LITHIA BEER FOR THE AGED

When with age the blood becomes impoverished and ceases to pulsate through the veins with the same vigor as in youth, there is nothing more beneficial than Lithia Beer.

It is a happy combination of tonic, stimulant and nutrition. The tonic property is derived from the hops, a little alcohol furnishes the element of stimulation and the barley malt is highly nutritive.

Lithia Beer is a splendid drink for aged persons, anaemics, convalescents and nursing mothers.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Arthur Heberer of the Town of Auburn is Badly Cut on Head Last Wednesday Morning.

INJURED WITH CIRCLE SAW

The Accident Happened While the Young Man Was Sawing Wood With a Circle Saw.

Arthur Heberer, aged 23 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Heberer of the town of Auburn had a narrow escape from death last Wednesday morning at about 8 o'clock, while threshing at August Backhaus' farm about 2 miles north of this village, when a circle saw struck him and cut a severe wound across his forehead, the bridge of the nose and across the right eye. The wound was inflicted as deep as the brains. It is feared that brain fever will be the result, which will mean death to the young man.

Mr. Heberer was a member of his uncle, William Heberer's threshing crew. The crew had early in the morning moved their outfit from Emil Ramel's place to the Backhaus farm. While the crew was preparing the machinery, the young man was engaged in sawing wood with the circle saw. In some manner the saw buck, which is attached to the engine, flew back and the circle saw struck the unfortunate man. That the top of his head was not severed is a miracle. Medical aid was at once summoned and all possible means are being done to save his life. Let us all hope and wish that Mr. Heberer will soon be able to be amongst us again.

Now Into New Quarters.

The past week has been a very busy week for this office on account of the moving of all the machinery and material to our new quarters, therefore we hope and wish that everyone of our readers will excuse us for any news items which are not published in this week's issue. It has been very hard for us to pick up all the news and then move at the same time. The Milwaukee Printer Roller Co., had the contract for moving and setting up the machinery, which they did in a most satisfactory manner. They certainly are experts in this line. It is only now a matter of a few weeks that our paper will be enlarged when we will try and give the public a better paper than ever before. With a larger paper we will be in a position to handle all advertisements. Our job department will be larger and better equipped than ever before. All work given us in this line will receive the most careful attention and executed in a most satisfactory manner. Our motto is, We print what you want, the way you want it, and when you want it.

IS VETOED BY TAFT

STATEHOOD BILL IS TURNED DOWN BECAUSE OF JUDICIARY RECALL.

PUTS SHACKLES ON JUDGES

Would Render Decisions Under Legalized Terrorism if Provision of Arizona Constitution Was in Force—May Try to Pass It Over Veto.

Washington.—President Taft, in a special message to the house of representatives, vetoed the joint resolution providing for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood. His reason for exercising the executive power of veto was based on his thorough disapproval of the recall of judges clause in the Arizona constitution.

The fact that New Mexico's statehood was bound up with that of Arizona meted out to it the same fate, and neither territory can come into the Union at this time unless friends of the joint resolution in congress can muster the two-thirds vote necessary to adopt the resolution over the president's veto. This may be attempted.

The president did not spare words in condemning the recall feature of the Arizona constitution, which, he said, would compel judges to make their decisions "under legalized terrorism." The recall provision would operate against all elective officers of Arizona, including both county and state judges. When 25 per cent. of the voters of the previous election petitioned for a special election to remove an official such an election would be compulsory.

"This provision of the Arizona constitution," the president says, "in its application to county and state judges seems to me so pernicious in its effect, so destructive of independence in the judiciary, so likely to subject the rights of the individual to the possible tyranny of a popular majority, and, therefore, to be so injurious to the cause of free government that I must disapprove a constitution containing it."

Much of the message was devoted to a discussion of the functions of courts. The president dwelt at length on the necessity for freeing the judiciary as much as possible from political or popular influence. Referring to the recall provision, he asked: "Could there be a system more ingeniously devised to subject judges to momentary gusts of popular passion than this?"

INDICT BEATTIE FOR MURDER

Grand Jury Returns First Degree True Bill—Miss Binford Is Not Called.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va.—A true bill charging murder in the first degree was returned by the grand jury at the Chesterfield circuit court against Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., of Richmond. He will be tried for his life as the alleged murderer of his young wife, victim of the Midlothian turnpike tragedy of July 18.

The commonwealth decided that only four witnesses would be heard by the grand jury. They were Thomas E. Owen, uncle of Mrs. Beattie; T. P. Pettigrew, called to testify as to the finding of the single-barreled shotgun; Dr. Wilbur Mercer, who was on the Owen lawn when Beattie drove up with the body, and Paul Beattie, a cousin of the defendant.

Beniah Binford, the "woman in the case," sat smiling in an anteroom waiting to be called as a witness.

PRISONER SHOTS UP COURT

Wounds Three Men When Ordered to Jail and Is Killed by One of the Victims.

Benton, Ill.—Attempting to escape after being remanded to jail for examination, Martin Shadownes shot Justice of the Peace James Mannon, City Marshal John Stakinrider and a spectator and cut Deputy Thomas Mackey. Mackey shot and killed Shadownes, whose brother Charles fell from a second story window and was probably fatally hurt. The shooting occurred at Christopher, a small town near here.

The Shadownes brothers had been arrested for shooting on the streets after a man named Benges had been injured by a bullet. Martin Shadownes pleaded to be allowed to appear in the justice court, but Justice Mannon ordered that he be taken to jail without warning Martin shot Mannon and Marshal Stakinrider.

RIOTS IN ENGLAND

MOB ATTACKS TROOPS IN ATTEMPT TO RESCUE PRISONERS.

General Strike Is Declared on All Railway Lines in England—Many Hurt.

Liverpool.—Troops are pouring into the city to stop the reign of terror that exists here. The landing stage of transatlantic steamers is under heavy guard, which, it is declared, the strikers have threatened to destroy.

Five prison vans, escorted by 50 hussars, which were carrying riot prisoners from the police court to Waltham jail, were attacked by 3,000 members of the roughest class in Vaulx-hall street, in an attempt to rescue the prisoners. The mob attacked the soldiers with missiles of every description, and in defending themselves the hussars fired.

At first blanks were used, and then ball cartridges.

In this affray one man was killed and many persons were severely wounded.

Another, but less serious affray, in which the troops again were compelled to fire, took place in Bond street. Only a few persons were wounded.

At a meeting of the executives of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, the Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and the General Railway Workers' union, a resolution was unanimously adopted declaring a general railway strike throughout the whole United Kingdom.

OIL TRUST MUST STAND TRIAL

Indictment of 143 Counts for Rebates Held Good by United States Court.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Judge John R. Hazel in United States district court held that the Standard Oil company must stand trial at the next regular term on an indictment of 143 counts, charging acceptance of rebates from the Pennsylvania Railroad company and the New York Central Railroad company on shipments of petroleum from Olean, N. Y., to Burlington, Vt., in violation of the Elkins law.

One of the company's chief points of defense urged in its motion to dismiss was that the alleged offenses had all been disposed of in previous trials and that the company could not twice be placed in jeopardy for the same alleged offense.

The government, through John Lord O'Brien, United States attorney, contended that each offense alleged in the indictment was a separate one Judge Hazel sustained the government's contention.

GOTHAM FLYER IS WRECKED

Pennsylvania 18-Hour Train Ditched Near Fort Wayne, Ind.—Two Die, 30 Hurt.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—The Chicago-to-New York 18-hour Pennsylvania railroad limited was wrecked at Swinney Park, a mile west of the Pennsylvania depot here. It jumped the track and struck a freight engine standing on the west-bound track, killing two persons and injuring about thirty passengers severely, ten of them from Chicago.

Three local hospitals received the wounded as rapidly as they were taken from the wreckage. The flyer was an hour and ten minutes late and was running at 68 miles an hour. The cause had not been determined, but a new switch was recently put in at the point and to this is attributed the wreck.

STEPHENSON QUIZ IS VOTED

Resolution Sent to Committee to Provide Investigators' Expenses—Vindication Sought.

This action was unanimously decided by the senate following the submission of a recommendation to that effect by the committee on privileges and elections.

AVIATION WEEK IN CHICAGO

TWO AVIATORS DIE

BADGER IS CRUSHED BY MACHINE—JOHNSTONE IS DROWNED IN LAKE.

FALLS 3,500 FEET TO DEATH

Chicago Youth Dashed into Water When Engine Explodes in Air—Pittsburgh Aviator Killed When Biplane Collapsed.

Grant Park Aviation Field, Chicago.—In the presence of 500,000 people, two aviators, one the son of a Pittsburgh millionaire, the other the son of a Chicago physician, were dashed to their deaths.

One of the fatalities occurred on the field, a few yards from the gates of the enclosure, when a biplane with huge spread of red wing folded up like a jack knife and struck the earth with terrific force.

The second accident occurred at sunset when a graceful monoplane suddenly shot toward the lake from a height of 3,500 feet. As it neared the water its pilot tried to steer it upward, but the forces of gravitation were too potent. The wings collapsed, the engine exploded and the driver was either killed before he struck the water or drowned.

The dead: St. Croix Johnstone, a Chicago aviator, whose Moisant monoplane dived into the lake after a glide of 3,500 feet. It collapsed when its pilot tried to turn its course upward and its engine exploded. Johnstone had vanished when Robinson, in his hydroaeroplane, reached the wreck a minute later. He was either killed by the engine or drowned.

W. R. Badger, a Pittsburgh pilot and reputed millionaire, who sought to emulate the hair-raising exploits of Lincoln Beachey. His Baldwin "red devil" collapsed as Badger was making a spectacular dip not far above ground. The engine struck the pilot, breaking his neck and crushing his skull. Badger died in St. Luke's hospital within half an hour.

The death of Johnstone was an unusual tragedy. The young aviator plunged to his fate before the eyes of his mother and wife, who were standing near the hangars, proudly watching his performances.

Grant Park Aviation Field, Chicago.—Smashing all American records for a day's flight, Atwood, the Boston aviator, flew into Chicago from St. Louis, en route to New York and Boston, and joined the other winged vehicles on the lake front.

He completed the aeroplane dash across the prairies of Illinois in five hours and thirty-four minutes of flying time, the distance traveled between dawn and nightfall being about 300 miles. The average speed of the journey was fifty-six miles an hour.

Aims at Harvester Concern.

Washington.—Another comprehensive investigation, this time into the affairs of the International Harvester company, will be under way during the next regular session of congress if a resolution introduced by Representative Foster of Illinois is passed by the house.

It asks an inquiry by a committee of nine members of the house, to be chosen in the same way as the committees of inquiry into the so-called steel and sugar trusts.

WOOL BILL APPROVED

SENATE PASSES NEW SCHEDULE BY VOTE OF 38 TO 28.

Measure Now Goes to the President, Who Is Expected to Veto the Bill.

Washington.—The senate, by a vote of 38 to 28, adopted the conference report on the wool tariff revision bill, already adopted by the house. The bill will now go to the White House for the expected veto of President Taft.

The vote came after a vigorous five hours' debate on the merits of the bill. It was a victory for the combined Democratic and Insurgent Republican forces as against the regular Republicans. Only two progressive Republicans, Senators Borah of Idaho and Bourne of Oregon, united with the regulars in the vote against the bill.

The bill as passed by the two houses places a flat ad valorem duty of 29 per cent. on all raw wool, and proportionate rates on woolen manufactures.

The wool bill passed the house by a vote of 206 to 90. Thirty-one Republicans joined with the Democrats who voted solidly for the measure.

16 KILLED IN MEXICAN FIGHT

Federals and Rebels in Battle at Huiztilac—Demand Pay for Army Service.

Mexico City.—Seven federals and nine rebels were killed in a fight between the forces of General Zapata, the revolutionary leader, and the government troops at the town of Huiztilac, near Cuernavaca. General Madero, head of the government, is at Cuernavaca, and on his orders hostilities have been suspended pending a conference between General Zapata and the executive. Zapata, however, refused to meet Madero and sent an ultimatum of war to the death unless the Madero government pays his men for their work in the last revolution.

He will be buried on Wednesday.

Pottsville, Pa.—Two men were blown to pieces in a powder mill explosion at Cressona, a few miles from here.

GIVES WARNING OF UTILITIES PROBE

STATE RATE COMMISSION HAS NOTIFIED COMPANIES OF A. COMING INVESTIGATION.

BETTER SERVICE DEMANDED

Orders of Commission Alleged to Have Been Disregarded by Milwaukee Corporation and Others—Penalty May Be Enforced.

Madison.—Declaring that the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company is failing to furnish to its patrons the quality of service required under an order of the commission made on July 24, 1908, in spite of repeated notifications by the commission to improve its service, Secretary J. M. Winterbotham of the board has mailed to the Milwaukee company formal notice of its intention to start an investigation with a view to determining whether or not proceedings should be brought in the name of the state to enforce penalty fixed for non-compliance with the order.

Similar notices were also mailed to the Menomonee Light and Fuel company of Menomonee, Wis., and the Eastern Wisconsin Railway and Light company of Fond du Lac.

Under the order of the commission referred to in the notice, standards of service, chiefly in respect to the electric power and gas pressure, were laid down. It appears from the notice that these standards have not been closely adhered to as the order directed.

In the case of the Milwaukee company a variation of 6 per cent above or below normal was authorized, but even this margin seems to have been overstepped.

NAME FROELICH PRESIDENT

Jackson Man Chosen to Head the Wisconsin League of Postmasters at Green Bay Convention.

ROB MILTON JUNCTION BANK

Yeggmen Crack Safe and Secure $600 in Stamps and Jewelry—Suspect Milwaukee Crooks.

Milton Junction.—Thieves broke into and robbed the state bank here and pillaged the store of W. H. Gates. Four hundred dollars in stamps and $40 government funds were secured, as well as five gold watches and $3 in cash belonging to Mr. Gates, who owns a jewelry store.

The stamps and government money were taken from the same safe as the jewelry. The robbers knocked the combination lever off the safe and broke a hole into it.

It is thought that the yeggmen went to Milwaukee, as two men were seen taking a night freight train bound for that place.

The bank was the local postoffice's depository.

ACCUSE WOMAN OF SLAYING HUSBAND

MRS. MARY WERTELEWSKI OF MARINETTE COUNTY HELD FOLLOWING AUTOPTSY.

FOUND SKULL WAS CRUSHED

Body Had Been Buried After the Issuing of Certificate That Death Resulted from Heart Failure—Four Children Held as Witnesses.

Marinette.—Mrs. Mary Wertelewski, aged 46, charged with the murder of her husband, A. B. Wertelewski, of Pound, Marinette county, was arraigned here and entered a plea of not guilty. The four children of the woman, aged from 7 to 15, are being held in jail with the mother, as witnesses.

Wertelewski was found dead in his home a few days ago. A doctor issued a certificate giving heart failure as the cause of death, and the man was buried. Reports that came to Sheriff Schwittay caused him to investigate. The body was exhumed and the skull found to be badly fractured. One piece of the skull was driven right into the brain.

Mrs. Wertelewski denies that she killed her husband, saying that she found him dead at the foot of the stairs, lying in a pool of blood. She claims that he was drunk and fell down stairs.

Neighbors say that the husband was frequently drunk and this was the cause of many quarrels between the couple.

Lightning struck the power house of the Milwaukee Northern electric line at Cedarburg. The damage was small.

At Beaver Dam, the electric light plant was put out of commission, the telephone system disabled and many cellars flooded.

"The northeastern part of the state has had so much rainfall that some crops have suffered considerably. The northern, western and central parts have had sufficient rainfall and all crops are and have been good with the exception possibly of clover.

"The condition of pastures is in proportion to the rainfall received in the respective localities.

"Tobacco has enjoyed an exceptional season, but drought is injuring some of it.

The Wausaukee fire department broke down early during the fire and help was secured from Iron Mountain.

Wausaukee is a village of 1,600 inhabitants, according to the last census, and is about thirty-five miles northwest of Marinette in Marinette county. It is one of the most prosperous towns in the northern part of the state, formerly in the heart of the pine woods, and is a railroad junction point.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Last Monday morning while Wm. Marquardt was delivering milk to the factory here his horse shied and upset the wagon spilling several cans of milk, damaging the wagon and severely injuring the boy. The boy claims the chauffeur would not give him half of the road. The place where the accident happened is very narrow and is impossible for an auto and wagon to pass each other. Mr. Marquardt knows the driver of the machine and will ask for damages.

Pat Went Without His Steak, but at That Everything Was Not Lost.

Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, says the Irish race has, in addition to its sentiment and romance, a lot of philosophy as one of its characteristics.

"The best illustration I ever heard of this," he explained to a dinner party one evening, "was the case of a poor Irishman who had been given a fine, juicy piece of steak. Being a religious man, he placed the steak in front of him, and there, in the shade of the trees surrounding his benefactor's house, he folded his hands, closed his eyes, and gave thanks to heaven for the meal. When he was in the attitude of prayer, a dog rushed up and captured the steak. Pat looked around in time to see the food disappearing over the hill.

"Thank heaven," he exclaimed, again closing his eyes, he left me my appetite!"—The Sunday Magazine.

Mrs. Margaret Cook, North Market St., Logan, Ohio, says: "It is almost impossible to describe my sufferings. My back ached constantly and so awful was the bearing-down pain that I could scarcely drag myself about. Kidney secretions were in terrible condition and pains through my head were so intense I could scarcely refrain from screaming. I could not sleep, was nervous and lost flesh so rapidly I looked like a walking skeleton. I doctored all the time but had begun to think there was no help for me. Then I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was entirely cured. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me a new lease of life."

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and an enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

CHAPTER I.

The Plainsman.

The man was riding just below the summit of the ridge, occasionally up-lifting his head so as to gaze across the crest, shading his eyes with one hand, to thus better concentrate his vision. Both horse and rider plainly exhibited signs of weariness, but every movement of the latter showed ceaseless vigilance, his glance roaming the barren ridges, a brown Winchester lying cocked across the saddle pommel, his left hand taut on the rein. Yet the horse he bestrode scarcely required restraint, advancing slowly, with head hanging low, and only occasionally breaking into a brief trot under the impetus of the spur.

The rider was a man approaching thirty, somewhat slender and long of limb, but possessing broad, squared shoulders above a deep chest, sitting the saddle easily in plainsman fashion, yet with an erectness of carriage which suggested military training. The face under the wide brim of the weather-worn slouch hat was clean-shaven, browned by sun and wind, and strongly marked, the chin slightly prominent, the mouth firm, the gray eyes full of character and daring. His dress was that of rough service, plain leather "chaps," showing marks of hard usage, a gray woolen shirt tucked low at the neck, with a kerchief knotted loosely about the sinewy bronzed throat. At one hip dangled the holster of a "forty-five," on the other hung a canvas-covered canteen. His was figure and face to be noted anywhere, a man from whom you would expect both thought and action, and one who seemed to exactly fit into his wild environment.

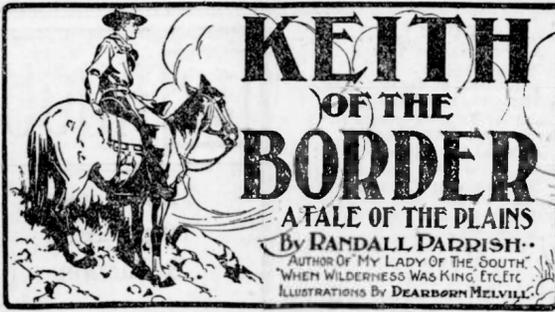

Where he rode was the very western extreme of the prairie country, billowed like the sea, and from off the crest of its higher ridges, the wide level sweep of the plains was visible, extending like a vast brown ocean to the foothills of the far-away mountains. Yet the actual commencement of that drear, barren expanse was fully ten miles distant, while all about where he rode the conformation was irregular, comprising narrow valleys and swelling mounds, with here and there a sharp ravine, riven from the rock and invisible until one drew up startled at its very brink. The general trend of depression was undoubtedly southward leading toward the valley of the Arkansas, yet irregular ridges occasionally cut across, adding to the confusion. The entire surrounding landscape presented the same aspect, with no special object upon which the eye could rest for guidance—no tree, no upheaval of rock, no peculiarity of summit, no snake-like trail—all about extended the same dull, dead monotony of brown, sun-baked hills, with slightly greener depressions lying between, interspersed by patches of sand or the white gleam of alkali. It was a dreary, deserted land, parched under the hot summer sun, brightened by no vegetation, excepting sparse bunches of buffalo grass or an occasional stunted sage bush, and disclosing nowhere the slightest sign of human habitation.

The rising sun reddened the crest of the hills, and the rider, halting his willing horse, sat motionless, gazing steadily into the southwest. Apparently he perceived nothing there unusual, for he slowly turned his body about in the saddle, sweeping his eyes, inch by inch, along the line of the horizon, until the entire circuit had been completed. Then his compressed lips smiled slightly, his hand unconsciously patting the horse's neck.

"I reckon we're still alone, old girl," he said quietly, a bit of Southern drawl in the voice. "We'll try for the trail, and take it easy."

He swung stiffly out of the saddle, and with reins dangling over his shoulder, began the slower advance on foot, the exhausted horse trailing behind. His was not a situation in which one could feel certain of safety, for any ridge might conceal the wary foemen he sought to avoid, yet he proceeded now with renewed confidence. It was the summer of 1868, and the place the very heart of the Indian country, with every separate tribe ranging between the Yellowstone and the Brazos, either restless or openly on the war-path. Rumors of atrocities were being retold the length and breadth of the border, and every report drifting in to either fort or settlement only added to the alarm. For once at least the Plains Indians had discovered a common cause, tribal differences had been adjusted in war against the white invaders, and Kiowa, Comanches, Arapahoes, Cheyennes and Sioux had become welded together in savage brotherhood. To oppose them were the scattered and unorganized settlers lining the more eastern streams, guarded by small detachments of regular troops posted here and there, amid that broad wilderness, scarcely within touch of each other.

Everywhere beyond these lines of patrol wandered roaming war parties, attacking travelers on the trails, raiding exposed settlements, and occasionally venturing to try open battle with the small squads of armed men. In this stress of sudden emergency—every available soldier on active duty—civilians had been pressed into service, and hastily despatched to warn exposed settlers, guide wagon trains, or carry despatches between outposts. And thus our rider, Jack Keith, who knew every foot of the plains lying between the Republican and the Canadian rivers, was one of these thus suddenly requisitioned, merely because he chanced to be discovered unemployed by the harassed commander of a cantonment just without the environs of Carson City. Twenty minutes later he was riding swiftly into the northwest, bearing important news to General Sheridan, commander of the Department, who happened at that moment to be at Fort Cairnes. To Keith this had been merely another page in a career of adventure; for him to take his life in his hands had long ago become an old story. He had quietly performed the special duty allotted him, watched a squadron of troopers trot forth down the valley of the Republican, received the hasty thanks of the peppery little general, and then, having nothing better to do, traded his horse in at the government corral for a fresh mount and started back again for Carson City. For the greater portion of two nights and a day he had been in the saddle, but he was accustomed to this, for he had driven more than one bunch of longhorns up the Texas trail; and as he had slept three hours at Cairnes, and as his nerves were like steel, the thought of danger gave him slight concern. He was thoroughly tired, and it rested him to get out of the saddle, while the freshness of the morning air was a tonic, the very breath of which made him forgetful of fatigue.

After all, this was indeed the very sort of experience which appealed to him, and always had—this life of peril in the open, under the stars and the sky. He had constantly experienced it for so long now, eight years, as to make it seem merely natural. While he ploughed steadily forward through the shifting sand of the coulees, his thought drifted idly back over those years, and sometimes he smiled, and occasionally frowned, as various incidents returned to memory. It had been a rough life, yet one not unusual to those of his generation. Born of excellent family in Tidewater Virginia, his father had died while he was still in curly boyhood, and he had grown up cut off from all womanly influence. He had barely attained his majority, a senior at William and Mary's College, when the Civil War came; and one month after Virginia cast in her lot with the South, he became a sergeant in a cavalry regiment commanded by his father. He had enjoyed that life and won his spurs, yet it had cost. There was much not over-pleasant to remember, and those strenuous years of almost ceaseless fighting, of long night marches, of swift, merciless raiding, of lonely scouting within the enemy's lines, of severe wounds, hardship and suffering, had left their marks on both body and soul. His father had fallen on the field at Antietam, and left him utterly alone in the world, but he had fought on grimly to the end, until the last flag of the Confederacy had been furled. By that time, upon the collar of his tattered gray jacket appeared the tarnished insignia of a captain. The quick tears dimmed his eyes even now as he recalled anew that final parting following Appomattox, the battle-worn faces of his men, and his own painful journey homeward, defeated, wounded and penniless. It was no home when he got there, only a heap of ashes and a few weed-grown acres. No familiar face greeted him; not even a slave was left.

He had honestly endeavored to remain there, to face the future and work it out alone; he persuaded himself to feel that this was his paramount duty to the state, to the memory of the dead. But those very years of army life made such a task impossible; the dull, dead monotony of routine, the loneliness, the slowness of results, became intolerable. As it came to thousands of his comrades, the call of the West came to him, and at last he yielded, and drifted toward the frontier. The life there fascinated him, drawing him deeper and deeper into its swirling vortex. He became freighter, mail carrier, hunter, government scout, cowboy, foreman. Once he had drifted into the mountains, and took a chance in the mines, but the wide plains called him back once more to their desert loneliness. What an utter waste it all seemed, now that he looked back upon it. Eight years of fighting, hardship and rough living, and what had they brought him? The reputation of a hard rider, a daring player at cards, a quick shot, a scorners of danger, and a bad man to fool with—that was the whole of a record hardly won. The man's eyes hardened, his lips set firmly, as this truth came crushing home. A pretty life story surely, one to be proud of, and with probably no better ending than an Indian bullet, or the flash of a revolver in some barroom fight.

The narrow valley along which he was traveling suddenly changed its direction, compelling him to climb the rise of the ridge. Slightly below the summit he halted. In front extended the wide expanse of the Arkansas valley, a scene of splendor under the golden rays of the sun, with vivid contrast of colors, the gray of rocks, the yellow of sand, the brown of distant hills, the green of vegetation, and the silver sheen of the stream half hidden behind the fringe of cottonwoods lining its banks. This was a sight Keith had often looked upon, but always with appreciation, and for the moment his eyes swept across from bluff to bluff without thought except for its wild beauty. Then he perceived something which instantly startled him into attention—yonder, close beside the river, just beyond that ragged bunch of cottonwoods, slender spirals of blue smoke were visible. That would hardly be a camp of freighters at this hour of the day, and besides, the Santa Fe trail along here ran close in against the bluff, coming down to the river at the ford two miles further west. No party of plainsmen would ever venture to build a fire in so exposed a spot, and no small company would take the chances of the trail. But surely that appeared to be the flap of a canvas wagon top a little to the right of the smoke, yet all was so far away he could not be certain. He stared in that direction a long while, shading his eyes with both hands, unable to decide. There were three or four moving black dots higher up the river, but so far away he could not distinguish whether men or animals. Only as outlined against the yellow sand dunes could he tell they were advancing westward toward the ford.

Decidedly puzzled by all this, yet determined to solve the mystery and unwilling to remain hidden there until night, Keith led his horse along the slant of the ridge, until he attained a sharp break through the bluff leading down into the valley. It was a rugged gash, nearly impassable, but a half hour of toil won them the lower prairie, the winding path preventing the slightest view of what might be meanwhile transpiring below. Once safely out in the valley the river could no longer be seen, while barely a hundred yards away, winding along like a great serpent, ran the deeply rutted trail to Santa Fe. In neither direction appeared any sign of human life. As near as he could determine from those distant cottonwoods outlined against the sky, for the smoke spirals were too thin by then to be observed, the spot sought must be considerably to the right of where he had emerged. With this idea in mind he advanced cautiously, his every sense alert, searching anxiously for fresh signs of passage or evidence of a wagon train having deserted the beaten track, and turned south. The trail itself, dustless and packed hard, revealed nothing, but some five hundred yards beyond the ravine he discovered what he sought—here two wagons had turned sharply to the left, their wheels cutting deeply enough into the prairie sod to show them heavily laden. With the experience of the border he was able to determine that these wagons were drawn by mules, two span of each, their small hoofs clearly defined on the turf, and that they were being driven rapidly, on a sharp trot as they turned, and then, a hundred feet further, at a slashing gallop. Just outside their trail appeared the marks of a galloping horse. A few rods farther along Keith came to a confused blur of pony tracks sweeping in from the east, and the whole story of the chase was revealed as though he had witnessed it with his own eyes. They must have been crazy, or else impelled by some grave necessity, to venture along this trail in so small a party. And they were traveling west—west! Keith drew a deep breath, and swore to himself, "Of all the blame fools!"

He perceived the picture in all its gruesome details—the two mule-drawn wagons moving slowly along the trail in the early morning; the band of hostile Indians suddenly swooping out from some obscure hiding place in the bluffs; the discovery of their presence; the desperate effort at escape; the swerving from the open trail in vain hope of reaching the river and finding protection underneath its banks; the frightened mules galloping wildly, lashed into a frenzy by the man on horseback; the pounding of the ponies' hoofs, punctuated by the exultant yells of the pursuers. Again he swore: "Of all the blame fools!"

Manuscript of Thirteenth Century. While reading a French book of the sixteenth century in the university library, St. Andrews, the German lecturer, Dr. Schaffs, noticed some fragments of an old French poem which the binder had pasted on back and covers of the book.

After loosening them he removed the glue and out of the four pieces obtained composed two larger pieces, parts of two leaves of a manuscript written in a beautiful and clear type in two columns of thirty-nine lines each, 144 in all, with red and blue initials. The names occurring in the text leave no doubt that the fragments contain parts of the old French chason "Le Roman de Girard de Viane," and from the language and the script it appears that the manuscript was written between 1250 and 1300.

QUEER DISEASE IS IN UNITED STATES

Many Here Afflicted With Odd Ailment, Says Prof. Munyon.

GREWSOME CREATURES VERY COMMON, FINDS EXPERT.

Many people in the United States are afflicted with a queer disease, according to a statement from Friday, Professor James M. Munyon. He made the following remarkable and rather ghoulish statement:

"Many persons who come and write to my headquarters at 53d and Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia, Pa., think they are suffering from a simple stomach trouble, when in reality they are the victims of an entirely different disease—tapeworms. These tapeworms are huge internal parasites, which locate in the upper bowel and consume a large percentage of the nutriment in undigested food. They sometimes grow to a length of forty to sixty feet. One may have a tape worm for years and never know the cause of his or her ill health.

"Persons who are suffering from one of these creatures become nervous, weak and irritable, and tire at the least exertion. The tapeworms rob one of ambition and vitality and strength, but they are rarely fatal.

"The victim of this disease is apt to believe that he is suffering from chronic stomach trouble, and doctors for years without relief. This is not the fault of the physicians he consults, for there is no absolute diagnosis that will tell positively that one is not a victim of tapeworm.

"The most common symptom of this trouble is an abnormal appetite. At times the person is ravenously hungry and cannot get enough to eat. At other times the very sight of food is loathsome. There is a gnawing, faint sensation at the pit of the stomach and the victim has headaches, fits of dizziness and nausea. He cannot sleep at night and often thinks he is suffering from nervous prostration.

"I have a treatment which has had wonderful success in eliminating these great creatures from the system. In the course of its regular action in aiding digestion, and ridding the blood, kidneys and liver of impurities it has proven fatal to these great worms. If one has a tapeworm, this treatment will, in nine cases out of ten, stupify and paralyze it away, but if not, the treatment will rebuild the run-down person, who is probably suffering from stomach trouble and a general anemic condition. My doctors report marvelous success here with this treatment. Fully a dozen persons have passed these worms, but they are naturally reticent about discussing them, and of course we cannot violate their confidence by giving their names to the public.

Letters addressed to Professor James M. Munyon, 53d and Jefferson Streets, Philadelphia, Pa., will receive as careful attention as though the patient called in person. Medical advice and consultation absolutely free. Not a penny to pay.

AS A RULE.

"What is an income tax, pa?" "A wife, my son."

Serenity. The true religious man, amid all the ills of time, keeps a serene forehead and entertains a peaceful heart. This, going out and coming in amid all the trials of the city, the agony of the plague, the horrors of the thirsty tyrants, the fierce democracy abroad, the fiercer ill at home—the saint, the sage of Athens, was still the same. Such a one can endure hardness; can stand alone and be content; a rock amid the waves—lonely, but not moved. Around him the few or many may scream, calumniate, blaspheme. What is all to him but the cawing of the seabird about that solitary, deep-rooted stone?—Theodore Parker.

AT THE PARSONAGE.

Coffee Runs Riot No Longer.

"Wife and I had a serious time of it while we were coffee drinkers.

"She had gastritis, headaches, belching and would have periods of sickness, while I secured a daily headache that became chronic.

"We naturally sought relief by drugs without avail, for it is now plain enough that no drug will cure the disease another drug (coffee) sets up, particularly, so long as the drug which causes the trouble is continued.

"Finally we thought we would try leaving off coffee and using Postum. I noticed that my headaches disappeared like magic, and my old 'trembling' nervousness left. One day wife said, 'Do you know my gastritis has gone?'

"One can hardly realize what Postum has done for us.

"Then we began to talk to others. Wife's father and mother were both coffee drinkers and sufferers. Their headaches left entirely a short time after they changed from coffee to Postum.

"I began to enquire among my parishioners and found to my astonishment that numbers of them use Postum in place of coffee. Many of the ministers who have visited our parsonage have become enthusiastic champions of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

News Notes of Wisconsin

Fond du Lac.—That Fred M. Miller, a Soo line fireman killed in the wreck at Gray's Lake May 28, was a bigamist, is the discovery made by the claim department of the railroad, which has ascertained that Miller had a wife living in Marquette, Mich., besides the young woman he married at North Fond du Lac in August, 1910. No record of a divorce from his first wife can be found and therefore the claim department will make a settlement with the first Mrs. Miller.

Marinette.—But for the timely interference of Marshal Emmet Butts it is said that Mrs. Mattison of Amber, crazed by drink, would have drowned her three young children on Tuesday. The woman had taken them to a deep pond and was undressing them preparatory to drowning when the marshal arrived. The mother said she was going to "put them to sleep."

Milwaukee.—The Gridley Dairy company has contracted with the management of the International Dairy show for all of the milk given by President Taft's cow, Pauline Wayne. The price paid is $5 a can of eight gallons. The Gridley company will bottle the milk and sell it in small quantities. Pauline is said to give sixty-four quarts of milk a day at two milkings.

Ashland.—Mert Vought, former official of the town of Mellen, Ashland county, who was sent to Waupun for grafting in town orders, has been released on parole. Judge Vinje of the State Supreme court and the district attorney who prosecuted him, signed an application that he be thus released.

Couderay.—The farmers of southern Sawyer county are harvesting the best crop of small grains that they have had for many years through this section. The great abundance of rain that has fallen all through here recently greatly benefited crops and pastures and a bumper potato crop is assured.

Milwaukee.—George Sheehan, aged 19, son of Supervisor James Sheehan, chairman of the county board, was drowned in a little creek near East Troy while bathing. It is believed he succumbed to heart disease, as the water was shallow.

Fond du Lac.—The discovery of a skeleton, believed to be that of a negro, under a pile of brush on the farm of Henry Krenn, near Eden, is being investigated by authorities. Remnants of clothing were on the bones.

Madison.—So great has been the demand for expert instruction in dairying at the college of agriculture that the dairy building has been overcrowded and an addition has been built.

Beloit.—Alderman Robinson, a school teacher, has introduced an ordinance penalizing parents of children in the public schools, who are affected with vermin. Mayor Cunningham refuses to approve the ordinance on the ground that the matter is in the health board's jurisdiction.

Grand Rapids.—While attempting to put out a fire in a gasoline launch at Waupaca, E. E. Winch, former assemblyman from Wood county, had his hand crushed in the machinery. Amputation of one finger was necessary.

The KITCHEN CABINET

IF TODAY is dark and stormy, well, tomorrow may be fair. If we have no earthly dwelling, there are mansions "over there." And we know what God plans for us, our own plans, too, would be could we but see the future as clearly as can he.

—Florence M. Day.

COMPANY DISHES.

When company comes we feel the desire to give them the very best our table can afford. The following are a few ideas that may be used. The drink with small cakes served to the caller on a warm day is very refreshing.

LemonFizz.—Grate the yellow rind from three lemons, squeeze the juice from six, and pour over two quarts of boiling water; stir in half a pound of sugar and cover. When lukewarm add half a yeast cake dissolved in a cup of warm water; cover and let stand over night. In the morning bottle and tie down the corks. Put in a cool place for a day or two when it will be ready to use.

Chicago Salad.—Take large, very ripe pears, cut in halves and cored (canned pears may be used); fill the cavity made where the cores were removed with chopped celery and walnut meats mixed with mayonnaise. Arrange around the salad bowl or fill the center with cream cheese or cottage cheese, made rich with cream, put through the ricer.

Normandy Salad.—Chop and mix together three cucumbers, three hard-boiled eggs, one cup of olives, three-fourths of a cup of nutmeats, and serve in lettuce nests with mayonnaise.

Kimmel Torte.—Put a half pound each of dates, nuts, and a fourth of a pound of figs with three tablespoonsful of bread crumbs through a meat chopper. Mix well and fold in the mixture into the whites of six eggs beaten stiff. Bake in a moderate oven slowly, either in a loaf or layer tins. If in layers, put together with whipped cream, and you have a cake fit for a king.

Dried peaches and apricots mixed make a delicious dessert. Stew until tender, and put through a sieve. Add cream and freeze.

HE beautiful is just as useful as the useful and sometimes more so.

—Victor Hugo.

Life without hope draws nectar in a sieve, and hope without an object cannot live.

CHOICE DISHES FOR OCCASIONS.

Pudding Glace.—Scald two-thirds of a cup of raisins in two cups of milk, cook fifteen minutes and strain; add a tablespoonful of flour to a cup of sugar. Mix well, add to the milk with a beaten egg, pinch of salt; strain and cool. Add half a cup of candied ginger cut fine, a half cup of almonds chopped, three tablespoonfuls of grape juice and a quart of cream. Freeze. Save the raisins for some other dish.

Rose Bisque.—Whip a quart of cream, three-fourths of a cup of sugar and a cup of macaroons crushed, a teaspoonful of rose extract. Color with damask rose and freeze.

Beet Salad.—Cook four large or eight small beets, cut in cubes; mix with a cupful of pecans. Serve with mayonnaise dressing tinted rose color.

Chicken Salad.—Chop or cut in small pieces the breast of a chicken; add a cup of blanched walnuts and twice as much celery as chicken. Serve with any dressing preferred.

Spanish Bunn.—Cream two-thirds of a cup of butter, add two cups of sugar, sift together two cups of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add the flour alternately with the cup of sour milk; add four eggs well beaten, a cup of raisins and a teaspoonful of cloves and two of cinnamon. Bake in square tins. Ice white warm.

Icing for Cakes.—A cup of sugar and a fourth of a cup of water are put on to boil. Beat the white of an egg, and when the syrup is like honey add three tablespoonfuls, beating all the while; return the dish to the fire and cook until the syrup threads from the spoon, then add slowly to the egg. Beat until cool. This frosting will, if the directions are carefully followed, be shiny and smooth on top and creamy underneath.

Nellie Maxwell.

French Academicians.

A French statistician has been looking at the records of members of the Academie Francaise as family men. Of the forty "immortals" it appears that the great majority are married, but no fewer than fourteen are childless. Among those who have the largest families are M. Ienfi Polncare, the scientist, who is the father of three daughters and a son, and M. Jean Richepin, the poet and dramatist, who has been twice married and has four sons. M. Rene Bazin has also several children, but the families of the other academicians who have families at all do not number more than one or two. M. Anatole France is among the half dozen members who are bachelors.

HE'S THE ORIGINAL GROUCH

Surely Would Be Hard to Please Old Gentleman With This Kind of Disposition.

There is in Washington an old "grouch" whose son was graduated from Yale. When the young man came home at the end of the first term, he exulted in the fact that he stood next to the head of his class. But the old gentleman was not satisfied.

"Next to the head?" he exclaimed. "What do you mean? I'd like to know what you think I'm sending you to college for? Next to the head? Why aren't you at the head, where you ought to be?"

At this the son was much crestfallen; but upon his return, he went about his work with such ambition that at the end of the term he found himself in the coveted place. When he went home that year he felt very proud. It would be great news for the old man.

When the announcement was made, the father contemplated his son for a few minutes in silence; then, with a shrug, he remarked:

"At the head of the class, eh? Well, that's a fine commentary on Yale university!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

HIS CRIME.

Evelina—I am sorry, but I cannot marry a man of your character.

Edgar—What have I ever done?

Evelina—I have just learned that you are a director in a life insurance company.

TO KEEP THE SKIN CLEAR

For more than a generation, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have done more for pimples, blackheads and other unsightly conditions of the complexion, red, rough, chapped hands, dandruff, itching, scaly scalps, and dry, thin and falling hair than any other method. They do even more for skin-tortured and disfigured infants and children. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 22-page book on the care of the skin and hair will be sent post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 22 L, Boston.

The Fly.

"Where on earth do those flies come from?" is a frequent and despairing question.

They may come down the chimneys, if the fireplaces have tipping dampers. These should be tightly closed in fly-time. An appreciable falling off in their number will be the result.

If the chimneys have not the tipping damper, a screen such as is used for a window can be fitted into the fireplace, or easier still, a bundle of paper may be stuffed up the chimney. Either method is successful, and no trouble is too great to get rid of these summer pests.

A Personal Matter.

"You must have studied political economy pretty thoroughly to be so impressed with the iniquity of the trusts."

"To tell you the truth," replied the candid citizen. "I don't know much about the inside workings of trusts. But I have seen pictures of the men who run them, and I have kind of taken a dislike to them."

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as strictly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There is no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Cruel Disappointment.

Jugend tells this story: "In the lower court of a small town in Saxony William had served faithfully and well as attendant to the presiding judge for many years without ever having received any reward aside from his legal stipend. On the day of adjournment for the season, when visitors had retired, the judge, who was also about to leave, asked: 'William, do you smoke?' Seeing a square box under the judge's arm, he answered respectfully: 'Yes, your honor.' I knew it by the smell of your coat,' said the judge, as he walked out."

Plenty of Stability.

A western mining prospector was paying his first visit to New York. "What do you think of it?" asked the proud Gothamite as he pointed out the skyscrapers.

"Well," replied the miner, "it looks like a permanent camp all right."—Success Magazine.

Mildred (the six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKee of Milwaukee) died of scarlet fever last week. The grief-stricken parents have our sympathy.

A week ago a valuable horse owned by J. Frohman and the Schkhausen barn were destroyed by lightning. No wonder the lightning rod agent does a good business.

This vicinity was visited by a severe electric storm and rain Monday evening. The barn on the Hartman farm was struck and burnt to the ground with the year's crop of grain and hay and the farm machinery of the renter Mr. Vorpahl who carried no insurance.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all Druggists.
