RAILROAD EXCURSION LAST SUNDAY A GRAND SUCCESS

The Annual Picnic and Dance of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers of Milwaukee at the North Side Park Here Last Sunday Was a Grand Success.

The annual picnic and dance of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers of Milwaukee held in the North Side Park in this village last Sunday was a decided success, both financially and socially. The crowd which was in attendance was the largest ever assembled at one time in this village. The special excursion train which left Milwaukee at 9 A. M., arrived here at 10:30. White's Military Band of Milwaukee accompanied and entertained the excursionists while on their journey. The train consisted of eight coaches and a baggage car was well provided. They were met at this station by a large number of citizens. It is estimated that 600 people from the Cream City came with this train.

The Brotherhood took special pains by decorating the engine of the train with their emblem, flags, bunting and Kewaskum banners. Besides the people that came on this special train scores of visitors arrived on other trains from the north and south. After a selection by the band a large number of the crowd proceeded to the very where dinner was served. Others went to visit relatives and friends.

In the afternoon the picnic, which was well managed, drew a large crowd. Scores of people coming from all the neighborhood villages and towns. From different reports it was estimated that fully 3000 people were in the park. There was plenty of amusements for all. The contests were all very interesting, the most attractive, however, were the Hobbie Skirt race, Peanut race, Pie Eating contest, catching the Greased Pig, and the Tug of War. The latter was between the Railroad boys and a Kewaskum Team, each side of which consisted of six husky men. Those who belonged to the different teams were as follows: Kewaskum, Isadore Jung, Julius Dreher, Adolph, Otto and Herman Backhaus and Robert Yost; Railroad men, H. Gosch, J. Orth, Geo. Behringer, Christ Meyer, Fred Buddenhagen and Ernest Richter. After 10 minutes of hard work by each of the contesting teams, the railroad boys weakened and let go of the rope, thereby letting Kewaskum have the long end. The prize for this pull was $5.

The dance in the evening attracted one of the largest crowds ever assembled at a dance in that park. Over 400 tickets being sold, White's Military Band also furnished the music.

The special train returned to Milwaukee at 11:30 P. M., although most of the crowd returned with this train, there was a large number who remained to enjoy themselves until the wee hours of the morning. The orchestra stopped playing at 3 A. M.

The committee in charge of the picnic and dance deserve special praise for their excellent work in managing the whole affair. They have again promised to visit Kewaskum again next year. This news will be received as glad news to everyone here. A cordial invitation to the boys is always extended. Next year's picnic can be looked for as a greater and better picnic and dance than this year's. The net proceeds of the day was close to $700.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it for forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Fined $1 and Cost.

In Justice Guth's court last Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock Michael Pptone was fined $1 and cost, amounting to $9.65. The complaint was made by Voto Fereterno. The two are Italians and are engaged as section hands on the local railroad section. They live in a box car near the stock yards. Shortly before working time last Monday morning the two had a quarrel the result being that Fereterno had Pptone arrested on a charge of slander. The defendant plead guilty and paid his fine.

Former Resident Dies.

John Herbst, aged about 80 years residing at New Richland, Minn., died last Tuesday of old age. Mr. Herbst at one time several years ago was a resident of the town of Auburn living on the John Peach farm 1 1/2 miles north of this village on the New Fane road. Mr. Jacob Schlosser and son Joe, who are Mr. Herbst's son-in-law and grandson left on Wednesday for New Richland to attend the funeral which was held on Friday.

Duck Season Opens September 1st.

Next week Friday will be the opening day of the season for hunting ducks. Under the statute it is illegal to kill or have in possession over fifteen ducks, geese, rail, plover, snipe or rice hen, and the limit for a mixed bag is twenty. Shooting ducks in the spring will be just as unlawful in 1912 as heretofore as the season closes on January 1st.

Convicted Sergeant-at-Arms to Tell All to Attorney General—Expected Several Lobbyists Will Be Called Into Court.

Columbus, O.—At the conclusion of a conference participated in by Attorney General Hogan, County Prosecutor Turner and Rodney J. Diegle, former sergeant-at-arms of the senate, who was convicted of aiding and abetting bribery in the Ohio legislature, it was announced that Diegle would make a full confession of what he knows of corruptive practices in the last assembly.

For his part in aiding the alleged graft hunt, Diegle will receive mercy at the hands of the common pleas court when the time comes for sentence to be passed. Probably he will escape a penitentiary sentence. He was given two weeks to prepare his confession.

It is expected several lobbyists will be drawn into court as a result of Diegle's agreement to confess. The prosecutor and attorney general expect to have evidence to place before the grand jury when it convenes next month.

Diegle was indicted with Senators I. E. Huffman of Butler county and George K. Creton of Dayton. The two senators have not been tried. Each is charged with soliciting bribes from detectives in the employ of the William J. Burns agency, who were employed to uncover graft in the state house.

WILEY TOO SENSITIVE

SECRETARY WILSON SEVERELY CRITICISES FOOD EXPERT.

Responsibility for Employment of Dr. Rusby Is Placed on the Shoulders of Wiley.

Washington.—The congressional investigation of the attempt to oust Dr. H. W. Wiley from his position as head of the bureau of chemistry in the department of agriculture was closed with the testimony of Secretary Wilson. The committee will hold an executive meeting to consider its report. Many times in his testimony Secretary Wilson condemned Doctor Wiley's demeanor, charging that he was over-sensitive because his findings on pure food and drugs were not accepted as final, but were sometimes referred to the referee board of which Doctor Ira Remsen is chairman.

In appointing the pure food and drug inspection board and in the naming of the referee board Secretary Wilson said he considered Dr. Wiley had been done a kindness rather than insulted as a chemist.

The secretary shifted all responsibility for the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby to Dr. Wiley. He said that Wiley was, without question, head of the bureau. Asked about his object in forming a pure food and drug inspection board, the secretary said he felt that greater power attached to a board decision than to a one-man decision.

NEW WORLD RECORD MADE

Beachey Ascends 11,578 in Biplane at Chicago Meet—Brindley Falls Off Pedestal.

Grant Park Aviation Field, Chicago.—When Lincoln Beachey descended into Grant park from a height at which his Curtiss biplane had been barely visible, his barograph record showed an altitude of 11,578 feet. Declarations that the world's record had been broken were made following the reading of the instrument by Capt. C. C. Culver, the army expert in charge of the delicate height records.

Brindley fell off his pedestal as star cloud climber of the meet when the mathematicians found that they had made a miscalculation of more than a mile in figuring his altitude record. Faulty calibration had given Brindley an altitude mark of 11,726 feet, a new world's record, when the actual height attained was only 5,768 feet.

VETOES COTTON BILL

PRESIDENT TAFT DECLARES TARIFF MEASURE UNWISE AND DANGEROUS.

WAS NOT FULLY CONSIDERED

Congress Adjourns With Echo of Third Veto Ringing in Its Ears—No Attempt to Pass Bill Over Head of Executive.

Washington.—With the echo of another presidential veto ringing in its ears the special session of congress adjourned.

In his third tariff veto message the president made special objection to the attempt to add a revision of the iron and steel and chemical schedules to the cotton bill as amendments.

"I find," the message of the president said, "that there was practically no consideration of either schedule by any committee of either house. There were no facts presented to either house in which I can find material upon which to form any judgment as to the effect of the amendments either upon American industries or upon the revenues of the government."

Briefly reviewing the manner in which the iron and steel and chemical amendments were added to the bill the president said:

"I cannot make myself a party to dealing with the industries of the country in this way. The industries covered by metals and the manufacture of metals are the largest in the country, and it would seem not only wise, but absolutely essential to acquire accurate information as to the effect of changes which may vitally affect these industries before enacting them into law."

Speaking of the cotton industry, the president said the capital invested in 1909 amounted to $821,000,000, the value of the product to $629,000,000, the number of wage earners to 379,000, making, with dependents, a total of at least 1,200,000 persons affected, with annual wages of $146,000,000. The bill would not have gone into effect until January 1 next, and Mr. Taft said the tariff board would be ready with a report before that time. Investigation by the house ways and means committee, Mr. Taft said, was purely for the purpose of preparing a bill on a tariff for revenue basis.

"Pledged to support a policy of moderate protection," he added, "I cannot approve a measure which violates its principle."

The president denounced the bill as "empirical and haphazard."

"This bill," he continues, "illustrates and enforces the views which I have already expressed in vetoing the wool bill and the so-called free list bill, as to the paramount importance of securing, through the investigation and reports of the tariff board, a definite and certain basis of ascertained fact for the consideration of tariff laws. When the reports of the tariff board upon these schedules are received the duties which should be imposed can be determined upon justly and with intelligent appreciation of the effect that they will have both upon industry and upon revenue."

No attempt was made to pass the bill over the veto.

The bills passed by congress which received executive approval were the reciprocity bill, the statehood bill, the reapportionment bill and the measure providing for publicity of campaign funds.

STATEHOOD BILL IS SIGNED

Taft Agrees to Measure, Which Now Goes to Vote of the Territories.

Washington.—President Taft signed the statehood bill admitting the territories of Arizona and New Mexico to the Union. The measure signed was that passed after he had vetoed the first bill passed.

This act ends a fight which has continued more than twenty years for the admission of the territories. Only the territories themselves can now hold up the issuance of the final proclamation adding two stars to the flag.

LOSE DATA IN ALASKA RIVER

Professors Starr and Madden Are Plunged Into Waters of Big Delta.

Cordova, Alaska.—All field notes and the cameras and exposed films of the Smithsonian institution glacial expedition are somewhere on the bottom of the Big Delta river, according to advices received here. The current of the river tipped up a wagon in which Professors R. F. Starr and Lawrence Madden were crossing the stream. The men got ashore.

FRAUDS IN CUSTOMS

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY REVEALS PLOTS.

Remarkable Revelations Made Before House Committee—Government Loses Big Sum.

Washington.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh in a document made public tells some remarkable revelations made by his department in eradicating many gigantic frauds from the United States customs service and the assistance given him by business firms and citizens.

The document is a stenographic record of a hearing in which Mr. MacVeagh testified before the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department.

The tremendous cleaning up of frauds in the customs service which the secretary has accomplished was briefly sketched for the benefit of the committee. Most of these instances never became public. More than $500,000 in fines and penalties was collected from English woolen manufacturers and American importers.

The Panama hat frauds were discovered through information given Mr. MacVeagh by Marshall Field & Co.

The Chicago firm then presented the second invoice at the custom house and paid the full duty.

The secretary said that hitherto not only sugar but every other kind of merchandise had been underweighted at New York and the "government heavily defrauded right and left."

TAFT STARTS ON TRIP SEPT. 12

Leaders View Jaunt as Most Important Politically He Has Mapped Out.

Washington.—Plans for President Taft's coming trip through the west and to the Pacific coast practically are completed.

According to the present arrangement the president will be gone six weeks. In that time it is expected that he will make close to 200 speeches from platform from the rear end of his private car and at other places not on the regular schedule.

Republican leaders look upon the trip as the most important politically the president has mapped out since he entered the White House. He will go through all the states in the west in which they recognize the domination of the progressive Republicans who are counted on to oppose his renomination next year.

The president probably will leave Beverly September 12, returning east about November 1. He will go west through Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Nevada to the coast. From California the president will go north to Portland and Seattle. Three days are to be spent in Washington state, and the route eastward will allow him to stop in Idaho, Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota.

RISK FRAUDS ARE BARED

President of State Officials' Body Scores Risk Concerns—Forgery Is Used.

Millwaukee.—A number of industrial, health and accident insurance companies were severely criticized by Joseph Button of Virginia, president of the organization, in his annual address before the forty-second national convention of state insurance commissioners.

Mr. Button said that an investigation by a committee of 14 or 15 companies doing a health and accident business resulted in disclosures that were shocking in the extreme.

"As the committee which made the investigation has its report nearly ready, I shall not anticipate the remedies they will suggest for the conditions there disclosed, except to say that it is incumbent upon us to root out this evil without mercy."

100 ARE KILLED IN WRECK

Mexican Express Train Plunges Through Bridge Into Amacuasac River.

Mexico City.—Divers began exploring the depths of the swollen Amacuasac river in an effort to recover the bodies of 100 or more passengers, including several Americans, who were drowned when an express on the National railroad plunged into the water where the bridge had been washed away.

First efforts at recovering the bodies indicated that the exact number of dead might never become known. Some of the bodies had been carried down stream by the swift current.

Every person aboard the train perished. Not even a railway employe aboard discovered the danger ahead in time to jump and escape death in the stream.

1,100 in Rush for Lands.

Cement Talk No. 2

Portland Cement does not come from Portland, Maine, or Portland, Oregon, and it was not first made at either of these places. It is called Portland because it was given this name by the Englishman who first made it. He called it Portland because he thought it resembled certain natural deposits on the Isle of Portland in England. Portland Cement is the fine powder produced by pulverizing the clinker resulting from the burning together of various materials of proper chemical composition. In the case of Universal Portland Cement, these raw materials are blast furnace slag and pure limestone. There are many brands of Portland Cement on the market, produced by different manufacturers. Universal is one of the best known and highest grade Portland Cements. You can always tell it by the name Universal and the blue trade mark printed on each sack. Forty million sacks of Universal are made and used yearly in this country. If you have any concrete work to do, you will make no mistake by using Universal Portland Cement. Universal is for sale by representative dealers everywhere.

A DIFFERENCE.

Avoid Disputation.
The disputatious person never makes a good friend. In friendship, men look for peace and concord and some measure of content. There are enough battles to fight outside, enough jarring and jostling in the street, enough disputing in the market place, enough discord in the workaday world, without having to look for contention in the realm of the Inner life also. There, if anywhere, we ask for an end of strife. Friendship is the sanctuary of the heart, and the peace of the sanctuary should brood over it. Its chiefest glory is that the dust and noise of contest are excluded.—Hugh Black.

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer. "From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heartburn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton, and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed.

"All my unpleasant symptoms, the heartburn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 88 to 116 pounds, my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. Grape-Nuts food did it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A ten days' trial will show anyone some facts about food.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WOMEN SACRIFICE LIVES FOR CHILD

THREE HEROINES RUSH UPON TRACK TO SAVE LITTLE ONE FROM ENGINE WHEELS.

TWO KILLED; BABE UNHURT

Merrimack, Sauk County, Is Scene of Frightful Accident—Child Ran in Front of Incoming Passenger Train—Mother Badly Injured.

Merrimack.—Two heroic women sacrificed their lives and a mother defied death to save a child from a horrible death under the drive wheels of a passenger locomotive here.

The dead are:
Mrs. Astle, aged 65.
Mrs. Samuel G. Potter.
Mrs. D. C. Marshall was seriously injured.

There was a group of Merrimack residents standing on the platform of the Northwestern passenger depot awaiting the arrival of the through passenger train from Baraboo.

Just as the train neared the platform little Baby Marshall, aged 6, ran across the track and stopped between the rails directly in front of the oncoming train.

Then there was a terrific scream and three women, one 65 years old, threw themselves before the pilot of the locomotive and endeavored to push the child from under the wheels. Their heroism was rewarded. The little girl escaped unharmed, but two of her rescuers lost their lives.

Aged Mrs. Astle was instantly killed. Mrs. Potter was horribly mangled and the mother injured so badly that death appeared certain. Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Marshall were placed aboard the train and taken to a Madison hospital, where the former died.

FIND BODY IN SCHOOL HOUSE

Kenosha Police Believe Hugo Anger, a Former Milwaukee Merchant, to Have Been Murdered.

Kenosha.—Hugo Anger, aged 37 years, formerly a furniture dealer in Milwaukee, was found dead in a deserted school building here.

Anger had been seen on the streets of Kenosha the previous day, and it is impossible to account for the body being found in the school, which had been closed for the vacation for two months. An autopsy over the remains failed to reveal cause for death.

The police believe that Anger was murdered and his body taken to the school house with a view of concealing the crime.

Anger is a brother of the Rev. John Anger, one of the best known Lutheran ministers in Wisconsin, and of Edward Anger, a well-known retail merchant of Milwaukee.

NEW RISK COMPANY READY

Employers' Accident Liability Concern to Prevent Losses Under Compensation Law.

Madison.—Articles of incorporation have been filed with the department of insurance by the Employers' Accident Liability company of Wisconsin, formed recently by large manufacturers of the Wisconsin valley and promoted by former insurance Commissioner, W. A. Fricke of Wausau. The company proposes to insure employers against losses from the operation of the workmen's compensation law.

Road Extension Sanctioned.

Madison.—The state railroad commission has granted a certificate of convenience and necessity to the Wisconsin and Northern Railway company, under which the road proposes to build from Neenah north through Appleton and Shawano to Langlade county.

To Start Probe on October 2.

Washington.—The special senate committee appointed to investigate the election of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin has decided to begin hearings in Milwaukee on October 2.

Spelling Bee at State Fair.

Milwaukee.—The state fair board has decided to have a spelling bee for one of the features of the state fair. Winners in the county spelling contests, which have been held recently in various parts of the state, will be eligible to participate in the contest.

Approve Water Works Purchase.

Manitowoc.—By a vote of 870 to 71 in a special election, the city ratified the action of the common council in issuing $230,000 municipal bonds for the purchase of the plant of the Manitowoc water works.

Must Install Water Meters.

Janesville.—By a decision of the state rate commission, the Janesville Water company will be compelled to install water meters for all consumers.

NORTHERN CROPS IN LEAD

University Agronomist Says Recent Rains Have Benefitted Corn—Alfalfa to Give Record Yield.

Madison.—One fact emphasized by the present season of crops is the surprising stand of northern Wisconsin crops compared with those elsewhere in the state. According to Prof. R. A. Moore, university agronomist, reports from the university substation near Ashland tell of wheat running thirty-six bushels to the acre. Over thirty bushels of peas to the acre are reported.

Clover seed running from four to eight bushels to the acre is this season's remarkable showing, said Prof. Moore, and serves to emphasize the great opportunity for the farmer at a time when clover is worth $13 a bushel.

Recent rains have brightened the situation. An excellent crop is in sight and late potatoes have been helped exceedingly. A much better yield than had been anticipated is promised. Southern Wisconsin has been wonderfully revived by the plentiful moisture.

"Corn is growing by leaps and bounds," said Prof. Moore, "and alfalfa is the prime crop of all. There will be an extra cutting this year."

MAY END PATRONAGE FIGHT

Settlement Seen in Dispute Between Stephenson and La Follette Over Postmasters.

Washington.—Several postoffice fights between Senator Stephenson and Senator La Follette give promise of rational settlement before the adjournment of congress. Most of the names have been held up for political reasons. No agreement has been reached under which objections will be withdrawn and they will be confirmed. Offices and nominees are: Amherst, G. W. Smith; Baldwin, O. K. Sawley; Delavan, E. Morrissey; Kewaunee, A. B. Leye; Lake Geneva, H. H. White; Manitowoc, H. G. Kress; Manitowish, E. Marks; New Lisbon, J. D. Strickland; Oakfield, C. G. Morgan; Oconomowoc, W. A. Jones; Oconto, G. R. Hall; Sturgeon Bay, E. S. Minor; Mayville, O. D. Nabor.

"WOLF SCALPS" REJECTED

Experts Discover Attempted Fraud in Bounty Claims—Scalps Were Those of Squirrels.

Madison.—By sending the scalps to Washington the secretary of state has discovered that ten so-called wolf scalps were mere squirrel. Secretary Frear was thus able to save the state $102 on a consignment of thirteen scalps sent in from Burnett county, and to nullify a false claim for bounty which it is alleged is one of a long succession of "fakes" with which the state and counties have been afflicted for many years.

It is estimated that fully $100,000 has been paid out in bounties through false claims in years past, and through the operation of the bounty law which requires counties to pay an equal amount on an animal with the state, the counties have lost a like sum.

TWO KILLED AT A CROSSING

Auto Containing Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ferguson of Chicago Hit by a Train Near Waukesha.

Waukesha.—Mr. and Mrs. William D. Ferguson, Chicago, were killed and the driver of their automobile, W. R. Cunningham, Lynchburg, Va., suffered a fractured skull, when the machine was struck by an east-bound freight train near Pewaukee.

The party was evidently going from Milwaukee to Waukesha and had reached the Forest House crossing when the approaching train was seen. In an effort to avoid being struck the automobile was run into a fence. The collision tipped the machine over and the occupants were thrown under the wheels of the train. Mrs. Ferguson was killed instantly.

LaFollette Writes Memoirs.

Madison.—The first man of national prominence since the Civil war to write his autobiography is said to be Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. It will be published in a magazine beginning with the October number. Ulysses S. Grant finished his memoirs while on his deathbed. No other man in public life since then is known to have written his life story.

Building New Paper Mill.

Neenah.—Work has been started on the new paper mill of the Lakeside Paper company, in West Neenah. It is expected the plant will be in operation by Oct. 1.

Oscar Kremer Dies from Injury.

Fond du Lac.—Oscar Kremer, state warden of the Knights of Columbus and secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin Furniture Dealers' association, is dead from gangrene following the breaking of his leg in an automobile accident two months ago.

Bleacherites Take Tumble.

Racine.—A row of bleachers at the ball park collapsed during a game between the blower girls and a local club. Five spectators were injured.

FRUSTRATE STATE PRISON DELIVERY

LARGE QUANTITY OF SAWS AND WEAPONS ARE TAKEN FROM CONVICTS AT WAUPUN.

FEARED GENERAL UPRISING

Complaints of Prisoners Aroused Officials' Suspicions and Led to Search—Short Hair Cutting to Be Abolished, Among Other Reforms.

Waupun.—Many dangerous weapons of different kinds were taken from the persons of prisoners in the state penitentiary and various hiding places about the shops as the result of a careful search instituted under the direction of Acting Warden Daniel Woodworth.

The authorities had received a hint of a coming wholesale rising of the prisoners to free every one in the prison. The prisoners were held in the chapel while the search was made.

It is the first time in eight years that contraband material of this sort has been found, and the result appalled even the officers who made the search, in pairs, about the prison.

The men gave up the weapons willingly, the articles including 153 knives, 3 wrenches, 36 files, 7 saws, 13 dangerous long pairs of shears, 2 drills, 5 pairs of pincers, 31 shop made sharp pointed weapons, 10 hammers, 1 slingshot, several pieces of wire for picking locks, sealing wax for making impressions, nitroglycerin soap, a rope, strap nails, and other junk.

The officials think the result justifies the discontinuance of work by the prisoners in the machine shop. There have been various complaints of treatment here, and the officials suspected that the men had been accumulating forbidden articles.

Among other reforms to be instituted at the prison is the abolition of short hair cutting for first grade men.

GREAT CHEESE COMPLETED

Appleton Man Finishes 12,361-Pound Exhibit for National Dairy Show—Cost of Making Was $6,000.

Appleton.—The world's greatest cheese, weighing slightly over 12,000 pounds and valued at $7,500, was successfully made here by Nicholas Simon, the eminent American cheese expert, assisted by the assistant dairy and food inspectors of Minnesota and Wisconsin, and over forty expert cheesemakers and their experienced helpers.

The cheese, which was built for the National Dairy show at Chicago, Oct. 26 to Nov. 4, contains just exactly 12,000 pounds of curd, 330 pounds of Wyandott cheese salt and 31 pounds of Marshall rennet, making the finished product weigh 12,361 pounds, more than twice as large as the 6,000-pound cheese made by Mr. Simon for the Minnesota state fair, and three times as large as the cheese made here last year for the National Dairy show, the two largest cheeses ever before manufactured. Over 2,000 feet of motion pictures were taken upon order of the United States department of agriculture, being the first motion picture ever recorded of the manufacture of a cheese.

TO CARE FOR FORMER WIFE

Destitute Woman and Invalid Husband Will Be Given Aid by Badger Farmer.

Janesville.—John Powling, aged 72, of Johnstown, is at Jeffersonville, Ind., making arrangements to take his former wife of twenty-five years ago and her invalid husband back to Wisconsin with him and take care of them for the rest of their days. In 1884 Powling and the now Mrs. Wm. Porter were married and separated three years later, he coming to Wisconsin and marrying again and she to Jeffersonville, where she wed William Porter. Hearing that she was in almost destitute circumstances, Powling went to Indiana and in the spring Porter and his wife will go to live on one of Powling's farms.

Farmer's Hand Shot Off.

Neenah.—The hand of Virgil Popham, a farmer, was shot off at the wrist while riding in a wagon. Popham carried the gun in his wagon to shoot rabbits along the road and the weapon was discharged by a joint.

Five Barns Burned.

Sturgeon Bay.—Fire starting in the barn behind the M. E. Lawrence block destroyed five barns, and, spreading to the Lawrence block, burned off the roof. The loss will probably aggregate $10,000.

Incorporate Typewriter Company.

Fond du Lac.—The Harris Typewriter company has filed articles of incorporation, with a capital of $265,000, and purchased the Wells factory building for $90,000. The incorporators are P. B. Haber, S. D. Wyatt, and F. M. Givens, all local residents.

Brooded Over Brother's Death.

Oshkosh.—Brooding over the death of his brother caused John Kloiber of this city to commit suicide by hanging.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Attack Like Tigers.
 In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all Druggists.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainman, is riding along the Santa Fe trail on the lookout for roaming war parties of savages. He notices a camp fire at a distance and then sees a team attached to a wagon and at full gallop pursued by men on ponies.

CHAPTER II

The Scene of Tragedy.

Whatever might be the nature of the tragedy it would be over with long before this, and those moving black spots away yonder to the west, that he had discerned from the bluff, were undoubtedly the departing raiders. There was nothing left for Keith to do except determine the fate of the unfortunates, and give their bodies decent burial. That any had escaped, or yet lived, was altogether unlikely, unless, perchance, women had been in the party, in which case they would have been borne away prisoners.

Confident that no hostiles would be left behind to observe his movements, Keith pressed steadily forward, leading his horse. He had thus traversed fully half a mile before coming upon any evidence of a fight—here the pursuers had apparently come up with the wagons, and circled out upon either side. From their ponies' tracks there must have been a dozen in the band. Perhaps a hundred yards further along lay two dead ponies. Keith examined them closely—both had been ridden with saddles, the marks of the cinches plainly visible. Evidently one of the wagon mules had also dropped in the traces here, and had been dragged along by his mates. Just beyond came a sudden depression in the prairie down which the wagons had plunged so heavily as to break one of the axles; the wheel lay a few yards away, and, somewhat to the right, there lay the wreck of the wagon itself, two dead mules still in the traces, the vehicle stripped of contents and charred by fire. A hundred feet further along was the other wagon, its tongue broken, the canvas top ripped open, while between the two were scattered odds and ends of wearing apparel and provisions, with a pile of boxes smoking grimly. The remaining mules were gone, and no semblance of life remained anywhere. Keith dropped his reins over his horse's head, and, with Winchester cocked and ready, advanced cautiously.

Death from violence had long since become almost a commonplace occurrence to Keith, yet now he shrank for an instant as his eyes perceived the figure of a man lying motionless across the broken wagon tongue. The grizzled hair and beard were streaked with blood, the face almost unrecognizable, while the hands yet grasped a bent and shattered rifle. Evidently the man had died fighting, beaten down by overwhelming numbers after expending his last shot. Then those hands had scalped and left him where he fell. Fifty feet beyond, shot in the back, lay a younger man, doubled up in a heap, also scalped and dead. That was all; Keith scouted over a wide circle, even scanning the stretch of gravel under the river bank, before he could fully satisfy himself there were no others in the party. It seemed impossible that these two traveling alone would have ventured upon such a trip in the face of known Indian hostility. Yet they must have done so, and once again his lips muttered: "Of all the blame fools!"

Suddenly he halted, staring about over the prairie, obsessed by a new thought, an aroused suspicion. There had appeared merely the hoof-prints of the one horse alongside of the fleeing wagons when they first turned out from the trail, and that horse had been newly shod. But there were two dead ponies lying back yonder; neither shod, yet both had borne saddles. More than this, they had been spurred, the blood marks still plainly visible, and one of them was branded; he remembered it now, a star and arrow. What could all this portend? Was it possible this attack was no Indian affair after all? Was the disfiguring of bodies, the scalping, merely done to make it appear the act of savages? Driven to investigation by this suspicion, he passed again over the trampled ground, marking this time every separate indentation, every faintest imprint of hoof or foot. There was no impression of a moccasin anywhere; every mark remaining was of booted feet. The inference was sufficiently plain—this had been the deed of white men, not of red; foul murder, and not savage war.

The knowledge seemed to sear Keith's brain with fire, and he sprang to his feet, hands clinched and eyes blazing. He could have believed this of Indians, it was according to their nature, their method of warfare; but the cowardliness of it, the atrocity of the act, as perpetrated by men of his own race, instantly aroused within him a desire for vengeance. He wanted to run the fellows down, to discover their identity. Without thinking of personal danger he ran forward on their trail, which led directly westward, along the line of cottonwoods. These served to conceal his own movements, yet for the moment, burning with passion, he was utterly without caution, without slightest sense of peril. He must know who was guilty of such a crime; he felt capable of killing them even as he would venomous snakes. It was a perfectly plain trail to follow, for the fugitives, apparently convinced of safety, and confident their cowardly deed would be charged to Indian raiders, had made no particular effort at concealment, but had ridden away at a gallop, their horses' hoofs digging deeply into the soft turf. On this retreat they had followed closely along the river bank, aiming for the ford, and almost before he realized it Keith was himself at the water's edge where the trail abruptly ended, staring vaguely across toward the opposite shore. Even as he stood there, realizing the futility of further pursuit amid the maze of sand dunes opposite, the sharp reports of two rifles reached him, spurts of smoke rose from the farther bank, and a bullet chugged into the ground at his feet, while another sang shrilly overhead.

These shots, although neither came sufficiently near to be alarming, served to send Keith to cover. Cool-headed and alert now, his first mad rage dissipated, he scanned the opposite bank cautiously, but could nowhere

Keith had already stumbled upon the truth, and was determined to verify it.

Secure in this conception of the situation, yet still keeping a wary eye about to guard against any treachery, the plainman, discovering a spade in the nearest wagon, hastily dug a hole in the sand, wrapped the dead bodies in blankets, and deposited them therein, piling above the mound the charred remains of boxes as some slight protection against prowling wolves. He searched the clothing of the men, but found little to reward the effort, a few letters which were slipped into his pockets to be read later, some ordinary trinkets hardly worth preserving except that they might assist in identifying the victims, and about the neck of the elder man, a rather peculiar locket, containing a portrait painted on ivory. Keith was a long time opening this, the spring being very ingeniously concealed, but upon finally succeeding, he looked upon the features of a woman of middle age, a strong mature face of marked refinement, exceedingly attractive still, with smiling dark eyes, and a perfect wealth of reddish brown hair. He held the locket open in his hand for several minutes, wondering who she could be, and what possible connection she could have held with the dead. Something about that face discover any evidence of life. Little by little he comprehended the situation, and decided upon his own action. The fugitives were aware of his presence, and would prevent his crossing the stream, yet they were not at all liable to return to this side and thus reveal their identity. To attempt any further advance would be madness, but he felt perfectly secure from molestation so long as he remained quietly on the north shore. Those shots were merely a warning to keep back; the very fact that the men firing kept concealed was proof positive that they simply wished to be left alone. They were not afraid of what he knew now, only desirous of not being seen. Confident as to this, he retreated openly, without making the slightest effort to conceal his movements, until he had regained the scene of murder. In evidence of the truth of his theory no further shots were fired, and although he watched that opposite sand bank carefully, not the slightest movement revealed the presence of others. That every motion he made was being observed by keen eyes he had no doubt, but this knowledge did not disconcert him, now that he felt convinced fear of revelation would keep his watchers at a safe distance. Whoever they might be they were evidently more anxious to escape discovery than he was fearful of attack, and possessed no desire to take his life, unless it became necessary to prevent recognition. They still had every reason to believe their attack on the wagons would be credited to hostile Indians, and would consider it far safer to remain concealed, and thus harbor this supposition. They could not suspect that smiling up into his own held peculiar fascination for him, gripping him with a strange feeling of familiarity, touching some dim memory which failed to respond. Surely he had never seen the original, for she was not one to be easily forgotten, and yet eyes, hair, expression, combined to remind him of some one whom he had seen but could not bring definitely to mind. There were no names on the locket, no marks of identification of any kind, yet realizing the sacredness of it, Keith slipped the fragile gold chain about his neck, and securely hid the trinket beneath his shirt.

It was noon by this time, the sun high overhead, and his horse, with dangling reins, still nibbling daintily at the short grass. There was no reason for his lingering longer. He swept his gaze the length and breadth of the desolate valley, and across the river over the sand hills. All alike appeared deserted, not a moving thing being visible between the bluffs and the stream. Still he had the unpleasant feeling of being watched, and it made him restless and eager to be away. The earlier gust of anger, the spirit of revenge, had left him, but it had merely changed into a dogged resolution to discover the perpetrators of this outrage and bring them to justice for the crime. The face in the locket seemed to ask it of him, and his nature urged response. But he could hope to accomplish nothing more here, and the plainman swung himself into the saddle. He turned his horse's head eastward, and rode away. From the deeply rutted trail he looked back to where the fire still smoked in the midst of that desolate silence.

CHAPTER III

An Arrest

The Santa Fe trail was far too exposed to be safely traveled alone and in broad daylight, but Keith considered it better to put sufficient space between himself and those whom he felt confident were still watching his movements from across the river. How much they might already suspicion his discoveries he possessed no means of knowing, yet, conscious of their own guilt, they might easily feel safer if he were also put out of the way. He had no anticipation of open attack, but must guard against treachery. As he rode, his eyes never left those far-away sand dunes, although he perceived no movement, no black dot even which he could conceive to be a possible enemy. Now that he possessed ample time for thought, the situation became more puzzling. This tragedy which he had accidentally stumbled upon must have had a cause other than blind chance. It was the culmination of a plot, with some reason behind more important than ordinary robbery. Apparently the wagons contained nothing of value, merely the clothing, provisions, and ordinary utensils of an emigrant party. Nor had the victims' pockets been carefully searched. Only the mules had been taken by the raiders, and they would be small booty for such a crime.

LIVE IN COMPLETE ISOLATION

Outside World Practically Unknown to the Dwellers in the Land of Moab.

Most travelers who visit the Holy Land content themselves with a visit to that restricted part west of Jordan. The mountainous regions of Moab, as seen by them from Jerusalem, are lost in the purple haze that constantly hangs over them, and the great stretches beyond are covered in mystery. This is true partly because of the fewer historical incidents connected with the eastern regions, but mainly on account of the great abyss of the Jordan valley that has always acted as a barrier. Few who descend into the valley, 1,300 feet below sea level, undertake to climb the hills beyond, which rise to a height of 3,000 feet.

The most striking thing about Moab has always been its isolation. However much connected by race and vicinity with their western kinsmen, the dwellers in Eastern Palestine have always been distinct and their lands have never been occupied by the nations on the west except through acts of aggression and conquest. Even today this isolation is still felt. In giving an idea of their knowledge of present day geography, one of them remarked: "There are only four seas in the world, two of which are the Dead sea and the Sea of Galilee." Both of these are in sight of their own hills.—Christian Herald.

Aeroplane is Simple.

The working parts of the modern flying machine are infinitely fewer in number than those of the automobile, the motor boat, the railroad locomotive or the steamship. Far more complex is the operation of a high-powered motor car than that of a high-powered aeroplane. Far more delicately adjusted are the thousands of parts of the steam or electric locomotive than the mechanism of the flying machine. It is this very simplicity of construction and operation that has enabled the aeroplane to outdo in continuous motion every other known form of conveyance, except steamers, motor boats and sailing ships, and these last named are able to maintain their motion only because of their huge driving mechanism, out of all proportion to the bulk that is propelled.

Forgotten Foods.

It is well to remember that many plants which once were used as vegetables have been allowed to drop out of our bills of fare. Our forefathers, for instance, sometimes dined off elder top and burdock root, and the early shoots of the hop were considered a great delicacy and were cooked and eaten as asparagus. Walter Jerrold, in his "Highways and Byways in Kent," recalls a time when Kentish children could "tell of many pleasant hours spent among the hedges in search of the wild hop top and of the wholesome suppers made upon the well earned treasure as they learned to think their food the better for being rare and costly.

A Narrow Escape.

"I was once urging a bachelor," says George Ade, "to remain at the club for a game of cards; but he insisted that he must call upon a lady friend. I finally said: 'Don't you know it is dangerous for a man to call upon a lady after he has been drinking?' 'That's so,' said my bachelor friend as he took off his hat and topcoat. 'Many a man has become engaged to be married in such circumstances.'—The Sunday Magazine.

NOT A BRITISH UNIT IN IT

Irishman Would Not for a Minute Allow the Possibility of Such a Thing.

George Mockler has just returned from an investigation of what coal is costing some of the other cities. He brought this story from Baltimore:

An Irishman there inherited a coal mine up in the state. He immediately entered the lists for one of the big coal contracts and went around to say a good word for his coal.

The man who was letting the contract heard him a moment, and then interrupted with:

"That's all right, but how about British thermal units?"

The other, being new to the coal business, did not know that coal is rated now according to the British thermal units in tests.

"That's that!" he said.

"How many British thermal units are there in your coal?"

The Irishman blinked his eye and snorted a bit.

"British thermal units is it?" he said. "Why there ain't a wan in it."

—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

LAWYER CURED OF ECZEMA

"While attending school at Lebanon, Ohio, in 1882, I became afflicted with boils, which lasted for about two years, when the affliction assumed the form of an eczema on my face, the lower part of my face being inflamed most of the time. There would be water-blisters rise up and open, and wherever the water would touch it would burn, and cause another one to rise. After the blister would open, the place would scab over, and would burn and itch so as to be almost unbearable at times. In this way the sores would spread from one place to another, back and forth over the whole of my upper lip and chin, and at times the whole lower part of my face would be a solid sore. This condition continued for four or five years, without getting any better, and in fact got worse all the time, so much so that my wife became alarmed lest it prove fatal.

"During all this time of boils and eczema, I doctored with the best physicians of this part of the country, but to no avail. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Remedies, which I did, taking the Cuticura Resolvent, applying the Cuticura Ointment to the sores, and using the Cuticura Soap for washing. In a very short time I began to notice improvement, and continued to use the Cuticura Remedies until I was well again, and have not had a recurrence of the trouble since, which is over twenty years. I have recommended Cuticura Remedies to others ever since, and have great faith in them as remedies for skin diseases." (Signed) A. C. Brandon, Attorney-at-Law, Greenville, O., Jan. 17, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 3 K, Boston.

Character in the Eye.

Beware of the man who does not look you clearly in the eye. He has possibilities of evil in his nature. There are eyes which are luminous, others which seem to be veiled behind a curtain.

Men and women of the world are accustomed to judge human nature by the expression of the eye. Many people read character by the eyes, and can thus distinguish the false from the loyal, the frank from the deceitful, the hard from the tender, the energetic from the indolent, the sympathetic from the indifferent.

Remarkable Fish.

"I thought you said there were fish around here," said the disappointed sportsman.

"There are," replied Farmer Cornelius. "But they are experienced fish. Moreover, they're kind and considerate."

"I haven't had a nibble."

"Well, you don't think they'd bite at that brand-new fancy tackle, do you? They'd stand off and admire it, but they'd never take a chance on gettin' it mussed up."

Tuberculosis Patients Neglected.

Out of more than 225 public hospitals for the insane, with a population of fully 150,000, only 70, or less than one-third, make any provision for their tuberculous inmates, and this, too, in spite of the fact that the percentage of deaths from this disease is very high among this class of people. Such is the substance of a statement made recently by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Seventy hospitals in 28 states, providing all told about 3,350 beds for tuberculous insane patients, sums up the provision made for this class of sufferers, although the percentage of deaths from tuberculosis among the insane ranges from 50 to 200 per cent. higher than among the general population.

News Notes of Wisconsin

Washburn.—People residing in the town in the northern part of Bayfield county and along the south shore of Lake Superior between the head of the lakes and Chequamegon bay are becoming greatly interested over the prospects for a new railroad through that section. It is said that a crew of surveyors, who have heretofore been identified with work being done for the Soo railroad, have been in that locality for some time, making a number of surveys and the people believe that this is the preliminary step toward building the connecting link of railroad between the two points. The country through which the new survey is being made contains several large towns, among them being Port Wing, Cornucopia, Perhester and Bark Point. The only outlet that these places have is by boat and by road, and for years they have been clamoring for a railroad.

Camp Cleghora. — The Wisconsin grand lodge of Good Templars closed its session here with election of the following officers: Grand chief templar, Rev. T. W. North, Stevens Point; grand vice templar, Edith Treleven, Oniro; grand counselor, A. D. Hill, Grand Rapids; grand superintendent of juvenile work, Ida E. Leason, Sheboygan Falls; grand electoral superintendent, Thomas Edwards, Ashland; grand chancellor, A. B. Taynton, Madison; grand secretary, B. F. Parker, Milwaukee; grand treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Frazier, Milwaukee.

Kenosha.—With a record of a wedding every two years for nine years, Mrs. Bonnie M. Clark of Chicago, known on the stage as Lillian Marr, had her fifth marriage in Kenosha, when she became the bride of Joseph H. Engleman of Chicago, a mechanic. Notwithstanding that Mrs. Engleman had wept over the bier of three husbands and had stood in the divorce court with a fourth, she is not yet 26 years of age, and she declared that she was still convinced that marriage was not a failure.

Green Bay.—Three people narrowly escaped death by drowning when an automobile driven by William Hoberg ran into the open draw of the Main street bridge. Two of the occupants, Hoberg and William McGinnis, were thrown into the river, but were rescued by a launch. The car did not go into the river, its hind wheels remaining on the approach while the front ones lodged in the piling under the draw.

Madison.—Despondent because she was unable to secure work, Elsie Taubert, 15 years old, attempted suicide here by drinking carbolic acid. She was taken to a hospital, where, it is said, she will recover. This is the third time she tried to end her life. She was recently released from an orphan asylum at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee.—Dr. George R. Ernst, superintendent of municipal tuberculosis institutions, declared at a meeting of a public health committee that there are about 2,500 cases of tuberculosis in Milwaukee. The meeting was held to devise a campaign of co-operation between the city and county officials against the spread of tuberculosis.

Madison.—Peter White of Chicago, an accounting expert, has been engaged by the state board of public affairs to advise with the board in placing Wisconsin's state accounts on a uniform basis.

BAG FOR DRESSES OR HATS SHOES FOR LONG TRAMPS

Makes for Comfort in Traveling, and Also Preserves the Articles Enclosed.

A scheme which a girl will find a great comfort in any place where she has insufficient closet space is a bag to hold her hat or her dress. In traveling it is well to take one or more of these bags, and in a camp they are almost indispensable. A girl can very quickly make all she wants of them, and if she wants to economize space they can be made of silkoline, which folds up into the smallest kind of a package, is light in weight and very inexpensive.

For a hat, make a bag three-quarters of a yard deep and half a yard wide, with a drawing string at the top. The bag is hung up by this string and the hat is kept free from dust and out of the way. This measurement is for a hat of ordinary size; if your hat is an unusually large one the bag must be larger.

For a dress the bag should be about five inches longer than the dress itself, the width being a little more than enough to slide the dress in easily. When camping it is best to put one's traveling dress and hat into these bags and leave them there, for they are seldom wanted until one is ready to leave. In making the bags for camping there are some advantages in using cretonne instead of silkoline. Being so much thicker, it keeps out the dampness better, and it is often damp enough to a tent to have a rather disastrous effect on a hat.

PARIS BRIDESMAID GOWNS

A shepherdess effect was shown in four bridesmaid gowns recently turned out by Paris makers. The underslips were of a thin white silk trimmed with scattered wreaths, about the size of a saucer, of tiny pink roses. Over these fell tunics of pale blue chiffon, which mellowed the flowers until they were the dimmest blush. The broad bands were wreathed with the posies held by a vast butterfly of thin white lace, and there were small knots of the buds on the blue slip-pers.

SUIT COATS

Suit jackets for autumn and winter will remain close fitting about the hips and hold to the straight line form. At present there is no arbitrary decree regarding the length. Models considerably shorter than the 26-inch length, and somewhat longer also, are among the new models. But the length mentioned is a happy medium. The feeling is that with the approach of winter the tendency will be to lengthen the jacket, with perhaps a revision to the short effects again in the spring.

HUNTER GREEN

As the season advances the vogue for emerald green noticeable for some months past appears to be on the decline, hunter green, a softer, more pleasing tone, being substituted. Scarfs of hunter green satin are draped around the crowns of outing hats of Panama and peanut braid and gracefully looped at one side. Scarfs of striped and checked silk, such as may be found at the neckwear shops, are also utilized as drapery for outing hats.

THIS simple waist is of marquisette or voile trimmed with a beautiful lace or embroidery and fastening at the side with buttons and loops.

The sleeves, cut in one piece with the body of the waist, are trimmed to correspond.

To Pull Bastings.

Few persons know that an ordinary orangewood stick, such as is used for the nails, is the best instrument for removing bastings. A scissors when used is very apt to cut or tear the garment. Procure the stick at any drug store.

Don't Persecute Your Bowels

There are two kinds of joints, the hinges and the ball-bearing. Reflex action is the inside eye and ear. Reflex action controls things that we do not have to think about, as talking.
Had we no skin, our clothes would cause us endless agony.

Bonano

DOES NOT TASTE LIKE BANANAS

Owing to the fact that after the bananas are peeled the pulp or meat of the banana is dried by modern machinery and then granulated and roasted, just as the green coffee berry is roasted.

Bananas contain an essential oil and the roasting brings out a new distinctive flavor wholly unlike the taste of bananas, yet which is in itself incomparably delicious. It just simply tastes good.

Bananas are rich in food value and the process of manufacturing BONANO, while retaining the food value of the fruit, gives a table drink of new and distinctive flavor, not like any other.

BONANO, while being the best drink for all, is most economical, as only a teaspoon of the rich brown granules is needed to make a big cup of flavorful, satisfying drink.
