UNITED STATES MAIL (ORDER) BAG

THE PARABLE OF THE MISSPENT MONEY

Once upon a time in the land of Uncle Sam a colony of people organized themselves into a Town. The Town grew and waxed fat upon the produce of the Land roundabout, and the people dwelt happily under their own Vines and Fig Trees, and the Tradesmen built Emporiums of Merchandise, and all was well. More people joined the Colony from year to year until the Town was a place of Population and Prosperity. But the time came when into the midst of the Town crawled a Serpent of Discord, yecept the Mail Order Catalogue, which whispered into the ears of the people a Siren Song of Big Bargains, the same being a Table and a Fake. Thereat the people thought they saw a Good Thing, and they Bit. In the course of events the marchants closed their doors and removed to other Towns wherein as yet the Mail Order Serpent had not entered. Large Hollyhocks grew up before the closed doors, and Grass grew in the streets, wheteof the Cows ate bountifully. It was fun for the Cows, but death to the Town.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON COUNTY HOME.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Washington County Wisconsin.

Gentlemen: Your special committee appointed the 18th day of January, 1911, for the purpose of procuring preliminary plans and specifications for a suitable Home for the County Poor, do respectfully report.

That immediately following our appointment we organized by electing Theodore Koenings chairman, and Philip Schellinger Secretary of said committee.

Your committee then personally called on architect Chas Keller of Milwaukee who had prepared the first plans and specifications, for the purpose of soliciting his bid for a new set of plans for the proposed building. Mr. Keller wanted a compensation of 3 per cent of the total cost of the building.

This compensation was considered too high and we then applied to Mr. J. E. Hennen of Fond du Lac who agreed to prepare a full set of plans and specifications for 2 per cent of such cost.

On Tuesday, February 7th, 1911, your committee met with the State Board of Control at Madison, Wis., for the purpose of getting sketches and suggestions, all of which we considered necessary and expedient in order to enable us to instruct the architect as to the kind of building desired.

Mr. J. E. Hennen was then engaged to draft preliminary sketches which we hereby submit for your inspection and approval.

Your committee further reports that the estimated cost of construction of said building does not exceed the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand ($25,000.00). Dollars this however does not include the cost of a contemplated Central Heating and Power plant for the asylum and county home, which from the closest estimates we are able to obtain, will cost not to exceed Sixteen Thousand ($16,000.00). Dollars.

Respectfully Submitted this 14th day of February, 1911.

Theo. Koenings,
Philip Schellinger,
Chas. A. Johnson,
Committee.

The total value of sheep and lambs in 1910 was reported as $3,670,000, while in 1900 it was $4,510,000; the decrease amounting to 18.6 per cent. Mules and mule colts in 1910 were valued at $16,100, as compared with $24,350, in 1900; an increase of 29.8 per cent. ### LEGISLATORS FAVOR SANITORIA MEASURE

Joint Finance Committee Hearing Fails to Bring Out Opposition to State Aid for Tuberculosis Hospitals

There seems to be practically no opposition now to the passage of the bill giving counties power to erect tuberculosis sanatoria and providing state aid for the same at the rate of $3 per patient per week.

When the measure was before the joint committee of the house and senate on finance no arguments were advanced against the bill. At this hearing Assemblyman Youmans, author of the bill; Secretary Bronson of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce, Secretary C. A. Harper of the state board of health, who also is an assemblyman; Statistician Hatcher of the state board of health; Dr. Edward Evans of La Crosse and Dr. H. E. Dearholt and M. P. Ravenel of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association spoke. All questions brought out facts favorable to the bill.

The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association has done all in its power to obtain the passage of this bill as the establishment of county sanatoria will be one of the biggest steps ever taken in the white plague war in this state.

Civil Service Opportunities.

The state civil service examinations to be held in June will doubtless be the largest in the history of the state service.

Present indications point to a very large number of candidates. The examinations include positions of pen copyist, general clerk, clerk and bookkeeper, cheese factory inspector, creamery inspector, deputy state fire marshal, fireman, family officer and matron, guard, janitor for capitol, university and normal schools, laborer for capitol, laundryman, plumber, steamfitter, teachers for state institutions, trained nurse, and attendant.

The stenographic examination recently held was the largest ever given for that position two hundred candidates making application. At the next largest stenographic examination one hundred and forty candidates applied.

Girls, did you ever stop to think that boys have more self respect than the members of your sex? There is not a young man of any respectability that would be seen with a girl that was intoxicated. You might search the streets with a fine tooth comb and not find a young man who would lock arms and go promading with a girl who is puffing a cigar or squirting tobacco juice around on the sidewalk. Some girls have no hesitancy in accepting the company of such characters and too many of them are anxious for the companionship, heart and hand of any thing that wears pants. Society will never be re-fined until the girls demand of the boys the same purity of character that the boys demand of the girls. Over the heads of the young ladies hang the possibilities of the greatest moral reform that ever swept over the country.

VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Village Fathers Met in Special Session to Consider Bids for Lowering Drain

BIDS ARE REJECTED

Two Bids Handed in, One by Harry Basset and Other by Jos. Kudeck, Both Were Rejected. To do the Work by the Day

The Village Fathers met in a special meeting last Monday evening with President Peters presiding, all members responding to roll call. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the bids for lowering and relaying the drain along Main St. west of the railroad tracks.

Two bids were received and read by the clerk, which were as follows: Harry Basset handed in a bid to do the work for 50 cents per foot, while Jos. Kudeck offered to do the job for $200. Both bids were rejected as they were considered too high. It was further agreed that the work for lowering and relaying the drain be done by the day. On motion made, seconded and carried the Committee on Roads and Sewerage were given the full power to hire men and supervise the work. The committee was also instructed to proceed with the work at once.

A catch basin is also to be placed on the West Side of the intersection of Fond du Lac Ave., as it will catch all the surface water coming from the northern part of the village.

Chas. Groeschel appeared before the Board in regard to securing a show license by the year. No definite action was taken as an agreement to the price could not be reached, therefore Mr. Groeschel will be compelled to pay as heretofore.

On motion made, seconded and carried Jos. Eberle was permitted to transfer his license to the North Side Park from Sunday, May 28th at 7 P. M., until Monday, May 29th at 5 A. M.

The grading of Wilhelmina street still hangs. At this meeting the Committee on Roads and Sewerage were instructed to secure a surveyor to survey said street.

On motion made, seconded and carried the Board adjourned.
Edw. C. Miller,
Village Clerk

The dance in the South Side Park hall last Sunday evening was largely attended. It was a dance that will long be remembered. The music for the same was furnished by Gibson's Harp Orchestra of Appleton, which was very pleasing. Mr. Ralph Gibson has one, if not the best orchestra in the state for furnishing dance and concert music. Since playing here last he has added the Saxophone instrument to the orchestra, which made a hit with the dancers.

Mr. Gibson's orchestra will again be in our midst on July 16th, when they will furnish the music for a dance to be held in the North Side Park hall.

SOO RAILWAY SENDS CHECK

Kewaskum Mutual Receives Check for Their Share in Auburndale Fire

The Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Company received on Monday from the Soo Railroad Company a check of $1,044 for payment of their share of a full settlement of the suit brought against the railroad company by nine mutual fire insurance companies, growing out of the burning of the town of Auburndale on May 18, 1906.

The case which was known as the Auburndale case was brought up by the insurance companies to recover for the burning of Auburndale the contention being that the town had been set on fire by a Wisconsin Central locomotive. There were two cases, but only one was tried for which verdict was rendered for the plaintiffs. The railroad carried it to the Supreme court which affirmed the decision of the lower court.

The test case having been decided against it, the Soo, which had in the meantime taken over the Wisconsin Central, settled the others.

Husting & Husting, attorneys from Fond du Lac appeared for the plaintiffs. The insurance companies represented in the case were the Kewaskum, Sheboygan Falls, Beaver Dam, Hortonville, DeForest, Theresa, and Campbellport Mutual Fire Insurance Companies.

PROCLAIMS MEMORIAL DAY

Gov. McGovern Asks Badger Citizens to Honor the Commonwealth's Soldier Dead

Gov. McGovern has issued a proclamation fixing Tuesday, May 30, as Memorial day and recommending that it be observed by all people. His proclamation, in part is as follows:

"Patriotic and memorial exercises will be planned by the Grand Army of the Republic and the Women's Relief corps and other patriotic organizations, old and young, as well, as is in their power should join in these exercises and lend aid in carrying out the purpose to which this day has been dedicated.

"All too soon taps will be sounded ordering the last hero of the Civil war to rest. But thanks to the observance of this day, the memorial flag will still float over his grave as an eloquent sign of his patriotism and faith.

"It is further recommended that on this day families visit God's acre where their loved ones rest and there offer floral tribute to their memory. It is well that one day in each year shall be devoted to showing respect to the dead by so simple an act of affection and communication.

Nothing will be more appropriate or expressive than placing beautiful wreaths and fragrant blossoms upon the graves of those who have departed. Let memorial day, 1911 be observed in such a way that it may prove a benediction on the living as well as a tribute of respect for the dead."

Many at Contest.

A large number from the surrounding country attended the spelling contest at Auburn Friday evening, May 12. A program of songs, recitations and compositions by the various pupils were rendered. Edw. Terlinden teacher of Auburn District No. 9 gave an interesting demonstration and talk on the use of the corn tester. Miss Acker also spoke briefly.

The winners in the spelling contest were Frieda Koch, Edgar Romaine, and Olive Bixby, and the winners of the arithmetic contest 'Ottelia Rauch, District No. 1; Leo Treleven, District No. 7 and Frieda Koch, District No. 3.

John Kludd of the Town of Scott Commits Rash Act

WAS SUING FOR DIVORCE

Wife Had Begun Action for Divorce. Cruelty the Charge

On Wednesday morning after setting fire to his home and barn seven miles east of this village John Kludd, a farmer, aged 42 years, took a dose of paris green and then hung himself. His body was found by neighbors in a pig shed hanging from a rafter.

The house with all its belongings was completely destroyed. The granary, which was saturated with kerosene oil was saved by the timely arrival of the neighbors. Quite a number of things from the house could have been saved if the neighbors knew Kludd was dead. Those who were at the scene soon after the fire started were somewhat suspicious of Kludd and thought perhaps he was watching.

Kludd had been brooding for some time, and particularly for the past two weeks. His wife had just filed suit for divorce, alleging cruelty. She and the children left the home for this village about 8:45 A. M. to consult with Justice L. D. Guth. While she was in the act of greasing the buggy, Kludd grasped her by the throat and choked her severely. He no doubt meant to kill her also but for the pleading cries of the children. When he released her he said: "Now you have something to arrest me for.

It was stated by some of the neighbors that he often remarked one match would burn all the buildings. His act on Wednesday was suspected by John Pesch, one of the nearest neighbors. Mr. Pesch was doing some plowing nearby when seeing Mrs. Kludd and children drive away he thought to himself that Kludd would set fire to the buildings, so he took special notice. It did not take long however when he saw fire pouring from the building. He at once rushed to the scene. Other neighbors followed. Before doing anything they went to look for Kludd, the barking of a dog attracted Fred Haack to the pig shed, where he was seen hanging.

Aid was then turned to the granary which was ablaze. It was noticed that it was saturated with oil. Kludd's intentions must have been to burn all the buildings, if the granary would have burned, there would have been no hope for the barn.

The process used by Kludd in hanging himself was very well planned. He placed a ladder reaching to the rafters, climbed up same and hung his rope accordingly. After having everything in readiness all he had to do was to step from the ladder. Death must have been instantly as no signs of strangling were noticed.

The coroner of Sheboygan County arrived on the scene at 7 P. M. to hold an inquest. After getting the testimonies from several people it was found not necessary to hold an inquest. All witnesses testified to the nature that Kludd was insane caused by liquor. He was later removed from his hanging position and taken by the undertaker of Batavia to his undertaking parlors, where he was prepared for burial. The funeral was held on Friday with interment in the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas cemetery.

Kludd leaves his wife, nee Reeka Klein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Klein Sr., of this village, three children, Lillie aged 13, John aged 5, Nettie aged 2; two brothers: Fred Kludd of the town of Barton, and Hy. Kludd of Wabeno, two sisters: Mrs. Henry Engleleiter and Mrs. John Moll of Hartford.

GOMPERS GOES FREE

SUPREME COURT HOLDS LABOR CHIEF, MORRISON AND MITCHELL NOT IN CONTEMPT.

LOWER JURISTS REVERSED

Highest Tribunal Holds Jail Sentences in Bucks Stove Company's Boycott Suit as Invalid and They Are Set Aside.

Washington.—Setting aside the sentences of imprisonment imposed by the supreme court of the District of Columbia for alleged disobedience to a boycott injunction, the Supreme court of the United States held that Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the American Federation of Labor, had been erroneously sentenced to jail on a charge of contempt of a local court.

The justices unanimously held that fines were the only sentences that could be imposed on the labor leaders.

In so holding, the Supreme court of the United States found that the court of appeals of the District of Columbia and the supreme court of the district erred in treating the contempt proceedings as a criminal case and not a civil one. The effect of holding the proceedings a civil one was to make jail sentences impossible. Hence the jail sentences had to be set aside.

To correct the error the case was sent back to the local courts, with direction that it be dismissed. At the same time the court expressly made it possible for civil proceedings to be instituted against the labor men.

The court was led to hold that the contempt proceedings in this case must be civil in nature because criminal punishment is exercised by courts to force persons to do acts commanded.

In the present case the court took the view that the labor men were being sent to jail not to make them do something the court ordered but because of "something they had done."

Inasmuch as all the differences between the labor men and the complainant have been adjusted, including the "boycott" case out of which the contempt proceedings arose, the decision is probably the last heard of this famous action.

The charges of contempt against Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison arose out of a bitter labor war between organized labor and the Bucks Stove & Range company of St. Louis.

The concern had come into the supreme court of the District of Columbia to prevent, by injunction, the American Federation of Labor and its officials from boycotting its own products or the business of those who dealt with it.

The company claimed that the federation was trying to unionize the company's shops. The labor leaders urged that the company was "unfair" to labor. The head of the company was J. W. Van Cleave, president of the National Manufacturers' association, which had often come into conflict with the federation. He was charged with having been opposed to organized labor.

Justice Gould of the district supreme court issued the injunction prayed for by the company, and continued publication of the Bucks firm's name in the federation "we do not patronize" list led to the contempt charges.

Justice Wright found the union officers guilty and sentenced President Gompers to one year in jail; Vice-President Mitchell to nine months, and Secretary Morrison to six months.

It was further charged that in the succeeding number of the Federationist Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison joined in an appeal to organized labor for funds to carry the injunction case to the higher court. It was contended that this appeal was used as a vehicle to continue the boycott.

The charges stated that the appeal referred to an editorial in the same number of the magazine as setting forth the attitude of those making the appeal. This editorial was attributed to Mr. Gompers.

In addition to the "urgent appeal," in which Mr. Mitchell joined, he was accused of having acted in contempt by presiding over the United Mine Workers' convention when it adopted a resolution to fine any member who bought a Bucks stove.

DICKINSON RESIGNS

HENRY L. STIMSON IS APPOINTED SECRETARY OF WAR.

Member of Taft's Cabinet Retires to Devote His Attention to Personal Business.

Washington.—The president announced the resignation from the cabinet of Jacob M. Dickinson as secretary of war and the appointment of Henry L. Stimson of New York as his successor. Mr. Dickinson was the Democratic member of the cabinet and Mr. Stimson was the candidate of the Republicans of New York for governor at the last election.

In the letters exchanged between the president and Mr. Dickinson no reason, other than that of pressing private affairs, is given for the secretary's retirement.

Mr. Dickinson will go to his Tennessee home immediately upon the qualification of his successor. He expects to devote his attention to business and will not return to the practice of law, in which he was engaged when President Taft appointed him in March, 1909. He is the second member of Mr. Taft's cabinet to retire to private life. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger having severed his connection with the president's official family only a few months ago.

Coincident with the announcement of Mr. Dickinson's retirement came that of the appointment of C. S. Millington of Herkimer, N. Y., to be assistant treasurer of the United States in New York. Mr. Stimson was the Roosevelt candidate for governor, while Mr. Millington was a former member of the house for the Twenty-seventh New York district, and is a close friend of Vice-President Sherman and other leaders of the old guard in the state, having succeeded Mr. Sherman in the house when the latter became vice-president.

325 LIVES ARE IMPERILED

Fruit Steamer Rams and Sinks Liner Merida, But All on Board Are Saved.

Norfolk, Va.—The passengers and crew of the New York and Cuban Mail Steamship company's liner Merida, sunk after a collision with the United Fruit company's steamship Admiral Farragut off Cape Henry, arrived here safe, after being twice transhipped.

Not a soul was lost and only one person, a woman passenger, was slightly injured.

Both vessels were steaming at full speed in opposite directions through a fog bank about fifty-five miles east of the Virginia Capes when the Admiral Farragut rammed the Merida.

A great hole was torn in the side of the Merida, which carried 197 passengers and a crew of 128, and it was instantly realized by the officers when the sea began to pour into the vessel's hold that she could not live.

In five hours the Merida was at the bottom of the ocean, but her passengers and crew were safely aboard the Admiral Farragut.

By wireless telegraph the Old Dominion Steamship company's steamship Hamilton, bound from New York to Norfolk, was summoned by the Admiral Farragut, took aboard the rescued passengers and crew of the Merida and landed them in Norfolk.

Mrs. Taft Suffers From Nervous Attack While Accompanying Husband on Speaking Tour.

New York.—Owing to the illness of Mrs. Taft the president was obliged to shorten his visit to the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Harrisburg, Pa., and return to New York.

Mrs. Taft is now at the home of Mr. Taft's brother, Henry W. Taft, where she is suffering from a mild recurrence of a nervous malady that appeared in a more serious form two years ago.

It was the intention that Mrs. Taft should accompany the president to Harrisburg. When she was taken ill it was feared that he would be obliged to cancel the engagement, but later Mrs. Taft's condition was such that he was able to make the trip.

At Harrisburg the president spoke on the right of government employes to organize labor unions and to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

Trust Law Is Valid.

Chicago.—The demurrers of the Chicago packers in the "beef trust" case were overruled by Judge Carpenter in the United States district court. Judge Carpenter declared that the Sherman anti-trust law, which had been attacked by the packers, is constitutional. He also held that the indictment charging J. Ogden Armour and other packers with violating its provisions is valid.

SUPREME COURT ORDERS WINDUP OF STANDARD OIL

Justices Hand Down a Drastic Decision Disposing of Five-Year Fight to Outlaw the Rockefeller Corporation.

Washington.—The Standard Oil trust must be dissolved. This is the decision of the Supreme court of the United States handed down May 15.

The decision gives victory to the government in its five-year struggle to break up the Rockefeller combine.

The finding of the lower court, that Standard Oil used illegal methods in crushing out competition, is affirmed with only slight modifications. The principal change is the allowance of six months' time for the company to wind up its affairs.

The Supreme court declares that the corporation violated the first and second sections of the Sherman anti-trust law. These relate respectively to restraint of trade and monopolizing and constitute the main basis of the government's case.

The decision was read by Chief Justice White.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE.

Justice Harlan announced a dissenting opinion.

"Our conclusion is," said the chief justice, "that the decree below was right, and should be affirmed except as to the minor matters concerning which we have indicated the decree should be modified. Our order will therefore be one of affirmance, with directions, however, to modify the decree in accordance with this opinion, the court below to retain jurisdiction to the extent necessary to compel compliance in every respect with its decree, and so it is ordered."

Oil Suit in Courts Since 1900

The suit which called forth the oil decision was instituted in 1906 in the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri. It was brought in the name of the United States. The immediate object was to dissolve the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

From the very beginning the business and the legal worlds recognized that the suit put the Sherman anti-trust law to the most severe test to which it had been subjected. The law had been on the statute book since 1890, and had been the basis of some eighteen suits finally passed on by the Supreme court of the United States.

That the law was constitutional was accepted as settled by these decisions, but simple as the words of the statute seemed, there was an absence of unanimity in regard to its interpretation.

Substitute for Coke Oven.

An important demonstration of the value of high-pressure gas as a substitute for the coke oven was given at the Birmingham Aluminum Casting company's works, the lord mayor, St. Hollowell Rogers, and other members of the gas committee being present. The melting of 100-pound of aluminum in a specially constructed furnace, and the subsequent casting of a section of a motor car were watched with interest. The company is the first to adopt high-pressure gas for this purpose.

Electric Safety Boiler Cleaner.

A demonstration of the electric safety boiler cleaner was given in London the other day. The idea is the invention of A. Schror, a German engineer, and consists in the application to the interior of a sealed boiler of a roller studded with chisel points, worked by an electric motor capable of revolving at a speed of as many revolutions as required, which, without any labor on the part of the workman, thoroughly scales the deposit with a minimum of pressure.

Work of the Legislature

An Epitome of Doings at Madison

The Hull bill, fixing the saloon license fees in cities at $500 and in villages and towns at $300 has been indefinitely postponed by the assembly. The Long bill, providing for nonpartisan elections for county officers, was killed. The Vint bill, making it easier for persons injured by street cars to collect damages, was passed.

Suffragist champions have discovered a "joker" in an amendment to the bill to enfranchise women now before the assembly. It provides that the proposition must receive a majority of all votes cast at the election. Few state-wide referendums have ever received so large a vote.

The assembly has passed a bill permitting the fish and game department to destroy abandoned dams which interfere with the use of streams.

A bill permitting town boards to purchase lots for cemetery purposes has passed the senate.

A resolution providing for the destruction of some of the trees in the park surrounding the capitol was rejected by the assembly.

The Weber bill, forbidding prison or jail officials to use threats or intimidation to extort information from prisoners, which took the place of the anti-theft degree bill, has passed the assembly.

The assembly has passed the Stern bill making it a misdemeanor to interfere with wireless messages.

Former Bank Commissioner Bergh will get no back salary. The bill to give him $3,500 was indefinitely postponed by the senate.

The Hansen bill fixing a penalty of fifteen years' imprisonment for the destruction of property by explosives has passed in the assembly. The original bill provides a life term.

Ends School Site Fight.

Racine.—The long drawn out controversy over a site for the proposed new county agricultural school in this county was settled Monday afternoon, when the site in the town of Rochester was selected by the state board. This site includes the old Rochester academy building and twenty acres of land. The town of Rochester voted $4,000 toward the proposition, and the county board of supervisors appropriated $30,000. Union Grove and Corliss both wanted the school.

SERIAL STORY

When a Man Marries

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Author of The Circular Staircase, The Man in Lower Ten, Etc.

Copyright 1929, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

SYNOPSIS.
James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was reticent and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Jimmy is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. He neglects to tell her of his divorce. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned. Jim's Jap servant is taken ill. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance? Bella insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man tacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallpox" printed on it. He tells him the guests cannot leave the house until the quarantine is lifted. The guests suddenly realize their predicament, the women shed tears, the man considers it a good joke. The all important question arises as to who is to prepare the meals and perform the other household duties. Harbison finally solves the matter. After the lifting of the quarantine several letters are found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Lewellyn, Iquique, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely their incarceration, also of his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson. Aunt Selina is taken ill with a gripe. Betty acts as nurse. Harbison finds Kit sulking on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Harbison fully believing that she is Mrs. Wilson, tells her that she doesn't mean the things she is saying about her husband. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is grasped in the arms of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison did it and is humiliated. Aunt Selina tells Jimmy that her cameo brooch and other articles of jewelry have been stolen. She accuses Betty of the theft.

CHAPTER XI. (Continued.)

"I saw you kiss her in the dining room, remember that!" Aunt Selina went on, giving the screw another turn.

It was Bella's turn to be excited. She gave me an awful stare, then she fixed her eyes on Jim.

"Besides," Aunt Selina went on, "you told me today that you loved her. Don't deny it, James."

Bella couldn't keep quiet another instant. She came over and stood at the foot of the bed.

"Please don't excite yourself, dear Miss Caruthers," she said, in a voice like ice. "Every one knows that he loves her; he simply overflows with it. It—it is quite a by-word among their friends. They have been sitting together in a corner all evening."

Yes, that was what she said; when I had not spoken to Jimmy the whole time in the den. Bella was cattish, and she was jealous, too. I turned on my heel and went to the door; then I turned to her, with my hand on the knob.

"You have been misinformed," I said coldly. "You can not possibly know, having spent three hours in a corner yourself—with Mr. Harbison." I abhor jealousy in a woman.

Well, Aunt Selina ate all the lobster salad, and drank the port after Bella had told her it was beef, iron and wine, and she slept all night, and was able to sit up in a chair the next day, and so infatuated with Bella that she would not let her out of her sight. But that is ahead of the story.

At midnight the house was fairly quiet, except for Jim, who kept walking around the halls because he couldn't sleep. I got up at last and ordered him to bed, and he had the audacity to have a grievance with me.

"Look at my situation now!" he said, sitting pensively on a steam radiator. "Aunt Selina is crazy. I only kissed your hand, anyhow, and I don't know why you sat in the den all evening; you might have known that Bella would notice it. Why couldn't you leave me alone to my misery?"

"Very well," I said, much offended. "After this I shall sit with Flannigan in the kitchen. He is the only gentleman in the house."

I left him babbling apologies and went to bed, but I had an uncomfortable feeling that Bella had been a witness to our conversation, for the door into Aunt Selina's room closed softly as I passed.

I knew beforehand that I was not going to sleep. The instant I turned out the light the nightmare events of the evening ranged themselves in a procession, or a series of tableaux, one after the other: Flannigan on the roof, with the bracelet on his palm, looking accusingly at me; Mr. Harbison and the scene on the roof, with my flippancy; and the result of that flippancy—the man on the stairs, the arms that held me, the terrible kisses that had scorched my lips—it was awful! And then the absurd situation across Aunt Selina's bed, and Bella's face! Oh, it was all so ridiculous—my having thought that the Harbison man was a gentleman, and finding him a cad, and worse. It was excruciatingly funny. I quite got a headache from laughing; indeed I laughed until I found I was crying, and then I knew I was going to have an attack of strangled emotion, called hysteria. So I got up and turned on all the lights, and bathed my face with cologne, and felt better.

But I did not go to sleep. When the hall clock chimed two, I discovered I was hungry. I had had nothing since luncheon, and even the thirst following the South American goulash was gone. There was probably something to eat in the pantry, and if there was not, I was quite equal to going to the basement.

As it happened, however, I found a very orderly assortment of left-overs and a pitcher of milk, which had no business there, in the pantry, and with plenty of light I was not at all frightened.

I ate bread and butter and drank milk, and was fast becoming a rational person again; I had pulled out one of the drawers part way, and with a tray across the corner I had improvised a comfortable seat. And then I noticed that the drawer was full of soiled napkins, and I remembered the bracelet. I hardly know why I decided to go through the drawer again after Flannigan had already done it, but I did. I finished my milk and then, getting down on my knees, I proceeded systematically to empty the drawer. I took out perhaps a dozen napkins and as many dollies without finding anything. Then I took out a large tray cloth, and there was something on it that made me look farther. One corner of it had been scorched, the clear and well-defined imprint of a lighted cigarette or cigar, a blackened streak that trailed off into a brown and yellow. I had a queer, tremble feeling, as if I were on the brink of a discovery—perhaps Anne's pearls, or the cuff buttons with storks painted on china in the center. But the only thing I found, down in the corner of the drawer, was a half-burned cigarette.

To me, it seemed quite enough. It was one of the South American cigarettes, with a tobacco wrapper instead of paper, that Mr. Harbison smoked.

CHAPTER XII.

The Roof Garden.
I was quite ill the next morning—from excitement, I suppose. Anyhow, I did not get up, and there wasn't any breakfast. Jim said he roused Flannigan at eight o'clock, to go down and get the fire started, and then went back to bed. But Flannigan did not get up. He appeared, sheepishly, at half-past ten, and by that time Bella was down, in a towering rage, and had burned her hand and got the fire started, and had taken up a tray for Aunt Selina and herself.

I Was Quite Equal to Going to the Basement.

As the others struggled down they boiled themselves eggs or ate fruit, and nobody put anything away. Lollie Mercer made me some tea and scorched toast, and brought it, about 11 o'clock.

"I never saw such a house," she declared. "A dozen housemaids couldn't put it in order. Why should every man that smokes drop ashes wherever he happens to be?"

"That's the question of the ages," I replied languidly. "What was Max talking so horribly about a little while ago?" Lollie looked up aggrieved.

"About nothing at all," she declared. "Anne told me to clean the bathtubs with oil, and I did it, that's all. Now Max says he couldn't get it off, and his clothes stick to him, and if he should forget and strike a match in the—in the usual way, he would explode. He can clean his own tub tomorrow," she finished vindictively.

At noon Jim came in to see me, bringing Anne as a concession to Bella. He was in a rage, and he carried the morning paper like a club in his hand.

"What sort of a newspaper he would you call this?" he demanded irritably. "It makes me crazy; everybody with a mental image of me leaning over the parapet of the roof, waving a board, with the rest of you sitting on my legs to keep me from overbalancing."

"Maybe there's a picture!" Anne said hopefully.

Jim looked.

"No picture," he announced. "I wonder why they restrained themselves! I wish Bella would keep off the roof," he added, with fresh access of rage, "or wear a mask or veil. One of those fellows is going to recognize her, and there'll be the deuce to pay."

"When you are all through discussing this thing, perhaps you will tell me what is the matter," I remarked, from my couch. "Why did you lean over the parapet, Jim, and who sat on your legs?"

"I didn't; nobody did," he retorted, waving the newspaper. "It's a lie cut out of the whole cloth, that's what it is. I asked you girls to be decent to those reporters; it never pays to offend a newspaper man. Listen to this, Kit."

THE ROOF GARDEN.

Attempt at Escape Frustrated—Members of the Four Hundred Defy the Law.

"Special Officer McCloud, on duty at the quarantined house of James Wilson, artist and clubman, on Ninety-fifth street, reported this morning a daring attempt at escape, made at 3 a. m. It is in this house that some eight or nine members of the smart set were imprisoned during the course of a dinner party, when the Japanese butler developed smallpox. The party shut in the house includes Miss Katherine McNair, the daughter of Theodore McNair of the Inter-Ocean system; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed, the well-known clubman and whip, and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, guest of the Dallas Browns and a South American.

"Officer McCloud's story, told to a Chronicle reporter this morning, is as follows: The occupants of the house had been uneasy all day. From the air of subdued bustle, and from a careful inspection of the roof, made by the entire party during the afternoon, his suspicion had been aroused. Nothing unusual, however, occurred during the early part of the night. From eight o'clock to twelve McCloud was relieved from duty, his place being taken by Michael Shane of the Eighty-third street station.

"When McCloud came on duty at midnight, Shane reported that about 11 o'clock the searchlight of a steamer on the river, flashing over the house, had shown a man crouching on the parapet, evidently surveying the roof across, which at this point is only 12 feet distant, with a view of making his escape. On seeing Shane below, however, he had beat a retreat, but not before the officer had seen him distinctly. He was dressed in evening clothes and wore a light tan overcoat.

"Officer McCloud relieved Shane at midnight, and sent for a plain-clothes man from the station house. This man was stationed on the roof of the Bevington residence next door, with strict injunctions to prevent an escape from the quarantined mansion. Nothing suspicious having occurred, the man on the roof left about 3 a. m., reporting to McCloud below that everything was quiet. At that moment, glancing skyward, one of the officers was astounded to see a long narrow board project itself from the coping of the Wilson house, waver uncertainly for a moment, and then advance stealthily toward the parapet across. When it was within a foot or two of a resting place, McCloud called sharply to the invisible refugee above, at the same time firing his revolver in the ground.

"The result was surprising. The board stopped, trembled, swayed a little, and dropped, missing the vigilant officer by a hair's breadth, and crashing to the cement with a terrific force. An inspection of the roof from the Bevington house, later, revealed nothing unusual. It is evident, however, that the quarantine is proving irksome to the inhabitants of the sequestered residence, most of whom are typical society folk, without resources in themselves. Their condition, without valets and maids, is certainly pitiable. It has been rumored that the ladies are doing their own hair, and that the gentlemen have been reduced to putting their own buttons in their shirts. This deplorable situation, however, is unavoidable.

"The vigilance of the board of health has been most commendable in this case. Beginning with a wager over the telephone that they would break quarantine in 24 hours, and ending with the attempt to span a 12-foot gulf with a board, ever which to cross to freedom, these shut-in society folk have shown characteristic disregard of the laws of the state. It is quite time to extend to the millionaire the same strictness that keeps the commuter at home for three weeks with the measles; that makes him get the milk bottles and groceries from the gate-post and smell like dogsoup for a month afterward, as a result of disinfection."

We sat in dead silence for a minute. Then:

"Perhaps it is true," I said. "Not of you, Jim—but some one may have tried to get out that way. In fact, I think it extremely likely."

"Who? Flannigan? You couldn't drive him out. He's having the time of his life. Do you suspect me?"

"Come away and don't fight," Anne broke in pacifically. "You will have to have luncheon sent in, Jimmy; nobody has ordered anything from the shops, and I feel like old Mother Hubbard."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Point of View.
"Honesty is the best policy." "Not on your life," blurted out the insurance agent.

—Considerable excitement was stirred up in this village last Sunday shortly after dinner, as the blowing of a whistle was plainly heard by a great number of citizens, the whistling lasted for nearly ten minutes and sounded like a fire whistle. It was at first thought that there was a fire at West Bend, but after getting information from the city to the south of us, it was learned that the whistling was that of a locomotive.

Found Dead in Lane.

Benjamin, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bishop of the town of Ashford, was found by his brother-in-law John Kiefer last Wednesday at about 11:30 A. M. About a half hour before the young fellow came to the house to get a little lunch. He strolled along the lane near the orchard and was there last seen alive by Mr. Kiefer. Here he played and here he was picked up a corpse. Near him was a big stone, but it is thought that he was too small to fall heavy enough on the stone to cause his death. There was also a horse running loose about the place, but it is thought that if he had been kicked by the horse some bones surely would have been broken. The only injuries discovered on the boy were on the left side of the head, the largest bruise being on the temple while some smaller ones were also found on the left side of the face. The sudden demise of the young lad remains an entire mystery and will undoubtedly remain so.—Lomira Review.

Shot at Charivari.

Frank Reuter, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Franz Reuter of this city and who is employed on the Wm. Dunst farm in the town of Barton, was accidentally shot in the right shoulder while one of a Charivari crowd at the Schaefer-Klukas wedding in the town of Barton last Wednesday evening. The accident occurred about nine o'clock while the young man was hitching a team of horses, the revolver in the hands of one of the party, was fired, the bullet hitting him in the back, and being deflected upward by coming in contact with the shoulder blade, thereby causing a flesh wound only. Had the wild bullet struck him several inches lower, however, it might have resulted fatally. Young Reuter felt the shock in his index finger at first and told his friends he had been shot. A doctor was immediately summoned and the wound given the best medical care, so now no fears for his recovery are entertained. He is at home in this city. No one at the wedding knew of the accident as it happened quite a distance from the residence. This incident will probably cause those using shotguns and revolvers at charivaris to refrain from that dangerous and annoying practice.—West Bend News.

Age of Oysters.

Oysters grow only during the summer and especially during the long, warm summers at that, and are scarcely big enough for the mouth before the third year. It is easy after looking over a bunch of shells to tell how old an oyster is. A summer hump and the winter sink come across the shell every year, but after the seventh or tenth year full growth comes; then, by looking at the sinks between the humps it is hard to tell anything more about Miss Oyster's age. Oysters live to be 20 years old.

FEED YOUNG GIRLS

Must Have Right Food While Growing.

Great care should be taken at the critical period when the young girl is just merging into womanhood that the diet shall contain that which is up-building and nothing harmful.

At that age the structure is being formed and if formed of a healthy, sturdy character, health and happiness will follow; on the other hand unhealthy cells may be built in and a sick condition slowly supervene which, if not checked, may ripen into a chronic condition and cause life-long suffering.

A young lady says: "Coffee began to have such an effect on my stomach a few years ago that I finally quit using it. It brought on headaches, pains in my muscles, and nervousness."

"I tried to use tea in its stead, but found its effects even worse than those I suffered from coffee. Then for a long time I drank milk at my meals, but at last it palled on me. A friend came to the rescue with the suggestion that I try Postum."

"I did so, only to find at first, that I didn't fancy it. But I had heard of so many persons who had been benefited by its use that I persevered, and when I had it made right—according to directions on the package—I found it grateful in flavour and soothing and strengthening to my stomach. I can find no words to express my feeling of what I owe to Postum!"

"In every respect it has worked a wonderful improvement—the headaches, nervousness, the pains in my side and back, all the distressing symptoms yielded to the magic power of Postum. My brain seems also to share in the betterment of my physical condition; it seems keener, more alert and brighter. I am, in short, in better health now than for a long while before, and I am sure I owe it to the use of your Postum." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

SOLONS TALKING OF ADJOURNMENT

RESOLUTION IN SENATE PUTS DATE AS SOON AFTER MAY 27 AS POSSIBLE.

DEMOCRATS NAME JUNE 3

Out of 1700 Bills Introduced More Than 900 are Still in Hands of Committees—Reapportionment of State Unlikely.

Madison.—The first serious move looking to an early adjournment of the present legislative session was taken when the committee on legislative procedure of the senate reported in a joint resolution providing for as early an adjournment after May 27 as possible.

The resolution provides that the introduction of bills, except by joint resolution, shall stop May 18, and that all committees must report in bills in their charge by May 27. After that all bills will go at once to the calendar and be worked off as fast as possible.

The democrats have decided on a resolution limiting the introduction of new bills to May 16, and providing that all committees must report in the bills in their hands by May 20. Adjournment will be taken sine die June 3, according to the resolution.

The senate resolution does not name any day for final adjournment for the reason that the senators realize that the time when the legislature will adjourn for good is an open question.

Investigation showed that out of more than 1,700 bills introduced in both houses 900 are still in the hands of committees of both houses. To work off this mass of bills before June 3 is, it is claimed, absolutely impossible except on the theory that everything be dumped off the calendar and bills passed or killed without regard to their merits. That this would be unwise and result in much legislation that would have to be corrected later is well understood and it will not be permitted except as a last resort in case the session threatens to drag too long.

It is apparent that under the new deal no attempt will be made to adjourn the state.

THE NEW GOOD ROADS BILL

Donald Act, Passed in Senate and Favored by Governor, Meets with Resistance in the Assembly.

Madison.—The assembly committee on highways has introduced a substitute to the senate bill on good roads. The senate bill, by Senator Donald, has passed the upper house, but it did not meet the approval of the assembly committee.

The assembly substitute provides for a commission of three unpaid members to administer a yearly appropriation of $350,000 to be distributed among the towns which levy a tax for road improvements.

The state aid is not to be granted to towns unless they levy a tax of at least half a mill. This town tax must also be duplicated by a money grant by the county.

SENATOR WATCHES BLAZE

Stephenson Quietly Sees Blaze Do $12,000 Damage to His Mill at Marinette.

Marinette.—While fire, which for a time threatened to do great damage to the mills and property of the I. Stephenson company here, raged, Senator Stephenson, with his son-in-law, Ralph Skidmore, sat on a lumber pile and watched the efforts of Fire Chief Joshua Hodgins, another son-in-law of the senator, fight the flames. The loss, estimated at $12,000, might have been heavier had the high wind been in any other direction than toward the river.

Supreme Court Adjourns.

Madison.—The supreme court has disposed of all cases on the January calendar and adjourned to meet June 1 to hand down decisions, and will then adjourn to commencement day, when it will meet to admit the law class of 1911 of the university. The August term will begin August 8.

Invited to Coronation.

"MARY ANN" BILL MADE LAW

Measure Providing Second Choice at Primaries Passed by Senate and Awaits Governor's Signature.

Madison.—The senate has concurred in the McConnell bill providing for second choice in primary elections by a vote of 15 to 9.

Those who voted against the bill were Senators Albers, Burke, Gaylord James, Randolph, Snover, Thomas, Whitehead and C. Zophy.

Senator Whitehead opposed the bill on the ground that it would not accomplish majority nominations and would work an injustice to candidates with the fewest number of the choice votes.

He said that there was some hidden motive for passing this bill, as the friends of primary elections, when the opposition was first advanced twelve years ago, did not favor the second choice proposition.

If the bill became a law, he declared, it would embarrass, hamper and load down the voter in such a manner that he would be deterred from attending the polls.

Senator Whitehead reviewed the agitation for the primary election, quoting from speeches by Senator La Follette and other advocates of the law.

Senator Sanborn, speaking for the bill, denied it would harm the voter and would enable him to more truly express his choice for his candidates.

PASSES TAX FERRET BILL

After Heated Discussion the Lower House Declares for the Berner Measure.

Madison.—After a heated discussion, in which the opposition was led by Assemblyman McConnell, the assembly Monday night, by a vote of 33 to 25, passed Milwaukee's tax ferret bill. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Berner of Milwaukee, but applies to all cities and villages in the state and makes the employment of tax ferrets optional.

Mr. McConnell said that he opposed the principle of the bill and asserted that the measure was poorly drawn. He charged that a bipartisan lobby had worked for the passage of the bill, which was so skillfully drawn that it protects tax ferrets in employing questionable methods. He said the employment of tax ferrets is a confession of the incompetency of city government.

The assembly committee on education reported in for passage the bill providing for a teachers' retirement fund. The committee divided five to two on the bill.

The Mahon bill authorizing the governor to appoint special counsel to assist the attorney general in certain emergency cases was ordered engrossed after some debate.

Two bills of interest to Milwaukee were engrossed in the Stein bill providing for a municipal university or people's institute as part of the school system co-operative with the university in cities of the first, second and third class, and the Klenzendorf bill creating the office of city forester in Milwaukee.

The Katzban bill authorizing the city of Milwaukee to maintain a municipal slaughter house was among the eight bills killed. The so-called Yockey bill providing for the appointment of election commissioners in Milwaukee was passed.

"Poverty Wood" Utilized. Ladysmith.—An experiment made by the Menasha Pulp and Paper company, which recently developed a water power on the Flambeau river, nine miles from here, is demonstrating in a practical way that wood from cutover land has a commercial value other than for fuel. This has passed beyond any experimental stage and what is known as "poverty wood" is being converted into pulp and shipped to the paper making centers.

The wood of all kinds cut on the farms can be sold for $1.40 a cord at this mill. Previous to the location of the mill the site was an unbroken wilderness, but settlers are now coming in in great numbers.

500 Brewery Workers Strike.

Milwaukee.—About 500 members of trades unions employed in the large breweries of this city walked out when their employers refused to sign a blanket agreement calling for increased wages. Last year the same proposition caused a strike lasting seven weeks. The brewers claim the men are asking higher wages than private contractors are paying.

Investigate Fishes' Death.

Beloit.—The Illinois fish commission will investigate the death of several hundred fish in Turtle creek. At least 1,000 pounds came to the surface and died during the day. It is thought that dyes from a knitting factory caused the fish to be poisoned.

Pewaukee Minister Dies.

Waukesha.—The Rev. Mountain, aged 62, died at his home in Pewaukee of tuberculosis. He served as pastor of the Baptist church of his village for fifteen years.

TAFT AN EXHIBITOR IN MILWAUKEE

PAULINE WAYNE, WHITE HOUSE COW, NATIVE OF WISCONSIN, COMING BACK.

PLANS OF THE SECRETARY

The Idea of Exhibiting "Pauline" at a Dairy Exhibition Originated in Waterloo, Ia.—Wisconsin Proved Successful.

Washington, D. C.—William H. Taft, president of the United States, will have an entry in the coming October exhibit of the International Dairy Show association in Milwaukee. His entry will be Pauline Wayne, the White House cow, a native of Wisconsin. He will be the first president to show stock in a dairy show since Jefferson.

Pauline will have an old home week of her own. She goes back to mingle with the common herd and will probably bring to the White House something substantial to take a place among golf cups and other trophies. When the proposal was made to the president he did not hesitate a moment.

The idea of getting aristocratic Pauline for exhibition purposes originated in Waterloo, Ia., but culminated in Wisconsin. In Waterloo they thought they wanted Pauline to add grace and beauty to their dairy show. When this news reached Wisconsin there was a busy half hour. F. A. Cannon, secretary of the International Dairy Show association, picked up a morning paper, read the dispatch from Iowa and seized his pen. "We note that Waterloo," he began, and then made a fervent appeal for home industries. This won the consent of the president. Acknowledging that Mr. Cannon had a slight handicap in his name he assented and Pauline will go to Milwaukee.

ASKS PROPER OBSERVANCE

Governor, in Memorial Day Proclamation, Recommends That All Honor Nation's Heroes.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern issued a proclamation fixing Tuesday, May 30, as Memorial day and recommending that it be observed by all people. His proclamation, in part, is as follows:

"Patriotic and memorial exercises will be planned by the Grand Army of the Republic and the Women's Relief corps and other patriotic organizations. Old and young, as well as in their power should join in these exercises and lend aid in carrying out the purpose to which this day has been dedicated.

"All too soon taps will sound ordering the last hero of the civil war to his rest. But, thanks to the observance of this day, the memorial flag will still float over his grave as an eloquent sign of his patriotism and faith.

"It is further recommended that on this day families visit God's acre where their loved ones rest and there offer floral tribute to their memory. It is well that one day in each year shall be devoted to showing respect to the dead by so simple an act of affection and commemoration.

"Nothing will be more appropriate or expressive than placing beautiful wreaths and fragrant blossoms upon the graves of those who have departed. Let Memorial day, 1911, be observed in such a way that it may prove a benediction on the living as well as a tribute of respect for the dead."

To Settle Railway Taxes.

Madison.—The special legislative committee appointed two years ago to confer with railroads regarding the settlement of claims by the state for back taxes has decided to recommend that a settlement be made with the roads for $126,000. The roads have agreed to pay this.

Gets 6 Cents Damages.

Fond du Lac.—After being out ten hours the jury awarded G. G. Eldman, a Texas land agent, 6 cents as damages instead of the $10,000 he asked from D. C. Sargeant, proprietor of the Palmer House, for an alleged slanderous remark made Sept. 20, 1910.

KIDNEY CHILLS AND BACKACHE

If, when you get wet or take cold, it "settles on the kidneys" and there is a shivery, chilly sensation in the back, it shows kidney weakness which is often the beginning of serious disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills should be used persistently until the backache and other symptoms disappear.

C. D. Keester, 408 E. 5th St., Mendota, Ill., says: "Kidney trouble came on me about 20 years ago and became so bad I was unable to work for weeks. I was thin, worn out and nervous; the doctors admitted they could not help me and my friends expected me to die. As a last hope I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and shortly after passed a gravel stone. Later on several more stones passed and from then on I improved until cured."

GETTING FRIENDLY.

Dick—Yes; but he doesn't kick me as hard as he used to.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT ON BABY

"When my baby was two months old, she had eczema and rash very badly. I noticed that her face and body broke out very suddenly, thick, and red as a coal of fire. I did not know what to do. The doctor ordered castile soap and powders, but they did no good. She would scratch, as it itched, and she cried, and did not sleep for more than a week. One day I saw in the paper the advertisement of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, so I got them and tried them at once. My baby's face was as a cake of sores.

"When I first used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I could see a difference. In color it was redder. I continued with them. My baby was in a terrible condition. I used the Cuticura Remedies (Soap and Ointment) four times a day, and in two weeks she was quite well. The Cuticura Remedies healed her skin perfectly, and her skin is now pretty and fine through using them. I also use the Cuticura Soap today, and will continue to, for it makes a lovely skin. Every mother should use the Cuticura Remedies. They are good for all sores, and the Cuticura Soap is also good for shampooing the hair, for I have tried it. I tell all my friends how the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my baby of eczema and rash." (Signed) Mrs. Drew, 210 W. 18th St., New York City, Aug. 26, 1910.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass., for free booklet on the skin.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour, they do not grip, they do not weaken, but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are 26 feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion or enjoy good health. If I had my way I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

Regular size bottle, containing 45 pills, 25 cents. Munyon's Laboratory, 53d & Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia.

Jan. 7, 1911.—Dietz released on $62,500 bail.
March 6, 1911.—Trial postponed until May 2.
May 2, 1911.—Trial opened at Hayward before Judge A. J. Reid. Dietz's bail bond suspended and he is placed in Sheriff Fred Clark's custody. Dietz acts as his own counsel in conducting defense of himself, wife and Leslie against charge of murder in first degree in connection with death of Oscar Harp.
May 9, 1911.—State rests case after examining forty-seven witnesses.
May 11, 1911.—Dietz rests case after examining twenty-six witnesses.
May 12, 1911.—Final pleas made and case closed.

Hayward.—John F. Dietz was pronounced guilty of the murder of Deputy Oscar Harp during the siege of Cameron dam on Oct. 8, 1910, by the jury, after that body had been out sixteen hours. Mrs. Dietz and Leslie, charged jointly, were acquitted.

The old smile which the old man had always faced the things that had happened to him, did not desert him. He smiled as the judge read the verdict handed up by the foreman of the jury. He made no demonstration.

His name was the first read. As the words came out, a frown came over the face of Mrs. Dietz, and she gazed at the jury.

Leslie took the staggering news with a sickly grin, and waves of color swept across his face.

Judge Reid interrupted Dietz in the midst of his argument and the latter took his seat.

Mrs. Dietz had dropped on her husband's shoulder and her right arm slipped about his neck. Tears streamed down her cheeks.

When the verdict was announced, John Dietz arose calmly and asked for a new trial on the ground that much of the material evidence had been ruled out and also on the ground of errors of law. Judge Reid denied the motion.

Judge Reid called upon Dietz to rise and said:

"It is the judgment of the court and your sentence is that you, John Dietz, be punished by imprisonment for life at the state penitentiary at Waupun and that one day each year, namely, Oct. 8, you shall be kept in solitary confinement."

John Dietz's teeth were closed like a vice and his jaws were set, but a sinister grin slowly crept over his iron mask, but quickly disappeared when he reiterated:

"If the lumber trust needs a victim I can stand it."

Dietz announces that he will make an appeal of the case.

The jury spent almost the entire night in argument with no apparent intention of reporting for some time.

Many times the heated arguments all but penetrated through the walls of the jury rooms in the back of the Giblin hotel and gave evidence of the conflict which was raging within the dingy back room in favor of and against the conviction of the Wisconsin backwoodsman and that of his wife and son.

Twice the jury called for Judge Reid for further instructions and for exhibits which had not been taken to the jury room.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 61 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Well," spoke up one kid, "that's nothin' new. Did he put him in the sun to dry, the way we do our mud pies?"
Miss Hartz discreetly slurred the answer and proceeded with her lesson.—Cleveland Leader.

A Question of Change.
A story is going the rounds of a couple of young people who attended church recently. When the collection was being taken up the young man commenced fishing in his pocket for a dime. His face expressed his embarrassment as he hoarsely whispered: "I guess I haven't a cent. I changed my pants." The young lady, who had been examining the unknown regions of woman's dress for her purse, turned a pink color, and said: "I'm in the same fix."

Some Antique Mugs.
The college collector of antiques stopped off at Bacon Ridge.
"Good day, sir," he said, addressing the postmaster. "I am collecting old-fashioned articles and would like to know if I could find anything like that in this hamlet. Say antique mugs, for instance."
Uncle Jason stroked his chin whiskers.

"Antique mugs! By hek, I know the very place where there be two of them, now."
"You do? Here's a good cigar. Now where can I find these antique mugs?"
"Why, down on Main street, in Hiram Spruceby's shop. Grandad Wheatley and Pap Simmons are in there getting shaved, and by hek, when it comes to antique mugs, I reckon thars' be the oldest in the country, stranger."

Had His Troubles.

"An' ye did it?"

"Then phwat's ailin' ye?"
"It's doon there," laying his hand on the lower part of his waist coat.

When we speak facetiously of some one for whom we have no reverence as having "kicked the bucket," we employ a phrase that would seem to be a piece of latter-day slang, but as a matter of fact, it dates back to old England, when, about the year 1725, one Bolsover hung himself to a beam while standing on the bottom of a bucket, and then kicked the bucket away. Although at first used only in cases of suicide, it has been applied in the course of years to any death, without distinction.

Can't Get Away From It

Is it possible to nourish, strengthen and Rebuild the Brain by Food?

Every man who thinks uses up part of the brain each day. Why don't it all disappear and leave an empty skull in say a month of brain work? Because the man rebuilds each day.

If he builds a little less than he destroys, brain fog and nervous prostration result sure. If he builds back a little more each day, the brain grows stronger and more capable. That also is sure. Where does man get the material to rebuild his brain? Is it from air, sky or the ice of the Arctic sea? When you come to think about it, the rebuilding material must be in the food and drink.

That also is sure. Are the brain rebuilding materials found in all food? In a good variety but not in suitable proportion in all.

To illustrate: we know bones are made largely of lime and magnesia taken from food; therefore to make healthy bone structure we must have food containing these things. We would hardly feed only sugar and fat to make healthy bone structure in a growing child.

Likewise if we would feed in a skillful manner to insure getting what the brain requires for strength and rebuilding, we must first know what the brain is composed of and then select some article or articles (there are more than one) that contain these elements.

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, Geoghegan, shows of Mineral Salts, Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash) 2.91 per cent of the total, 5.33 of all mineral Salts.

This is over one-half. Beaudin, another authority, shows "Phosphoric Acid combined" and Potash 73.44 per cent from a total of 101.07.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash. Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows: Potassium and Phosphorus (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain fog because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which nature demands for brain-building.

Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment. A peaceful and evenly poised mind is necessary to good digestion.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, etc., etc., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Ptyalin, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore, the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with digestion.

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumen and water.

Grape-Nuts contain that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required. Brain rebuilding material is certainly found in

MUSHROOM CORNS

Most Painful of All Foot Ailments. How to Cure Them.

The Mushroom corn is so called from its pitted cone top, resembling a tiny mushroom. It burrows deep into the toe and gets more inflamed than other corns. For the quick relief and cure of these and all corns and callouses the following is the most effective remedy known to science. Dissolve 2 tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give desired results.) All soreness instantly disappears and the corn or callous can be easily peeled off. It may be necessary to repeat this for a number of nights for a complete cure, but if adhered to it will surely succeed. A little olive oil rubbed on the part is very beneficial. This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments and is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition. Bad smelling feet and tender feet need only a few treatments, likewise with inflamed bunions. This item will be welcomed by persons who have tried ineffectual powders and tablets.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES.

A mail order house in Chicago or some other city may be able to sell you anything from a paper of pins to a house and lot, simply by referring you to their catalogues, but they can't sell you a GOOD WATCH that way. WATCHES are very delicate machines that may be put out of order in a dozen ways after leaving the factory. A JEWELER knows how to put the watch into shape, and he won't sell one without doing it. MAIL ORDER HOUSES DO NOT WANT TO ROTHER WITH THAT, AND AS A MATTER OF FACT, THEY CANNOT IF THEY WOULD. When you buy a WATCH go to a JEWELER, tell him what you want, and he will sell you a WATCH in good running order. Do not make the mistake of trying to buy by mail from any catalogue. You won't know what you are getting if you do. IF YOU BUY OF US YOU WILL MAKE NO MISTAKE.
