BOLTONVILLE DEFEATED

Locals Have an Eighth Inning Batting Rally and Defeat Their Opponents by a Score of 13 to 9

The ball game last Sunday on the local grounds between Boltonville and Kewaskum drew a fair sized crowd and resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 13 to 9.

Peachman and Schoetz were on the mound for the visitors and kept the locals guessing until the eighth, when Peachman weakened and the locals found him for a number of hits, scoring in six runs. Olwin and Altenhofen did the slab work for the locals. Olwin was hit very frequently for the first four innings, when the visitors piled up nine runs, after which he was invincible, retiring the visitors in one, two, three order, every inning.

The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of both teams and Urban's work at short for the locals, who accepted all chances. To-morrow, Sunday, a return game will be played at Boltonville. A different story might be heard as the lads from the neighboring village will be after revenge and are more than confident of capturing the game.

POSTOFFICE AT ADELL ROBBED

After Dynamiting Safe and Taking Contents, Set Fire to Building

BUILDING AND CONTENTS A TOTAL LOSS

Store Was Owned by Saeman, Ziegler & Co. Loss Estimated at $60,000

Some time during last week Friday night burglars entered the store of Saeman, Ziegler & Co. at Adell and blew open the safe, and after rifling the contents which were strewn about the floor set fire to the building, which was destroyed with a total loss.

The fire was first discovered at about 5 o'clock Saturday morning and had gained such headway that no possible means could have saved the property.

As far as can be learned no strangers were seen in the village of Adell last Friday, and when the people of that village retired that night, there was nothing to indicate that before the morning hour robbers would invade their hamlet and burglarize the store.

The safe dynamited contained valuable papers, including government papers, about $600.00 in money and a large amount of postage stamps. The post office was located in this building. All of the papers, money and stamps were stolen. Some of the papers were found near the railroad tracks at Random Lake.

Postmaster Saeman immediately notified Inspector Ralph Bird of Milwaukee, and the sheriff's office. Mr. Bird at once ordered a thorough investigation.

Properly Harvested Clover Hay is Good For Horses

The chief objection which people offer to the red clovers as a horse feed are not all well founded. Most of these objections can be overcome by cutting the clovers at an earlier stage and curing properly under the hay cap. We find that one thing in particular which seems injurious to horses is that both Medium and Mammoth clover have hairy stems and small, fine hairs protruding from the leaves. If the clover is left to reach a rather advanced stage before cutting and is then dried quite rapidly in the sun these hairs break off and fill the surrounding atmosphere being drawn into the lungs of the animal. These hairs are also very hard to digest and there may be some irritation through the intestinal tract by animals eating the clover hay.

European clovers are not hairy but on account of lack of hardiness, they have not become popular in America. Alsike clover also is free from the hairiness which is noticeable upon the medium red and mammoth clovers; and when mixed with blue grass, red top or timothy, materially improves the grade of hay.

I am of the opinion that as soon as people cut clover in the advanced bud stage instead of waiting until the heads turn partially brown and let it go through a little sweat under the hay cap instead of drying in the bright sun, we will be able to produce a red clover hay which will be devoid of any of the objections which are now raised by horsemen against this feed.—R. A. Moore, Agronomist.

STOVER 2 1/2 TO THE RESCUE

The Breaking Down of Our Engine Means the Securing of Another to Finish Printing the Papers

As usual the forms were put on the press last week Friday morning to get out last week's issue. Everything worked splendidly until shortly before noon, when the connecting rod of the gasoline engine broke. A telephone message was at once sent to the factory for a new rod, which was supposed to have arrived here at 3:30 P. M. that afternoon, but which did not. In order to get the papers off the press and mailed that day, the management had to install another engine to complete the work. This one was secured from A. G. Koch, local agent for the Stover Gasoline Engines, who sent a 2 1/2 h. p. engine to this office. At the time of the break down, only about one-half the papers were printed.

Soon after the engine was in the office, it was in working order, and gave the power necessary to run the press and folder. With this power the remaining papers were printed and mailed before 6 P. M. that evening.

This office is certainly thankful to Mr. Koch for the favor he extended us, by rendering the use of his 2 1/2 h. p. Stover Engine.

The October term of the Circuit Court of Washington county opened yesterday afternoon, but after one short hearing and disposing of several default cases and a motion was postponed to Monday afternoon, November 25 at two o'clock, at which time the jurors will also appear.

James Woods and Charles Mason appeared before Judge Lueck and attempted to have their bail reduced from $5000 to 1000 dollars but their appeal was denied. The men are known throughout various parts of the country as burglars and bank robbers, and are being charged with drugging and robbing Andrew Albrecht of Barton, a saloon keeper, of three hundred dollars on the morning of April 30th. When court reopens their case will be the first one tried, and it is expected that it will draw many people to this city. # ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF COL. ROOSEVELT

Former President Shot by Man at Milwaukee.

BULLET IN RIGHT BREAST

Colonel Delivers Speech at Auditorium Despite Injury—Surgeons at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, Decide Not to Remove Bullet at Present.

Milwaukee—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the right breast by a would-be assassin just as he left the Hotel Gilpatrick on route to the Auditorium, where he was to address a mass meeting.

The colonel's life, in all human probability, was saved by the manuscript of his speech and by other papers which he carried in the inside pocket of his overcoat.

The bullet, passing through overcoat, coat, manuscript, vest, and other clothing, penetrated the body, but how deeply is not known.

Despite the wound, despite the blood that was flowing freely, the colonel insisted on fulfilling his engagement with the people of Wisconsin.

H. F. Coehaus introduced the colonel and told the crowd what had happened.

When the colonel arose to speak there was tremendous cheering. He drew his manuscript from his coat pocket and showed his audience where the bullet had gone directly through it.

He pointed out the bullet hole to the crowd and said, "You see it takes more than that to kill a Bull Moose."

As the colonel opened his coat and vest it was seen that almost the entire right side of his shirt was covered with blood. He said that if it had not been for the manuscript he had in his pocket on that side he would have been killed.

The colonel's physical strength, however, was not equal to his courage, and when half way through his speech he had to stop.

Col. Roosevelt was taken to the Emergency hospital, placed on the operating table, and six physicians made an examination of the wound.

They found that the bullet had penetrated much more deeply than the first superficial examination led them to believe, and all efforts to locate it were futile.

Col. Roosevelt left here for Chicago Monday night, arriving there about 3:30 a. m. He was taken at once to Mercy hospital, where a number of prominent surgeons examined his wounds. The doctors decided not to extract the bullet for the present. The exact location of the bullet was not announced by the surgeons but it was stated that the celebrated patient was not in any danger, unless blood poisoning sets in.

As soon as he is able to leave Chicago Col. Roosevelt will be taken to Oyster Bay. He will remain at home there until he is completely mended and will take no active part in the campaign.

The fact that his injury was such that it would force him into retirement for some time was pointed out to the colonel by the surgeons at the hospital. They were emphatic in telling him that to assure his complete recovery he would have to remain quiet for several weeks, and the colonel reluctantly agreed, insisting at the same time that he felt "perfectly fit" and could make a public speech on Tuesday.

The man who fired the shot told the police he was John Schrank of 370 East Tenth street, New York. He is young, apparently about 30 years old.

It is evident from papers on his person he has been trailing the colonel for a long while—in fact, he had the colonel's itinerary written on a sheet of note paper of a southern hotel.

The man is without doubt demented. Two insane "proclamations" were found on his person, in which is set forth that it was his duty to kill any man who aspired to a third term.

Quick action on the part of bystanders alone saved him from sudden and violent death.

He was hustled to the police station, where he first refused to give his name and reiterated the same time again that he was justified in killing the colonel and was sorry that he had not done so.

He said that he had been trying to get a chance to fire the shot that would remove Roosevelt from the world for a long while, but had been unable to get an opportunity.

Admitting his guilt in district court to a charge of assault with intent to kill and murder, and waiving preliminary examination, John Schrank, would-be assassin of the former president, was bound over to municipal court for trial at the present term.

Seemingly wholly unconscious of the danger of possible violence, Schrank refused the offer of a speedy trial, made by Judge Neels B. Neelen, with the answer: "I have plenty of time and am willing to let my trial take its regular course." The procedure did not consume more than a few moments, Schrank merely repeating his statement that he shot Roosevelt and waiving preliminary examination. The prisoner's bail was fixed at $7,500, which he was unable to furnish.

The penalty called for by law for Schrank's crime is from one to fifteen years.

While the questioning was going on the crowd began to gather up around the bench. Before the deputies notified them there were several scores of persons gathered close to the prisoner. There was no violence even suggested, for the crowd was only a curious one. After the crowd had been forced back to their seats the prisoner was led back to the "bull pen." Here he sat alone, the other prisoners crowding away from him as one would from a snake.

The letter which was found on the man who fired at the ex-president is clearly the work of an unbalanced mind. It is in a neat, careful handwriting, but the misspelling of one or two words shows that it was written by one not fully familiar with the English language. It is as follows:

"Sept. 15, 1912. To the People of the United States—

"Sept. 15, 1912: 1:30 a. m. In a dream I saw President McKinley sit up in his coffin pointing at a man in a monk's attire in whom I recognized Theodore Roosevelt. The dead president said this is my murderer, avenge my death.

"Sept. 14, 1912: 1:30 a. m. While writing a poem someone tapped me on the shoulder and said let not a murderer take the presidential chair, avenge my death. I could clearly see Mr. McKinley's features.

"Before the Almighty God, I swear that the above writing is nothing but the truth. So long as Japan would rise to be one of the greatest powers of the world despite her surviving tradition more than 2,000 years old, as Gen. Nogi so nobly demonstrated. It is the duty of the U. S. A. to uphold the third term tradition. Let every third term be regarded as a traitor to the American cause; let it be the right and duty of every citizen to forcibly remove a third term.

"To prevent it better than to defend—Never let a third term party emblem appear on an official ballot. I am willing to die for my country. God has called me to be his instrument. So help me God.

Washington, Oct. 15.—William F. McCombs of New York, chairman of the National Democratic committee, was first witness when the Clapp committee resumed its investigation of campaign funds.

Senator John H. Bankhead, manager of the Underwood campaign, Lieut. Gov. Hugh L. Nichols of Ohio, manager of the Harmon campaign, and Vice-Chairman William G. McAdoo of the national democratic committee, were directed from my own office, and I paid the expenses out of my own pocket. Then I established head quarters in New York. I think I spent about $10,000 myself."

Here Mr. McCombs introduced a list of contributors to the Wilson fund following were the principal prominent contributors:

Frederick C. Penfield, $12,000; William F. McCombs, $11,000; Charles R. Crane, $10,000; Abram J. Elkus, $12,500; Harvey Thomas, $6,000; Cleveland H. Dodge and Princeton friends, $55,800; Samuel Undermyer, $7,000; collected through William G. McAdoo $3,600, of which amount Jacob H. Schiff gave $2,500.

Mr. McCombs testified that the $12,000 credited to Frank C. Penfield was all of the money that contributors had given.

While his prepared statement totaled $193,665, Mr. McCombs said the total expenses for the campaign had amounted to $208,133. He said that represented all the money expended and that no other funds had been collected to his knowledge.

Declares He Procured Gunmen at Request of Ex-Lieutenant Who Advised Murder.

New York, Oct. 15.—"Bald Jack" Rose told the jury in Supreme Court Justice Gott's court his whole story Saturday of the plot leading up to the events following the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

He swore that Police Lieut. Becker ordered and contrived the murder to prevent exposure as a blackmailer; that Becker gloated over the body of Rosenthal as it lay in the West Forty-seventh street station, and that Becker paid the gunmen and tried for the time to protect them.

The climax was Rose's recital of Becker's reply to Rose's question as to whether or not he had seen the body.

"It was a pleasing sight to me to look and see that scoundrel — there and, if it had not been for the presence of the district attorney, I would have reached down and cut his tongue out as a warning to future scoundrels."

GIANTS THE RED SOX

NEW YORKERS TAKE SEVENTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES, 11 TO 4.

SCORED SIX IN FIRST ROUND

Wood Is Given Terrific Bombardment—Tresreau on Easy Street—Doyle Gets Homer in the Sixth, Scoring Two Runs.

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 17.—The Giants by outslugging, outrunning and outcounting their enemy here Tuesday, brought the world's series to a neck-and-neck race when they seized the seventh battle, thus making the count three and. The score was 11 to 4, the largest total of the series.

Joe Wood, who tamed the New Yorkers twice in his previous appearances, opened for the Red Sox, and the game was practically over when he left the box at the end of the first round. Wood's curves were easy; his steam was lacking. He couldn't get the ball by. His baffling delivery, which had bewildered the Giants, was a joke. Those desperate individuals toyed with his best slants, and the damage at the conclusion of the spasm was six runs.

Tresreau pitched for the Giants. He hurled a good game, but had the rout of the first inning not transpired his performance would have been still greater.

In the first part of the sixth round Doyle brought a four-inch smile to the features of Muggsy McGraw, and increased the gloom pervading the stands. Devore was up ahead of him. He permitted four wide ones to speed past and was given a base. Up came Doyle and smacked the ball with both runners straggling if around the tow path. Devore beat Doyle out by a neck, and both scored.

COLONEL ANSWERS BADGER SENATOR

Expresses Regret That La Follette Opposes Progressives.

QUOTES SPEECHES BY 'BOB'

One Made in April, 1903, Is Alleged to Favor Third Term for Roosevelt—Colonel Answers Criticism on Tariff Record of His Administration.

Oshkosh.—A defense of his record on the tariff question and an attack on Woodrow Wilson's position were made by Col. Roosevelt in his speech here. Gov. Wilson, he said, had been the hope of the progressives, but had changed his attitude and "at present his sole chance lies in the support of the reactionaries."

Here, in Senator La Follette's own state, the colonel discussed for the first time in his campaign the senator's opposition to him. He replied to Senator La Follette's attacks by taking up a number of points on which the senator has based his criticism of the former president. He expressed regret that the senator had ranged himself against the progressive party and quoted from a speech last year in the senate in which Mr. La Follette eulogized him. He also quoted Senator La Follette as saying in a speech in April, 1907, that Col. Roosevelt should have another term.

Col. Roosevelt said that the progressive party's campaign fund this year would be less than half the fund of either the democratic or the republican party. The progressives, he said, were planning on a basis that would involve the expenditure of about $350,000.

The colonel reached Oshkosh at the end of a journey from St. Paul, during which, in spite of rain, crowds met him at every station to hear him speak from the rear platform. The meeting was held in a warehouse here. Two halls had been engaged, but it was found that they would seat only a part of the crowd.

Answering criticisms that he did not take up the tariff question during his administration, Col. Roosevelt declared that business conditions at the time were such that a change of the tariff would have been futile.

ROB AND FIRE POSTOFFICE

Adell General Store Containing Post Office Destroyed by Blaze Started by Bandits.

Adell.—A gang of yeggmen forced an entrance in the postoffice at Adell, located in the Saemann-Ziegler company's general store, blew open the safe and escaped with $700 in stamps and stamped envelopes. After they left the building caught fire and was totally destroyed together with the contents, causing a loss estimated at $60,000.

Everything located in the postoffice that gave evidence of being of value was taken by the robbers, who escaped south of the city. They even took the key with which the postmaster and his assistant unlock the mail sacks.

It is supposed that the safe was blown about 3 a. m., as some of the residents heard an explosion at that time, but the robbery was not discovered until 5 o'clock when the fire broke out. By that time the flames had reached such headway that it was impossible to stop them and any evidence that might have led to the capture of the bandits was destroyed with the building and its contents.

Half a mile south of Adell, on the road to Random Lake, a package of papers belonging to Assistant Postmaster G. Ziegler, which had been placed in the postoffice safe, were found the next morning. They were of no value to the robbers, who discarded them in their flight.

Immediately after it had been discovered that the postoffice had been robbed, an alarm was sent to all of the surrounding towns. A number of residents say that they had seen a number of well dressed but suspicious looking characters about the town for the past several days, but they were unable to give the authorities anything definite to work upon.

A WASTE OF $225,000,000

John Sinclair Discusses Result of Recent Trip Abroad for the State Board of Public Affairs.

Madison.—That a saving of $225,000,000 could be made to the consumers and producers of the farm produce of this country through co-operative buying and selling is the opinion of John Sinclair of the Wisconsin legal reference library.

Mr. Sinclair was sent by the Wisconsin state board of public affairs to England, Denmark and other European countries in which co-operative marketing has succeeded, to study the methods followed there and to determine whether or not these would be applicable to Wisconsin conditions.

The farm produce of this country is worth about $9,000,000,000, and assuming that half of this represents the cost of marketing under the present system, Mr. Sinclair, in his report, estimates that at least 3 per cent of the other half could be saved by the producers by having their own co-operative managers and sales agents.

This would mean a net gain to the people of $225,000,000. And the experience of co-operation in Ireland and Denmark, as told in Mr. Sinclair's report, is that many times that amount may be saved.

The great aim in co-operation, according to Mr. Sinclair, is to increase production and to get the product to the consumer as economically as possible.

News Notes of Wisconsin.

Madison.—The city is to quit the garbage collection business. It has been reported to the street committee that several parties would like to take care of the garbage collection and it was decided to invite proposals. Under the present system all those wishing to have their garbage hauled away pay a certain amount for the collection to the city.

Milwaukee.—Stricken with paralysis at the railroad station in Waterloo, where he had gone with a party of friends to meet Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, who was to deliver a suffrage address, James A. Sheridan, a former president of the school board and prominent in local democratic circles, passed away a few hours later in the house of a neighbor.

Sturgeon Bay.—Fire which destroyed the warehouse, docks and ice house of the Booth Fishing company, caused the death of C. R. Outland, manager, who was asleep in the warehouse. Portions of his hands were found near the ledgers and it is believed that he was overcome while endeavoring to save the accounts of the firm.

Appleton.—The Soo railway has started proceedings against the city to set aside the assessment on the railway's ore dock. The action is asked under the terminal taxation law of 1911, on the ground that the law is unconstitutional.

Milwaukee.—The transfusion of a pint and a half of a father's blood into the body of his 12 year old son Paul, North Milwaukee, who was shot by a companion during an "Indian massacre" at Chippewa Falls. Antomattic telephone systems are now to be installed in this city and Eau Claire.

Janesville.—Harry Berger and Edwin Meyer, two local youths, were bound over to the February term of Circuit court without bail, being charged with the murder of Miss Matilda Bergsterman, who was found dead in the kitchen of her home on Sept. 30. The girl's father, who had been held by the police in connection with her death, was released as a witness on bail of $200, which he signed himself.

Madison Rock.—Three children of Mrs. Wiskerchen set fire to a wasp's nest on a window sill and the curtain caught fire.

Appleton.—Joseph Hontz, aged 21, of Kaukauna, suffered a broken back while at work for the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company in Kaukauna. He was painting the bottom of a new push cart which was raised on supports and when they gave way the cart, weighing 3,000 pounds, fell on him.

Ladysmith.—T. M. Thomas, nominee for elector on the republican ticket, has issued a signed statement declaring that if elected he will cast his electoral vote for President Taft, but will cast his individual vote on election day for Gov. Wilson.

CORNER FOR THE JUNIORS

GOD RULES FOR CHILDREN

Think Three Times Before You Speak and Pronounce All Words Clearly and Distinctly.

These rules, handed down by some body's grandmother, are good ones for our boys and girls to remember. Always look at the person to whom you speak. When you are addressed, look straight at the person who speaks to you. Do not forget this. Speak your words plainly; do not mumble or murmur. If words are worth saying, they are worth pronouncing distinctly and clearly. Do not say disagreeable things. If you have nothing pleasant to say, keep silent.

A fourth is—and oh, children, remember it all your lives—think three times before you speak once. Have you something to do that you find hard and would prefer not to do? Then listen to wise old grandmother. Do the hard thing first and get it over with. If you have done wrong, go and confess it. If your lesson is tough, master it. If the garden is to be weeded, weed it first and play afterward. Do first the things you don't like to do, and then, with a clear conscience, try the rest.

MOTHER'S SHARE OF SALARY

Youth Illustrates Absolute Necessity for Her Services, But No Money Value on Work.

A man chanced to meet a certain boy who was unduly proud of the fact that he was earning regular wages and supporting himself. He entered into a conversation with the boy, which ran something like this:

"Yes," said the boy, "I make $3 a week; Mary is in the store and she earns $5; I don't know how much father earns; and Ted and Jim, they don't earn anything—they just go to school."

"And do you board at home?" asked the man.

"Oh, yes; we eat breakfast and supper there, and mother puts up our dinners for us."

"Yes, I see; who gets the breakfast and does the cooking?"

"Mother."

"Who washes for you?"

"She does."

"Do you keep a girl?"

"No, we don't need one. Besides, we couldn't afford one, anyhow."

"Does your mother do all the work for the whole family?"

"Why, yes, of course."

"Does she sew and mend for all of you, too?"

"Why, I should say she did. We never hire help for anything."

"You say you get $3 every week and Mary $5. What does your mother get?"

"Mother! Why she don't work; she just stays at home, she don't get anything."

The mother's services were evidently necessary, but no money value was placed upon her work. It was taken as a matter of course that she should be a cook, nurse, sewer and be a regular Jack of all trades and good at all. The woman has a great, God-given responsibility, when the health of a family is placed in her hands.

KEEP BIRDS FROM RECORDER

Instrument Used on Isle of Wight to Measure Duration of Sun Obscured by Flocks of Crows.

The United Kingdom enjoys so comparatively few sunny days that even a hour of sunshine during the year is cherished. A sunshine recorder is maintained on the Isle of Wight.

The cat that rests on the dressing table is the cat-a-comb.

The cat that one finds in the woods is the cat-a-log.

The cat that makes your mother run is the cat-a-ma-run.

The cat that rides horseback is the cat-a-mount.

The cat that suffers great pain is the cat-a-ract.

The cat that wins a prize is the cat-a-trophe.

The cat that can fly is the cat-bird.

The cat that has been in a fight is the cat-a-gory.

The cat that is under the porch is the cat-er-pillar.

The cat that is better than a fence is the cat-er-waul.

The cat that is related to everybody is the cat-kin.

The cat that is good to eat is the cat-fish.

The cat that is never behind is the cat-chup.

The cat that ladies like to carry is the cat-eyeye.

The cat with a bad cold is a cat-arrh.

The cat with horns is cat-tie.

AMUSING TRICK FOR PARLOR

Common Hen's Egg Made to Come to Life and Revolve Around Little Boy's Top.

Here is a trick which requires some skill and practice, but which causes more than enough wonder to pay for the trouble. You take a hard-boiled egg, place it on a plate or platter, give the plate a horizontal revolving movement, increasing the motion gradually, and soon the egg will come to life, raise itself till it stands on end, and then go revolving like a top and moving all round the plate.

Life Into Egg.

Naturally you have to make a few attempts before you can succeed in getting the egg to obey instructions, but keep at it and you will succeed, and the effect is impressive. It is best in boiling the egg to hold it in an upright position with a spoon so that the air inside will all collect round the central axis of the egg and keep it from being unbalanced.

Cats Radiate Character

Cats are of a high strung and sensitive nature, easily influenced by their surroundings, declares Dumb Animals. If you wish a fine tempered, nice little home loving cat you must possess some of these attributes yourself.

You cannot expect to have a very amiable animal if you are cranky all the time. Give the animal credit for being a good imitator. If you are vile tempered and given to striking the cat, do not fault it if the cat has a like manner and strikes people and smaller animals.

My Goodness!

"Ma said Papa was all cut up." Cried Alice. "hence this tear. For really that's the saddest news I've heard for many a year!"

Rumor has it that a new highway will be built from Kewaskum to St. Michaels. Nic. Rimmel, Mr. Schmidt and others looked into the matter last Monday and if land can be purchased the road will very likely be built. It would shorten the distance between the two places one mile and besides would make a very level road.

Fellenz of this place, were married Tuesday at 9 o'clock in St. Michael's Catholic church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. E. Beyer. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and friends of the two families. From the church the wedding party was taken to the C. Bath home, where a gathering of relatives and most intimate friends did honor to the happy event. The young couple will reside on the Chas. Bath farm, two miles southeast of Kewaskum. We wish them a long and happy life.

Mr. John Engler of Five Corners and Miss Margaret Berres of this place were married Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's Catholic church by Rev. J. E. Beyer. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white embroidered voile over cream messaline silk. She also wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Marie Steloff, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a white voile dress. Miss Mina Engler, sister of the groom was bridesmaid and wore a cream messaline silk. Joe Berres, brother of the bride, was best man, Simon Berres, cousin of the bride was groomsmen. The bridal party was taken to church by two autos. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents with only near relatives present.

The young couple left on the evening train for Mellen, Wis., on a wedding trip, after which they will make their future home on a farm near Five Corners.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Berres and is a young lady of very pleasing ways, her kind disposition has won a large host of friends, she will without doubt be a very faithful and loving companion. She was attended by Miss Clara Tuttle, sister of the groom as maid of honor and wore a white veil, Miss Elsie Falk acted as bridesmaid and wore a silk poplin of oldrose shade, Erice Falk and Ed. Koch acted as groomsmen. # EXCUSE ME!

ILLUSTRATED FROM PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE PLAY AS PRODUCED BY HENRY W. SAVAGE.

SYNOPSIS.

Lieut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but the wreck of a train prevents their seeing minister on the way to the train. Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Porter has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop, a Yankee business man. The slopes have an exciting time getting to the train. "Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get divorce, boards train in maudlin condition. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears. She is also bound for Reno with same object. Likewise Mrs. Sammie Whitcomb. Later Jimmie for Ira Lathrop for her maudlin troubles. "Classmates of Marjorie" decorate bridal berth. Mrs. and Mrs. Temple start on a vacation. They decide to cut loose and Temple removes evidence of his calling. Marjorie decides to let while they are in forest. Passengers join Mallory's classmates in giving couple wedding hints. Marjorie is distracted. Ira Lathrop, woman-hating bachelor, discovers an old sweetheart, Annie Gattie, a fellow passenger. Marjorie vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers. Mrs. Wellington hears Little Jimmie's voice. Later she meets Mrs. Whitcomb. Marjorie reports to Marjorie his failure to find a preacher. They decide to pretend a quarrel and Marjorie finds a vacant berth. Mrs. Jimmie discovers Wellington on the train. Marjorie again makes an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher on a station. Marjorie is induced by Wellington to smoke a cigar. Sight of preacher on a station. Marjorie's hopes, but he takes another train. Missing hand baggage compels the couple to borrow from Mrs. Sammie. Jimmie gets a cinder in his eye and Mrs. Jimmie gives first aid. Coolness is then resumed. Still no clergyman. More borrowing. Dr. Temple puzzled by behavior of different couples. Marjorie's jealousy aroused by Mallory's baseball jacket. Marjorie suggests wrecking the train in hope that accident will produce a preacher. Also tries to induce the conductor to let the train stop at a shop. Marjorie's dog is missing. She pulls the cork stopping the train. Conductor restores dog and lovers quarrel.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

When they were alone once more, Marjorie, as radiant as April after a storm, turned her sunshiny smile on Mallory:

"Isn't it glorious to have our little Snoozeleums alive and well?"

But Marjorie was feeling like a March day. He answered with a sly chuckle: "You care more for the dog than you do for me."

"Why shouldn't I?" Marjorie answered with wide eyes. "Snoozeleums never would have brought me this, Heaven knows he didn't want to come."

Mallory repeated the indictment: "You love a dog better than you love your husband."

"My what?" Marjorie laughed, then spoke with lofty condemnation: "Harry Mallory, if you're going to be jealous of that dog, I'll never marry you the longest day I live."

"So you'll let a dog come between us?" he demanded.

"I wouldn't give up Snoozeleums for a hundred husbands," she retorted.

"I'm glad to know it in time," Marjorie said. "You'd better give me back that wedding ring."

Marjorie's heart stopped at this, but her pride was in arms. She drew herself up, slid the ring from her finger, and held it out as if she scorned it: "With pleasure. Good afternoon, Mr. Mallory."

Mallory took it as if it were the merest trifle, bowed and murmured: "Good afternoon, Miss Newton."

He stalked out and she turned her back on him. A casual witness would have said that they were too indifferent to each other even to feel anger. As a matter of romantic fact, each was on fire with love, and aching madly with regret. Each longed for strength to whirl round with outflung arms of reconciliation, and neither could be so brave. And so they parted, each harking back fiercely for one word of recall from the other. But neither spoke, and Marjorie sat staring at nothing through rattling eyes, while Mallory strode into the Men's Room as melancholy as Hamlet with Yorick's skull in his hands.

It was their first great quarrel, and they were convinced that the world might as well come to an end.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The Woman-Hater's Relapse. The observation room was as lonely as a deserted battlefield and Marjorie as dejected as a wounded soldier left behind, and perishing of thirst, when the conductor came back with Snoozeleums in his arms.

He regarded with contemptuous awe the petty cause, so great an event as the stopping of the Trans-American. He expected to see Marjorie receive the returned prodigal with wild rapture, but she didn't even smile when he said:

"Here's your powder-puff."

She just took Snoozeleums on her lap, and looking up with wet eyes and a sad smile, murmured:

"Thank you very much. You're the nicest conductor I ever met. If you ever want another position, I'll see that my father gets you one."

It was like offering the Kaiser a new job, but the conductor swallowed the insult and sought to repay it with irony.

"Thanks. And if you ever want to run this road for a couple of weeks, just let me know."

Marjorie nodded appreciatively and said: "I will. You're very kind."

And that completed the rout of that conductor. He retired in disorder, leaving Marjorie to fondle Snoozeleums with a neglected indifference that would have greatly flattered Mallory, if he could have seen through the partition that divided them.

But he was witnessing with the cynical superiority of an aged and disillusioned man the, to him, childish behavior of Ira Lathrop, an eleven-hour Orlando.

For just as Mallory moped into the smoking-room at one door, Ira Lathrop swept in at the other, his face rubicund with embarrassment and ecstasy. He had donned an old frock coat with creases like ruts from long exile in his trunk. But he was feeling like an heir apparent; and he started everybody by his jovial hail: "Well, boys—er—gentlemen—the drinks are on me. Walter, take the orders."

Little Jimmie woke with a start, rose hastily to his feet and saluted, saying: "Present! Who said take the orders?"

"I did," said Lathrop. "I'm giving a party. Walter, take the orders."

"Sarsaparilla," said Dr. Temple, but they bowed him down and ordered other things. The porter shook his head sadly: "Nothin' but soft drinks in Utah, gemmen."

A groan went up from the club-members, and Lathrop groaned loudest of all:

"Well, we've got to drink something. Take the orders. We'll all have sarsaparilla."

Little Jimmie Wellington came to the rescue.

"Don't do anything desperate, gentlemen," he said, with a look of divine philanthropy. "The bar's closed, but Little Jimmie Wellington is here with the life preserver." From his hip-pocket he produced a silver flask that looked to be big enough to carry a regiment through the Alps. It was greeted with a salvo, and Lathrop said to Jimmie: "I apologize for everything I have said—and thought—about you." He turned to the porter: "There ain't any law against giving this way, is there?"

The porter grinned: "Not if you-all bribe the exercise-inspector. And he held out a glass for the bribe, murmuring, "Don't get tired," as it was poured. He set it inside his sanctum and then bustled round with ice-filled glasses and a siphon.

When Little Jimmie offered of the flask to Dr. Temple, the clergyman put out his hand with a politely horrified: "No, thank you."

Lathrop frightened him with a sudden comment: "Look at that gesture! Doc, I'd almost swear you were a parson."

Mallory whirled on him with the eyes of a hawk about to pounce, and "The very idea!" was the best disclaimer Dr. Temple could manage, suddenly finding himself suspected.

Ashton put in with, "The only way to disprove it, Doc, is to join us."

The poor old clergyman, too deeply involved in his deception to brave confession now, decided to do and dare all. He stammered, "Er—ah—certainly," and held out his hand for his share of the poison. Little Jimmie winked at the others and almost filled the glass. The innocent doctor bowed his thanks. When the porter reached him and prepared to fill the remainder of the glass from the siphon, the parson warned him aside with a misguided caution:

"No, thanks. I'll not mix them."

Mallory turned away with a sigh: "He takes his straight. He's no parson."

Then they forgot the doctor in curiosity as to Lathrop's sudden spasm of generosity—with Wellington's liquor. Wedgewood voiced the general curiosity when he said:

"What's the old woman-hater up to now?"

"Woman-hater?" laughed Ira. "It's the old story. I'm going to follow Marjorie's example—marriage."

"I hope you succeed," said Mallory. "Wherever did you pick up the bride?"

"Wherever did you pick up the bride?" said Wedgewood, mellowing with the long glass in his hand.

"Brides are easy," said Mallory, with surprising cynicism. "Where do you get the parson?"

"Hang the parson," Wedgewood repeated, "Who's the gel?"

"I'll bet I know who she is," Ashton interposed; "it's that nectarine of a damsel who got on at Green River."

"Not the same!" Lathrop roared. "I found my bride blooming here all the while. Girl I used to spark back in Brattleboro, Vt. I've been waiting for years that I'd live and die an old maid. I've kept my head out of the noise all this time—till I struck this train and met up with Anne. We got to talking over old times—waking up old sentiments. She got on my nerves. I got on hers. Finally I said, 'Aw, hell, let's get married. Save price of one stateroom to China anyway.' She says, 'Damned if I don't!'—or words to that effect."

PRESCRIPTION DID THE WORK

Doctor's Advice That at First Seemed Hard-Hearted Effected a Permanent Cure.

Dr. Stephen Smith, who was 89 years old on February 13, is one of New York's distinguished surgeons, and a founder of the first nurses' training school established in this country. He is also the originator of what he calls the "peanut cure" for tuberculosis. He used it with success long before fresh-air sanitariums and sleeping bags had come into vogue.

"I happened to invent the cure in this way," he said. "A rosy-cheeked, wholesome Irish girl brought her sister to my office and asked me what I could do for her. The sister was plain, sickly, and weak, and obviously had bad lungs."

"What do you do for a living?" I asked the girl with the red cheeks.

"I tend a corner peanut stand," she said.

"And what does your sister do?"

Mallory broke in with feverish interest: "But you said you were going to get married on this train."

"Nothing easier. Here's how!" and he raised his glass, but Marjorie halted it down to demand: "How? that's what I want to know. How are you going to get married on this parsonless express. Have you got a little minister in your suitcase?"

Ira beamed with added pride as he explained:

"Well, you see, when I used to court Anne I had a rival—Charlie Selby by his name was. I thought he cut me out, but he became a clergyman in Utah—Oh, Charlie! I telegraphed him that I was passing through Ogden, and would he come down to the train and marry me to a charming lady. He always wanted to marry Anne. I thought it would be a darned good joke to let him marry her—to me."

"Did he accept?" Marjorie asked, excitedly, "is he coming?"

"He is—he did—here's his telegram," said Ira. "He brings the license and the ring." He passed it over, and as Marjorie read it a look of hope spread across his face. But Ira was saying: "We're going to have the wedding obsequies right here in this car. You're all invited. Will you come?"

There was a general yell of acceptance, and Ashton began to sing, "There Was a Waiting at the Church." Then he led a sort of Indian waltz dance round the next victim of the matrimonial stake. At the end of the hullabaloo all the men charged their glasses, and drained them with an uproarious "How!"

Poor Dr. Temple had taken luxurious delight in the success of his disguise and in the prospect of watching some other clergyman working while he rested. He joined the dance as rally, if not as graciously, as any of the rest, and in a final triumph of recklessness, he tossed off a bumper of straight whiskey.

Instantly his "How!" changed to "Wow!" and then his throat clamped fast with a terrific spasm that flung the tears from his eyes. He bent and writhed in a silent paroxysm till he was pounded and shaken back to life and water poured down his throat to reopen a passage.

The others thought he had merely choked and made no comment other than sympathy. They could not have dreamed that the old "physician" was a ignorant of the taste as of the vigor of pure spirits.

After a riot of handshaking and good wishes, Ira was permitted to escape with his life. Mallory followed him to the vestibule, when he caught him by the sleeve with an anxious: "Excuse me."

"Well, my boy—"

"Your minister—after you get through with him—may I use him?"

"May you—what? Why do you want a minister?"

"To get married."

"Again? Good Lord, are you a Mormon?"

"No a Mormon?"

"Then what do you want with an extra wife? It's against the law—even in Utah."

"You don't understand."

"My boy, one of us is disgracefully drunk."

"Well, I'm not," said Mallory, and then after a fierce inner debate, he decided to take Lathrop into his confidence. The words came hard after so long a duplicity, but at last they were out:

"Mr. Lathrop, I'm not really married to my wife."

"You young scoundrel!"

But his fury changed to pity when he heard the history of Mallory's ill-fated efforts, and he promised not only to lend Mallory his minister at second-hand, but also to keep the whole affair a secret, for Mallory explained his intention of having his own ceremony in the baggage-car, or somewhere out of sight of the other passengers.

Mallory's face was now aglow as the cold embers of hope leaped into sudden blaze. He wrung Lathrop's hand, saying: "Lord love you, you've saved my life—twice—both."

Then he turned and ran to Marjorie with the good news. He had quite forgotten their epoch-making separation. And she was so glad to see him smiling at her again that she forgot it, too. He came tearing into the observation room and took her by the shoulders, whispering: "Oh, Marjorie, Marjorie, I've got him! I've got him!"

"No, I've got him," she said, swinging Snoozeleums into view.

Mallory swung him back out of the way: "I don't mean a poodle, I mean a parson. I've got a parson."

"No! I can't believe it! Where is he?" She began to dance with delight, but she stopped when he explained: "Well, I haven't got him yet, but I'm going to get one."

"What—again?" she groaned, weary of this old bunco game of hope.

"It's a real live one this time," Mallory insisted. "Mr. Lathrop has ordered a minister and he's going to lend him to me as soon as he's through with him, and we'll be married on this train."

"Why is it that women will go jenny by experience?" "Because they object to Time's giving them any wrinkles."

FAD FOR MASCOT JEWELRY

One of the Prettiest Novelties That Has Been Put Forward for Many Seasons.

She who has money to afford novelties should go in for mascot jewelry. Never has it been more fascinating. Even if you are not superstitious, you are not aware of a luck charm of some sort.

A safety pin brooch, with a stone in the center, has attached to it by a thin short chain, a lucky tortoise in gold or enamel. The mascot can be further enhanced by using one's birth stone.

A motor bracelet of gold or silver wire can have attached to it various lucky charms, as the lucky finger in ivory, a lucky penny, a tiny rabbit's foot, and horseshoe, and a minute blue bird for happiness as well as safety. Sometimes these lucky pieces are worn around the neck on a fine fold chain, or they form an interesting pendant for the watch fob.

Great favorites are the lucky pig and lucky bear charm, while a novelty for the cat lover is a small bowl of gold chain, or they form an interesting fish in it and a watchful cat at one side.

A fascinating love charm which comes in circular or heart-shape has on it a plus and minus sign with Ajourdhul above the former and Qu Hier beneath it, while beneath the minus sign is Que Demain, which translated means that the donor's love shall daily be "more than yesterday and less than tomorrow."

The fond father now presents mother with a ring containing the birth stone of each child.

Summary of Points About the Styles That Will Be Well to Keep Always in Mind.

To sum up this season's new millinery features, we want to remember that the head sizes are large; that the hats set well down on the head; that the crowns are moderately high; that the tailored hats are small, the dress hats large; that everywhere there is irregularity of brim and crown; and that the smartest hats have but little trimming and are in combination effect.

A buckle, for example, covered with fur will give a smart touch to a velvet or satin hat, and just think how little fur is needed. A few scraps of satin can be shaped into wings and finished with an embroidery stitch, and thus make a new style trimming for a last year's hat. And then, too, the idea of having the crown and brim of the hat of contrasting materials is helpful to the woman who wishes to remodel the hat she wore last year.

Woman's Home Companion.

Dainty Work Bag. A yard of fancy ribbon about five inches wide, and a yard and a half of half-inch ribbon of a harmonizing color, are needed to make a very pretty work bag.

Put a hem three-quarters of an inch wide in either end of the pieces of ribbon. Midway in the hem run an extra row of stitching. This will provide a place for the drawing of the narrow ribbon.

Fold the ribbon exactly in half. Turn each of the hemmed ends over to within a quarter of an inch of the center crease. Overcast the selvages together.

Run the narrow ribbon through the double casing for a draw string, and the bag is complete. It is virtually a saddle bag or ribbon. It will be found most convenient for carrying one's crocheting or other fancy work.

Oxford Eyeglasses. If you do not wear your eyeglasses all the time try the new ones that fold like a lorgnette and are worn on a ribbon or chain around the neck. They are called Oxford glasses.

These glasses are large round ones and are good for the eyes. They have a wide, folding gold nosepiece with a patent, firm catch and a narrow gold rim. When closed they look like a monocle. A black ribbon, with gold or jeweled slides, is very fashionable.

Acceptable Gift. A woman who has traveled widely says one of the most acceptable gifts one can make to a friend going on a steamer is a box or jar of stuffed prunes. These are rarely given, can be eaten when other fruits are indigestible, and are mildly laxative.

As one authority advises free use of prunes for nervous people, declaring they have a quieting effect, the eating the prunes on shipboard should help to check seasickness—always accompanied by "nerves."

Generous Youth. "Walter, did you give your brother the best part of the apple, as I told you to?" asked the mother.

"Yes, mother," said Walter. "I gave him the seeds." He can plant 'em and have a whole orchard."—Ladies' Home Journal.

This very graceful dress is in pale gray satin. The skirt is plain and has a short tunic of napon finished with a narrow alk trimming. The bodice, of satin, is cut Magyar, with short sleeves, the long sleeves being joined on with wrapped seams; the low round yoke is of lace. The fichu is of napon edged with fringe, it has long ends falling over front of skirt; these are also finished with fringe.

RELATION OF THE DAIRY FARM TO PERMANENT AGRICULTURE.

When a man of practical knowledge coupled with the trained mind of an instructor says "that the educational value of a large dairy show cannot be estimated to men who are endeavoring to evolve the highest standards of efficiency upon their farms and in their dairy at the lowest cost of operation" there must indeed be great value to be had from an attendance at the National Dairy Show in Chicago this year.

Professor Kildee of Iowa Agricultural College is the author of the above statement and believes that lessons to be learned by looking over a thousand of the best representatives of the leading dairy breeds and the information and inspiration gained from coming in contact with men who are foremost in the Dairy world, with the chance to inspect the most modern in dairy machinery, all leads to success men who might otherwise blunder along without getting anywhere. He says that the profits derived from dairy farming are determined by the following factors: Quantity of milk, quality of milk, cost of production, and the price obtained for your dairy products.

"Thus, it must behoove any man who is striving for success to attend this great educational exhibit, as by comparison alone can we measure our knowledge, and the man who stays home and plugs along will not get from his efforts what his neighbor will extract from his, with more ease. The mere pleasure of fitting on a milk stool and getting just what milk you can, won't get you anywhere. You must have profitable cows and know what you are doing all the time.

Every hour spent at the National Dairy Show at Chicago, during the ten days of October 24th to November 2nd next, is adding to your ability to succeed. Adv.

Palliating News. "Oh, dear, officer, was my poor husband shot when you got him to the station?" "No, madam; only half shot."

Mean Hint. "Men are what their diet makes them."

"You must have been eating a great deal of sheephead fish lately."

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and an amazing good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

SAW NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

Small Boy Pretty Well Satisfied That the Future Was Not Likely to Be a Hard One.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says: A Lakewood woman was recently reading to her little boy the story of a young lad whose father was taken ill and died, after which he set himself diligently to work to support himself and mother. When she had finished the story she said:

"Dear Billy, if your papa were to die would you work to support your dear mamma?"

"Now!" said Billy, unexpectedly.

"But why not?"

"Ain't we got a good house to live in?"

"Yes, dearie—but we can't eat the house, you know."

"Ain't there a lot of stuff in the pantry?"

"Yes, but that won't last forever."

"It'll last till you get another husband, won't it? You're a pretty good looker, ma!"

Mamma gave up right there.

Wise Young Man.

That was a very nice Cambridge student of whom the London story tellers were talking some time ago. One of his college friends finding himself without funds, went to this Solomon of students to borrow. He found him in bed. Seizing him by the shoulder, he shook him.

"I say," he said, "are you asleep?"

"Why do you ask?" queried the other, sleepily.

"I want to borrow a sovereign."

"Yes," said the other, turning over and closing his eyes. "I'm asleep."

Easily Remembered.

She—Well, take mine—Tik.

"GOOD STUFF."

A Confirmed Coffee Drinker Takes to Postum.

A housewife was recently surprised when cook served Postum instead of coffee. She says:

"For the last five or six years I have been troubled with nervousness, indigestion and heart trouble. I couldn't get any benefit from the doctor's medicine so finally he ordered me to stop drinking coffee, which I did.

"I drank hot water while taking the doctor's medicine, with some improvement, then went back to coffee with the same old trouble as before.

"A new servant girl told me about Postum—said her folks used it and liked it in place of coffee. We got a package but I told her I did not believe my husband would like it, as he was a great coffee drinker.

"To my surprise he called for a third cup, said it was 'good stuff' and wanted to know what it was. We have used Postum ever since and both feel better than we have in years.

"My husband used to have bad spells with his stomach and would be sick three or four days, during which time he could not eat or drink anything. But since he gave up coffee and took to Postum, he has had no more trouble, and we now fully believe it was all caused by coffee.

"I have not had any return of my former troubles since drinking Postum, and feel better and can do more work than in the last ten years. We tell everyone about it—some say they tried it and did not like it. I tell them it makes all the difference as to how it's made. It should be made according to directions—then it is delicious."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in piggs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WELL TO AVOID DAMPNESS

One Thing About Outdoor Life That Can Not in Any Way Be Termed Beneficial.

The woman who lends an outdoor life must protect herself from dampness if she is to keep well. The mistake of the novice is trying to harden herself as no seasoned tar would attempt.

As rubbers wear out quickly when tramping have waterproof shoes that are guaranteed to shed moisture, yet are light and shapely. They come in two heights, 12 and 16 inches, or the ordinary walking shoe may be made in waterproof leather.

The woman who has once owned oilskins will never be without them. There is a feather weight grade, smooth, glossy and free from wrinkles that is made up into long coats with a warm corduroy collar; or, even smarter, come in a jacket and skirt, more convenient for use in a boat.

For the head are rubber hoods with a visor and deep collar that can be folded into pocket compass. Rather more becoming is the soft hat lined with oiled silk.

A rubber blanket that folds into a neat case is a great safeguard from dampness. It can be used when sitting on damp ground, and keeps out dampness when put over bedclothing in outdoor sleeping.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Paper plates with roses painted thereon come with dollies and paper tablecloth to match, and are truly artistic.

To remove the odor of fish from forks, first wash the forks in hot water and then remove from the water and rub them over with a tiny piece of butter. Wash again and no odor will remain.

To clean fawn colored suede gloves put the gloves on the hands and rub them all over with a mixture of fuller's earth and alum, then brush off the powder and the gloves should look as good as new.

To renew chiffon spread a wet cloth over a very hot iron and hold the chiffon over the steamer until it is free from wrinkles. Repeat the process with another hot iron and wet cloth as soon as the steam begins to flow feebly. The chiffon should be dried quickly.

Sandwich Labels.
The clever hostess of today will let no little idea of table service escape her observing eyes if she enjoys the reputation of having things just right. Not only must she be supplied with little menu cards, place cards, tiny dinner cards, but now she must use the attractive little name cards for sandwiches.

We all know from experience that almost all dairy sandwiches look alike, so a wise brain has decided that the hostess must label her viands. For garden parties, alfresco teas, buffet breakfasts and informal veranda affairs these convenient name cards are indispensable.

As many hostesses have the little solid silver tags into which the name of the liquor or cordial written on a card is inserted, the same tags might be utilized for the assorted sandwiches.

The English custom of labeling heavily garnished dishes might be used on some occasions by the American hostess, and she would surely be considered a most thoughtful woman.

Apple and Peach Pudding.
Take equal parts ripe sour apples, and peaches and mix well; put in baking dish; to each quart fruit add pint of sugar, favor with nutmeg; cover with a batter made by beating together one egg, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup sugar and enough flour to make stiff batter; bake slowly until a rich brown. Serve warm with cream and sugar.

Spice Cake Without Eggs—One cup of sugar, one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon each cinnamon and allspice, one small teaspoon salt, one cup sour milk, one small teaspoon soda dissolved in it, one cup chopped raisins, two cups flour.

Beanpot Stew.
Get a pound of shoulder steak, or any kind of stew meat, and cut up in inch pieces; place a layer of meat in bean pot, sprinkle with pepper and salt, then a tablespoon of flour, next a layer of sliced onion and one of potatoes, and so on until meat is used up; cover with a cup of water, place in oven covered and bake slowly; if water bakes off add more.

Kidney Stew.
Take kidneys and wash, then put on stove, cook slowly, then when almost done cut into small dice, put through a food chopper and add salt, pepper and make a gravy. This is fine served on toast. Kidneys make delicious stew. Cook and add onions and five or six potatoes. Thicken with a little flour. They are very nice fried, but the stew cannot be excelled.

French Stew.
Put a little butter in a spider, slice a small onion and fry in the butter. Cut leftover turnip and carrot in fancy shapes. Put the gravy left from the roast into the spider. Cook a few minutes and strain. Now cut a few slices of the cold roast meat and put in the gravy. Cook ten minutes, add turnip and carrot and one can of peas. Pour on a platter and serve.

Chili Sauce.
Twenty-four large, ripe tomatoes, five large onions, three green peppers, all chopped fine; then add four even tablespoons salt, five tablespoons brown sugar, four tablespoons cinnamon, two tablespoons ginger, one-half tablespoon cloves, one quart vinegar. Cook one and one-half hours. Put in glass jars and seal. This is excellent.

Tomato Jelly Salad.
Follow ordinary directions for making jelly, using one pint strained tomato to one-quarter box gelatin. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of celery salt. Cool in small loaf pan; when almost set, add one-half cupful pecan meats. Cube and serve with mayonnaise on lettuce.

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

Keep the pigs growing.

Sheep deserve good care.

Asparagus is a hardy plant.

Onions stand considerable cold.

A kerosene bath for roasts is urged.

Keep the pigs in a pen by themselves.

Onions should be topped and kept in a cool, dry place.

The most experienced shepherd has yet much to learn.

Sheep like a variety of pasture as well as other stock.

It is poor economy to let the brood sow get thin in flesh.

The dairy cow should essentially be a large and rich milker.

There is more or less risk in feeding ordinary silage to lambs or sheep.

It is a well-known fact that alfalfa does not do well upon an impervious subsoil.

In feeding dairy cows give them all they will clean up at each feed but no more.

Range-bred lambs are far superior to native-bred lambs for breeding purposes.

Goslings must be kept out of dampness and fed only grass, water and coarse sand.

Don't fail to divide the buttermilk between biddy and the pig. She relishes it as much as they.

The grape root worm has committed extensive depredations among the vineyards of Pennsylvania.

A toothbrush and a little naphtha will clean your velvet coat collars and make them look new again.

Select one dairy breed and stick to it. Don't mix up the breeds or you will spoil the sale of your stock.

All fowls, chicks, ducks and ducklings that are kept in yards should have plenty of green feed every day.

If the frost kills the vines of the sweet potatoes cut them off as soon as possible or the potatoes may turn black.

The spring colt should be pretty well broken by this time; if not, this is a good month to get acquainted with him.

Clean the stock tank, and keep it free from moss. Then fill it with fresh cool water. The stock will appreciate it.

The manager of the dairy farm must supply the brain. The success of the undertaking will depend largely upon him.

Early Six Weeks is a good potato for a short time, but it soon loses quality. A few rows in the garden come in handy.

Let the cows sleep out in the pastures until the very chilly nights come on. Better for them than to lie in a stuffy barn.

If pastures are failing feed a little fodder each day to the stock. It makes them more contented and less inclined to try the fences.

Farmers and feeders will this year welcome full corn cribs. It is risky business at best making meat on 75-cent corn and we will all welcome cheaper grain.

Farm orchards seem smaller and worse neglected than they were ten years ago. Perhaps the reason lies in the fact that small lots of fruit hardly ever sell profitably.

The number of silos in Kansas has nearly if not quite doubled in the last year. If they were not profitable do you think they would be built? We are not working for the fun of it any longer.

If the sheep are compelled to dig in short pastures for their living they will eat the roots of the grass. Better divide the pasture and feed one part while the other is catching up.

After the pigs have been put into the fattening pen in the fall they should be fed all that they will eat with a relish, for, as a rule, the shorter the fattening period the larger the profits.

A duckling does not know how to get out of danger. Instead it will become panic stricken and remain easy prey for the enemy. On the contrary a chicken is always on the alert, scampering off to some hiding place the moment it hears some strange noise.

Never fasten fencing wire directly to growing trees. If you do, in a few years the wire will have become imbedded in the tree and do it permanent injury. When you wish to use a tree for this purpose, spike a strip of sound board securely to the tree and fasten the wire to that. In this way very little injury will be done to the tree.

Hogs return quick profits.

Freshen up the poultry pens.

The separator is a helpful factor.

Agricultural fairs are of much value.

The first and greatest law of breeding is "like begets like."

A sheep that is in good condition in the fall is half wintered.

Do not sell a cull at any price except it be to the butcher.

Tankage is one of the very best commercial feeds in fattening hogs.

Slilage and alfalfa combined make the foundation of the best dairy ration.

Ducks are very fond of dandelions chopped and mixed with ground grain.

Cattle should have access to water at all times when prairie pasture is getting dry.

"Too little phosphorus" is the cause of many of the low yields on corn belt soils.

Have the ropes and straps good and stout when you begin to halter break the colt.

There seems to be a good deal of prejudice against millet because it exhausts the soil.

Skimp your sheep on good pasture and they will skimp you on mutton. Works both ways.

The value of corn silage to the beef producer is not limited to its use in winter feeding alone.

Keep the laying hens working. To do this feed them at daybreak and just before sundown.

Wait until cold weather has absolutely put the last fly out of business before debarring the cattle.

Instead of using an old wooden watering tank make one of cement that will never decay or leak.

The longer the calf is allowed to suck the cow the harder it will be to make it drink from a bucket.

After a day's work clean the work horses thoroughly, wash their legs from the knees down and rub dry.

Raise horses for big money, cattle for sure money and hogs for quick money, is an old saying and a good one.

A year ago there was more stock than there was feed. Now there is feed for more stock than can be found.

In building a wire fence for hogs put one barbed wire at the bottom, and the worst rooster in the pasture won't root out.

Don't be afraid to apply air-slaked lime to the cabbages with a blow gun. It will destroy the worms on the head of the cabbage.

Young fruit trees that were planted in the autumn of last year, or in the spring of this year, should be examined carefully.

Your pigs intended for breeders should not be allowed to get fat. If inclined to get fat, let up on the feed and give more range.

The garden acre should be the best on the farm. Best prepared, best fertilized and best cared for. Then it will give the best returns.

While the orchard is coming into bearing try vegetable growing as a side line. This makes one of the surest and best sources of income.

Chopped roots, fed along with the grain, will make a valuable addition to the ration, especially if winter grazing or silage is not at hand.

Keeping any machine well oiled and in proper repair not only increases efficiency, but decreases the amount of power required to run the machine.

Do not allow the cows to dry up during the latter part of the summer, as this necessitates keeping them through the winter, giving a smaller flow of milk than they should.

Land plaster has a very small percentage of lime; lump lime has the largest percentage, and hydrated lime next. Marl is usually a little richer in lime than ground lime stone.

For the last six months the hog feeder has had little more than broken even. If we are to judge the future by the past there is a time coming soon when the hog feeder will make good money.

The peanut is becoming more important as a feed for stock, especially in the southern states. The vines with the nuts attached are often cured, and they make a palatable hay for all kinds of farm stock.

The dishonest poultryman may palm a dozen bad eggs off on the lady of the house, but the cook will expose the dishonest practice. Better keep on the right side of the cook by marketing none but strictly fresh eggs, besides incidentally aiding some to your reputation.

The fruit farmer can always find something to do, either in the orchard or around the buildings. This business, like any other, is ruined by too much leaning. Keep the loose ends well in hand for the best results.

The great bulk of the oat crop of the world is produced within the north temperate zone including the countries of Russia, Germany, Norway and Sweden, Canada, and the north part of the United States. Russia produces more oats than any other country.

SHE COULD ANSWER FOR HIM

Little Comfort for Candidate in Reason Assigned by Wife for Her Being Confident.

Mr. Williams, one of five candidates for the office of sheriff in one of the northern counties of Wisconsin, was making a house-to-house canvass of a rural district, soliciting votes. Coming to the house of Farmer Thompson, he was met at the door by the good housewife, and the following dialogue ensued:

"Is Mr. Thompson at home?"

"No; he has gone to town."

"I am very sorry, as I would have liked to talk to him."

"Is there anything I can tell him for you?"

"My name is Williams, candidate for sheriff, and I wanted to exact a promise from him to vote for me at the coming election."

"Oh, that will be all right. I know he will promise, for he has already promised four other candidates the same thing."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

PIMPLES COVERED FACE

1613 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill.—"My face was very red and irritated and was covered with pimples. The pimples festered and came to a head. They itched and burned and when I scratched them became sore. I tried soaps and they would not stop the itching and burning of the skin. This lasted for a month or more. At last I tried Cuticura Ointment and Soap. They took out the burning and itching of the skin, soothing it very much and giving the relief that the others failed to give me. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment about three weeks and was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Clara Maxwell, Mar. 15, 1912.

Eggs Clotworthy Ats.

Harry Clotworthy, who is an expert on military affairs, entered the dining room of the National Press club one morning and carried with him a ravenous appetite. Having eaten one breakfast, which consisted largely of eggs, he ordered another breakfast, which consisted even more largely of eggs. After his repast he went to the writing-room to get off some letters. Half an hour later the steward of the club found the colored waiter leaning about the entrance of the writing-room and asked him what he meant by being absent from his post.

"I got a good excuse," exclaimed the waiter, exhibiting the check for the egg breakfast. "Mr. Clotworthy done eat $2 worth of eggs and I ain't got to let him get away from here without payin' for them, high as eggs is new."

Pure From Start to Finish.

There is perhaps nothing in daily use in the home in which purity is so important as in baking powder. On its purity depends the purity of the materials used, the success of the bakings, etc. And possibly the one thing that has served to make Calumet Baking Powder so much of a favorite with the critical cooks of the country, is the fact that Calumet is pure from start to finish. You can rely on Calumet's purity for the simple reason that the Calumet mill uses the material used first tested by experienced chemists as well as the most thorough tests to insure its uniformity. And standing in the case of changes of weather, etc., cannot alter it in any respect.

But perhaps the best thing of all is the fact that Calumet never fails. Every baking in which Calumet is used, is sure to come from the oven as light and as fluffy as you can wish. This not only means wholesome, tasty loaves—but a big economy as well. The Calumet net bake-day—it's the best baking powder made—for two World's Pure Food Expositions, one in Chicago, 1893, one at Paris, France, 1905—have given it the highest awards.

Righteous Indignation.

Little Ruth was the youngest daughter in a very strict Presbyterian family that especially abhorred profanity. One day Little Ruth became exceedingly exasperated with one of her dolls. In her baby vocabulary she could find no words to express adequately her disapproval of dolly's conduct.

Finally, throwing the offending dolly across the room, she cried, feelingly:

"My gracious! I wish I belonged to a family that sweared!"

Mooted Question.

"How's Willie getting on at that tree thought Sunday school you're sending him to?"

"First rate, from last accounts. He asked his pretty lady teacher who it was that first bit the apple in the Garden of Eden. Willie says she looked him straight in the eye and said nobody knew; that they'd been trying to figure it out for the last 6,000 years."

Mother Goose in Poultry Trade.

"It is reported that the following occurred in a small poultry store kept by the widow of the deceased merchant.

"I should like to see a nice fat goose," said a customer, entering the shop.

"Yes, sir," replied the boy. "Mother will be down directly."—Woman's Home Companion.

Takes Uginess Philosophically.

A man whose face is heavily pitted through a case of smallpox in his infancy, has been able to extract amusement from his appearance. Once he gave an explanation of it by saying that he had fallen down a shot tower.

Asked how he was able to shave himself, he answered:

"With a bell punch."

Explains the Undertaker's Grouch.

"Who is that fellow sitting dumpped up and muttering to himself out there on the horse block?"

"Aw, that's Ezra Toombs, the undertaker," replied the landlady of the Skeedee tavern. "He's feeling sore over the way his business has been going of late. You see, the doctor gave Judge Feebles two weeks to live; that was six weeks ago, and the judge is up and around now and figgerin' on marryin' again. Every time Ezra meets the doctor he asks him, 'How about it, hey?' and they have a row. And now he's sittin' out there watchin' a tramp painter gilding the weather-vane of the church across the street. Ezra says, by Heck, he's about ready to move away, things is so dead here."—Kansas City Star.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN C. REESE

Mrs. John C. Reese, nee Lena Blum, died at her home in this city on Thursday, Oct. 16, having been ill for several years with cancer. Six weeks ago she underwent an operation in the hope that her life might be spared, but she failed gradually and finally the inevitable came. Mrs. Reese was born in the town of Hartford on May 5 1882. In 1898 she left with her parents for Marshfield, where she married John C. Reese on March 8, 1902. The couple resided for a while at Wausau, then at Grand Rapids and three years ago came to West Bend. Deceased was the mother of four children, all of whom survive her, namely Adela, Adeline, Myron and Roderick. Besides these and the sorrowing husband she also leaves her father, four sisters and four brothers, the latter being Susan, Mrs. Frank Kreig, and Mollie, Mrs. Joseph Schnell of Marshfield; Agnes, Mrs. W. W. Warden of Campbellport; Margaret, Mrs. Joseph Merkel of West Bend; Jacob and Peter of Hartford; and Paul and John of Marshfield. Four half-sisters also mourn her death. The funeral services were held in the Catholic church Saturday at 9 o'clock and at 3:14 in the evening the remains were taken to Marshfield by train for interment. Mrs. Reese was a kind wife and mother and a devoted woman. She had many friends in this city and while all realize that her life was fraught with many hardships they nevertheless regret that her young life could not be spared to enjoy her little children and other relatives all extend their profound sympathy.—West Bend Pilot.

Experience vs. Schooling for Cheesemakers

To become a successful cheesemaker, one should know the average constituents of milk as well as the most common variation from that average and the effect that such variation will produce. Like any other business, the knowledge of the various tests now in vogue for determining the quality and condition of the milk as it comes to the factory. These are the Wisconsin curd test, the sediment test, the acid test, the fermentation test, the Hart casein test, and the Babcock butterfat test. Since cheesemaking is a fermentation process from beginning to end, the operator should understand the fundamental principles of bacteriology as pertaining to his profession. Without this knowledge the making of a uniformly good starter from day to day is practically impossible.

It is very necessary for the present day cheesemakers to know only how to go through the simple process of cheesemaking, we would not urge upon him the necessity of a course in the Wisconsin Dairy School. This process he can learn fairly well from the boss where he serves as apprentice or helper and can then go out and repeat the performance from day to day in his own factory. But how many of those engaging a helper have the time, the ability or the inclination to teach their helper the many things not involved in the actual process of making the cheese but which are so very essential for him to know in order to cope intelligently with the variable conditions as they arise from day to day in the average Wisconsin cheese factory.

It is very important that he should know how to judge cheese; for unless he can do this he will be unable to improve the quality of his own cheese, being unable to tell the faults and consequently unable to correct them. And because of his inability to judge cheese, he is at the mercy of the dealer who buys it. True, he may be able to learn all of these things from actual experience and by reading books and papers on the subject. But knowledge obtained by experience is usually dearly bought, besides being slow and tedious and what he reads in books and papers is not so available for practical use as the lectures and work in the Wisconsin Dairy School provide.—A. T. Bruhn.

Local business men are greatly interested in the campaign now being conducted for one cent letter postage. Active steps looking towards the inauguration of the lower postage rate will be taken by congress this winter according to the present outlook.

Now that the parcels post problem has been disposed of, the next important step in postal affairs in this country will be the inauguration of one cent letter postage, according to the officers of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association, which is conducting a campaign for one cent postage.

Businessmen here are backing the movement for the lower rate. The association already has a big membership in this state, and is constantly seeking to enlarge it, so that when the real battle for lower postage is waged in congress next winter, the association will receive ample backing from the business men, whom it will most benefit.

Many important postal reforms have been inaugurated during the past year, resulting in the elimination of a huge deficit and the accumulation of a creditable cash surplus. In addition to this a plan has been adopted for a limited parcels post to be put into effect early next year. Advocates of one cent postage declare that in simple justice the government must establish the lower rate at once.

Under present first class mail is paying a surplus to the government of over $20,000,000 a year. Although it requires two cents to mail a letter anywhere in the United States, it is estimated that it actually costs the government about one cent to carry it. The post office department has always been operated at a loss, and carrying mail at cost. At the present time the department receives on first-class mail a revenue of at least 84 per cent per pound, equal to $160 per ton, thus making a profit of 65 per cent. Although first-class mail supplies less than one-eighth of the total tonnage of the mails, yet it pays 75 per cent of the total revenue.

This is the principal reason why the advocates of one cent postage claim the rate should be cut in two.

Business men of this town say they would have their postage accounts cut exactly in half were the new rate inaugurated. At the present time, they claim, an enormous deficit is caused on second-class mail through the cartage to extreme points throughout the country of magazine mail. Magazines, some of them charging from $4.00 to 5.00 dollars a page for advertisements, are carried throughout the United States for one cent per pound or $20 a ton compared to $160 per ton which business men pay on letters. The large proportion of second-class mail matter carried throughout the country is said to be weekly and monthly magazine matter on which publishers are making vast profits.

You pay more than ninety cents per pound for second class letters about the United States although it costs less than half that sum to transport them," declares Assistant Postmaster General James Brit. "To correct this manifest injustice we intend to ask congress to lower first-class mail from two cents to one cent and to so adjust other classes as to put them on a cost paying basis.

"I certainly believe that one cent letter postage will pay if rates are adjusted. During the fiscal year of 1911 the government made a profit of $62,031,990.65 on first-class mail, a profit of $182,184.29 on third-class mail and a surplus of $6,091,571 on fourth class mail, while it suffered a loss of $66,336,662.55 on second class mail."

Hundreds of commercial bodies, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, and national business associations, as well as thousands of individual business houses, have endorsed the campaign for one cent postage. A bill providing for the lower rate will be introduced in congress this winter, and will be supported by commercial bodies and other organizations located all over the country. The American Bankers Association in session at Detroit in September unanimously adopted resolutions favoring one cent postage, and urging the government to adopt the new rate at this winter's session of congress.

An unusually active campaign on behalf of the propaganda for one cent letter postage is being conducted by the National One Cent Letter Postage Association, which has its headquarters in Cleveland. Its officers are Charles Wm. Burrows, president, and George T. McIntosh, secretary and treasurer. Its advisory board is made up of some of the biggest merchants throughout the country.

Millions of mail stamps are being distributed throughout the United States for use on correspondence of business houses, urging the lower rate, and active steps will be taken this winter to press through congress a bill providing for one cent postage.

Badger Pure Bred Grain Worth $500,000

Last Year

Pure bred grains and forage crops will be exhibited by the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin in conjunction with the Wisconsin Experiment Association and Alfalfa Order at the International Dairy Show, Milwaukee, Wis., October 22 to 31. The progress of the Experiment Association as a disseminating medium of purebred grains will be illustrated as well as the financial advantages attending the production of purebred grains as compared with scrub varieties. Last year $300,000 worth of purebred seeds were sold by members of the association; and Wisconsin purebred grains were sent to most of the grain growing states of the United States. The Experiment Association has not limited its work to that of better grain, but has recently assumed the responsibility of promoting a more extensive growth of one of Wisconsin's greatest hay crops, alfalfa. The Alfalfa Order of Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association will have an alfalfa exhibit illustrative of the merits of this great crop.
