FRED BACKHAUS BADLY INJURED

Vicious Horse Belonging to F. Backhaus Almost Chews Owner to Death

DAUGHTER IS HEROINE OF THE DAY

Miss Elsie Backhaus, a Daughter, Prevents the Deadly Act by Her Bravery

Fred Backhaus Sr., living just outside the village limits on the New Fane road had a narrow escape from death last Monday evening at about 7 o'clock, when a vicious horse almost chewed him to death. The deadly act was prevented by his daughter Elsie.

Mr. Backhaus was preparing to help the latter do some butchering. He had led the horse out of the barn and left him standing alone outside to go and get another horse, when returning he found that the horse had left and went towards the road, where he was eating grass. Mr. Backhaus called to his daughter, who was in the house, to stop the horse. He also proceeded to go after the horse. When within reaching distance the animal without any warning sprang upon his master and grabbed the latter by the back of the head inflicting a bite wound which is not serious. Mr. Backhaus no doubt then swung up his arm to defend himself and by doing so the crazed animal grabbed his arm at the wrist and chewed it up badly, also throwing the unfortunate man to the ground and was about to stamp him to death, when the screams of Mr. Backhaus attracted his daughter, who grabbed her father by the legs and dragged him to safety. While saving her father from death, the animal also sprang after her, but she was fortunate to get out of the way. Medical aid was at once summoned. Everything possible was done to save the hand but to no avail. On Thursday noon an operation was performed when the hand was amputated.

Miss Elsie Backhaus, the daughter of the injured man, is a young lady of about 26 years of age. Her daring act in saving the life of her father has been highly complimented on by the whole community. She certainly deserves receiving a Carnegie medal for her bravery.

KEWASKUM TO PROSPER

Sale of Lots in Rosenheimer's New Addition is Beginning to Take Place

NEW DWELLING HOUSES TO BE ERECTED

Several New Dwelling Houses Will be Erected in the New Addition the Coming Year

That Kewaskum is beginning to prosper is being shown by the purchasing of lots in Rosenheimer's new addition, which has recently been platted. The lots in this addition are without a question some of the best, if not the best, lots in the village. The location of this addition for a residence district is hard to be excelled. Among some of the recent purchasers of lots in this addition are Steve Wollonsak and Louis Brandt, both parties purchasing two lots each. The Rosenheimer's have plans and specifications for two new residences which they contemplate building on some of the lots in this addition this summer.

A picture of the new addition will soon appear in this paper. If anyone is looking for a good lot, which is very suitable for building a residence upon, would do well by negotiating with the Rosenheimers.

SLEUTHS DOG FUNK

HARVESTER COMPANY'S MANAGER SAYS HE IS BEING CONSTANTLY SHADOWED.

GETS THREATS OVER PHONE

Declares Detectives Haunt His Steps Even Into Committee Room at Washington—Repeats His Springfield (Ill.) Testimony.

Washington.—A decided sensation was caused in the Lorimer investigation when Clarence S. Funk, whose story precipitated the present inquiry, disclosed just before leaving the stand that since he told the story to the Helm committee he had been followed day and night by private detectives which he intimated were employed by Edward Hines, the Chicago millionaire lumberman.

Funk also said he had received many threats over the telephone and in anonymous letters, and it thereupon developed that the committee of the United States which is conducting the investigation has been annoyed by similar sinister warnings. Consternation was caused among the members of the committee when Mr. Funk declared, upon cross-examination, that the detectives who had been haunting his footsteps had followed him to the committee room and had taken their places among the spectators.

Mr. Funk admitted that he knew the name of one of the detectives and could produce him before the committee. The investigation was brought to a temporary halt while the committee retired and had a consultation with the witness. This conference lasted an hour, during which time Mr. Funk made an effort to find the detective. Falling in this, the hearing adjourned, and it is expected that the detective will be summoned before the committee.

Mr. Funk's interesting disclosure came after a long and rather dull session in which he repeated the testimony he gave the Helm committee at Springfield and told again the story of how Edward Hines approached him and asked him to contribute $100,000 to help make up the fund of $1,000,000 spent in getting Lorimer elected by the Illinois assembly.

Mr. Funk did not remember mentioning the names of Roger Sullivan and one of the Weyerhaeusers to H. H. Kohlsaat, to whom he related his conversation with Hines.

ALASKA COAL CLAIMS VOID

Cunningham Filings Are Disallowed by Land Commissioner Sanctioned by Secretary of Interior Fisher.

Washington.—The famous Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, through which it has been alleged that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate planned to extend its vast interests in Alaska and to control one of the most valuable coal fields in the world, were finally disallowed by the department of the interior.

Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior, having approved the department's decision, as handed down by Fred Dennett, commissioner of the land office, the last door is believed to have been closed to the Cunningham claimants. Their attorneys have threatened an appeal to the United States Supreme court, but such an appeal can be based only on some point of law involved and not on the findings of fact as announced by the department.

The Cunningham claims have been in the public eye longer than two years. They brought about the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation by congress and the dismissal from the public service of Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot. Louis R. Glavis, a chief of field division in the land office, and several minor officials. Both Pinchot and Glavis were dismissed for insubordination incident to their attacks on former Secretary Ballinger.

ROOT AMENDMENT IS LOST

Provision Proposing to Change Paper Section in Reciprocity Bill Defeated in Senate.

Washington.—Without even the formality of a record vote the Root amendment to the reciprocity bill passed into oblivion. In the first test of strength on reciprocity the senate defeated the paper trust proposal by a viva voce vote. A few scattering ayes, followed by a roar of noes, told the story. President Taft expressed great satisfaction over the result. The friends of reciprocity accept the result as a plain arguery of what is to follow when the vote is taken. Scores of amendments await to be disposed of, and there are still more to be introduced. They run the entire gamut of tariff revision. But all amendments will be resolutely voted down.

5,000 Cattle Are Drowned

Grand Junction, Colo.—Bursting of a reservoir containing 5,000 acres feet of water caused damage of $100,000. Five thousand cattle were drowned and several bridges were swept away. Thomas Dwyer telephoned warnings to ranchers below.

INDICT LUMBER MEN

FEDERAL GRAND JURY INDICTS FOURTEEN.

Officials of Organization Are Charged With Violating the Sherman Law and Accused of Conspiracy.

Chicago.—The special grand jury in the United States district court returned before Judge Landis indictments against 14 secretaries and former secretaries of wholesale and retail lumber dealers' associations in the western territory, charging a conspiracy to restrain interstate trade in violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Those indicted are: Arthur S. Holmes, Detroit, Mich., secretary of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers' association and editor of the Scout, a trade paper owned and controlled by lumber dealers.

George P. Sweet, also secretary of the Michigan association.

Willard C. Hollis, Minneapolis, secretary of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association.

Henry A. Gorauch, Kansas City, Mo., secretary of the Southwestern Lumbermen's association.

Bird Critchfield, Lincoln, Neb., secretary of the Nebraska Lumber Dealers' association.

E. E. Hall, also secretary of the Nebraska association.

Harry C. Searce, Mooresville, Ind., secretary of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association of Indiana.

H. H. Hemenway, Denver, Colo., secretary of the Colorado and Wyoming Lumber Dealers' association.

Louis I. Hellman, also secretary of the Colorado and Wyoming association.

H. S. Adams, Chillicothe, O., secretary of the Union Association of Lumber Dealers, and also of the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers.

B. N. Hayward, Columbus, O., also secretary of the Ohio association.

A. L. Porter, Spokane, Wash., secretary of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association.

R. P. Bransford, Union City, Tenn., secretary of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association of West Tennessee.

A. C. Rightor, Pittsburg, Pa., secretary of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association of Pennsylvania.

Three men escaped indictment by giving testimony before the grand jury, thereby wrapping themselves in the cloak of immunity prescribed by law. They are Paul Lachmund, Milwaukee, secretary of the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers' association; George W. Hotchkiss, Chicago, secretary of the Illinois Lumber and Builders' Supply Dealers' association, and at present secretary of the secretaries' bureau, and George Wilson Jones, also secretary of the Illinois association and assistant secretary of the secretaries' bureau.

Each individual is indicted on two counts, the first alleging a conspiracy among the retail dealers to restrain interstate trade and commerce between the manufacturer and wholesaler and the consumer, and the second charging a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition which ordinarily should exist between wholesaler and manufacturer and the retailer in supplying the consumer.

AEROPLANE ON A RAMPAGE

Airship Starts as Aviator Tries to Enter Seat—Exciting Chase Follows.

New York.—A wild aeroplane romped over the aviation field at Garden City, L. I., for 20 minutes, injured four men and finally wrecked itself on an embankment.

Andre Harpert, an aviator, stepped out of the aeroplane while the engine was going at half speed to adjust a rear plane. As he tried to re-enter the seat the aeroplane started and he was thrown to the ground.

It dragged him 200 feet and when he released his hold he was badly bruised. Half a dozen mechanics gave chase and were bowled over in succession, three of them being cut and bruised.

ILLINOIS POWER BILL LOST

House Members by Vote of 75 to 51 Defeat the Pet Measure of Governor.

Orphans' Home Dedicated

The report soon will be made public at the president's direction, so the house committee investigating the steel trust may obtain the benefit of it.

THERE ARE OTHER CROWNS

We May See the Coronation of a New Ruler in Our Own Country Some Time.

CORNELL IS VICTOR

WINS 'VARSITY EIGHT OARED RACE IN ANNUAL REGATTA ON HUDSON.

EVENT CLOSELY CONTESTED

Columbia Crew Beaten Near Finish Through Collapse of Bow and Stroke—Pennsylvania Is Third, Wisconsin Fourth, Syracuse Last.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Cornell was the winner in the 'varsity eight oared event in the annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson. Columbia finished a close second.

With bowman and stroke lying limp and senseless in their seats—rowed into utter exhaustion by a last cruel spurt—the crew of Columbia university crossed the finish line only a length and a half behind the triumphant eight from Cornell. They were beaten after victory had seemed to be within their grasp from the very bang of the starting gun. But nature, rather than Cornell, defeated them. The time was: Cornell 20:10 4/5, Columbia 20:16 4/5, Penna was third, after a brilliant struggle with Wisconsin whom they nosed out in the last few yards, while Syracuse, far, far behind, was a bad last. It was beyond all doubt the most brilliant 'varsity contest ever rowed on the historic old course.

There was joy for the followers of the Columbia camp, though, in the fact that their freshmen crew triumphed by two lengths over Cornell, with Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin further back.

The 'varsity four went to the Ithaca after a spectacular struggle with Syracuse, who finished only half a length behind. Columbia beat out the Red and Blue.

There were fewer yachts and a smaller crowd than usual both on the observation train and on the rocky heights of Poughkeepsie and High lands. Probably 40,000 persons, including Governor Dix, on the deck of the naval reserve ship Gloucester, watched the races.

FLIES OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Airman Beachy Circles Cataract in Aeroplane, Skims Surface of Rapids and Lands Safely.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 28.—With the whirr of his biplane motor drowned in the roar of the cataract and man and machine momentarily obscured in spray and mist, Lincoln Beachy, the California aviator, after circling above the falls, swooped beneath the arches of the upper steel bridge and down the gorge almost to the whirlpool.

It was the first time a bird-man had cut through the air currents and mist clouds and leaping foam caused by Niagara's falls and rapids that have lured so many adventurers to their death.

Throngs on the American and Canadian shores gazed with fascination at the aviator as he rose to a height of about 2,000 feet, twice circled above the cataract and then made the long swoop toward the narrow passage under the bridge. His biplane came racing over the Horseshoe fall so low that he was lost to view for an instant and then winged close to the water. It seemed almost to skim the water as he made the bridge passage.

RAIL MERGE UPHELD

COMBINATION OF RAILROADS DECIDED TO BE LEGAL.

In Dissenting Opinion Jurist Declares the Government's Petition to Be Well Founded.

St. Louis.—The United States circuit court of the eighth district handed down an opinion that the purchase of the Southern Pacific railroad by the Union Pacific "did not amount to a direct and substantial restraint of either interstate or international commerce." The recent decision of the United States Supreme court in the Standard Oil case was cited among others by Judge Elmer B. Adams, who wrote the majority opinion. Supreme Court Justice Willis Van De Vanter, while a circuit judge of the eighth district, participated in the hearing, deliberation and decision in the case and concurred in the opinion. Judge William C. Hook filed a dissenting opinion.

"Our conclusion," said Judge Adams, "is that, all the facts of the case, considered in their natural, reasonable and practical aspect, and given their appropriate relative significance, do not make the Union Pacific a substantial competitor for transcontinental business with the Southern Pacific in or prior to the year 1901.

"Certainly the desire to appropriate the trifling business done by the Southern Pacific on the minor lines or to suppress competition of traffic which was in the aggregate of such small proportions could not have been the inspiration of the vast outlay involved in the purchase of the Huntington stock. It did not amount to a direct and substantial restraint of either interstate or international commerce. This is not sufficient to bring it within the condemnation of the anti-trust law."

The court held also that the investment of the Harriman lines in the Santa Fe was not for acquiring control, and that if it was for obtaining inside information concerning the operation of a great competitor they chose a lawful way for doing it.

SEASON FOR BLOAT IN STOCK

Agricultural College Professor Gives Out Information Regarding Malady Among Cattle and Sheep.

Madison.—"From now until the close of the pasturing season, cattle and sheep will be subject to bloat or povent," says Dr. F. B. Hadley, assistant professor of veterinary science in the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. "This disease is an excessive accumulation of gas in the paunch, and is usually brought about by permitting animals to pasture on clover or alfalfa which is wet from either dew or rain. Large quantities of these feeds are greedily eaten, especially in the spring following winter feeding on dry foods, or in the later summer when the herds and flocks are turned into the second crop after the usual pastures are dried up or closely cropped.

"The chief symptom is a distension of the paunch noted in the left flank," continues Dr. Hadley. "Relief, which must be immediate if effective, is best afforded by the trochar and canula. This instrument should be in the hands of every stockman. The proper place to insert the instrument is on the left side in the center of the triangular area bounded in front by the last rib, above by the lower edge of the loin muscles and behind by the hip bone. Leave the canula in position 10 or 15 minutes, reinserting in a freshly made opening if necessary. Medicinal treatment is of minor importance as a rule.

"Prevention is easily carried out either by limiting the time at pasture to a few minutes each day until the stock becomes accustomed to the change of feeds, or by feeding large quantities of dry hay in the morning before they are turned onto the green pasture. In either case care should be taken that no moisture is present."

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles, they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. He neglects to tell her of his divorce. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned. Jim's Jap servant is taken ill. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance. Belle insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man tacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallpox" printed on it. He tells him the guests cannot leave the house until the quarantine is lifted. After the lifting of the quarantine several letters are found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Llewellyn, Igulque, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of their incarceration, also of his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson. Aunt Selina is taken ill with a gripe. Betty acts as nurse. Harbison finds Kit sulking on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is grasped in the arms of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison did it and is humiliated. Aunt Selina tells Jimmy that her cameo broochpin and other articles of jewelry have been stolen. She accuses Betty of the theft. Jimmy tells Aunt Selina all about the strange happenings, but she persists in suspecting Betty of the theft of her valuables. Harbison demands an explanation from Kit as to her conduct towards him, she tells him of the incident on the roof, he does not deny nor confirm her accusation. One of the guests devises a way to escape from the house. They set fire to the reception room and attempt to leave the house from the rear. The guards discover the ruse and prevent them from escaping. Max finds Anne's pearl clasp pin in Jimmy's studio in a discarded coat. Jimmy is suspected of the theft, but denies the accusation. Kit finds a watch hanging to a pillar in the basement and with initials T. H. engraved upon it. She opens the case and finds a picture of herself that had been clipped from a newspaper.

CHAPTER XVI.

I Face Flannigan.

Dinner had waited that night while everybody went to the coal cellar and stared at the hole in the wall, and watched while Max took a tracing of it and of some footprints in the coal dust on the other side.

I did not go. I went into the library with the guilty watch in a fold of my gown, and found Mr. Harbison there, starting through the February gloom at the blank wall of the next house, and quite unconscious of the reporter with a drawing pad just below him in the area-way. I went over and closed the shutters before his very eyes, but even then he did not move.

"Will you be good enough to turn around?" I demanded at last.

"Oh!" he said, wheezing. "Are you here?"

There wasn't any reply to that, so I took the watch and placed it on the library table between us. The effect was all that I had hoped. He stared at it for an instant, then at me, with his hand outstretched for it, stopped.

"Where did you find it?" he asked. I couldn't understand his expression. He looked embarrassed, but not at all afraid.

"I think you know, Mr. Harbison," I retorted.

"I wish I did. You opened it?"

"Yes."

We stood looking at each other across the table. It was his glance that wavered.

"About the picture—of you," he said at last. "You see, down there in South America, a fellow hasn't much to do evenings, and a—chum of mine and I—we were awfully down on what we called the plutocrats, the—the leisure classes. And when that picture of yours came in the paper, we had—we had an argument. He said—"

"What did he say?"

"Well, he said it was the picture of an empty-faced society girl."

"Oh!" I exclaimed.

"I—I maintained there were possibilities in the face." He put both hands on the table, and bending forward, looked down at me. "Well, I was a fool, I admit. I said your eyes were kind and candid, in spite of that naughty mouth. You see, I said I was a fool."

"I think you are exceedingly rude," I managed finally. "If you want to know where I found your watch, it was down in the coal cellar. And if you admit you are an idiot, I am not. I—I know all about Bella's bracelet—and the board on the roof, and—oh, if you would only leave—Anne's necklace—on the coal, or somewhere—and get away—"

My votes got beyond me then, and I dropped into a chair and covered my face. I could feel him staring at the back of my head.

"Well, I'll be—" something or other, he said finally, and then turned on his heel and went out. By the time I got my eyes dry (yes, I was crying; I always do when I am angry) I heard Jim coming downstairs, and I tucked the watch out of sight. Would any one have foreseen the trouble that watch would make!

Jim was sulky. He dropped into a chair and stretched out his legs, looking gloomily at nothing. Then he got up and ambled into his den, closing the door behind him without having spoken a word. It was more than human nature could stand.

When I went into the den he was stretched on the davenport with his face buried in the cushion. He looked absolutely wilted, and every line of him was drooping.

"Go on out, Kit," he said, in a smothered voice. "Be a good girl and don't follow me around."

"You are shameless!" I gasped. "Follow you! When you are hung around my neck like a—like a—"

Millstone was what I wanted to say, but I couldn't think of it.

He turned over and looked up from his cushions like an ill-treated and suffering cherub.

"I'm done for, Kit," he groaned. "Bella went up to the studio after we left, and investigated that corner."

"What did she find? The necklace?" I asked eagerly. He was too wretched to notice this.

"No, that picture of you that I did last winter. She is crazy—she says she is going upstairs and sit in Takahiro's room and take smallpox and die."

"Fiddlesticks!" I said rudely, and somebody hammered on the door and opened it.

"Pardon me for disturbing you," Bella said, in her best dear-me-I-missed-I-knocked manner. "But—Flannigan says the dinner has not come."

"Good Lord!" Jim exclaimed. "I forgot to order the confounded dinner!"

It was eight o'clock by that time, and as it took an hour at least after telephoning the order, everybody looked blank when they heard. The entire family, except Mr. Harbison, who had not appeared again, escorted me to the telephone and hung around hungrily, suggesting new dishes every minute. And then—he couldn't raise Central. It was 15 minutes before we gave up, and stood staring at one another despairingly.

"Call out of a window and get one of those infernal reporters to do something useful for once," Max suggested. But he was indignantly hushed. We would have starved first. Jim was peering into the transmitter and knocking the receiver against his hand, like a watch that had stopped. But nothing happened. Flannigan reported a box of breakfast food, two lemons and a pineapple cheese, a combination that didn't seem to lend itself to anything.

We went back to the dining room from sheer force of habit and sat around the table and looked at the lemonade Flannigan had made. Anne would talk about the salad her last cook had concocted, and Max told about a little town in Connecticut where the restaurant keeper smokes a corn-cob pipe while he cooks the most luscious fried clams in America. And Aunt Selina related that in her family they had a recipe for chicken smothered in cream. And then we sipped the weak lemonade and nibbled at the cheese.

"To change this gridiron martyrdom," Dallas said finally, "where's Harbison? Still looking for his watch?"

"Watch!" Everybody said it in a different tone.

"Sure," he responded. "Says his watch was taken last night from the studio. Better get him down to take a squint at the telephone. Likely he can fix it."

Flannigan was beside me with the cheese. And at that moment I felt Mr. Harbison's stolen watch slip out of my girdle, slide greasily across my lap, and clatter to the floor. Flannigan stooped, but luckily it had gone under the table. To have had it picked up, to have had to explain how I got it, to see them try to ignore my picture pasted in it—oh, it was impossible! I put my foot over it.

"Drop something?" Dallas asked perfunctorily, rising. Flannigan was still half kneeling.

"A fork," I said, as easily as I could, and the conversation went on. But Flannigan knew, and I knew he knew. He watched my every movement like a hawk after that, standing just behind my chair. I dropped my useless napkin, to have it whirled up before it reached the floor. I said to Betty that my shoe buckle was loose, and actually got the watch in my hand, only to let it slip at the critical moment. Then they all got up and went sadiy back to the library, and Flannigan and I faced each other.

Flannigan was not a handsome man at any time, though up to then he had at least looked amiable. But now as I stood with my hand on the back of my chair, his face grew suddenly menacing. The silence was absolute. I was the guiltiest wretch alive, and opposite me the law towered and glowered, and held the yellow remnant of a pineapple cheese! And in the silence that wretched watch lay and ticked and ticked and ticked. Then Flannigan creaked over and closed the door into the hall, came back, picked up the watch, and looked at it.

"You're unlucky, I'm thinkin'," he said finally. "You've got the nerve all right, but you ain't cute enough."

"I don't know what you mean," I quavered. "Give me that watch to return to Mr. Harbison."

"Not on your life," he retorted easily. "I give it back myself, like I'm going to give back the necklace, if you act like a sensible little girl."

I could only choke.

"It's foolish, any way you look at it," he persisted. "Here you are lots of friends, folks that think you're all right. Why, I reckon there isn't one of them that wouldn't lend you money if you needed it so bad."

"Will you be still?" I said furiously. "Mr. Harbison left that watch—witt me—an hour ago. Get him, and he will tell you so himself!"

"Of course he would," Flannigan conceded, looking at me with grudging approval. "He wouldn't be what I think he is, if he didn't lie up and down for you." There were voices in the hall. Flannigan came closer. "An hour ago, you say. And he told me it was gone this morning! It's a losing game, miss. I'll give you 24 hours and then—the necklace, if you please, miss."

CHAPTER XVII.

A Clash and a Kiss.

The clash that came that evening had been threatening for some time. Take an immovable body, represented by Mr. Harbison and his square jaw, and an irresistible force, Jimmy and his weight, and there is bound to be trouble.

The real fault was Jim's. He had gone entirely mad again over Bella and thrown prudence to the winds. He mooned at her across the dinner table, and waylaid her on the stairs or in the back halls, just to hear her voice when she ordered him out of the way. He telephoned for flowers and candy for her quite shamelessly, and he got out a book of photographs that they had taken on their wedding journey, and kept it on the library table.

The sole concession he made to our presumptive relationship was to bring me the responsibility for everything that went wrong, and his shirts for buttons.

The first I heard of the trouble was from Dal. He waylaid me in the hall after dinner that night, and his face was serious.

"I'm afraid we can't keep it up very long, Kit," he said. "With Jim trailing Bella all over the house, and the old lady keener every day, it's bound to come out somehow. And that isn't all. Jim and Harbison had a set-to today—about you."

"About me!" I repeated. "Oh, I dare say I have been falling short again. What was Jim doing? Abusing me?"

Dal looked cautiously over his shoulder, but no one was near.

NOT OVERESTIMATED.

"Let me tell you, gentlemen," said the earnest vegetarian, who was lecturing before the Butchers' association, "that there is more energy contained in a single banana than there is in five pounds of the best beef-steak."

Instantly a storm of protesting and derisive hisses broke forth from the indignant audience. But above the noisy rasp could be heard the stentorian voice of a husky-looking individual shouting: "The man is right! The man is right! But he fails to allow enough energy for the fruit. I know from my own personal experience that a mere fraction of the outside of a banana contains sufficient energy to take the best wrestler in the world off his feet."

Consistent.

"Senator," said the reporter, "may I ask how you made your first thousand?"

"Yes, sir," responded Senator Grapher; "I made it in the same way that I made all my subsequent thousands."

Awed by the arrogance of his manner, the reporter refrained from heading the story of the interview "A Confession!"

Comparing Notes.

The motorist and the aviator met for a confidential chat.

"That's a fine machine you have," said the admiring aviator.

"Yes, it is the greatest farm wagon buster in the country. And how about your aeroplane?"

"Sh! Best chizney buster in the world, old chap."

The Reason.

"I always do the marketing for my wife."

"The last time I did the marketing I got cold feet."

"Why should you do that?"

"Because she told me to; she said people always had pigs' feet at a Dutch lunch."

Shouldn't Blame Him.

"It was a poet that accepted the first presidency of Portugal."

"Well, he had to make a living, didn't he?"

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

The committee in charge of the picnic wish to correct this statement by saying that the admission to the grove on that day is free.

A horse hitched to a milk wagon driven by Fred Mielke was frightened last Tuesday by an automobile and ran away. The only damage done was that the harness tore and the phis broke. The wagon with two milk cans filled with milk were not damaged. Mr. Mielke jumped from the wagon just as soon as the harness tore thereby escaping perhaps serious injury. The horse ran as far as the cheese factory where it stopped.

—Bonano is made only from the meat of different varieties of ripe bananas, dried in the tropics, then granulated, roasted and blended under scientific processes.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

Keep weeds out of strawberries.

Farm teams should have extra care.

Horses should not be checked up when at work.

Wild mustard causes but little trouble in the corn belt.

Ensilage materially reduces the cost of raising and fattening cattle.

Sometimes old strawberry beds will pay to keep for another fruiting.

Ordinarily the best animal food for hens at this time of year is cut green bone.

For the women who love plants there is nothing so pleasant as indoor gardening.

A sanitary stable is absolutely necessary for a uniform quality of good butter.

It costs less to raise strawberries in a new bed, and they are of better size and flavor.

A man who cannot succeed with a scrub flock will hardly make a success with a pure bred herd.

Dairy farmers should not raise or buy timothy hay for cows. Clover or alfalfa is much better as a milk producer.

With the majority of farmers the pasture provides the sole summer feed for all the animals except the work horses.

A patch of rutabagas or an acre of pumpkins will make the cows remember you with increased yields next fall and winter.

The temperature of the cream when in the churn should range from 52 to 56 degrees, and it should be churned for 30 to 40 minutes.

The sheep that shears ten pounds or over, an animal of good size and strong back, with proper attention will make money for its owner.

The great advantage of the cream separator over the various systems of cream-raising is that thick or thin cream, as desired, may be obtained.

Home-grown seeds, pure, free from weeds and found by local experience to afford satisfactory yields, are generally to be preferred over all others.

Summer selection should be kept up until the fowls are fully grown. Dispose of every little runt that shows up, because they are not worth keeping.

Get the horseradish into the ground just as soon as possible. Plant the roots two or three inches deep with the thick end up. The soil must be very rich.

All infertile eggs have a value. While it is unlawful to sell these eggs we find that when well boiled and mixed with cornmeal they make excellent food for chicks.

To give the hen heat and energy, we use carbonaceous matter (carbohydrates—starches). The two must be mixed. Fats, to a more or less extent, can be found in every article of food.

A gallon tin fruit can with holes made a half inch from the open end and inverted over an inch deep pie pan makes an ideal drinking fountain. Use the scrub brush on the pan once in awhile, too.

When corn is several inches high, put in the sulky cultivator set to mellow the ground fully five inches deep when corn is small and shallow; when stalks are half grown and roots spread across the rows.

The Pekin duck is very hardy, a good layer and fattens quickly. The ducklings, if well cared for should be ready for market in ten weeks. They should be killed before the pen feathers begin to grow.

Be careful not to overcrowd the birds during the hot season. Fresh air and cool quarters are conducive to health these warm days, and prevention is better than cure with chickens, seeing that the best cure for a sick fowl is death.

If the hens are confined to a small yard, a portion of the yard should be dug up once a week and a little finely-ground bone and meat fed three times during the week to take the place of the worms and insects they would pick up when at large.

Alfalfa roots are fine and tender.

Iron sulphate solution kills dandelions.

The horses should have free access to salt at all times.

Goslings must be driven in when a hard shower comes up.

A rich sandy loam with clay subsoil, is the best ground for berries.

Do not allow a dying or worthless tree to stand in or near an orchard.

Beef, meal and meat scrap are fed by many poultrymen with excellent results.

Club root of cabbage is one of the most annoying yet easily controlled of diseases.

The matter of growing the corn and filling the silo is of great and growing importance.

Cattle on pasture can be fed grain and made ready for market early in the summer.

Wheat and oats in equal parts ground together are excellent for chicks of any age.

As soon as the corn is up, or even before, go over the field with a weeder or smoothing harrow.

Flaxseed may be broadcasted, but is generally drilled at the rate of from two to three pecks to the acre.

A small amount of animal food is required by all poultry, especially during the time of egg production.

Try to see that the chicks are not fed until at least 48 hours old; then give water first, feed afterwards.

Failures in the sheep business, in nine cases out of ten, may be traced to overconfidence and "plunging."

The farmer who makes milk production his business is a dairyman, and he needs the best of dairy cows.

If one has pigs that have to be kept in a yard all summer, sweet corn is the best green feed he can grow for them.

Barley and kaffir corn are both good poultry feed, but not essential when one has plenty of the above mentioned grains.

Dairymen doing a small business connected with farming cannot live up to the standard without increasing the cost of milk.

The temperature in a brooder the first week should be 95 degrees, second week 90 degrees and the third week 85 degrees is enough.

Corn silage and alfalfa make an excellent ration for dairy cows and good yields of milk have been reported where nothing else was fed.

Go over the young apple trees and cut off every water sprout with a sharp knife close to the trunk. Do it early and they will heal this season.

It is the early vegetable that brings the big price and the man who sticks to his hot bed and makes good use of it always gets to market first.

There are several crops which may be planted for late summer pasture which will furnish fresh, succulent green feed for all seasons of the year.

Two or three days after potatoes are planted go over the field with a harrow, and continue this until the plants are several inches above the ground.

As soon as the potatoes are planted and up sufficiently to cultivate, it is becoming customary, and necessary, to spray with some poison solution to kill the bugs.

The fruiting strawberries should have all weeds and grass cut out between plants; take a sharp, narrow-bladed hoe and cut the soil fine without disturbing the roots.

The poultry yard should be all cleared away and tidied up in June, and all coops and racks no longer in use securely stored away in some shed where they will be kept dry until next season.

One can spread ashes, lime, land plaster, pulverized lime rock, etc., etc., with the manure spreader by first putting a layer of litter in the bottom of the spreader and the fine material on top.

A remarkable thing about alfalfa is its perennial youth. When one growth is removed another one comes on immediately to take its place, and so continually as long as moisture and temperature conditions are favorable.

Grow your tomatoes on trellises this year and see if you do not have better crops than ever before. Trellises should be set in the ground about 18 inches deep when the plants are set out and the vines trained from the start.

When one stops to consider the stupendous fact that Philadelphia, Chicago and New York consume 7,000,000 cases of eggs annually, some idea may be obtained of the number required to feed Uncle Sam's rapidly increasing family all over the country.

SAENGERFEST ENDS WITH GREAT PICNIC

CONVENTION OF NORTH AMERICAN SAENGERBUND AT MILWAUKEE CLOSSES.

LOUISVILLE GETS 1914 MEET

Music and Gaiety Marked Presence of Great Assemblage of German Singers—Chorus the Largest Ever Gathered in America.

Milwaukee.—The great thirty-third festival of song of the North American Saengerbund, which has been held in Milwaukee during four days, closed with a picnic and kommers in Pabst park. Preceding the picnic was a parade, one of the most spectacular held in Milwaukee in many a day, in which 3,000 singers participated.

At the business session of the Saengerbund the following officers were elected:

President—Charles G. Schmidt, Cincinnati, O.

First vice president—Wm. Arens, Chicago, Ill.

Second vice president—Peter Mettler, Toledo, O.

Treasurer—John P. Frenzel, Indianapolis, Ind.

Secretary—Adam Lind, St. Louis, Mo.

Directors—Jacob Boehm, St. Louis; Justus Emme, Chicago; Joseph Heim, Cleveland; F. W. Keck, St. Louis; Dr. A. Knoch, Cincinnati; Dr. J. Moeller, Milwaukee; Frederick Reber, Fullersburg, Ill.; Eugene Niederreger, Chicago; Christian Saam, Allegheny, Pa.; Jacob Spohn, Chicago; Dr. Gustave Keitz, New Orleans, and E. J. Seideneck, New Orleans.

The next saengerfest will be held in Louisville in 1914. This was the city which made the greatest appeal for the meeting, all through the Milwaukee gathering. Communications from the mayor and the business men of Louisville had been presented to the attention of the singers, and a hearty verbal invitation had been extended.

The last day of the great meeting was one of jollification. Immense tents had been erected at Pabst park, where the picnic was held, and under them the 4,000 singers gathered with their wives and sang and made merry.

It is impossible at this time to give more than estimated figures on the financial result of the saengerfest, but the apparent deficit is about $8,000. The total receipts were approximately $52,000 and the expenses $60,000.

The box office receipts, that is for the sale of tickets, which were $13,000, was expected to total $22,000. A sale of that magnitude would have let the fest out about even financially.

The falling off is accounted for by lack of support in Milwaukee and in the state. Both the state and its metropolises did not respond.

No support to speak of came from Wisconsin cities which did not have societies entered in the fest, and even in them the sale of seats was very disappointing.

The secretary's report showed a membership of 180 societies in the bund. Since the last fest, three years ago, the bund has lost one society and gained eighteen. This is regarded as satisfactory growth. There are now 3,500 singers in the organization.

SAVES BODY OF COMPANION

Chicago Man Swims Nearly Quarter of a Mile When Friend Dies of Apoplexy on Lake.

Kenosha.—Frederick G. Schreiner, aged 65, one of the pioneer saloon men of Chicago, died at Camp Lake of apoplexy caused by the heat. It was due to Edward Roberts of Chicago, who was with the dead man in the boat, that his body was not lost in the lake. Schreiner was standing up fishing when, without warning, he fell into the boat. The boat capsized and the two men went into the water. Roberts grasped Schreiner's clothing and started to swim to shore, a full quarter of a mile away.

Senate Kills Batch of Bills. Madison.—The senate killed the Roessler bill, appropriating $1,000 to the Wisconsin State Firemen's association; the Hurlbut bill, providing for the commitment of inebriates and persons addicted to the use of drugs and opiates to the state hospitals, and the Harper bill, directing the state board of control to report to the next legislature on plans for the care of indigent, crippled and deformed children.

Find Body in Wine Cask. Milwaukee.—The body of George Beisswenger, a blind saloon keeper at 676 East Water street, was found in a wine hogshead in the rear of his saloon, with the feet protruding over the sides of the cask. He had threatened to commit suicide.

Madison Man Drowns Self. Madison.—James Caffrey, a laborer, committed suicide by drowning himself in Lake Monona. He was despondent over ill health.

GIVE $5,000,000 TO SCHOOLS

Bill Carrying Big Appropriation for University and State Normal Passes the Senate.

Madison.—Five million dollars was appropriated for the state university and normal schools for the next two years by the senate, which passed the educational appropriation bill recommended by the finance committee. The university gets $3,700,000, the normal schools $1,300,000.

There was a hot fight over the question of making a fixed appropriation or levying a tax for the support of the state's educational institutions, but advocates of the tax were victorious.

Amendment after amendment was offered but the only one adopted was offered by Senator Bosshard. This provides that the annual appropriation of $150,000 for the normal schools shall run for four instead of three years. The vote was 12 to 11.

The debate over substituting a fixed appropriation for a special mill tax followed the introduction of an amendment by Senator Whitehead, striking out the provision of the bill calling for a tax of three-eighths of a mill for the university and substituting a specific appropriation of $1,113,000 annually for two years, and striking out the provision calling for a tax of one-sixth of a mill for the normal schools and making a specific appropriation of $500,000 annually for the same period. The amendment was rejected, 4 to 19.

Senator Teasdale introduced another amendment along the same lines, fixing the appropriation for the university at $1,000,000 a year and for the normal schools at $400,000 in lieu of the mill tax. This also was rejected by the same vote.

Senator Bosshard next came forward with an amendment providing that a special appropriation for the normal schools be increased by appropriating $150,000 annually for four years instead of three years. This was adopted by a vote of 12 to 11.

This appropriation, which will be the largest made at the present session, will now be considered by the assembly. It is believed that another effort will be made there to inaugurate fixed appropriations.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ELECT

Burns, Milwaukee; grand master of the exchequer, Theodore Zillmer, Milwaukee; grand prelate, A. C. Taylor, Portage; master at arms, H. L. Halsted, Baraboo; inner guard, F. E. The 1912 convention will be held at Oconomowoc.

FAST TRAIN LEAVES TRACK

Wreckers Blamed for Derailing of Passenger at Marinette—Fireman Probably Fatally Injured.

Marinette.—A Milwaukee passenger train was wrecked near the city limits while running forty miles an hour.

Ferdinand Moss, Menominee, fireman, was probably fatally injured. T. P. Adams, engineer, was slightly hurt, and W. H. Osborn, a passenger, bruised.

The Wisconsin and Michigan passenger passed safely over the spot an hour before the wreck.

Examination after the wreck showed that the switch rod had been pried out and a big stone placed in the switch to throw the train onto a short switch leading to a slough of the river.

The engine and baggage and smoker cars left the tracks. The engineer and fireman jumped. The fifteen passengers were all shaken up.

PFEIL IS HELD FOR MURDER

Sheboygan County Farmer Bounced at Second Examination—Uncover New Evidence.

Sheboygan.—In the same courtroom where, a little over a week before, Julius Pfeil was discharged for wife murder, Court Commissioner Phalen bound him over to the next term of the circuit court, without bail. At the former preliminary examination Court Commissioner Prescott discharged the defendant, holding that the state had failed to prove a case.

District Attorney Collins rearrested Pfeil, alleging the discovering of new and damaging evidence. This evidence was in the form of testimony from Dr. Pfeiler of Frankfurt in that January four ounces of carbolic acid was secured from him.

The witness testified regarding a conversation with Pfeil concerning the bottle of carbolic acid, stating that the defendant asked him about the carbolic acid some three weeks after the death of his wife.

Former Football Star Dead.

Madison.—Arne C. Lerum, aged 31 years, clerk of the Circuit court for Dane county, a widely known alumnus of the University of Wisconsin and a star football player during his university career, died here from intestinal cancer.

Admits Attempt at Suicide.

Sheboygan.—Mrs. Adolph Wangeinan, who was found with throat and legs badly slashed as the result of a supposed attack, admits she had attempted to commit suicide.

Admit Law Graduates.

Madison.—The state supreme court has admitted thirty-two 1911 graduates of the university law school to practice before the state bar.

Slain Woman's Husband Appears.

Marinette.—Joseph Marlow, estranged husband of Anna Marlow, whose murdered body was found on a street here, has arrived from Hermansville, Mich. He asserts that if accused of complicity in his wife's death, he can establish an alibi.

Falls 75 Feet and Lives.

Racine.—Peter Dwyette, of Chicago, an iron worker, fell seventy-five feet here and not only escaped a dye, but sustained no broken bones.

MUST SUBMIT RATE CHANGES TO BOARD

RAILROADS CANNOT ADOPT NEW SCHEDULES WITHOUT CONSENT OF COMMISSION.

NOTICE GIVEN OF NEW LAW

Roads Are Required to File Detailed Statements 30 Days Prior to Altering Rates and Give Reason for the Proposed Changes.

Madison.—The railroad commission has sent out letters to all roads operating in this state advising them of the new law relating to changes in freight rates. This law (chapter 150 of the laws of 1911) sets forth that no change shall be made in any schedule "unless such change shall be first approved by the commission."

The railroad commission's letter notifies the companies that the commission will require the filing of all information as to the reasons which make changes necessary or desirable. These notices must be filed not less than thirty days prior to the date of the change as proposed.

Following out the spirit of the new law the commission says further:

"You are hereby notified that, except in emergency cases, the commission decides that it will not approve of any change in rates or classification without full information as to why such change is proposed and what effect such change, if made, may have and requests that all applications for approval of changes be formally made by letter to the commission as soon as possible after it is decided to make any change. Applications for approval of changes should, in addition to reasons for changes, state clearly: (1) The rate to be charged and in what tariff it is published; (2) From and to, or between what points it applies; (3) Whether class or commodity rate and if commodity the articles on which it applies; (4) The proposed rate and in what tariff it will be published as approved."

Church and State. "If our government is to be enduring it must rest on principles of justice, truth and righteousness, sanctioned by recognition of a supreme being whose superintending providence watches over the affairs of nations and of men. There is no official union of church and state in this country, but there is no antagonism between the civil and religious authorities. Church and state move on parallel lines. The state holds over the spiritual rulers the aegis of its protection without interfering with rights of conscience. The church helps enforce civil laws by moral and religious sanctions. It is the duty of us all, churchmen and laymen, to hold up the hands of our president, as Aaron and Hur stayed up the hands of Moses."—Cardinal Gibbons.

The hansom ordered by a middle-aged spinster was late, and the caddy came in for a good rating when he finally drove up to the door.

The driver clucked up his horse easily. "You'll make your train all right, madam," he assured the woman inside. "And I'll let you have me number if you like. But you can't have me name. That's promised ter another young lady."

Declining With Thanks.

A young woman prominent in the social set of an Ohio town tells of a young man there who had not familiarized himself with the forms of polite correspondence to the fullest extent. When, on one occasion, he found it necessary to decline an invitation, he did so in the following terms:

Mr. Henry Blank declines with pleasure Mrs. Wood's invitation for the nineteenth, and thanks her extremely for having given him the opportunity of doing so.—Lippincott's Magazine.

WESTERN CANADA'S GOOD CROP PROSPECTS

YIELDS OF WHEAT WILL LIKELY
BE 25 TO 30 BUSHELS
PER ACRE.

In an interview with Mr. W. J. White, who has charge of the Canadian government immigration offices in the United States, and who has recently made an extended trip through the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta in Western Canada. He said that every point he visited he was met with the one report, universally good crops of wheat, oats and barley. There will this year be a much increased acreage over last year. Many farmers, who had but one hundred acres last year, have increased their cultivated and seeded acreage as much as fifty per cent. With the prospects as they are at present, this will mean from $12 to $15 additional wealth to each. He saw many large fields running from 300 to 1,000 acres in extent and it appeared to him that there was not an acre of this but would yield from 20 to 25 or 30 bushels of wheat per acre, while the oat prospects might safely be estimated at from 40 to 70 bushels per acre. In all parts of the west, whether it be Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, north and south, east and west, and in the districts where last year there was a partial failure of crops, the condition of all grain is universally good and claimed by most of the farmers to be from one to two weeks in advance of any year for the past ten or twelve years. It does not seem that there was a single foot of the ground that was properly seeded that would not produce.

There are those throughout western Canada who predict that there will be 200,000,000 bushels of wheat raised there this year, and if the present favorable conditions continue, there does not seem any reason why these prophesies should not come true. There is yet a possibility of hot winds reducing the quantity in some parts, but with the strongly rooted crops and the sufficiency of precipitation that the country has already been favored with, this probability is reduced to a minimum.

The prices of farm lands at the present time are holding steady and lands can probably still be purchased at the price set this spring, ranging from $15 to $20 per acre, but with a harvested crop, such as is expected, there is no reason why these same lands should not be worth from $20 to $25 per acre, with an almost absolute assurance that by next spring there will still be a further advance in prices.

Mr. White says that these lands are as cheap at today's figures with the country's proven worth as they were a few years ago at half the price when the general public had but a vague idea of the producing quality of western Canada lands.

The land agents at the different towns along the line of railway are very active. A large number of acres are turned over weekly to buyers from the different states in the south, where lands that produce no better are sold at from $150 to $200 per acre.

The homestead lands are becoming scarcer day by day and those who are unable to purchase, preferring to homestead, are directing their attention to the park acres lying in the northerly part of the central districts. It has been found that while these are somewhat more difficult to bring under the subjugation of the plow, the soil is fully as productive as in the districts farther south. They possess the advantage that the more open prairie areas do not possess; that there is on these lands an open acreage of from fifty to seventy per cent of the whole and the balance is made up of groves of poplar of fair size, which offer shelter for cattle, while the grasses are of splendid strength and plentiful, bringing about a more active stage of mixed farming than can be carried on in the more open districts to the south.

The emigration for the past year has been the greatest in the history of Canada and it is keeping up in record shape. The larger number of those, who will go this year will be those who will buy lands nearer the line of railways, preferring to pay a little higher price for good location than to go back from the line of railways some 40 or 50 miles to homestead.

Mr. White has visited the different agencies throughout the United States and he found that the correspondence at the various offices has largely increased, the number of callers is greater than ever.

Any one desiring information regarding western Canada should apply at once to the Canadian Government Agent nearest him for a copy of the "Last Best West."

The Old Time Salute

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

'Most ever' place has got a gun o' some kind nowadays—
The guve'nmmnt is givin' cannon ever' whichaways—
An when th' Fourth is welcomed in they load th' gun an shoot;
But, say, it isn't nothin' to th' good old time salute.

Remember how we use' to do? We didn't need no gun.
We'd get a pair o' anvils an' we'd wait the risin' sun,
A shiverin' a little bit when th' cold wind 'ud strike—
But when we shot th' anvils off—well, that 'uz somepin' like!

We'd set th' biggest on th' ground an' keerfully we'd drop
Some blastin' powder in th' hole that's sunk into th' top.
An' then we'd make a primin' fuse, an' put th' little one
On top th' other—There you've got the finest kind o' gun!

We'd have some turn rods red hot an' still a heatin, too,
An' when th' sun's first ray 'ud come th' gray clouds streakin' through
We'd tech th' turn to th' fuse—an' all of us 'ud scoot
To safety when we shook th' ground ith that old time salute.

Th' cannons aint as good, no, sir! When me an' you was boys—
I leave it to you now—them anvils made th' biggest noise!
I wonder if there is a place where still they like to shoot
The anvils jest at early dawn in the old time salute.

BLIGHTER HOPES.

What is there left for a feller to do? What is there left?—I am askin' of you. Ain't any buffaloes that he can kill. Since they was finished by Buffalo Bill, Ain't any fleets he can sail up an' fight. Since Dewey showed us his courage an' might—
I've looked around an' all over the ground;
Nothin' is left, sence th' pole has been found.

I'd been a thinkin' o' givin' some day—
Hittin' th' trail for th' plains far away;
Learnin' to lasso an' handle a gun,
But bel'n' cowboy now ain't any fun,
Thought some o' bel'n' a bandmaster, but
They got th' phonographs, open an' shut!
All a boy's chances is bygone an' past.
Sence th' north pole is discovered at last.

Can't go kill Injuns—there ain't none to kill;
Most o' them's workin' in somebody's mill.
Or else they're farmin'; they don't any more.

I've to th' warpath an' holler for gore.
I've looked an' thought till I'm puzzled an' blue;
There ain't no place I can run away to,
I might as well get a job haulin' coal.
Sence Mister Peary discovered th' pole.

Prize-fightin' used to suit me purty well,
But there ain't no one like big old John L.;
Brakin' a train was a job that looked fair,
But nowadays they are brak'in' with air;
Minstrel shows once had attraction for me,
But there's no chance any more, I can see.
Now my last hope has been busted in a smash.
Sence th' north pole has been found in a dash.

Huh! I have thought of th' sledges an' all.
Climbin' th' icebergs that loomed like a wall.
Livin' on pemmikin, walrus an' bear,
Eatin' my boot heels at last in despair!
Then to come home with th' bands playin' in gay.
An' people cheerin' me all o' th' way—
But there's no chance, an' I've looked all around;
Nothin' is left, sence th' north pole is found.

IN THE WORLD OF JUNIORS

Penal Code Sensible and Most Effective for Punishment of Childish Faults.

Public opinion sways the child world. Sometimes this opinion is created by what an intelligent child has learned through older people, sometimes it comes of the children's own reasoning. And the child who fails in the etiquette demanded from him by his own world is punished in the surest and severest way. Public opinion is against him or his misdeed; he must remain on the outside until he has proved his repentance. There may be a suggestion for older people in this method of treating offenders in their midst. Punishment by the family's ostracism may bring a rude or indifferent-minded little person to terms sooner than anything else.

Emerson had a little daughter, Ellen, who once told a lie. She was not punished in the way that you or I might think wise. All the children in the family were brought together and told that something very dreadful had happened in their family; Ellen had told a lie. They must not romp or play or sing, for Ellen had told a lie.—The Designer.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s, psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp; and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dust-pail of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.
"My sister wouldn't give up; said, 'We will try Cuticura.' Some was applied to one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap. I commenced by taking Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. Hiram E. Carpenter, Henshertown, N. Y."

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is republished because of the permanency of the cure. Under date of April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter wrote from his present home, 610 Walnut St. So., Lansing, Mich.: "I have never suffered a return of the psoriasis and although many years have passed I have not forgotten the terrible suffering I endured before using the Cuticura Remedies."

True to Distant Sweetheart.
Betty has tried hard to be true to Reginald, and she thinks she has done very well, considering that "Reggy" is far, far away, in Idaho. She promised to be true to him and he promised to return to Media for Betty when he has made his fortune.
"Betty dear, are your thoughts always true to Reggy?" asked her best friend the other day.
"Indeed they are. Why, whenever any one kisses me I try so hard to make believe it's Reggy and sometimes I really imagine it is," she insisted.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature
You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

44 Bu. to the Acre

In a heavy yield, but that's what John Kennedy of Edmonton, Alberta, Western Canada, got from 40 acres of Spring wheat in 1910. Report from other districts in that province showed other wheat yields from 120 acres, or 85-1-1 bu. per acre, 25.30 and 48 bushels per acre, were numerous. As high as 100 bushels of oats to the acre were threshed from Alberta fields in 1910.

The Silver Cup
