MOTOR TRUCKS AT THE AUTO SHOW

$1,000,000 Exposition of the Automobile Trade Opens in Milwaukee Auditorium on January 13.

WISCONSIN MANUFACTURERS TO ATTEND

Highway Commission, Good Roads Associations, State Auto Dealers and Wisconsin Auto Clubs to Hold Meetings During the Show Week—Trucks Fast Superseding the Horse in Big City Transportation Field.

The Milwaukee Automobile Show will this year be a $1,000,000 exposition of the power vehicle industry as it is applied to the pleasure car and motor truck as well as the accessory and comfort making device manufacturer.

Members of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association, the Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers' association and other commercial bodies of the state will meet in Milwaukee during the auto show in the Auditorium, January 13 to 19. The Wisconsin Automobile Dealers' association, the Good Roads association, the State Highway Commission and the city and county clubs affiliated with the Wisconsin State Automobile association will also be attracted to the state's metropolis, the auto show being the magnet.

Auto Show week will be business men's week in Milwaukee and this has been brought about by the remarkable line of trucks and commercial delivery wagons of light and heavy load capacity that will be shown by the two scores of manufacturers. And, incidentally, it interests Wisconsin merchants to know that there are made within the state's boundary twenty-one of the sturdiest trucks on the market, all of which will be on exhibition at the Milwaukee show.

The motor truck division of the show will therefore be a hummer. Doubtless the display of trucks and delivery wagons to be exhibited, will prove quite the most interesting part of the exposition. Many changes and improvements have been made in commercial vehicles during the year, and merchants and manufacturers have reached the period, when they have been convinced of the advisability of supplanting horses with motor-propelled delivery wagons.

Success of the commercial motor car as a means of transporting merchandise, is bringing about rapid changes in methods of street hauling by business firms. The horse as a beast of burden is giving way to the gasoline engine and the electric battery, which are providing the power to carry the heavy loads of the former and of the city's complex commercial life.

Wisconsin business men not only attest the present efficiency of the motor truck and give statistics that tend to show wide-spread substitution of mechanical strength for horse strength, but make predictions that from now on the replacement of the equine will proceed with much greater rapidity than it has been in the past. Commercial car makers and commercial car users, by their experience in pioneering, have reached scientific and practical conclusions about the construction of the successful vehicle, and also about the most effective way in which to use it, as well as the conditions under which it must be employed. This experience has brought the modern truck, standardized like the modern pleasure automobile.

The Milwaukee Auto Truck show will be conducted at the same time as the Pleasure Car show, occupying 25,000 square feet of space in the great Milwaukee Auditorium. It will offer everything to the manufacturers and merchants that the Chicago and New York shows will present. This is a fact that will not be disputed and which should concern every business man contemplating changing from horse power to motor power in his transportation department. The Milwaukee show will be made up of the same 1912 models of gasoline and electric pleasure cars and business trucks that will occupy the floor of the Coliseum and Armory during the Chicago show. This is due to the fact that the Milwaukee show precedes the Chicago show by two weeks, an open week intervening between the two shows permitting of the same cars being shown at both shows.

The truck show will be placed in an elaborate setting, the decorations being especially planned to harmonize with the exhibit. Wednesday, January 17, will be Wisconsin Manufacturers' day and a record attendance is looked for by Manager Bart J. Ruddle, and the show committee.

WORST BLIZZARD FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS

The Snow Storm of Last Tuesday Was The Worst Experienced Here For Over Twenty Years. Trains Were Snow-bound, Roads Blockaded and The Mail Carriers Had to Remain at Home

TRAFFIC ON RAILROAD DELAYED OVER TWENTY HOURS

Northbound Morning Mail Train No. 117 Stalled This Side of Campbellsport For Over Twenty Hours. Rotary Snow Plow Sent For to Release The Train

Up to the present time the records for cold weather and snow storms for the winter have been broken. The temperature for a week has been very cold. On last week Saturday morning the mercury fell to 26 below zero. The snow on Monday brought milder weather, which ended with a severe blizzard and colder weather. This blizzard was the worst experienced here for ten years. Trains on Tuesday were stalled, roads were blockaded and mail carriers were unable to cover their routes.

Passenger train No. 117 due here at 6:10 was stalled in a snow drift a short distance this side of Campbellsport for over twenty hours. While trying to free the train from the drift, a sleeper jumped the track. Snow shovellers from Milwaukee arrived later in the day to shovel the train from the drifts. During this time northbound passenger train No. 133 due here at 9:10 was held at this station. All the passengers were fed at the various hotels here under the company's expense. South bound trains Nos. 102, 107 and 106 were held at Campbellsport, where the passengers were fed for dinner and supper at the company's expense.

The snow plow and a crew of shovellers from Milwaukee, who arrived here in the afternoon, made their way to the stalled train, but were only successful in plowing through the snow a short distance. After several hours of hard work they abandoned the trip and returned to this village, when they then ordered the rotary plow from Chicago. This plow arrived at the station at about 11 P. M., being delayed on the other side of Jackson on account of helping release a freight train, which was stalled there. When arriving at this station they experienced a great deal of trouble in raising steam. The plow also froze up. The crew worked for hours to open the right-of-way and were successful in doing so at about 5 A. M. Wednesday morning.

Passenger trains northbound 133 due here at 9:08 A. M. and No. 113 due here at 12:15 P. M. were compelled to remain in the sidetracks at this station until 5:30 A. M. the next morning. Some of the passengers that changed their minds in making their northern trips to return home were compelled to spend the night in the depot sleeping on the benches, as all the hotels in the village were crowded.

Trainmasters Campbell and Crowley, both of Milwaukee, who were on the scene, both froze their faces quite seriously.

Station Agent, F. C. Gottsleben stated that this was the worst type-up the company ever experienced on this line. Jos. Ogenorth, who has charge of the second track, but whose quitting time is at 1 A. M. stuck to his post until relieved by Station Agent Gottsleben the next morning at 7 A. M.

The country roads were completely blockaded. President Peters on Wednesday morning had a large crew of men at work opening up the roads within the village limits.

The cold weather connected with this blizzard made it so much the worse. Drifts of twelve feet high could be seen on all roads.

Cinch Party Well Attended.

Following are those who won prizes: Ladies' First—Miss Anna Martin Ladies' Booby—Miss Myrtle Schurr Gent's First—John Strachota Gent's Booby—Harvey Brandt After the prizes were awarded a very fine lunch with hot coffee was served by the ladies.

Local People Buy County Farm.

GIVEN 3 MONTHS ON USUARY CHARGE

Lawrence Murphy is Sentenced and Refused a Stay Pending an Appeal

Offense is Severely Scored by Judge Backus

Demand for a Prison Sentence Made by the District Attorney, who Points Out That in Olden Days the Offense was Punishable by Death—Mr. Murphy a Well Known Man About Town

Refusing to pay a fine of $25 and costs imposed upon him in district court when convicted of usury several weeks ago, Lawrence Murphy, loan agent, appealed his case to the municipal court, and this morning was sentenced by Judge Backus to ninety days in the house of correction.

The court refused to issue an alternative in the way of a fine, or grant a stay of execution pending an appeal to the supreme court.

On Thursday a jury in the municipal court confirmed the decision of Judge Neelen in the lower court. This morning Murphy was arraigned and his attorneys made arguments for a new trial. This was denied. Dist. Atty. Zabel then urged that a prison sentence be imposed upon Murphy and referred to his offense as a "heinous crime."

SCORED BY THE COURT.

"As ago the crime of usury was punishable by death," said the district attorney, "and I ask that this man be made to suffer as he has made other men suffer."

Murphy was asked if he had anything to say, and replied by shaking his head and smiling.

"All defendants look the same to me in this court," said Judge Backus, "and I think usury is the worst form of larceny. I can well appreciate the mental torture of the unfortunate victims who fall into the hands of loan sharks, and I have no pity for you. Honesty and fair dealing should be the policy of every business."

Murphy is a well known man about town, is married and has a handsome home at 438 Edgewood avenue. During his trial before the jury, Murphy it is claimed, jeopardized his case by sneering at the testimony of the witness.

Michael Litscher, a railroad engineer on the Northwestern road, was the complainant. Litscher claimed he borrowed $63.50 from Murphy on a chattel mortgage on furniture. The state proved to the satisfaction of the jury that Litscher was forced to pay back $476 on this loan and that Murphy still demanded $50 more.

As security for this additional $50 Murphy, the state showed, held ten notes for $15 each signed by Litscher, and a second mortgage for $185 on Litscher's furniture.—Milwaukee Daily News of January 6, 1912.

Mr. Litscher, the complainant is very well known in this vicinity, having been born and raised near Elmore, Wis. We compliment Judge Backus on his decision in this case.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

While in the depot last Tuesday and Wednesday morning, I was greatly amused by hearing various questions asked by different people of the station agent. After the station agent told everyone what he knew about the trains, still they were not satisfied and time and again could be heard: "How long before a train south?" "Are you sure they will be here then?" "What is the trouble?" "When will the snow plow arrive?" "What's the matter now, is the snow plow stuck also?" "Where are we going to eat and who is going to pay for it, will the railroad company pay for it?" "How many more hours before we can get out of this town?" "My what a night it was." "I did not shut my eyes once last night." "Benches are awful hard for a night." "Well I guess we will have to be satisfied."

It is said that a certain young lady in this village would like to have white hands and one day while they had company asked the advise of the guest: "Soak them in the dishwasher three times a day" was the reply. The girl left the piano and sticking her head into the kitchen where her mother was washing the dishes said: "Ma, I wish you would save the dishwasher when you get through."

Occasionally one will hear this remark, "I wish I was out of this town," and one feels like saying, "I wish you were" for a man who stands on the street corners, chewing and spitting, telling obscene stories cursing the town, finding fault with his grandmother because she was a woman, claiming that the merchants are a lot of thieves, that the doctors and news papermen would skin a man to a finish, and a whole lot more, is a nuisance and an abomination.—Ex.

Income Tax Upheld by the Supreme Court

Declaring that by the action of the legislature after confirmed by the people, the state of Wisconsin has settled upon the income tax principle as part of its public policy, and that the legislature had given effect to this principle in a statute at once consistent with itself and with other laws of the state, the supreme court on Tuesday, by a unanimous opinion, upheld the income tax law passed by the legislature of 1911. The decision came out of the suit to test that act's constitutionality brought by W. H. Bolens of Port Washington in his own name, after the attorney general had refused to take such action.

Now it will be up to all tax-payers to keep a set of books, so in order that when the tax commissioner pays a visit they will be able to turn the books over to this party for inspection. The law also reads that all incomes of 1911 which come under this law will be taxed. That the commissioner will experience considerable trouble in getting the accurate income from every tax-payer for that year is doubtful as the majority of the tax-payers have no record of same.

College Education Aids in Business Success.

That the demand for college trained business men is much greater than the supply and that the man who has taken a course in commerce in a university has an immense advantage over the man who stops his education at the high school, are the statements made by Prof. Stephen W. Gilman, of the course in commerce of the University of Wisconsin, in an article entitled "Some Notable Instances of Success."

Graduates of the commerce course of the University of Wisconsin are now holding $6,000, $6,000 and $10,000 positions in cities in every part of the country. An alumni club to promote the interests of its members and to assist properly qualified graduates to desirable positions has recently been organized by the graduates of the course.

Lent Begins Early This Year

With the beginning of the new year the "old settlers" started studying the almanacs for the legal holidays, various eclipses and other information annually distributed in these "guides of health". According to the almanac Lent starts exceptionally early this year Ash Wednesday coming on February 21. Easter Sunday is April 7, before the cold March winds have entirely abated. During the year there will be two eclipses of the moon, April 12, and September 26; a central eclipse of the sun April 17 and a total eclipse of the sun October 10.

BRYAN LOSES FIGHT

COMMONER IS BEATEN IN EFFORT TO OUST GUFFEY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

"HARSH" WORD IS PASSED

Harmony Reigns Supreme at Jackson Day Democratic Feast—All Leaders Are Given Enthusiastic Reception as They Enter Banquet Hall.

Washington.—William Jennings Bryan was defeated in the Democratic national committee by a vote of 30 to 13 in his fight to prevent Col. James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania from being seated as committee member from the Keystone state. Mr. Bryan openly accused the colonel of a betrayal of his party.

Most of the contention over the seating of Guffey was conducted in executive session. Mr. Bryan, who succeeded four years ago in keeping Guffey off the committee, got into action a few minutes after the committee began its labors in the assembly room at the Shoreham.

In the course of the argument over Guffey, A. Mitchell Palmer, his opponent for the seat to which Guffey was elected, charged him with having deliberately defeated the choice of the Democrats for governor and supporting a man of his own choice.

"That's a lie!" shouted Guffey, "and you know it's a lie."

"I demand an apology," said Palmer, growing red in the face. Guffey supplied the apology reluctantly, whereupon Senator Tillman, who had been sitting quietly in his seat, arose and said: "I think he ought to apologize to the whole committee."

Mr. Guffey furnished this apology also, and good humor was fully restored.

Fully one thousand of the leading Democrats of the country honored Andrew Jackson at a banquet at the Raleigh hotel and at the same time congratulated each other on the coming victory of the party, as they sat about the table.

Never before in the history of the party has there been so brilliant a gathering. Democrats from every section of the land, from every great city, even from the distant insular possessions, were there, all happy, all enthusiastic, all inspired with a common purpose.

The new banquet hall of the Hotel Raleigh had been gorgeously decorated for the occasion. The Stars and Stripes were everywhere to be seen. As the leaders of the party came in each one was given a rousing reception. Hearst, Clark, Bryan, Wilson, all were energetically cheered and each held a reception after he took his place.

Every state was represented among the guests and ably represented. Senators, representatives, governors, members of the bench elbowed each other in the press at the tables.

On every side there was confident talk of party success. Optimism was abroad, and if there were any differences among the friends of some of the prospective candidates they did not put in an appearance.

Senator O'Gorman, as toastmaster, occupied the seat of honor at the table. W. J. Bryan was on his left. At the speaker's table were W. R. Hearst, Senator Johnson of Maine, Senator Taylor of Tennessee, Senator Kern of Indiana, Alton B. Parker, Champ Clark, Senator Newlands of Nevada, Joseph Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, Chairman James T. Lloyd of the congressional campaign committee.

Senator Kern of Indiana devoted his speech on "Jackson Democracy" to an attack on the action of Theodore Roosevelt in allowing the steel trust to absorb the Tennessee Coal & Iron company for the ostensible purpose of aborting a panic.

Governor Wilson, speaking to the toast "Democracy, Past and Future," denounced the tariff system as the means by which the business interests have gained their hold in politics.

BILL CHANGING BANK SYSTEM TO PREVENT PANICS DRAFTED.

Differs in Several Important Provisions From Original Measure.

Washington.—The national monetary commission, after four years of study and labor, have drafted a bill to revise the currency system of the United States designed to prevent a recurrence of such unfortunate financial conditions as prevailed during the money panic of 1907.

The bill consists of fifty-nine sections and in general follows the lines of the so-called Aldrich plan. But the commission's bill shows some important changes from the original or even from the revised draft of Mr. Aldrich's plan.

The bill incorporates the National Reserve association of the United States, with an original capital of $200,000,000 instead of the $500,000,000 as first proposed by Mr. Aldrich.

Through an elaborate machinery involving fifteen branches of the association, each branch being the center of a group of local associations of banks, the National Reserve association is authorized to issue notes against properly indorsed commercial paper. The bill provides for the admission to the reserve association of state banks and trust companies that subscribe to its conditions as well as of the national banks already in existence.

The circulating notes of the association shall be received at par in payment for all dues to the United States and salaries and debts owed by the United States, unless gold is specifically set forth in the contract, and all dues or debts to any bank or trust company shall be payable in the notes. The notes shall constitute a first lien upon all the assets of the association and no interest shall be paid by the association upon its deposits.

Besides its duties in the rediscounting of paper for the providing of an elastic currency, the association shall act as disbursing agent for the United States government and shall also transact business abroad, authority being given for the establishment of foreign branches. The assets of the association and of local branches and districts shall be exempt from local and state taxation except as to real estate, while a federal tax falls automatically upon the association for its failure to maintain the 50 per cent. reserve required by the act.

The bill attempts to prevent the centralization of the control of the system in any one locality. In the districting of the country for the fifteen branches, division is made largely by geographical and not financial standards.

The sections which will attract widest public interest and arouse the most debate are those relating to the issuance of currency by the association. The sections follow broadly the Aldrich plan.

Richeson admits his guilt

Former Boston Pastor Confesses He Gave Sweetheart Poison That Caused Her Death.

Boston.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson confessed his guilt of the murder of his former sweetheart, Avis Linnell of Hyannis, in a document made public by his counsel.

The confession declares that the accused is guilty of the offense of which he is indicted, "which is murder in the first degree. He was accused of giving her cyanide of potassium.

Whether Richeson will pay the extreme penalty, which under Massachusetts law is death in the electric chair, no court official cared to predict.

District Attorney Pelletier, however, said that the trial set for January 15 would surely be called and that he would accept no compromise in the case of a plea to a lesser crime. It was pointed out that if the district attorney maintained this attitude only an insanity commission or commutation by the executive council and the governor could save Richeson from death.

INCOME TAX LAW

DECLARED VALID

State Supreme Court Upholds Constitutionality of Act.

INCOMES OF 1911 AFFECTED

Opinion Delivered by Chief Justice Winslow Calls It a New System of Taxation—Brands Old Method of Making Levy a Failure.

Madison.—The income tax law was sustained in an opinion by Chief Justice Winslow of the state supreme court in the case of the state ex rel. Boles, versus Frear and others. After sustaining the jurisdiction of the supreme court, the general object of the law is reviewed, the court saying that the statute as passed by the legislature is not a new and untried experiment in the history of taxation; that it is merely a change from the old system of uniform taxation of property, which, in the opinion of the court, has proven a failure so far as personal property is concerned. The new system, embodied in the income tax law, is set forth as a combination of two ideas, namely: Taxation of personal property, progressively according to the ability to pay, and taxation of real property uniformly, according to value.

The section providing for the taxation of the incomes of nonresidents, derived from a source within the state, and for the taxation of a certain proportion of the income arising from interstate business, are not passed upon, and a number of other questions are left for future consideration.

As a whole, the court regards the law as constitutional, and says that should any provisions be unable to stand a test, they could not be vital and would drop out, leaving the law stand in its fundamental and essential features.

Incomes for the year 1911 are taxable, and the assessors of incomes will begin work soon. Enforcement of the law is entirely in the hands of the state tax commission. The exemptions include individual incomes up to $800. A husband and wife are allowed $1,200, and for each child under 18 years of age and for each legal dependent an additional $200 is allowed.

The rates of income taxation after making exemptions are as follows: First $1,000 or part thereof, 1 per cent; second $1,000 or part, 1 1/2 per cent; third $1,000 or part, 2 per cent; fourth $1,000 or part, 2 1/2 per cent; fifth $1,000 or part, 3 per cent; sixth $1,000 or part, 3 1/2 per cent; seventh $1,000 or part, 4 per cent; eighth $1,000 or part, 4 1/2 per cent; ninth $1,000 or part, 5 per cent; tenth $1,000 or part, 5 1/2 per cent; eleventh $1,000 or part, 6 per cent.

"Income" in the new law includes the following:

All rent of real estate, including the estimated rental of residence property occupied by the owner; interest from money loaned or invested; wages, salaries or fees derived from services, except of public officials; dividends or profits derived from stock; royalties from franchises or legalized privileges of any kind; and all other income not exempted. Pensions and postmaster's salaries are not taxable. Incomes of corporations are assessed by the state tax commission; of individuals by the county assessors of incomes, of whom thirty-nine will be appointed.

The law contemplates that taxpayers shall keep a correct record of their year's income. Stringent regulations to guard income secrets are provided for assessors, and conviction renders an offender liable to heavy fine or imprisonment.

BANKS' RESOURCES SHOW BIG INCREASE

State Commissioner Reports a Gain of $13,951,289 in Year.

TWENTY-FIVE RAISE CAPITAL

Condition of Wisconsin Financial Institutions Declared to Be Good—Charters Issued to Fifty-Six Banks Organized During 1911.

Madison.—The aggregate resources of the 573 state banks and trust companies of Wisconsin on December 31, 1911, were $186,903,346.94, a gain of $13,951,289.97 for the year, according to the annual report of Commissioner of Banking Knott.

The aggregate capital is $16,591,650, a net gain of $1,499,000 for the year. Twenty-five state banks have increased their capital, the total increase being from $613,500 to $1,112,000.

The report says the banking institutions under the department's supervision are, on the whole, in excellent condition.

The commissioner says the number of new banks, fifty-six, organized during the past year, is of proportion to the present needs of the state.

He recommends that the authority to disapprove certificates of authority to commence the banking business be amplified so that harmful competition may be prevented.

More taxes or an annual fee in lieu thereof for foreign trust companies are proposed by the commissioner.

PLAN A BIG POLISH COLONY

20,000 Acres of Land in Marathon County Purchased for Settlement by 500 Families from East.

Stevens Point.—A land deal which ultimately will result in increasing the population of Wisconsin many thousands, was consummated here a few days ago when a tract of 20,000 acres in Marathon county was sold to a colony of Poles. About 500 families will settle there early in the spring and soon 3000 more families will come.

This big sale of northern Wisconsin land is merely the beginning of a big plan by Polish farmers in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, who have realized that northern Wisconsin is rich in agricultural possibilities.

"The purchase of that tract of land in northern Wisconsin is a scheme evolved by Polish farmers in the east who are looking for better lands," said John P. Hume of the Wisconsin Advancement association. "There are about 3,000,000 acres of undeveloped land in the immediate neighborhood and as I understand it, most of that land will be settled by a desirable class of people. One thing which is most noteworthy is their thriftiness and therefore they will be an acquisition to the state."

TO CUT SCHOOL BOOK COST

Arguments on Ways of Saving Money Are Heard by Special Legislative Committee at Madison.

Madison.—At the first session of the special legislative committee appointed to investigate the school text book situation, which was held in the parlors of the assembly chamber in the capitol, H. H. Hilton, representing Ginn & Co., Chicago, told the committee that he believed Wisconsin should have a law similar to that of Ohio, which provided for the purchase of text books by the state, which turned them over to school boards and local dealers at cost.

He said that about $300,000 was annually spent in Wisconsin for school textbooks and that he believed from $30,000 to $50,000 could be annually saved to the people of the state on these books if proper legislation were enacted.

It was brought out at the hearing that certain textbooks are being sold in Wisconsin for 25 per cent more than in some of the other middle west states. It was also shown that some school districts use textbooks published thirty years ago.

January 7, 1862.

A detachment of Gen. Kelly's forces under Col. Dunning of the 5th Ohio, which left Romney the night before, attacked the Confederates at Blue's Gap, Virginia, at daylight on January 7. The attack was successful, the Confederates withdrawing with a loss of fifteen killed and twenty prisoners. Wagons, tents and stores fell into the hands of the National troops.

Petitions for the emancipation of the slaves continued to be presented in the United States senate. The contest over the seating of the senators from Kansas involved the senate for a time in heated debate. Representative Vallandigham of Ohio criticized the government for giving up Messrs. Glasgow and Sidellet at the demand of Great Britain. Mr. Hutchins, his colleague, insinuated in reply that Mr. Vallandigham's position was not sincere; that he had opposed the war previously; and that he now seemed to desire to precipitate the United States into a conflict with England for the benefit of the south.

The Union gunboats under Commander Foote made a reconnaissance down the Mississippi as far as the Confederate batteries two miles above Columbus, Kentucky. They were fired upon, but escaped without damage.

A part of the Second Virginia Federal cavalry, under Col. Bowles, and a portion of Marshall's Confederate forces, were involved in a serious skirmish three miles west of Paintsville, on Jennie Creek, Kentucky. The Confederates withdrew before the superior strength of the enemy.

Col. James A. Garfield, with his Union brigade of Ohio, Kentucky and Virginia troops, occupied Paintsville without opposition. The Confederates burned their works in front of the town and retreated. They were pursued, and three of them were killed.

Colonel H. Anselm defeated a force of Confederates thirty miles east of Sutton.

General A. E. Burnside was assigned to the command of the Department of North Carolina.

January 8, 1862.

A force of Confederates under Col. Poindexter were driven from their camp at Roan's Banard, eight miles south of Hantsville, by a Union force under Majors Torrence and Hubbard. The attack was made late in the afternoon, a short time before dusk. The Confederates were taken by surprise, and their leader was not able to rally them in time to make a successful resistance. The fight lasted an hour. The Confederates lost tents, baggage, and equipment.

A fierce skirmish was fought between a squad of Company B, Second Virginia, Union, and a band of guerrillas on the Dry Fork of Cheat River, in Randolph county, Virginia. The Union soldiers came upon the enemy unexpectedly. For an hour the field was bitterly contested. The Southerners were finally obliged to abandon their quarters, owing to a lack of ammunition. The two parties were frequently within thirty paces of each other during the fight. The loss was six or seven killed and wounded on each side. In a scrimmage between the same forces on the night of the 6th of January, the Confederates had the final advantage.

The rear guard of the First Kansas, on its march from Sedalia to Lexington, Missouri, was attacked from ambush within a few miles of its destination. A German sergeant was mortally wounded.

January 9, 1862.

Affairs in Missouri continued highly turbulent. The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce broke up over an issue introduced by the war. The southern members of the body refused to admit to membership a number of candidates whose federal sympathies were well known, and the northern members of the chamber withdrew to form another Chamber of Commerce; the purpose which they effected.

The Provost Marshal General issued a general order directing every newspaper printed in the state, with the exception of the St. Louis papers only, to submit to him a copy of each issue for his inspection and censorship. Any paper failing to comply was threatened with suppression.

Col. H. Anselm, commanding the union forces at Clarkburg, Va., returned to that place with two companies of the Second Virginia cavalry and three companies of infantry, after an expedition in search of a party of Confederates that had recently seized some military stores. He brought with him the greater part of the stores, having come up with the Confederates near Sutton. He reported a heavy loss among the enemy.

The vessels containing the third and fourth brigades of General Burnside's expedition left Annapolis for the rendezvous at Fortress Monroe.

Senator Sumner of Massachusetts delivered a speech in the United States senate on the Trent affair.

January 10, 1862.

Colonel Garfield, in pursuit of the Confederate force under Marshall, that had withdrawn before his advance on Paintsville, came up with them near the forks of Middle Creek, Ky. In a fight that lasted all day the final advantage rested with the Federal forces. The issue of the fight opened the road to Prestonburg.

An expedition under General Grant and General McClelland, about five thousand strong, left Cairo in boats and sailed down the Mississippi to a point eight miles below Cairo, where they were landed on the Kentucky shore. The expedition carried five days' cooked rations, ninety wagons and four hundred mules, together with ambulances, tents, etc. The gunboats Essex and St. Louis accompanied them.

The call of the state of Tennessee or militia to serve in the Confederate army resulted in serious trouble in some of the western counties, where Northern sympathies ran high. It was necessary to send troops into McNairy county to enforce the call. Some of the local authorities were arrested.

A party of Kansas Indians, under their chief, Y-O-To-Wah, visited Leavenworth for the purpose of ascertaining the terms of enlistment in the United States army. The chief expressed a desire to assist in maintaining the union.

Senators Truxtun Polk and Walter P. Johnson, from Missouri, were expelled from the United States Senate on report of the judiciary committee.

January 11, 1862.

The shooting of pickets in the vicinity of Cairo continuing unabated General Grant issued orders that all inhabitants of the country for a distance of six miles in front of the Union position should be brought behind the breastworks and guarded, and that anyone appearing within the six-mile zone should be liable to be shot. The order was based on a belief that the persons guilty of the practice of shooting pickets were not members of the Confederate army, but citizens of the neighborhood. Women and children were not exempted from the order, excepting that they were permitted to find protection outside the six-mile limit other than the Federal camp, if they chose. Four pickets had been shot the night before the order was issued.

Confederate troops burned two bridges on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, between Munfordville and Bowling Green.

Three Confederate gunboats from Columbus, Ky., made a vigorous attack on the Federal gunboats Essex and St. John of Fort Jefferson, in the Mississippi river. The Confederate vessels finally withdrew to the protection of their batteries.

The Florida legislature elected A. E. Maxwell and I. M. Baker to the Confederate senate.

Sixty Confederate soldiers of Colonel Alexander's regiment were captured near Sedalia, Mo. Colonel Alexander was a prisoner in St. Louis at the time.

Colonel Garfield occupied Prestonburg, Ky., the Confederate troops under Humphrey Marshall having withdrawn.

January 12, 1862.

A party of Confederates belonging to the command of Colonel Hammond devastated the country near Munfordville, Ky., in the probable line of the Federal advance. They burned the depot and blacksmith shop at Horse Cave, the depot, stables, and hotel at Cave City, destroyed all the hay, oats and fodder along the road, and drove off or killed all cattle, horses and mules. They stated their intention to burn all the houses along the road that might be of use to the Federal army in their march. They met with no opposition, the inhabitants of the country having taken refuge in Munfordville.

A nephew of Gen. Polk of the Confederate army was arrested near Blandville, by a National reconnoitering party. Dispatches that were believed to be intended for Confederate spies in Columbus, Ky., were found on him.

The United States sloop of war Pensacola ran the Confederate batteries at Shipping and Cockpit points, on the Potomac, and got to sea without receiving a single shot.

A reconnoitering party under command of Lieut. W. T. Truxton, U. S. N., returned to St. Helena sound, S. C., from an expedition to Bailey's Island, which they found deserted, although stocked with sheep and cattle. They crossed the island to Bailey's landing, on the North Edisto river, but found no one about the plantations.

The advance of Gen. Burnside's Union expedition to the coast of North Carolina sailed from Fortress Monroe, Va.

Brig. Gen. Sigel of the Union army issued an address to the officers of his command at Rolla, Mo., instructing them to give strict attention to the health of their commands, and to occupy their companies with regular drill and instruction in military affairs, practical and theoretical.

January 13, 1862.

The New York State Senate passed a resolution asking the president to make arrangements for the immediate exchange of prisoners. Bills were introduced in the house appropriating $25,000 to furnish with provisions the prisoners from the state held up by the Confederates and to support the families of the prisoners by state tax. A resolution was passed asking congress to appropriate money for harbor and border defenses in New York.

Edwin M. Stanton, of Pennsylvania, was appointed Secretary of War to succeed Simon Cameron, resigned.

The Federal expedition against Hatteras and Roanoke Island, consisting of an army of 12,829 men under General Burnside and a fleet of twenty war vessels under Flag Officer Goldsborough, arrived at Hatteras Inlet.

Claim the Oldest Language.

It is asserted by the Basques that their language, which bears a strong resemblance to certain North American dialects, is the oldest one in the world, and was spoken by Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden. They also boast that it is the most difficult of all languages to learn. According to a native legend, the devil lived among the Basques for seven years, and during that time learned only two words of their tongue, "ba" and "ez," "yes" and "no," and these two words he forgot within an hour of leaving the country.

Covered the Ground.

A man who was dunned by a bookseller for a book delivered some time before, returned the bill with this written on it: "I never ordered this book. If I did, you did not send it. If I got it, I paid for it. If I didn't, I won't."

Furs in Millinery

FURS in millinery have never been so well received, as during the present winter. It seems that the vogue for gold and silver laces and nets, and their introduction with cloth of gold and silver into finishing touches and milliners have made for the best of all used this beautiful combination in many rich and becoming hats.

All furs have been used, but skunk, marten and fox are great favorites for trimming. They are used in bands and borders rather than in entire hats. The shorts furs like seal-skin, beaver, ermine and broadtail, make up entire hats, and mink is a favorite used in either way.

COAT OF REVERSIBLE CLOTH

One of the handsomest hats is a sealskin over a small bell-shaped foundation. Its only trimming is a prim little cravat bow and ends of ermine poised at the front. A hat of gold satin in the French sailor shape is trimmed into two rows of gold lace—the "tarnished brass" color describing the color accurately. The lace was edged with narrow border of sable and a paradise feather like the sable fur in color, but shaping to gold, furnished the trimming.

Black velvet shape trimmed with the heavy laces in white are handsome with skunk borders or bands. Soft caps of gold net lined with silk to match are finished with a broad band of marten about the face. Fancy ostrich or paradise feathers make the best trimming for these caps of velvet, with pointed crowns, and brims of cloth-of-gold, are finished with a band of marten and loops of the gold lace that is filled about the face. Most of these combinations are equally good with silver lace and with it a greater variety in color of velvet may be used.

These rich hats, are particularly good from one standpoint. They may be worn with almost any gown or costume. Although the initial expense of a good fur hat is considerable the fur lasts for many seasons, in fact almost indefinitely and may be used again and again.

In millinery many cheap furs are used that are about as effective as more costly ones, but have not the same durability. They are called by the names of seal-skins which they are made to imitate, and answer the purpose for one or two seasons, very well. Marten and skunk are very desirable and fox also will stand the sort of wear it gets in millinery very well.

Just now there is a fad for hat muffs and neckpieces made of velvet or satin and bordered with fur. The pieces match, and many an old set of furs is being cut up—the good parts pieced into bands and used to decorate such sets. Sometimes a bag is included in the pretty outfit. Altogether the result is very pleasing.

Irish Embroidery.

Of all the different styles of embroidery on centerpieces, doilies and lunch cloths, Irish embroidery is the most serviceable. It will stand twice the wear and tear that any other kind will endure, and after years of use will look as fresh and well as when it was new. The work is slightly padded and stands out from the linen, the padding often being done with tiny bits of raw cotton or else filled in with darning thread. Over this the embroidery is worked in the satin stitch, sometimes having the edge of the pattern done in the outline stitch, which gives a little more firmness to the work. Edges are either hem-stitched or finished with a scalloped fringe. Fringed edges are not serviceable and are no longer fashionable. A centerpiece and set of half a dozen doilies makes an ideal gift for tea

MAKEUP OF THE COIFFURE

Original Effects Sought After by the Smartest Women Who Set the Fashions of Paris.

This year there is little absolute novelty in the matter of hair arrangement to chronicle, yet the changes, though subtle, are none the less potent—a frequent experience as is demonstrated when one puts on an old hat, carefully cherished, even when no distinct change in fashion has taken place.

The most important aspect of the coiffure nowadays is the silhouette it produces, a fact in union with the whole spirit of dress. And this is the first point to be carefully noted and attained. A low, full outline is the one most generally sought after, and attained quite easily by the aid of many clever frames and adjustments provided. A decidedly Eastern effect is one of the most noticeable features in the new dresser, which should not be overlooked by the woman who would be in the Velvet Bow.

One of the new effects in neckwear is a bow consisting of broad ends of black panne velvet, with loop and ends of black messaline and finished with a silk tassel.

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

OFFER THEIR SERVICES FREE OF CHARGE

The United Doctors, licensed by the state of Wisconsin for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip consultation, examination, advice free, making no charges whatever, except the actual cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect. These doctors are considered by many former patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases, and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle. Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin nerves heart, spleen, kidneys, or bladder rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting leg-ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call. According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons" by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases. If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination. Deafness often has been cured in sixty days. No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit this time may help you. Remember, this free offer is for one day only. Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Get Money-making Secrets With the Farm Journal

MANY a farmer will tell you he never knew how much bigger crops he could raise until FARM JOURNAL put it into his head to work more with his BRAINS.

This great little paper is always nudging farmers up to make more money. Pleasant but persistent, it works at you year after year to raise larger crops, finer horses and cows, heavier hogs, bigger apples and potatoes, and shows you just HOW to do it.

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim-milk") is 34 years old, and has over 750,000 subscribers, more than any other farm paper published. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people in the world, and are always saying FARM JOURNAL helped to make them so. It is clean, brief, "boiled down," full of practical wisdom, gumption, fun and sunshine. It believes in order, thrift, kindness, comraderie and happiness, and it has old Peter Tumbledown always ready to show how NOT to run a farm.

"Our Folks" have comfortable homes, modern buildings and machinery, tight roofs and fences, gates that swing free, sound horses, well-dressed and happy wives and children, and money in bank. Their potatoes are the largest, their milk tests the highest, their hogs weigh most, their fruit brings the best prices. Live farmers everywhere find this out, and they want the FARM JOURNAL.

Subscribe now, and get with the paper any of these famous Money-making Secrets.

These great illustrated booklets are all stories of success in farming, and they tell you the METHODS that won it.

Poultry Secrets is a unique collection of the secret methods and discoveries of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, suppressed for years, the Lurtus method of securing 50 per cent. more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, with priceless secrets of mating, breeding, feeding, how to produce winter eggs, and many others of great value long jealously guarded, now first published.

Horse Secrets exposes the methods of "bishinging," "plugging," cocaine and gasoline doping, and other tricks of "gays" and swindlers. It enables any one to tell an unsound horse. It also gives many valuable feeding, training, breeding and veterinary secrets.

Corn Secrets is the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King." It tells how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn that is rich in protein and other valuable stock-feeding elements. Wonderful photographic pictures make every process plain.

THE MILLION EGG-FARM tells how J. M. Foster, in the New Jersey pine-belt, makes over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. If you keep chickens, read about the "Rancocas Unit" and learn how Foster FEEDS his hens.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced half a ton of butter each per year (150 pounds is the average). An eye-opener for dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn your good ones into record-breakers.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your back-yard supply you with fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, and get cash for your surplus produce. It tells when and how to plant, cultivate, harvest and market every kind.

DUCK DOLLARS tells of the great Weber duck-farm near Boston. Every year they sell over 40,000 ducklings at a net profit of 50 cents each. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

Coughs and Colds

You could not please us better than to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis. Thousands of families always keep it in the house. The approval of their physician and the experience of many years have given them great confidence in this standard cough medicine. Sold for seventy years.

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver. Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE SAFE LAXATIVE FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

Most elderly people are more or less troubled with a chronic, persistent constipation, due largely to lack of sufficient exercise. They experience difficulty in digesting even light food, with a consequent belching of stomach gases, a crowsfoot after eating, headache and a feeling of lassitude and general discomfort.

Doctors advise against cathartics and violent purgatives of every kind, recommending a mild, gentle laxative tonic. H. C. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, to affect relief without disturbing the entire system.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the perfect laxative, easy in action, certain in effect and, withal, pleasant to the taste. It possesses tonic properties that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels and is a remedy that has been for years the great standby in thousands of families, and should be in every family medicine chest. It is equally as valuable for children as for older people.

Druggists everywhere sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in 50c and $1.00 bottles. If you have never tried it send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and he will be very glad to send a sample bottle for trial.

SUDDEN DISCOVERY.

The Better Part.

A certain woman went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and it chanced that her gown was not fully buttoned up in the back. Now, a priest and a Levite, meeting the woman and perceiving her plight, passed by on the other side, without saying a word. But a certain Samaritan, journeyed that way, was touched with compassion.

"Madam," quoth he, "your husband—"
"Sir?" the woman thereupon exclaimed and gave him a look which froze him on the spot.

Fortunately no Faith Was Required, For She Had None.

"I had no faith whatever, but on the advice of a hale, hearty old gentleman who spoke from experience, I began to use Grape-Nuts about 2 years ago," writes an Ohio woman, who says she is 40, is known to be fair, and admits that she is growing plump on the new diet.

"I shall not try to tell you how I suffered for years from a deranged stomach that rejected almost all sorts of food, and digested what little was forced upon it only at the cost of great distress and pain.

"I was treated by many different doctors and they gave me many different medicines, and I even spent several years in exile from my home, thinking change of scene might do me good. You may judge of the gravity of my condition when I tell you I was sometimes compelled to use morphine for weeks at a time.

"For two years I have eaten Grape-Nuts food at least twice a day and I can now say that I have perfect health. I have taken no medicine in that time—Grape-Nuts has done it all. I can eat absolutely anything I wish, without stomach distress.

"I am a business woman and can walk my 2 or 3 miles a day and feel better for doing so. I have to use brains in my work, and it is remarkable how quick, alert and tireless my mental powers have become." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainsman, is looking for roaming parties of savages. He sees a wagon team at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and departed. He rescues the victims finding papers and a locket with a woman's portrait. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder, his accuser being a certain man named Black Bart. A negro companion in his cell named Neb tells him that he knew the Kettles in Virginia. Neb says one of the murdered men was John Sibley, the other Gen. Willis Walter, and Neb escape, and later the fugitives come upon a cabin and find its occupant to be a young girl, whom Keith thinks he saw at Carson City. The girl explains that she is in search of a brother, who has deserted from the army, and that a Mr. Hawley induced her to come to the cabin while he sought her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him as Black Bart. There is a terrific battle in the darkened room in which Keith is victor. Horses are appropriated, and the girl who bears the name of Hope, joins in the escape. Keith explains his situation and the fugitives make for the hotel landlady, Miss Hope tells that she is the daughter of General Walter. Keith and Neb drift into Sheridan, where Keith meets an old friend, Dr. Fairbairn. Keith meets the brother of Hope Walter, under the assumed name of Fred Wilcox. Black Bart has some plot involving the two. Hope learns that Gen. Walter, who was knighted, is in Sheridan, and goes there, where she is mistaken for Christie MacLaire, the Carson City singer. Keith meets and rescues Christie MacLaire and finds that Black Bart has convinced her that there is a mystery in her life which he is going to turn to her advantage. The plainsman tells Hope Walter of her resemblance to Christie MacLaire.

Keith's eyes lifted to her face, his ears quick to detect the undertone in her voice.

"Interesting? yes, for I was seeking after information, and met with some success. As to the other question, I am not sure whether I admire the lady or not. She is bright, pretty, and competent, and in spite of her profession, at heart, I believe, a good woman. But really, Miss Hope, I was too deeply immersed in my purpose to give her personality much consideration. Among other things we spoke of you."

"Of me? Why?"
"I told her something of our adventures together; of how both Hawley and I had been confused. She was anxious to learn who you were, but unfortunately, I have never, even yet, heard your name."

"You have not?"
"No, I left you at Fort Larned believing you Christie MacLaire—supposing it your stage name, of course—and was confirmed in this belief by finding in the holster of the saddle you had been riding an envelope bearing that address."

"I remember; it contained the note the man brought to me from Hawley; he had written it that way." She crossed the room, sinking down into a chair facing him. "And you have actually confused me with Christie MacLaire all this while? Have never known who I was?"

He shook his head.
"I told you to call me Hope; that is my name—I am Hope Walter."
"Wait!" he leaned forward, started by the possibility—"not—not—"

"Yes," she burst in, holding out her hands, clasping the locket, "and this was my father's; where did you get it?"

He took the trinket from her, turning it over in his fingers. Little by little the threads of mystery were being unraveled, yet, even now, he could not see very far. He looked up from the locket into her questioning face.

"Did I not tell you? No; then it was an oversight. This was about the throat of one of the men I buried at Cimmaron Crossing, but—but, Hope, it was not your father's."

"I know," her voice choking slightly. "Mrs. Murphy found that out; that is why I am here. I heard my father came to Sheridan, and I wanted you to help me find him."

He was thinking and did not answer at once, and she went on in some alarm.
"Do you know anything about him, Captain Keith? Where is he? Why is he here? Don't be afraid to tell me."

He pressed the locket back into her hand, retaining the latter, unresisted, within his own.
"I have not seen your father, Hope, but he was certainly here a few days ago, for Fairbairn met him. They were together in the army. I am going to tell you all I know—it seems to be a tangled web, but the ends must be somewhere, although, I confess, I am all at sea."

He told it slowly and simply, bringing forth his earlier suspicion, and how he had stumbled upon facts apparently confirming them. He related her father's robbery, his loss of valuable papers, and the conversation between Hawley and Scott which led to the suspicion that these same papers had fallen into the hands of the former, and were the basis of his plot. Hope listened, breathless with interest, her widely opened eyes filled with wonder. As he concluded speaking she burst forth:

"But I don't understand in the least, Captain Keith. Why did this man Hawley send me to the Salt Fork?"
"He thought he was dealing with Christie MacLaire. He had some reason for getting her away; getting her where he could exercise influence over her."
"Yes—yes; but who is she?"
"That is what makes the matter so hard to unravel. She doesn't even know herself! Hawley is going to take advantage of her ignorance in this respect, and convince her that she is the person he wishes her to represent—but who is the person? If we knew that we might look the same."

Both sat silent, striving to figure out some reasonable explanation.
"Do you know of any special papers your father carried?" he asked.

"No; none outside his business agreements."
"Has any one ever disappeared connected with your family? Did you have an older sister?"
"Fred and I were the only children. Why should you ask that question?"

"Because something of that nature would seem to be the only rational explanation. Your brother must have told Hawley something—some family secret—which he felt could be utilized to his own advantage. Then he saw your picture, and was immediately reminded of the remarkable resemblance between you and Christie MacLaire. Evidently this discovery fitted into his plan, and made it possible for him to proceed. He has been trying ever since to get an interview with the woman, to sound her, and find out what he can do with her. He has written letters sufficiently explicit to make it clear his scheme is based upon a will drawn, as he claims, by Christie's grandfather. No doubt by this time he has fully convinced the girl that she is the rightful heiress to property—as he stated to Scott—valued at over a million dollars. That's a stake worth fighting for, and these two will make a hard combination. He's got the papers, or claims to have, and they must be the ones stolen from your father. I have been trusting you might know something in your family history which would make it all plain."

"But I do not," decisively. "You must believe me; not so much as a

"Yes, to find Fred; the sooner we can get this straightened out, the better."

He glanced into the bathroom as he passed, not in any anticipation, but merely from the vigilance which becomes second nature upon the frontier.

He was a heavy traveler. She—Are you fond of travel? He—I think I must be. She—I've circled the globe six times—a matter of 150,000 miles—think of it! I suppose you have traveled more?

He—Yes—New York and Stamford—every week day—twenty-three years—a matter of 462,300 miles—just think—Great Scott! (Snaps his watch and runs.)

Note by Editor—New York to Stamford, 33 1/2 miles x 2 x 300 x 23 is 462,300—Life.

The Reason. "Why the Seaside?" was the question the cynic had left on his article, fully in view. The wag came along and saw it, opining "Twas likely the sea sighted because it was blue."

Crowded Out. "Anyway, her heart is in the right place." "I don't believe it." "Why, she is noted for her charities."

"I know it, but look how she is laced."

A Friend's Advice. "A college has offered me a degree for a million." "What's the use? Buy yourself a hundred dollars' worth of funny clothes, and save the rest of the coin."

Keith Saw the Man Go Down in a Heap.

hint of any secret has ever reached me. There are only the four of us. Father, Mother, Fred, and I. I am sure there can be no secret; nothing which I would not know. Perhaps, if I could see Miss MacLaire—"

"I am convinced that would be useless," he interrupted, rising, and pacing across the floor. "If Hawley has convinced her of the justice of the claim, he will also have pledged her to secrecy. He is working out of sight like a mole, for he knows the fraud, and will never come to the surface until everything is in readiness. I know a better way; I'll find Fred, and bring him here. He would tell you whatever it was he told Hawley, and that will give us the clue."

He picked up his hat from the table, but she rose to her feet, holding forth her hands.
"I cannot thank you enough, Captain Keith," she exclaimed frankly. "You are doing so much, and with no personal interest—"

"Oh, but I have." "The long lashes dropped over the brown eyes."
"What do you mean?"
"That I have a personal interest—in you, Hope."

She stood silent, her bosom rising and falling to rapid breathing.
"You don't mind my calling you Hope? I haven't got used to Miss Walter yet."
Her eyes met his swiftly.
"Of course, not. Such ceremony would be foolish after all you have done for me. Do—do you call her Christie?"

He laughed, clasping her hands closer.
"I assure you no—she is strictly Miss MacLaire, and—so—seemingly, 'shall be to the end of the chapter."
"Oh, well, I didn't care, only that was what you called her when you were telling me what she said. Are you going?"

Let a Mistake in Assassination. His future be what it might, Jack Keith would never again forget the girl who held the door open for his passage with one hand, her other clasped in his. Interested before, yet forcing himself into indifference now that he knew who she really was, the man made full surrender. It was a struggle that kept him from clasping the slender girl in his arms, and pouring forth the words of tenderness which he sternly choked back. This was neither the time, nor the place, yet his eyes must have spoken, for Hope's glance fell, and her cheeks grew crimson.

"I do not need to pledge you to return this time, do I?" she questioned, her voice trembling.

"No," he answered, "nor any time again."

The hall was deserted, but a few men loitered in the office. Keith recognized none of the faces, and did not stop to make any inquiries of the clerk. It was growing dark, the lights already burning, and from the plashing of drops on the window, it must be raining outside. Hawley would surely have ended his call upon Miss MacLaire long before this, and left the hotel. However interesting his communication might have proven, she must fill her evening engagement at the Trocadero, and would require time for supper and rest. As to the result of that interview there could be little but he could not cover both ends of the building, and must take his chances. It was too wet and disagreeable to remain crouched there, now that it was evident there was no intention of following him. With hand on the butt of his gun, suspicious and watchful, yet with scarcely a faster beat to his heart, Keith straightened up, and began splashing his way through the mud down the street. He knew where Willoughby would be most likely found at this hour—with cronies at the "Tenderfoot"—and he meant to discover the man who made him confess to Hope the truth. Matters had now reached a point where longer delay was dangerous.

Sheridan was seemingly dead, the long street silent, gloomy, black, except for those streams of saloon light shining across pools of water. A few wanderers ploughed through the muck, dim uncertain shapes appearing and vanishing in the gloom. He had gone a block and over, the struggle against the elements leaving him forgetful of all else, when a man reeled out of some dimly lit shack to his right, and staggered drunkenly toward the lake feet in advance. He could barely distinguish the fellow's outline, giving little thought to the occurrence, for the way was unusually black along there, the saloon opposite having shades drawn. Suddenly a flash of red fire sprouted into the night, with a sharp report. It was so close at hand it blinded him, and he flung up one arm over his eyes, and yet, in that single instant, he perceived the whole picture as revealed by the red flame. He saw the man in front go down in a heap, the projection of the building from behind which the shot came, the end of a wagon sticking forth into the street which had concealed the assassin. The blinding flash, the shock of that sudden discharge, for a moment held him motionless; then he leaped forward, revolver in hand, sprang around the end of the wagon, and rushed down the dark alley between two buildings. He could see nothing, but some one was running recklessly ahead of him, and he fired in the direction of the sound, the leaping spurt of flame yielding a dim outline of the fugitive. Three times he pressed the trigger; then there was nothing to shoot at—the fellow had faded away into the black void of prairie. Keith stood there baffled, staring about into the gloom, the smoking revolver in his hand. The sound of men's voices behind was all that reached him, and feeling the uselessness of further pursuit, he retraced his way back through the narrow passage.

HOW TO MAKE SOUP

STIMULATING DISH SHOULD PRECEDE ALL DINNERS.

Freshest Meat Should Be Used and With a Reasonable Amount of Care the Result Will Be Satisfying.

Soup is the prelude of the dinner. It is light, healthy, stimulating food that gently prepares the diner for heavier food to come.

The earliest mention of soup that occurs to me is the dish of potage for which Esau sold his birthright. There can be little doubt that Rebecca was a fine cook, for we know how she made the tempting dish for which he gave his inheritance. Tender pieces of fresh-killed kid were seethed in milk and seasoned with herbs and thickened with meal. This makes a most excellent stew that even these enlightened days have not improved upon.

Indeed, there are but two kinds of soup, thick and thin, or if it please you better, fat and lean. The thick, fat soups comprise bisques, cream soups, purées and mixed soups. The thin soups, or "soup maigres," as the French designate them, are consommé or bouillon and clarified broths.

When making soup use the freshest meat obtainable. Split the bones and cut the meat in small pieces. Put to cook in cold, salted water. This permits the albumen to dissolve before the water commences to boil. This albumen and gelatin rises to the top of the soup kettle, but should not be skimmed off, as much of it will be assimilated in the process of cooking and it contains the richest juices of the meat. After the contents of the soup kettle have commenced boiling briskly, season and add the vegetables and herbs. Keep it boiling slowly and continuously. Thirty minutes to each pound of meat is the usual time allowed, but longer cooking is sometimes necessary. Bisques are the richest and most satisfying of all soups. They originated in 1700 and 1750, and these ancient ones differed greatly from the modern style, which is only a vegetable soup enriched with cream and well thickened. The original bisques well deserve to be resurrected.—Henrietta D. Grauel.

Never attempt to polish a kitchen range until all the grease and dirt has been removed from it. Dip a rag in some soot and with this remove all grease stains. Take off varnish marks with tissue paper, moistened with vinegar. When the ironwork of the stove is discolored through the heat it should be well rubbed with a soapy flannel and then thickly coated with black lead. To obtain an absolutely black surface mix a little ammonia with the black lead.

Coal oil will soften the old paint brushes used last year. Place them in a can of the oil and wash them well in warm soap suds.

The life of old linoleum may be lengthened somewhat by giving it a coat of varnish. When dried the varnished surface is easily kept clean with a damp cloth. Where there is a badly worn spot in the center it is a good plan to cut the linoleum through the middle and bring the two outer edges together before varnishing.

Rugs have a tiresome way of curling at the corners, which spoils their appearance and in the end the corners are torn away. To insure against this, directly a rug is bought bind it on the under side with stout Holland webbing.

To wash soiled dress shields lay them on a board or table, soiled side up, and give a thorough scrubbing with a stiff brush and any good laundry soap, with plenty of lukewarm water. Hold under a faucet until completely rinsed. Do not squeeze, but hang each dripping piece on the line until dry.

Stuffed Dates. Stuffed dates with whipped cream: Remove seeds from choice dates; fill with English walnuts and press into original shape; stew in a little hot water, adding sugar and lemon juice at the last; whip a cup of double cream and a cup of milk with whp churn; remove the froth, drain and serve with the dates around it.

Dates stuffed with walnuts: Select large dates, remove the seed by cutting one side only and fill with chopped nuts prepared with a little powdered sugar and lemon juice to form a paste. Press the dates together and dust with powdered sugar.

Carrot Salad. Wash and scrape tender rich colored carrots; throw them into fast boiling water and boil until soft; cut them into very thin slices; put them into a glass bowl and sprinkle with sifted loaf sugar; add the juice of a large lemon and a wineglassful of olive oil; garnish the dish with very thin slices of lemon and any kind of green salad leaves.

Pineapple Tapioca. To make this, take one quart of water, one cup of instantaneous tapioca, one cup of sugar and whites of four eggs. When water is boiling stir the tapioca and sugar into it quickly. Let cook until it thickens, then add over white of eggs beaten stiff. Turn in moulds and serve cold with cream.

WANTED HER TO SUFFER.

Mr. Henpeck—Then you won't do. My mother-in-law wants to get seven extracted, so I'll have to take her elsewhere.

PITIFUL SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

"A few days after birth we noticed an inflamed spot on our baby's hip which soon began spreading until baby was completely covered even in his eyes, ears and scalp. For eight weeks he was bandaged from head to foot. He could not have a stitch of clothing on. Our regular physician pronounced it chronic eczema. He is a very able physician and ranks with the best in this locality, nevertheless, the disease began spreading until baby was completely covered. He was losing flesh so rapidly that we became alarmed and decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"Not until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment could we tell what he looked like, as we dared not wash him, and I had been putting one application after another on him. On removing the scale from his head the hair came off, and left him entirely bald, but since we have been using Cuticura Soap and Ointment he has grown as much hair as ever. Four weeks after we began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was entirely cured. I don't believe anyone could have eczema worse than our baby.

"Before we used the Cuticura Remedies we could hardly look at him, he was such a pitiful sight. He would fuss until I would treat him, they seemed to relieve him so much. Cuticura Soap and Ointment stand by themselves and the result they quickly and surely bring is their own recommendation." (Signed) Mrs. T. B. Rosser, Mill Hall, Pa., Feb. 20, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 29, K. Boston.

Conceded. Lord Gullford tells a story of a young lady's resources at a bazaar. Business was in full swing when a young man strolled around the various stalls, with no intention of purchasing anything. As he passed a large, beautifully decorated stall the young lady sellers detained him. "Won't you buy a cigarette holder, sir?" she asked. "No, thank you, I don't smoke," was the curt reply. "Or a pen wiper worked with my own hands?" "I don't write." "Then do have this nice box of chocolates." "I don't eat sweets." The young lady's patience was exhausted. "Sir," she said grimly, "will you buy this box of soap?"
The young man paid up.

VERDICT A FAVORABLE ONE

Small Girl's Pretty Answer to Stupid Question of Inquisitive Busybody.

She was a pretty little tot, and everybody who knew her took pleasure in pausing to ask her some kind of a question, merely to show an interest and for the pleasure of hearing the musical cadence of her voice. Some of the questions were what might be termed leading, but for all she invariably had some kind of an answer. Among these latter inquiries was one from an intrusive busybody who was old enough to know better, but who belonged to a class of persons who never learn. Knowing that the little girl had only recently become the possessor of a young and attractive stepmother, with a curiosity inborn she asked her frankly:

"Well, Pollykins, how do you like your stepmother?"

The child raised her blue eyes gravely, and with her face glowing with happiness, replied:

"Oh, very much. Indeed, Mrs. Skillington. We fit very nicely, considering that she got us ready made."—Judge.

BRAIN EXERCISED AT HOME

Something Entertaining as Well as Instructive for Boys and Girls on Cold Winter Evenings.

Often of a cold winter evening boys and girls like to spend the time in doing something entertaining and instructive as well. A good pastime that will prove instructive is that of solving problems. Distribute pieces of paper among those present and tell them to solve the following problems. The answers to which are given below:

1. What two numbers multiplied together will produce seven?
2. How many four fives be placed so as to make six and a half?
3. If five times four are thirty-three what will the fourth of twenty be?
4. What is the difference between twice twenty-five and twice five and twenty?
5. Divide the number fifty into two such parts that if the greater part be divided by seven and the lesser by three the quotient in each case will be the same.

Some may answer correctly and some will be caught, easy as the problems appear.

Here are the answers:

1. The two numbers are 7 and 1.
2. The figure 5, the fraction 5-5 and the decimal fraction .5.
3. Eight cents and one-fourth.
4. Twice 25 are fifty. Twice 5 and 20 are 30.
5. The two parts are 35 and 15.

SILVER COIN MADE TO JUMP

Clever Little Trick May Be Performed With Port Wine Glass, but Conical Form Is Essential.

Choose a wineglass of the conical form, shown in the illustration, whose greatest diameter is a little larger than a silver dollar. At the bottom of the glass place a silver quarter, and above it the dollar, which will fall only a little way into the glass; it will rest horizontally, like a lid upon it. Now tell your friends that without touching either glass or coin you have it in your power to make the quarter of a dollar jump from its position. All you have to do is to breathe strongly on the silver dollar. It will rotate and so assume a vertical position. At the same instant the compressed breath at the bottom of the glass will cause the quarter to skip from its position quite a distance on the table, after which the dollar will slowly go back to its former position. Sometimes this trick may be performed with a little port wine glass, but with the conical form it is still easier.—Magical experiments.

BEEES PARTICIPATE IN WAR

Terrifying and Demoralizing Method of Repelling Besiegers Employed by Themisyræans.

In these days of scientific warfare there are more ways of killing a man than of going to church, but you would have to look far and wide before you would find a more terrifying and demoralizing method of repelling besiegers than that employed by the people of Themisyræa, an ancient city of Asia Minor. A Roman historian tells that when the city was besieged there were great buildings put up to be pushed toward the walls so that the attackers might advance uninjured. But the Themisyræans were a capable people, and they chopped holes in the tips of the buildings and cast down on the heads of the advancing army whole swarms of bees and all the wild and ferocious animals that their municipal menagerie had contained.

Likewise, in England, a few hundred years later, the Danes and Norwegians were attacking the ancient Roman city of Chester, then held by the Saxons. After all the ordinary methods of warfare had failed to drive away the Norsemen the bee hives of Chester were brought to the city walls and overturned on the heads of the enemy, who retired in haste.

DOG WINS A FOOTBALL GAME

Members of Columbia Squad Are Inspired by Sight of Canine Attacking Red Hot Poker.

A remarkable turning of a game between the halves occurred at Ithaca in 1905. Cornell led Columbia by six to nothing when the teams returned to the dressing rooms. Columbia had not recovered from a wearing game with Princeton the week before. Many of the men were overtrained. There was a distinct feeling of the hopelessness of it all when the players lay down upon the floor and benches. Only Bill, a white bull terrier mascot, showed signs of liveliness. It was cold in the dressing room and a trainer shook the ashes in the stove. He used a poker, the end of which became red hot. When finally he laid down the metal rod the red whiteness, but the heat remained. Bill, seeing that the poker was to be played with like a stick, caught the heated end in his mouth. Instantly his lips seared and turned black. Bill only shook the poker harder. Two men grabbed him and tried to force him to open his mouth. But Bill fought back and finally they had to choke him before he would loosen his grip. It was then that Coach Morley nudged Captain Fisher and pointed to the dog. Catching the idea, Fisher sprang to his feet and built up a speech around Bill. He compared Bill's nerve to the team's and asked the men if they were not ashamed of themselves. His closing sentence was: "Just play for Bill, Bill, Bill!"

When Columbia returned to the field, Bill, yelping furiously, led the way. All through the half the team heard him barking from the sidelines. Said Von Salza, the big tackle, after the game:

"We heard every yelp, and it simply drove us."

Also, Bill's yelping was so good that Columbia won out, twelve to six.—American Magazine.

EARLY USE OF ICE SKATES

Holland Conceded to Be Birthplace of Skating and Undoubtedly First Practiced There.

To "necessity's sharp pluck," not to a desire for amusement, says the New York Evening Post, we owe the invention of skates and their early use. Holland is conceded to be the home and birthplace of skating, and it was undoubtedly first practiced there and in the far north.

In a country of lakes and canals the necessity of walking and running on the ice must have been felt from the earliest days, and, indeed, they were found in one of the mounds on which a Friesland village was built. The skates were fastened to the feet by straps passed through holes made in the bones. A Danish historian mentions the sport in 1134.

The bone skates were also the kind first used in England. Fitzstephen, in his account of the amusements of the young people on the ice in London during the latter part of the twelfth century, notes that it was usual for them to fasten the leg bones of animals under the soles of their feet by tying them around their ankles, and then taking a pole, they pushed themselves forward by striking against the ice, and moved with great rapidity.

Additional lightness without loss of strength has given aluminum a place in the manufacture of skates, a concern in Cleveland making skate bodies of this metal, says the Popular Magazine.

A blade of steel about 5/8 inch wide and 1-1/2 inch thick is inserted in the aluminum. The illustrations show such a body before finishing, and a completed skate with blade in position.

COMPANY DESSERTS.

When entertaining company, we expect to put a little more thought and expense into the menu and a few extra thoughts on desserts are usually welcome.

Fruit Souffle.—Put a half cup of boiling water in a saucepan on the stove, melt in it two tablespoonfuls of butter and stir in a half cup of flour and cook thoroughly. Then add gradually one-half cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and when cool the yolks of two eggs. Beat well, then fold in the stiff whites of the eggs. Have a layer of jam in a pudding dish and pour the mixture over it. Set the dish in a pan of water and bake for half an hour in a moderate oven.

Marlborough Pie.—Mix together two cups of grated apples, one and a half cups of sugar, three eggs well beaten, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, and a cup of thin cream. This is enough for two pies. Bake with an upper crust and strips of pastry across the bottom, then gently place a layer of jam in a pudding dish and pour the mixture over it. Set the dish in a pan of water and bake for half an hour in a moderate oven.

Macedonin of Fruit.—Use either lemon or orange jelly and strain into a pitcher. Set a mold in a pan of crushed ice and salt; pour in half an inch of the jelly and let it harden. Then arrange over it a garnish of fruits and nuts and pour over a little more jelly without disturbing the pattern, and let harden. Proceed until the dish is full.

Chartreuse of Fruit.—Line a mold with jelly by letting a layer harden in the bottom, then gently place a smaller mold on that and fill the space between with jelly. When hard fill the center mold with warm water and in a minute it can be removed without disturbing the jelly. Color the remainder of the jelly pink and mix with fruit and nuts and fill the lined mold with this mixture and chill.

A delicious cake to serve with any light dessert is a sponge baked in a sheet and cut in squares, which are then covered with an orange frosting. This may be easily done by using a fondant, which may be warmed over hot water, flavored and the squares dipped in it.

HE who is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; that is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great wealth.—Prov. 11:7.

WINTER DESSERTS.

During the cold weather the heating and heavier desserts are welcome, although less and frozen dishes will not be entirely forgotten.

Plum Pudding.—In one cup of flour sift one-half a teaspoon each of salt and soda, two teaspoonfuls of mixed spice; add two cups of bread crumbs, not dry, and one cup of finely chopped suet. Beat two eggs until light; add a cup of molasses to the other ingredients, then a pound of prepared fruit, which may be a mixture of raisins, citron and candied orange and lemon peel. Eggs and nuts may be added. Put in molds and steam three hours at least.

Cream a quarter of a cup of butter, add flavoring and a teaspoonful of boiling water; then add a cup of powdered sugar. Chill and serve.

Baked Indian Pudding.—Scald one-fourth of a cup of cornmeal in a quart of milk, add a half a cup of sugar and a half cup of molasses, a little salt and ginger and one tablespoonful of butter. Bake slowly three hours. More milk may be added as it cooks away. A half cup of suet may be sprinkled over the top to form a rich crust.

Silver and Gold Custards.—Beat the whites of four eggs slightly with one-fourth of a cup of sugar, add a speck of salt and a few drops of almond extract and a pint of hot milk. Strain into molds and steam or bake until firm.

Scald another pint of milk, add to the beaten yolks of four eggs, cook till it begins to thicken, and add one-fourth of a cup of sugar, and strain; flavor when cold. Turn the white custard from the molds and serve with the yellow around them.

Cottage pudding, which is just a plain cake served hot with a lemon or vanilla sauce, is easy and quickly made and well liked by almost all people.

Fruit juices may be used for sauce for cottage pudding. Thicken with flour, add butter and serve hot.

HAVE YOU SUSPECTED YOUR KIDNEYS?

There are two ways to tell whether you have weak kidneys. The first is through the pains in the back and other outward signs. The second is by examination of the kidney secretions. That is why physicians make such a careful examination when you apply for insurance, and if there is any sign of kidney trouble you are surely rejected. Kidney disease is so dangerous that it is a bad mistake to overlook or neglect it, and if pain in the back, recurring headaches, or a fretful, nervous, tired condition makes you suspect some kidney trouble, take the trouble to watch the kidney secretions. Look for any of the following signs:

- More or less than three and one half pints passed daily.
- Too dark or too pale a color.
- Passes too frequent, profuse, or much reduced, or the acid and painful, sandy, gritty or cloudy contents.
- Fast or only-looking layer which gathers on the surface when you try to stand, or a jelly-like thickening.
- Staining of the linen or bed cover.

Temporary changes may occur for a time from things eaten, but your kidneys are out of order and need help. Neglect may prove Doan's Kidney Pills correct and regulate the kidney secretions, stimulate and heal weak kidneys, and thereby give away backache, rheumatic pain, nervousness, diz-

IN BED FIVE MONTHS.

Cured After Doctors Gave Up Hope.

J. L. Richardson, Red Key, Indiana, says: "A wrong diagnosis of my case caused me six months of terrible pain. When I had been in bed helpless for three months I was a mere bag of bones. The trouble began with pain in the back, and after a few weeks of it my nerves gave way completely and my eyes got bad. I had frequent dizzy spells, felt tired always, and never seemed to get enough sleep. I almost went crazy. The action of the kidneys kept getting worse, and the urine harder to pass. Twenty-four hours would go by without a passage. The doctors began to take the water from me with a siphon. They did this once a day for fifty days. On Christmas Day, five years ago, my doctor told me that my time was about up. I lived through the day and night, contrary to expectations, and the next day a friend gave me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I used it and was cured and aged to continue. When I had taken five boxes I got out of bed. I kept on until entirely well, and from that day to this—five years—I have never had a twinge in my back."

PUBLIC FUNDS AID THE WORK

Gratifying Sign That the People Are Awake to Value of Fight Against Tuberculosis.

Compared with the expenditures for tuberculosis work in 1910, those of the past year are practically the same in the aggregate, but they are almost double those of 1909. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in its third annual statement, points out, however, what it considers more significant than the aggregate expenditures, namely, that the percentage of money spent for public funds is greater in 1911 than ever before, being 68.2 per cent of the total. In 1909 only 53.5 per cent of the total expenditures was from public funds, and in 1910 it had increased to 62.2 per cent. In 1911 over $39,500,000 of the $14,500,000 spent was from federal, state, municipal or county funds. Since the chief work of the anti-tuberculosis associations is to urge the public authorities to provide for tuberculosis patients, and thus to assume the responsibility for stamping out this disease, the increased percentage of public money is regarded as a very favorable sign of progress.

Appropriations of over $10,000,000 for tuberculosis work in 1912 have already been made by state legislatures and municipal and county bodies. Of this sum about $4,700,000 is from state appropriations, and about $5,700,000 for county and municipal purposes. In addition to these sums, the federal government spends about $1,600,000 every year, supporting its several special tuberculosis sanatoria.

A LEAKAGE THAT CAN BE EASILY STOPPED.

How many people who read this article, realize the weighty influence of one little necessity of life—baking powder—on the cost of living. Yet it is a leakage that can easily be stopped if the housewife will only pay a little more attention to the choice of her baking powder. Some think there is economy in buying the cheap "Big Can" Baking Powders. These Baking Powders are not always uniform, and sometimes prove failures in the baking, and the result is that there is lost in one or two spoiled bakings that you spend on baking powder in the whole year. The cheap "Big Can" Baking Powders should be avoided.

On the other hand, many housewives feel that a baking powder is of no value unless they pay 30 cents a pound for it. "Trust" brands, which are a mistake, as the best baking powder that can be made can be sold for 25¢ per pound if the manufacturer is satisfied with a reasonable profit. There is one brand on the market that meets these requirements. It is called "MURINE BAKING POWDER" and is recommended by leading physicians and chemists, and used in millions of homes, and given the Highest Award at the World's Pure Food Exposition.

Millions for Anti-Tuberculosis Work.

Money to the amount of over $14,500,000 was spent in anti-tuberculosis work during the year 1911, according to the third annual statement of expenditures in the war against consumption issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The statement is based largely on reports received from anti-tuberculosis agencies in all parts of the United States.

By far the largest item of expense was that for treatment in sanatoria and hospitals, and for the erection of institutions of this kind, over $11,800,000 being spent for this purpose alone. Dispensaries for the examination and treatment of tuberculosis spent $850,000, and associations and committees in their educational campaign against tuberculosis spent $500,000. The remaining $1,300,000 was spent for treatment in open-air schools, prisons and hospitals for the insane, and also for the work of state and local boards of health against tuberculosis.

The Farmer's Son's Great Opportunity

Now's the Time

Wheat, Oats and Barley, as well as corn, clover, and alfalfa, are causing a steady advance in price. Government reports show that the number of acres in Western Canada from the U. S. was 50 per cent larger in 1910 than the previous year. Farmers have paid for their land out of the proceeds of the crop. Free Homesteads of 160 acres are now being offered at $3.00 an acre. Fine climate, good soil, excellent railway facilities, low freight rates, wood, water and power abundant. What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid eructations in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. What Causes Your Indigestion?

Ask your doctor if tannic acid is good for your trouble—and profit by what he tells you by stopping the use of tea, coffee, chocolate, cocoa and all drinks that contain tannic acid, oxalic acid, caffeine, and theine.

Instead use BONANO which is delicious and healthful.

We guarantee BONANO to be a pure fruit product and a delicious table beverage that contains no tannic acid or anything harmful and a very large amount of real food value.

When you think of tea, coffee, chocolate and cocoa—think of tannic acid, oxalic acid, caffeine and theine and their injurious effects—indigestion, constipation, nervous prostration.

When you think of BONANO—think of a pure wholesome fruit product that is palatable and nutritious, a gentle laxative and a sinew and strength builder, containing nothing but what is beneficial.

"There is a distinction and a difference."

A large red can of BONANO sells for 25 cents—and makes 75 large cups of a drink that tastes good in your mouth—that's only one-third of one cent a cup.

You can make it in a minute.

Ask your Grocer to supply you at once. He has it or can get it—or send us a 2 cent stamp for sample that makes ten cups.

ALEXANDER POPE WAS RIGHT

The proper study of mankind is man.—Alexander Pope.

MR POPE, who was writing poetry about 200 years ago, was exactly right in his declaration quoted above. If you would study man you must study his deeds.

WHERE WILL YOU LEARN ABOUT THEM EXCEPT IN THE NEWSPAPERS?

These accurate histories of the world's affairs tell what man is doing everywhere, whether it is flying through the air, stealing a million dollars, laboring for world peace, plotting to overthrow a government or to establish one, committing a murder or trying to escape punishment for one already done, making a political speech or watching the antics of a comet.

NOTHING THAT IS INTERESTING OR IMPORTANT ESCAPES THE DRAGNET OF THE NEWSPAPERS.

News that literally costs thousands of dollars to collect is printed and given to the reader for a cent or two. Can you, can any one, afford to miss such a mental treat and financial bargain?

MANY ARE ANXIOUSLY AWAITING THEIR RETURN

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALISTS

WILL BE IN KEWASKUM AT REPUBLICAN HOUSE FROM 10 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

Friday, January 19th

ONE DAY ONLY

These are the Doctors you no doubt have read about. While you may not know them personally, you may know them by reputation or through some of your neighbors, they have treated.

The remarkable success of these talented physicians in the treatment of chronic diseases has aroused much enthusiasm in the Northwest.

This is said to be and no doubt is true, one of the most able specialists organization of its kind in this section of the country, and must be a successful one from the many good results they are getting.

The United Doctors licensed by the state of Wisconsin for the treatment of deformities and nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on the consultation, examination and advise free.

It is specially requested that married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

The name, UNITED DOCTORS is what it implies, a union of specialists twelve in number, that have gotten together for the treatment of chronic and nervous diseases. Not to be understood that they treat all diseases that the human body is heir to. They mean to be very careful in selecting and taking cases as they want good results which means good returns in the way of their patients recommending them to others.

They estimate that over eighty per cent of the patients now coming to them, come from recommendations of those they have treated.

They do not treat any acute disease whatever, their time and attention being devoted to such diseases as follows:

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, weak lungs, and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors or goiter. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons" by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these diseases.

BELOW ARE THE NAMES of a few of the many patients that have many good things to say for the United Doctors.

BUY THAT BOY A WATCH

- ☞ You owe him one. Ask him if you don't.
- ☞ A watch of his very own will help to make him manly.
- ☞ It might stimulate him to study harder too. And he can't be late and say he didn't know what time it was. Thus it will teach him to be prompt.
- ☞ And promptness is something that's good for everyone.
- ☞ Sure, get him a watch. Let it be a boy's watch, such as we have to show you.
