DIAMONDS.

They are good for a lifetime and worth as much one time as another, with a tendency of increasing in value. To possess a diamond is a pleasure and also a safe investment. Now really, what do you know about diamonds? Would you really pay fifty or a hundred dollars for a stone which might look to be worth the price? But what guarantee have you in buying a diamond that you are getting your money's worth? There is one safe way in buying a diamond—not our word, not your own judgment, not a friend's advice—OUR REPUTATION. All these years we have been here we have been conducting an honest jewelry business. Absolute square dealing. This reputation is what you have to rely on—it's what we must uphold.

BIDS ARE OPENED AT WEST BEND

Bids on The Proposed New Almshouse at West Bend Were Opened Last Wednesday at Noon

BIDS EXCEED THE AMOUNT RAISED

Lowest Bids Exceed Amount Raised by County Board. Special Meeting of the Board to be Called

Bids on the proposed new county and central heating and lighting plant and almshouse at West Bend, Washington county, were opened at noon Wednesday and Christ Baer a West Bend contractor, was found the lowest bidder on the contract, after excluding heating, plumbing, wiring and machinery. The bids were: Hutter Construction company, general work, including heating, plumbing, lighting, machinery, $30,034; excluding these features, $36,288; Immel Construction company, general bid, $50,366; excluding, heating, plumbing, wiring and machinery, $36,620; Christ Baer, West Bend, excluding heating, plumbing, wiring and machinery, $34,440.

The wiring bids were Longsted Meyer Construction company, Milwaukee, $3,433; Hoidt Electric company, Milwaukee, $2,899; Central Construction company, this city, $3,425. The plumbing bids were A. C. Fuge, West Bend, $1,718; Ahern-McCoy company, this city, $1,955. On the heating figures were submitted as follows: G. A. Barrus, $8,480; Ahern-McCoy company, $8,458; Downey Heating company, $9,900; Industrial Heating company, $5,595.

As the lowest bids amount to more than what the County Board raised. The committee has decided to call a special meeting of the County Board, $10,000 more must be raised if the building is to be erected. The committee has been busy the past few days getting all members of the Board to sign a petition calling for a special meeting to be held at West Bend on Friday, July 14th, 1911.

NOTICE FOR SELLING COUNTY HOME BONDS.

Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Washington County, Wis., passed at the adjourned annual meeting thereof on April 3rd, 1911, the undersigned will on the 27th day of June A. D. 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the county treasurer's office in the court house in the city of West Bend in said county, offer for sale at public auction bonds of said county of Washington in the sum of Forty-two thousand ($42,000.00) Dollars, denomination of One Thousand Dollars each, dated the first day of July, 1911, and payable as follows: Seven Thousand Dollars in five years after date and the balance installments of Five Thousand Dollars in six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven and twelve years respectively, after said date, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent per annum. Interest payable semi-annually. Principal and interest payable at the county treasurer's office. The successful bidder or bidders will be required to deposit One Thousand Dollars in cash or certified check, payable to county treasurer as a guarantee of good faith. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. J. Vogelsang, Chairman of County Board. Henry J. Falk, County Treasurer.

Notice to Contractors and Bridge Builders.

Notice is hereby given that the town board of the town of Auburn will meet on Saturday, the 8th day of July, 1911 at the following named places: At 8 o'clock A. M. in Section 31 at a bridge near the residence of John Schultz; at 11 o'clock A. M. on the section line of Section No. 19 & 30 at a bridge near the residence of Christ, Becker and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at a bridge in Section No. 8 near the residence of Matt. Hahn. The purposes of these meetings will be to let to the lowest bidder contracts for a new iron bridge and new stone abutments at each of the above places mentioned. Plans and specifications can be had at the time and places above mentioned. The Town Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Peter Schrooten, Joseph Volz, Stephen Klein, Supervisors of Auburn.

VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Special Meeting of the Village Board was Held on Last Monday Evening

LIQUOR LICENSES GRANTED

Liquor Licenses Were Granted to 12 Saloon Men. Slaughtering Within the Village Limits to be Prohibited

The Village Board met in a special meeting last Monday evening for the purpose of granting liquor licenses for the ensuing year. President Peters presiding and all members were present.

Licenses were granted to the following: N. J. Mertes, John W. Schaefer, Wm. Ziegler, John Klussen, Joseph Schmidt, Louis Guth Schaefer & Schultz, Chas. Groeschel, Nic. Marx, Chas. Meinecke, F. J. Hoerig and Jos. Eberle.

Health Officer, Dr. N. Edw. Hausmann, appeared before the board, stating that several complaints were handed to him in regard to stop the slaughtering within the village limits. He also ordered that the Board take immediate action. Upon motion made, seconded and carried it was ordered that all slaughtering be prohibited within the village limits hereafter.

Upon motion made, seconded and carried it was decided that a catch basin be constructed at the intersection of Main St. and Fond du Lac Ave., just north of the crossing in front of Rosenheimer's store. This catch basin will be a great benefit to all property owners on south Fond du Lac Ave.

Dr. Heidner Takes Partner.

Quite a surprise was occasioned among the medical profession of the city last Monday when it was announced that Dr. G. A. Heidner and Dr. Albert Driessel had associated themselves in the business conducted for many years by the former. Dr. Driessel, who is a son of Dr. Henry Driessel of Kewaskum, practiced medicine at St. Cloud, Fond du Lac county, where he recently sold his practice. The doctor was also in business at Boltville several years ago, and has a wide circle of acquaintance in the northern part of the county. Dr. Driessel is a graduate of the P. & S. college of Milwaukee and although still a comparatively young man, has had considerable experience and comes highly recommended. That he will prove a worthy partner to Dr. Heidner is a foregone conclusion. Drs. Heidner and Driessel will now be able to devote more of their time to hospital work and are planning to make a number of improvements and changes about the place, which when completed, will give the city an institution which compares favorably with those of the larger cities. Dr. Driessel had charge of Dr. Heidner's practice a few days this week during the latter's absence from the city. Dr. Driessel will leave shortly on an extended vacation trip, but expects to come to this city with his family in a month.—West Bend Pilot.

Henry Nauman Breaks Arm.

Henry Nauman of the town of Scott met with a very painful accident early last Monday morning while returning home from a barn party held at Retzlaff's place in the town of Scott. He was accompanied by Anton Schlosser on his return. The accident happened about 1/4 mile from the Retzlaff place when part of the harness of the horse opened and while turning a corner the phis went over the horse after which the rig was thrown to one side and Mr. Naumann thrown out of the rig forcibly to the ground causing a severe brake of his right arm above the wrist. Mr. Naumann is now under the care of Dr. N. Edw. Hausmann and is doing very nicely.

Time Table Changed Again.

A new time card has been issued by the C. & N. W. Ry. which will take effect last Sunday. The changes are as follows:—Train 108 formerly due here at 7:36 A. M. will arrive at 7:32 A. M. Train No. 133 formerly due here at 9:10 will arrive two minutes earlier, hence at 9:08 A. M. Train known as No. 109 will be numbered 209. Train known as No. 110 has been numbered 210. For the correct time of all trains due at this station and at Campbellport see the time table on the local page.

Sells His Delicatessen Store.

Julius Ickstadt of West Bend who conducted a delicatessen store at West Bend for the past year, sold his business to Edward Engelhardt of Watertown. The latter took possession of the place last week Friday. What Mr. Ickstadt's intentions are we have been unable to learn. Mr. Ickstadt is well known in this community having had charge of the local creamery before going to West Bend.

DEATHS OF THE PAST WEEK

The Past Week Was Marked With Three Deaths

ALL ARE WELL KNOWN

Fr'd Buddenhagen of the Town of Kewaskum, Mrs. William Ludwig of Milwaukee and John Labott of the Town of Barton, Pass Away

FRED BUDDENHAGEN.

Fred Buddenhagen, a well respected farmer of the town of Kewaskum, passed away in death at a hospital in Milwaukee on June 16, after a protracted illness of one year with pulmonary tuberculosis. Deceased had reached the age of 50 years, having been born on January 21, 1861, in the town of Kewaskum. After living several years in Barton, he came to his present home in 1885, where he has since resided. On December 11, 1885, he was united in marriage to Miss Amelia Wendorf. Six children were born to his wife, survive him, namely: Rose aged 27, Arthur aged 19, and Lena aged 16, all being at home. Mr. Buddenhagen was a man of kindly traits of character, a hard worker and a lover of home and its environments. He will be greatly missed by his family and numerous friends. The funeral, which was one of the largest ever held here, took place from the Ev. Peace church at 10 o'clock on Monday, June 19, Rev. Mohr performing the last sad rites. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. The Statesman desires to extend its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved relatives in their hour of sorrow.

A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacated in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given
And though his body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, to all those who attended the funeral and Rev. Mohr for the kind words of sympathy and also the Ladies Aid Society of the Ev. Peace church and also for the many floral offerings.

MRS. WILLIAM LUDWIG.

Mrs. Wm. Ludwig, nee Minnie Dricken, died at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Wm. Ludwig, at Milwaukee last week Saturday, after an illness of several years with a complication of diseases. The sickness however was not thought very seriously of.

Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dricken of this village. She was born at St. Michaels on August 7th, 1817. On May 27th, 1893 she was married to Wm. Ludwig. Their union was blessed with two children whose names are Lydia aged 7 years, and Harriett aged 5 years. These survive together with her grief stricken husband.

JOHN LABOTT JR.

John Labott Jr., age 27 years and 3 months died last Tuesday at 5 P. M., at his home in the town of Barton about 4 1/2 miles south-west of this village. Deceased had been ill for only a few days, taking sick on last week Friday. Death being caused by a severe attack of appendicitis.

Mr. Labott was born at Hartford on March 20, 1884. He came to the town of Barton about 18 years ago settling on the farm where he died. He was married to Miss Lizzie Doms of the town of Kewaskum on November 30, 1906. Their union was blessed with four children, two of whom are still living.

The sudden death of Mr. Labott is a great shock to the family. He always has been a very kind and devoted husband. Besides his grief stricken wife and children he leaves to mourn his loss, his aged parents, two brothers, Richard of Milwaukee and Reinold of Chicago, and one sister, Mrs. Louis Groth of the town of Barton.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon with services in the Luth. church at West Bend. Rev. E. Hoyer officiating.

FIRE DEP'T TO HOLD A PICNIC

The Local Fire Department Held a Special Meeting on Last Friday Evening and Decided to Hold a Picnic

HOME-COMING NOT WANTED

Proposals to Run a Home-Coming Instead of a Picnic Were Defeated

A special joint meeting of the local Fire Department was called last week Friday evening for the purpose of taking steps in regard to giving their annual picnic and dance. The meeting was one of the most interesting meetings ever held by the Fire Department. Proposals for running a Home-coming instead of a picnic were made. After considerable discussion it was decided to take a vote upon the question. The result being 22 to 17 in favor of a picnic. After this important question was decided upon the next step taken was when the picnic should be held. Both park owners being present at the meeting they were asked what open dates they had. It was finally decided to hold the picnic on Sunday, July 30th.

Sealed bids for the use of park including license, hall rent, light and ward robe was asked of both park owners. Joseph Eberle, proprietor of the North Side Park, handed in a bid for $25. Chas. Groeschel, proprietor of the South Side Park, handed in his bid for $20. Upon a joint vote it was decided to hold the picnic in the North Side Park. The result of the vote being 22 to 17.

Upon a motion made, seconded and carried, the Chairman of the Committee was given the power to appoint a committee of five including himself. This committee was given the full power to make all arrangements for the picnic. Said committee appointed consists of N. J. Mertes, Jacob Schlosser, Val. Peters, Lehman Rosenheimer and John Marx.

Pretty June Wedding.

A very pretty June wedding took place last week Saturday at the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church when Rev. Greve joined in wedlock, Miss Ida Ramthun and John C. Spoer.

The bride who was attired in a beautiful gown of cream swissene silk and carried a bouquet of bridal roses, was attended by Miss Ella Seefeld as maid of honor, who wore a light blue gown and carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Elfrida Spoerl attired in a pink gown and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations was bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Andrew Knoebel as best man and Albert Terlinden as groomsman.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where the occasion was celebrated in a most elaborate manner. The house was beautifully decorated for the affair in pink and white and cut flowers. About 150 guests were present.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August B. Ramthun living about one mile east of the village. She is a young lady of pleasing ways and will without a doubt be a very loving and true wife. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spoerl of the town of Wayne. He is very popular among his many friends. He is also a very industrious young man. The young couple will make their future home in the town of Wayne which the groom has rented. THE STATESMAN together with the young couple's numerous friends and acquaintances extend their hearty congratulations and best wishes for a very prosperous and future married life.

HARVESTER HEAD REPEATS FUNK'S STORY OF LORIMER ELECTION FUND.

TILDEN'S NAME BROUGHT IN

Alleged Solicitation of Contribution to $100,000 Expense Money by Edward Hines in Chicago Club is Again Described.

Washington.—The senate special committee of eight, which is to make a second investigation into the election of Senator William Lorimer of Illinois had Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, as its first witness at the first hearing.

Mr. McCormick swore that Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the company, had told him his corporation had been invited by Edward Hines, president of the Hines Lumber company, to contribute to a $100,000 fund used in the election of William Lorimer.

"Mr. Funk came to me in my office," said Mr. McCormick, "and said that Mr. Hines, at the Union League club in Chicago, had approached him on the subject of our company making a contribution. The object was to obtain a contribution to a fund which was to be made to recoup expenditures in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer. Mr. Funk told him that his suggestion could not be considered.

"I told him I was glad that he had declined, and that practically ended the incident."

Asked if Mr. Funk had mentioned any other persons in connection with the collection of the fund, Mr. McCormick replied that he had brought in the name of Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company.

As to the editorial in the Chicago Record-Herald concerning the $100,000 fund, the witness said that about the time the article appeared Mr. Funk told him he had given the facts to H. H. Kohlsaat, editor of that paper. He said also that he had advised that Mr. Kohlsaat be relieved of his pledge of secrecy.

"I did not think that Mr. Kohlsaat should go to jail," said Mr. McCormick, "and consequently advised that he be authorized to give the source of his information."

Mr. McCormick said that Funk had told him of a second interview with Hines, and that Hines had sought him out to tell him that he had not meant that his suggestion of the $100,000 contribution should be taken seriously.

"Do you not think that you should have given the information in the previous inquiry?" asked Chairman Dillingham.

The witness replied that while he considered the case important, he had not felt impelled to testify.

"It did not seem to me to be my duty to go before the committee," he said; "I did not follow all the details."

KILLED IN AIR RACE

THREE AVIATORS DEAD, FIVE INJURED IN WORLD EVENT.

Million People Watch Tragic Start of Flight From Vincennes, France, to London and Return.

Paris.—The beginning at Vincennes of the greatest race through the air ever witnessed was tragically marked by the death of three aviators and the injury to five others, one probably fatally. Over 200 spectators were also more or less injured.

Sixty airmen had been entered in this contest, of whom fifty took wing, in spite of the catastrophes with which this, the greatest of European cross-country flights, was inaugurated.

Ten of the competitors were obliged to abandon the contest for one reason or another before they flew beyond the confines of 'Le park.

The dead are: Captain Princeteau, one of the most distinguished French military aviators. The motor of his monoplane, which had been acting balky before the start, exploded in midair within a few minutes after his craft left the ground. The benzine poured over the aviator, burning him to death.

M. Le Martin, Bleriot's favorite and most skillful pilot. It was known that the steering gear of his craft was not in order when he started. Getting beyond control almost as soon as he rose, the monoplane collided with a great oak tree. The motor fell on the aviator's head, crushing his skull.

M. Lendron, one of the most popular airmen of France. He had flown 70 miles when the fuel of the reservoir of his monoplane exploded. The machine was entirely consumed and the aviator was burned to death.

The injured are: M. Gaubert. M. Billie. M. Morrison fell near Gagny; M. Morin near Chevron, and M. Loridan near Charleville.

The scene of the start was the same park in Vincennes where the late French minister of war met death.

The European race is for a purse totaling $94,000. The course leads over France, Belgium, Holland and England with two crossings of the English channel. The end, as the beginning, is at Vincennes. The total distance is about 950 miles.

WOOL BILL WINS IN HOUSE

Underwood Measure, Providing for Reduction of Duty on Product, Adopted 221 to 100.

Washington.—The house passed the Underwood wool bill, which revises downward by 50 per cent the rates of the Payne-Aldrich law.

The victory on the wool schedule was the more decisive in that 24 Republican progressives voted for the Underwood bill, but one Democrat, Francis of Ohio, who hails from the sheep-growing district, voted against it. The vote on final passage was 221 for; 100 against the bill.

When the bill had passed, Speaker Clark handed down a message from President Taft in which the president announced the tariff board would have ready for the use of congress by next December a report on the wool industry of this country, with facts and comparisons with conditions attending the industry in other wool producing countries of the world. The tone of the message indicated the president thought revision of the wool schedule would be delayed until this information was at hand.

TAFT SILVER FETE

THOUSANDS REJOICE WITH PRESIDENT AND WIFE AT WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

5,000 PERSONS ARE PRESENT

White House Lawn Is Converted into a Fairyland—Welcome Guests Beneath Trees—Hundreds of Rich Presents Sent by Friends.

Washington.—A reception on the White House lawn brought the silver wedding celebration of the President and Mrs. Taft, the second that has been held in the executive mansion, to a close.

Invitations had been sent to close to 12,000 persons, and while the official count of those who shook hands with the president was not given out, it was estimated that at least 5,000 persons were present.

Never in the history of the nation probably has such a function been held in Washington. The diplomatic corps, the United States Supreme court, the senate and the house of representatives, the departments of the government, the men who are high in political affairs of the country, the army, the navy and every walk of life almost were represented.

The cool, clear night, that made a reception in the open air possible, prevented the crush that the White House for days had been afraid of and made the reception not only brilliant and unusual but delightful in every respect. The guests would have filled the White House to overflowing, but the White House grounds are ample and there was no crush and no confusion.

Possibly 15,000 people crowded about the iron fence that surrounds the grounds and looked longingly at the electric display, the splashing fountains and the gay throng within.

The cards said the reception would begin at nine o'clock, and promptly on the hour, to the strains of the wedding march, the President and Mrs. Taft came slowly down the staircase of the White House, preceded by the six presidential aids and followed by the cabinet. Out through the red room, down the broad steps and out onto the lawn, which had been converted into a veritable fairyland, the procession marched. They took their stand beneath two trees just about the center of the lawn, whose branches were joined by an electric sign flashing "1886-1911."

The guests entered from the east front, passed through the corridors beneath the White House and out to the lawn. Down the winding walk they passed in two lines to where the president, his face wreathed in smiles, was waiting to meet them all.

The reception was just as informal as the president could make it. Those who could wait in line for hours to shake hands, but many slipped out of the line and sought the shaded walks, the chairs waiting on the grass or wandered at will through the lower floors of the mansion. The presents that numbered in the hundreds and whose money value ran high into the thousands, attracted many, while others turned to the east room whose polished floor echoed to the tread of the dancers.

Preparations had been made for 5,000 guests and the refreshment tables in the state dining-room came as near groaning as a perfectly good table can come. The president and the members of his family with the cabinet and the aids were served on the east terrace, but the guests found their refreshments in the state dining-room.

Mrs. Taft surprised even those familiar with the improvement in health that she has shown by remaining by the president's side in the receiving line all the evening. She wore a gown of white satin, broaded with silver flowers, with a court train. Miss Helen Taft, who was near at hand, wore a gown of pink satin with a tunic of pink chiffon.

DEALS PACKERS FRESH BLOW

Federal Judge Carpenter, in a Six-Word Edict, Denies Rehearing to Indicted Beef Men.

Chicago.—"The motion for rehearing is denied."

In these six words Judge George A. Carpenter in the United States circuit court brushed aside the latest plea of the indicted packers, ruling that they must plead to the indictments charging them with maintaining a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

The packers based their right to the rehearing on the ground that the criminal provisions of the Sherman act were not definite enough to warrant the return of indictments or prosecution for an alleged violation of its inhibitions. They also argued that the restraint alleged was "reasonable," and referred to the United States Supreme court decisions in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

BURNS IS INDICTED

TRUE BILLS AGAINST TWO DETECTIVES AND McNAMARA.

Officers Are Charged With Kidnaping Union Official Accused in Los Angeles Dynamite Conspiracy.

Indianapolis, Ind.—John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Structural Bridge and Iron Workers, was indicted by the Marion county grand jury for conspiracy to dynamite. Detective William J. Burns, who caused McNamara's arrest on charges of being implicated in explosions in Los Angeles, Cal., was indicted for the alleged kidnaping of McNamara, and another man, said to be James Hossick, a city detective of Los Angeles, Cal., was indicted for kidnaping and conspiracy.

Three indictments are against McNamara, who is in jail in Los Angeles. One charges him with "conspiracy to dynamite industrial work of the Peoria and Pekin Union railroad at Peoria, Ill.," and the other two are said to be for storing dynamite in this city.

Five indictments are against Detective Burns, who is under $10,000 bail, and Detective Hossick of Los Angeles, who has not been arrested.

The grand jury reported that it found no evidence to sustain the charges of kidnaping against Walter Drew of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' association; J. A. G. Badorf, Drew's assistant; W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles county, Cal., and Frank P. Fox of this city, the chauffeur who drove the car in which McNamara was taken from this city to Chicago, all of whom were arrested here and held to the grand jury for investigation.

Governor Marshall, who honored the requisition for McNamara, "acted clearly within the law and did, in the premises, what he should have done," according to the grand jury's report.

City Judge Collins, before whom McNamara was taken, and the Indianapolis police officers connected with the case were absolved from blame or wrongdoing by the grand jury.

FIND RELICS IN MAINE HULK

Parts of Dinner Service Are Discovered as They Were Left After Last Meal.

Havana.—As the bulk of the battleship Maine gradually rises above the level of the waters within the cofferdam, there are interesting discoveries.

A curious relic of the disaster has been found. The explorers recovered plates and other chinaware in the officers' quarters. Some were identified as parts of the dinner service of the captain and wardroom mess. All were found as they had been left by the stewards after the last dinner.

The searchers found on the spar deck a small ammunition box such as is customarily distributed about the decks. This contained six millimeter cartridge clips for the naval service rifle and a number of short knife bayonets in metallic leather covered scabbards. The clips of cartridges were well preserved, but the steel bayonets were reduced to masses of rust.

BRIBE CASES ARE DROPPED

Springfield (Ill.) Prosecutor Gives Up Attempt to Convict Browne, Wilson, Hirschelmer and Traut.

Springfield, Ill.—Declaring that it appears to be impossible to procure convictions in cases pertaining to bribery and corruption in Sangamon county, State's Attorney Edmund Burke, in the circuit court, nolle the case pending against Lee O'Neil Browne of Ottawa, Robert E. Wilson of Chicago, Louis D. Hirschelmer of Pittsfield and Frank J. Traut of Beardstown, who were charged with conspiracy to commit bribery in connection with certain fish legislation during the Forty-sixth general assembly.

WANTED TO SLEEP

Curious That a Tired Preacher Should Have Such Desire.

A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him.

"You will doubtless understand how the suffering from indigestion with which I used to be troubled made my work an almost unendurable burden; and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow till nearly daylight.

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me.

"Since I began the use of Grape-Nuts the benefits I have derived from it are very definite, I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table.

"I find that by eating a dish of this food after my Sabbath work is done, (and I always do so now) my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are ensured me.

"I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on our table—we feel that we need it to make the meal complete and our children will eat Grape-Nuts when they cannot be persuaded to touch anything else." FREED FROM SKIN DISEASE

"Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1908, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scabs and you could not see a particle of clear skin. Other parts of his body were affected, but not to such an extent. We tried about every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the Remedy, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in buttermilk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse, if anything. We then called in another doctor and inside of a week the boy was, to all appearances, cured and the doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever.

"We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. You would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We still use only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath. Robert Mann, Proctor, Minn., May 3, 1910."

GEORGE V. CROWNED KING OF ENGLAND

Westminster Abbey, Filled with Brilliant Throng, Is Scene of the Great Pageant—Royal Progress from Buckingham Palace Delights the Populace.

London.—That magnificent spectacle which the entire British empire has been looking forward to for months, the coronation of King George V. and Queen Mary, was staged in Westminster Abbey on Thursday. Seven thousand persons witnessed the stately ceremony and as the Archbishop of Canterbury placed the crown of St. Edward on the head of the ruler they all rose to their feet with loud cries of "Long live King George." At the same instant the great guns of the Tower of London boomed out, and the populace without the abbey repeated the greeting to their monarch until it became a tremendous roar that spread all over the mighty city.

Great Throngs in the Streets.
From the earliest hours of the morning the population of London and the hundreds of thousands of visitors had been moving toward the royal route from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey. As soon as the seats in the numerous stands were filled, gates were closed that kept out the rabble, and then the throngs tried to crowd into the streets adjoining the route. From pole to pole throughout the entire distance gay colored bunting was strung, and the whole city was streaming with flags.

Along the Mall and all the way from the palace to the abbey troops were standing, company upon company, British troops of every shade of color, living symbols of the countries and peoples over which the new king and emperors reign. On every side bands were playing patriotic music, and the din of cheering was continuous and overwhelming.

Procession From the Palace.
As the hour for the coronation approached the waiting thousands first saw the arrival of the gentlemen appointed to act as ushers during the ceremony. These were led by the earl marshal, the duke of Norfolk. Then the nobility entitled to seats in the Abbey began to come. Most of the peers and peeresses rode in state coaches that have been used by their families for many years. These carriages, repainted and regilded, were drawn by four horses apiece. Each was accompanied by outriders and footmen in gorgeous liveries stood on the rail behind. Each peer as he passed was greeted with cheers and often with familiar greetings that set the crowds off in roars of laughter, for even the solemnity of the occasion could not restrain the irreverent humor of the cockneys.

Not all the nobility rode in coaches, however, for the king had permitted one violation of precedent and given permission for the use of automobiles by those who have discarded horses. This was done reluctantly, and there were not many motor cars in the long procession of vehicles.

The lord mayor and his suite, in their gorgeous robes and regalia, were the next to pass toward the Abbey.

King and Queen Appear.

Now the bells of many churches pealed out, and the people knew the king and queen were coming. From the moment their majesties emerged from Buckingham palace there was a continuous roar of cheers that accompanied them all the way to the Abbey. Their approach was heralded by the king's bargemaster and twelve watermen, wearing quaint medieval tunics, knee breeches and stockings, all scarlet, with the crown and badges emblazoned in gold on their breasts, and wearing low buckled shoes and black velvet caps. Immediately behind them came the closed carriages of the royal party, every one drawn by splendid horses gorgeously caparisoned. Through the windows of the great lumbering state coach the people could get a glimpse of the king and queen.

Following their majesties rode the household troops and especially picked military bodies. Field Marshal Viscount Kitchener was at the head of the headquarters staff, as he was at the coronation of King Edward. In this part of the procession, too, rode many Indian princes and maharajahs and potentates of England's widely scattered dominions. Their splendid robes glittered with jewels and they added much to the magnificence of the parade. But the man who, next to the king, received the loudest and warmest applause was Lord Roberts, for the people love "Bobs" and their affectionate greetings almost made the grizzled hero of a hundred campaigns blush.

Arrival at the Abbey.

Waiting outside the west door of Westminster Abbey were the archbishops of Canterbury and York and a large number of bishops, and when the king and queen approached they first entered the church, followed immediately by the Prince of Wales and his suite. As the monarchs passed into the abbey the choir sang an anthem. Their majesties moved through the choir to the theater and after kneeling in prayer, seated themselves in the chairs of state.

The first action of the coronation service, the presentation of the king to the people for recognition, is a survival of ancient Teutonic usage. Accompanied by the great officers of state, the archbishop of Canterbury went to each side of the theater in turn, saying: "Sirs, I here present unto you King George, the undoubted king of this realm; wherefore, all you who are come this day to do your homage, are you willing to do the same?" The king meanwhile stood up by his chair and turned to each side, and the people acclaimed him with cries of "God save King George."

Then followed the litany, the communion service and a short sermon preached by the archbishop of York, after which the oath was administered to the king by the archbishop of Canterbury.

The Anointing and Coronation.

King George now was divested of his crimson robes by the lord great chamberlain and seated himself in the chair of King Edward I, which contains the ancient "stone of destiny." The dean of Westminster brought from the altar the golden ampulla and spoon, and the archbishop anointed him on the head, the breasts and the palms of both hands, and blessed him. The king was next invested with the cobbium sindonis of fine linen and the supercunias of cloth of gold, his heels were touched with the golden spurs and the sword of state was girded upon him, after which the armill and robe royal of cloth of gold were put upon him. In turn, then, his majesty was given the orb, the king's ring, the glove and the two scepters.

All was ready now for the supreme act. The archbishop placed St. Edward's crown upon the altar and delivered a short prayer, and then, supported by the other clergy, placed the crown upon the king's head. At that instant the trumpets sounded, the congregation shouted "Long live King George" and the peers and kings of arms put on their coronets.

The enthronization was a handsome part of the ceremonies. The king was lifted up into his throne by the archbishops, the bishops and certain peers, and all the great officers and those who bore the swords, the scepters and other regalia grouped themselves about the steps of the throne. Next the princes and peers did their homage, led by the archbishop of Canterbury and the prince of Wales. Each of these and the premier duke, marquis, earl, viscount and baron kissed the king upon the cheek.

The anointing and crowning of Queen Mary was a short and simple ceremony. Following the example of Queen Alexandra, she was anointed on the head only. She was invested with the ring, was crowned by the archbishop of York and received the scepter and the ivory rod with the dove.

Few American in the Abbey.

Of all the Americans who have been attracted to London by the festivities of the coronation season, only a very few were admitted to the Abbey. These included President Taft's special ambassador, John Hays Hammond, and Mrs. Hammond; Maj. Gen. Greely and Rear Admiral Vreeland, representing the army and navy, and the latter's secretary; Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid and the attaches and secretaries of the embassy, Pierpont Morgan and less than a score of American women who married English peers.

One fact connected with the coronation was the subject of some amused comment. This was that King George, who is quite the reverse of a giant, had selected four of the shortest knights of the garter to hold the golden canopy over him during the anointing.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

SERIAL STORY

When a Man Marries

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Author of The Circular Staircase, The Man in Lower Ten, etc.

Copyright 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was round and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. He neglects to tell her of his divorce. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned. Jim's Jap servant is taken ill. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance. Belle insists it is Jim. Kit tells her "Jim is well and in the house. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man tacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallpox" printed on it. He tells him the guests cannot leave the house until the quarantine is lifted. After the lifting of the quarantine several letters are found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Llewellyn, Iquique, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of their incarceration, also his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson. Aunt Selina is taken ill with a gripe. Betty acts as nurse. Harbison finds Kit sulking on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is grasped in the arms of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison did it and is humiliated. Aunt Selina tells Jimmy that her name bracelet and other articles of jewelry have been stolen. She accuses Betty of the theft. Jimmy tells Aunt Selina all about the recent happenings, but she persists in suspecting Betty of the theft of her valuables. Harbison demands an explanation from Kit as to her conduct towards him, she tells him of the incident on the roof, he does not deny nor confirm her accusation. One of the guests devises a way to escape from the house. They set fire to the reception room and attempt to escape to the house from the rear. The guards discover the ruse and prevent them from escaping.

CHAPTER XV. (Continued.)

Every one went up on the roof and left him to his mystery. Anne drank her tea in a preoccupied silence, with half-closed eyes, an attitude that boded ill to somebody. The rest were feverishly gay, and Aunt Selina, with a pair of articles on her feet and a hot-water bottle at her back, sat in the middle of the tent and told me familiar anecdotes of Jimmy's early youth (had he known, he would have slain her.) Betty and Mr. Harbison had found a medicine ball, and were running around like a pair of children. It was quite certain that neither his escape from death nor my accusation weighed heavily on him.

While Aunt Selina was busy with the time Jim had swallowed an open safety pin, and just as the pin had been coughed up, or taken out of his nose—I forget which—Jim himself appeared and sulkily demanded the privacy of the roof for his training hour.

Yes, he was training. Flannigan claimed to know the system that had reduced the president to what he is, and he and Jim had a spance every day which left Jim feeling himself bruised all evening. He claimed to be losing flesh; he said he could actually feel it going, and he and Flannigan had spent an entire afternoon in the cellar three days before with a potato barrel, a cane-seated chair and a lamp.

The whole thing had been shrouded in mystery. They sandpapered the inside of the barrel and took out all the nails, and when they had finished they carried it to the roof and put it in a corner behind the tent. Everybody was curious, but Flannigan refused any information about it, and merely said it was part of his system. Dai said that if he had anything like that in his system he certainly would be glad to get rid of it.

At a quarter to six Jim appeared, still sullen from the events of the afternoon and wearing a dressing-gown and a pair of slippers. Flannigan following him with a sponge, a bucket of water and an armful of bath towels. Everybody protested at having to move, but he was firm, and they all fled down the stairs. I was the last, with Aunt Selina just ahead of me. At the top of the stairs she turned around suddenly to me.

"That policeman looks cruel," she said. "What's more, he's been in a bad humor all day. More than likely he'll put James flat on the roof and tramp on him, under pretense of training him. All policemen are inhuman."

"He only rolls him over a barrel or something like that," I protested.

"James had a lump like an egg over his ear last night. Aunt Selina insisted, glaring at Flannigan's unconscious back. "I don't think it's safe to leave him. It is my time to relax for 39 minutes, or I would watch him. You will have to stay," she said, fixing us with her imperious eyes.

So I stayed. Jim didn't want me and Flannigan muttered mutiny. But it was easier to obey Aunt Selina than to clash with her, and anyhow I wanted to see the barrel in use.

I never saw any one train before. It is not a joyful spectacle. First, Flannigan made Jim run, around and around the roof. He said it stirred up his food and brought it in contact with his liver, to be digested.

Flannigan, from meekness and submission of a sort, became an autocrat on the roof.

"Once more," he would say. "Pick up your feet, sir! Pick up your feet!"

And Jim would stagger doggedly past me, where I sat on the parapet, his poor cheeks shaking and the tail of his bath robe wrapping itself around his legs. Yes, he ran in the bath robe in deference to me. It seems there isn't much to a running suit.

"Head up," Flannigan would say. "Lift your knees, sir. Didn't you ever see a horse with string halt?"

He let him stop finally, and gave him a moment to get his breath. Then he set him to turning somersaults. They spread the cushions from the couch in the tent on the roof, and Jim would poke his head down and say a prayer, and then curve over as gracefully as a sausage and come up gasping, as if he had been pushed off a boat.

"Five pounds a day; not less, sir," Flannigan said, encouragingly. "You'll drop it in chunks."

Jim looked at the tin as if he expected to see the chunks lying at his feet.

"Yes," he said, wiping the back of his neck. "If we're in here 30 days that will be 150 pounds. Don't forget to stop in time. Flannigan. I don't want to melt away like a candle."

He was cheered, however, by the promise of reduction.

"What do you think of that, Kit?" he called to me. "Your uncle is going to look as angular as a problem in geometry. I'll—I'll be the original reductio ad absurdum. Do you want me to stand on my head, Flannigan? Wouldn't that reduce something?"

"Your brains, sir," Flannigan retorted, gravely, and presented a pair of boxing gloves. Jim visibly quailed, but he put them on.

"Do you know, Flannigan," he remarked, as he fastened them, "I'm thinking of wearing these all the time. They hide my character."

Flannigan looked puzzled, but he did not ask an explanation. He demanded that Jim shed the bath robe, which he finally did, on my promise to watch the sunset. Then for fully a minute there was no sound save of feet running rapidly around the roof and an occasional soft thud. Each thud was accompanied by a grunt or two from Jim. Flannigan was grimly silent. Once there was a smart rap, an oath from the policeman, and a mirthless chuckle from Jim. The chuckle ended in a crash, however, and I turned. Jim was lying on his back on the roof, and Flannigan was wiping his ear with a towel. Jim sat up and ran his hand down his ribs.

Came Back and Called Through to Us.

"They're all here," he observed after a minute. "I thought I missed one."

"The only way to take a man's weight down," Flannigan said dryly. "Jim got up dizzily.

"Down on the roof, I suppose you mean," he said.

The next proceedings were mysterious. Flannigan rolled the barrel into the tent, and carried a small glass lamp. With the material at hand he seemed to be effecting a combination, no new one, to judge by his facility. Then he called Jim.

At the door of the tent Jim turned to me, his bath-robe toga fashion around his shoulders.

"This is a very essential part of the treatment," he said, solemnly. "The exercise, according to Flannigan, loosens up the adipose tissue. The next step is to boll it out. I hope, unless your instructions compel you, that you will at least have the decency to stay out of the tent."

"I am going at once," I said, outraged. "I'm not here because I'm mad about it, and you know it. And don't pose with that bath robe. If you think you're a character out of Roman history, look at your legs."

"I didn't mean to offend you," he said sulkily. "Only I'm tired of having you choked down my throat every time I open my mouth, Kit. And don't go just yet. Flannigan is going for my clothes as soon as he lights the lamp, and—somebody ought to watch the stairs."

"That was all there was to it. I said I would guard the steps, and Flannigan, having ignited the combination, whatever it was, went downstairs. How was I to know that Bella would come up when she did? Was it my fault that the lamp got too high, and that Flannigan couldn't hear Jim calling? or that just as Bella reached the top of the steps Jim should come to the door of the tent wearing the barrel part of his hot-air cabinet, and yelling for a doctor?

Bella came to a dead stop on the upper step, with her mouth open. She looked at Jim, at the inadequate barrel, and from them she looked at me. Then she began to laugh, one of her hysterical giggles, and she turned and went down again. As Jim and I stared at each other we could hear her gurgling down the hall below.

She had violent hysterics for an hour, with Anne rubbing her forehead and Aunt Selina burning a feather out of the feather duster under her nose. Only Jim and I understood, and we did not tell. Luckily, the next thing that occurred drove Bella and her nerves from everybody's mind.

At seven o'clock, when Bella had dropped asleep and everybody else was dressed for dinner, Aunt Selina discovered that the house was cold, and ordered Dal to the furnace.

It was Dal's day at the furnace; Flannigan had been relieved of that part of the work after twice setting fire to a chimney.

In five minutes Dal came back and spoke a few words to Max, who followed him to the basement and in ten minutes more Flannigan puffed up the steps and called Mr. Harbison.

I am not curious, but I knew that something had happened. White Aunt Selina was talking suffrage to Anne—who said she had always been tremendously interested in the subject, and if women got the suffrage would they be allowed to vote?—I slipped back to the dining-room.

The table was laid for dinner, but Flannigan was not in sight. I could hear voices from somewhere, faint voices that talked rapidly, and after a while I located the sounds under my feet. The men were all in the basement, and something must have happened. I flew to the basement stairs, to meet Mr. Harbison at the foot. He was grimy and dusty, with streaks of coal dust over his face, and he had been examining his revolver. I was just in time to see him skip it into his pocket.

"What is the matter?" I demanded. "Is any one hurt?"

"No one," he said coolly. "We've been cleaning out the furnace."

"With a revolver! How interesting—and unusual!" I said dryly, and slipped past him as he barred the way. He was not pleased; I heard him mutter something and come rapidly after me, but I had the voices as a guide, and I was not going to be turned back like a child. The men had gathered around a low stone arch in the furnace room, and were looking down a short flight of steps, into a sort of vault, under the pavement. A faint light came from a small grating above, and there was a close, musty smell in the air.

"I tell you it must have been last night," Dallas was saying. "Wilson and I were here before we went to bed, and I'll swear that hole was not there then."

"It was not there this morning, sir," Flannigan insisted. "It has been made during the day."

"And it could not have been done this afternoon," Mr. Harbison said, quietly. "I was fussing with the telephone wire down here. I would have heard the noise."

Something in his voice made me look at him, and certainly his expression was unusual. He was watching us all intently while Dallas pointed out to me the cause of the excitement. From the main floor of the furnace room, a flight of stone steps surmounted by an arch led into the coal cellar, beneath the street. The coal cellar was of brick, with a cement floor, and in the left wall there gaped an opening about three feet by three, leading into a cavernous void, perfectly black—evidently a similar vault belonging to the next house.

The whole place was ghostly, full of shadows, shivery with possibilities. It was Mr. Harbison finally who took Jim's candle and crawled through the aperture. We waited in dead silence, listening to his feet crunching over the coal beyond, watching the faint yellow light that came through the ragged opening in the wall. Then he called through to us.

"Place is locked, over here," he said. "Heavy oak door at the head of the steps. Whoever made that opening has done a prodigious amount of labor for nothing."

The weapon, a crowbar, lay on the ground beside the bricks, and he picked it up and balanced it on his hand. Dallas' florid face was almost comical in his bewilderment; as for Jimmy—he slammed a piece of slag at the furnace and walked away. At the door he turned around.

"Why don't you accuse me of it?" he asked, bitterly. "Maybe you could find a lump of coal in my pockets if you searched me."

He stalked up the stairs then and left us. Dallas and I went up together, but we did not talk. There seemed to be nothing to say. Not until I had closed and locked the door of my room did I venture to look at something that I carried in the palm of my hand. It was a watch, not running—a gentleman's flat gold watch, and it had been hanging by its fob to a nail in the bricks beside the aperture.

In the back of the watch were the initials T. H. H. and the picture of a girl, cut from a newspaper.

It was my picture.

Lesson From the Past.

The blasted Yankees of the early '40s had adopted as their slogan in the boundary dispute: "Fifty-four forty or fight!"

"We're hitting the line hard," they explained.

At a later stage, however, being in a more conciliatory mood, they agreed to a compromise; but that is another story.

A MARVELOUS RECOVERY.

How a Chronic Invalid Regained Perfect Health.

Mrs. Ray Trusner, 30 West Third St., New Albany, Ind., says: "Kidney disease had rendered me a chronic invalid. I lay in bed unable to move hand or foot. My right limb was swollen to twice normal size. I looked the picture of death and my case puzzled the doctors. The kidney secretions were highly colored and scalded terribly. Marked improvement followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In six weeks I was a well woman. My friends and relatives marvel at my recovery."

"The Bard of Odon."

Rev. George F. Culmer, "the bard of Odon," celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday yesterday. Rev. Mr. Culmer was born May 22, 1825, in Kent, England, during the reign of George Frederick (George IV.), for whom he was named. At the time of his birth John Quincy Adams was president of the United States.

Dr. Culmer has been a minister for many years in the Methodist Episcopal church until his advanced age made it necessary for him to retire. He is a scholar and poet. Many of his poems have been published in magazines and newspapers—Washington Correspondence Indianapolis News.

Couldn't See the Resemblance.

They have been joking Assistant Treasurer James A. Mathews of the Guardian bank, on his resemblance to President Taft, and Mr. Mathews has steadily refused to be annoyed thereby. So the jokers subsided and the joke died a natural death.

Until the other night, when Mr. and Mrs. Mathews dined together with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon and their little daughter, when the Taft resemblance was revived. Turning to young Miss Harmon, Mr. Mathews asked whether she, too, thought he looked like the president.

Dorothy studied long and earnestly. Then she answered:

"Not in the face, Uncle Jim!"—Cleveland Leader.

He Got the Pass.

"I want a pass.

"Pass? You're not entitled to a pass. You are not an employee. Sorry."

"No; but here the anti-pass law says free transportation can be granted to necessary caretakers of live stock, poultry and fruit." Well, I'm going on this trip with an aunt that's a hen—there's your poultry; a girl that's a peach—there's your fruit; and a nephew that's a mule—there's your live stock. Gimme a pass."—The Way-Bill.

Historic Event Celebrated.

Australia recently commemorated the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of Captain Cook's first landing. It was in 1770 that H. M. S. Endeavor, a barque of 270 tons, entered the inlet first called Sting Rays Harbor, but afterwards Botany Bay, from the beauty and variety of the plants growing about its shore. The vessel remained eight days, and before she left the British flag was hoisted. As is the custom on each recurring anniversary, the flag was again unfurled upon the spot where it was first displayed, and was saluted by the guns of the warships in the harbor.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

HAD BEEN SILENT SUFFERER

Subordinate Officer the Recipient of Hints Intended for His Superior.

A sea captain's wife tells this story of a maiden woman, sister of one of the owners of the ship on which she once made a long voyage. She had very decided opinion on most matters, and she and the captain had many spirited arguments at the dinner table.

The captain's wife, a meek, submissive little soul, fearing that in the heat of argument her husband might say something to offend this august passenger, was in the habit of kicking him on the shins to hint at moderation. Nevertheless, all these reminders passed unheeded.

One day she administered a more vigorous kick than usual, and noticed an expression of pain fit across the face of the mate, who sat opposite her.

"Oh, Mr. Brown, was that your shin?" she asked.

"Yes, Mrs. Blaikie," said the mate, meekly, "hit's been my shin hall the voyage, ma'am."—Youth's Companion.

Some Day Ask Your Physician

To tell you the curious story of how the mind affects the digestion of food.

I refer to the condition the mind is in, just before, at the time, or just following the taking of food.

If he has been properly educated (the majority have) he will help you understand the curious machinery of digestion.

To start you thinking on this interesting subject, I will try to lay out the plan in a general way and you can then follow into more minute details.

Pawlow (pronounce Pavloff) a famous Russian Physician and Chemist, experimenting on some dogs, cut into the tube leading from the throat to the stomach.

They were first put under chloroform or some other anaesthetic and the operation was painless. They were kept for months in very good condition.

When quite hungry some unappetizing food was placed before them and, although hunger forced them to eat, it was shown by analysis of the contents of the stomach that little if any of the digestive juices were found.

Then, in contrast, some raw meat was put where they couldn't reach it at once, and a little time allowed for the minds of the dogs to "anticipate" and create an appetite. When the food was finally given them, they devoured it ravenously and with every evidence of satisfaction. The food was passed out into a dish through the opening before it reached the stomach. It was found to be mixed with "Ptyalin" the alkaline juice of the mouth, which is important for the first step in digestion. Then an analysis was made of the contents of the stomach, into which no food had entered. It was shown that the digestive fluids of stomach were flowing freely, exactly as if the desirable food had entered.

This proved that it was not the presence of food which caused the digestive juices to flow, but the flow was caused, entirely and alone as a result of the action of the mind, from "anticipation."

One dog continued to eat the food he liked for over an hour believing he was getting it into his stomach, whereas, not an ounce went there; every particle went out through the opening and yet all this time the digestive juices flowed to the stomach, prepared to quickly digest food, in response to the curious orders of the mind.

Do you pick up the lesson?

Unappetizing food, that which fails to create mental anticipation, does not cause the necessary digestive juices to flow, whereas, food that is pleasing to the sight, and hence to the mind, will cause the complicated machinery of the body to prepare in a wonderful way for its digestion.

How natural, then, to reason that one should sit down to a meal in a peaceful, happy state of mind and start off the breakfast, say with some ripe delicious fruit, then follow with a bowl of crisp, lightly browned, thin bits of corn like Post Toasties, add a sprinkle of sugar and some good yellow cream and the attractive, appetizing picture cannot escape your eye and will produce the condition of mind which causes the digestive juices nature has hidden in mouth and stomach, to come forth and do their work.

These digestive juices can be driven back by a mind oppressed with worry, hate, anger or dislike of the disagreeable appearance of food placed before one.

Solid facts that are worthy the attention of anyone who esteems prime health and human happiness as a valuable asset in the game of life.

"There's a Reason" for saying "The Memory Lingers" when breakfast is started with POST TOASTIES.

Splendid Crops in Saskatchewan (Western Canada)

800 Bushels from 20 acres of wheat was the return from a Lloydminster farm in the season of 1910. Many fields in that as well as other districts yielded from 25 to 35 bushels of wheat to the acre. Other grains in proportion.

LARGE PROFITS are thus derived from the wheat crop.

This excellent showing causes prices to advance. Land values should double in two years. Grain growing, mixed farming, cattle raising and dairying are all profitable. Free Homesteads of 160 acres are to be had on the very best districts. 100 acre pre-emption at $5.00 per acre with in certain areas, schools and churches in every settlement, climate unsurpassed, soil the richest, wood, water and building material plentiful.

For particulars as to location, low settlers' railway rates and descriptive illustrated pamphlet, "Last Best West," and other information, write to Sup't of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to Canadian Government Agent.

WISCONSIN FARMS SHOW PROGRESS

LATEST CENSUS BULLETIN REVEALS A HEAVY GAIN IN VALUE AND ACREAGE.

TENANCY ON THE INCREASE

Fourteen Out of Every Hundred Properties Are Now Occupied by Renters—Mortgages on Farms in State Becoming More Common.

Washington.—From the standpoint of agricultural development, the Badger state's position is anomalous, according to the thirteenth bulletin on Wisconsin agriculture. The state has passed out of the class of states having a large area of land suitable for cultivation and not yet so utilized, without having definitely entered the class of those, the available land of which has all been converted into farms.

More than 90 per cent of the land area has been converted into farms in all except one of the southern and southeastern counties, while in the northern counties less than 25 per cent of the land area, and in the case of five counties less than 10 per cent has been so utilized.

Farm property, which includes land, buildings, implements, machinery and live stock (domestic animals, poultry and bees), has increased in value during the decade 74.1 per cent, or more than $601,000,000. It was chiefly due to the advance of $381,395,000 in the value of land. This was associated with an increase of more than $134,000,000 in the value of farm buildings, and nearly $86,000,000 in farm equipment, including implements, machinery and livestock.

The average value of a fully equipped farm in 1900 was slightly less than $1,800, while ten years later it was about $8,000. The average value of land rose from approximately $27 per acre in 1900 to more than $43 in 1910 and was accompanied by other changes in the average value of farm implements and of domestic animals, poultry and bees, notably in horses and mules.

It is significant, according to the bulletin, that of the total increase, 7,332, in the number of farms during the decade, there was a gain of 5,674 in the class of owners and managers, and 1,658 in tenants. In 1880, nine out of each 100 farms were operated by tenants. Tenancy has been gaining on ownership for thirty years, until in 1910 fourteen out of each 100 farms were so operated. During the last decade the increase in tenancy was slight.

The relative number of farm homes, or farms operated by their owners which are mortgaged has increased regularly since 1890. From 1890 to 1910 the number has increased 21,887, or 39.6 per cent. During the same time the increase in the total number of farms in the state was 21 per cent.

A little more than 25 per cent of the amount expended for labor in 1909 was in the form of rent and board; the total expenditure increased 83.4 per cent during the decade. Slightly more than one-half of the farmers hired labor, and the average amount expended by the farmers hiring was $211.

GERMAN VETERANS PARADE

Crowd of 15,000 Witnesses Imposing Pageant of Soldiers of the Fatherland at Kenosha.

Kenosha.—Keeping step with old martial music of years gone by, 1,600 veterans of the German army, from all over Wisconsin, marched in grand review here before the Hon. Alfred Geissler, German consul to Chicago, and from him received a message of love and gratitude from Kaiser Wilhelm for the services they had rendered to their fatherland in other days. It was an imposing pageant, with scores of bands of German soldiers in uniform, and almost as many bands. Every branch of the service was represented in the parade, which included not only soldiers of the empire but not a few who had worn the Austrian uniform under Frances Joseph.

Kenosha was never so richly decorated for any event. As the long line passed along the streets the soldiers were greeted by a cheering crowd, estimated at more than 15,000 people.

Following the parade there were addresses by many of the visitors and a campfire was held.

The meeting came to a close with the election of the following officers: President, Max Hottel of Milwaukee. First vice president, Adolph Bundemann of Sheboygan. Second vice president, Gustav Siefert of Oshkosh. Treasurer, Earnest Siefert of Oshkosh. Secretary, Gustave Geunther of Chilton. Trustees, Otto Bowits of Milwaukee.

The next session will be held at Oshkosh in 1912.

MARINETTE WOMAN IS SLAIN

Body of Mrs. Joseph Marlowe Discovered in School House Yard With Throat Slashed.

Marinette.—The body of Mrs. Anna Marlowe, aged 26, was found at 3 o'clock in the morning on the grounds of the Garfield school. Her throat had been cut from ear to ear, but there was no evidence that she had been assaulted.

According to Sheriff Schwittay, the woman was seen to leave a restaurant about midnight with Charles Raue, a house painter and paper hanger, and they walked away in the direction of the school. Before he could be apprehended he walked into the undertaking rooms, where the body had been taken, saying that he had heard that Mrs. Marlowe had been murdered.

He was placed under arrest. Raue said that he had left the woman and gone home; that he knew nothing of the crime until told of it. When a search of his home was made later clothes were found apparently spotted with blood. He says that the marks came from red wall paper or paint.

The woman was separated from her husband, who is said to be in Wausauke. It is not known that she had any quarrel with Raue and no explanation of the tragedy is yet seen.

FOE OF SALOONS DROWNED

Rev. J. H. Berkey of Monroe, Who Was Prohibition Candidate for Governor, Loses Life.

Monroe.—The Rev. Joshua H. Berkey, formerly pastor of Union church here and well known as a temperance lecturer, was drowned in Crystal lake, near Huntley, Ill.

Mr. Berkey was formerly a newspaper man and was associated for a time with Brick Pomeroy. About six years ago he was the prohibitionist candidate for governor. He was 55 years old.

FOURTH PLEA FOR A PARDON

Edward Eckert, Who Has Served 33 Years of Life Sentence for Murder, Wants Freedom.

Madison.—After having served thirty-three years of a life sentence for murder, Edward Eckert, who killed Charles Peterson with a hatchet while camping in the woods near Fort Atkinson on Dec. 13, 1877, has filed an application for a pardon with Gov. McGovern. A similar petition was denied by the former governors, Davidson, La Follette and Scofield. Eckert asks a pardon on the grounds that he was illegally sentenced and that the length of time he has served is longer than the average human life.

Hotel Wars for Patrons.

Appleton.—Because the new Northwestern road train schedule transfers train No. 111, which runs through Manitowoc from Milwaukee to Appleton, to the Lake Shore division via Green Bay instead of this city, the Sherman house management says that its business has been affected and has secured an injunction to prevent the road from carrying out the change.

Unknown Man Murdered.

Milwaukee.—The body of an unidentified man, about 35 years of age, was found in an alley in the rear of 638 Thirty-fifth street. There were eleven knife wounds on the body.

LOCKNEY QUITS UNDER FIRE

Resigns Office as District Attorney When Charges Are Preferred.

Waukesha.—Henry Lockney, district attorney of Waukesha county, resigned his office following the filing of an affidavit by former District Attorney Milo Muckleston, charging that Lockney had forfeited his office by accepting a retainer from certain common carriers and public utility corporations to act as a lobbyist for them during the session of the present legislature.

District Attorney Lockney, when informed of the charges, at once presented his resignation, declaring in explanation that he had forgotten that the statutes forbade his acceptance of any such employment. He admitted that he had accepted the retainers as charged by Muckleston, and carried out the terms of his employment by the carriers and utility corporations retaining him.

WILL MAKE TEST OPTIONAL

Bichler Bill, Repealing Compulsory Feature of Tuberculin Law, Goes to Governor.

Madison.—Unless the governor refuses to sign the Bichler bill repealing the law requiring that dairy and breeding cattle be tested for tuberculosis, the farmers of the state have won their fight against the compulsory test, as the senate concurred in the Bichler measure which makes the test optional.

The senate has concurred in the joint resolution for a constitutional amendment empowering the state to engage in the life insurance business and passed the bill to reimburse the members of the special legislative committee which negotiated a settlement of the back tax suits against state railroads and killed the Bossard measure requiring every voter to pay an annual poll tax of $3.

TAKES FARMER FOR FOX

Wealthy Racine County Man May Die From Wounds Inflicted By Employee.

Racine.—Mistaking the red walnut stock of a shotgun carried by his employer for a fox, Morris Matson, aged 23, a farm hand, sent a charge of buckshot into the body of Elmer Gifford, aged 54, a wealthy farmer. Gifford, who was hurried to a hospital here, is in a critical condition. An X-ray examination showed that over thirty of the shot penetrated his body and that one of them, which is in a vital spot, will necessitate an operation. The shooting was accidental, as Gifford and Matson had started out to shoot foxes, which had been killing chickens, and the former had entered a patch of thick brush to rout out the animals when the shooting occurred.

TEXT COMMISSION DENIED

Senate Follows Example of Assembly in Refusing to Create State Board—Vote Provision Bill Killed.

Madison.—By refusing to take the Kleczka bill from the table, where it had been laid to await the action of the assembly on a similar measure, relating to a state text book commission, the senate gave the text book commission idea its quietus. The vote in the upper house was 17 to 9 against the bill. The assembly killed a similar measure.

The senate, by a vote of 19 to 4, passed bill No. 158, which eliminates the necessity of a candidate receiving a required number of votes at the primaries to get his name on the official ballot. Fear was expressed that the bill will interfere with the second choice law.

"CUP OF DEATH" IS DOOMED

Banned by State Board of Health from Use in Public Buildings, Parks and Streets.

Madison.—The state board of health has decided to extend the prohibition of public drinking cups to all public buildings, parks, and streets. A reasonable time in which to make the change from cups to fountains is given. The board reported that the health of the people generally, of Wisconsin, was good. No epidemic or unusual prevalence of any particular contagion or disease exists. However, there is considerable typhoid and scarlet fever in some sections.

To Replace Burned Mill.

Marinette.—It is expected that the mill of Crawford & Son at Cedar River, which was destroyed by fire, will be replaced by a steel and concrete mill built on modern lines.

State Steamfitters Organize.

Fond du Lac.—Steamfitters of the state in a meeting here organized a permanent body to be known as the Wisconsin Steamfitters' association. M. E. Fishert of Milwaukee was chosen president, J. F. Ahearn, Fond du Lac, vice-president, and Fred Kaufman, Milwaukee, secretary.

Girl Drowned in Mill Pond.

Baraboo.—Miss Lilla Konkel of Greenfield, was found drowned in the mill pond here.

FOURTH PLEA FOR A PARDON

Edward Eckert, Who Has Served 33 Years of Life Sentence for Murder, Wants Freedom.

Madison.—After having served thirty-three years of a life sentence for murder, Edward Eckert, who killed Charles Peterson with a hatchet while camping in the woods near Fort Atkinson on Dec. 13, 1877, has filed an application for a pardon with Gov. McGovern. A similar petition was denied by the former governors, Davidson, La Follette and Scofield. Eckert asks a pardon on the grounds that he was illegally sentenced and that the length of time he has served is longer than the average human life.

Hotel Wars for Patrons.

Appleton.—Because the new Northwestern road train schedule transfers train No. 111, which runs through Manitowoc from Milwaukee to Appleton, to the Lake Shore division via Green Bay instead of this city, the Sherman house management says that its business has been affected and has secured an injunction to prevent the road from carrying out the change.

Taff's Cousin Dies at LaCrosse.

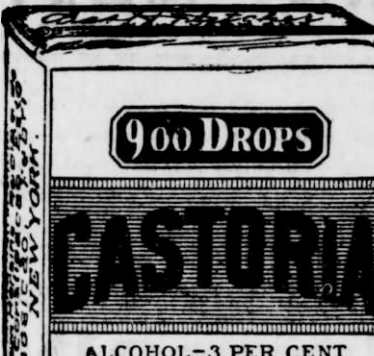

La Crosse.—Abner Lewis Taft, a cousin of President William Howard Taft, died at his home in New Amsterdam, aged 65.

Former Hotel Man Dead.

Racine.—A. J. Hannas, formerly owner of the leading hotel of Burlington and in former days owner and breeder of race horses, died at Manhattan, Kas., aged 80. His body was brought to Burlington for burial.

Unknown Man Murdered.

Milwaukee.—The body of an unidentified man, about 35 years of age, was found in an alley in the rear of 638 Thirty-fifth street. There were eleven knife wounds on the body.

USE A PORTABLE BOSS OVEN

With Patented GLASS DOOR

on your stove or range, either oil, gasoline, acetylene, alcohol or gas. No more spoiled bakings or jarring. No more wasted heat—No more worry or chilling of oven. Housewives can see their bakings without opening door. Economy and convenience both guaranteed in the BOSS—a polished baked steel oven lined with tin and asbestos.

GLASS in DOOR is guaranteed not to break from heat because it is secured by our patented yielding pressure retaining strips, which permit expansion and contraction. Glass door fits snugly in one-piece beaded front and is held tightly in place with two turnbuckles, preventing escape of heat.

Baking qualities and ventilation superior to any other oven or range. All heat goes right into the open bottom, and is perfectly distributed to all parts of the oven by means of our patented Heat Deflector. Flame always visible through small mica windows. With the BOSS a baking costs 20c less a cent. It will many times over pay for itself in saved bakings to say nothing of saved fuel.

Ask YOUR Dealer to show you the BOSS Glass Door Oven. INSIST upon seeing the name "BOSS" stamped in the front of oven. Thus you know that it is genuine and guaranteed.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weakness, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head!

Pope's Herb is prepared to provide a dependable household remedy, based upon the principle of purity of blood insuring freedom from disease. It is a medicine for maladies such as, Rheumatism, Liver Complaints, Constipation, Fever and Ague, Female Disorders, Indigestion, Lumbago, Kidney Derangements, Catarrh, Sick and Nervous Headaches, loss of Appetite and all ailments arising from inactivity of the Liver and Kidneys.

It is a purely Herbs, Barks and Roots Compound. It is put up in chocolate coated Tablets pleasing and easy to take, (or can be dissolved in water).

Mrs. J. C. Meade of Hyattsville, Md. says:

"For years I have suffered with Backache, Headaches, Neuralgia, and Nervousness and extreme Fatigue. I tried many remedies without relief. Four months ago a grateful friend induced me to write to Pope Medicine Co., Washington, D. C., for a box of Pope's Herb Compound Tablets, the very first dose of two tablets, gave me relief. I used not quite a $1.00 box and I am entirely cured of the pain in my back and have no more headache."

Dr. J. V. Hennessey, a prominent Physician and Surgeon of Albany, N. Y., in part says:

"As a Blood Purifier, Liver, Kidney and System regulator I prescribe Pope Medicine Co.'s of Washington, D. C. Herb Compound, as I have done for the past 20 years, and I have found it to be a great remedy, which seldom ever fails. There are thousands of letters from users of Pope's Herbs, that have been benefited and cured by its proper use. Pope's Herbs, Compound Tablets are put up 200 in a box, "six month's treatment", and will be sent post-paid on receipt of $1.00. Each box contains a printed guarantee binding us to refund the purchase price if the remedy fails to benefit, also full directions."

Guaranteed by the Pope Medicine Co., Inc., under the Pure Food and Drug Act, June 30, 1906, No. 34956.

AN EVENING OF PLEASURE

At the theatre or party is more complete when, upon reaching home, you enjoy together, a glass or two of

LITHIA BEER.

And it is much more than passing pleasure you derive from it. It exerts a needed soothing, quieting effect upon the nerves, following the excitement of the evening that fits one for a night of sound, refreshing sleep. If there were less coffee and more Lithia beer drank between the hours of 6 p. m. and midnight there would be much less insomnia.

Get a case of this exquisite beer for home use.

Oscar Burnett the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Burnett, died at his home here on Wednesday, June 21 at 5 P. M. Death came very sudden, being caused by an abscess forming in the head and which broke open. He had been sick only since last Sunday, but nothing serious was thought of until Wednesday afternoon, when the doctor advised that the deceased be removed to a hospital and undergo an operation. All necessary arrangements for the operation were made but before long he became worse. The whole family was then called together who were present at the bedside at the time of death.

Deceased was born on September 18, 1893 in Osceola township. He moved to this village with his parents in 1905 settling in lower town. Deceased was always a very bright and ambitious young man. He is also a graduate of the Auburn Grade School and the Campbellsport High School.

The funeral was held today Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock from the Baptist church. We extend our deep regrets and sorrow to the bereaved relatives.

Bonano

THE DISTINCTIVE DRINK

BONANO, the hot fruit drink, is DISTINCTIVE. Though similar in some respects to coffee, tea, chocolate and cocoa, it is in other respects quite unlike them. It has none of their harmful qualities.

BONANO served hot with cream and sugar is fragrant, appetizing, bracing, satisfying and nourishing.

It is the table beverage which furnishes through food value harmless stimulation.

It has a delightful aroma and delicious flavor not like any other.

Don't be prejudiced.

BONANO is not a substitute. It is the world's latest and best drink, healthful, strengthening and never harmful.

Give the children all they want.

BONANO is prepared so quickly and easily that it is just the drink to serve at luncheons or to unexpected guests. One teaspoon to a cup of water, boil only one minute, and serve with sugar and cream.

Seventy-five cups of a most delicious drink for only 25-cents.

Never sold in bulk or unsanitary paper cartons.
