Take a Spin in a "Michigan 40"

The "Michigan" is the first standard 40 H. P. automobile that has ever been offered at $1,500. The customary price of a car of the specifications and dependability of the Michigan "40" is considerably more.

The low price of "Michigan" machines is not so much due to decreased cost of factory production, as it is to the elimination of expense in selling. The manufacturers, the Michigan Buggy Co., have been for thirty years the largest makers of pleasure vehicles in the world, so when, two years ago, they began building automobiles they had no expensive selling organization to build up. Their 10,000 established vehicle dealers took all their cars. This selling organization, which costs most automobile makers a fortune, cost the builders of the "Michigan" not one cent!

"Michigan" cars are sold on the same small profit basis as other vehicles—buggies, wagons, bicycles, etc. The manufacturer makes less than 10 per cent. And

BECOMES BRIDE OF BANKER

Miss Minnie Bilgo of This Village is Joined in Wedlock to Ben H. Mertens

YOUNG COUPLE ARE VERY POPULAR

Will Reside at Newburg, Where Groom is Cashier of the State Bank. Wedding Attended by Only Close Relatives and Friends

A very pretty wedding took place last Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church, when Ben H. Mertens of Newburg and Miss Minnie Bilgo of this village were united in marriage. Rev. Greve performing the ceremony. The bride, who was very beautifully attired in a white embroidery net over white silk mesaline and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, was attended by her sister, Miss Frieda Bilgo, as maid of honor, who was gowned in white embroidery net over net, and carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was attended by his cousin Edward Geidel of Fillmore, as best man. After the ceremony the bridal couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where the occasion was celebrated with only near relatives and friends in attendance.

The bride, who is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Bilgo, is one of Kewaskum's most charming young ladies. She has a splendid disposition and is well liked by everyone. She also makes the friendly acquaintance with everyone she meets. The groom, who is cashier of the State Bank at Newburg is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mertens of this village. He is a young man of honest habits and has the well qualified business ability.

On Saturday, April 20

with a matinee on Saturday, April 20th E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, the most distinguished classic players in this country, will be the attraction at the Shubert Theatre. Milwaukee following arrangement of Shakespearean repertoire Saturday matinee. "The Merchant of Venice," Saturday night "Hamlet."

The large and enthusiastic following which Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe have won in the field of legitimate drama since the joining together of their artistic forces, will undoubtedly be a source of gratification to these two eminent players, is also an encouraging sign to all who have at heart the best interests of the theatre. In these days when the appeal of the light and the frivolous on the stage is tremendous, it would seem no easy matter to make the works of Shakespeare crowd the theatre with enthusiastic audiences. But Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe, through intelligent and unceasing effort, aided by uncommon histrionic equipment, have accomplished this achievement. They present Shakespeare in an exceptional manner. He is a young man of honest habits and has the well qualified business ability.

Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nervous system and restore the system to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. To Leave Kewaskum

Mich Heindl and family, who have been residents of this village for the past 3 1/2 years have decided to make West Bend their future home and will shortly after May 1st move to that city. The Heindl family while in this village were highly respected and all those who know them regret their leaving. Mr. Heindl was proprietor of the Heindl Shoe Store. While in this village Mr. Heindl started a business he was doing a good business, but on account of brighter prospects has taken this course. He has purchased the shoe stock of Gust Konitz at West Bend, and will conduct a store there. We sincerely hope that he will meet with an abundance of success in his new undertaking.

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Garrettsville, Tex. was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Cough and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. MEXICO IS WARNED

U. S. TELLS ALL MEXICANS THAT AMERICANS MUST BE PROTECTED.

MUST OBEY RULES OF WAR

Federals and Rebels Ordered to Treat Citizens of This Country Humanely if Taken as Prisoners—Orozco's Startling Statement.

Washington, April 13.—The United States has issued a warning to the Mexican government, as well as to Gen. Pascual Orozco, chief of the revolutionary forces, that it expects and must demand that American life and property within the republic of Mexico be justly and adequately protected, and that this government must hold Mexico and the Mexican people responsible for all wanton or illegal acts sacrificing or endangering American life or damaging American property or interests.

The attitude of the United States as expressed to both the federal and rebel authorities is that any mistreatment of American citizens "will be deeply resented by the American government and people, and must be fully answered for by the Mexican people."

Acting Secretary Huntington Wilson of the state department, who issued special instructions to Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson at Mexico City, and Marion Letcher, American consul at Chihuahua, authorized the statement that intervention was not contemplated by the United States.

Ambassador Wilson was ordered to communicate at once the views of the United States to the Mexican minister for foreign affairs, and a copy of his instructions was likewise sent to Marion Letcher, American consul at Chihuahua, with special representations addressed to General Orozco.

General Orozco, who recently served notice upon the state department that he would not recognize Marion Letcher, the American consul at Chihuahua, or James I. Long, the American consul at Parral, over whose protest Fountain was killed, as being representatives of any government.

He has informed the authorities that he will not recognize the right of the United States to send its mails through Mexico except on his terms through Mexico except on his terms.

Though declining to justify participation of Americans on either side, the United States expressly stipulated that American combatants, when taken prisoners, must be given humane treatment in accordance with the international rules of war.

The correspondence, made public here, is admittedly the strongest demand the United States is known to have made upon Mexico for respectful treatment of Americans, as well as other foreigners, and declares that a continuation of illegal acts is tending "to difficulties and obligations which it is to the interest of all true Mexican patriots, as it is the desire of the United States, to avoid."

MISS CLARA BARTON DEAD

Founder of American Red Cross Succumbs to Chronic Pneumonia at Glen Echo, Md.

Washington, April 13.—Miss Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross society, died at her home in Glen Echo, Md., Friday. The cause of her death was chronic pneumonia, with which she was stricken about a year ago. Her brother, Stephen Barton of Boston, was with her when she died.

Clara Barton.

Miss Barton was born at Oxford, Mass., in 1821.

Miss Barton had been confined to her home, "Red Cross," at Glen Echo, Md., since last fall, when she returned from a visit to New England. It was thought her trip was beneficial, but soon afterward she was taken seriously ill. She celebrated her ninety-third birthday anniversary December 25.

PLAN GRANT FUNERAL

DEAD GENERAL TO BE GIVEN FULL MILITARY HONORS.

Ceremony at New York Will Be Held After Arrival of Daugher From Russia.

New York, April 13.—Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, who died here suddenly last Friday, will be buried at West Point and will be given a full military funeral, both in this city and at the army academy.

This was announced after Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, now in command of the department of the east, and Lieut. Marion Howe, formerly military aid to General Grant, had held a consultation at the Hotel Buckingham with Mrs. Grant and Capt. Ulysses S. Grant, III.

The funeral will be delayed, however, for ten or twelve days, it was stated, until the arrival here of General Grant's daughter, Princess Michael Cantacuzene-Speransky, who is now in Russia.

The body was removed to Governor's island, headquarters of the department of the east, and placed in the Chapel of Cornelius the Centurion, where it will lie in state under a military guard until the day of the funeral.

The general's widow was the recipient of hundreds of telegrams and other messages of sympathy from all parts of the country. Two of the first telegrams to be delivered to Mrs. Grant were from President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—A private dispatch, said to have been sent by an official of the war department at Washington, was received at Fort D. A. Russell declaring that Frederick Funston, senior brigadier general, would succeed Major General Grant.

T. R. WINS PENNSYLVANIA

12 National Representatives at Large to Convention for Colonel, Making 67 to Taft 9.

Philadelphia, April 16.—In one of the most remarkable political battles of recent years the people of Pennsylvania Saturday, under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt, wiped out of all shape the Penrose machine in Pennsylvania. By a large plurality, 55 out of the 54 district national delegates elected at the primaries will go to Chicago pledged for Roosevelt.

Even more tragic in its effect upon the Penrose control of Pennsylvania is his utter and complete defeat in his fight for state delegates. Penrose loses all control of that body, which meets on May 1. This means that at the twelve national delegates at large to be selected then will all be Roosevelt delegates, which will make Roosevelt total from Pennsylvania a Chicago 67 to Taft's 9. The probabilities are that Vane, Black and Kinsley, three of those accredited to Taft from Philadelphia, will swing in the favor of Roosevelt. Unofficial returns indicate that the Taft counties in the state, for the Democrats Wilson easily carries the state.

125,000 AMERICANS GO TO CANADA IN 1911.

THE YEAR 1912 WILL SHOW A GREAT INCREASE.

In a report of the House Committee (Washington) appears the following: "Canada offers a three-year home-leave upon good land, easily reclaimed and cultivated, with six months' leave of absence each year and most lenient regulations."

All of which is true and it is now the part of the careful reader to consider the opportunities that exist in Western Canada which, in addition to the above, are attractive features. The evidence of these is found in the letters contributed by some of the settlers. For instance: A former Minnesotan, writing from Warner, Southern Alberta, speaks of that district, but what he says, applies generally to all of Southern Alberta. He says:

"I have seen six crops, four of them were first class, one of them a very good crop, and the other a poor crop. Government statistics for the last fifteen years show that this country has averaged about fifteen or sixteen inches of moisture. In 1910 there was only seven inches, and in 1911 twenty-two inches. The 1909 crop was about as good as I have seen in this country and we had about twelve inches of moisture, so that I am thoroughly convinced that with normal conditions, that is, from twelve to fifteen inches of moisture, and with the natural increase of population and immigration, that Southern Alberta will be one of the very best mixed farming districts in the world. We have good soil, good water, and a good climate, and altogether just as desirable a country to live in as Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, or Wisconsin."

Hundreds of letters are on file from former American settlers, which give good reasons why the Western Canada lands are being settled so rapidly. Full particulars can be had of any Canadian Government Agent, who will furnish literature and give low rate certificates. Excursions are being run daily.

PIMPLES ON FACE 3 YEARS

"I was troubled with acne for three long years. My face was the only part affected, but it caused great disfigurement, also suffering and loss of sleep. At first there appeared red, hard pimples which later contained white matter. I suffered a great deal caused by the itching. I was in a state of perplexity when walking the streets or anywhere before the public.

"I used pills and other remedies but they failed completely. I thought of giving up when nothing would help, but something told me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a Cuticura Booklet which I read carefully. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and by following the directions I was relieved in a few days. I used Cuticura Soap for washing my face, and applied the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. This treatment brought marvelous results so I continued with it for a few weeks and was cured completely. I can truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are not only all, but more than they claim to be. (Signed) G. Baumel, 1015 W. 20th Place, Chicago, Ill., May 28, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to 'Cuticura,' Dept. L, Boston.

WHAT WILL CURE MY BACK?

Common sense will do more to cure backache than anything else. 'Twill tell you whether the kidneys are sore, swollen and aching. It will tell you in that case that there is no use trying to cure it with a plaster. If the passages are scant or too frequent, proof that there is kidney trouble is complete. Then common sense will tell you to use Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A TYPICAL CASE—

Edward Porsche, 1833 Cleveland Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "My eyes were pulled from drooping and my hands and feet terribly swollen. For three months I was completely laid up. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the awful back pains, stopped the swelling and made me feel one-hundred percent better."

ELEVEN WISCONSIN PEOPLE ON TITANIC

Badger State Residents Were Aboard Ill-Fated Ship.

SIX ARE BELIEVED LOST

Capt. E. G. Crosby Unaccounted For, Though His Wife and Daughter Were Saved—Racine Woman Had Premoition of Disaster.

Milwaukee.—Of the Milwaukeeans on board the ill-fated Titanic, wireless dispatches from the Carpathia, with those rescued on board, announced that Mrs. E. G. Crosby and her daughter were both among those rescued. There was no word of Capt. E. G. Crosby, the veteran vessel master of the lakes and president of the Crosby Transportation company, and there are now the gravest fears that he was among the 1,300 who were lost.

The wireless message from the Carpathia also reported that Mrs. W. E. Minahan and Miss Daisy Minahan of Green Bay, were among the saved, but does not mention Dr. W. E. Minahan.

Dr. John Minahan, Green Bay, however, has received a message from New York, said to be relayed from a wireless dispatch, to the effect that his brother, Dr. W. E. Minahan, was among those rescued from the wrecked Titanic.

W. B. Silvey, a hotel man of Superior, was aboard the Titanic and is believed to be among the lost. His wife, who accompanied him, is reported to be one of those saved.

Among those on Titanic are Miss Agnes Dolan, a former resident of Baraboo, and her sister, Elsie Dolan. Miss Agnes went to England to return with her sister.

Oscar Jensen, a Neenah young man, was assistant purser on the Titanic. Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Hanson of Racine were passengers on the Titanic, returning from a visit at their old home in Denmark. Before leaving here in February, Mrs. Hanson remarked, "I dread taking this trip to Denmark for I have a feeling that I will never return alive."

TEST NEW CORRUPTION LAW

Mayor-Elect of Menomonie Held Innocent of Wrong Intent in Buying Railroad Ticket for Voter.

Menomonie.—What was probably the first criminal prosecution in the state under the section of the new corrupt practices act that prohibits the transportation of voters "to or from the polls" came as an afterthought to the heated campaign in Menomonie, and resulted in the exoneration of the defendant, Thomas Stone, former postmaster of the city.

The complaint was Carl Pieper, defeated candidate for mayor under the commission system, who had caused the arrest of Stone for buying a railroad ticket to North Menomonie for Robert Behnke and giving him a nickel for return on election day. This fact was admitted, but the evidence showed that there was no political purpose in the act, as Stone, who was a supporter of J. B. Mathews for mayor, did not solicit Behnke's vote.

The court denied a motion to dismiss Stone, made on the ground that the voter was transported but part way to the polling place, but after hearing the witnesses of both sides and the arguments, discharged the defendant because no wrong intent was proven.

Flattery. Edward D. Easton, one of the biggest manufacturers of talking machines in the world, has an idea that everybody is as much interested in grand opera as he is. He gives weekly concerts at his home and makes all his servants, who represent various nationalities, listen to them. Once a Swedish housemaid gave signs of intense satisfaction at the hearing of a particularly loud and shrill record by the great soprano, Lina Cavalieri. "So you like that?" asked Mr. Easton, all puffed up because his grand opera had made such a hit. "Ay 'tink it bane graud," replied Alma. "It sound to me just lak de way de Ireesh cook she cry las, when hobbshan' die."—Popular Magazine.

It's practically impossible for a man to form an impartial opinion of himself.

Many a man is dissatisfied with his lot because it is too near his neighbor's.

Women

From Forty-Five to Fifty Are Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The "change of life" is a most critical period in a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

When her system is in a deranged condition, she may be predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of some organ. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of women's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Mrs. Estella Gillispie

ONE CASE OUT OF MANY TO PROVE OUR CLAIMS.

St. Anne, Ill.—"I was passing through the change of life and I was a perfect wreck from female troubles. I had a displacement and bearing down pains, weak fainting spells, dizziness, then numb and cold feelings. Sometimes my feet and limbs were swollen. I was irregular and had so much backache and headache, was nervous, irritable and was despondent. Sometimes my appetite was good but more often it was not. My kidneys troubled me at times and I could walk only a short distance.

"I saw your advertisement in the paper and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was helped from the first. At the end of two months the swelling had gone down, I was relieved of pain, and could walk with ease. I continued with the medicine and now I do almost all my housework. I know your medicine has saved me from the grave and I am willing for you to publish anything I write to you, for the good of others."—Mrs. ESTELLA GILLISPIE, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 34, St. Anne, Illinois.

Stimulant or Tonic?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a stimulant. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic. You have the steady, even gain that comes from such a medicine. Ask your doctor all about this. Trust him fully, and always do as he says. He knows.

Who makes the best liver pills? The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, Mass. They have been making Ayer's Pills for over sixty years. If you have the slightest doubt about using these pills, ask your doctor. Ask him first, that's best. Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

LITHIA BEER FOR THE AGED

When with age the blood becomes impoverished and ceases to pulsate through the veins with the same vigor as in youth, there is nothing more beneficial than Lithia Beer.

It is a happy combination of tonic, stimulant and nutrition. The tonic property is derived from the hops, a little alcohol furnishes the element of stimulation and the barley malt is highly nutritive.

Lithia Beer is a splendid drink for aged persons, anaemics, convalescents and nursing mothers.

CHAPTER I.

A Scandalized Virgin.

The bus drove up to the gate and stopped under the electric street light. Perched on the box by the big, black negro driver sat a little boy whose slender figure was swathed in a huge rain coat.

Miss Minerva was on the porch waiting for her child. "Mercy on me, child," she said, "what on earth made you ride up there? Why didn't you get inside?" "I just wanted to ride by Sam Lamb," replied the child as he was lifted down. "An' I see a nice fat little man name Major—"

"He jes' wouldn't ride inside, Miss Minerva," interrupted the driver, quickly, to pass over the blue that rose to the spinsters' thin cheeks at mention of the major. "Twan't no use fer ter make him ride no whar but jes' up by me. He jes' 'fused an' 'fused an' 'spouted an' 'spouted; he jes' tuck ter me 'om de minute he got off de train an' sot eyes on me; he am one easy chile ter git 'quainted wid; so I jes' 'bisted him up by me. Here an' his verlice, ma'am."

"Good-by, Sam Lamb," said the child as the negro got back on the box and gathered up the reins. "I'll see you to-morrow."

Miss Minerva imparted a thin, old maid kiss on the sweet, childish mouth. "I am your Aunt Minerva," she said, as she patted up his cheek. The little boy carelessly drew the back of his hand across his mouth.

"What are you doing?" she asked. "Are you wiping my kiss off?" "Naw'm," he replied, "I's jes' a—'s arubbin' it in, I reckon."

"Come in, William," and his aunt led the way through the wide hall into a big bedroom.

"Billy, ma'am," corrected her nephew. "William," firmly repeated Miss Minerva. "You may have been called Billy on that plantation where you were allowed to run wild with the negroes, but your name is William Green Hill, and I shall insist upon your being called by it."

She stooped to help him off with his coat, remarking, as she did so: "What a big overcoat; it is several sizes too large for you."

"Darned if 't ain't," agreed the child promptly. "Who taught you such a naughty word?" she asked in a horrified voice. "Don't you know it is wrong to curse?"

"You call that cussin'?" came in scornful tones from the little boy. "You don't know cussin' when you see it; you jes' oughter hear ole Uncle Jimmy-Jawed Jupter. Aunt Cindy's husband; he'll show you some of the pretties' cussin' you ever did hear."

"Who is Aunt Cindy?" "She's the colored 'oman what tends to me ever sence me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln's born, an' Uncle Jupter is her husband; an' he sho' is a stinger on cussin'. Is yo' husband much of a cusser?" he inquired.

A pale pink dyed Miss Minerva's thin, sallow face. "I am not a married woman," she replied, curtly, "and I most assuredly would not permit any oaths to be used on my premises."

"Well, Uncle Jimmy-Jawed Jupter is jes' natchelly bound to cuss—he's got a reputation to keep up," said Billy.

He sat down in a chair in front of his aunt, crossed his legs and smiled confidentially up into her face. "Hell an' damn is jes' easy ev'ry day words to that nigger. I wish you could hear him cuss on a Sunday jest one time, Aunt Minerva; he'd sho make you open yo' eyes an' take in yo' nose. But Aunt Cindy don't 'low me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln to say nought in 't all only jes' 'darn' tell we gits grown mens, an' puts on long pants."

"Wilkes Booth Lincoln?" questioned his aunt. "An't you never hear teller him?" asked the child. "He's ole Aunt Blue-Gum Tempy's Peruny Pearlina's boy; an' Peruny Pearlina, he continued enthusiastically, "she ain't no ordinary widge, her hair ain't got nary kink an' she's got de grandes' clothes. They ain't nothin' snide 'bout her. She got ten chillens an' ev'ry single one of 'em's got a diffunt pappy, she been married so much. They do say she got infun blood in her too."

Miss Minerva, who had been standing prim, erect and stiff, fell limply into a convenient rocking chair, and looked closely at this orphaned nephew who had come to live with her.

"Good-by, Sam Lamb," said the child as the negro got back on the box and gathered up the reins. "I'll see you to-morrow."

"What is that you have tied around your neck, William?" she asked, as the little boy rose to his feet. "That's my rabbit foot; you won't never have no 'sease' 't all an' nobody can't never conjure you if you wears a rabbit foot. This here one is the 'lef' 'im' foot; it was ketch by a red-headed nigger with cross-eyes in a graveyard at twelve o'clock on a Friday night, when they's a full moon. He give it to Aunt Cindy to tie 'roun' my nake when I's a baby. An't you got no rabbit foot?" he anxiously inquired.

"No," she answered. "I have never had one and I have never been conjured either. Give it to me, William; I can't allow you to be superstitious; and she held out her hand.

"Please, Aunt Minerva, jes' lemme wear it tonight," he pleaded. "Me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln's been wearin' 'cause he skunt a cat—I don't mean skin the cat on a actin' pole like me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln does—he skunt a sho' nough cat what was a black cat, what was a ole witten, an' she come back an' ha't him, an' he jes' 'fused an' 'fused an' 'spouted an' 'spouted; he jes' tuck ter me 'om de minute he got off de train an' sot eyes on me; he am one easy chile ter git 'quainted wid; so I jes' 'bisted him up by me. Here an' his verlice, ma'am."

"No," she said firmly; "I'll put a stop to such nonsense at once. Give it to me, William."

Billy looked up at his aunt's austere countenance and lovingly fingered his charm; he opened his mouth to say something, but hesitated; slowly he untied the string around his neck and laid his treasure on her lap; then without looking up, he ran into his own little room, closing the door behind him.

Soon afterward Miss Minerva, hearing a sound like a stifled sob coming from the adjoining room, opened the door softly and looked into a sad, little face with big, wide, open eyes shining with tears.

"What is the matter, William?" she coldly asked. "I ain't never slep' by myself," he sobbed. "Wilkes Booth Lincoln always slep' on a pallet by my bed ever sence we's born an'—an' I wants Aunt Cindy to tell me 'bout Uncle Pilgerk Peter."

His aunt sat down on the bed by his side. She was not versed in the ways of childhood, and could not know that the little boy wanted to pillow his head on Aunt Cindy's soft and ample bosom, that he was homesick for his best friends, the only companions he ever knew.

"I'll tell you a Bible story," she temporized. "You must not be a baby. You are not afraid, are you, William? God is always with you."

"I don't want no God," he sullenly made reply; "I wants somebody with sho' nough skin an' bones, an'—an' I wants to hear 'bout Uncle Pilgerk Peter."

"I will tell you a Bible story," again suggested his aunt. "I will tell you about—"

"I don't want to hear no Bible story, neither," he objected. "I wants to hear the young sister whose child had now come to live with her. But on the night of Billy's arrival the stern, narrow woman sat for hours in her rocking chair, her mind busy with thoughts of that pretty young sister, dead since the boy's birth."

And now the wild, reckless, dissipated brother-in-law was dead, too, and the child had been sent to her; to the aunt who did not want him, who did not care for children, who had never forgiven her sister her unfortunate marriage. "If he had only been a girl," she sighed. What she believed to be a happy thought entered her brain.

"I shall rear him," she promised herself, "just as if he were a little girl; then he will be both a pleasure and a comfort to me, and a companion for my loneliness."

Miss Minerva was strictly methodical; she worked ever by the clock, so many hours for this, so many for that. William, she now resolved, for the first time becoming really interested in him, should grow up to be a model young man, a splendid and wonderful piece of mechanism, a fine, practical, machine-like individual, moral, upright, religious. She was glad that he was young; she would begin his training on the morrow. She would teach him to sew, to sweep, to churn, to cook, and when he was older he should be educated for the ministry.

"Yes," said Miss Minerva; "I shall be very strict with him just at first, and punish him for the slightest disobedience or misdemeanor, and he will soon learn that my authority is not to be questioned."

And the little boy who had never had a restraining hand laid upon him in his short life? He slept sweetly and innocently in the next room, dreaming of the care-free existence on the plantation and of his idle, happy, negro companions.

CHAPTER III.
The Willing Worker.
"Get up, William," said Miss Minerva, "and come with me to the bathroom; I have fixed your bath."

The child's sleepy eyes popped wide open at this astounding command. "An't this here Wednesday?" he asked sharply.

"Yes; today is Wednesday. Hurry up or the water will get cold."

"Well, me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln jes' washed las' Sat'day. We ain't got to wash no mo' till nex' Sat'day," he argued.

"Oh, yes," said his relative; "you must bathe every day."

"Me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln never wash on a Wednesday sence we's born," he protested indignantly.

Billy's idea of a bath was taken from the severe weekly scrubbing which Aunt Cindy gave him with a hard washrag, and he felt that he'd rather die at once than have to bathe every day.

He followed his aunt dolefully to the bathroom at the end of the long back porch of the old-fashioned, one-story house; but once in the big white tub he was delighted.

In fact, he stayed in it so long Miss Minerva had to knock on the door and tell him to hurry up and get ready for breakfast.

"An' I wants Wilkes Booth Lincoln to dance a clog," persisted her nephew.

Miss Minerva remained silent. She felt unable to cope with the situation till she had adjusted her thoughts and made her plans.

Presently Billy, looking at her shrewdly, said:

"Gimme my rabbit foot, Aunt Minerva, an' I'll go right off to sleep."

When she again looked in on him he was fast asleep, a rosy flush on his babyish, tear-stained cheek, his red lips half parted, his curly head pillowed on his arm, and close against his soft, young throat there nestled the left hind foot of a rabbit.

Miss Minerva's bed time was half after nine o'clock, summer or winter. She had hardly varied a second in the years that had elapsed since the runaway marriage of her only relative, lazy. Look at me. I'm up and dressed!"

If he feels that he needs a cocktail, he can touch another button. One touch brings a martini, two whiskey, three a Manhattan, four vermouth, five an ambulance in answer, a dumb waiter rises through the floor either to bring the desired brace, or when need be, to lower the guest to the ambulance.

The hotel promoters lay much stress on the fact that all their waiters are dumb. In place of the ordinary Swiss who only stand and wait, instead of running and serving, there will be automatons run by electricity and guaranteed not to spill soup down your back or creamed asparagus in your lap. The dining table will be decorated with flowers raised by intensive electricity and every movement of both winter and summer, for there will be no need be, to lower the guest to the ambulance.

"What I Done Now?" Asked the Boy Innocently.

Instead of saying 'I sho' is hongry; you sho'nt say, 'I am very hungry.' Listen to me and try to speak more correctly."

"Don't!" she screamed as he helped himself to the meat and gravy, leaving a little brown river on her fresh white tablecloth. "Wait until I ask a blessing; then I will help you to what you want."

Billy enjoyed his breakfast very much. "These muffins sho' is— he began, catching his aunt's eye. He corrected himself: "These muffins am very good."

"These muffins are very good," said Miss Minerva patiently. "Did you ever eat any bobocuddy rabbit?" he asked. "Me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln been eatin' chit'lins, an' sweet 'taters, an' 'possum, an' squirrel, an' hoe-cake, an' Brunswick stew ever sence we's born," was his proud announcement.

"Use your napkin," commanded she, "and don't fill your mouth so full. The little boy flooded his plate with sirup."

"These here 'lasses sho' is— he began, but instantly remembering that he must be more particular in his speech, he stammered out:

"These-here sho' is—am—are a nice messer's-lass. I ain't never eat such a good bait. They sho' is—I aimed to say—these 'lasses sho' are a bird; they's nother slight tastier'n sorghum, an' Aunt Cindy 'lows that sorghum is the very penicillin of a nigger."

She did not again correct him. "I must be very patient," she thought, "and go very slowly. I must not expect too much of him at first."

After breakfast Miss Minerva, who would not keep a servant, preferring to do her own work, tied a big apron around the little boy's neck, and told him to churn while she washed the dishes. This arrangement did not suit Billy.

"Boys don't churn," he said sullenly; "me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln don't never have to churn sence we's born; 'omans has to churn an' I ain't a-going to. Major Minerva—he ain't never churn," he began belligerently, but his relative turned an uncompromising and rather perturbed back upon him. Realizing that he was beaten, he submitted to his fate, clutched the dasher angrily, and began his weary work.

He was glad his little black friend did not witness his disgrace. As he thought of Wilkes Booth Lincoln the big tears came into his eyes and rolled down his cheeks; he leaned away over the churn and the great glistening tears splashed right into the hole made for the dasher, and rolled into the milk.

Billy grew interested at once and laughed aloud; he puckered up his face and tried to weep again, for he wanted more tears to fall into the churn; but the tears refused to come and he couldn't squeeze another one out of his eyes.

"Aunt Minerva," he said mischievously, "I done runt yo' buttermilk!" "What have you done?" she inquired. "It's done runt," he replied, "you'll hafter th'ow it away; 'tain't fitten fer nothin'." I done cried 'bout a bucketful in it."

"Why did you cry?" asked Miss Minerva calmly. "Don't you like to work?" "Yes'm, I jes' loves to work; I wish I had time to work all the time. But it makes my belly ache to churn—I got a awful pain right now."

"Churn out!" she commanded unsympathetically. He grabbed the dasher and churned vigorously for one out. Aunt Minerva, he announced, resting from his labors, "it hasn't begun to come yet," replied the exasperated woman. "Don't waste so much time, William."

The child churned in silence for the space of two minutes, and suggested: "It's time to put hot water in it; Aunt Cindy always puts hot water in it. Lemme git some fer you."

"I never put hot water in my milk," said she, "it makes the butter puff. Work more and talk less, William."

Pearline see a man churn with his toes; lemme git a chair an' see if I can't churn with my toes."

"Indeed you shall not," responded his annoyed relative positively. "Sanctified Sophy knowed a colored 'oman what had a little dog went 'roun' an' 'roun' an' 'churn fer her," remarked Billy after a short pause. "You had a billy boat or a little nanny I could hitch him to the churn fer you ev'ry day."

"William," commanded his aunt, "don't say another word until you have finished your work."

"Can I sing?" he asked. She nodded permission as she went through the open door into the dining-room.

Returning a few minutes later she found him sitting astride the churn, using the dasher so vigorously that buttermilk was splashing in every direction, and singing in a clear, sweet voice:

"He'll feed you when you're naked, The orphan's tear he'll dry, He'll clothe you when you're hongry An' take you when you die."

Miss Minerva jerked him off with no gentle hand. "What I done now?" asked the boy innocently. "Tain't no harm as I can see jes' to straddle a churn."

"Go out in the front yard," commanded his aunt, "and sit in the swing till I call you. I'll finish the work without your assistance. And, William," she called after him, "there is a very bad little boy who lives next door; I want you to have as little to do with him as possible."

CHAPTER IV.
Sweetheart and Partner.
Billy was sitting quietly in the big lawn-swing when his aunt, dressed for the street, finally came through the front door.

"I am going uptown, William," she said. "I want to buy you some thing that you may go with me to church Sunday. Have you ever been to Sunday school?"

"Naw'm; but I been to pertracted meetin'," came the ready response. "I see Sanctified Sophy shout tell she tore ev'ry rag offer her back 'ceptin' a shimmy. She's one 'oman who sho' is got 'ligion; she ain't never chile tall, an' she ain't never fell I 'om grace but one time—"

"Stay right in the yard till I come back. Sit in the swing and don't go outside the front yard. I shan't be gone long," said Miss Minerva.

His aunt had hardly left the gate before Billy caught sight of a round, fat little face peering at him through the palings which separated Miss Minerva's yard from that of her next-door neighbor.

"Hello!" shouted Billy. "Is you the bad little boy what can't play with me?"

"What you doing in Miss Minerva's yard?" came the answering interrogation across the fence. "It's come to live with her," replied Billy. "My mamma an' papa is dead. What's yo' name?"

"I'm Jimmy Garner. How old are you? I'm most six, I am."

"Shucks, I's already six, a-going on seven. Come on, let's swing."

"Can't," said the new acquaintance. "I've runned off once today, and got licked for it."

"I ain't never got no whippin' sence me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln's born," boasted Billy.

"An't you?" asked Jimmy. "I 'spee' I been whipped more'n a million times, my mamma is so particlar with me. She's 'bout the particlarst woman ever was; she don't 'low me to leave the yard 'bout I get a whippin'. I believe I will come over to see you 'bout half a minute."

Suiting the action to the word Jimmy climbed the fence, and the two little boys were soon comfortably settled facing each other in the big lawn-swing.

"Who lives over there?" asked Billy, pointing to the house across the street.

"That's Miss Cecilia's house. That's her coming out of the front gate now."

The young lady smiled and waved her hand at them.

Life Sentence.
The marquis of Queensberry, apropos of the long sentence of Foulke E. Brandt, said at a dinner in New York: "It reminds me of an incident in London. A certain peer drove in a taxi cab to Westminster and, when he got out, gave the driver a very small tip."
"The driver mistook him for a member of the house of commons and snarled:
"I hope you get turned out next election and don't never get in again!"
"Don't worry, my friend," said the peer, as he set off for the house of lords. "Don't worry—I'm in for life."

What He Wanted to Say.
A teacher who had taken great trouble to impress every detail of the history lesson upon his class was sadly disappointed, on asking the name of the king who reigned previous to Queen Victoria, to find only one hand up.

"Boys," said the teacher sternly pointing as he spoke to the boy whose anxious desire to impart the necessary information compelled him to use strenuous efforts to increase his diminutive stature, "one of your intelligent little schoolfellows will tell you what none of you have the brains to know. Although the youngest in the class, his is an example that it would be a credit for many of you to emulate. Now, then, Johnny, tell them."

"Please, teacher, Jim Mills bin and runned a pin into me."
Then the intelligent little boy sat down.—London Weekly Telegraph.

COFFEE HURTS
One in Three.
It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is a poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York hotel man says: "Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffer from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse."
A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep peacefully, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was injuring me?

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum. She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitation of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change."
"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum." "There's a reason."
Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Altogether Too Late Now.
A lady, who was anxious to obtain a good general servant applied at an intelligence office and was assured by the proprietor that she had just the person to suit. A reasonable Irish woman some fifty years of age came forward.

"Well," said the lady, after a short conversation, "I would be very glad to engage you, but—"

"But what, pray?"

"Well, you see I wanted one who is—who is rather younger."

"An 'indecide,'" exclaimed the woman, folding her arms and glaring indignantly, "it's a pity the good 'Lord didn't make me in the yare to suit your convenience."

LOOK TO THE SERVING

IMPORTANT POINT IN THE SUCCESS OF DINNER.

Proper Sauce to Accompany the Dishes is a Matter Worthy of the Most Careful Consideration—Some of the Most Popular.

One of the best measures of a woman's ability as a cook is her ingenuity in serving the food she has prepared. It is an achievement worthy of some consideration to be able to serve the proper sauce, delicious, rich, smooth, and wholesome, with the meat or fish or vegetable dish. It used to be that sauces were only seen at company dinners or in hotels, but now we realize they add zest to appetite and relish to food.

With roast beef and veal, tomato, horseradish, mushroom or mustard sauces are proper; with mutton or lamb, mint sauce or sharp jellies; with pork, apple sauce or baked apples; with turkey, oyster sauce; pig-eons and broiled steaks, mushroom sauce; salmon and whitefish, egg sauce; fried fish, tartar sauce, or sauce a la reine.

The base of most sauces is a simple brown or white cream sauce or maitre d'hotel butter, as the following recipes will illustrate:

Allemande or German Sauce—Into white sauce, work lemon juice, mushroom catsup, cayenne, butter, egg yolk and a little nutmeg. It should be yellow and smooth as velvet.

Dechaux Sauce—Add mushroom essence to chicken broth, then an equal quantity of rich milk or cream. Thicken with butter and flour and strain.

Bearnaise sauce contains shallots, tarragon vinegar and parsley. It looks like a fine mayonnaise. Its base is white sauce. Celery, cauliflower and carrot sauces have a white base and take their name from a puree of the vegetable that is added.

Mayonnaise sauce is the base of caper, piquante, ravigote and many other sauces. Practice is necessary to make a fine mayonnaise. These are the proportions: One egg, as much salad oil as it will take up, a small quantity of vinegar, a dash of pepper and a little salt. A mayonnaise mixer is necessary to make a creamy, smooth dressing.

Chocolate Biscuit With Jam.
Two ounces of powdered sugar, the yolks of two eggs and half a teaspoon of vanilla extract; mix well for five minutes. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth; add to the yolks, with two ounces of sifted flour; mix very lightly. Line a pastry pan with buttered paper. Drop the mixture, neatly smooth the surface, and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Remove and allow to cool; turn the cake on a clean board, remove paper and spread with jam over the surface of cake. Spread this with a layer of melted and sweetened chocolate and allow to cool. Cut the cake into even pieces; place on a dish, set in the oven for a minute, remove and serve.

Swinging Shelf.
One of the most convenient things for the kitchen or dining-room is the swinging shelf. The shelf should be of convenient width, and the length should conform to the situation in which it is placed. A board or boards joined together, about two feet wide and as long as you like it, should have attached to the front sides of it by a hinge, a leg or standards; or there may be two, one at each end. The back of the shelf should be joined to the wall by hinges, and it can thus be lifted and buttoned or hooked to the wall, out of the way, or dropped down, resting on the front legs to form a table. There is nothing more convenient; yet few kitchens have them.

Worth Knowing.
Equal parts of milk and lukewarm water are excellent for sponging palms.

A pinch of borax in cooked starch will make the clothes stiffer and whiter.

To clean pewter, wash it with hot water, rub it with fine sand, and when dry, polish with leather.

Tie a piece of lemon on a corn every night for five nights and it will generally cause it to drop out.

Equal parts of linseed oil and elder vinegar make an excellent dressing for linoleum.

For Dented Furniture.
When furniture becomes dented and not broken, the marks may easily be made to disappear. Treat it in this manner:

Wet the bruised spot with water. Double a piece of brown paper five or six times and soak it in warm water. Place it upon the bruise and apply a warm (not hot) flatiron till the moisture has evaporated.

If the dent has not disappeared, repeat the treatment.

Biscuits for Six.
Sift two quarts of flour into tray or mixing bowl, make a hole in flour large enough for two eggs, butter, milk, one teaspoon each of soda, salt and baking powder, mix in enough flour for a soft dough, roll on board, cut out and turn over in greased pan, bake in quick oven.

When Hemming Table Linen.
If hemming table linen it will be found easier if the folded hem is rubbed with a piece of castile or any other hard, dry soap. Thus, the needle slips through the damask with greater ease. Also, if waxed thread bought at the department stores is used it does away with the knitting and knotting of the ordinary thread.—Suburban Life.

Chantilly Potatoes.
Prepare some nicely seasoned, light mashed potatoes and mound on a platter. Beat one-half cup cream until stiff, and one-half cup soft cheese grated and seasoned with salt and paprika. Pile lightly onto the potato and set on the top grate of the oven until the surface is a light brown. Delicious.

TAFT MEN WIN OUT

RIOT IN MICHIGAN CONVENTION—MILITIA CALLED TO KEEP ORDER.

ROOSEVELT SUPPORTERS BOLT

President Gets Kentucky Delegation—New York Democrats Select 90 Delegates to Baltimore Convention—Harmony Keynote of Big Meeting.

Bay City, Mich., April 13.—The Roosevelt forces, after a riot on the floor, entrance to which was guarded by a company of the state militia, beaten in their attempt to control the preliminary organization and to seat their delegates, withdrew from the Republican state convention here Thursday, held a convention and named six delegates at large to the national convention. Roosevelt leaders announced that they will carry the question of the disputed delegates to the national body.

When the Taft men were seen to be in absolute control, the Roosevelt forces went to another hall and held their own convention. They named the following delegates at large to the national convention: Gov. Chase S. Osborn, Charles Nichols, Detroit; Sybrant Wessellus, Grand Rapids; H. F. Boughey, Traverse City; Theodore Joslyn, Adrian; W. D. Gordon, Midland.

The Taft delegation is headed by John D. McKay of Detroit. The other five are Capt. W. J. Richards, Crystal Falls; George P. Morley of Saginaw; Fred A. Higgins, Cadillac; Eugene H. Field, Bay City, and William Judson, Grand Rapids.

Louisville, Ky.—With the election of four delegates at large, alternates and the electors, the state Republican convention has adjourned without the threatened bolt on the part of the Roosevelt faction, and President Taft will have 23 instructed votes in the national convention at Chicago, while three will support the former president. The four delegates at large are: United States Senator William O. Bradley, Judge James G. Breatbitt, Hopkinsville; W. D. Cochran, Maysville, and J. Edward Wood, a negro preacher from Danville.

New York.—On a strong platform, which also has the merit of brevity, New York's 90 delegates to the Baltimore convention were selected by the Democratic state convention at Terrace Garden in record time and amid the most marked conditions of all around harmony.

Following are the delegates at large, or "big four," who will represent the New York Democracy at the national convention: Delegates—United States Senator O'Gorman, Governor Dix, Alton Brooks Parker and Charles Francis Murphy.

23,000 FOR STRIKE

ENGINEERS TO WALK OUT IF DENIED INCREASE.

Ultimatum Will Be Considered by Managers—Chief Stone Asks Proposition.

New York, April 13.—Locomotive engineers on fifty railroads east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western, by a majority of more than 23,000 of 25,000 votes cast, have authorized their officials to call a strike if further negotiations with the railroads for increased pay fail.

The count of the vote was completed Friday and the result made known immediately by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to J. C. Stuart, chairman of the General Managers' association of the railroads.

The general managers have called a meeting to be held here to consider the result of the vote. The engineers' officers have notified Mr. Stuart that they would remain here for "a reasonable time" to await a counter proposition of the railroads.

Mr. Stone announced that 93.1 per cent of the engineers had voted to authorize the calling of a strike. In his letter to Mr. Stuart Mr. Stone asks if the railroads have any counter proposition to make and notifies him that if no counter proposition is received a strike of the engineers on each of the fifty roads is subject to call at any time.

In addition to the 25,000 members of the brotherhood, Mr. Stone said, about 15,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen had voted on the proposition.

Their vote also, he said, was overwhelmingly in favor of authorizing a strike should further negotiations with the railroad fail.

TRUNK CONCERN IS BANKRUPT

Romacka Brothers Company Fails for $200,000—Wife's Disgrace is Back of Trouble.

Milwaukee, April 12.—The Romacka Brothers company, a trunk manufacturing concern, was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy upon the claims of three New York creditors. Back of the financial trouble is the scandal which arose when Evelyn, then wife of C. J. Romacka, one of the brothers, was arrested some years ago in Chicago as an accomplice in crime of a negro.

Claims are known to total about $200,000, and the firm has assets estimated at about $100,000 in addition to real estate.

Marie Tempest's Nose.
At the Lenten musicale at the Waldorf-Astoria a young matron related a bon mot of Marie Tempest's.

"Miss Tempest's nose is frightfully pug, isn't it?" she began. "Well, I met her at a tea once, and she joked about her nose as if it had belonged to someone else."

"When the Creator," she said, "was looking for a nose for me he took you see, the first one that turned up."

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.
Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital force of the body brain brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and skill, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE EXTRACT of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It was with the greatest pleasure, that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. Hayes, of Ludwigsport, Pa. "I suffered for three years from a running sore. Consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning my life, but the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I shared the wound with Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve and took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

Probably Made a Hit.
A young woman who presides over one of the kindergarten schools of Cambridge appeared at her desk recently attired in a new close-fitting skirt. With no thought other than the conducting of her regular routine work, the teacher went about her duties. She noticed, however, that one of her charges was paying little attention to his work, but following her with his eyes wherever she chanced to go. Approaching the little fellow with the intention of ascertaining the trouble, she said: "Well, Tommy—before you should go any further the youngster shook his boyish head and said: "Say, teacher, that's a classy skirt you've got on!"—Boston Post.

Forward, Wisconsin!

At last the forward Wisconsin movement is taking form. At last it is pushing itself into the national arena and waking up those who should be alive to this state's opportunities and capabilities.

If the new organization recently formed, which is composed largely of representatives of other organizations which have been working for the advancement of the state, does even a part of what it expects to do the impetus will be great.

One of the needs of the state for years has been a better working together of the various associations for advancement; the development of comprehensive plans in which there would be no conflict but a united working toward the common goal. This new association promises to bring such unity into the work of pushing Wisconsin.

Although Wisconsin is a state of boundless possibilities about which almost anything good can be said that has been of the much boomed sections of the land, little attention has been given it. Its people have been tempted to the semi-tropical Canadian northwest, to times by exhibits and advertising right in its own state fair; many have been drawn away to the Pacific slopes and the irrigated lands of our west and some to the south. Yet right here at home there was land and fertility and markets and water and everything else.

This forward Wisconsin movement proposes to check that emigration and retain in the state the immigrants who follow the advertised trail to other sections. It proposes to let the truth about Wisconsin be known, both as to agricultural and commercial possibilities, to let Wisconsin take the place Nature intended it to take.—"Wisconsin Daily News."

About Clover Catch Crdps

The approach of seeding time makes it seasonable to remark briefly upon the importance of adding humus to the soil. Barnyard manure answers this purpose splendidly as far as it goes—but the fact is well established that all the barnyard manure made in this country would not approach the needs of the fields of the nation for humus. So it becomes an absolute necessity to produce plant growth for the single and simple purpose of plowing it under to increase the humus content of the soil. In Wisconsin the clovers answer this purpose handsomely, adding humus when plowed under, and likewise adding nitrogen while growing. Not only this, but they furnish a large amount of pastureage to the dairy or stock farm, and nothing could more promote the health and growth of the animals than the clover in the stubble fields after the successive harvest of rye, barley, wheat and corn.

The Wisconsin Advancement Association recently issued a bulletin on the practice of the gentleman H. E. Krueger, the champion barley grower of the world, showing how he keeps his fields in shape for the production of the highest quality of grains, and how he maintains 28 cows on 13 acres devoted exclusively to pastureage—a saving of 30 or more acres. Among the benefits to the soil through the addition of humus with clover catch crops are:

1. The direct addition of available plant food.
2. Increase in rate of conversion of the mineral plant foods to available form.
3. The prevention of "puddling" in clay soils, and consequent "baking."
4. Increasing the waterholding capacity of the soil.
5. Reducing evaporation in times of drought.
6. Loosening the soil for the more ready penetration of plant roots.
7. Bettering the conditions favorable to the comfort of the bacteria of the soil.

A more extended list of reasons for adding humus by green manuring could be prepared, but the above is probably sufficient. Briefly stated, the reason is that it pays to do so.

Newspaper Law

Judge James Ellison of the Kansas city court of appeals, handed down the following decision in the case of O. D. Austin of the Butler (Mo.) Record by Burge, other members concurring, and published in 137 S. W. Reporter, 515:

"The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the post office receives a benefit and pleasure arising from such a labor and expenditure as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and by such act he is held liable for the subscription price."
