Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 13.—[Special.]—
Peter Jorgenson, a well-known Danish citizen of this city, met death in a peculiar manner shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Jorgenson, with a friend named Hans Larensen, had started out from the city to drive to the home of Hans Anderson, who resides in the town of Pleasant Prairie. After they had gone about two and a half miles from the city the vehicle in which they were riding was upset and Jorgensen fell upon his head, breaking his neck.

The case dragged atong all day yesterday, although the state only put on one witness—the complainant, William Schwandt. The latter is a young man, while the defendant is over 60 years of age and a pioneer of the county. He lives in the town of Ripon and was accused of having thrown from behind a signboard a huge stone at the complainant. The stone was exhibited in court. Mr. Major, the famous cement man of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement.

The multitudes who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent, better than other cements for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them, because they are too expensive and do not show large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $1.55 a pound, and another costs $2.65 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cements and liquid glue upon the market are nothing more than 16c glue, dissolved in water or citric acid, and in some cases, altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials.

Major's cement retails at 15c and 25c a bottle, and when a dealer tries to sell a substitute you can depend upon it that his only object is to make larger profit.

The profit on Major's cement is as much as any dealer ought to make on any cement. And this is doubly true in view of the fact that each dealer gets his share of the benefit of Mr. Major's advertising, which now amounts to over $0.000 a month, throughout the country. Established in 1876.

Insist on having Major's. Don't accept any off-hand advice from a druggist. If you are all handy (and you will be likely to find that you are a good deal more so than you imagine) you can repair your rubber and leather articles with Major's Leather Cement.

And you will be surprised at how many dollars a year you will thus save.

If your druggist can't supply you, it will be forwarded by mail (either kind) free of postage.

cases are so strange that it is only on the hypothesis of suggestion that they can be explained or even believed. Nev-lie off under the influence of such a mental process as suggestion has bear-ngs which reach far and can hardly be imited to warts alone. A case is re-ated by Dr. Dibble Staple of a girl 15 rears old who had a large number of warts on both her hands. She had countwarts on both her hands. She had count-ed as many as ninety-four on the right hand. Having read in one of the med-ical journals that a number of warts had been cured by vaccination, the doc-ter determined, with the consent of her relatives, to give the plan a trial. He therefore revaccinated the patient on June 1. The vaccination was successful, but no effect was produced on the warts antil seven weeks after, when they gradually disappeared, leaving temporary white spots, and when she was seen on August 30 she had no trace of them.—

The era of bathtubs and sanitation and good living has had its effect upon American youth. Today if young Ben Franklin should come to Philadelphia to try his fortunes, it is quite likely that he would not march up the street munching his cheap loaf, but would be riding comfortably and handsomely in an automobile toward a scholarship, possibly pausing on his way to get a well-balanced luncheon at a fashionable cafe. The whole tone of college life has been wonderfully raised within the past few years, and if one desires to see a set of well-groomed young men he should attend the opening proceedings in a mod-

Royal Badge of the Cheshires.

The Cheshires bear the unique honor of being the only regiment in the British army who have the names of "Meanec, Scinde and Hyderabad" on their colors. They received from Sir Charles Napier, who commanded in this campaign, the highest praise for their courage and endurance, and were on their return accorded the honor of the whole garrison of Kurrachee, where they embarked for England, turning out to salute them. They wear the oak leaf as their badge in remembrance of having saved the life of George 11. at Dettingen. They rallied round him under an oak tree when hard pressed by the French cavalry, and he gave them a sprig of cak as a badge.—

"You'd have stayed at home," puts in Miss D'Arcy ruthlessly. "What a pity it wasn't," says she presently, adding rudeness to the ruthlessness.

"Why?" demands he mildly. "I don't think it would have made much difference. I have assured you I can't live without you, and a dogcart can generally be his face. "Her name is D'Arcy." cries he exultantly.

"Oh, Mr. Crawford, you must not take it like this, you must not, indeed," exclaims kindly Mrs. D'Arcy, with pathos in her trembling voice. 'She is frightened and troubled by his manner. "Why should you regard it as so present a misfortune? It all happened so long ago, and Evelyn should be taught to regard it calmly, not violently. If you look at it in this way, you will only encourage her in what must be termed a morbid regret."

"Her name—her name?" says he, with parched lips.

"That can easily be explained—how I you, and a dogcart can generally be squeezed out of my aunt, even if Sir Bertram is away. I should have come all the same."

So he would! A half word that he had forced from Eaton in his jesting fashion last night, when Eaton had come rather late into the smoking room looking fagged and wretched and hopeless, had determined him to walk or drive to Firgrove today, were all the elements astir. News of her, however bald, would be welcome to Stamer's bruised spirit.

"I am so nervous, there is not a well inch in my whole body. I am so weak at my stomach and have indigestion horribly, and palpitation of the heart, and I am losing flesh. This headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I nearly had hysterics; there is a weight in the lower part of my bowels bearing down all the time, and pains in my groins and thighs; I cannot sleep, walk, or sit, and I believe I am diseased all over;

toms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our por-trait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N.J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the guiding advice of Mrs.

Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medicine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they ask for it at a store, Anyway, write a letter to Mrs. Pink-ham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your troubles. Her advice is free.

Rev. Henry Langford entirely cured of Hervous Prostration by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Herve Remedy.

Rev. Henry Langford, the eminent Baptist divine, of Weston, W. Va., has just escaped utter nervous and physical prostration. He is pastor of four churches. "For ten years," he said, "I have been nervous and growing worse all these years. During the last four or five years I became so nervous I could scarcely sign my name so it could be read. I was so nervous that I could not read my own sermon notes after they had been laid aside

"I was unable to hold my head steady in the pulpit, nor could I held or handle my books and papers without embarrassment, owing to the trembling and weakness of my hands and arms. I was so nervous that I could scarcely feed myself. In fact, my nervous hands and arms. I was so nervous that I could scarcely feed myself. In fact, my nervous system was wrecked.

"I tried many remedies recommended by physicians, but found no permanent relief.

"One day I was in the store of R. S. Ogden, at Sardis, W. Va., and he said to me:

'You take two bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and if you say it don't help you, you need not pay for it.'

"I took two bottles of this medicine and found so much relief that I bought two more bottles, and now I am wonderfully improved in health and in strength. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy did it. I can heartily and truthfully recommend it to the sick. Too much cannot be said in praise of this splendid medicine. I say this for the good of other sufferers from nervous and prostrating diseases who can be cured by this remedy. For myself, I am thankful to God that I found Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and for what it has done for me."
