MANY WILL KNOW INCOME SECRETS

Financial Condition of Every Taxpayer Must Be Entrusted to Numerous Officials

PENALTY FOR GARRULITY

Enforcement of Proposed Law Rests With Tax Commission—Board of Review Provided

A feature of the new state income tax which will undoubtedly cause considerable dissatisfaction, is the intimate knowledge which the assessor of incomes will have of the financial condition of every person and family in the state. People are generally disinclined to make known their income, even to their most intimate friends. That they must now tell this inside information to a total stranger will hardly be accepted with a good grace. This feature of the bill was recognized by the farmers and they tried to make the people feel that any information they might give would be safe and not given publicly. It is provided, therefore that no commissioner, assessor of incomes member of a board of review, or any official or employe shall divulge or make known to any person in any manner "except as provided by law" information which has come to him in the discharge of his duties.

SECRECY WILL BE ENFORCED

In case any official or employe does divulge such information, it is provided that he "shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than six months, or by imprisonment in the state prison for not more than two years at the discretion of the court." Such officers, agent, clerk, or employe upon conviction shall also forfeit his office or employment and shall be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of three years thereafter. The law, as it will be seen, is about as strict as it could be reasonably made, still there is no question that many a victim of the new tax will have serious doubts as to whether the information which he gives will be held inviolate and not to pass to some one who he would not like to know his exact condition financially.

HOW TAX IS COLLECTED

The first seven sections of the bill are taken up with the features of the tax, what incomes include and the rate of taxation and exemptions. The next twenty-three sections have to do with the machinery, by which the law will be enforced.

The tax commission will have entire charge of the enforcement of the law. The state will be divided into assessment districts. Counties can not be divided in forming the districts. The collection will begin next year on the incomes received during the year closing Dec. 31, 1911. In addition to the assessors, the tax commission can appoint deputies or authorize the assessors to do so. It is provided that such assessors and their deputies shall have all powers now granted by law to the state tax commission.

This feature was commented on seriously during the debates on the bill as conferring unlimited powers on district officials and their deputies. The salaries of the assessors and deputies are fixed by the tax commission. The only limit to expenditures is that the expenses shall not exceed 5 cents for every thousand dollars for the val-

RURAL CARRIERS RECEIVE INCREASE

Men Will Hereafter Get a Salary of $1000 Instead of $900

POSTMASTER GENERAL MAKES DECISION

Hitchcock Advises Immediate Parcel Post System, as Revenue Therefrom Would Offset Increased Salary

Rural Mail Carriers throughout the United States will hereafter receive $1,000 a year, or $100 more than their present salary, according to a decision reached on last Sunday by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The increase in salary affects 40,000 rural free delivery mail carriers in the United States. The order will provide for the disbursement during the current fiscal year of $4,000,000, which will mean an increase of $100 for all carriers on standard routes, with proportionate increases on the shorter routes.

Congress provided last session for the expenditure of this extra $4,000,000 but left it to the discretion of the postmaster general as to how much of it should be expended. Mr. Hitchcock decided on Sunday to authorize the expenditure of the full amount.

"Now that the men are to receive such a generous advance in pay," said Postmaster General Hitchcock Sunday, "I feel that congress should lose no time in authorizing the carrying of parcels on rural routes."

A parcel post system on rural routes can be conducted without any extra expenses to the government other than the $4,000,000 salary increase which, in my judgment, would be more than offset by the parcel post revenue."

ation of all property as fixed by the tax commission in the state assessment of the preceding year.

ASSESSMENTS TO BE REVIEWED

The tax commission and assessors of incomes are to meet on the first day of January of each year "and proceed to assess" every income received during the "preceding calendar year," which is liable to taxation. The county board of review will meet in each county on the last Monday of July at the courthouse in such county to review the assessments of incomes made by the assessor. Where there is more than one county in an assessment district the board of review of the county, designated by the assessor, shall meet on the above date and the other will meet at such time as the assessor may fix, when it will be possible for the assessor to meet with them. Notice of the meetings are to be published in the county newspaper.

Any one objecting to the assessment made can not question the assessment unless he first makes "full disclosure made under oath or any and all income of such party liable to assessment." An appeal to the tax commission can be taken within twenty days when the commission will review the findings from the record as made.

The state tax commission has to complete the assessments of incomes of corporations, joint stock companies, etc., on or before Oct. 15 in each year and "forthwith" certify to each county clerk a statement of the assessments of such corporation, etc. The tax upon incomes other than corporations etc., is computed by the county clerk assisted by the assessor of incomes, and he in turn certifies the incomes for assessment and the amount of the assessment to the town and village and city clerks.

COMPLAINTS ARE DISCOURAGED

The board of review in each county will consist of three resident taxpayers appointed by the tax commission. They will receive $10 a day for their services. The county clerk is to act as clerk of the board. It is provided that the board, if it considers the case demands, can employ a stenographer to take evidence in any case, quorum-wise the county clerk takes notes and keep records. It is further provided that the stenographer shall be paid by the state but the board "may in its discretion" charge the expenses to the complaining party or parties appearing before the board. This would tend to discourage complaints unless the complaining party was rocksure of winning.

Any corporation, joint stock company, etc., is given the same rights of hearing and appeal as are now granted corporations assessed by the tax commission.

It is expected that through the elaborate machinery provided for the enforcement of the act the state will be able to secure a greater revenue from this new tax than has been done in other states, which have experimented with an income tax only to give it up in the end as impracticable—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Gov. McGovern signed the income tax bill at 3:55 o'clock Thursday and deposited it with Secretary of State Frear at 4:25 o'clock, and it now becomes a law immediately upon its publication though not effective until next year.

COUNTY FAIR IN AUGUST

Secretary E. R. Zamzow Has Mailed Out 5,000 Copies of Premium Books

GIVES THE RACE PROGRAM

Second Corn Growing Contest of Pupils Will be Among Features

(Fond du Lac Reporter)

That the county fair to be held day and night on August 23 to Sept. 1, inclusive, will be bigger and better than ever is shown by the extensive arrangements which are being made by officials of the Fond du Lac County Agricultural society. Secretary E. R. Zamzow on Monday evening mailed 5,000 copies of the premium books to prospective exhibitors and those who have made entries in the past. The books consist of 111 pages replete with information about the next fair and advertisements.

GOOD SPEED EVENTS

The race program this year will be better than ever. Entries are being received daily and some of the best horses in Wisconsin and neighboring states will be seen in action here.

MOTORCYCLE RACES

A purse of $30 has been offered by the fair association for the motorcycle races. The race will be a three mile event, the riders making the circuit of the track six times. It will be open to all one cylinder motorcycles in the county. Entries will close on August 23.

CORN GROWING CONTEST

The second corn growing contest of the pupils of the rural public schools will be one of the features of the fair.

AFTER FREE ATTRACTIONS

Secretary E. R. Zamzow has not succeeded in booking a free attraction, but expects to secure one of exceptionally high character within a few days.

Must Pay For Newspapers.

The following is a synopsis of the United States supreme court decision regarding delinquent subscribers:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send until all arrears are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the postoffice they are responsible until after they have settled their bills and ordered their paper discontinued.
4. If subscribers move to other place without informing the publisher and papers are sent to the former address, subscribers are responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or moving and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not want to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscribers will be responsible until an express notice with payment for all arrears is sent to the publisher.

Kewaskum to Have Garage.

Nic. Rimmel, our local machinist is making extensive improvements in the building now used as a machine shop. He has taken out the tin shop in the rear of his main building and made it over into a first class garage, with cement floors throughout and a floor space 30 x 70 feet. This also enlarges his machine shop making a floor space of 120 feet. He is equipping the machine shop and garage with a complete stock of tools used in the business and will be ready in a couple of weeks to repair everything in the line of machinery and automobiles. With this new addition to our village we can justly feel proud of having one of the finest machine shops, foundries and garages in the state, and Mr. Rimmel being an expert mechanic we doubt not that the public in general will have their wants taken care of in the best and quickest possible manner.

Summer Resort Well Patronized.

The Forest Lake Resort on Forest Lake located about 8 miles north east of this village is being well patronized the present summer. The manager of the resort was in our office last Monday and stated to one of the staff that their place of business has been crowded since the opening of the season. He also wishes to announce that the whole community is cordially invited to come to the Resort for their summer outing.

WEISSE WILL BRING ACTION

Former Congressman Intends to Prosecute Man Who Had Him Arrested

FISH CASE DISMISSED

Court Holds That Warden Had Been Misinformed as to Facts

(Fond du Lac Reporter)

That he will bring action for false arrest and on other grounds against the game warden who caused his arrest on the charge of illegal fishing was the statement made by former Congressman Charles H. Weisse, while at the Reporter office this morning. "I have the court records to back my cases and certainly do not intend to let the matter rest where it is," said Mr. Weisse. "I now intend to ask heavy damages."

The cases against former Congressman Charles H. Weisse and Thomas McNeill, of Sheboygan, charged with violating the fish and game laws were dismissed at Wautoma yesterday by District Attorney Jones after consultation with J. E. Messerschmidt, of the attorney general's office.

Mr. Weisse and his companion were taken into custody on the allegation that they had undersized trout in their possession. State's Attorney Jones informed the court that W. W. Burgett, the game warden making the complaint, had been misinformed as to the facts by two other game wardens, D. McCranston and L. H. Boomer.

Both defendants were present in court being represented by Attorney E. R. Bolwer, of Sheboygan and State Senator E. F. Killeen, of Wautoma. When announcement was made of dismissal Senator Killeen insisted that the record must state the full facts and Judge Sorenson acquiesced.

Sprung a Surprise.

Joseph Straub and Miss Lydia Van De Zande both of Campbellsport sprung a surprise upon their many friends and relatives this week by announcing their marriage which took place in Indiana last week Friday.

Miss Van De Zande is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Van De Zande. She is a young lady of very charming ways and is known to be one of the most popular young ladies of the village of Campbellsport.

Mr. Straub is the junior member of the Knickel & Straub Co., who run a general store at Campbellsport. Mr. Straub is a very industrious young man and is held in high esteem by all who know him. Both of the contracting parties have a host of friends in this community, who together with the STATESMAN join in wishing the newly married couple a very happy and prosperous married life.

Farmers' Institutes for 1911-1912.

Any farmer or public-spirited business man in Wisconsin who wishes to secure an Institute for his locality during the winter of 1911-1912 should send to us for a blank petition and letter of information. Any town, no matter how small or how far from the railroad, is entitled to an Institute, provided it is located in a farming district and has a good hall in which a meeting can be held.

Farmers should talk this matter up with their neighbors and if the sentiment seems favorable for an Institute for their town they should write us at once for applications to

Wreck at Jackson.

Last Saturday morning between the hours of 4 and 5 A. M. a wreck occurred between Jackson and Rockfield, when one of the loading cars of a gravel train enroute for the new Belt line jumped the track and tore up about 1/4 mile of track and also completely demolishing a bridge. Traffic was delayed for over six hours. The morning mail did not arrive in this village until 11:15 and was delivered here by the morning train going south, which returned on account of the passengers being transferred at the wreck. The regular train was sent around via the Lake Shore Division.

12 KILLED, 44 HURT

BLAME LAID TO ENGINEER

Fire Starts in Wreckage, But Is Controlled—St. Louis Ball Team Escapes Injury and Men Aid in Rescuing Injured.

Bridgeport, Conn.—Twelve persons were killed and 44 badly injured in the wreck of the Federal express, one of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad's fastest trains, carrying passengers without charge from Washington to Boston. The engine plunged down a 30-foot embankment while running 60 miles an hour.

Fire started in the wreckage, but the Bridgeport department put this out and the men helped in rescuing the injured persons.

The engineer took a "cross-over" switch at a speed of 60 miles an hour, violating a rule limiting the rate to 15 miles. He died at his post.

Of 100 passengers that went down with the first six cars few escaped death or injury. Twelve bodies were taken out of the twisted wreckage. Forty-four injured are in the hospitals and a score more received injuries not severe enough to prevent them from continuing their journey.

The passengers on the train included the members of the St. Louis National league baseball team, who were on their way to Boston for a series of games. The ball players were in the last Pullman car and escaped injury.

Many a victim of the wreck plined beneath the debris owes his life to the promptness of these ball players. When they piled out in their pajamas, several of them were bleeding from cuts about the feet, caused by racing over the sharp wreckage.

Without waiting to dress completely the players hurried from the car, descended the viaduct and devoted two hours to helping railroad men, policemen and surgeons at their work in the wreckage.

A new "cross-over" installed on the Burr road viaduct and embankment on the western outskirts of Bridgeport was indirectly responsible for the accident. The train was late and the engineer was driving to make up lost time. When the heavy west-bound train of nine cars struck the switch at full speed, the locomotive leaped, rocked and swayed over the ties for nearly 150 yards, and then fell to the street below, dragging six cars down the bank. The coupling broke between the sixth and seventh cars, leaving three sleepers upright on the embankment.

St. Paul, Minn.—James Pettit, president and general manager of the Peavey Grain company of Chicago, whose death occurred by drowning at Chicago on July 8, was short approximately $1,000,000, according to a statement issued from the offices of F. H. Peavey & Co., the parent of a dozen subsidiaries, which is the owner of the stock of the Peavey Grain company.

The statement was issued from the Minneapolis office, after a conference with representatives of Minneapolis and Chicago banks and commercial paper houses of Chicago holding notes floated by Mr. Pettit in the name of the Peavey Grain company. The statement says in part:

"On Saturday afternoon, July 8, following the death of James Pettit, a representative of F. H. Peavey & Co., who had been sent to Chicago to assist in the office of the Peavey Grain company during Mr. Pettit's illness, discovered that certain unauthorized and concealed speculations had been going on in the business, which subsequent investigation proved will result in a shortage of approximately $1,000,000.

An analysis of the vote shows the progressives voted as a unit for the Cummins proposal. They were supported by three Republicans usually numbered among the regulars—Clark of Wyoming, Sutherland of Utah and Nelson of Minnesota. Mr. Sutherland always has been an Independent and Mr. Nelson knows no ties with respect to tariff questions. He is accounted a tariff man.

The Democrats who voted against the Cummins amendment did so on the ground that its adoption would open the door to countless other amendments and result in the defeat of the agreement.

Most of the Republicans who voted against the amendment were actuated by a desire to comply with the president's wishes.

The remainder escaped on a train of freight cars. The fires originated in slab yards.

NEW ERA FOR STEEL

ALL-WORLD PACT MEANS END OF WAR, SAYS JUDGE GARY.

Meeting Is Combination of Manufacturers for Advancement of All Interests in Industry.

Paris.—Judge E. H. Gary, who arrived here in his automobile from Brussels, where he had been in attendance upon the world's steel congress, was most enthusiastic over the results accomplished by the conference and in reply to the query as to what the congress means, said: "If it doesn't mean the dawn of an industrial millennium, it is at least the twilight of a new and better era for the iron and steel industries of the world and all people connected with them."

"Twenty years ago such a convention working in absolute harmony and unity of purpose would not have been possible. At that time the idea of 120 men representing the iron and steel industry in every steel producing country in the world getting together and agreeing upon even any one point would have been preposterous. The convention just closed showed a unanimity of purpose and desire for cooperation that surprised even the most sanguine of us."

"Then this is in the nature of an international trust, is it?" he was asked.

"Not at all," answered Judge Gary. "There is not the least semblance to what is so-called a trust. I should call the present congress a combination in friendly association of steel and iron manufacturers for the purpose of advancement and better mutual understanding of all questions of economical, ethical or sociological interest pertaining to the steel industry. The questions of regulation of prices, distribution of territory, or attempting the circumvention of the tariff laws have no more part in the congress than a bar association formed by attorneys controls the individual actions of its members, or regulates the fees they may charge."

"This steel congress, to my mind, is a long step toward universal peace. I don't want to get into too deep water, but I really think this will stop war. Today it is not so much a question of honor as it is one of dollars, and commerce, if it would, has the power to stay the hand of the politician who would destroy it."

WESTERN HAY YIELD SHORT

Agricultural Department Advises Farmers to Plant Emergency Crops for Feeding Purposes.

Washington.—The hay crop throughout the entire central west has been greatly reduced and many pastures dried up by the droughts, according to reports received by the agricultural department. Oats have suffered, too, and in some sections only half crops will be produced. To meet this situation the department issued a circular to farmers urging the immediate planting of emergency crops, such as millet, cow peas, sorghum and soy beans, to round out the shortage of both hay and pasture. The farmers are advised that there is still time to plant half a dozen kinds of quick growing crops.

TEST VOTE ON PACT

DEFEAT OF CUMMINS AMENDMENT IN SENATE SHOWS VICTORY FOR TAFT.

BALLOT WAS 32 AGAINST 14

Believed Result Demonstrates Rejection of All Other Changes Contemplated Against Measure and Its Passage as It Came From House.

Washington.—President Taft gained a victory when the senate, in the first test vote on the Canadian reciprocity bill, defeated, 14 to 32, the amendment proposed by Senator Cummins placing meats of all kinds coming from Canada on the free list. The 14 votes cast for the amendment will be undoubtedly cast against the passage of the bill.

This action foreshadows the course of the senate with respect to other amendments. It has been apparent for some time that the president would have his way in getting through unamended the Canadian reciprocity compact.

The rejection of the first Cummins amendment demonstrates that this expectation was well founded.

On account of the absence of so many senators from Washington only a bare quorum voted. The vote was as follows, the yeas votes indicating opposition to the Taft program:

An analysis of the vote shows the progressives voted as a unit for the Cummins proposal. They were supported by three Republicans usually numbered among the regulars—Clark of Wyoming, Sutherland of Utah and Nelson of Minnesota. Mr. Sutherland always has been an Independent and Mr. Nelson knows no ties with respect to tariff questions. He is accounted a tariff man.

Bay City, Mich.—Several women and children were suffocated in a fire which wiped out the town of Au Sable, sixty-five miles north of here. Oscoda, across the river from Au Sable, also was destroyed and a part of the population driven to take refuge on a big lake steamship which came to the rescue. The remainder escaped on a train of freight cars. The fires originated in slab yards.

Guard Jail; Fear Lynching.

Elkins, W. Va.—A heavy guard has been placed at the Parsons (W. Va.) jail to protect Floyd Helmick from being lynched. Helmick, it is alleged, attacked the eleven-year-old daughter of his employer.

Emma Eames Weds Gogorza.

Paris.—The romance of Emma Eames and Emilio de Gogorza came to a climax in the mayor's office in Rue l'Anjou, where the famous diva and the operatic baritone were married.

Breaks Wrist Swatting Fly.

Dubuque, Ia.—Willard Steiner, a music teacher, while following the injunction to "swat the fly," broke his wrist. He will be incapacitated for duty at least two months.

THREE LOSE LIVES

STEAMER JOHN MITCHELL SINKS IN SUPERIOR AFTER CRASH.

Is Hit by the W. H. Mack—Boat Come Together During Dense Fog.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Three lives were lost and thirty-one persons, including six women and a little boy, experienced a thrilling midnight rescue, when the steamer John Mitchell of the Elphicke fleet of Chicago went to the bottom of Lake Superior in collision with the steamer William H. Mack of the Jenkins Steamship company, Cleveland, in a heavy fog off Vermillion point.

While the two vessels were steaming through a dense fog off Vermillion point, which is about sixty miles northwest of the Soo passage, they crashed without a moment's warning. The Mitchell began to sink immediately, and soon the lake, which was rolling heavily, was strewn with wreckage. The Mack, however, succeeded in lowering its life boat and in rescuing sailors and passengers floundering in the water, with the exception of three of the crew of the Mitchell, who were drowned.

The dead: Archie Causely, Detroit; second mate of the Mitchell.

George Austin, watchman of the Mitchell, Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Clemens of Rochester, Ind., wife of the steward of the Mitchell, suffered a broken leg in the crash.

Shortly after the captains of the two vessels had ordered the life boats and rafts lowered, the Mitchell plunged to the bottom. The damage to the Mack was not so great, but it filled rapidly. Those aboard the latter vessel were safely landed on Vermillion point. Steamers were sent to the rescue of the survivors from Sault Ste. Marie.

Cox Introduces Resolution Calling on President for Inside Facts Concerning Land Restoration.

Washington.—Published charges that the president had been induced by three persons—his brother, the then secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger, and Richard S. Ryan of New York, a representative of the Guggenheim interests—to restore to the public domain lands surrounding Controller bay in southern Alaska, met with quick action in congress.

The house committee on expenditures, headed by Representative Graham of Illinois, summoned Commissioner Lennett of the general land office to appear before the committee to explain what he knows about the matter.

Representative Cox of Indiana, one of the Democratic leaders of the house, introduced a resolution calling on President Taft for all the information he can furnish the house on the subject.

This information is to include the reason why he signed the order of restoration after the land had been set aside as a reserve and whether he knew Ryan was working in the interest of the Guggenheims.

Mother Tosses Child to Safety.

La Crosse.—When the frail skill in which she was riding with her husband and little girl was struck and capsized by a launch, Mrs. William Saurbier saved the child by hurling it through the air into the launch.

Elsworth Woman Dies in Wreck.

Elsworth, Ore.—A dispatch from The Dales, Oregon, states that Mrs. Rasmuss and baby daughter of this place were killed in a passenger train wreck near there. There were six fatalities.

Oshkosh Milk Goes Up.

Oshkosh.—A number of milk dealers have raised the price of milk from 5 to 6 cents a quart as a result of the severe drought which has destroyed much pasturage in this vicinity.

EDITORS OF STATE RE-ELECT OFFICERS

CONVENTION WAS SUCCESS

Three Days' Trip from Milwaukee to the Soo and Return Proves Most Enjoyable—Permanent Headquarters Proposed.

Milwaukee.—W. H. Bridgeman of Stanley was re-elected president of the Wisconsin Press association at the annual convention of that organization, which was held for three days on board the steamship Arizona white on a lake trip from this city to the Soo and return.

The other officers were also re-elected. They are as follows:

F. E. Andrews, Bloomer, secretary; C. L. Coward, Lodi, treasurer, Executive council—H. E. Zimmerman, Burlington; J. M. Hibbard, Stoughton; J. H. Frazier, Viola; J. W. Campsie, Milwaukee; H. M. Youmans, Waukesha; H. W. Bolens, Port Washington; M. Hull, Black River Falls; H. E. Hartson, Greenwood; E. T. O'Brien, Kaukauna; Martin Vickers; Hurley; A. C. Chase, Coifax.

The convention was one of the most successful and enjoyable in the history of the organization. About twenty members and their families were in attendance. At Sturgeon Bay and Manitowoc, where stops were made, the editors were met by the commercial clubs and bands and taken on tours of the city.

A number of interesting papers were read at the meeting, as follows: "Newspaper Advertising," John W. Campsie, Milwaukee; "The Industrial Insurance Bill," C. W. Culbertson, Stanley; "The Work of the Legislature," J. D. Gillette; "Northern Wisconsin," T. J. Cunningham, Chippewa Falls; "The All-Home Print," F. B. Gessler, Bangor; "Public Opinion and the Press," C. W. Frazier, Menomonee Falls.

The question of establishing permanent headquarters at Milwaukee was referred to the officers, who will report at the next annual meeting.

BUSINESS BOARD IS NAMED

Governor Appoints W. S. Hatton of New London, W. H. Hanchett of Sparta and John Humphrey.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has appointed W. H. Hatton of New London, former state senator; John Humphrey of Milwaukee, and W. H. Hanchett of Sparta as members of the new Wisconsin state board of public affairs created by chapter 583 of the laws of 1911. The other members of the board are Gov. McGovern, Secretary of State Frear, Senator A. W. Sanborn, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Assemblyman R. J. Nye of Superior, chairman of the assembly finance committee.

The law creating the state board of public affairs provides that the board shall prescribe a uniform system of state accounting and investigate the cost of living and methods of a more economical distribution of products and commodities. The board is to report the result of its investigations together with its recommendations to the next legislature.

REPEALS COMPULSORY TEST

Governor Signs Bichler Bill Which Eliminates Tuberculin Law Feature Long Opposed by Breeders.

Madison.—Farmers who opposed the compulsory feature of the tuberculin test law won their fight when Gov. McGovern signed the Bichler bill, which repeals that provision of the old law compelling owners to have their cattle tested before offering them for sale.

This affects breeders of high grade stock, but does not interfere with the milk situation in Milwaukee, where all dairymen shipping milk into the city are compelled by a city ordinance to have their herds tested.

Other bills signed by the governor were relating to the recall of city and village officers, providing for separate ballots for presidential electors, city officers and all referendum purposes.

Mother Tosses Child to Safety.

La Crosse.—When the frail skill in which she was riding with her husband and little girl was struck and capsized by a launch, Mrs. William Saurbier saved the child by hurling it through the air into the launch.

Elsworth Woman Dies in Wreck.

When a Man Marries

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Author of The Circular Staircase, The Man in Lower Ten, Etc.

Copyright 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. He neglects to tell her of his divorce. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night. Mr. Wilson proposes. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned. Jim's Jap servant is taken ill. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance. Belle insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man tacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallpox" printed on it. He tells him the guests cannot leave the house until the quarantine is lifted. After the lifting of the quarantine several letters are found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Lewellyn, Iquique, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of their incarceration, also of his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson. Aunt Selina is taken ill with typhoid. Betty acts as nurse. Harbison finds Kit sulking on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is grasped in the arms of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison did it and is humiliated. Aunt Selina tells Jimmy that her cameo brooch and other articles of jewelry have been stolen. She accuses Betty of the theft. Jimmy tells Aunt Selina all about the strange happenings, but she persists in suspecting Betty of the theft of her valuables. Harbison demands an explanation from Kit as to her conduct towards him, she tells him of the incident on the roof, he does not deny nor confirm her accusation. One of the guests devises a way to escape from the house. They set fire to the reception room and attempt to leave the house from the rear. The guards discover the ruse and prevent them from escaping. Max finds Anna's pearl clasp pin in Jimmy's studio in a discarded coat. Jimmy is suspected of the theft, but denies the accusation. Kit finds a watch hanging to a pillar in the basement and with initials T. H. H. engraved upon it. She opens the case and finds a picture of herself that had been clipped from a newspaper. Kit shows Harbison the watch. He explains that he had been looking for it and believed it had been stolen. Harbison threatens to tar and feather Jimmy if he doesn't treat Kit more civilly. A clash is averted by the interference of a guest who separates the combatants.

"It's only Jim," I whispered. "I—I don't want to hear any more."

But she clutched me firmly, and the next thing we heard was another creak, and louder and—

"Get up! Get up off your knees this instant!" Bella was saying frantically. "Some one might come in."

"Don't send me away," Jim said in a smothered voice. Every one in the house is asleep, and "I love you, dear."

Aunt Selina swallowed hard in the darkness.

"You have no right to make love to me," Bella. "It's—It's highly improper under the circumstances."

And then Jim: "You swallow a camel and stick at a goat. Why did you meet me here, if you didn't expect me to make love to you? I've stood for a lot, Bella, but this foolishness will have to end. Either you love me—or you don't. I'm desperate." He drew a long, forlorn breath.

"Poor old Jim!" This was Bella. A pause. Then—"Let my hand alone!" Also Bella.

"It is my hand!"—Jim's most fatuous tone. "There is where you wore my ring. There's the mark still." Sounds of Jim kissing Bella's ring finger. "What did you do with it? Throw it away?" More sounds.

Aunt Selina crossed the library swiftly, and again I followed. Bella was sitting in a low chair by the fire, looking at the logs. In the most exquisite negligee of pink chiffon and ribbon. Jim was on his knees, staring at her adoringly, and holding both her hands.

"I'll tell you a secret," Bella was saying, looking as coy as she knew how—which was considerable. "I—I still wear it, on a chain around my neck."

On a chain around her neck! Bella, who is decolete whenever it is allowable, and more than is proper!

That was the limit of Aunt Selina's endurance. Still holding me, she stepped through the doorway and into the firelight, a fearful figure.

Jim saw her first. He went quite white and struggled to get up, smiling a sickly smile. Bella, after her first surprise, was superbly indifferent. She glanced at us, raised her eyebrows, and then looked at the clock.

"More victims of insomnia!" she said. "Won't you come in? Jim, pull up a chair by the fire for your aunt."

Aunt Selina opened her mouth twice, like a fish, before she could speak. Then—

"James, I demand that that woman leave the house!" she said hoarsely.

Bella leaned back and yawned. "James, shall I go?" she asked amiably.

"Nonsense," Jim said, pulling himself together as best he could. "Look here, Aunt Selina, you know she can't go out, and what's more, I—don't want her to go."

"You—what?" Aunt Selina screeched, taking a step forward. "You have the audacity to say such a thing to me!"

Bella leaned over and gave the fire log a punch.

"I was just saying that he shouldn't say such things to me, either," she remarked pleasantly. "I'm afraid you'll take cold, Miss Caruthers. Wouldn't you like a hot sherry flip?"

Aunt Selina gasped. Then she sat down heavily on one of the carved teakwood chairs.

"He said he loved you; I heard him," she said weakly. "He—he was going to put his arm around you!"

"Habit!" Jim put in, trying to smile. "You see, Aunt Selina, it's—well, it's a habit I got into some time ago, and I—my arm does it without my thinking about it."

"Habit!" Aunt Selina repeated, her voice thick with passion. Then she turned to me. "Go to your room at once!" she said in her most awful tone. "Go to your room and leave this—this shocking affair to me."

But if she had reached her limit, so had I. If Jim chose to ruin himself, it was not my fault. Any one with common sense would have known at least to close the door before he went down on his knees, no matter to whom. So when Aunt Selina turned on me and pointed in the direction of the staircase, I did not move.

"I am perfectly wide awake," I said coldly. "I shall go to bed when I am entirely ready, and not before. And as for Jim's conduct, I do not know much about the conventions in such cases, but if he wishes to embrace Miss Knowles, and she wants him to, the situation is interesting, but hardly novel."

Aunt Selina rose slowly and drew the folds of her dressing gown around her, away from the contamination of my touch.

"Do you know what you are saying?" she demanded hoarsely.

"I do." I was quite white and stiff from my knees up, but below I was wavery. I glanced at Jim for moral support, but he was looking idola-

"It's only Jim," I whispered. "I—I don't want to hear any more."

But she clutched me firmly, and the next thing we heard was another creak, and louder and—

"Get up! Get up off your knees this instant!" Bella was saying frantically. "Some one might come in."

"Don't send me away," Jim said in a smothered voice. Every one in the house is asleep, and "I love you, dear."

most terrible way, and asked me how I dared to come between husband and wife, because divorce or no divorce, whom God hath joined together, and so on. And when Jim picked up his courage in both hands and tried to interfere, she pushed him back with one hand while she pointed the other at me and called me a Jezebel.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Harbison Man.

She talked for an hour, having got between me and the door, and she scolded Jim and Bella thoroughly. But they did not hear it, being occupied with each other, sitting side by side meekly on the divan with Jim holding Bella's hand under a cushion. She said they would have to be very good to make up for all the deception, but it was perfectly clear that it was a relief to her to find that I didn't belong to her permanently, and as I have said before, she was crazy about Bella.

I sat back in a chair and grew comfortably drowsy in the monotony of her voice. It was a name that brought me to myself with a jerk.

"Mr. Harbison!" Aunt Selina was saying. "Then bring him down at once, James. I want no more deception. There is no use cleaning a house and leaving a dirty corner."

"It will not be necessary for me to stay and see it swept," I said, musing the rags she had left of my self-respect, and trying to pass her. But she planted herself squarely before me.

"You can not stir up a dust like this, young woman, and leave other people to sneeze in it," she said grimly. And I stayed.

I sat, very small, on a chair in a corner. I felt like Jezebel, or whatever her name was, and now the Harbison man was coming, and he was going to see me stripped of my pretensions to domesticity and of a husband who neglected me. He was going to see me branded a living lie, and he would hate me because I had put him in a ridiculous position. He was just the sort to resent being ridiculous.

Jim brought him down in a dressing-gown and a state of bewilderment. It was plain that the memory of the afternoon still rankled, for he was very short with Jim and inclined to resent the whole thing. The clock in the hall chimed half after three as they came down the stairs, and I heard Mr. Harbison stumble over something in the darkness and say that if it was a joke, he wasn't in the humor for it. To which Jim retorted that it wasn't anything resembling a joke, and for heaven's sake not to walk on his feet: He couldn't get around the furniture any faster.

At the door of the den Mr. Harbison stopped, blinking in the light. Then, when he saw us, he tried to back himself and his dishabille out into the obscurity of the library. But Aunt Selina was too quick for him.

"Come in," she called, "I want you, young man. It seems that there are only two fools in the house, and you are one."

He straightened at that and looked bewildered, but he tried to smile.

"I thought I was the only one," he said. "Is it possible that there is another?"

"I am the other," she announced. I think she expected him to say "Impossible," but, whatever he was, he was never banal.

"Is that so?" he asked politely, trying to be interested and to understand at the same time. He had not seen me. He was gazing fixedly at Bella, languishing on the divan and watching him with lowered lids, and he had given Jim a side glance of contempt. But now he saw me and he colored under his tan. His neck blushed furiously, being much whiter than his face. He kept his eyes on mine, and I knew that he was mutely asking forgiveness. But the thought of what was coming paralyzed me. My eyes were glued to his as they had been that first evening when he had called me "Mrs. Wilson," and after an instant he looked away, and his face was set and hard.

"It seems that we have all been playing a little comedy, Mr. Harbison," Aunt Selina began, nasally sarcastic. "Or, rather, you and I have been the audience. The rest have played."

"I—I don't think I understand," he said slowly. "I have seen very little comedy."

"It was not well planned," Aunt Selina retorted tartly. "The idea was good, but the young person who was playing the part of Mrs. Wilson—overacted."

"Oh, come, Aunt Selina," Jim protested. "Kit was coaxed and cajoled into this thing. Give me fits if you like; I deserve all I get. But let Kit alone—she did it for me."

Bella looked over at me and smiled nastily.

"I would stop doing things for Jim, Kit," she said. "It is so unprofitable."

But Mr. Harbison harked back to Aunt Selina's speech.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Quite True.

"What do you think that madcap Gladys said when I persuaded her to read Dante's 'Inferno' to improve her taste?"

"What was it?"

"That it was such a pity there were no postcards in those days, for pictures of Dante's journey would have been such hot stuff!"

Merely a Suspicion.

"If so many noblemen who come over here are broke, how do they manage to get across the water?"

"Don't know, I'm sure, but I've seen waiters on board trans-Atlantic liners who had quite an air."

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all Druggists.

Wardens' Witness Fees Illegal, is Court Rule.

Judge Chester A. Fowler of the judicial circuit today ruled that game wardens are not entitled to witness fees in prosecutions for violations of the state fish and game laws. He holds that as wardens are state officers and are paid by the state, they cannot receive witness fees. The game wardens have been turning all fees over to the state treasurer but this is also declared to be illegal by Judge Fowler who says the state is not entitled to collect such witness fees.

LOCATED HIM RIGHT AWAY

Possibly Display of Bill of Generous Denomination May Have Had Some Effect.

A southerner who was visiting St. Louis wandered into the dining room of the hotel and, seeing a negro servant who had all the importance of an army officer standing near the door, asked him who the "head nigger" was around there. The negro stretched himself to his full height and pompously replied that "there ain't no niggers in St. Louis, sah. We is all gemmen of color."

"Well," said the southerner, drawing a $100 bill from his pocket and fingering it. "I expect to be at the hotel for some time and want to make sure that I will be taken care of."

"Oh, sah," said the negro, whose eyes were popping from his head, "did you want to know who the head nigger watter is? That's me."—Allen town Call.

PITIFUL SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

"A few days after birth we noticed an inflamed spot on our baby's hip which soon began spreading until baby was completely covered even in his eyes, ears and scalp. For eight weeks he was bandaged from head to foot. He could not have a stitch of clothing on. Our regular physician pronounced it chronic eczema. He is a very able physician and ranks with the best in this locality, nevertheless, the disease began spreading until baby was completely covered. He was losing flesh so rapidly that we became alarmed and decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment."

"Not until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment could we tell what he looked like, as we dared not wash him, and I had been putting one application after another on him. On removing the scale from his head the hair came off, and left him entirely bald, but since we have been using Cuticura Soap and Ointment he has as much hair as ever. Four weeks after we began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was entirely cured. I don't believe anyone could have eczema worse than our baby."

"Before we used the Cuticura Remedies we could hardly look at him, he was such a pitiful sight. He would fuss until I would treat him, they seemed to relieve him so much. Cuticura Soap and Ointment stand by themselves and the result they quickly and surely bring is their own recommendation." (Signed) Mrs. T. B. Rosser, Mill Hill, Pa., Feb. 20, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 19 K, Boston.

Burglar Befriended Him.
A burglar was arrested for robbing a house up the state some time since, and the next morning the victim rushed wildly into the magistrate's office as soon as he could get his breath to working again he told the official that he had come to see about the prisoner.

"Glad you came down," was the affable response of the magistrate. "I suppose you want to appear against him."

"Well, guess not!" exclaimed the victim with a glad smile. "I want to kiss him on the brow and give him $10. Among other things that he stole from the house was a package of love letters that I wrote to my wife before we were married."

Snakes in Prohibition Maine.
Snakes emptied two saloons in Portland of the crowds of customers a few evenings ago. A non-resident ordered a box of snakes sent to him from the south for the purpose of cleaning out a vast number of rats from his place. The snakes were given a chance to demonstrate their rat-killing ability and the large snake destroyed 15 in a few minutes. The snakes were then taken to two different saloons and in a few minutes cleared them of the crowd.—Kennebec Journal.

GOVERNOR VETOES DISTRICTING BILL

APPROVAL OF LEGISLATURE'S APPOINTMENT PLAN REFUSED BY EXECUTIVE.

MEANS RECALL OF SOLONS

Must Again Trench Out Matter After Near Adjournment—Disgruntled Congressmen Expected to Work for Revision of Entire Measure.

Madison.—Calling it "neither fair nor constitutional," Gov. McGovern has vetoed the bill apportioning the state into congressional and legislative districts. The veto came after only an hour's consideration of the measure.

This means that the legislature, which had all but adjourned and was remaining in status quo until the governor should report on the final bills, will be recalled to again trench out the apportionment problem, and for this it is expected the session will be prolonged for a week or ten days. The redistricting of Milwaukee county is given as the prime motive for executive disapproval. As one of the most flagrant of the apportionments, the governor cites the joining of the Third and Fourth wards of that city, which have a combined population of almost 31,000, to form the Third assembly district, while the Fourteenth ward with a smaller number of inhabitants than either the Third or Fourth, alone constitutes an assembly district. He also points equally grave defects in the senatorial apportionments.

It is the feeling that the veto opens the door for a complete overhauling of the entire bill. Several congressmen are reported as being heartily disgusted with the districts which have been given them, and it is likely that the entire Washington delegation will bring influence to bear at Madison in an effort to get a more satisfactory apportionment. Comparatively few protests on the assembly and senatorial district apportionments have been heard from the state outside of Milwaukee. It is said, however, that Dane county politicians are anxious to get back some of their old counties and Columbia county politicians object against being cut away from Dane county and put in a democratic district.

SHERIFF'S SLAYERS CAUGHT

Italian Desperadoes Surrender After Battle With a Posse Near Rhinelander—Threaten Lynching.

Rhinelander.—After a desperate battle with a posse of deputies and armed farmers, Tony Imperio and Phillip Roberts, alleged white slavers, have surrendered, one of the fugitives and a deputy being seriously wounded before lack of ammunition forced the Italian desperadoes to permit arrest. They are in jail here.

Sheriff John Radcliffe of Vilas county, shot in attempting to arrest the Italians at Conover, died of his wounds and public sentiment is high. Deputy John Hanson is still alive and probably will recover, the three bullets which penetrated his body having hit no vital spot.

The heavily-armed posse, with bloodhounds, drove the desperadoes into an old mill near Star Lake. Scores of shots were exchanged and the officers were preparing to set fire to the mill when the Italians surrendered.

As the train carrying the officers and prisoners passed through Eagle River, the crowds became so threatening that the deputies drew their weapons in defense of the prisoners.

TO PROBE PARLOR CAR RATE

State Railroad Commission Makes Announcement That Hearings on Subject Will Be Held Soon.

Madison.—The Wisconsin railroad rate commission has given notice that it will investigate the reasonableness and lawfulness of the rates for parlor car seats on the Northwestern, Milwaukee, Soo, Omaha and Burlington railroads between points in Wisconsin, complaints having been made that the rates now in effect are unreasonable, excessive and unlawful.

Grants Dietz Writ of Error.

Fond du Lac.—A writ of error in the case of John Dietz, the Cameron Dam man now in Waupun, has been granted by Chief Justice John Winslow of the state supreme court. Attorney McKenna, counsel for Dietz, will immediately prepare his bill of exceptions, to be submitted at the court's January term.

Epidemic Among Babies.

Madison.—An epidemic of infantile paralysis is now raging at Greenfield, Clark county, according to a notice received by the state board of health. The notice states that there are fifteen cases.

Wisconsin Man Killed in Montana.

Eau Claire.—A dispatch from Hardin, Mont., states that Edward Teske of Union, Wis., had been shot and killed there. No particulars were given.

CHANGE INSTITUTION HEADS

State Board of Control Appoints J. B. Brown to Sparta School and J. F. Hooper to Janesville.

Madison.—The state board of control has elected Dr. J. F. Brown, for several years superintendent of the State School for the Blind at Janesville, as superintendent of the state public school for dependent children at Sparta, to succeed Charles M. Bright.

Supt. Bright's administration has been unsatisfactory for some time, and the special legislative committee which recently visited the state charitable and penal institutions, recommended that a change be made there. Mr. Bright was not a candidate for re-election. Before being elected superintendent of the school for the blind, Dr. Brown was physician at the state prison at Waupun.

Mrs. Mary B. Sanborn, matron at the school for the blind at Janesville to a similar position at the school for dependent children.

Prof. John T. Hooper, superintendent of the public schools of Ashtland, was elected superintendent of the school for the blind at Janesville to succeed Dr. Brown. The salary was fixed at $2,000.

The board of control re-elected Dr. Charles Gorst as superintendent, P. D. Cramer as steward and J. W. Daubner as assistant steward of the state hospital for the insane at Mendota; Dr. A. S. Herman as superintendent of the northern hospital for the insane at Oshkosh; Dr. A. W. Wilmarth as superintendent of the home for the feeble minded at Chippewa Falls; Prof. A. J. Hutton as superintendent of the Industrial school for boys at Waukesha; Prof. E. W. Walker as superintendent of the school for the deaf at Delavan; Dr. J. W. Coon as superintendent of the tuberculosis sanitarium at Wales, and Charles W. Santrom as superintendent of the state reformatory at Green Bay.

Warden Henry Town of the state prison at Waupun will be re-elected immediately after the new legislative act goes into effect increasing his salary from $2,000 to $2,500.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE FINE

Report Shows Wisconsin Farm Products Are Further Advanced Than in Previous Years.

Madison.—Secretary R. W. Rowlands of the state board of agriculture, in his monthly farm report, shows that the condition of crops generally is considerably better at this time than at similar times in previous years.

Reports for the different crops are as follows:

Winter wheat, 92; spring rye, 95; spring wheat, 89; spring rye, 91½; barley, 92; oats, 92½; peas, 90½; corn, 96; potatoes, 91½; cabbage, 93; tobacco, 93; sugar beets, 90; tame meadows, 81½; wild meadows, 85; pastures, 87; apples, 71; small fruits, 84.

CHAIN BREAKS; TWO KILLED

Car Being Raised by Wrecking Apparatus Falls, Crushing Milwaukee Railroad Men to Death.

Milwaukee.—Two men, the foreman of a wrecking crew and a laborer, were killed when the chain by which a car was being lifted broke in the Allis yard of the Northwestern railroad.

Those who were killed are: Joseph Stark, 25 years old, foreman.

Michael Stein, 28 years old, laborer.

The wrecking crew was working on a small wreck, and a freight car was being lifted to the top of a flat car, to be transferred to the shops for repairs, when a link in the chain about the car was broken. The car crashed over the two men, and they were crushed beneath it.

Dynamite Was Well Packed.

Hurley.—By a terrific wind storm two box cars of dynamite, standing on a sidetrack at Gile, Wis., were started down the track and sent upon the main line and collided with an approaching passenger train. One car was smashed, but the dynamite failed to explode.

Drouth Kills Fish.

Edgerton.—For the third time since the first settler came to Edgerton, Saunders creek, which runs through the city, has gone dry. Thousands of fish are dying in shallow pools in the bed of the stream. In former years the stream furnished enough power to operate saw and grist mills.

Racine Centenarian Dead.

Racine.—Mrs. Eliza Emerson, believed to be the oldest woman in southern Wisconsin, is dead here, aged 102 years.

Van Hise Sails for Europe.

Madison.—President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin has sailed from New York for London. He will spend his vacation traveling through the British Isles and the continent.

Many Exposed to Smallpox.

Grand Rapids.—Ten cases of smallpox are under quarantine here. The disease has been raging for some time in a light form which was thought to be chickenpox.

BANKS' BUSINESS SHOWS DECREASE

DROP OF NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS TOLD IN REPORT OF COMMISSIONER.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS GROWING

Increase of $899,648.21 for Three Months Ending June 7—Charters Were Issued to Eight New Banks in State During the Period.

Madison.—A net decrease of nearly a million dollars in business of Wisconsin state and mutual savings banks in the three months between March 7 and June 7, 1911, is shown by an abstract issued by A. E. Kuolt, commissioner of banking. The total receipts for March 7 were $167,043,506.72 and on June 7, $166,242,603.22.

Loans and discounts decreased $1,485,839.50. Increases were shown in bonds, premiums on bonds, stocks and certificates, banking house property, coin and currency.

The sum due from approved reserve banks showed a decrease of $2,441,698.05 and other resources which decreased were overdrafts, real estate, checks on other banks and amounts due from other banks. Safety deposits increased $899,648.21, but certificates of deposit subject to check and demand and time certificates of deposit decreased over $2,000,000.

The capital stock increased $383,000, which represents substantially the capital stock of the eight new banks which were organized in this period.

Commissioner Kuolt's abstract of the report on trust companies in Wisconsin shows that eleven have been organized and the total safety deposits are $1,691,504.86, and total deposits $6,313,428.37.

MAKES CUT IN BRICK RATES

Railroad Commission Issues Order for Reduction of 15 to 20 Per Cent. in Freight Tariff.

Madison.—Freight rates on brick have been reduced between 15 and 20 per cent by the state railroad rate commission in an order which affects the principal roads of the state. The order was issued after a long investigation upon the petition of the Wisconsin Brick Manufacturers' association. It prescribes the exact rates to hold between different points in the state. The reductions vary from 15 to 20 per cent.

The new rates range from 1.7 cents per 100 pounds for five miles or less to 7.2 cents per 100 pounds for 300 miles.

The new rates will, it is expected, enable the Wisconsin brick manufacturers to compete with Chicago manufacturers, who, owing to low interstate rates, ship large quantities of brick into the southern part of the state.

BADGER CORN GAINING FAME

German Government Orders a Consignment of Pedigreed Seed for Its Colonies in South Africa.

Madison.—The German government has ordered 3,000 pounds of pedigreed seed corn from the Wisconsin agricultural experiment association for distribution among the German colonies in South Africa. Some time ago samples of Wisconsin corn were sent to the experiment stations in German South Africa and the vitality and general high quality of the seed attracted the attention of the agricultural experts there at once. The season in South Africa being the opposite of the season in Wisconsin, the corn just shipped will be planted about the first of October and harvested in March or April. Nearly $500,000 worth of this pedigreed seed corn has been sold by the experiment association during the past year.

Victim of White Slavery.

Ashtland.—The Ashtland girl involved in the white slave case which resulted in the shooting of Sheriff Radcliffe near Rhinelander is the daughter of a well known resident of this city. The two Italians in the case were here and engaged the girl to go to Rhinelander and clerk in a confectionery store.

Names Harrington Tax Inspector.

Oshkosh.—John Harrington, a well known attorney of Oshkosh and resident regent of the normal school, has been appointed inheritance tax inspector by Gov. McGovern. The office was created by the present legislature with a salary of $3,000 per year.

Planning for Chautauqua.

Neenah.—A movement is on foot to conduct the Fox River Valley chautauqua at Brighton beach, near here, in 1912. The chautauqua just closed was held at Ridge point, near Kaukauna.

Seven Freight Cars Burn.

Milwaukee.—Fire, supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, destroyed seven loaded freight cars in the Northwestern yards here. The loss is $12,000.

News Notes of Wisconsin

Madison.—"Woodman Spare That Tree" would be an appropriate song about the capitol park. In spite of the fact that the legislature passed a joint resolution to the effect that the trees in the capitol grounds should be left standing the constructional force is proceeding cheerfully in the work of cutting out some of the forest giants whose welcome shade has been given the grateful visitors for half a century. Gov. McGovern, when he found the workmen were busy cutting down the trees along the east approach to the capitol, called up Magnus Swenson, a member of the capitol commission, and entered an indignant protest against destroying the trees. Mr. Swenson told him he could not do anything, as the plans provided for an approach there and this made it necessary to remove the trees.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has appointed Prof. J. G. Sanders of the college of agriculture, professor of economic entomology, to be inspector of orchards and nurseries, in accordance with chapter 434 of the laws of 1911. Under this law all nursery stock must be inspected before sold, to guard against insect or parasite pests. Nurserymen are required to pay an annual license of $5 for five acres or less and $10 for more than five acres.

Wautoma.—When the cases of former Congressman Charles H. Weiss and Thomas McNeill of Sheboygan charged with violating the game laws were called here, it was shown that no evidence of an offense existed and the defendants were discharged. They were accused of having in their possession more than the number of brook trout allowed by law. It was proven that several rainbow trout were included in the lot.

Milwaukee.—Philip Jung, president of the Jung Brewing company, died at his home here after an illness of about three weeks. Mr. Jung was one of the pioneer brewers of Milwaukee. He was born on Dec. 23, 1845, in Dornassensheim, Wetterau, Germany.

Wausau.—The triennial meeting of the Evangelical Lutheran Wisconsin state conference of the Missouri synod will be held in this city on Aug. 22-24. The triennial reunion of the alumni of Concordia college, Milwaukee, will be held in connection with the conference.

Rhinelander.—An unknown man was brought here with both legs cut off and probably will die. He had been riding on a Soo line freight car and fell off near North Crandon.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has signed the university appropriations bill to prohibit the sale of all liquors on railroad trains.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has appointed as members of the state board of medical examiners, Drs. F. J. Connell, Oshkosh; H. W. Abraham, Appleton; G. H. Ripley, Kenosha; all for terms ending July 1, 1915. They succeed Drs. A. F. Andrus, Ashtland; W. T. Saries, Sparta, and L. F. Bennett, Beloit.

Appleton.—Miss Selma Witzke, aged 20, is in a serious condition as a result of burns sustained when her dress caught fire while she was lighting a fire after saturating the wood with kerosene.

WRONG SORT
Perhaps Plain Old Meat, Potatoes and Bread May Be Against You for a Time.

A change to the right kind of food can lift one from a sick bed. A lady in Weiden, Ill., says:
"Last spring I became bed-fast with severe stomach troubles accompanied by sick headache. I got worse and worse until I became so low I could scarcely retain any food at all, although I tried about every kind."

"I had become completely discouraged, and given up all hope, and thought I was doomed to starve to death, until one day my husband, trying to find something I could retain, brought home some Grape-Nuts."

"To my surprise the food agreed with me, digested perfectly and without distress. I began to gain strength at once. My flesh (which had been flabby), grew firmer, my health improved in every way and every day, and in a very few weeks I gained 20 pounds in weight."
"I liked Grape-Nuts so well that for four months I ate no other food, and always felt as well satisfied after eating as if I had sat down to a fine banquet."
"I had no return of the miserable sick stomach nor of the headaches, that I used to have when I ate other food. I am now a well woman, doing all my own work again, and feel that life is worth living."
"Grape-Nuts food has been a God-send to my family; it surely saved my life; and my two little boys have thriven on it wonderfully." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

—Mrs. DEMA BETTINE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

OWEN ARGUES FOR DES MOINES PLAN

States Merits of Commission Form of Government.

STRONG SPEECH IN SENATE

He Believes This Municipal Reform Will Help Destroy Corrupt National Politics—Deplorable Delays in Business of Beautifying Washington.

By WILLIS J. ABBOT.

Washington.—The Lorimer investigation was still dragging its slow and slimy length along when Senator Owen made his strong and convincing speech on the merits of the commission form of government in municipalities. At first the subject would not seem wholly germane to the upper house of the national legislature. Yet if any of Senator Owen's auditors, holding this view, had strolled two hundred yards or so to the room in which the junior senator from Illinois was being held they would have heard plenty of testimony showing the intimate connection between a corrupt municipal government and a corrupt open to public distrust. Senator Owen's statements are beyond cavil. This is the gist of them:

"The commission form of government has a national value and a direct bearing upon the integrity of the election of senators because it is an important agency in overthrowing corrupt machine politics in municipalities and cities. The proportion of inhabitants living in cities, as compared to the inhabitants of the United States, is between 40 and 50 per cent., not counting towns of less than 2,500 inhabitants. If corrupt government can be terminated in cities it cannot survive in the states or in the nation."

I have no desire to expound the commission idea here. That has been done in the magazines, in John J. Hamilton's excellent book, "The Dethronement of the City Boss," and in this speech of Senator Owen's, copies of which can be had for the asking. Enough here to say that it practically eliminates partisan politics, the machine and the "boss"; that it obliterates ward boundaries and nominating conventions; that it does away with common councils, aldermen, "gray wolves" and gangs; and that it carries with it those once revolutionary but now commonplace devices for assuring power to the people, the initiative, referendum and recall.

Washington Should Be Beautiful.

The business of beautifying Washington is getting complicated. Probably there are but few citizens of the United States, who are in a position to know and to speak their convictions, who would not like to see the capital of the United States, not merely the most beautiful city in our land, but the most beautiful in the world. Many long centuries must pass before it can acquire the present ripened majesty of Rome or the artistic mingling of the ancient and the modern, the venerable and the beautiful of Paris. But St. Petersburg, Moscow, Buda Pesth, Vienna and Brussels are beautiful capitals, all as young for their countries as Washington is for ours, and each decreed by a master hand without reference to commercial advantages. In short, it is folly to expect Washington to be built in a day when we have proverbial authority that Rome was not, but it ought not to be hard, with proper enthusiasm, to place it on a par with Vienna or with Buda Pesth—Europe's two chief modern show places today.

Though late in entering on the contest, Washington is not hurrying the work of progressing from a ragged city, beautiful in spots, to the completed capital planned by the National Fine Arts Federation.

Splendid Pennsylvania Avenue. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Bailey has just given out the pictures of the new group of buildings to be erected at the treasury end of Pennsylvania avenue. These pictures show the three buildings for the department of justice, the department of commerce and labor, and the department of state to be designed in the purest classical style. They resemble in some degree the impressive senate and house office buildings that flank Capitol Park. The three new buildings mentioned, with the grey old treasury and the spotless District building, will make that end of the avenue an architectural delight. But the visitor who proceeds on foot or by street car thence to the capitol—as nearly all do—will traverse a mile and a half of one of the most famous and most squalid streets in the world. One side of this Pennsylvania avenue is made up of fifty-cent lodging houses, Chinese shops and cheap doggeries. The other, only a little better, bears striking evidence of the greed of landlords.

The one side is destined in time to be lined with stately buildings at public expense. The land owners on the other side are maintaining any sort of tumble-down edifices the rent of which will pay their taxes while their land enhances in value. As a result the avenue along which presidents drive to be inaugurated, the avenue which saw the final review of Grant's army, and which is more famous in history than any other American street, possesses about the dignity of the Bowery.

Some day it will be like Unter der Linden or the Champs Elysees, but as before noted Rome was not built in a day.

As to Reapportionment.

The congressional reapportionment, based on the thirteenth census, and now lying quiescent in a senatorial pigeon hole, is likely to cause presidential politicians some perplexity if it goes into effect before the presidential election. It was the program of the stand pat faction to avoid any action on the bill at least during the extra session, but recent occurrences in the senate make it probable that the session will be so prolonged as to leave no excuse for letting the bill go over.

Probably everybody knows that the house bill increases the number of representatives by 42, and the admission of Arizona and New Mexico will add two more. The 42 new members will be distributed among 22 states, leaving 24 with their present representation. The latter are thus penalized for failure to grow or for actually shrinking. Nearly everybody thinks the new house will be too large, but it could not have been made smaller without depriving some states of part of their representation.

Now the bearing of this increase on the presidential contest rests upon the relation that by law exists between the representation in congress and the electoral vote, and by custom between the representation in congress and in the nominating conventions of the two great parties. Each state is entitled to as many votes in the electoral college as it has congressional districts and one for each of its senators. Thus New York with 37 congressional districts has 39 electoral votes. But under the new apportionment New York will gain six districts and therefore six electoral votes.

Some of the Consequences.

There are a dozen states, no one of which will have as many votes in the electoral college as this new apportionment will add to the 39 votes New York already possesses. In short, the big state exerts an ever increasing influence in the electoral college as compared with its lesser brethren. The electoral vote of New York in 1908 offset the total votes of Kansas, Missouri, Delaware and Nebraska. Next year it will offset these and the vote of Florida or of Maine as well.

It so happens, furthermore, that of the 24 states to gain in electoral representation six are certainly Democratic with a gain of nine electoral votes, and six with a gain of 15 votes are doubtful, with the chances Democratic as all elected Democratic governors or a Democratic delegation to congress last fall.

In 1876 the votes of the newly admitted state of Colorado tied the electoral college, and resulted in the strife ending with the election of Hayes. It is little wonder that presidential politicians are puzzling over the 44 additional votes in the next electoral college.

The national nominating conventions, too, will be affected by this change. Omitting the territories, each party admits to its convention two delegates for each senator and representative. Here while 22 states are to gain 88 votes in the convention, 24 are limited to their old representation. Missouri and the states adjacent to it gain no votes; Ohio gains 2; New Jersey 4, New York 12, Massachusetts 4. Friends of Democratic candidates in these states may draw their own inferences.

May End Two-Thirds Rule.

But the Democratic politicians are perplexed by another untried factor. In Democratic conventions for nearly 40 years a two-thirds vote has been necessary to a nomination. In the Republican conventions a majority suffices. But in the Democratic conventions the state delegations may, and usually do vote as a unit. That is, the majority casts the full vote of the delegation. But five states have adopted the Oregon plan of choosing delegates by direct vote of the people, and three more states are expected to join the procession before next spring.

Minority delegates thus chosen cannot be voted by the majority members of the same delegation because their instructions were delivered direct from the people acting under law. Thus in Oregon, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota and Wisconsin it is entirely possible that the unit rule may be set aside. If it is, the reason for the two-thirds rule is ended.

The admission of the Democrats in the house that the money available for present expenses has been exhausted, and that an emergency appropriation of more than $30,000 is necessary to meet immediate needs, has of course awakened savage criticism on the Republican side. Neither the shortage nor the criticism is novel. Both have been the rule rather than the exception in the past, only as the Republicans were in and the Democrats out, the former had the shortage to apologize for, and the latter were the critics.

This year the fight on the emergency appropriation is likely to center about the money expended for the numerous investigating committees ordered by the house. No one can tell off-hand how many such committees there are—at this writing there are approximately thirteen. The committee investigating the steel trust has $25,000 at its disposal; the sugar trust committee as much more. The lesser committees of investigation, like those on expenditures in the various departments, and the District of Columbia committee, are not operating under fixed appropriations, but in the end it is wholly probable that much more money than is provided for in this emergency bill will be needed.

The danger which confronts the Democrats is not too many investigations, with the necessary accompanying expenses, but rather that they may be scared off the trails they have struck by Republican outcry against the price of the pursuit.

Refuse to Stop Probing.

Just at present Oscar Underwood is out of town, and it is a striking evidence of the personal prestige he has gained that in his absence nobody will talk definitely about what the Democratic program will be. But at least half a dozen prominent Democrats with whom I have talked declare that the work of investigation will proceed and the cry of extravagance raised against the investigators will be ignored.

"If we can compel the law officers of the United States to proceed criminally against the heads of the steel or sugar trust," said one, "it will be saving money in the end to the people even though each investigation costs twice the amount appropriated. I don't know what the cost thus far has been of the investigation into expenditures in the state department, but if it shall convince the secretive gentlemen there that to issue a voucher for $2,450 in payment of an $850 bill is bad business, it is worth the cost."

"Nobody hopes to get to the bottom of affairs in the post office department during this congress. That department is the hardest nut we have to crack. It may be that only a change in administration, with a clean sweep of the general officials in the department, will ultimately be necessary. But at any rate it may be said right now that not one of these investigating committees has failed to start a trail which, properly pursued, will lead to the quarry sought."

What Will the President Do?

It is a long time since congressional circles have been quite as much disquieted by speculation upon the future action of a president as they are today. Without exaggeration it may be said that the smiling and easy-going Taft, the traveling and golfing Taft, the president who has been secretly criticized by the foremost members of his own party, just now holds the winning cards in the immediate political game in his own hands. Furthermore, he is stubbornly keeping those cards face down, for to him is the advantage of the last play.

Only insiders know how the political game would be simplified for insurgents and standpatters if they could but tell what the president is going to do with tariff legislation that may come to him from congress. They do know that he will veto the reciprocity bill if it carries any amendment whatsoever. That is the reason why the Root amendment was so easily slain in the senate the other day. But what of the free list and the woolen schedule soon to be before the senate, and the cotton and steel schedules which will speedily follow?

The Democrats, of course, don't care much if the president signs or vetoes these bills, or for that matter, whether the senate passes or defeats them. They are going to stake the next presidential election on their efforts for the downward revision of the tariff. If these efforts are rendered abortive by senate hostility or by presidential vetoes they can point to the Democratic record and argue that if supported by the people in the 1912 elections they will have a senate and a president who will make their initial legislation effective.

Republican Factions in Quandary.

But the two factions into which the Republican party is split cannot get together on tariff legislation, and are eager to throw the decision over to Taft. It would delight the insurgents in the senate to pass the free list bill if they were sure Taft would veto it, for they feel that such action would weaken the president and strengthen them.

The standpatters would not mind seeing the wool schedule adopted if they were sure the president would sign it. That they think would end him, and whatever the temper of the people, the desire of both factions of the Republican party is to relegate Mr. Taft to private life. But with an equanimity that baffles his foes, that gentleman goes on making admirable speeches in favor of tariff reduction, and defending above all his reciprocity treaty, without giving a hint as to what he may do with the flood of bills that will follow the reciprocity bill.

There is no doubt in congressional circles that the president would prefer to evade the responsibility of passing upon a lot of tariff schedules. He called the extra session to enact the reciprocity treaty into law, and would prefer that congress should adjourn as soon as that is accomplished. But that preference is not destined to be gratified. The Democrats have their free list and their wool schedule on the senate calendar. Only a determined filibuster lasting until December can prevent their coming to a vote. The longer the delay, the more schedules will be shot over from the house. Cotton is about ready now; steel in process of completion. So some of these bills will surely go to the president.

What will he do with them? The opinion is growing that he will consider them solely on their merits, not as party measures. His pet reciprocity bill would never reach him but for Democratic support, and he can hardly set aside the free list simply because of its Democratic origin. What he is doing is to bend all his energies to doing the first thing first, and keeping silent on all others. Which is mighty good politics, but sadly distressing to the senate Republicans who had begun to think him out of the game.
