not wait till it gets a firm hold upon you. You can't cure any Throat or Lung trouble too soon. Cure that cold or that cough at once, or you may have to fight Pneumonia or Consumption later. And use a cure that has stood the test of years and has the confidence of the people.

Don't try some unknown or worthless remedy when your health is in danger. Use Dr. King's New Discovery. Its onward course has been a march of victory over disease and death. Always keep it in your home. It will prove a stepping stone to perfect happiness. Don't think you will have no colds, coughs, or throat and lung troubles in summer. That's a bad mistake; might cause serious trouble. Best to be safe. Mrs. D. J. Wallace, of Lexington, Tenn., was believed to be past all hope with Consumption, but she is a well woman today because she took Dr. King's New Discovery. Dealers sell large bottles at 50c and $1.00, and will return money if no cure. Trial bottle free. Take no substitutes.

THE NEW MEXICO WAY. This is the way the best "call-off" in New Mexico does, the words being delivered in a single tone.

Get 'er little homies ready: Trot 'em out upon the floor— Line up there, you cusses! Steady! Lively now! One couple more! Shout, shout that old cuss! Broncho, down that old cuss! Stop yer cussin', Cuzine! For the ladies! Now, all set!

S'lute yer bellies! All together! Darlings opposite, the same! Hit the lumber with yer leather! Balance all an' swing yer dummies! Bunch the homies in the middle! Circle gents, an' do-as-doe— Pay attention to the ladies! Swing her round an' off you go!

First four forward! Back to places! Second follow! Shuffle back! Now you have it down to cases! Swing 'em till their trotters crack! Gents all right a' best an' best! Swing 'em, kiss 'em if you kin! Keep to the right an' keep yer eye! Till yo' hit yer parols agin!

Gents to center: ladies all 'round 'em! Form a basket; balance all! Whirl yer gals to where yo' found 'em! Promenade around the hall! Whirl 'em to yer parols an' trot 'em! Round the circle double quick! Whirl and kiss 'em an' make 'em rattle! Hold 'em to it if they kick!

Ladies, left hand to your somies! Laman! Grand right an' left! Balance all an' swing yer homies! Pick 'em up an' feel their feet! Promenade like a cherry coddle! Balance all an' swing yer sweets! Snake yer spurs and make 'em rattle! Keno! Promenade to seats!

Mistress (to new footman)—"One thing more, Jean. Your predecessor whom I have discharged, was constantly paying attentions to the parlor maid." Footman (interrupting)—"Yes, madam, I'll take his place in that matter—certainly!"—Flegende Bletter.

EXCHANGE ENGLISH. An eastern paper's comments on an exchange's misuse of the articles "an" and "a" reminds us that "we are all tarred with the same stick," so to speak, as witness the following:

We occasionally see "eve," where ere is meant.

"Tomorrow is" often used instead of "tomorrow will be."

"Neither one or the other" should be written with "or" instead of "or."

"Old friends" too frequently appears where only old-time friends is intended.

The "lady" should give way to the "lady who," while the "people which" is covered by the same example.

We use "got" as frequently as if it had not long been considered obsolete and unnecessary in our vocabulary.

"Jessie" frequently appears where the male Jesse is meant, while the same example covers the use of "Johnnie," "Frankie," etc.

"St. John's church" reminds us that he has no earthly possessions, though the St. John congregation may have considerable property.

Occasionally we read of someone visiting "friends and relatives," though relatives and friends would be better form both socially and literally.

In an obituary we are apt to learn of the deceased leaving a number of relatives to "mourn her loss," though it would seem more natural for them to mourn her demise or her loss.

Again we read of someone celebrating his "80th birthday," while even old Methuselah was born but once, though he witnessed enough anniversaries of his birth to make a man tired of life.

A merchant is sometimes willing to show goods to his competitor's customers for the mere privilege of having a chat with them, judging by the following: "Call and see my stock before buying elsewhere."

We frequently say "nothing is too good for us," when we mean that they sent us nothing good for us, and this should apply in the use of language.
