GIVES INTERESTING TALK

Mr. Guth Speaks on the New Income Tax Law to a Large Audience at the Village Hall

Income Tax Assessor L. D. Guth gave a very interesting talk in regard to the new income tax law in the village hall last Saturday evening. Mr. Guth was listened to by a large number of tax payers. Mr. Guth also explained every question on the income tax blank. The time for the return of the blank properly filled out has been extended to April 15th instead of April 1st, as at first called for. Mr. Guth also reports that returns are being received in large numbers every day.

The Townsend concert company will appear in Groeschel's hall on Thursday evening, April 4th. This will be the last number of the Citizens Lecture Course.

Record of Dairy Test

The Commonwealth: Once more am able to report to you and our readers that I have conducted an ability or capacity test on cows in the vicinity of Ripon, the results of which are, saying the least, very gratifying. The herd that I was with, supervising this test, was that of Mr. Peter Hammen, who has been in the business of breeding pure bred stock for some years, but never before this has he made an attempt to have their capacity measured.

The records made by the cows undergoing test are as follows:

Cow	Milk	Butter
Susie Wa Wa DeKol Burke 5969	48.2	18.18
Rose Wa Wa Mechtild 7600	47.2	20.85
May Wa Wa DeKol Burke 8467	55.6	24.92
Maud Wa Wa 21 4759	45.1	19.15

The amounts thus stated above represent the total produced for seven consecutive days, and by dividing either one of the above quantities by seven it will bring the amounts into a very good light, showing you what every cow produced per day. May, for instance, you will find produced 83.6 lbs. of milk a day, or the maximum amount of milk she produced in any one day under test was 85.6 lbs., a large amount indeed. Yes, I can even go farther and say that, though I have tested and weighed the milk of several hundred cows under test, this is the largest amount that I have ever weighed for one cow. Even so, is the production of butter, though the figures represent nothing phenomenal, yet we find by subjecting them to a slight arithmetical process, that the four cows averaged 20,863 lbs for seven days, or in other words each cow produce a just a trifle less than 3 lbs of butter per day.

Now, does not that indicate a reduced cost of production, consequently, a reduction of the high cost of living? I think so, and if you will give this a little more thought, supported by the figures given above, you will undoubtedly agree with me that a good cow can be very instrumental in solving this problem.

Respectfully yours,
John M. Kroll,
Supervisor of Dairy Tests.

Towns to Vote on State Aid

The towns in Wisconsin in their annual meetings this spring will have an opportunity to vote whether they will build any roads or bridges in 1913 under the new State Aid Law.

The law provides that if a town wishes to vote a tax of four hundred dollars or over, the county shall provide an equal amount and the state an equal amount. This money is to be spent in permanently improving either by stoning, graveling, or grading as is voted by the electors of the town, a portion of the county system of highways lying within that town, which portion is also selected by the electors of the town.

If bridge improvements are voted the minimum tax is two hundred and fifty dollars, to be met by an equal amount from the county and one half as much from the state. Bridges built must be on the system of highways within the town voting the money.

The new law gives towns the opportunity of getting aid from villages and cities for building those main traveled highways which are the greatest burden upon the town. The cities and villages are also benefited by the greater ease of travel and the consequent increase in business and social activity.

About five hundred towns in the state voted for state aid at special or regular meetings last year and the money will be spent this year. It is expected that many more towns will vote this year, and that 1913 will see inaugurated an almost universal building of good roads under county supervision.

A Booster of Alfalfa

Campbellsport, Wis., March 16, 1912.

Wisconsin Advancement Ass'n. Germania Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

Gentlemen: If you have any farmer in doubt as to alfalfa being successfully grown in Wisconsin send them to me at Campbellsport, only 45 miles from Milwaukee.

I have eighty acres as perfect a stand as possible to get, fifty-five acres sown in 1910 and twenty-five in 1911—both dry seasons when either red or alsike clover failed nearly everywhere.

I shall sow twenty-five acres more this spring. Sowed twenty pounds, good pure Montana seed per acre on well prepared ground with either barley or oats. This year what I sow will be with rye. If at any time I can be of service to you in pushing this good work along will do so.

JAMES B. DAY.

Note—Mr. Day appears to differ with the Wisconsin Advancement Association on the point—he sows with a nurse crop. This association's announced policy of sowing without a nurse crop. Mr. Day lives in a section peculiarly suited to the promptest response of alfalfa seed and his experience should not unduly influence others. The experience of one man in one place should not be taken as an assurance to all men in all places.

Start alfalfa, but do it right—according to local conditions.

DUNDEE.

Miss Liddie Mattis left for her home in Hustisford.

Two Views of Jefferson

By Champ Clark

Jefferson was the profoundest philosopher that ever devoted his life to statesmanship and one of the greatest original thinkers the world as ever produced. If anyone deserves a monument he does.

By Woodrow Wilson:

"He (Washington) had taken Jefferson direct from France, where for five years he had been watching a revolution come on apace, hurried from stage to stage, not by statesmen who were masters in the art and practice of freedom, like those who had presided in the council of America, but by demagogues and philosophers rather; and the subtle art of that change had crept into the man's thought. He had come back a philosophical radical rather than a statesman. He had yet to learn, in the practical art of America, what plain and steady policy must serve him to win hard-headed men to his following; and Washington found him a guide who needed watching."

By Chicago American

Have you read the life of Jefferson? Do you know how hard he worked in France as an honest American, liberal, philosophical, true to his nation? Do you remember how he left office bankrupt?

It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for to-day I am working and believe I owe my life to this great lung and throat cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." 82 DEAD IN MINE

JED, W. VA. SHAFT SCENE OF GAS EXPLOSION AND INSTANT DEATH.

ELEVEN ESCAPE THE BLAST

Thirty-Three Bodies Recovered—Rescue Cars Rushed to Town—Five Men Killed When Sawmill Boiler Explodes.

Bluefield, W. Va.—Eighty-two men were killed by a gas explosion in the Jed Coal and Coke company's mine at Jed, W. Va., six miles from here. Only eleven men escaped alive and one of these died within an hour after being brought to the surface.

Thirty-three bodies have been located and the rescuers will have them out shortly.

When the explosion took place probably only the eleven men working at the foot of the shaft had a chance for their lives. They readily made their way up the cages which were not damaged.

Though some of the blades of the fans were shattered, they continued to operate, with the fortunate result that enough air was present to admit searching parties immediately.

Less than half an hour after the news of the explosion had been communicated to this place relief measures were being taken. Oxygen helmets and other appliances were rushed from the plant of the United States Steel and Coke company, a United States Steel corporation mine near by; a government mine rescue car en route to Huntington, W. Va., was turned back on telegraphic orders from Washington and another car was started from Pittsburgh. The first car reached here shortly after noon.

The experts immediately concluded that all in the mine were dead. State mine inspectors promptly organized rescue parties and began the exploration of levels. As the gases were cleared out and they began searches of the lower levels they immediately began to come upon miners who had been killed almost instantly. Other mines near by sent experienced foremen to lead hundreds of volunteer rescuers who flocked to the scene as the news spread about the countryside.

The mine was inspected only recently and pronounced safe.

Salsburg, Md.—Five men were killed and two others probably fatally injured when a boiler exploded in a sawmill operated by Hernalis L. Hearn, near here.

The explosion is thought to have been caused by lack of water in the boiler. The mill was blown to pieces.

MAY END COAL STRIKE

President White of the United Mine Workers to Ask 5 per cent. Increase.

Cleveland, O.—John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and the district presidents are considering a possible solution of the threatened strike of the bituminous miners of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

They purpose placing before the workers the plan to drop all their demands except that for an increase in pay and that they ask for five per cent. instead of ten.

This compromise has not been decided upon definitely, but it was considered one loophole by which there would be no strike on April 1 or a suspension of operations until new wage agreements can be effected.

The union officials are in doubt whether such a compromise would be approved at a referendum vote.

Members of the executive board and policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America are preparing to draw up recommendations for a referendum vote by the union.

The union officials say an agreeable adjustment of the bituminous dispute would have much influence in securing for the 175,000 anthracite miners a settlement of their differences.

SEND JUDGE SECOND BOMB

Package of Explosive Detected in Mails May Have Given Police a Clue.

New York.—Although it has become known that the police are in possession of a second bomb mailed to Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the court of general sessions, the trial judge in the Brandt case, detectives would not disclose the clues they are working to solve the mystery of the two attempts upon the life of the jurist.

The new bomb, which was detected in the mails and kept intact, coupled with threatening letters sent to De-lancey Nicol, attorney for Mortimer L. Schiff in the case of Folke E. Brandt, Schiff's former valet, are believed to have encouraged the police to renew efforts in running down the sender.

ROADS REFUSE RAISE

RAILWAYS REJECT DEMAND FOR AN ADVANCE. Employers Say Charges Would Block Improvements Which Are Required by Law.

New York.—Fifty railroads comprising practically all the lines east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western, refused to grant an increase in wages demanded by their locomotive engineers. The conference committee of railroad managers which has had under consideration the request of the engineers made its reply, which in substance is that the railroads are unable to bear the increased expense involved, "and find it evidently impossible to grant the request."

The engineers' demand, presented on January 22, was for an increase amounting to about 19 per cent. a year. The railroads' refusal is based on the assertion that they are financially unable to bear the increased expense.

The reply was presented at a joint meeting of committees representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and 12 presidents and general managers of the railroads.

The railroads pointed out that the proposed increase will amount to $7,553,792 annually. This increase, they say, would be equivalent to placing on their property a lien of $188,844,818 of 4 per cent. securities, which would have preference over first mortgage bonds, "and to just that extent would lessen the ability of the roads to make the improvements necessary to increase the efficiency of their service and to insure greater safety to the public and employees."

Taft Sweeps New York

President Victorious at the Primaries—Two Sets of Delegates Chosen at Indianapolis Meeting.

New York.—In the primaries held in New York state, former President Roosevelt carried three districts—the first (his own), embracing the counties of Nassau and Suffolk, where there was no contest, and the Westchester and Rockland County districts, controlled by National Committeeman Ward. Roosevelt also has one delegate from Brooklyn, William A. Prendergast, who as a known Roosevelt man, was left on the regular ticket.

President Taft carried the Utica district, the home of Vice-President Sherman, where there was a tight race. Roosevelt won only seven delegates out of ninety in the entire state.

The four delegates at large will be instructed for Taft.

Roosevelt men assert the primaries were improperly conducted, and will carry the matter to the national convention.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Two sets of delegates at large to the Republican national convention at Chicago were chosen here.

One quartet, elected in the state convention, is instructed to vote for the renomination of President Taft. The contesting delegation bears the Roosevelt stamp.

The Taft "big four" are ex-Vice-President Fairbanks, National Committeeman Harry S. New, ex-Congressman James E. Watson, and Joseph D. Oliver of South Bend.

The Roosevelt delegation, chosen in "rump" convention, includes ex-United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, Edwin M. Lee of Lawrenceburg, chairman of the Roosevelt Indiana campaign committee; Charles F. Campbell of Shelbyville, and Frederick Landis of Logansport.

Phoenix, Ariz.—The Arizona legislature has unanimously selected Marcus A. Smith of Tucson and Henry F. Ashurst of Prescott as representatives of this state in the upper house of congress. Smith and Ashurst were elected by popular vote at last election.

FARM TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Move Toward Providing Such Education in Illinois Made at Conference at the University.

Champaign, Ill.—An important conference of educators opened in the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois, the object of which is to start a movement toward providing for agricultural education in schools throughout the state. The conference was called by B. F. Harris, president of the Illinois Bankers' association and chairman of its committee on agriculture and vocational education.

In opening the session Mr. Harris said that while more than 40 per cent of the population of Illinois is in agriculture, that science is not taught in any of its country schools, except in a few instances, where it is done voluntarily. Many of the states require the teaching of agriculture. It is believed the conference will result in a report or bill for the legislature.

Tokyo Hears Dr. Fisher. Tokyo, Japan.—Dr. Daniel W. Fisher, president of Hanover college, Indiana, from 1879 to 1907, and father of Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the Interior in President Taft's cabinet, preached in Union church in Tokyo.

$50,000 Fire at Stockyards. Chicago.—Loss estimated at $50,000 was caused here by a fire which swept through part of the plant of the Mechanical Manufacturing company at West Thirty-ninth street and Packers avenue, in the stock yards.

BURIAL OF THE MAINE AT SUNSET

HERE is the first photograph of one of the most impressive and pathetic events in the history of the American navy. The shattered bulk of the battleship Maine, having been raised from the muddy bottom of Havana harbor, was towed with funeral pomp to a point where soundings showed the ocean floor to be a hundred fathoms deep. There, while a great nation hushed for a moment its sounds of industry and mighty guns boomed forth salvos, the once powerful war vessel sank again into the depths of the sea, its flag fluttering a farewell message to the world.

IN DECISIVE BATTLE

REBELS AND FEDERAL CLASH NEAR JIMINEZ AND HUNDREDS ARE KILLED.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

President Madero of Mexico Declares He Has Crushed Revolutionists—One of His Generals Commits Suicide in Face of Defeat.

Mexico City, Mex.—A decisive battle between Mexican federal troops and rebels in the vicinity of Jimenez has ended. This is reported from many sources. These reports, however, are contradictory as to the result. The Mexican government has received an official dispatch to the effect that the rebels were routed and President Madero in an interview last night said it meant the breaking of the rebel cause. He said rebel losses in killed and wounded would reach 1,000 men.

A special dispatch originating at Torreon sent to El Imparcial at Mexico City and bearing evidence of being authentic, reported that the federal army had been defeated and that rebel government soldiers were being mobilized there.

Both reports contain the fact that Gen. Gonzales Salas, former minister of war, committed suicide after a command had been routed. In a dispatch, he resigned his portfolio, taking the field, hoping to rehabilitate himself in the eyes of his countrymen.

"The government troops have scored a decisive victory," declared President Madero. "Our latest reports show a complete defeat of the rebels near Corralitos, their losses in dead, wounded and captured amounting to 1,000 of their men. It has been a hard won victory, but it means the breaking of the rebel power. For the rash act of General Salas we have only regret. It was not necessary."

The dispatch upon which the president based his assertion declared that after the troops directly under the command of Salas were thrown into confusion when the rebels sent a dynamite laden locomotive into a troop train, Gen. Trujillo Aubert, executed a flank move and General Telles came upon the rebels in pursuit of Salas from the rear. Aubert opened fire and Telles came to his assistance with artillery, turning what was first reported a federal defeat into a government victory.

5,000 Rioters Storm City Hall at Rock Island, Ill., and Battle With the Police Follows.

Rock Island, Ill.—One person was killed and thirteen wounded in a battle at Rock Island between the police and a mob of 5,000 enraged citizens.

The state militia, under Galesburg and Moline was ordered to the scene.

The riot was started by citizens inflamed by political speeches made at a mass meeting on the public square. The attacks were principally directed against Mayor Harry M. Schriver and Commissioner of Safety Archie Hart.

Arriving before the city hall the mob shouted for Schriver. The windows were smashed and the door battered. The police, armed with riot guns, appeared at the windows and commanded the mob to disperse. Hoots and jeers were the answers.

The mob surged forward and again the guns were fired, this time low, and three men fell.

Four more fell. One of these was Louis Orman, who was found to be dead.

WISCONSIN NEWS BRIEFS.

Oconomowoc.—Twelve hundred dollars, a record price for Wisconsin cows, was paid by Charles D. Eittinger of Tinley Park, Ill., to M. H. Trencher for Thelma Glenwood a national dairy show champion at the second sale of the Westmoreland Guernsey farm. Thelma Glenwood has a record of 750 pounds of butter for one year and has been a winner at the state fair several times. The sale realized between $15,000 and $20,000.

La Crosse.—Death brought no terror to the young daughters of Frank X. Weigel. Searching for their father, who had been despondent since the death of his wife six months ago, the girls, aged 12 and 14 years, found his dead body dangling from a beam in the woodshed. With rare courage they cut the rope and while the younger ran for help, the elder attempted to resuscitate him by means of artificial respiration.

Madison.—A series of aeroplane flights by Lincoln Beachey is being considered as one of the attractions for the 1912 state fair by the attractions committee which will make a report to the full board at Milwaukee on April 5.

Sheboygan.—No appointment to the position of city sealer of weights and measures has as yet been made by Mayor Diekmann, who states it is doubtful whether the eligible candidates would accept the appointment at the salary of $350 a year.

Marshfield.—Eighteen hundred dollars for band instruments is the expenditure made by the state for the Second Regiment band of Marshfield. Twenty-eight new instruments were secured.

La Crosse.—In answer to a query by the income tax assessor here, the tax commission rules that college students, if over 18 years, must not be included among children for whom an exemption of $200 is allowed. La Crosse parents may take the matter into court.

Madison.—The fish and game commission will test the efficacy of fishways installed by dam owners to promote the run of fish upstream and also conduct experiments to ascertain how many fry live after being transplanted from the hatcheries to natural waters.

Merrill.—Will Peterman has a White Leghorn hen which he wishes to enter in the big egg championship contest. His bird laid an egg which measures 5 1/2 inches one way and 8 inches another and weighs 4 ounces.

Neenah.—A large brick building has been purchased by the government and will be used in preparation for the construction of a new post-office building.

Tomahawk.—A farmers' institute will be held in this city on April 18, 20 and 21. It is planned to make the gathering the largest of its kind ever held in Lincoln county.

DRY-CLEAN WINDOW SHADES

Process Saves Laundry Bills and is Far Less Wearing on Articles in Question.

It is frequently desirable to have white Holland shades, when the dread of soiling the spotless surface, and the necessary laundering, will keep the ambitious home decorator from satisfying her desire. The laundry problem may be readily dispensed with, however. There is seldom any necessity for washing even the light and pure white shades in suds. The best plan is a dry cleaning that does not require the shade to be removed from the roller. When soiled spots and creases appear, simply lay the blind flat on the table, and go over the entire surface with bread crumbs from partially dry bread. There should be just enough moisture in the bread (day-old bread being about right and not too dry) to erase the soiled spots as the rubber eraser removes pencil marks. Rub carefully and thoroughly in the same manner as the eraser is used, and the shades will look quite fresh and clean, with less than half the work required in laundering.

For the dark shades, and those that seldom show spots or stains, it will still be necessary to give special attention to see that cracks do not appear from having them blown and twisted in high winds. When worn places appear at the bottom of the shade, which is in frequent use, and has constant exposure, the quickest way to renovate and give a new lease of life is to "turn" the shade. This is accomplished by removing the shade from the roller, placing an hem at the top, where the portion of the shade that is seldom unrolled is still bright and fresh. Then remove the stick in the bottom hem, place it in the hem and tack the original bottom of the shade to the roller. The old hem should remain, to provide a double layer, and additional strength, where the old portion of the shade is tacked to the roller.

METHODS OF COOKING EGGS

Appetizing in Conjunction With Mincéd Meat—May Be Baked in Gravy or Milk.

Eggs on Baked Mince—Make a good mince of any kind of meat you have, season it well and softening it with a little gravy. Put the shallow bake-dish containing it into the oven until the mince is hot through. Drop eggs on top of it—one for every person you wish the dish to serve—pour a little gravy over them and bake until the eggs are set.

Eggs Baked in Gravy—Cut rounds of toast to fit the bottoms of your napkins, or place a layer of toast in the bottom of a pie plate or shallow baking dish. Pour over the toast gravy enough to soften it, lay an egg on each round, fill up the dish with sufficient well seasoned gravy to cover the eggs and set in the oven until the eggs are baked and firm.

Eggs Baked in Milk—The preceding recipe may be followed, except that instead of the gravy you use milk, in which an onion has been cooked for ten minutes. Add a trifle of celery salt to the milk before pouring it over the eggs.

Do not salt oysters when cooking; wait until just before they come from the stove; otherwise they will shrivel and become tough.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ### Bishop Butler's Generosity.

So many examples of episcopal cupidity have been cited of late that the average reader may be excused for believing the bishop of a century or so ago to have been an incarnation of greed. But against the Luxemores, the Watsons and the Porcioueses may be set the saintly Butler, whose "Analogy" is still used as a text book for clerical examinations. Butler kept open house at Durham, where he dispensed hospitality with a lavish hand. On one occasion a man called at the palace soliciting a subscription for some charitable object. "How much money is there in the house?" asked Butler of his secretary. The secretary after investigation replied that there was £500. "Give it to him, then," replied the philosopher bishop, "for it is a shame that a bishop should have so much."—London Chronicle.

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Every farmer needs a rifle. Are the cattle well housed and fed? Keep the sheep healthy and vigorous. Feed for egg production should be rich in protein. You cannot get heavy egg laying without heavy feeding. To improve the dairy herd, keep the best, and sell the rest. Clover should be young to make pigs thrive at top notch. Judge not a hen by her beauty, but by the way she does her duty. Trap nests eliminate drones with accuracy from any flock of bees. Food plays an important part in the growth and development of the colt. Many young boars are ruined by being allowed to run in lots near the sows. If you intend sowing clover or alfalfa this spring get your seed right away. Clover is the greatest pasture for hogs—provided it is not allowed to mature. The successful feeding of poultry is among the most difficult of feeding problems. Most farmers have learned before this that it is expensive to haul green corn fodder. Rape seed is cheap, it germinates strongly and furnishes plenty of palatable forage. If a hog seems to be ailing, separate it from the herd at once and give watchful care. One advantage in feeding steers on the farm is the maintenance of the soil fertility. Deal gently with the cow of nervous temperament. She usually is one of the best in your herd. If you get an incubator, assign the running of it to one person, and let him have sole charge. A chill brought on by the undercoming in contact with frosty ground is apt to ruin your best cow. Clean, dry bedding spread about thickly will make cold, hard floors more endurable these cold nights. Sunflowers are just the thing to raise next season for the fowls but don't grow them for the sparrow. The good dairy cow usually is wide in the forehead, the face disbed between the eyes with a strong under jaw. Never salt the horse's feed in the box. Place a big lump where he can reach it, and he will take it when he needs it. The three essentials for a successful dairy cow are vigor, capacity for food and well-developed organs for milk production. Goslings will thrive if fed on grass alone, but will not make such rapid growth, of course, as when they are given a little grain. The cow must have a good breathing apparatus. Indicated by a large nostril, wide breast and good width across the floor of the chest. Never jump from the wagon when the horse is running away. More lives and limbs are lost in that way than by remaining in the wagon. Until we raise all the hay we need for our stock, and have all the stock and all the manure we need, it will pay us to save the whole of the corn crop. Feeding cattle gives not only a profit on the feed produced on the farm, but it feeds the farm with manure which is greatly desired in progressive farming. Calves should not be turned out to pasture unless they have had a little green feed before, as it is liable to cause scour. Give all the fresh, clean water the calf will drink. A daily record should be kept of each cow in the stable. In a year's time a dairyman will know by practical demonstration what cows are paying him and those that are not. Fresh air, sunshine, and exercise are the best poultry tonics. But fresh air does not mean drafts in the houses, nor does sunshine call for exposure to hot suns during the summer. Sheep, while generally hardy and robust, are extremely susceptible to attacks of disease which, although not always fatal, wear on the constitution and ultimately impair the usefulness of animals afflicted. Is your farm machinery in the dry under a shed or is it setting in the fields where you unbitched when the crop was harvested? The latter kind of farmers are the ones who help the machinery trusts pay their big dividends. All the stock fed during the winter should be credited with the full value of all the manure produced. All the manure should be properly cared for and applied to the soil at the proper time. A by-product valued at $1 per load should certainly not be wasted in the feed lot. Every farm woman should have her own cold frame. If she is at all handy with the saw, hammer and nails, she herself can construct one if necessary. The only expense about it then, is glass sash. Any sort of glazed sash may be used, and the cold frame made to conform to its dimensions.

COMFORT IN KITCHEN
HOW A LITTLE THOUGHTFULNESS CAN LIGHTEN LABOR.
Have Practical Conveniences Properly Arranged, and Note the Difference in Time Saved and Avoidance of Worry.
Nothing lightens the labor of the farmer's wife, and all other wives, for that matter, so much as convenience and cheerful surroundings. Convenience begets cheerfulness and a sunny disposition. It is the tired and overworked wives and mothers that sometimes have a frown on their faces, or a harsh, rasping tone to their voices. Overcome this by arranging everything about the kitchen just as convenient as possible. A kitchen window cabinet is one of the many step saviors that may be built cheaply, or if one wants to make a nice piece of furniture of it, it may be made up in the style to match the furniture, with which the home is furnished. Instead of the ordinary kitchen cabinet, this one is built with the top just below the lower edge of the window-sill, and directly in front of the window, with a cabinet with tiers of shelves on each side, and drawers and receptacles for the cooking utensils below the top, or table. The table should be made wide, and for real service, a top of zinc is to be preferred to wood, although, if a top of wood is used, oilcloth may be used as a cover, with good results. Not only should the kitchen be arranged conveniently, but the view obtained from the window should be attractive, so that as the wife looks up from her work, she will have a pleasant view. New Ideas in Marking Linen. Fashion in marking linen changes to some degree every season, so that letters long are permissible. A safe rule for the conservative needlewoman to follow is: For tablecloths, letters two inches long. For napkins, letters three-quarters of an inch long. Sheets, two inches long. Other articles are marked according to the state of the embroidery. But the best method of marking linen is a problem which presents itself very often. There are many ways to choose between the plain embroidered initial stamped either in script or block type. Perhaps the most attractive method of working large initials is to embroider over fine net, cutting away the linen underneath, so that when finished it will give a transparent effect that is unusual and beautiful. The work is not difficult, and can be done rapidly by one who has any experience in needlecraft. Lentils a La Creole. Soak over night 1 cup of lentils, drain, cover with warm water, bring to a boil slowly, drain again, cover with hot water and simmer until tender (when they mash easily between the fingers); melt in a frying pan 1 tablespoon of butter or lard dripping, add 2 sliced onions cut small, a slice or so of red pepper or pinch of red pepper; fry until light brown; add 2 tablespoons of tomato paste or 1 cup of canned tomato, a little hot water, 1/2 teaspoon salt and the drained lentils; cook together until thick and serve as you would baked beans. Prune Puff. Remove the pits and as much of the skin as possible from one pound of stewed prunes. Press them through a fine colander or sieve. Beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth, add one cupful of fine sugar and beat again, then add the strained prunes and beat until thoroughly mixed. Put in a buttered baking dish and bake about half an hour. Serve with whipped cream or custard made with the yolks of the eggs. Put Water With Oil in the Lamp. If at any time you find your lamp will almost empty, and you realize to your dismay that there is no oil in the house, replenish the well with water. The presence of the water causes the oil to rise to the top, thus enabling the wick to be saturated thoroughly with it. You will be surprised to find your light just as bright and as clear as ever.—Woman's Home Companion. Fried Oysters and Bacon. Choose large, lump oysters, dip them in beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs. Roll each in a thin, even slice of bacon, fastening it together with tiny skewers. Place them in a hot frying pan and fry until the bacon is crisp, watching carefully to avoid burning. Serve very hot without removing the skewers. Apples and Oranges. Apples and sweet oranges make a good marmalade cooked down together with sugar. At this season of the year apples are apt to be tasteless, and these are just the kind of apples to use, as the oranges impart their flavor to the whole mass and make it practically all orange. Creamed Clams. Prepare one pint of clams as for Chowder, add one-half cup of cold water. Melt three tablespoons of butter, add four tablespoons of flour, gradually the clams with the liquid. Simmer five minutes, and add one cup of scalded milk. Season with salt and pepper. Do not allow to boil after adding milk. Morning Robes are Dainty
Elaborate Ornamentation Allowed on Costumes to be Worn at Breakfast.
Breakfast robes are being made in most ornate style with founcings and ruchings of lace, adorned with satin rosettes. The dresses are completed by shoes to match and dainty little caps of lace adorned with flowers. A charming version of the breakfast toilet was to be seen recently in one of the shops. The foundation of the dress was white satin, veiled with pink nylon and founced with white lace. A series of flowers caught up the lace founcings, and the cap which went with it had a frill of lace framing the face prettily, with clusters of flowers at the sides. Some of the simple house frocks are filled in at the throat with folds of tulle in V shape, while others are made with high transparent collars of the tulle, edged along the top with a narrow band of satin. Satin, after tafetas, is the principal material for the frocks this season and there are charming little dresses in crepes of silky weave, trimmed with lace and satin folds. In length the skirt of the house frock touches the ground all the way round and the sleeves are long to the wrists. Calling Coats. Brocade coats are worn with cloth, silk and satin gowns for teas and calling. A favorite model for these coats is a short cutaway with a rolling collar and long sleeves. The coats are now being finished with fur collars and some of them have waistcoats also of the fur, says the New York Herald. Later handsome lace will be used instead of the fur. Baltimore Suit. An unusual, but extremely smart color combination was seen on a Baltimore girl the other day, says the Sun of that city. Her suit was a severe model of ink-blue velvet and her bonnet-shaped hat, also of velvet, was trimmed only with an immense bow of coral satin. With it was worn a set of black turs. Combinations in Shoes. White suede or glaze kid uppers are familiar on patent leathers by this time, but some of the new combinations are not. For instance, tan uppers on black, black uppers on tan, white buckskin on fabric. Some of the low shoes, or the shoe part on black velvet or suede, stitched over with narrow silk ribbon in a diagonal effect. White Lingerie Frock with Fichu and Bands on Bottom of Tunic of Flet lace, edged with white ball trimmings. Hat of white taffeta with white roses. Lace-Edged Dollies. In making a set of round dollies for Christmas gifts one woman made the discovery that by stitching narrow hems in the edges with a rather long machine stitch she could very easily crochet linen thread lace on the edges, catching a loop of the linen thread in each machine stitch. A simple wreath of scattered daisies and leaves was embroidered on each linen circle, then a two-inch edge of lace, resembling torchon, was crocheted about the edge of each. The effect is wonderfully good. The work is easily done, making a charming set for gifts. Combinations in Shoes. White suede or glaze kid uppers are familiar on patent leathers by this time, but some of the new combinations are not. For instance, tan uppers on black, black uppers on tan, white buckskin on fabric. Some of the low shoes, or the shoe part on black velvet or suede, stitched over with narrow silk ribbon in a diagonal effect. Trimmed With Angora Wool. A wool trimming seen on a small rose taffeta hat, with a high draped crown, is a soft roll of white angora wool braided with rose colored straw. The mingling of the fuzz of the wool and the hard, shiny surface of the straw produces an effect so mystifying that one is surprised to find on investigation by what simple means it has been produced. Love in a cottage now demands a town house as well.

Picturesque Spring Hats

Two of the prettiest of many wide-brimmed hats are pictured here. One is a pressed shape of bennet faced with a changeable silk and bound with velvet. The crown is finished with a fold of velvet at the base. Two long uncurled single ostrich plumes repeat the two colors which are blended in the silk. It is the management of color that gives character and beauty to this simple and graceful shape. The shape of deep lavender bennet is of the right shade to harmonize with the facing of silk which is gray, blue and rose woven together. The feathers in blue-gray and rose-gray combinations seem to have been made expressly for this particular hat. The narrow binding of velvet is in deep lavender. Another hat made of a variety of colors (known as racers) shows the top crown covered with velvet in green (the prevailing tone in the braid) and a piping at the brim-edge of the same velvet. This is a simple model with much style. There is a graceful variation in the width of the brim and a clever tilt, these with the slight droop convert the shape into a background for the face. The crown is low and rather small. It is a shape which can be worn by almost any one. Clusters of small compact roses with green and bronze foliage and small buds are mounted flat to the brim at each side. This is one of several trims which look well with this shape. One will go far before finding a hat so simple and so good. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

PRETTY GIFT FOR TRAVELER

Pincushions of Novel Designs Make Acceptable Tokens Between Parting Friends.
Penny dolls made of china are the foundation of cunning little pin cushions, which look like ballet-dancers at first sight, but on second glance it is discovered that in lieu of fluffy skirts they wear balls of brightly colored satin, silk, Pompadour ribbon or tinsel cloth. To dress one of these cushion-dolls, wind a strip of inch-wide cotton about the trunk, from the waist over the left shoulder, back to the waist again and over the right shoulder and then tack it with stout thread. That is the basis for the tufts of cotton-scented with sachet powder—which must be put on to form a symmetrical ball that is covered with white, soft linen and finally with the fancy silken material. When finished, the doll's hands, feet and head only are uncovered and no matter how many long pins are stuck into her, their points are scarcely likely to reach her trunk. There are many ways to choose between the plain embroidered initial stamped either in script or block type. Perhaps the most attractive method of working large initials is to embroider over fine net, cutting away the linen underneath, so that when finished it will give a transparent effect that is unusual and beautiful. The work is not difficult, and can be done rapidly by one who has any experience in needlecraft. Lentils a La Creole. Soak over night 1 cup of lentils, drain, cover with warm water, bring to a boil slowly, drain again, cover with hot water and simmer until tender (when they mash easily between the fingers); melt in a frying pan 1 tablespoon of butter or lard dripping, add 2 sliced onions cut small, a slice or so of red pepper or pinch of red pepper; fry until light brown; add 2 tablespoons of tomato paste or 1 cup of canned tomato, a little hot water, 1/2 teaspoon salt and the drained lentils; cook together until thick and serve as you would baked beans. Prune Puff. Remove the pits and as much of the skin as possible from one pound of stewed prunes. Press them through a fine colander or sieve. Beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth, add one cupful of fine sugar and beat again, then add the strained prunes and beat until thoroughly mixed. Put in a buttered baking dish and bake about half an hour. Serve with whipped cream or custard made with the yolks of the eggs. Put Water With Oil in the Lamp. If at any time you find your lamp will almost empty, and you realize to your dismay that there is no oil in the house, replenish the well with water. The presence of the water causes the oil to rise to the top, thus enabling the wick to be saturated thoroughly with it. You will be surprised to find your light just as bright and as clear as ever.—Woman's Home Companion. Fried Oysters and Bacon. Choose large, lump oysters, dip them in beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs. Roll each in a thin, even slice of bacon, fastening it together with tiny skewers. Place them in a hot frying pan and fry until the bacon is crisp, watching carefully to avoid burning. Serve very hot without removing the skewers. Apples and Oranges. Apples and sweet oranges make a good marmalade cooked down together with sugar. At this season of the year apples are apt to be tasteless, and these are just the kind of apples to use, as the oranges impart their flavor to the whole mass and make it practically all orange. Creamed Clams. Prepare one pint of clams as for Chowder, add one-half cup of cold water. Melt three tablespoons of butter, add four tablespoons of flour, gradually the clams with the liquid. Simmer five minutes, and add one cup of scalded milk. Season with salt and pepper. Do not allow to boil after adding milk. Morning Robes are Dainty
Elaborate Ornamentation Allowed on Costumes to be Worn at Breakfast.
Breakfast robes are being made in most ornate style with founcings and ruchings of lace, adorned with satin rosettes. The dresses are completed by shoes to match and dainty little caps of lace adorned with flowers. A charming version of the breakfast toilet was to be seen recently in one of the shops. The foundation of the dress was white satin, veiled with pink nylon and founced with white lace. A series of flowers caught up the lace founcings, and the cap which went with it had a frill of lace framing the face prettily, with clusters of flowers at the sides. Some of the simple house frocks are filled in at the throat with folds of tulle in V shape, while others are made with high transparent collars of the tulle, edged along the top with a narrow band of satin. Satin, after tafetas, is the principal material for the frocks this season and there are charming little dresses in crepes of silky weave, trimmed with lace and satin folds. In length the skirt of the house frock touches the ground all the way round and the sleeves are long to the wrists.

This Window-Cabinet Will Be an Ornament to Any Kitchen.

Just below the lower edge of the window-sill, and directly in front of the window, with a cabinet with tiers of shelves on each side, and drawers and receptacles for the cooking utensils below the top, or table. The table should be made wide, and for real service, a top of zinc is to be preferred to wood, although, if a top of wood is used, oilcloth may be used as a cover, with good results. Not only should the kitchen be arranged conveniently, but the view obtained from the window should be attractive, so that as the wife looks up from her work, she will have a pleasant view. New Ideas in Marking Linen. Fashion in marking linen changes to some degree every season, so that letters long are permissible. A safe rule for the conservative needlewoman to follow is: For tablecloths, letters two inches long. For napkins, letters three-quarters of an inch long. Sheets, two inches long. Other articles are marked according to the state of the embroidery. But the best method of marking linen is a problem which presents itself very often. There are many ways to choose between the plain embroidered initial stamped either in script or block type. Perhaps the most attractive method of working large initials is to embroider over fine net, cutting away the linen underneath, so that when finished it will give a transparent effect that is unusual and beautiful. ## THE SAFE LAXATIVE FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

Most elderly people are more or less troubled with a chronic, persistent constipation, due largely to lack of sufficient exercise. They experience difficulty in digesting even light food, with a consequent belching of stomach gases, drowsiness after eating, headache and a feeling of lassitude and general discomfort. Doctors advise against cathartics and violent purgatives of every kind, recommending a mild, gentle laxative tonic, like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, to effect relief without disturbing the entire system. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the perfect laxative, easy in action, certain in effect and, without pleasant to the taste. It possesses tonic properties that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels and is a remedy that has been for years the great standby in thousands of families, and should be in every family medicine chest. It is equally as valuable for children as for older people. Druggists everywhere sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in 50c and $1.00 bottles. If you have never tried it send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and he will be very glad to send a sample bottle for trial. It doesn't require much inventive genius for a man to make a fool of himself. Mrs. Whelove's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, 25c a bottle. Nothing disappoints some women more than to not be disappointed in a new neighbor. A remedy that has stood the test of time is worth trying. Gardell Tea relieves liver, kidney and stomach troubles. All of Good. "Who is Nat Goodwin?" "He's the center on the All-America marriage team." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules. Easy to take as candy. Appeal. Stella—What is the matter? Cholly—I wish you'd tellyour father he's gotta kick' me aroun'.—New York Sun. Also With Gloves. Assistant Editor—Here's a farmer writes to us asking how to treat sick bees. Editor—Tell him he'd better treat them with respect. Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of W. D. Hoagland In Use For Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria. Exposing Children to Disease. In an article on the treatment of sick children in the Woman's Home Companion the author, Dr. Roger H. Bennett, a famous New York specialist on the diseases of children, says: "Never, never, never expose the child to any contagious disease in order that he may have it once and be done with it. Even the so-called simple children's diseases, such as measles or whooping cough, have a death rate that is appalling." Financial Cripples. They were taking the visitor from upstairs around Manhattan showing him the sights. The big automobile rolled past many wonderful buildings, all of which the host pointed out with some feelings of civic pride. At last they chanced to pass by the Municipal Lodging house. "What that place?" asked the rural visitor. "Oh, that's one of New York's home for cripples," was the reply. "What kind of cripples," was asked. "Financial," was the reply, as the car sped on.—New York Herald.

The CIVIL WAR FIFTY YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

March 25, 1862.
The national gunboats Wyandotte, Seminole and Norwich, under command of Captain Gillis, senior officer, proceeded up the Skidaway river, Georgia, to the Skidaway Confederate batteries, which were partly destroyed by a concentrated fire from the three ships. The Confederates on defense, including a body of cavalry, were driven out by the heavy firing. The Federals landed and completed the destruction begun by their fire. The dwellings at the batteries were left, but were burned by the Confederates after the withdrawal of the Union sailors.

The common council of Nashville, Tennessee, directed by provisional Governor Johnson to subscribe to the oath of allegiance to the United States, refused by a vote of 15 to 1, to do so, maintaining that it had not been contemplated that they should take such an oath. The one who did not refuse to take the oath declared that he would subscribe to it and resign at once.

Washington, North Carolina, was visited by Lieutenant Murray in the U. S. S. Louisiana, who reported that "unfurling an apparent acquiescence of the people of the town in the neighborhood in the permitting of the building of gunboats and the construction of batteries to repel the approach of the Federals, was a deep-seated affection for the old Union." The people of the town and the neighborhood were not heard on the point.

March 26, 1862.
Quantrell's independent force of Confederate cavalry fell on Warrensburg, Missouri, and were prevented from taking the town only by a desperate defense on the part of the Missouri cavalry in garrison, under Major Foster. The Union position was saved by a thick plank fence behind which the Missourians found shelter. Major Foster and his brother were wounded in the fight, and eleven Federals killed or wounded. The Confederate loss was slightly heavier, owing to their exposure in making the attack.

Four companies of Missouri state militia had their baptism in the night at Humonsville, Missouri, when a band of Confederates attacked and gave them a touch of war. The fight was exciting for a few minutes, but beyond a few wounded was without tangible consequences.

A party of Ohio cavalry under Captain Hastings encountered a company of Confederate cavalry under Captains McHenry and Bledsoe in a brisk skirmish near McMinnville, Tennessee. The Confederates withdrew.

General Curtis, in command of the Federal army of the southwest, issued the following order: "Charles Morton, Hamilton Kennedy and Alexander Davis, colored men, formerly slaves, employed in the rebel service, and taken as contraband of war, are hereby confiscated, and not being needed for the public service, are permitted to pass the pickets of this command northward, without let or hindrance, and are forever emancipated from the service of masters who allowed them to aid in their efforts to break up the government and the laws of our country."

March 27, 1862.
The market for rotten eggs opened strong in Burlington, N. J., when it became known that the Rev. Samuel Aaron, a Baptist preacher, intended to deliver an abolition lecture in the evening. A large crowd, fully supplied with the ammunition, was present at the hall, and soon found occasion to use them. The minister was removed from the hall, via the alley, where his appearance created a marked sensation among the habitues.

The Petersburg Express of date stated that wood was as scarce as good coffee in the city, and asked the farmers and railroads to relieve the distress. Brooms were pronounced a luxury, and the growing of broom corn advised. Leather had become so scarce that hickory splints were recommended as a substitute in harnesses. Merchants and others having old tea chests were requested to turn them over to the Confederate authorities for the lead that was in them. It was suggested that "there is also a large quantity of lead on the various iron railings about the city which the owners could spare."

The board of provost marshals of New Orleans issued an order prohibiting gambling in the values of Confederate greenbacks, and declaring that all such traffic, as tending to create distrust in values in the mind of the people, should be treated as an act of disloyalty to the Confederate Government.

A Confederate battery sheltered the Union camp at Strasburg, Va.
General Hooker's soldiers were removing the guns from abandoned Confederate batteries on the Lower Potomac.

Big Bethel, Va., deserted by the Confederates, was occupied by a party of Federal soldiers from Hooker's command.

March 28, 1862.
Morgan's Confederate cavalry captured a train on the Louisville & Nashville, taking Capt. Curvan Pope of Kentucky.

A body of Texas troops, moving on Santa Fe, N. M., were encountered at Apache canyon, 20 miles from Santa Fe and eight from Union, by a force of national troops. After an all day fight, in which the Texans lost their wagon train and most of their mules, the two regiments rested on their arms without advantage, although the failure of the Texans to win the field was considered equivalent to a defeat. The Union forces lost heavily in officers. Captain Cook, command of the Union forces, was severely wounded, and four lieutenants were killed.

Shipping Point, Va., on the Potomac river, formerly the site of a Confederate battery, was occupied by the Federal forces, the Confederates having withdrawn.

A detachment of the First Illinois cavalry overtook and captured a small band of Confederate guerrilla cavalry near Warrensburg, Mo. Colonel Parker, in command of the Confederates, was among those taken captive.

A reconnaissance was made by the national forces beyond Warrentown Junction, Va. A body of the enemy's cavalry retreated as the troops advanced and burned a bridge over the Rappahannock. There was some skirmishing, but no loss of life.

A resolution was introduced in the Massachusetts legislature asking the committee on federal relations to request the expediency of requesting an immediate trial of General Stone, held prisoner on charges growing out of the Federal defeat at Ball's Bluff.

March 29, 1862.
Colonel Geary, at the head of a Union force, captured the town of Middleburg, Va., from a force of Confederate infantry, supported by two or three hundred of Stuart's and White's cavalry. Advancing from Philmont in the morning, Colonel Geary drove in the Confederate pickets outside the town. On entering the place, he found the infantry withdrawing to a hollow behind the town and the cavalry posted to make a stand. Ordering up a gun, he made an attack in support of it by all the approaches to the town. The Confederates were completely dislodged from the town and vicinity.

A detachment of Stuart's Virginia cavalry made a raid within six miles of the Chain bridge at Washington. The object of their raid was the house of Mrs. Tennant, a woman of Union sympathies, whom they abducted in her own buggy, taking her daughter with her. Bayard's cavalry learned what was going on too late to be of any assistance. They went out to attack the Confederate horsemen, but could do nothing.

March 30, 1862.
At Pensacola, Fla., Col. T. M. Jones issued the following order: "For the information of all concerned: There are certain 'tongues' without people, white as well as colored, who frequent Pensacola and vicinity, and have no observable occupation. Their intentions may be honest; but the colonel commanding does not believe it, and as he has no use for their presence, they are warned to leave, or the consequence must rest on their own heads. The gallows is erected in Pensacola, and will be in constant use on and after the third of April, 1862. The town is under complete martial law."

Lieut. Drake DeKay, aid to General Mansfield at Newport News, Va., started on a trip up the James river, accompanied by some of the Twenty-ninth Massachusetts regiment. Rounding a bend in the river eight or ten miles from camp, he came upon a boat containing five southerners from Warwick, who were supplying rations to the Confederates along the James. The cargo, consisting of flour, fish, tobacco, eggs, whisky, etc., was confiscated, and the crew imprisoned.

March 31, 1862.
General Hunter, arriving at Port Royal, S. C., assumed command of the department of the south.

Colonel Buford of the Twenty-seventh Illinois, accompanied by his regiment, the Forty-second Illinois, the Douglas brigade, Colonel Roberts, and four hundred of the Fifteenth Wisconsin, all from Island Number Ten, Illinois cavalry and a detachment of artillery, made a reconnaissance in force and a descent on Union City, Tenn. After a forced march of twenty-four hours they came on a Confederate force of infantry and cavalry under Clay King. The Confederates were dislodged, being taken by surprise, and a number of them captured. A quantity of forage and spoils were destroyed by the Federals, who were unable to carry away all that fell into their hands.

New England citizens of New York city met at the Fifth Avenue hotel to discuss means for the relief of wounded soldiers passing through the city on their way home from the front.

Solomon Foot of Vermont was elected president pro tempore of the United States senate.

"Pigeon's Milk."
There are certain glands in the crop of the pigeon which secrete a thick white fluid, which the young are partially fed upon. The distinguished English naturalist, Mr. Edward Jesse, considers that the crop is greatly thickened and the glands enlarged during the period of incubation in most birds, just as the milk glands are prepared during gestation in mammals. John Burroughs, the American naturalist, has shown that a process like that which takes place in the crop of the pigeon has been discovered in the female crocodile—reptiles and birds being closely allied.

Reindeer and Yak for Alaska.
The reindeer used to be known chiefly in the Christmas picture book, while the South American yak is still known chiefly through his occasional visits with the circus. The scarcity of game, and therefore food for flesh-eating dogs, is reviving a demand in Alaska for herb-eating beasts of burden. Reindeer are being shipped west from Labrador, and it is hoped also to get some yak from the Andes to help out.

Her Easter Hens

BY SUSANNE GLENN

HENS is mighty poor critters. Miss Letty, said old Jason, the miller, pushing back his mealy cap. "I don't know of nothing that will induce 'em to lay if they ain't ready! This cold, damp spell has sort of put 'em back, I guess. Nobody seems to be getting any eggs but John Danforth. Maybe he can tell you what the trouble is."

"I will try this new mixture, thank you, Jason," returned Miss Letty, crisply. "You will be sure to send it this afternoon?"

"Yes, yes!" said Jason cordially, not reminding her that it was not customary for him to deliver a quarter's worth of feed. And he turned back into the inner office, where a young man was moodily turning over the catalogues on the dusty desk.

"It seems a pity to see 'Square' Brown's daughter buying chicken feed by the pound, John," he remarked, seriously. "And I'm afraid them hens mean more to her than we realize. But she's too proud to let anybody know if she half starved!"

"Yes," returned John Danforth, "she is too proud!"

Letty Brown walked down the street wearily. The purse in her handsome alligator bag was menacingly empty.

"Just 72 cents after paying for the chicken feed," she figured; "and two weeks before I can draw the $10 interest money. I don't dare draw on the principal—I don't dare! It is so little, and I may need it so much worse some other time. If only the hens would lay!"

Tears of weakness and vexation filled her eyes.

At the corner she deviated through a dreary side street; not yet could she bring herself to go past the dear old house where she was born, and which she had been forced to leave that sad November time when her father's death revealed the condition of his finances.

"I ought to be thankful," she reminded herself virtuously, "that I have the cottage, and the hens, and grandmother's legacy."

"If only the legacy were bigger, and the cottage wasn't under the very shadow of John Danforth's big house, and the hens would not refuse to lay," she amended.

An hour later, arrayed in a dingy calico wrapper, Miss Letty went out to her poultry house. The flock rushed noisily to meet her.

"Yes, I have your supper, greedy things," she greeted them; "but how do you repay me? I have watered and fed you all winter; shoveled snow to get to you; never once forgotten you. Yet you have not given me eggs enough to keep me from getting hungry! I cannot keep it up much longer; when this feed is gone, I shall begin roasting you unless you do better!"

After the fowls were made comfortable for the night, Miss Letty did what she had done every day all winter—she looked hopelessly through the square wooden boxes used as nests. In one, high up, was a small brown egg!

"Oh," cried she, holding it carefully in both hands, "something for supper besides bread and tea! I know it is worth three cents, Letty Brown, but I am weak in my knees for something nourishing, so you keep still!"

The little brown egg certainly put new life into her heart-old girl in the old cottage. Early next morning she was out in the chicken yard, working busily.

"Today," she remarked cheerily, "you must lay two eggs; and tomorrow, four; and the next—but I mustn't get over 14, must I? Well, if you will lay a dozen every day that will make seven dozens a week for you do not stop work for Sunday. What wealth that will be!"

The weather had changed, and the day was sunny and still. As she worked about the house, Letty listened hopefully for some disturbance from the chicken house. In the adjoining yard there was an incessant clatter of shrill, cackling voices, but her own was ominously silent.

"I don't know as I could hear just one hen cackle above that racket, anyway," she said, a little spitefully, as she scattered the midday feeding over the sunny yard. "Now, understand, I shall expect two eggs tonight!"

Very anxiously Miss Letty groped through the high nests that evening. Again there was one little brown egg! But she continued doggedly to inspect each shadowy box. In the last one, down next to the little door through which the hens ran to the back park in summer, her hand came in contact with something that brought her heart to her throat. Carefully, gingerly, she placed them in the feed pail—nine beautiful brown eggs!

"I do not understand," she murmured, wonderingly. "It seems too good to be true."

She even nodded kindly to John Danforth when she saw him pottering about his own poultry yards.

"I wonder what he would think if he could know how many eggs I am getting," she thought with a smile of amusement. "He was so certain I did not know how to take care of hens!"

The amusement faded from her face, and she went into her little kitchen and sat down in sudden dejection.

"Why can I not forget?" she cried in bitter self-scorn. "What a goose I am!"

How she had trusted him! How happy she had been! Even in her childhood he had been her best friend. And then to have him fall a victim to a pair of dancing eyes and a coquetish smile!

"Of course I do not blame him," she said aloud, glancing involuntarily into the mirror opposite. "I know I am plain and little and 'everyday.' But how could I ever trust him again?"

"But he was true, afterward," said an insistent voice within her, "and he wanted to come back!"

"Yes," said Letty proudly, "he wanted to come back to Squire Brown's daughter! But has he ever wanted to come back to Letty Brown of the weather-beaten old cottage?"

"Hasn't he wanted to shovel your paths, and make your garden, and care for your hens?" continued the voice. "And haven't you discouraged him at every turn?"

"I will not have his pity!" flashed the squire's daughter. "He forgot me for a frivolous young thing who never cared for him!"

"But he admitted his fault honestly and begged your forgiveness."

And Letty seemed to hear again his weary voice:

"Did you never make a mistake, Letty?"

"Not that kind," she had retorted with a crispness for which the Browns were noted.

Miss Letty squared her shoulders determinedly.

"I may as well gather the eggs before supper," she said, in a matter-of-fact way, returning to her prosaic duties.

But where she had smiled hitherto over the fullness of her basket, she frowned bewilderingly. Slowly she counted them over again.

No End to His Bad Luck.
John D. Shoop, at an Anti-Cigarette league banquet, explained his feelings in the story of the colored man.

"How are you getting along, Lazarus?" asked his master, interestedly.

"I gets along poorly," replied Lazarus, who complained of his misfortune at length. "Master John, I has such bad luck," says he, "that when I dies and is laid away in the tomb and the good Lord says to me, 'Lazarus, come forth,' I know I is sho' to come fith."

Same Old Story.
She—How did they ever come to marry?
He—Oh, it's the same old story. Started out to be good friends, you know, and later on changed their minds.—Puck.

Stop the Pain.
The hurt of a burn or cut stops when Cole's Carbolic is applied. It heals dry mud, foot marks showed from the neighboring park to the little door at the back of her henhouse! No hen had left that extra egg in her nest!

"John," she called, returning to the front of the building, "will you come over here a moment?"

Danforth leaped the fence lightly. Letty wanted him!

"Here," she said, demurely, holding out the basket, "are your eggs. I am sorry I have sold the others, but I will return the amount as soon as I can."

Her lips quivered a little with the disappointment and humiliation of it all.

"There are fifteen eggs," she could not help smiling at his embarrassed face, "and I have only fourteen hens!"

"Letty," he cried, with sudden vehemence, "I'll take them back. After dark, I'm coming for the hens, also; I can make them lay!"

"And tomorrow I am coming for you, dear. Let us have a happy Easter, sweetheart!"

And there among the feathered flock, he took her in his arms.

"I'll need you, dear," he whispered, "to count the eggs!"

Glorious Easter Vision

Belief That Takes From the World the Sting of Death and the Victory of the Grave.

The word Easter is almost synonymous with happiness, but happiest of all are those who have the Easter vision, which is the vision of a living Christ. Easter day is the celebration of the resurrection of our Lord, "who liveth and was dead, and is alive for evermore." That is the old, yet ever new, the precious Easter truth, "a living Christ," to give new life through the hope of immortality. Where is the sting of death or the victory of the grave, with the expectation of a perfect world beyond?

A living Christ gives new life to all our best relationships here with one another. Everything we begin here that is worth while, we can finish hereafter. There could be little satisfaction in a friendship which must end with the separation of friends. But a living Christ offers us the boon of perfect friendship and perfect love.

perfect because eternal and abiding, such as is Christ's love toward his children. The best that is in us has a better chance for development here for the knowledge that death is but an incident, after which comes life in the sinless world beyond.

Easter is the symbol of life. To make room for the life more abundant, there must be a death of the life insufficient, a death of old desires, ambitions and aims which are unworthy. Each year should bring a fresh resurrection in our lives—a death of the old life, poor and mean, a resurrection to the new life, unselfish and hallowed. We must die to weakness to arise to strength. We must die to selfishness to arise to devotion. We must die to strife and hatred to arise to peace and love. We must die to the things which are temporal to arise to the things which are eternal. To all who have the clear Easter vision, Christ is risen indeed in the heart, to be alive forevermore.

NICE, BUT NOT IN HIS LINE

Exhibition of "Manties" Most Pleasurable, Only Young Man Had Other Business to Attend To.

"I've come to see about the manties, miss."

"O, yes, I'm glad you have come so soon; will you step into the drawing room?"

The young man stepped; he was pleased with his pleasant reception. After awhile ma came in and said: "How do?" So sorry to trouble him, but would be mind if they tried the manties on? Her daughter's was a trifle too full, and her own was a trifle too long, she thought. Perhaps he would be good enough to see.

The young man said he would be only too delighted.

The two elegant manties in the latest style which were lying across the back of the sofa were then donned, and the young man said he thought they looked charming. Yes, perhaps a little alteration was required, but—if they would excuse him he would be his work and show him the gas-burners that were requiring fresh manties.

Why! Wasn't he from Jiggins & Jiggins?

O, no! He was the young man that attended to the manties from the gas company!—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

HANDS BURNED LIKE FIRE

"I can truthfully say Cuticura Remedies have cured me of four long years of eczema. About four years ago I noticed some little pimples coming on my little finger, and not giving it any attention, it soon became worse and spread all over my hands. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching."

"So after hearing so much about the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, I purchased one complete set, and after using them three days my hands were much better. Today my hands are entirely well, and getting all I used." (Signed) Miss Etta Barber, R. F. D. 2, Spring Lake, Mich., Sept. 26, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

No End to His Bad Luck.
John D. Shoop, at an Anti-Cigarette league banquet, explained his feelings in the story of the colored man.

"How are you getting along, Lazarus?" asked his master, interestedly.

"I gets along poorly," replied Lazarus, who complained of his misfortune at length. "Master John, I has such bad luck," says he, "that when I dies and is laid away in the tomb and the good Lord says to me, 'Lazarus, come forth,' I know I is sho' to come fith."

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

Odd, Va.:—"I am enjoying better health than I have for 20 years, and I believe I can safely say now that I am a well woman. I was reared on a farm and had all kinds of heavy work to do which caused the troubles that came on me later. For five years during the Change of Life I was not able to lift a pail of water. I had hemorrhages which would last for weeks and I was not able to sit up in bed. I suffered a great deal with my back and was so nervous I could scarcely sleep at night, and I did not do any housework for three years."

"Now I can do as much work as any woman of my age in the county, thanks to the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I recommend your remedies to all suffering women."—Mrs. MARTHA L. HOLLOWAY, Odd, Va.

No other medicine for woman's life has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organization soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and builds. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

From 10 A. M. to 8 P. M.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6

ONE DAY ONLY

These are the Doctors you no doubt have read about. While you may not know them personally, you may know them by reputation or through some of your neighbors they have treated.

The remarkable success of these talented physicians in the treatment of chronic diseases has aroused much enthusiasm in the Northwest.

This is said to be and no doubt is true, one of the most able specialists organization of its kind in this section of the country, and must be a successful one from the many good results they are getting.

The United Doctors, licensed by the state of Wisconsin for the treatment of deformities and nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on them, consultation, examination and advice free.

It is specially requested that married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

The name, UNITED DOCTORS, is what it implies, a union of specialists twelve in number, that have gotten together for the treatment of chronic and nervous diseases. Not to be understood that they treat all diseases that the human body is heir to. They mean to be very careful in selecting and taking cases as they want good results, which means good returns in the way of their patients recommending them to others.

They estimate that over eighty per cent of the patients now coming to them, come from recommendations of those they have treated.

They do not treat any acute diseases whatever, their time and attention being devoted to such diseases as follows:

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart spleen, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, or grier. They were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these diseases.
