WATCH REPAIRING.

Watches need attention, all machinery does. And the better the watch the more particular the owner should be to have it looked after. Watches should be oiled every eighteen months or two years, even if they are doing satisfactory work. Oiling involves cleaning, for fine dust finds its way inside the watch and eventually works an injury. If you have watch repairs to be done we want your work. We promise to do it right at a reasonable price. We will set and regulate your watch and do it with our compliments; or you can step in at any time and set your watch by the Regulator.

JEWELRY REPAIRING

is an important branch of our business—we give careful painstaking attention to it. We try to have our work give satisfaction—such as will win your confidence if you leave your repairing with us.

BASKETBALL

The girls and boys of the local high school journeyed to Oakfield last week Friday, where they played the girls and boys teams of that place. The girls won their game by defeating their opponents by a score of 10 to 4, while the boys lost by a score of 23 to 16. Now as each of the boys teams won a game, another game ought to be played on a neutral floor to see which team is really the better. A game surely could be played in one of the halls at Fond du Lac, and would no doubt attract a large crowd.

On Friday, February 10th, a double header of Basket Ball will be played between the Kewaskum High School boys and the Hartford. The local High School girls team will clash with the Menomonie Falls High School girls team. Everybody should try to turn out and help the teams along as this will be the biggest event of the season and much will depend upon the results of the game. If the local boys team succeeds in defeating Hartford it will mean another game to be played on neutral floor to decide the High School championship of the county. Likewise the girls are just as anxious to beat Menomonie Falls for a victory means an opportunity to play the strong High School team of West Bend.

No pains will be spared to make it comfortable for the spectators. A dance will be given after the games and a good time is assured to all.

Everyone should be out to see the best games so far scheduled in this village. Take your horns along and root for Kewaskum.

DANCES

Sunday, February 5th.—Mask ball in John Kohn's hall, New Fane. Music by the Random Lake Harp orchestra. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Sunday, February 12th.—Grand dance in Groeschel's hall, Kewaskum, Wis., given by the Kewaskum Brass Band. Music by the Kewaskum Quintette of six pieces.

Saturday, February 25th.—Grand Mask Ball given by the Royal Neighbors in Groeschel's hall.

UNITED IN MATRIMONY EDWIN C. SCHMIDT DEAD

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schnurr of this village last Saturday evening, when Miss Laura Schnurr was married to Herman Belger, Rev. F. Greve tying the nuptial knot.

She is also a handsome young lady, who is well liked by her many acquaintances. The groom, who is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Belger of the town of Kewaskum is a very industrious young man. Have Fine Lighting Plant.

The village of Campbellsport can now boast of one of the best equipped electric lighting plants of its size in the state. The plant was completed and put in operation for the first time last week Wednesday.

The present company known as the Campbellsport Light and Power company and is the successor of the old company which sold out its interest last October. The new company remodeled the plant and installed new machinery.

The business houses of the village and many private houses are now receiving the service of the new plant.

The principal residents of the village have launched a movement to have the village buy a water plant and it is thought that this will be done in a short time as the village is in need of a pumping station.

The company will also furnish day current.

Lomira is also endeavoring to have a light plant, the citizens of said village have up to the present time subscribed several thousands of dollars. An organization will be organized in said village in the very near future.

Married at 3 P. M. Friday.

Miss Acker a Candidate.

Miss Ruby M. Acker, county superintendent of schools for Fond du Lac county is seeking re-election to office. From present indications she may not have any opposition.

For some time Miss Acker did not intend to be a candidate again this year, but as the result of urgent request of her many friends, she again decided to enter the race. Her nomination papers were placed in circulation throughout the county today.

Edward P. Crain, who was defeated for the office by a narrow margin two years ago, will not be a candidate again this year, according to a statement made by one of his friends this morning.

18 Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt Succumbs After an Operation.

Edwin C. Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schmidt, living 2 miles northeast of this village, passed away at the home of his parents last Tuesday morning, Jan. 31, 1911, at 11 o'clock, after an illness of about two weeks with appendicitis. The disease was so dangerous that an operation was necessary and which he underwent on Monday forenoon, however being too weak he was called to his reward 24 hours after the operation. Deceased was only 18 years of age and was enjoying the best of life. He was born in town Mitchell on Sept. 1, 1892, later he came to his present home in the town of Auburn with his parents.

Mr. Schmidt leaves to mourn his death his stricken parents, five brothers and four sisters, viz.: William, Erwin, Arthur, Arnold, John, Ella, Louisa Amelia and Lucinda.

Deceased was always a kind and loving son and brother. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He also was a very industrious young man.

The funeral was held yesterday, Friday morning, at 10 o'clock from the Ev. Peace church with interment in the congregation's cemetery. Rev. Mohme officiated.

The STATESMAN extends to the bereaved family its deep heartfelt sympathy.

Narrowly Escapes Death by Drowning.

Last Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock while skating on the local mill pond with a number of other boys, Fred Mohme, aged 10 years, second oldest son of Rev. and Mrs. Mohme of this village, was unfortunate in breaking through the ice which nearly cost his life. He was saved only by the prompt arrival of Rev. Greve, who from his home heard the boys crying for help. The Rev. did not arrive any too soon on the scene as Master Mohme was nearly all fatigued from the efforts of trying to save himself.

Lent Begins March 1; Easter is on April 16.

Lent comes in with March this year for Ash Wednesday in March 1, and Easter will be April 16. This covers a period of forty-six days, exclusive of Easter, which is not a part of Lent. On the face this does not look right as Lent has but forty days, but when it is considered that Sundays are in Lent but not of Lent, but are counted as feast days, and as the period between March 1 and April 16 contains six Sundays, the count comes right.

Columbus, Wis., Leads in Xmas Seal Sale.

Columbus was leader in the 1910 Red Cross Christmas Campaign in Wisconsin, making a per capita sale of 25.33 seals and winning the $350 Henning Piano donated by the F. G. Smith Piano Company, Milwaukee, to the city of more than 2,000 population making the greatest per capita sale.

Kenosha won the open air school offered to cities of 15,000 or more population with a per capita sale of 5.981, Madison being second with 4.88 and Eau Claire third with 4.33.

Announcement of these prizes awards was made here today by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Several cities failed to get their returns into the Milwaukee office by six o'clock on Jan. 11th, as provided in the contest rules. A noticeable example of this was Beloit, with the remarkable sale of 9.781 per capita, easily leading cities of its class. Returns were received by telegraph more than an hour after the closing time, delay being due to illness in the Beloit managers' family. A committee was appointed to decide this and other features of the contest. It voted to disallow Beloit's claim and awarded the prizes as given below.

Beloit therefore lost a drinking fountain, eleven of which were given at prizes by J. B. Clow & Son, Chicago, and a month's services of a visiting nurse. Glidden, which was just over the time limit, easily won in the Tenth district, but also was thrown out. A friend of the association, however, has agreed to give a fountain to Beloit and one to Glidden, and the contest committee recommended that the association send Beloit a visiting nurse for one month.

While final reports are not in there is no doubt but that Wisconsin again made a record breaking sale and again leads the world in the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign.

Maybe some people prefer ragtime and organized cheering because it drowns the other kind of music.

If those who indulge in organized cheering do not enjoy it they think they do, which is much the same.

OIL TRUST TURNS

"POISON" FEATURE IS BASIS

Article in Hampton's by Cleveland Moffett Wounds and Redress in Court is Sought—First Time Company Carried Troubles to Court.

New York.—The Standard Oil company has had a lot of unpleasant things said about it one time or another, as John D. Archbold once pointed out in a magazine article, but it has never taken its troubles to court until now, and when summonses have been obtained in the United States circuit court in the suits for damages brought by the Standard Oil company against the Broadway Magazine company, publishers of Hampton's Magazine, and Cleveland Moffett, author of the alleged libelous article which caused the company to turn.

Mr. Moffett pointed out that glucose is used in candy making and added that the agents of Standard Oil in eastern Pennsylvania and lower New Jersey "had been arrested, brought into court, branded as deliberate poisoners of little children."

That sentence about the poisoning of little children hurt, and the smarting of the wound wasn't soothed any by the stream of clippings from the article which began to come in every mail to the Standard Oil office at 26 Broadway. It is said that copies of the article were also received by many of the officers of the corporation.

The result was that the corporation broke its rule and began suit for $250,000 against Hampton's and for $100,000 against Moffett.

Before starting the suit Martin Carey, attorney for the company, and J. I. C. Clark, its press representative, called upon Hampton's to retract. They denied that Standard Oil is interested in glucose or that the men referred to in Mr. Moffett's article as having been "branded as deliberate poisoners of little children" were representatives of Standard Oil. Mr. Moffett was present when the Standard Oil representatives made the demand, and after consulting with him Benjamin B. Hampton, editor of the magazine, decided to stand pat.

The article called "Cassidy and the Food Poisoners" deals with the campaign for the enforcement of the pure food laws made by Harry P. Cassidy, a food inspector in Philadelphia.

In the papers upon which the summonses were obtained by Shearman and Sterling of 65 Wall street, attorneys for the Standard Oil company in this case, it is set forth that "on or about January 19, 1911, the defendant recklessly and maliciously published in the February issue of the magazine the false, unfair, libelous and defamatory matter following."

At this point there is inserted in the papers the portion of Mr. Moffett's article referring to the Standard Oil under the subhead of "The Standard Oil and Poisoned Candy."

TARIFF BOARD WINS IN HOUSE

Unamended President's Bill Passes, 186 to 93.—New Body Supersedes Sundry Civil Commission.

Washington.—The house passed the tariff board bill, unamended, at a night session Monday by a vote of 186 to 93. It was evident early the bill would pass, but the final vote was delayed by Democratic efforts to amend the measure.

The bill creates a board in lieu of the present board, which is a creature of a provision of the sundry civil appropriation bill and which will expire by its own limitation June 30. The board is to consist of five members, not more than three of whom shall be of the same political party. The term of office shall be six years each, to be designated by the president. He will also name one of the members as chairman. The salaries are $7,500 annually for the chairman and $7,000 each for the other members.

PASSES HARBOR BILL

MEASURE CARRYING $36,000,000 ADOPTED BY SENATE.

Numerous Amendments Sends Act to Conference—National Waterways Commission to Be Continued.

Washington.—After three hours of consideration the senate Tuesday passed the river and harbor bill, carrying appropriations aggregating $36,000,000.

Amendments to the bill provide that $125,000 shall be spent to improve the Illinois and Mississippi canal at a point where it crosses East Bureau creek. The life of the national waterways commission shall be continued to 1913, and it shall report upon the feasibility of a canal from Lake Erie, by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne, Ind., to the southerly end of Lake Michigan.

The original bill having passed the house, consideration of the amendments will be taken up by a conference committee at an early date.

VOTE DOUBLE TRACK TO SEA

Union and Southern Pacific Lines to Make Improvements Costing Upwards of $75,000,000.

New York.—The executive committee of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads Tuesday voted to complete double tracking of the lines from the Missouri river to San Francisco.

They would also double track the Oregon Short Line from the junction with the Union Pacific main line at Granger, Wyo., to Huntington, Ore.; also the line along the Columbia river in Oregon to Portland, a total of 1,373 miles. The cost of the double tracking will aggregate upward of $75,000,000, which will be distributed over a period of five years.

In a statement accompanying the announcement of the project President Robert S. Lovett commented on the reasons which had impelled the roads to reach their decision and declared that present conditions, considered unfavorable to the railroads, were only temporary. He said that by July 1 the lines west of Omaha would have about 630 miles of double track and that experience with the growth of the system's business during the last two years had demonstrated that a continuous double track connecting with the eastern system soon would be necessary to handle the business of the roads.

CONVICT 23 FOR MASSACRE

Survivors of Sinking Haitian Warship Sentenced to Die for Killing Seventy Passengers.

Port au Prince, Haiti.—Twenty-three officers, noncommissioned officers and sailors, survivors of the wreck of the Haitian gunboat Liberte, which sank at sea off Port de Paix last October following an explosion, were tried by a military tribunal. They were charged with mutiny.

They were found guilty of connection with the massacre of the admiral of the Liberte and several Haitian generals who were on board and of burning the boat.

All were condemned to death. Reports of the disaster to the Liberte estimated that seventy persons were killed or drowned. No mention was made in the dispatches of a mutiny.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN IS ILL

Well-Known Catholic Prelate is Said to Be Dying at Philadelphia Home.

Philadelphia.—Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, one of the best-known Roman Catholic prelates in America, is dying at his home in this city of heart failure and the physicians in attendance momentarily expect his death. The rumor that the archbishop has been sick has been prevalent for months.

Dr. Ernest L. Place, who is in attendance, settled all doubt Sunday by declaring the archbishop could not live much longer, that the aged prelate who will be eighty years old on February 20, should be live, knows that he cannot live much longer, and is perfectly resigned.

THE NEW BANKER

FRISCO IS WINNER

HOUSE FIXES ON PACIFIC COAST METROPOLIS AS SITE FOR PANAMA SHOW.

WINS BY VOTE OF 259 TO 43

Western City Gains Its Strength From Republicans While Democrats Vote for Southern Contestant—Bill Now Goes to Senate.

Washington.—San Francisco won a signal victory in the house of representatives Tuesday in the fight with New Orleans for the Panama exposition in 1915. The resolution declaring in favor of San Francisco was passed by a vote of 259 to 43. The house first voted to take up the resolution favoring San Francisco.

While the resolution must be passed by the senate before the struggle is ended, it is generally believed now that the contest was good as settled and that San Francisco will be the final victor.

San Francisco's strength came almost wholly from the Republican majority in the house, while New Orleans was favored by the Democrats.

San Francisco scored its first victory when the house voted, 188 to 169, to take up the San Francisco proposition ahead of that for a New Orleans exposition.

The San Francisco proposition is contained in a joint resolution which simply asks government recognition of the exposition and inviting foreign nations to participate.

The New Orleans measure is a house bill asking recognition by the government, an invitation to foreign nations to participate and calling for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for a government exhibit.

The advocates of San Francisco led the debate with twenty minutes, New Orleans followed with thirty, and San Francisco closed with ten minutes.

Most of the San Francisco speeches were limited to two minutes and the debate had not progressed far when it was seen that party lines were not to be strictly drawn.

Enthusiastic demonstration from the Democratic side of the house greeted Mr. Rodenberg of Illinois when he arose to present the New Orleans argument.

Mr. Rodenberg in a half hour's speech declared that the New Orleans exposition would develop South and Central American trade and benefit American producers and manufacturers more than any other exposition.

TIDAL WAVE KILLS 300

FIVE VILLAGES DESTROYED IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Disturbance Follows Eruption of Mount Taal—Manila Natives Alarmed—Luzon in Panic.

Manila.—An American school teacher who has traversed the west shore of Lake Taal telegraphed Monday that five villages have been destroyed by a tidal wave and that not less than 400 persons have been killed in that vicinity. Many were burned in fires started by molten masses.

The disaster is due to an eruption of the volcano Taal, in Batangas province.

All the towns within a radius of fully 20 miles have suffered damage from the rain of mud and stones, which still continues.

The native population in all directions are abandoning their villages and fleeing to the hills in terror.

The observatory authorities believe that Manila is in no danger, but there is some alarm among the natives, who recall the destruction caused by Mount Mayon, the other volcano of Luzon, in 1897.

TAX AUTOS OF PRESIDENT

Maryland Authorities Ask for Regular Registration Fee on Taft's Four Cars.

Washington.—Because Charles D. Norton, secretary to President Taft, recently wrote to John E. George, Maryland's automobile commissioner, applying for licenses for Mr. Taft's motor cars, but failed to enclose a check to pay for the same, Mr. George replied that he would send the licenses as soon as he had the money.

The comptroller of the treasury recently decided that neither the District of Columbia nor the states could tax government automobiles, but the White House has been paying licenses in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, over which the president rides.

THE SCHOOLS OF WESTERN CANADA

In Some of the Cities and Towns the School Buildings Cannot Accommodate the Increasing Numbers.

One of the most important factors in the building of a new country is the attention that is paid by the authorities to the education of the rising generation. Fortunately for western Canada, the settlement of that new country began in such recent years that it was able to lay a foundation for this work, gained by the experience of older countries. In this way the very best is the result. Throughout the entire country are to be seen the most improved style of architecture in school buildings. The cities and towns vie with each other in the efforts to secure the best of accommodation and at the same time get architectural lines that would appeal. Sufficient to say that nowhere is there the greater attention paid to elementary and advanced education than in western Canada. A report just to hand shows that in Calgary, Alberta, there are eighty teachers employed, and the enrollment 4,228 pupils. In the Province of Alberta there was a total of 46,000 pupils attending schools in 1909. The total enrollment for the year in city, town and village schools was 22,883, and the total in rural schools was 23,166. There are in the province 970 schools with 1,323 departments. At the close of 1909 there was a total of 1,096 school districts in the province. Great attention is paid also to agricultural education. The best uses of the soil and such other matters as tend to make the agriculture less of a drudge and more of a success are employed. When there is the combination of good soil, splendid climate and healthy and advanced ideas in the methods employed in agriculture, we see accomplished the results that have placed western Canada on its present high plane in the agricultural world. There is to be found men of high standing in literary spheres as well as in financial circles who are carrying on farming, not alone for the pleasure they derive but for the profit they secure. Mr. Adler, a wide-awake business man of New York, has a ranch near Strathmore, Alberta. He is highly pleased with his success the past year. He says:

"On July 25th we estimated our crop at 6,000 bushels of wheat. A week later we increased our estimate to 12,000 bushels. A few days later we again increased our estimate, this time to 18,000 bushels, but after harvest in September we found we had 20,150 bushels. If that isn't a record, what is?" he asked.

"This crop was made with practically no moisture," he continued, "and we now have a better opinion of the fertility of Alberta lands than ever and value our lands higher than we ever did before."

Mr. Adler, who has been on the ranch for about a week, leaves for New York Saturday.

This gentleman is conducting a farm on a large scale, and has plenty of means to develop it, and his may not be taken as a fair case. There are, though, instances of thousands who have begun life on small farms in western Canada with but brains and the determination over and above the couple of hundred dollars in ready money that they possessed, and today are owners of large farms and handsome incomes, all the result of their efforts on land that was responsive to the touch of the hand that held the plow. Instances such as these can be quoted if you will communicate with the nearest Canadian government agent, who will also mail you free descriptive literature.

PROPOSE NEW WAY TO FIX BOUNDARY

SUGGESTED THAT WISCONSIN AND MINNESOTA LEGISLATURES END DISPUTE.

ASK SPECIAL COMMITTEES

Attorney Generals of Both States Request Governors to Take Necessary Action—Controversy Is of Long Standing.

Madison.—Attorney General Baneroff has recommended to Gov. McGovern that the boundary line dispute between Wisconsin and Minnesota be settled by an amicable agreement by the legislatures of the two states. The suggestion will be followed and the Wisconsin legislature will be asked to appoint a special committee to confer with a similar committee of the Minnesota legislature and recommend a settlement.

Attorney General George D. Simpson of Minnesota has agreed to ask Gov. Eberfeldt to make a similar recommendation to the legislature of the Gopher state. If the settlement reached is approved by the legislatures of the two states congress will be memorialized to establish the line as agreed on.

Only that portion of the boundary line lying in Lake Pepin and the St. Louis river is in dispute. A friendly suit is now pending in the United States Supreme court to determine the boundary line between the two states. This will be continued until it is found how the new plan of settlement works out.

Wisconsin claims that the portion of the boundary line in Lake Pepin is in the center of the channel, which is close to the Minnesota shore, while Minnesota claims it is in the center of the lake.

Wisconsin claims that the boundary line in the St. Louis river is in the center of the river as that stream flowed in 1846. Minnesota claims that it is midway between the dock lines established by the United States government.

Because officers of both states have attempted to exercise authority to the boundary lines claimed by them many conflicts and suits have resulted. The right to tax valuable docks and other property along the St. Louis river and the authority of the Wisconsin state railroad commission over railroad property along the river also is involved.

Speaker Ingram, who represents the district comprising that part of Lake Pepin which lies in Wisconsin, has gone on record as opposed to the plan advocated by the attorney general. He maintains that Wisconsin has nothing to concede in the dispute.

PROBING COMMITTEE NAMED

Governor Appoints Legislators to Investigate Wisconsin Penal and Charitable Institutions.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has appointed as members of the joint committee to visit the state charitable and penal institutions and report on their needs to the governor and the legislature: Senators John M. True of Baraboo and Howard Teasdale of Sparta, and Assemblymen C. A. Harper of Madison, David Schreiner of Lancaster, Christian Pickart of Malone and Fred Brockhausen of Milwaukee. They are all republicans except Pickart, who is a democrat, and Mr. Brockhausen, who is a social democrat. Under a law passed by the legislature two years ago this committee must consist of one senator and two assemblymen from each of the joint committees on finance and claims and on charitable and penal institutions.

FOR NEW ELECTION METHOD

Introduction of Martin Bill in Legislature Opens Fight of the National Progressive Republican League.

Madison.—Senator Martin's election bills came into the senate as the first guns in the battle announced by the National Progressive Republican league. The ballot names the candidates for whom the delegates are to vote. The other bill relates to non-partisan nominating primaries.

SUED FOR AN ACCOUNTING

Van Nortwick Estate Asked in Appleton Court to Turn Over $265,000 in Telephone Securities.

Appleton.—Separate suits have been filed in the Outagamie county court in probate against the estate of the late John S. Van Nortwick, millionaire paper manufacturer, by Capt. John M. Baer, David Reese and the estate of the late John McNaughton, to determine the right of possession of $265,000 worth of stock and bonds of the Fox River Valley Telephone and Telegraph company, of which Mr. Van Nortwick was the head.

It is alleged in the suits that when the Appleton and Green Bay Independent Telephone companies were merged into the Fox River Valley company, the Appleton owners were given $125,000 in bonds and $140,000 in stock in the merged company, and that Mr. Van Nortwick retained possession of these bonds and stock.

The estate claims that the old Appleton company was indebted to J. S. Van Nortwick to an amount equal to the stock and bonds and that the other stockholders, therefore, were not entitled to any share of them.

BERGER STAYS ON COUNCIL

Milwaukee Congressman Elect Will Not Qualify for New Office Until Disposal of City Legislation.

Milwaukee.—Alderman Victor Berger, congressman-elect from the Fifth district will continue his present official capacity until he completes his work as chairman of the council committee on legislation, which probably will be in May. At that time he expects to qualify for congress.

"I have no intention of resigning from the council until I have completed my work on Milwaukee bills before the legislature," he said. "There are many bills which need attention from the council, and as chairman of the legislative committee, I consider it my duty to continue as alderman until all have been disposed of one way or the other."

As alderman he is entitled to a salary of $83.33 a month, but as congressman his salary will be $625 for the same period.

PLAN FOR $1,000,000 PARK

Preliminary Work to Gigantic Undertaking Begun by Socialist Government of Milwaukee.

Milwaukee.—A public park with an uninterrupted water frontage of six miles along the picturesque Milwaukee river is the plan of the city council as outlined in a measure introduced before that body by Alderman Victor L. Berger. The estimated cost of the park is $1,050,000, and options on much of the land in the proposed tract have already been secured. It is said that the socialist party, which controls the city government, is united upon the project as a crowning triumph of their administration.

LEAGUE LOSES IN TEST CASE

Waukesha Billiard Hall Proprietor, Charged With Violating Sunday Closing Law, Is Acquitted.

Perkins, proprietor of a pool and billiard hall, who was arrested on a charge of keeping his place of business open on Sunday, in violation of the state law, and whose case was made a test case by the Law and Order league, which has been attempting to make Waukesha a "tight" town on Sunday, was found not guilty by a jury. This would indicate that the league's campaign has been a failure. It is reported that the saloons of the city, which have been closed here on Sunday for some time, will taken advantage of this opportunity to reopen.

ROADS TO PAY $3,196,661.64

Tax Commission's Assessment for 1910 Shows $13,869,000 Increase in Valuation of Wisconsin Lines.

Madison, Wis.—The tax commission's figures on the railroads in the state give an increased valuation over 1910 of $13,869,000, and an assessment over last year of $134,257. The average rate of $11.17 a thousand is lower than last year, but the increase in valuation brings the total tax to a considerably higher figure.

Notable valuation increases are in the North-Western and Soo roads, the latter increase being caused by its acquisition of the Wisconsin Central.

DEATH OF JUDGE BASHFORD

Former State Supreme Court Justice Succumbs to Heart Trouble After Illness of Five Months.

Madison.—Judge Robert M. Bashford, aged 65 years, died at his home here of dilation of the heart. He had been ill about six months. A wife and one child, Mrs. Florence Spensley survive.

Judge Bashford was born in Fayette county, Wis., Dec. 31, 1845. After leaving the common schools he entered the university and was graduated from the law school in 1871. After his graduation he did not begin practice immediately, but for five years was connected with the Madison Democrat. He was private secretary for former Gov. Taylor and in 1878 assisted in the compilation of the revised statutes of Wisconsin.

In 1876 he began the practice of law. He was city attorney of Madison from 1881 to 1886. Mr. Bashford was elected mayor in 1890, and during his term an investigation was made against several of the city officials which resulted in their removal. He served as a state senator from 1891 to 1895, and in 1884 was a delegate to the democratic national convention in Chicago. After the death of J. E. Cassoday he was appointed to the Supreme court of Wisconsin in 1908 by Gov. Davidson. At the following primary he was defeated by Joseph Barnes. His service on the bench therefor lasted about a year.

For many years he was a member of the law faculty of the University of Wisconsin and was one of the lawyers employed by Gov. La Follette in the famous convention cases started by S. A. Cook in 1904.

A Corner in Candles.

As an example of trusts and monopolies prevalent even in that early day it may be mentioned that in 1750 one Benjamin Crabb obtained the exclusive right to make sperm candles in Massachusetts for 14 years.

A year later, however, a factory was started in Providence, R. I., and within the decade there were eight factories in New England and one in Philadelphia. Their output greatly reduced the price of candles, which not long before sold for five shillings a pound. In those days $1.25 was worth fully three times as much as it is now.—From the Designer.

The Latest Golf Story.

Two Scotchmen met and exchanged the small talk appropriate to the hour. As they were parting to go supperward, Sandy said to Jock:

"Jock, mon, I'll go ye a round on the links in the mornn."

"Aye, mon, the mornn," said Sandy. "I'll go ye a round on the links the mornn."

"Aye weel," said Sandy. "I'll go ye. But I had intended to get married in the mornn."

EASY CHANGE

When Coffee Is Doing Harm.

A lady writes from the land of cotton of the results of a four years' use of the food beverage—hot Postum.

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I myself suffered almost death from indigestion and nervousness caused by it.

"I know it was that, because when I would leave it off for a few days I would feel better. But it was hard to give it up, even though I realized how harmful it was to me.

"At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum, and I also influenced the rest of the family to do the same. Even the children are allowed to drink it freely as they do water. And it has done us all great good.

"I no longer suffer from indigestion, and my nerves are in admirable tone since I began to use Postum. We never use the old coffee any more.

"We appreciate Postum as a delightful and healthful beverage, which not only invigorates but supplies the best of nourishment as well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SYNOPSIS.

Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburg with the forged notes in the Bronson case to get the deposition of John Gilmore, millionaire. A lady requests Blakeley to buy her a Pullman ticket. He gives her lower 10 and retains lower 10. He finds a drunken man in lower 10 and retires in lower 9. He awakens in lower 7 and finds his clothes and bag missing. Circumstantial evidence points to both Blakeley and the man who stole his clothes. The train is wrecked and Blakeley is rescued from a burning car by a girl in blue. His arm is broken. The girl proves to be Alison West, his partner's sweetheart. Blakeley returns home and finds he is under surveillance. Moving pictures of the train taken just before the wreck reveal to Blakeley a man leaping from the train with his stolen grip. Investigation proves that the man's name is Sullivan. Mrs. Conway, the woman for whom Blakeley bought a Pullman ticket, tries to make a bargain with him for the forged notes, not knowing that they are missing. Blakeley and an amateur detective investigate the home of Sullivan's sister. From a servant Blakeley learns that Alison West had been there on a visit and Sullivan had been attentive to her. Sullivan is the husband of a daughter of the murdered man. Blakeley's house is ransacked by the police. He learns that the affair between Alison and his partner is off. Alison tells Blakeley about the attention paid her by Sullivan, whom she was on her way to marry when the wreck came. It is planned to give Mrs. Conway the forged notes in exchange for Sullivan. Mrs. Conway kills herself and Bronson, and the ashes of the forged notes are found in the room.

"When did you find it?" asked the lean detective, bending forward.

"In the morning, not long before the wreck."

"Did you ever see it before?"

"I am not certain," she replied. "I have seen one very much like it." Her tone was troubled. She glanced at me as if for help, but I was powerless.

"Where?" The detective was watching her closely.

At that moment there came an interruption. The door opened without ceremony, and Johnson ushered in a tall, blonde man, a stranger to all of us. I glanced at Alison; she was pale but composed and scornful. She met the newcomer's eyes full, and, caught unawares, he took a hasty backward step.

"Sit down, Mr. Sullivan," McKnight beamed cordially. "Have a cigar? I beg your pardon, Allison, do you mind this smoke?"

"Not at all," she said composedly. Sullivan had had a second to sound his bearings.

"No—no, thanks," he mumbled. "If you will be good enough to explain—"

"But that's what you're to do," McKnight said cheerfully, pulling up a chair. "You've got the most attentive audience you could ask. These two gentlemen are detectives from Pittsburg, and we are all curious to know the finer details of what happened on the car Ontario two weeks ago, the night your father-in-law was murdered."

"Sullivan gripped the arms of his chair. "We are not prejudiced, either. The gentlemen from Pittsburg are betting on Mr. Blakeley, over there. Mr. Hotchkiss, the gentleman by the radiator, is ready to place ten to one odds on you. And some of us have still other theories."

"Gentlemen," Sullivan said slowly, "I give you my word of honor that I did not kill Simon Harrington, and that I do not know who did."

"Fiddledee!" cried Hotchkiss, bustling forward. "Why, I can tell you—"

"I am ready to plead guilty to the larceny," Sullivan went on. "I took Mr. Blakeley's clothes, I admit. If I can reimburse him in any way for the inconvenience—"

The stout detective was listening with his mouth open. "Do you mean to say," he demanded, "that you got into Mr. Blakeley's berth, as he contends, took his clothes and forged notes, and left the train before the wreck?"

"Yes."

"The notes, then?"

"I gave them to Bronson yesterday. Much good they did him!" bitterly. We were all silent for a moment. The two detectives were adjusting themselves with difficulty to a new point of view. Sullivan was looking dejectedly at the floor, his hands hanging loose between his knees. I was watching Alison, from where I stood, behind her, I could almost touch the soft hair behind her ear.

"I have no intention of pressing any charge against you," I said with forced civility, for my hands were itching to get at him, "if you will give us a clear account of what happened on the Ontario that night."

Sullivan raised his handsome, haggard head and looked around at me. "I've seen you before, haven't I?" he asked. "Weren't you an uninvited guest at the Laurels a few days—or nights—ago? The cat, you remember, and the rug that slipped?"

"I remember," I said shortly. He glanced from me to Alison and quickly away.

"The truth can't hurt me," he said, "but it's devilish unpleasant. Alison, you know all this. You would better go out."

His use of her name crazed me. I stepped in front of her and stood over him. "You will not bring Miss West into the conversation," I threatened, "and she will stay if she wishes."

The MAN in LOWER TEN

Johnson ushered in a Tall Blonde Man, a Stranger to All of Us.

"Oh, very well," he said with assumed indifference.

Hotchkiss just then escaped from Richey's grasp and crossed the room.

"Did you ever wear glasses?" he asked eagerly.

"Never," Sullivan glanced with some contempt at mine.

"I'd better begin by going back a little," he went on sullenly. "I suppose you know I was married to Ida Harrington about five years ago. She was a good girl, and I thought a lot of her. But her father opposed the marriage—he'd never liked me, and he refused to make any sort of settlement."

"I had thought, of course, that there would be money, and it was a bad day when I found out I'd made a mistake. My sister was wild with disappointment. We were pretty hard up, my sister and I."

I was watching Alison. Her hands were tightly clasped in her lap, and she was staring out of the window at the cheerless roof below. She had set her lips a little, but that was all.

"You understand, of course, that I'm not defending myself," went on the sullen voice. "The day came when old Harrington put us both out of the house at the point of a revolver, and I threatened—I suppose you know that, too—I threatened to kill him."

"My sister and I had hard times after that. We lived on the continent for a while. I was at Monte Carlo and she was in Italy. She met a young lady there, the granddaughter of a steel manufacturer and an heiress, and she sent for me. When I got to Rome the girl was gone. Last winter I was all in—social secretary to an Englishman, a wholesale grocer with a new title, but we had a row, and I came home. I went out to the Heaton boys' ranch in Wyoming, and met Bronson there. He lent me money, and I've been doing his dirty work ever since."

Sullivan got up then and walked slowly forward and back as he talked, his eyes on the faded pattern of the office rug.

"If you want to live in hell," he said savagely, "put yourself in another man's power. Bronson got into trouble, forging John Gilmore's name to those notes, and in some way he learned that a man was bringing the papers back to Washington on the Flier. He even learned the number of his berth, and the night before the wreck, just as I was boarding the train, I got a telegram."

Hotchkiss stepped forward once more importantly.

"Which read, I think: 'Man with papers in lower ten, car seven. Get them.'"

Sullivan looked at the little man with sulky blue eyes.

"It was something like that, anyhow. But it was a nasty business, and it made matters worse that he didn't care that a telegram which must pass through a half dozen hands was more or less incriminating to me."

"Then, to add to the unpleasantness of my position, just after we boarded the train—I was accompanying my sister and this young lady, Miss West—a woman touched me on the sleeve, and I turned to face—my wife!"

"That took away my last bit of nerve. I told my sister, and you can understand she was in a bad way, too. We knew what it meant. Ida had heard that I was going—"

He stopped and glanced uneasily at Alison.

"Go on," she said coldly. "It is too late to shield me. The time to have done that was when I was your guest."

"Well," he went on, his eyes turned carefully away from my face, which must have presented certainly anything but a pleasant sight. "Miss West was going to do me the honor to marry me, and—"

"You scoundrel!" I burst forth, thrusting past Alison West's chair. "You—you infernal cur!"

One of the detectives got up and stood between us.

"You must remember, Mr. Blakeley, that you are forcing this story from this man. These details are unpleasant, but important. You were going to marry this young lady," he said, turning to Sullivan, "although you already had a wife living?"

"It was my sister's plan, and I was in a bad way for money. If I could marry, secretly, a wealthy girl and go to Europe, it was unlikely that Ida—that is, Mrs. Sullivan—would hear of it."

"So it was more than a shock to see my wife on the train, and to realize from her face that she knew what was going on. I don't know yet, unless some of the servants—well, never mind that."

"It meant that the whole thing had gone up. Old Harrington had carried a gun for me for years, and the same train wouldn't hold both of us. Of course, I thought that he was in the coach just behind ours."

Sullivan stopped in surprise.

"No," he said gruffly. "Can't do anything with my left hand." Hotchkiss subsided, crestfallen but alert.

"I tore up that cursed telegram, but I was afraid to throw the scraps away. Then I looked around for lower ten. It was almost exactly across—my berth was lower seven, and it was, of course, a bit of exceptional luck for me that the car was number seven."

"Did you tell your sister of the telegram from Bronson?" I asked.

"No. It would do no good, and she was in a bad way without that to make her worse."

"Your sister was killed, I think?" The shorter detective took a small package from his pocket and held it in his hand, snapping the rubber band which held it.

"Yes, she was killed," Sullivan said soberly. "What I say now can do her no harm."

He stopped to push back the heavy hair which dropped over his forehead, and went on more connectedly.

"It was late, after midnight, and we went at once to our berths. I undressed, and then I lay there for an hour, wondering how I was going to get the notes. Some one in lower nine was restless and wide awake, but finally became quiet."

"The man in ten was sleeping heavily. I could hear his breathing, and it seemed to be only a question of getting across and behind the curtains of his berth without being seen. After that, it was a mere matter of quiet searching."

"The car became very still. I was about to try for the other berth, when some one brushed softly past, and I lay back again."

"Finally, however, when things had been quiet for a time, I got up, and after looking along the aisle, I slipped behind the curtains of lower ten. You understand, Mr. Blakeley, that I thought you were in lower ten, with the notes."

I nodded curtly.

"I'm not trying to defend myself," he went on. "I was ready to steal the notes—I had to. But murder!"

He wiped his forehead with his handkerchief.

"Well, I slipped across and behind the curtains. It was very still. The man in ten didn't move, although my heart was thumping until I thought he would hear it."

"I felt around cautiously. It was perfectly dark, and I came across a bit of chain, about as long as my finger. It seemed a queer thing to find there, and it was sticky, too."

He shuddered, and I could see Alison's hands clenching and unclenching with the strain.

"All at once it struck me that the man was strangely silent, and I think I lost my nerve. Anyhow, I drew the curtains open a little, and let the light fall on my hands. They were red, blood-red."

He leaned one hand on the back of the chair, and was silent for a moment, as though he lived over again the awful events of that more than awful night.

The stout detective had let his cigar go out; he was still drawing at it nervously. Richey had picked up a paper-weight and was tossing it from hand to hand; when it slipped and fell to the floor, a startled shudder passed through the room.

"There was something glittering in there," Sullivan resumed, "and on impulse I picked it up. Then I dropped the curtains and stumbled back to my own berth."

"Where you wiped your hands on the bed clothing and stuck the dirk into the pillow." Hotchkiss was seeing his carefully built structure crumbling to pieces, and he looked chagrined.

"I suppose I did—I'm not very clear about what happened then. But when I rallied a little I saw a Russia leather wallet lying in the aisle almost at my feet, and, like a fool, I stuck it, with the bit of chain, into my bag."

"I sat there, shivering, for what seemed hours. It was still perfectly quiet, except for some one snoring. I thought that would drive me crazy."

"The more I thought of it the worse things looked. The telegram was the first thing against me—it would put the police on my track at once, when it was discovered that the man in lower ten had been killed."

"Then I remembered the notes, and I took out the wallet and opened it."

He stopped for a minute, as if the recalling of the next occurrence was almost beyond him.

"I took out the wallet," he said simply, "and, opening it, held it to the light. In gilt letters was the name, Simon Harrington."

The detectives were leaning forward now, their eyes on his face.

"Things seemed to whirl around for a while. I sat there almost paralyzed, wondering what this new development meant for me."

"Do you believe me now?" He looked around at us defiantly. "I am telling the absolute truth, and not one of you believes me!"

"My wife, I knew, would swear I had killed her father; nobody would be likely to believe the truth."

"After a bit the man in lower nine got up and walked along the aisle toward the smoking compartment. I heard him go, and, leaning from my berth, watched him out of sight."

"It was then I got the idea of changing berths with him, getting his clothes, and leaving the train. I give you my word I had no idea of throwing suspicion on him."

Alison looked scornfully incredulous, but I felt that the man was telling the truth.

"I changed the numbers of the berths, and it worked well. I got into the other man's berth, and he came back to mine. The rest was easy. I dressed in his clothes—luckily, they fitted—and jumped the train not far from Baltimore, just before the wreck."

"There is something else you must clear up," I said. "Why did you try to telephone me from M—, and why did you change your mind about the message?"

He looked astounded.

"You knew I was at M—?" he stammered.

"Yes, we traced you. What about the message?"

"Well, it was this way; of course, I did not know your name, Mr. Blakeley. The telegram said: 'Man with papers in lower ten, car seven,' and after I had made what I considered my escape, I began to think I had left the man in my berth in a bad way."

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl!"

—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

Was Taking No Chances.

An amusing incident occurred a few days ago outside Maranz, Austria. A cow strayed from the pasturage and came within reach of the fort. The officer in command suspected the presence of an automatic photographic apparatus, and had the beast seized and closely examined and when he found nothing to justify his suspicions he turned the animal loose again, under the observation of two of his men, charged with the duty of following the suspected home to ascertain whether her owner was an Italian spy.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

MURDER AT MONROE

CIGARMAKER SHOTS SALOON-KEEPER WHEN LATTER REFUSES HIM LIQUOR.

SLAYER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

After Killing Fred Leicht, George Bercey, a Cuban, Turns Weapon Upon Himself—Will Probably Recover, Say Physicians.

Monroe.—Because Fred Leicht, a German saloonkeeper, would not give him a drink, George Bercey, a Cuban cigar maker, murdered him. After firing the fatal shot the murderer stepped out on the sidewalk and sent two bullets into his own breast in an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide. He is now under arrest.

Bercey entered Leicht's place of business and was told he could not be served. He walked to the rear of the saloon, and returning suddenly, placed a .32 caliber revolver against the unsuspecting Leicht's breast and pulled the trigger. Leicht was killed instantly.

While the only other occupant of the saloon dashed into the street to give the alarm, Bercey walked to the front door and placing the revolver against his own breast, shot twice. One bullet just missed his heart while the other lodged under his shoulder blade. Physicians state that unless his wounds become infected he will recover.

Bercey is about 43 years old and is married. His victim, who was formerly a cheesemaker and at one time lived in Janesville, is 53 years old and is survived by a wife and four children.

LICENSE POWER IS AT STAKE

Committee of Three to Handle Saloon Permits If Bill Becomes Law—Important Excise Measures Up.

Madison.—Adding to the list of important excise measures already proposed, Assemblyman F. W. Draper, Neillsville, proposed a measure to take away from city councils the power to grant liquor license and to place it in the hands of a committee of three, elected by the county board of supervisors.

The committee, known as the excise committee, is limited to a term of one year, with no reappointment. Its licenses must be granted under the supervision of the county board. Two limitations in the bill are that no license shall be granted within 2 1/2 miles of the Veterans' home, Farmington, and that no license may be issued to any person known to be an owner of a disorderly resort.

A companion bill will follow this one soon, to require payment of 50 per cent of all license fees to the county, instead of the city.

In the senate, Senator Teasdale introduced a bill to give all license money from the saloon to the fund for the support of the poor.

SHOW A STEADY INCREASE

Report Shows Receipts of State Insurance Department Are Growing Substantially.

Madison.—Revenues of the insurance department show a substantial increase over last year, according to Insurance Commissioner H. L. Ekern, who issued this statement:

"The receipts of the insurance department for the month of January amount to $35,335.57, of which all but $344.91, paid by the Guardian Life Insurance company, comes from fire companies. The payments of nearly all the companies show a substantial increase and it is certain that the revenues will exceed the aggregate of $728,472.75 collected by the department during the past year. On all of this, the increase goes directly to benefit the state treasury, with the sole exception of the fire marshal tax, amounting last year to $29,311.03, which is set apart solely for the fire marshal's department."

Threshermen Want Better Roads.

Fond du Lac.—A special meeting of the Wisconsin Brotherhood of Threshermen will be held here March 1 and 2. About 400 delegates are expected. The purpose is to discuss plans for the betterment of roads and bridges and to promote county organizations.

Plumber Attempts Suicide.

Oshkosh.—Locking himself in the plumbing shop, David W. Richards attempted suicide by shooting. He has small chance for recovery.

Killed in Chair Factory.

Sheboygan.—While attempting to run a board through a rip saw at the Crocker chair factory here, Julius Riemer, aged 50, was fatally injured when the board flew out of the machine, and died later.

Miss Waters Appointed Regent.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has officially appointed Miss Elizabeth Waters of Fond du Lac a member of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin.

Racine.—The plant of the Reliance Engine and Iron company has been purchased by a La Crosse syndicate and will be removed from here.

News Notes of Wisconsin

Kenosha.—John Nashinski, a tinner, 29 years of age, was fatally injured here when he fell twenty-six feet from the skylight of the new building of the Kenosha Crib company. His skull was fractured.

Portage.—Mrs. Lizzie Meyers jumped from a Milwaukee passenger train between Rio and Portage while the train was in full motion and was fatally injured. She was being taken from a Milwaukee sanitarium to her home near Rockland.

Racine.—While delirious, R. C. Grover, aged 36, proprietor of a local hotel, leaped from a second story window of St. Mary's hospital and ran several miles before being captured. Pneumonia, contracted from exposure, caused his death.

Jefferson.—John Buckley, a trusted prisoner in the county jail, and John Lindquist, wanted by the Milwaukee police for forgery, escaped from the county jail in this city. Buckley was to be tried in February for larceny committed in Lake Mills.

Eau Claire.—In a test case brought by a special license agent against the Greenbaum company on charge of conducting a fire sale without a license because they had changed their name to the American Salvage company during the sale, Judge McBain in municipal court found no cause for action and dismissed the case.

Madison.—According to a new rule in the registrar's office, university students will be required to register, make their election of studies and pay their fees before leaving for home at the close of the first semester. This is deemed necessary to prevent students from returning late to begin the second semester's work.

Manitowoc.—The death of Jacob Brey, Jr., has halted the prolonged litigation over his refusal to contribute to the support of his aged father, from whom he is alleged to have received a farm years ago. Brey pleaded inability, despite the fact that he is said to possess an estate of $10,000 to $12,000. The aged Brey, Sr., claimed to have been robbed of $4,000 he received from his son in release of a bond for maintenance given in exchange for the farm, and was left penniless and ill at 80 years.

Marinette.—Feb. 24 is a day that never passes in the family of Charles Wills of Pound but what Wills is slightly expectant. The reason is that three children of different ages in the Wills family were all born on Feb. 24. The interesting facts were elicited when Wills made application for citizenship papers. The children's birthdays are as follows: John, Feb. 24, 1896; William, Feb. 20, 1897; Emil, Nov. 14, 1898; Minnie, Feb. 24, 1901; Fred, Feb. 25, 1903; Paul, June 4, 1905; Edna, Feb. 24, 1907. The week of Feb. 20, in the Wills family, is given over almost exclusively to birthday observances.

Beloit.—Dr. George L. Collie, dean and professor of geology at Beloit college, will return from a globe circling trip on February 14. He was last heard from at Manila. From there he left for Australia, New Zealand and the Fiji Islands. The greatest feat of Dr. Collie's journey was the crossing of the continent of Africa on foot in November and December.

ECZEMA GONE, BOILS CURED

"My son was about three weeks old when I noticed a breaking-out on his cheeks, from which a watery substance oozed. A short time after, his arms, shoulders and breast broke out also, and in a few days became a solid scab. I became alarmed, and called our family physician, who at once pronounced the disease eczema. The little fellow was under his treatment for about three months. By the end of that time, he seemed no better. I became discouraged, and as I had read the advertisements of Cuticura Remedies and testimonials of a great many people who had used them with wonderful success, I dropped the doctor's treatment, and commenced the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and in a few days noticed a marked change. The eruption on his cheeks was almost healed, and his shoulders, arms and breast were decidedly better. When he was about seven months old all trace of the eczema was gone.

"During his teething period, his head and face were broken out in boils which I cured with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Surely he must have been a great sufferer. During the time of teething and from the time I dropped the doctor's treatment, I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, nothing else, and when two years old he was the picture of health. His complexion was soft and beautiful, and his head a mass of silky curls. I had been afraid that he would never be well, and I feel that I owe a great deal to the Cuticura Remedies."

BLAME PHYSICIANS FOR GROWTH OF DOPE HABIT

Druggists Say Prescriptions and Not Patent Medicines the Cause.

New York.—Blame for the prevalence and growth of the morphine habit was placed on the shoulders of physicians, who prescribed the drug, at a meeting of druggists here tonight to protest against the recently enacted city ordinance prohibiting the sale at retail of any preparation containing morphine or its salts except upon a doctor's prescription.

The ordinance is aimed primarily at paregoric and at stomach remedies, according to members of the board of health who were instrumental in obtaining its passage. Caswell Mayo, one of the druggists, said he had made a canvass by mail of several sanitariums and the replies convinced him 90 per cent of the victims of drugs formed the habit as a result of using prescriptions given by physicians and only 8 per cent from using proprietary medicines.

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism

The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 16 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief. Then I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

BURDENS LIFTED FROM BAD BACKS

Weary is the back that bears the burden of kidney ills. There's no rest or peace for the man or woman who has a bad back. The distress begins in early morning. You feel lame and not refreshed. It's hard to get out of bed. It hurts to stoop to tie your shoes. All day the ache keeps up. Any sudden movement sends sharp twinges through the back. It is torture to stoop and straighten. At night the sufferer retires to toss and twist and groan. Backache is kidney ache—a throbbing, dull aching in the kidneys. Plasters or liniments won't do. You must get at the cause, inside.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE SICK KIDNEYS

COMPLETELY PROSTRATED.

Mrs. Eliza Kirk, 8 Mala St., Spencer, Ind., says: "I had been prostrated with inflammatory rheumatism. My limbs were swollen, hands drawn out of shape and I was so sensitive to pain I had to be turned in sheets. It was surprising how quickly Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and how soon I was cured. For three years my cure has been permanent."

How To Tell When The Kidneys Are Disordered--

Painful Symptoms: Backache, sideache, pains when stooping or lifting, sudden sharp twinges, rheumatic pains, neuralgia, painful, scanty or too frequent urination, dizzy spells, dropsy.

Urinary Symptoms: Discolored or cloudy urine. Urine that contains sediment. Urine that stains the linen. Painful passages. Blood or shreds in the urine. Let a bottle of the morning urine stand for 24 hours. If it shows a cloudy or fleecy settling, or a layer of fine grains, like brick dust, the kidneys are probably disordered.

WEIGHED ONLY 80 POUNDS.

Byron Bennette, 1018 St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool, O., says: "I was helpless in bed with kidney trouble. I ran down until I weighed but 80 pounds and everyone thought I had consumption. A specialist gave me up and so did my home physician. Surprising as it may seem, I was able to leave my bed after using six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and for six years I have remained free from kidney trouble."

By quick work with the hose and water buckets the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.
