Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The attempts at both places were repulsed by the police, who used their clubs freely. Another crowd of over a thousand gathered at the Washington mills, where they had several minor scrimmages with the police. At the Pacific cotton mills a body of strike sympathizers had worked themselves into a fighting mood and had just emerged from an assault on the mill gates when the Washington mill crowd arrived. Soon all was in an uproar. The police then charged the mob and fired in the air. The shots did not scare the strikers, and orders were then given to turn on the water in the mill hose. At this time guardsmen under Captain Randlett appeared, the riot act was read and the mob dispersed with a bayonet charge.

MANY a farmer will tell you he never knew how much bigger crops he could raise until FARM JOURNAL put it into his head to work more with his BRAINS.

This great little paper is always nudging farmers up to make more money. Pleasant but persistent, it works at you year after year to raise larger crops, finer horses and cows, heavier hogs, bigger apples and potatoes, and shows you just HOW to do it.

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim-milk") is 34 years old, and has over 750,000 subscribers, more than any other farm paper published. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the nost intelligent and prosperous country people in the world, and are always saying FARM JOURNAL helped to make them so. It is clean, brief, "boiled down," full of practical wisdom, gumption, fun and sunshine. It believes in order, thrift, kindness, comfort, and happiness, and it has old Peter Tumbledown always ready to show how NOT to run a farm.

"Our Folks" have comfortable homes, modern buildings and machinery, tight roofs and fences, gates that swing free, sound horses, well-dressed and happy wives and children, and money in bank. Their potatoes are the largest, their milk tests the highest, their hogs weigh most, their fruit brings the best prices. Live farmers everywhere find this out, and they want the FARM JOURNAL. Subscribe Now, and get with the paper any of these famous

Money-making Secrets.

These great illustrated booklets are all stories of success in farming, and they tell you the METHODS that won it.

Poultry Secrets is a unique collection of the secret methods and discoveries of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, suppressed for years, the Curtiss method of securing 50 per cent. more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, with priceless secrets of mating, breeding, feed and feeding, how to produce winter eggs, and many others of great value long jealously guarded, now first published.

Horse Secrets "plugging" cospine and condition "bishoping,"

Corn Secrets is the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King." It tells how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn that is rich in protein and other valuable stockfeeding elements. Wonderful photographic pictures make every process plain. The MILLION EGG-FARM tells how J. M. Foster, in the

New Jersey pine-belt, makes over $18,000 n year, mainly from eggs. If you keep thickens, read about the "Rancocas Unit" and learn how Foster FEEDS his hens. THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced inlf a ton of hutter each per year (140 pounds is the average). An eye-opener or dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn your good ones into GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your back-yard supply DUCK DOLLARS tells of the great Weber duck-farm near Boston. Every year they sell over 40,000 ducklings at a net profit of 50 cents each. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainsman, is looking for roaming war parties of savages. He sees a wagon team at full gallop pursued by men on pones. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and departed. He searches the witchins finding papers and a locket with a woman's portrait. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder, his accuser being a ruffian named Black Bart. A negro companion in his cell named Neb tells him that he knew the Keiths in Virginia. Nebrays one of the murdered men was John Sibley, the other Gen, Willis Waite, formerly a Confederate officer. The plainsman and Neb escape, and later the fugitives come upon a cabin and find its occupant to be a young girl, whom Keith thinks he saw at Carson City. The girl explains that she is in search of a brother, who had descrited from the army, and that a Mr. Hawley induced her to come to the cabin while he sought her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him as Black Bart. There is a terrific hattle in the darkened room in which Keith is victor. Horses are appropriated, and the girl who says that her name is Hope, joins in the escape. Keith explains his situation and the fugitives make for Fort Larned, where the girl is left with the hotel landlady. Miss Hope tells that she is the daughter of General Waite. Keith meets an old friend, Dr. Fairbain. Keith meets the brother of Hope Waite, under the assumed name of Fred Willoughby, and becomes convinced that Black Bart has some plot involving the two. Hope learns that Gen. Waite, who was thought murdered. Is at Sheridan, and goes there, where she Is mistaken for Christie Maclaire, the Carson City singer. Keith meets the real Christie Maclaire and finds that Black Bart has convinced her that there is a mystery in her life which he is going to turn to her advantage. The plainsman tells Hope Waite of her resemblance to Christie Maclaire. They decide that Fred Willoughby may hold the key to the situation.

A group was gathered about the body in the rain, a single lantern glimmering. Two or three men had started down the passageway, and Keith met them, revolvers drawn and suspicious.

"Who are you?" snapped one sharply. "Were you doing all that shooting yonder?"

Keith recognized the voice, thankful that he did so.

"I fired at the fellow, but he got away onto the prairie. I reckon you couldn't have done any better, Bill." "Jack Kelth!" and Hickock's voice had a new tone, his hand dropping on the other's shoulder. "Never was gladder to meet a fellow in my life. Boys, this is an old deputy of mine down in Dodge. When he gives up chasin' a murderer there isn't much use our tryin'. Let's go back, and find out how bad the fellow is hurt. While we're feelin' our way, Jack, you might tell us what you know about this af-

"it was just the flash of a gun, and the man dropped," Keith explained, briefly. "I was ten or a dozen feet behind, and the fellow fired from under the wagon there. He must have been laying for some one—I reckon maybe, it was me.'

"You? Then it's likely you have some notion who he was?"

"Well, if I have, Bill," and Keith's lips were set tight, "I'm not liable to tell you. If it's the lad I think likely, I'll attend to the case myself. You understand-this is my personal af-

Hickock nodded, his hand again pressing the other's shoulder.

A Hold-Up

An Oppressive Trust.

Before the Coffee Roasters' Association, in sescion at Chicago on Thursday, Thomas J. Webb, of Chicago, charged that there is in existence a coffee combine which is "the most monstrous imposition in the history of human commerce."

There is very slight exaggeration about this statement. It comes very close to being literally true. There is a coffee combine in Brazil, from which country comes the bulk of the coffee used in the United States, which is backed by the government of Brazil and financed by it, which compels American consumers, as Mr. Webb said. "to pay famine prices for coffee when no famine

The worst thing about this is that the consumers of the United States have been compelled to put up the money through which this combine, to further cinch them, has been made effective. There were formerly revenue duties imposed upon all coffee entering the United States. Those taxes were denounced as an imposition upon the people; as taxing the poor man's breakfast table, and the like. The taxes were removed. Immediately thereafter Brazil imposed an export duty upon coffee up to the full amount of the former customs taxes in this country. The revenue which formerly went into the treasury of the United States was diverted to the treasury of Brazil. The poor man's breakfast coffee continued to cost him the same old price.

But this was only the commencement. The "valorization" plan was evolved in Brazil. Through this plan the government, using the revenues derived from the export duties for the purposes, takes all of the surplus crop in a season of large yields and holds it off the market, thus keeping the supply down to the demands of the market and permitting the planters to receive a much higher price than they would otherwise have done.

The United States consumes more Brazilian coffee than does the rest of the world. We are the best customers of Brazil, and Brazil buys little from us. Now Brazil is promoting, financing and maintaining a trust designed, and working effectively for the purpose, to compel American consumers to pay an exorbitant price for the coffee they use. What is the remedy?-Seattle Post-Intelligencer-Nov. 19, 1911.

Standard statistics of the coffee trade show a falling off in sales during the last two years of over two hundred million pounds. Authenticated reports from the Postum factories in this city show a tremendous increase in the sale of Postum in a like period of time.

While the sales of Postum invariably show marked increase year over year, the extraordinary demand for that wellknown breakfast beverage during 1911 is very likely due to a public awakening to the oppression of the coffee trust.
Such an awakening naturally disposes

the multitude who suffer from the ill effects of coffee drinking to be more receptive to knowledge of harm which so often comes as a result of the use o the drug-beverage, coffee.—Battle Creek, Evening News.—Dec. 19, 1911.

President Submits an Economy and Efficiency Message.

RESULTS OF INQUIRY TOLD

Special Commission Found Extravagant and Antiquated Methods in Government Work and Many Unnecessary Offices.

Washington. - President Taft has submitted to congress a special message on economy and efficiency in the government service. The message in part is as

To the Senate and House of Represema-

I submit for the information of the congress this report of progress made in the inquiry into the efficiency and economy of he methods of transacting public busiment service have been demanded with increasing insistence for a generation. Real economy is the result of efficient organization. By perfecting the organizaat less expense. A reduction in the to-tal of the annual appropriations is not in itself a proof of economy, since it is often accompanied by a decrease in effi-ciency. The needs of the nation may demand a large increase of expenditure, yet to keep the total appropriation within the expected reveneu is necessary to the maintenance of public credit.

Upon the president must rest a large share of the responsibility for the demands made upon the treasury for the current administration of the executive branch of the government. Upon the congress must rest responsibility for those grants of public funds which are for other purposes.

Reason for the Inquiry. Recognizing my share of responsibility or efficient and economical administraon, I have endeavored during the past years, with the assistance of heads departments, to secure the best results. As one of the means to this end requested a grant from congress to make my efforts more effective.

An appropriation of $100,000 was made June 25, 1910, to enable the president to nquire into the methods of transacting he public business of the executive departments and other government establishments and to recommend to congress such legislation as may be necessary to carry into effect changes found to be de-sirable that cannot be accomplished by executive action alone. I have been given this fund to enable me to take action to make specific recommendations with respect to the details of transacting the business of an organization whose activities are almost as varied as those of the entire business world. The operaest of every person living within the jurisdiction of the United States. Its orgenization embraces stations and centers of work located in every city and in Its gross expenditures amount to nearly 1,60,000,000 annually. Including the persyinel of the military and naval establishments, more than 400,000 persons are reasized to do the work unposed by law with the executive branch of the govern-

Classification of Local Officers, In my recent message to the congress reged consideration of the necessity of tacking in the classified service all of the ocal officers under the departments of the treasury, the interior, postoffice and commerce and labor.

The next step which must be taken is to require of heads of bureaus in the de-partments at Washington, and of most of the local officers under the departments, qualifications of capacity similar to those now required of certain heads of bureau and of local officers. The extension of the merit system to these officers and a needed readjustment of salaries will have important effects in securing greater cononly and efficiency.

In the first place, the possession by the noumbents of these positions of requisite qualifications must in itself prmote effi-In the second place, the removal of local officers from the realm of political patronage in many cases would reduce the pay roll of the field services. At the present time the incumbents of many of these positions leave the actual performance of many of their duties to deputies and assistants. The government often pays two persons for doing work that could easily be done by one. What is the loss to the government cannot be stated but that it is very large cannot be denied, when it is remembered how numerous are the local officers in the postal, customs, internal revenue, public lands, and other field services of the government. In the third place, so long as local of-ficers are within the sphere of political patronage it is difficult to consider the question of the establishment or discontinuance of local offices apart from the Finally, the view that these various offices are to be filled as a result of political considerations has for its consequence the necessity that the president and members of congress devote to mat-ters of patronage time which they should devote to questions of policy and admin-Superannuation.

Attention has been directed in recent years to the need of a suitable plan of retiring the superannuated employes in the executive civil service. In the belief that it is desirable that any steps toward the establishment of such a plan shall be taken with caution, I instructed the commission to make an inquiry first into the conditions at Washington. inquiry has been directed to the ascertainment of the extent to which super-annuation now exists and to the consideration of the availability of the vari-ous plans which either have been proposed for adoption in this country or have actually been adopted in other countries. I shall submit, in the near future, for the consideration of the congress a plan for the retirement of aged employes in the civil service which will safeguard the interests of the government and at the same time make reasonable provision for the needs of those who have given the best part of their lives to the service of the state.

Business Methods. In every case where technical pro cesses have been studied it has been dem-onstrated beyond question that large economies may be effected. The subjects first approached were those which lie close to each administrator, viz, office practices. An illustration of the possi-bilities within this field may be found in the results of the inquiry into the methods of handling and filing correspondence. Every office in the government has reported its methods to the commission. These reports brought to light the fact that present methods were quite in he reverse of uniform. Some offices follow the practice of briefing all correspondence; some do not. Some have flat flles; others fold all papers before filing. Some use press copies; others retain only carbon copies.

Need for Labor-Saving Office Devices The use of labor-saving office devices in he service has been made the subject of special inquiry. An impression prevails that the government is not making use f mechanical devices for economizing abor to the same extent as are efficiently managed private enterprises. A study has been made of the extent to which devices of this character are now being employed in the several branches of the government and the opportunities that exist for their more general use. The efforts of the commission resulted also in the adoption by several bureaus or departments of improved methods of do-ing copying. The amount of copy work heretofore done by hand each year in the many offices is estimated to aggregate several hundred thousand dollars. The commission exhibited, at its offices, ap-plizances that were thought to be especialadapted to this kind of government Following these demonstration: methods of copying were introduced which have brought about a saving of over 10 per cent. In offices where used for six months. This change in one small han offset the whole cost of my inquiry. Waste In the Distribution of Public Documents. foirz tatiede the office, one of the vestigated is the distribution of depart-ment documents. This is a subject with which both the congress and adminis tration heads are familiar. The prevailing practice in handling departmental publications is to have them manufac-tured at the government printing office each job when completed is delivered to the department; here the books or pamphlets are wrapped and addressed: then are assorted and prepared for shipment through the mails; from the postoffice they are sent to the railroad station, which is only a few steps from the gov-ernment printing office, when they started. The results of this laborious and the best mechanical equipment impracticable and to waste each year not less than a quarter of a million dollars of government funds in useless handling, to say nothing of the indirect loss due to lack of proper co-ordination. Wasteful Use of Properties and Equipment.

The use of equipment is a matter which also has been investigated. Up to the present time this investigation has been In the main confined to the subject of electric lighting. The government pays over $600,000 per year for electric current; It has made large capital outlays for wir-ing and fixtures. With the increasing demands in many buildings the present equipment is taxed to its limit and if present methods are continued much of this wiring must be done over; many places employees are working at a great physical disadvantage, due to adequate and improper lighting, and thereby with reduced efficiency. In every place where the inquiry has been conducted it appears that there is large waste: that without the cost of rewir ing, simply by giving proper attention to lamps and reflectors, the light efficiency at points where needed may be much in creased and the cost of current reduced from 30 to 60 per cent. Other inquiries ertles and equipment are contemplated found not only in the possibility of vermaterially reducing the direct cost of gov-erament trading, but also in insuring to he service materials, supplies and equipnent which are better adapted to its ourposes. One of the results of indefinleness of specifications is to impose contract conditions which make it extra hazardous for persons to enter into contractual relations. This not only deprives the government of the advantage groad competition, but causes it to pay n added margin in price to vendors whe must carry the risk. Excessive Cost of Travel.

One of the first steps taken toward onstructive work was the reclassificaion of the expenditures for the year 1910 by objects. The foundation was thus bjects. made for the investigation of government trading practices. While it was recog-nized that this large field could not be cover&1 within a year except at enormous cost, the subjects of "Transportation of persons" and "Subsistence while in travel status" were taken as concrete examples. nent was found to be about $12,000,000. It vas also found that the government employees were traveling in practically every way that was open to the public; it was further found that although the government was the largest user of transportation, it was buying railroad tickets on a less favorable basis than would be possible if the subject of traveling ex-penditures were systematically handled from the point of view of the government as a whole. The form of ticket most oft en used between such points as New York, Philadelphia and Washington was the single-trip, first-class ticket. In two departments definite tests have been made in the use of mileage boks and in each practically the same result has been reported, viz., an average saving of a little over one-half of one cent per mile.

Better Methods for Purchasing.

Through a long period of years and by numberous laws and orders there has grown up a procedure governing public advertising and contracting that is more burdensome and expensive in some cases than is necessary. The procedure is not uniform in the various departments; it is not uniform in many cases for the different services in the same department To make uniform the requirements so far as practicable will be in the interest of economy and efficiency and bring about that simplicity that will secure the largest opportunity for contractors to bid for government work, and will secure for the government the most favorable prices obtained by any purchaser.

The Budget.

The United States is the only great nation whose government is operated with-out a budget. This fact seems to be more striking when it is considered that budgets and budget procedures are the out-growth of democratic doctrines and have had an important part in the development of modern constitutional rights. The American commonwealth has suffered much from irresponsibility on the part of its governing agencies. The constitutional purpose of a budget to to make gov nment responsive to public opinion and responsible for its acts.

The Budget as an Annual Program. A budget should be the means for geting before the legislative branch, before the press, and before the people a definite annual program of business to be finan-cwd; it should be in the nature of a prospectus both of revenues and expendi-tures; it should comprehend every relation of the government to the people whether with reference to the raising of revenues or the rendering of service. In many foreign countries the annual budget program is discussed with special reference to the revenue to be raised, the thought being that the raising of revenue bears more direct relation to welfare than does government expenditure. Around questions of source of revenue political parties have been organized, and on such questions voters in the United States have taken sides since the first revenue law was proposed. Public-Welfare Questions,

The principal government objects which the people of the United States are interested include: The national defense; the protection of persons and property; the promotion of friendly relations and the protection of American interests abroad, the regulation of commerce and industry; the promotion of agriculture, fisheries forestry and min ommerce, and banking; the promotion of transportation and communication; the postal service, including postal savings and parcels post; the care for and utilization of the public domain; the promoion of education, art, science and recreation, the promotion of the public health; the care and education of the Indians and other wards of the nation.

These are public-welfare questions in which I assume every citizen has a vital interest. I believe that every member of congress, as an official representative of the people, each editor, as a non-official representative of public opinion, each citizen, as a beneficiary of the trust imposed on officers of the government, should be able readily to ascertain how nuch has been spent for each of these ourposes; how much has been appropriated for the current year; how much the administration is asking for each of these purposes for the next fiscal year.

Furthermore, each person interested should have hid before him a clear, welldigested statement showing in detail whether moneys appropriated have been economically spent and whether each di-vision or office has been efficiently run. This is the information which should be available each year in the form of a idget and in detail accounts and reports supporting the budget.

Continuance of the Commission.

I ask the continuance of this commission on economy and efficiency of the excellent beginning which has been nade toward the reorganization of the machinery of this government on busiis entirely non-partisan in character and ought to apply to every citizen who wishes to give effectiveness to popular overnment, in which we feel a just pride. The work further commends itself for the reason that the cost of organization and work has been carefully considered at every point. Three months were taken consideration of plans before the inquiry was begun; six months were then spent in preliminary investigations before the commission was organized; before March 3, 1911, when I asked for a continuation of the original appropriation for the current year, only $12,000 had been pent.

The expenditure for the inquiry during the present fiscal year is at the rate of $130,000. The mass of information which must be collected, digested and summarized pertaining to each subject of inquiry is enormous. From the results obned it is evident that every dollar which is spent in the prosecution of the nquiry in the future will result in mani-old savings. Every economy which has been or will be effected through changes organization or method will inure to be west of the government and of the ople in increasing measure through the ears which follows. It is clearly the art of wisdom to provide for the comallable during the current year, and my opinion the appropriation should be creased to $200,000, and an additional mount of $50,000 should be provided for he publication of those results, which ill be of continuing value to officers of government and to the people.

"About four years ago I broke out with sores on my arms like boils. After two months they were all over my body, some coming, and some going away. In about six months the boils quit, but my arms, neck and body broke out with an itching, burning rash. It would burn and itch, and come out in pimples like grains of wheat. I was in a terrible condition: I could not sleep or rest. Parts of my flesh were raw, and I could scarcely bear my clothes on. I could not lie in bed in any position and rest. In about a year the sores extended down to my feet. Then I suffered agony with the burning, itching sores. I could hardly walk and for a long time

I could not put on socks. "All this time I was trying everything I could hear of, and had the skill of three doctors. They said it was eczema. I got no benefit from all this. I was nearly worn out, and had given up in despair of ever being cured when I was advised by a friend to try Cuticura Remedies. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and used exactly as directed. I used the Cuticura Remedies constantly for four months, and nothing else, and was perfectly cured. Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or women in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a- million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of

Look at Your Complexion

Is it sallow and yellow?

Do you have to use cosmetics?

Such a complexion-or lack of it-denotes something wrong with your physical condition.

Have you considered why?

A bad complexion is the result of poor elimination, and this is due to the use of tea, coffee, chocolate or cocoa.

The TANNIC ACID and other harmful elements found in tea, chocolate, coffee and cocoa are the sure and direct road to a bad digestion and a poor complexion.

Why use them, then, when you can get BONANO, a pure fruit product containing NO TANNIC ACID or other harmful properties, but much real food value.

BONANO is made exclusively from fruit and is, therefore, a mild laxative which gently regulates the system and assists elimination. This results in the beautiful complexion of youth and health.

When you think of tea, coffee, chocolate and cocoa, THINK OF TANNIC ACID, poor elimination, bad health and a spoiled complexion.

When you think of BONANO, THINK of a pure, wholesome fruit product, nutritious and healthful—the clear, rosy complexion that goes with it—and always remember that BONANO is deliciously palatable and costs only about one-third as much as coffee.

BONANO is easily and quickly made—BOIL ONE MINUTE.

The Greatest Offer Ever Made to Stock Feeders Dr. Hess Stock Food on 3 Months Trial

From the manufacturer's written guarantee and the untiring praise it is receiving from our customers we are doubly sure that it is, without a single exception, the best Stock Food or tonic ever produced and at a price that you can afford to feed it regularly.

Now here is our proposition: We will supply you with sufficient Dr. Hess Stock Food to feed your animals twice a day for three months; we will supply you with 25 lbs. or one too, then if at the end of three months you are not absolutely sure that it has paid you to feed Dr Hess Stock Food, that is, if your animals ted for market have not been more thrifty, your other stock in better state of health, return to us the empty package and we will refund every cent vou

Here are the prices: 500 lbs. for $25.00, or 100 lbs. at the same rate $5.00, or 25 lb. pail at $1.60.

There is not a farmer or feeder in this community that can afford to miss this liberal proposition

Mark you, you are to be the judge and jury. JOHN MARX, KEWASKUM

Do You Know Diamonds?

We mean can you judge of their lustre, radiance, purity by looking at them? We thought not.

I Only an expert can do that. Only a person who handles them all the time can really judge these gems.

Why not buy diamonds that have already been judged? They are here. ¶ We've an extra nice display of diamonds.

¶ And they were all chosen for their purity and beauty.

Everyone is guaranteed by us to be what we say when we talk about it.

Let us show you. MATH. SCHLAEFER.
