A Cat That Likes to Travel.

Thousands of people have heard of railway dogs, which travel so extensively, and really seem to know as much about trains and time-tables as a guard.

But there is a cat in Colorado which is certainly as remarkable in its fondness for railway riding. It was a pet of an engineer's wife, but now accompanies him on every trip he makes.

When the train stops any length of time the cat goes away in search of the sounds, and at some of the stations it is quite a pet. When the engine runs the cat sits in the cab or on the coal, and as its fur is jet black its beauty is not much impaired by its grimy surroundings.

Pussy must have traveled many thousands of miles, for it has been doing duty for several years, and has never been known to miss a trip. That cats care little for persons and are attached to places and their environments, was seen in this case last year, when the engineer was laid up for three months as the result of a collision.

Instead of following him the cat stayed about the sheds until the engine was repaired, and then resumed her ride with a substitute engineer in the cab.—Los Angeles Times.

A GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSUMPTION.

Two of the most important conclusions of the late International Congress on Consumption, at Berlin, are that this dread disease is frequently cured, and more often now than ever before, and that the prospect of increased success is most encouraging.

It should give hope to every sufferer from it, but of more supreme importance to Consumptives is the actual work and record, for 30 years of that marvellous medicine called Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has, in that time, restored thousands of hopeless sufferers to perfect health and strength.

It is a Western editor has received the following unique letter: "Send me a few copies of the paper which had the obituary and verses about the death of my child a week or two ago. You will publish the enclosed clipping about my niece's marriage. And I wish you would mention in your local columns, if it don't cost me, that I am going to have a few extra but calves to sell. Send me a couple of extra copies of the paper this week, but as my time is out you can stop sending it regularly, as times are too hard to waste money on a newspaper."—X.

He Missed Her.

A speech which had a pathetic as well as an amusing side is said to have been made by an old New Hampshire man on the occasion of his second wedding.

"Neighbors," he said to those who had witnessed the simple ceremony, "you all know that this good friend that's consented to marry me is something of a stranger in our town. Now, I feel kind of insufficient, being only a man, to make her acquainted with everybody as quick as I'd like to. So I'm going to depend on you women folks," he added with a confiding smile at the members of the gentler sex, "to make her feel at home among us, just as my first wife would do if she were here today. I miss her considerable all the time, but nor'n usual on an occasion like this!"—Youth's Companion.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Captain C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Ghalibe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used it when troubled with bowel complaint, and had it given my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial. For sale by L. Rosenheimer.

Famous Tree.

The charter oak is in Hartford, Conn., and it concealed the charter of the colony for several years from 1687. Washington took command of the army under an elm tree in Cambridge. The treaty elm, under which William Penn signed the famous treaty with the Indians in 1682, was upon the banks of the Delaware. It died in 1829.

The great linden in Wurttemberg was 800 years old. The city of Neustadt was for many years known as the city near the linden. In 1408 a poem was written about it. It was propped up by 67 stone pillars; in 1684 these were increased to 82; in 1832 to 106. Its trunk then measured 37 feet. It was wrecked in a gale that year.

There is a walnut tree 1,200 years old in the Baidar valley, near Balaklava. It belongs to five Tartar families. It yields nearly 100,000 nuts, which are divided between the owners.

The famous banyan tree is in Ceylon, on Mount Lavinia, seven miles from Colombo. There are two roads through the stems, and its shadow at noon covers four acres.

The walnut was originally called the gaulnut in England, because it came from France (Gaul). Walnuts played an important part at the siege of Amiens, near the end of the 16th century, when a party of Spanish soldiers, dressed as French peasants, brought a carload of nuts to sell, and as the gate opened for them to enter, the nuts were spilled upon the ground and the sentinels stooped to pick them up, when the Spanish soldiers pounced upon them, killed them and guarded the gates while the Spanish army entered.—School Record.

"Briggs is dreadfully near-sighted. You know that his wife wears with all those black plumes in it?" "Yes, I've seen it."

"Aw, my good man," drawled Fitznoodle, "have you seen anything worth shooting hereabouts?" "Well, no," replied the farmer; "not till you came along!"—X.

The Dog's Watchfulness.

The dog's watchfulness, so much and so thoughtlessly lauded as the expression of his devotion to man, is merely the instinct watchfulness necessary to his safety in a wild state, and is a characteristic which he would exercise quite as readily for his own kind and the preservation of his lair as he would for the benefit of man. When he barks at strange dogs or gives warning at night of the approach of strangers, it should not be overlooked that he considers his own home is disturbed, though it may be the home of his master. Much depends on the point of view.—Forest and Stream.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and concluded to try it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle, and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L. Millet, Manchester, N. H. For sale by L. Rosenheimer.

It was on a west side cable. The stout Teuton woman with a little boy handed a conductor, a $2 bill. "Smallest you have?" inquired the conductor, as he shifted the silver nickels in his pocket. She thought that it was the little boy. "No!" she responded. "I had one home only three months old already." Then the laugh was on the conductor.—Tacoma News.

As the train was leaving Chicago the other day a young man, accompanied by a buxom damsel, strolled into a Pullman sleeper and sat in a confidential tone. "Mister, me and my wife just got married and are looking for the best accommodations on the train."

"Looking for a berth I suppose," said the dusky son of Ham, as he turned to assign seats to other passengers. "A berth! Thunder and lightning, no!" gasped the astonished rustic, "we just got married. We want a place to stay all night, that's all."—X.

BROKEN BRIC-A-BRACS. Mr. Major, the famous cement man of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement.

The multitude who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent. better than any cement for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them, because they are too expensive and do not show large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $1.75 a pound, and another costs $2.00 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cements and liquid glue upon the market are holding more than 10c. dissolved in water in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials.

Major's cement retails at 15c and 25c a barrel, and when a dealer tries to sell a substitute you can depend upon it that his only object is to make larger profit.

If you are a handy man in view of the fact that each time you get a share of the benefit of Mr. Major's advertising, which now amounts to over $1,000,000 throughout the country. Established in 1876.

Notice to Major's Cement. Don't accept any off-hand advice from a druggist. If you are a handy man you will be likely to find that you are a good deal more so than you imagine) you can repair your rubber and leather articles with Major's Leather Cement. And you will be surprised at how many dollars a year you will save by using it.

If your druggist can't supply you, it will be forwarded by mail (other kind) free of postage.

Just Prior to the Millennium.

And it came to pass that the prominent clergyman who had been offered editorial charge of the leading journal of the city for a short time and had been led by the Tempter to a high journalistic peak and unlimited influence resulting from such an arrangement were pointed out to him in glowing colors, he did stop and reflect before falling into the Tempter's toils and did reason thus: "Behold, although this thing will bring me much notoriety and cause my name to be on everybody's lips not only among the people of my own city but those of other cities, and will cause my sayings to be published in every paper in the land under big headlines, yet of a verity I can see it is but a delusion and a snare and an advertising scheme in which I shall be a guilty partner, designed to enrich the coffers of the journal. I will not try to exalt myself in such an unusual way, but continue humbly in the well-defined footsteps of my Master, who likewise shunned notoriety." And he said, "Get thee behind me, Satan." And it was the millennium.—Fennimore Times-Review.
