SOO TRAIN GOES INTO DITCH

Four Coaches, Mail and Baggage Car Turn Turtle Without Serious Results

Allenton, Wis., Oct. 25.—(Special)—Four coaches, the mail and baggage cars of Soo train No. 1, which leaves Chicago for the Twin Cities every morning at 2 o'clock were hurled into a ditch here at 6:40 o'clock this morning while running at a speed of about thirty miles an hour.

Three mail clerks and the buffet car porter were painfully bruised, the passengers escaping with a severe shaking up.

The injured mail clerk, slightly bruised, G. W. Kelly, Chicago, porter of buffet car, slightly bruised, Carl Arnold, Stevens Point, Wis., mail clerk, thumb and neck bruised.

W. G. Gough, Chippewa Falls, mail clerk; left side and rib painfully bruised.

The wreck was caused by a defective rail. The engine failed to stop within a few feet from the place where the rest of the train parted from the tender.

DEMOCRAT RALLY WELL ATTENDED

Hon. J. B. Aswell, Congressman From Louisiana, and Frank Bucklin of West Bend Were the Speakers

ATTENDANCE WAS CLOSE TO 200

The Speakers Were Listened to by a Very Interested Audience

The Democratic rally in this village at Groeschel's hall last Thursday evening was very largely attended. About 200 voters being present. The principal speakers of the evening being Frank Bucklin of West Bend and Hon. J. B. Aswell, Congressman from Louisiana. The former talked on the state issues, pertaining to the extravagance of the present administration. He also made a few remarks in behalf of the different county candidates. Mr. Bucklin was followed by Hon. Aswell, who discussed the national political issues. Mr. Aswell had all the time the crowd with him, who were very good listeners. Knowing that Mr. Aswell came here highly recommended and being a very distinguished man, a very large crowd was in attendance. Nearly every one, if not all, speak very well of the address, and say it was one of the best, campaign speeches they ever heard. The local brass band stirred up things the rest of the evening by rendering several selections on the streets.

HAIR SPLITTING IS IN VAIN WITH SCHRANK TRIAL JUDGE

August C. Backus, Youngest Man on Superior Court Bench, Believes in Saving Wood—Time-Consuming Technicalities Don't "Get by" in His Courtroom

Judge August C. Backus, 34, municipal court, who will try the case of assault with intent to kill and murder Col. Roosevelt, is the youngest superior court judge in Wisconsin.

Maybe that accounts for the unusual way he has of doing things. He can't split hairs. Technicalities have no terrors for him. Since he has been municipal court judge the cases brought to trial are disposed of in about one-half the time formerly required. Judge Backus believes in saving wood. He believes that two and two make four, and that no man has the right or ability to prove or attempt to prove that it doesn't.

The judge gives every one a hearing, but lawyers don't seem to "get by" with those time-consuming and justice-defeating technicalities one hears so much about. The judge is death on refusing new trials unless there is ample cause—unless he has been convinced that there has been a material error in the former trial. And, so far, not one has been granted. Only recently he had a little set-to with an attorney, whose client was convicted by the jury.

"Your honor, said the attorney, 'I want for a new trial.'"

"What are your reasons for asking for one?" asked the court.

"One of the jurors went to sleep while I was addressing the jury," said the attorney. "That is clearly an error and I believe that the supreme court will so declare."

"All right was the answer. The motion for a new trial is denied. Take it up."

Several attorneys have been taking their cases to the supreme court, on technicalities, and all have lost. Not one of his decisions has been reversed.

If a juror happens to wink an eye, or a witness happens to split an infinitive—what has that got to do with whether or not John Doe committed burglary? That is the question the court asks. Seems funny—to some lawyers. Why that fellow Backus is more than one attorney remarked, seems to look at things just like the everyday citizen who is not a lawyer. Actually uses common sense and common words in talking to attorneys and in charging a jury.—Milwaukee Journal, Oct. 29, 1912.

REPUBLICAN RALLY WELL ATTENDED

The Rally Held by the Republicans in Groeschel's Hall Last Saturday Evening Was Well Attended

SPEAKS ON TARIFF AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

Hon. Emmet Hicks of Oshkosh and John M. Barney of West Bend Were the Speakers

The Republican rally held in Groeschel's hall last Saturday was well attended, over 100 voters being present. The audience was addressed by Hon. Emmet Hicks, ex-attorney general, from Oshkosh, who spoke chiefly on the question of tariff and high cost of living. Mr. Hicks is a very fluent speaker and was heard by the audience very attentively. In order that he might catch a train at West Bend, his address was considerably shorter than he expected to make.

WINS KEWASKUM BRIDE

Edwin Klug of Scott and Miss Alma Heise of This Village are Married

A very pretty wedding took place at the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church last Wednesday afternoon, October 23rd at 3 o'clock, when Rev. Greve performed the wedding ceremony of Miss Alma Heise and Edwin Klug.

The bride, who was gowned in a pink crepe de chion gown and carried a bouquet of white roses, was attended by Miss Lydia Backhaus of Milwaukee as maid of honor, who wore a pink messaline dress and carried pink carnations. The Misses Renata Rhem of Plymouth and Lilly Melahn of this village were bridesmaids. Both were gowned in pink messaline gowns and carried pink carnations.

The groom was attended by Arthur Stage as best man, and Martin Heise and Fred Belger as groomsmen. Miss Floria Greve was flower girl and Elwe Stage ringbearer. The decorations at the church and house were of crepe paper and cut flowers.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Heise of this village. She is a young lady, who has many acquaintances and is very well liked by all who know her. She will without doubt be a very faithful and loving companion.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Klug of the town of Scott, where he is very well known. He is a very industrious young man and has honest habits.

After the wedding ceremony the guests numbering 150 gathered at the home of the bride's parents, where the occasion was celebrated in a most elaborate manner.

The young couple will go to housekeeping on the groom's parents 150 acre farm in the town of Scott.

THE STATESMAN together with their many friends extends congratulations and wishes that their married life will be blessed with happiness and prosperity.

PROGRESS vs. REACTION

The Issue in The Second Congressional District—Candidates Themselves Create The Issue.

Through the nomination made at the Primary Election the voters of the Second Congressional District are confronted with an issue that must be decided at the polls on November 5th, and which cannot be dodged or ignored.

The issue is this: Shall this district be represented in congress by a progressive who is in sympathy with the present popular and widespread movement to restore this Government to the performance of its proper function of impartially serving the people as a whole; or are we to join those districts that send men to Congress who may be used to serve the selfish ends of those special interests who are now engaged in a desperate struggle to continue the domination of our Government to promote their private purposes. It is a question of joining the ranks of progress or trailing in the dust of retrogression.

The issue as here stated is squarely raised by the difference between the candidates in their past political activities and in their known sentiments upon matters affecting public questions. The Democrats have nominated an unquestioned progressive, while the Republican candidate is a reactionist or stand pater of the most pronounced type. Mr. Burke, the Democratic nominee, has always been with the progressive wing of his party. He was among the first to join the forces of progress and he has never since faltered in fidelity to that cause. His Republican opponent has always affiliated with the forces of reaction, and has used his efforts and influence in support of that faction of the Republican party which has persistently opposed and fought every policy or measure that had a tendency to furnish relief to the people from the domination of the special interests.

The platform adopted by the Republicans of this state is entirely immaterial so far as the contest for Congressman in this district is concerned. The Republican candidate for that office has been a factionist of such a marked character that his past record is a safer standard of judging the suitability for the office than party platform declaration; since a man's record speaks in unmistakable terms while platform declarations are too frequently made use of as more pretenses to assist in getting office.

With such conditions existing in the district it is unnecessary to discuss those fundamental principles which distinguish the Democratic party as the party for the people. As between a Progressive Democrat and a standpat Republican, there is no room whatever for argument. By electing the first we would be keeping in line with the best political thought of the day, and to choose the latter would blind us to ancient and reactionary policies that are now condemned by the greater mass of the people all over the country.

Every consideration of public interest, as well as an honorable pride in keeping abreast of the times, imperatively demand the re-election of Mr. Burke, the Democratic nominee. There is no persuasive reason or even a respectable pretense or excuse that can be offered in favor of the Republican candidate.—Hartford Times, October 4th, 1912.

"THE BLUE BIRD" IN MILWAUKEE

Magnificent Spectacle of Fairyland Comes to the Shubert November 10

The sensational success of New York and Chicago, Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird" will be seen at the Shubert Theatre, Milwaukee, the week beginning Sunday Nov. 10. This is one of the strongest attractions ever booked in the Wisconsin metropolis, and from all parts of the state theatergoers will come to witness it.

It will be impossible, however, to obtain seats for the Tuesday night performance, as the Milwaukee lodge of Elks, recognizing the importance of the attraction, have bought out the house for that night for their annual benefit performance, which is one of the principal society and club events of the winter season in the Cream City.

"The Blue Bird" ran a year and a half at the New Theatre, New York, played to a third of a million people, and receipts aggregated close to the half million dollar mark. In Chicago, where it was recently produced with equal success, it receives the unanimous endorsement of the press, pulpit and pew. Five hundred clergymen there commended it to their flock.

The Drama League of America said in their official bulletin: "In this one of the great Belgian plays, German quaintness and warm homely sentiment mingle with French subtlety and clarity of expression. 'The Blue Bird' is a play for mature minds, which by delightful magic is made amusing and charming for children. It is most skillfully and elaborately produced."

The theme of "The Blue Bird" is the quest for happiness, which among the peasants of Alsace-Lorraine is typified by the beautiful but elusive Blue Bird. In a Christmas dream the children Tyltyl and Mytyl set out to find this mystic creature. They pursue it in such fantastic climes as the Land of Memory, the Kingdom of the Past and of the Future, the Palace of Night and the Vale of Happiness. On the construction of these lovely dream-scenes, every resource of the stage director's art has been utilized.

Among the delightful characters are the souls of Dog, Cat, Bread, Sugar, Milk Water and Fire which take on human shapes and accompany the children in their adventures. In the end the children wake from their dream and joyfully find the Blue Bird in their own humble home where they had least expected it. A company of 100 players the same that were seen in Chicago and New York will interpret the gorgeous fairy fantasy.

Owing to the great demand for seats Manager W. E. Mick of the Shubert Theatre has consented to receive and fill mail orders three weeks in advance. The prices are seventy-five cents, one dollar, one dollar and a half and two dollars, enclose check or money-order and according to location. In writing, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chancellories of the Powers at Paris Renew Negotiations for a Settlement of the War in the Balkans—200 Soldiers Killed.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The state department received reports from Bulgaria Tuesday which show that the Bulgarian ports of Verna and Bourgez have been blockaded by the Turkish fleet. London, Oct. 24.—The first of the dreaded Turkish massacre by Turks was reported Tuesday from Girnono, via Sofia, where 150 Bulgarian peasants were forced to lie on the ground and were then shot. Out of a day's fighting that included the practical beginning of the siege of Adrianople by the Bulgars and Serbs, the bombardment of the entrance to the Gulf of Arts by Greek war vessels and sanguinary battles in every part of the war zones of Turkey, this massacre is looked upon as the development most likely to inflame the Balkan states to the point where they will not listen to the renewed efforts toward arbitration by the powers.

A dispatch from Sofia Tuesday is to the effect that the Turks are abandoning Macedonian towns after killing the mayors, school masters and priests. According to this same dispatch Bulgarians have taken the towns of Mohoma, Devlin and Kerjala, making her companies of Turkish troops prisoners.

ROOSEVELT MUST TAKE REST

Colonel to Have Absolute Quiet at Sagamore Hill—Danger of Infection Is Gone.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 24.—After his jostling 24-hour ride from Chicago, Colonel Roosevelt rested easily at Sagamore Hill Tuesday night, although fretting over the quiet he must endure in the thick of a bustling campaign. When the ex-president's physicians left him they gave out this bulletin, impressing their insistence that Roosevelt devote himself to solid rest:

Colonel Roosevelt has stood the journey well, but of course, is tired. The wound is still wide open and oozing serum. Rest and quiet are essential to him, to avoid possibilities of wound infection. He will be able to see no one at present. While Colonel Roosevelt is extremely anxious to take up the work of the campaign, we are not willing to say at this time that that will be possible.

(Signed) Drs. Jos. A. Blake, Geo. E. Brewer, Alexander S. Lambert and Scurry L. Terrell.

This bulletin seemed to indicate that the ex-president, after his long trip, had lost ground, but the physicians, to whom two, Dr. Blake and Dr. Brewer of New York, were added here, explained that the only change in the wounded colonel's condition was utter fatigue. That, they said, was a natural consequence of the shaky ride on the train.

"Does the danger from infection gravely menace him?" was asked of Dr. Lambert.

"No, I should say the danger is about gone," replied the surgeon. "But he needs watching."

RYAN IS BEST GIVER

CONTRIBUTED $450,000 TO CAMPAIGN IN 1904.

Perkins Says Story of $3,000,000 Gift to Aid Roosevelt Is False and Asks That Penrose Prove It.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Thomas Fortune Ryan, the multi-millionaire Democrat, who was a witness, on Monday, before the campaign fund investigating committee, loomed up as the biggest campaign contributor that has come before that inquisitorial body.

Mr. Ryan gave $450,000 to the campaign fund for Judge Parker in 1904, or nearly twice the Harriman fund of $240,000, which the committee has probed.

Then Mr. Ryan trailed along with "minor" contributions to congressional campaigns—he could not remember the amounts—down to the Democratic pre-convention fight of 1912, when he contributed between $70,000 and $80,000 to Governor Harmon and over $30,000 to Mr. Underwood, and would have given to the campaign of Governor Wilson and Mr. Clark, but was not approached by the managers for these two candidates.

George W. Perkins was a belligerent witness and twice had to be called to order by the committee, the members of which objected to his manner of lecturing them. Bitterly resentful of the charge made in the senate by Senator Penrose and later repeated by Charles Hilles, that two or three millions had been spent in the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign and that this had come from the harvester and steel trusts and had been underwritten by him, he exclaimed, angrily:

"Among the long list of unmitigated lies throughout this campaign that statement about the $3,000,000 fund perhaps ought to be placed at the top, because it was the largest."

"I was in hopes that Senator Penrose would be here. He made that statement on the floor of the senate and he ought to be required to prove it, or, like a gentleman, he ought to take it back. There is not a scintilla of truth in it from A to Z."

BECKER CASE ENDS

JUDGE ORDERS DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO ASK QUESTIONS WHICH DEFENSE DECLINES TO DO.

ACCUSED DOES NOT TESTIFY

Jack Sullivan, "King of the Newsboys," Is Recalled by the Court and Insists Gambler's Stories About Murder Are "Frame Ups."

New York, Oct. 23.—The case of the state against Police Lieutenant Charles Becker closed abruptly on Tuesday and dramatically with the district attorney, at the court's command, reading into the record a flood of testimony from "Jack Sullivan."

For whose admission Becker's lawyers had fought long and hard when Sullivan testified before. Amid the vigorous protests of Becker's counsel, who had objected as vigorously when Sullivan's testimony was barred several days ago, the "king of the newsboys" unloosed his tongue.

By the court's direction "Jack" Sullivan was recalled.

"What did Rose say to you in the council-room?" asked the district attorney of Sullivan.

"He said, 'Self-preservation is the first law of nature. I had to testify against Becker to save my life.'"

"What did Bridgie Webber say?" "He said, 'I'm the happiest man in the world. That Rosenthal is dead, and I don't care to worry about his getting me now. Now, Jack, it's all been fixed up by the district attorney for you to corroborate us when we testify. We are all Jews, and what do we care about that Dutch—Becker anyhow.'"

"Did Rose say anything else to you?"

"Yes, he said that he and Webber and Vallon and Schepps were going to frame up Becker, and I said: 'Why you bald-headed — what do you mean by this?' He said: 'Well, you know, self-preservation is the first law of nature.'"

"Bridgie Webber said to me: 'The only way you can get out of this is for you to do as Mr. Whitman says and swear you saw Becker at Forty-second street and Sixth avenue a few hours after the murder. If you do that you will get out, like we all, after the trial. If you don't, you'll be indicted and spend six months in jail.'"

"Did Webber offer you money to corroborate him?"

"Yes; he said: 'For God's sake, Jack, say that you saw Becker, as we will testify. If you want any money I'll give you $1,000 now and when you get out we'll go into the hotel business. I'll put in $25,000, and will divide the profits evenly. All you have to do is to lie for us; if you lie, it's all right. If you don't, you'll go to jail.'"

"I told him I'd go to jail, and he asked me to name my price. I told him I didn't have a price when it came to swearing a man's life away."

U. S. MARINES TO LAND

COMMANDER HUGHES IN CHARGE AT VERA CRUZ, MEX.

Reports That Felix Diaz Agrees That There Shall Be No Bombardment of the City.

Washington, Oct. 22.—It is very probable the United States bluejackets and marines will be landed at Vera Cruz within a day or two.

Commander Charles F. Hughes of the United States cruiser Des Moines, who has arrived in the port of Vera Cruz, has taken complete charge of the complex political situation in that city.

He is acting for the state department. His dispatches, given out at the state and navy departments, are slightly obscure, but they show these things:

That there will be no bombardment of Vera Cruz. That communication by rail and otherwise will be kept open between Mexico City and Vera Cruz.

He will see that the seagrana and other American ships with cargoes for the interior will be allowed to land their cargoes. This is important, as it is indicated in his dispatches that the landing of cargoes may be opposed.

Commander Hughes reports that Diaz is in complete control of the city and has given his assurances of peace within the town, that there will be no bombardment of the city and that the lives and property of Americans and other foreign residents will not be imperiled.

Unseen Man Hurts Inkwell at Black Pugilist From Building in Chicago.

The inkwell missed its mark by two feet. Johnson drove up to the First National bank a few minutes after he left the court room of Judge Hopkins in the criminal court building, where the hearing of the charge against him of abducting Lucile Cameron, nineteen years old, had been continued to October 29, in order that the federal government might investigate charges that the Mann white slave act had been violated.

LA FOLLETTE TELLS WHERE HE STANDS

Will Not Vote for Taft, Roosevelt or Wilson.

IN INDEPENDENT POSITION

Wisconsin Senator, in La Crosse Speech, Declares He Desires to be in Place Where He Can Aid Wilson, If Latter Is Elected.

La Crosse.—Declaring that he proposed to pursue an absolutely independent position in respect to the national political situation and that he did not intend to vote for either Taft, Roosevelt or Wilson for president, Senator R. M. La Follette made known his attitude on this question for the first time in the present campaign, in a speech in the La Crosse theater.

Senator La Follette compared the administrations of Roosevelt and Taft and said that neither had prosecuted trusts to an extent that kept pace with the growth of the monopolies. He further said:

"The operation of separating the illegal trusts from legitimate business requires the highest degree of skill and a trained eye and master mind. It is no job for a bull moose. Judging by what has happened in the last four years it doesn't seem to be a job for an amiable, easy going fat man."

"I propose to pursue an absolutely independent position. I do not intend to vote for any of these three men. I am to remain in the United States senate four years. I want to be in a position, if Wilson is elected and shows the proper mettle, to join with the other progressive republican members to advance the interests of the people in this country in support of his policies."

"I also want to be in a position where I can assist Mr. Wilson if he should be elected president and not be taxed with any responsibility for his stand. Now you know where I am at."

SOMETHING AKIN TO GENIUS

Young Man With Financial Ability So Well Developed Should Make Mark in World.

"Do you think there is any such thing as financial genius?" "I am sure there is. I know a young man who has it in a marked degree. After he had persuaded a beautiful daughter of one of our most prominent jewelers to become his wife he went around and induced the old man to let him have an engagement ring at the cost price."

"I don't see any indication of remarkable financial genius about that."

"Wait. When he and the girl broke their engagement he took the ring back to her dad and got him to pay eight per cent interest on the money that had been invested."

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Abbotsford, Wis.—"My son had eczema on his hands for about one year. The eczema started with a rash. His hands were so sore he could not close them, and when he had his hands they hurt him so he could hardly wash. His hands itched and burned just terrible and if he would scratch them, they would break out into sores. He could not get any rest or sleep, and his hands looked quite bad.

"We had medicine and salve and it kept getting worse all the time. I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after washing his hands with the Cuticura Soap and putting some of the Cuticura Ointment on two times a day and tying cloths on them for about six months they got well and have not broken out since. Open Air Schools Grow in Favor.

With the opening of the fall school term, over 200 open air schools and fresh air classes for tuberculous and anemic children, and also for all children in certain rooms and grades, will be in operation in various parts of the United States, according to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. All of these schools have been established since January, 1907, when the first institution of this character was opened in Providence, R. I. On January 1, 1910, there were only 13 open air schools in this country and a year later the number had increased only to 23. Thus, the real growth in this movement has been within the last two years. Massachusetts now leads the states with 28 fresh air schools and classes for tuberculous, anemic and other school children, Boston alone having over 80. New York comes next with 23, and Ohio is third with 21. Open air schools have now been established in nearly 50 cities and 19 different states.

The Farmer's Search.
While plowing, a Crawford county farmer near Helper had the misfortune to lose a small part from his cultivator in the plowed ground. Soon a neighbor came by. "Lost something?" he asked. Soon another came by and asked the same question. And then another. Pretty soon a man he didn't like anyhow approached. "Lost something?" he asked. The farmer looked up in supreme disgust. "Oh, no; just digging worms for my pet buzzard," he replied.—Kansas City Star.

BELIEVE OSHKOSH YOUTH MURDERED

Body Shipped from Tomahawk Shows Suspicious Wounds.

BROTHER-IN-LAW ARRESTED

After Being Taken Into Custody Accused Man Confesses to Causing Boy's Death, But Makes Plea of Self-Defense.

Oshkosh.—According to information received today by District Attorney McDonald from District Attorney Smith of Merrill, Lincoln county, Edward Eilers, son of William Eilers of this city, did not die a natural death, but was shot and killed, it is alleged, by his brother-in-law named Hofburger, at whose home in the woods, twelve miles from Tomahawk, Eilers had been living.

The body of Eilers was sent to the city for interment, and the relatives here discovered two wounds, one from a bullet, and an injury on the head which looked as if it had been caused by some blunt instrument. Relatives immediately took up the matter with the district attorney here, who communicated with the district attorney at Merrill.

Mr. Smith communicated with Mr. McDonald by telephone this morning, stating that two physicians had examined Eiler's body and had declared he came to his death from a gunshot wound. He also stated that Hofburger had been arrested, charged with the shooting and he had admitted the charge, but claimed he shot in self-defense. Hofburger is now being held for examination on a charge of manslaughter.

At the point of a revolver he ordered all the guests out of the house and then went through the coats, getting a small sum of money. Afterwards, Williams held up a party of four people on the streets, but failed to get any money from them. Later it was learned he had burglarized a local clothing store just before holding up the candy pull. He was arrested by the police and lodged in jail.

HEARS LOVER SHOOT SELF

Fond du Lac Man Phones Sweetheart and Fires Bullet Into Temple—Hurt Hand in Machine.

Milwaukee.—While talking with his sweetheart, Miss Amelia Fromm, 1029 Galena street, over the long distance telephone, J. E. Herworth, aged 23, a former Milwaukeean, employed by the Rueping Leather company, Fond du Lac, shot himself, probably fatally, through the right temple.

Miss Fromm had begged him for ten minutes to forego his intention, and thought she had succeeded until she heard the pistol shot and the fall of the body. She fainted.

"He seemed in the best of spirits, and spoke for several minutes, asking about mother and myself," she said. "Suddenly his manner seemed to change, and he told me that he had not worked all day. I asked him the reason, and he told me he had lost three fingers of his right hand in an accident at one of the machines.

"He said that he would never be able to work any more, and that he would not be of any use in this world any more. He spoke in this manner for several minutes and I attempted to cheer him up, fearful all the time that he meant to do something awful. The next words confirmed my fears, his words being, 'Well, I'm going to kill myself.' The next moment I heard the shot, and the sound of the body falling. I shouted frantically for a moment, and then all became black."

CO-OPERATION IS URGED

Member State Board of Public Affairs Alleges Farmers Lose Millions on Potatoes Alone.

Madison.—"If the farmers of Wisconsin would co-operate and market their own potatoes, figuring three cents a bushel as a conservative saving to them, they would save nearly $1,000,000 a year," is the statement of a representative of the Wisconsin state board of public affairs.

"It is a safe estimate," he exclaimed, "that five cents a bushel represents the increased profit realized by the farmers selling to the wholesalers and consumers in the cities through their warehouse operations. One farmer has not enough potatoes to make it worth while for a wholesaler to do business with him. The individual farmer usually sells his crop to the small local dealer, who in turn disposes of it to a jobber. And neither the producer nor the consumer profits by such an arrangement, for the potatoes pass through too many hands. How different is the situation when farmers combine their co-operation and put up warehouses and deal directly with the wholesaler, the retailer or consumer."

Badger University Football Team Defeats Boilermakers at Madison—Beloit and Lawrence Play Tie.

Madison.—A welcome surprise was afforded Wisconsin rooters when the Badger team completely upset the Purdue team by showing the strong Purdue team playing to the tune of 41 to 0.

Playing great football throughout the contest, Coach Juneau's hopes piled up six touchdowns against their opponents before the final whistle sounded. Two touchdowns by Jimmy Van Riper, one registered after four minutes of play and one score each by Ed Gelein, Ofstie, Gillette and Torney did the work for Wisconsin. The game was featured by the clever headwork and spectacular running of Eddie Gillette and by Van Riper's and Tandberg's consistent line plunging.

The Purdue team, although strong, was clearly outplayed. The Boiler Makers did not succeed in getting away with any of the much expected Keeckie Moll special trick plays, being blocked in three different attempts at fancy work behind the line. Coach Juneau was much pleased with the showing the men made, as he considered the game as the deciding point of the season for the Badgers.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Chickens enjoy free range.

Keep all sleeping places dry.

Chopping horses' legs is not a good practice.

It is time now to prepare the ewes for the next mating season.

It is bad policy to wean young pigs suddenly and put them on cows' skim milk.

Sheep ought to be kept because of the influence which they exert upon fertility.

Try to arrange to give each horse on the farm a three weeks' vacation on grass.

The time spent in company of the sheep will pay and success will crown your labors.

If winter dairying is to be the most profitable it must be planned for definitely in advance.

The young pig wants to be got out into the sunshine and on to the dirt as early in life as possible.

Sheep at six years of age lose their teeth; hence they should be fattened and sold before this period.

This is a good time to put a square of tar paper in the bottom of each nest box for the benefit of lice.

Do not neglect to provide clean water for the poultry. Dirty water is dirty at any season of the year.

If the strawberries have been picked two seasons, spade up the beds and sow the land for some late-planted crop.

Know whether a plant requires a situation dry or moist, hot or cool, sunny or shady to know where to put that plant.

The lady-bugs or ladybirds are small turtle-shaped beetles which feed upon plant life in both the larval and adult stages.

Some plants cannot be thoroughly weeded with the hoe. In these cases weedy weed should be carefully plucked by hand.

Plant a cover crop in the orchard. Rye, barley, wheat and oats are good non-leguminous plants, but the legumes are better.

The farmers and fruit growers of this country are losing over one billion dollars annually by reason of the ravages of insects.

A dense fleece is valuable not alone for the increase in quantity of wool, but for the protection that it affords the animal from the elements.

Corn and alfalfa usually can be attended when the wheat needs no care, thus distributing the labor more equitably throughout the season.

If lice and mites fail to pay enough attention to their treatment, try burning them out with a torch. But don't burn down the house in order to get the vermin.

As a rule, it will not pay to hold the pig crop for prices to rise, unless they are being held. Write a few feeders win out in playing the market game, many more lose.

Mushrooms, on account of the amount of nitrogen they contain, approach nearer to animal food than any other vegetable product. An analysis made by Prof. Atwood shows that mushrooms contain 3.5 per cent. proteins.

Anything that will destroy weeds is worthy of the farmer's attention; anything that will maintain the fertility of the land demands his attention. Sheep will do both, and are therefore entitled to the attention of every farmer.

The dishonest poultryman may pin a dozen bad eggs off on the lady of the house, but the cook will expose the dishonest practice. Better keep on the right side of the cook by marketing none but strictly fresh eggs, besides incidentally kidding some to your reputation.

It has been demonstrated to be an almost universal fact that topping cotton does not do the work it is intended to check the growth of the leafy upper portion of the plant. Instead, in most cases, it has a tendency to cause the renewal of this growth and in the very place where it will do the most harm by shading the bolls in the middle of the stalk.

Two young girls, aged respectively, eleven and twelve, entered a butcher's shop in Edinburgh, Scotland, the other day, and during the brief absence of the proprietor abstracted the sum of 14c 6d from the till. On the butcher's return, one of the girls gave her order. On going to the till the man discovered his loss. The girls then unflinchingly described a man who, they said, had come out of the shop as they entered it. The same evening in the police station a man was identified by the girls. He was astounded at their story, but as no money was found on him he was liberated. The girls subsequently admitted the theft, and were put under probation for 12 months.

In Customary Parlane.
"There's only one fault I have to find with that financial backer," said the candidate in a tone of annoyance.
"What is that?"
"He keeps referring to our party platform as a prospectus."

Turkeys relish green feed.

Dig holes for trees in the fall.

Vetches make good sheep fodder.

The scrub purebred is the greatest failure.

Cattle scarcity is still with us and will remain for the next two years.

Your horse may intend to please you, but does not understand your wishes.

Corn and alfalfa make a combination that cannot be equaled on the dairy farm.

Whenever hogs are confined to one feeding place a feeding floor should be provided.

A lump of sugar or a bite of apple will do more in the training of a colt than a whip.

Farming on a business basis eliminates small mules just as it displaces small horses.

A lamb that is large and strong will stand weaning better, and also winter better.

Many practical hog raisers are now using artificial wallows, built of either cement or tumber.

For aphids on sweet peas, use insect powder or tobacco dust, applying with a small bellows.

Five or six pounds of corn are usually required to produce a pound of pork in dry-lot feeding.

If pigs are well fed they will usually wean themselves at the proper time, without any trouble.

The key to the bee business is bee forage and the best bee forage known at present is sweet clover.

If a man cannot feed hogs as well as they should be fed, he ought to sell them to a man that will.

Sheep are a persistent agency of improvement to the soil of the farms on which they are kept.

The levelness with which a horse walks is one of the best evidences that his legs work in harmony.

To thoroughly clean milk utensils they first should be rinsed with cold water to remove all particles of milk.

Gather up the dead branches and burn them, as they are apt to harbor bark beetles, one of the worst orchard pests.

Move the colony houses and brood coops on fresh ground every day or two, and the chicks will grow faster.

A chicken takes naturally to having feed handed it, but the turkey is almost self-supporting until cold weather.

Turkeys always find a ready sale and are almost clear profit. There is always a demand. The market is never glutted.

The little chicks do best on corn bread made of sour milk, soda and cracked corn. They should be fed on something clean.

The eggs from the matured hen will hatch better and produce stronger chicks than the eggs of pullets. They are usually larger, too.

Unlike other poultry, the turkey never has been thoroughly domesticated, but has remained practically a wild bird in its requirements.

The meat of yarded poultry is always more tender than that of fowls having free range, due to the extreme muscular development of the latter.

Never let young chickens perch until their breast bone can endure the strain, as a crooked breast bone decreases a fowl's market value, as well as breeding value.

A yield of 12 tons of silage may easily be obtained from one acre of corn. Allowing 30 pounds of silage as a daily ration, one acre of corn will furnish four cows with silage for 200 days.

New England dairymen find it profitable to feed grain to dairy cows even when they are on June pasture. Cannot we afford some corn fodder for our western cows now that pastures are drying up?

Chickens should have good, sweet feed to make good eggs, the same as a cow should have sweet grains to make good sweet milk. How quick a dairyman moves his cows when he finds garlic in his pasture.

Breeding poultry may serve a good purpose in the pot, but they should not be permitted to propagate their kind. Scrub hens should be mated to pure bred males so that the breeding has an upward rather than a downward tendency.

The cow that sucks herself is in almost every case a good milker. If you have one of this kind, try this before you sell her: Ring her as you would a bull and in this ring hang another, forming two links of a chain. It stops the sucking in most of the cases.

Man's Narrow Escape.
Two young girls, aged respectively, eleven and twelve, entered a butcher's shop in Edinburgh, Scotland, the other day, and during the brief absence of the proprietor abstracted the sum of 14c 6d from the till. On the butcher's return, one of the girls gave her order. On going to the till the man discovered his loss. Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do. An overworked Ohio doctor tells his experience:

"About three years ago as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely, and I was literally better than a physical wreck.

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight, and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and lack of nerve force for continued mental application.

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak, with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring.

SUCCESS FOLLOWS JUDICIOUS FARMING

IN WESTERN CANADA IT IS CERTAIN.

The story of the Big Farmer in Western Canada, and the immense profits he has made in the growing of grain, has been told and retold. He has been found in all parts of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. His splendid farm buildings have been pictured, his traction outfits described and his princely surroundings, resultant of his success in growing grain, have been portrayed by letter, press and camera. It certainly is not to his discredit that by successfully applying common sense and up-to-date methods to the conditions that climate, a good soil, and splendid market have placed at hand, that he has made the best use of them. He is not too proud to admit that he came to the country a very few years ago handicapped as to money, leaving behind him unpaid mortgages in his old home land (which are now wiped out), and he is still today the same go-ahead, hearty fellow he was in the days that he had to work for a neighbor, while the neighbor broke the land on his homestead, which went to make up the settlement duties.

Then, there, too, is the farmer and the farmer's son, already wealthy, who has bought large holdings in Western Canada, in either Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, who has made forty to one hundred per cent. on his investment, whose big grain crops and whose immense cattle herds are being used to improve the country. Health and strength, energy and push, and bull dog grit are as essential in Western Canada as in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, or any of the states from which so many of these people come and then, when you have added to that a fair amount of means, with which to make a start, the land which is only waiting for the skill of the husbandman will quickly respond.

But there is the smaller farmer, the man who has not made sufficient in four or five years, that he might comfortably retire if he felt like it. There are many of them in all the three Provinces. It is not the less to his credit that he has earned his homestead by the three years residence, that he is free from debt, and has a reasonable bank account. He, too, came to the country handicapped by debts, and with very little means. He is contented, has a good home, land free of encumbrance, some stock, and with good prospects. One of these writes: "I formerly lived near Dayton, Ohio, on a rented farm, had as good a chance as the average renter, but after ten years of hard work, satisfied myself that if I ever expected to secure a home, I would have to undertake something else. Hearing of Western Canada, I investigated, and seven years ago last Spring settled in a homestead and purchased (on time) an adjoining half section, arriving with a carload of household effects and farm implements, including four horses and three cows, and $1,800 in money—my ten years' work in Ohio.

"The first year our crops gave us feed, the second year 100 acres of wheat gave us $1,500; no failure of crop since starting here. I have now 22 head of horses, 15 head of cattle, and 35 hogs. We own 1,120 acres of land, and have same all under cultivation. Was offered at one time $35,000 per acre for a half section where we live, and all the other land could be sold today on present market at $30.00 per acre. Should we care to dispose of our holdings, could pay all debts, and have over $20,000 to the good, but the question is where could we go to invest our money and get as good returns as here?

"We have equally as good, if not better prospects for crops this year, as we had three years ago, when our wheat reached from 30 to 48 bushels per acre. I never believed such crops could be raised until I saw them myself. I had 15 acres that year that made 59 bushels to the acre. Our harvest will be ready by the 15th. We have this season in crop 400 acres of wheat, 125 of oats, 90 of flax, and run three binders, with four men to do the stooking.

"We certainly like this country, and the winters, although the winters are cold at times, but we do not suffer as one would think. What we have accomplished here can be duplicated in almost any of the new districts. If anyone doubts anything I have said in this letter, tell them to come here, and I can prove every word I have written."

The name of the writer can be had from the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, who can give the names of hundreds of others equally successful. Adv.

SYNOPSIS.

Leut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but in a fit of tactical genius prevents their seeing minister on the way to the train. Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Forter has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop. The latter is a business man. The elopers have an exciting time getting to the train. "Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get a divorce, boards train for Reno. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears. She is also bound for Reno with her baggage. Likewise Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb. Latter blames Mrs. Jimmie for her husband's troubles. Classmates of Marjorie decorate bridal berth. Rev. and Mrs. Temple start on a vacation. They decide to cut loose and Temple removes evidence of his calling. Marjorie decides to let Marjorie proceed alone, but train starts while they are lost in farewell. Passengers join Mallory's classmates in giving couple wedding feast. Marjorie is distracted. Ira Lathrop, woman-hating bachelor, discovers an old sweetheart, Annie Gattie, a fellow passenger. Marjorie vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers. Marjorie's jealousy aroused by Mallory's baseball jargon. Marjorie suggests wrecking the train in hopes of accident will produce a preacher. Also tries to induce the conductor to stop the train so she can shop. Marjorie's dog is missing. She pulls the cord, stopping the train. Conductor restores dog and looks for Marjorie. Lathrop wires for preacher to marry him and Miss Gattie. Mallory tells Lathrop of his predicament and arranges to borrow the preacher.

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Continued.
Marjorie was overwhelmed, but she felt it becoming in her to be a trickster. So she pouted: "But you won't wait for a bride now. I'm such a fright!"

He took the belt, took and all: "I never saw you looking so adorable." "Honestly? Oh, but it will be glorious to be Mrs. First Lieutenant Mallory." "Glorious!" "I must telegraph home—and sign my new name. Won't mamma be pleased?" "Won't she?" said Mallory, with just a trace of dubiety.

Then Marjorie grew serious with a new idea: "I wonder if mamma and papa have missed me yet?" Mallory laughed: "After three days' disappearance, I shouldn't be surprised."

"Perhaps they are worrying about me."

"The poor dears! I'd better write them a telegram at once."

"An excellent idea."

She ran to the desk, found blank forms and then paused with knitted brow: "It will be very hard to say all I've got to say in ten words."

"Hang the expense," Mallory sniffed magnificently. "I'm paying your bills now."

But Marjorie tried to look very matronly: "Send a night letter in the day time! No, indeed, we must beget to economize."

Mallory was touched by this new revelation of her future housewifely thrift. He hugged her hard and reminded her that she could send a day-letter by wire.

"An excellent idea," she said. "Now, don't bother me. You go on and read your paper, read about Mattie. I'll never be jealous of her—him—of anybody—again."

"You shall never have cause for jealousy, my own."

But fate was not finished with the initiation of the unfortunate pair, and already new trouble was stroiling in their direction.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Jealousy Comes Aboard.
There was an air of domestic peace in the observation room, where Mallory and Marjorie had been left to themselves for some time. But the peace was like the ominous hush that precedes a tempest.

Mallory was so happy with everything coming his way, that he was even making up with Snoozleums, stroking the tattled coat with one hand and holding up his newspaper with the other. He did not know all that was coming his way. The blissful silence was broken first by Marjorie: "How do you spell Utah?—with a y?"

"Utah begins with U," he said—and rather liked his wit, listened for some recognition, and rose to get it, but she waved him away.

"Don't bother me, honey. Can't you see I'm busy?"

He kissed her hair and sauntered back, dividing his attention between Snoozleums and the ten-lining game.

And now there was a small commotion in the smoking room. Through the glass along the corridor, the men caught sight of the girl who had got on at Green River. Ashton saw her first and she saw him.

"There she goes," Ashton hissed to the others, "look quick! There's the neartine."

"My word! She's a little bit of all right, isn't she?"

Even Dr. Temple stared at her with approval: "Dear little thing, isn't she?"

The girl, very consciously unconscious of the admiration, moved demurely along, with eyes downward, but at such an angle that she could take in the sensation she was creating; she went along picking up stares as if they were bouquets.

The conductor was a remarkable barren her a trifle: "No, papa went on ahead. Mamma hopes to overtake him. But papa is a very good traveler."

Then she changed the subject. "Do come and meet mamma. It would cheer her up so. She is so fond of you. Only this morning she was saying, 'Of all the boys you were ever engaged to, Kathleen, the one I like most of all was Edgar—I mean Clarence—er—Harry Mallory.'"

"A wretched kind of her?"

"You must come and see her—she's some stouter now!"

"Oh, is she? Well, that's good." Mallory was too angry to be sane, and too helpless to take advantage of his anger. He wondered how he could ever have cared for this molasses and muddle girl. He remembered now that she had always had these same cloying ways. She had always pawed him and, like everybody but the powers, he hated pawing.

It would have been bad enough at any time to have Kathleen hanging on his coat, straightening his tie, leaning close, smiling up in his eyes, losing him his balance, recapturing him every time he edged away. But with Marjorie as the grim witness it was maddening.

He loathed and abominated Kathleen Llewellyn, and if she had only been a man, he could cheerfully have beaten her to a pulp and chucked her out of the window. But because she was a helpless little baggage he had to be as polite as he could while she sat and tore his plans to pieces, embittered Marjorie's heart against him, and either ended all hopes of their marriage, or furnished an everlasting rancor to be recalled in every quarrel to their dying day. Oh, etiquette, what injustices are endured in thy name!

So there he sat, sweating his soul's blood, and able only to spar for time and wonder when the song would ring. And now she was off on a new tack:

"And where are you bound for, Harry, dear?"

"The Philippines," he said, and for the first time there was something beautiful in their remoteness.

"Perhaps we shall cross the Pacific on the same boat."

The first sincere smile he had experienced came to him: "I go on an army transport, fortune—unfortunately."

"Oh, I just love soldiers. Couldn't mamma and I go on the transport? Mamma is very fond of soldiers, too."

"I'm afraid it couldn't be arranged."

"Too bad, but perhaps we can stop off and pay you a visit. I just love army posts. So does mamma."

"Oh, do!"

"What will be your address?"

"Just the Philippines—just the Philippines."

"But aren't there quite a few of them?"

"Only about two thousand."

"Which one will you be on?"

"I'll be on the third from the left," said Mallory, who neither knew nor cared what he was saying. Marjorie had endured all that she could stand. She rose in a tightly leashed fury.

"I'm afraid I'm in the way."

Kathleen turned in surprise. She had not noticed that anyone was near. Mallory went out of his head completely. "Oh, don't go—for heaven's sake don't go," he appealed to Marjorie.

Shoulder straps are seen on some of the advanced blouse models, showing that this idea has been seized by designers as a welcome change for the perennial favorite. These extensions are generally of the same material as the bodice and act as contrast over lace and tulle.

Buttons are used as trimming on these shoulder straps with great effect. They afford excellent background for continuing any decorative idea.

Winter Hats.
Most picturesque and becoming are the new plush and velour hats for the autumn and early winter which are now being shown in the smart shops. The hats are in small, medium and large shapes, quite soft, so that they can be rolled and crushed to suit the face of the individual wearer. There are small hats with high round crowns, folded in around the top. Two-toned velour hats are among the newest models and there is an iridescent blue and black plush hat which is most striking and becoming to the average woman. A large sombrero of green velour with a facing of black velvet is trimmed with a black leather belt, dull leather with a gilt buckle. The shape is extremely smart. A rather high-crowned narrow brimmed hat of two-toned iridescent plush is in blue and black. The hat has a crown of soft silk and is trimmed with two made plumes of the plush. A small black plush hat, extremely dashing in effect, has a white satin band inside the brim and three fancy black feathers at one side.

Lace Door Panel.
Very frequently lace door panels shrink after washing them, making it impossible to use them again.

To prevent this follow these instructions: After removing the panel from the door thoroughly clean the glass.

Wash and starch the lace, slip in the rods immediately and replace the panel on the door.

Care should be observed to pull the lace straight, tacking down the sides, if necessary, to stretch the panel.

Allow it to dry upon the door.

This gives far better results than to launder the panel in the usual manner.

Effective Bandeau.
Ornaments are always worn in the hair, and a narrow bandeau of velvet is still popular. A Paris house shows a narrow stiff band of blue velvet sewn with colored beads, from the center of which springs up a peacock's feather of gold with the "eyes" of the feather in natural colors, a bizarre and striking ornament. Another band of velvet is sewn with brilliant, and a white osprey rises in the middle in a fashion that is both becoming and dignified—which is more than may be said for many fashions of the moment.

Big Muffs.
Muffs will be of more mammoth size than ever this winter. The furriers have seen to that all right. They are also desperately concerned in working up original little fittings for the neck, in the guise of high stocks.

New Toggles Pins.
Buckle-shaped brooches now fasten the back of the stock collar and these are so wide that they almost fill the space at the nape of the neck and afford the support to the collar and neck throat veiling at that point which the best of boning will not furnish.

Shoulder Strap Comes Back.
Modistes Return to Style of a Few Years Ago, Which Has Much to Recommend It.

You remember the jumper dress that women liked a few years ago? It was virtually a skirt: a wide girder and shoulder straps, and was worn over a blouse of washable fabric. Well, it is here again in a charming revival of style, having profited by its respite, according to the New York Press.

Modistes have launched a few models of the dress that has "braces" or suspenders, and it bids fair to be one of the features that spell practical beauty. From a comparatively small piece of material and a variety of separate chiffon, net or washable blouses, this new favorite will assure a change of dress at little expense.

NEW MATERIAL FOR NEGLIGEE.
Madras Curtains Make Up Into Very Finest Boudoir Garment That Can Be Devised.

If you are needing a new negligee don't seek for the material for it in the dress goods department of your favorite shop, but go to your house-furnishing merchant. He will have precisely what you need—a pair of extra curtains in madras—that he'll sell for a song. If they are of white or cream or black, large-figured in pale blue, light green or vivid cerise, so much the better for you. They'll make up into a stunning negligee of the sort that cut in two pieces, and slipping on over the head, buttons from throat, to shoulder tops and half way down the outer side of the kimono sleeves, with oriental beads of huge size and lurid tone enhanced with flecks of gold. About the throat and the edges of the sleeves place heavy cordings in silk matching the color of the figure on the madras, but use no further trimming. The material trims itself. A negligee in this design is unquestionably modest. It falls straight from the shoulders to the toes, does not cling to the figure and may be flung on in a second of time above a princess slip of taffeta or lawn.

Blouse of Spot Net.
This is a charming little blouse arranged with a low neck and long sleeves with deep wrist ruffles.

Gown for a Matron.
For a matron a black and white princess robe is made in narrow stripes of equal size and arranged with lengthwise and horizontal panels alternating with a suggestion of a ladder and its rungs.

The notable feature of this robe is its revers, the corsage having short outer lapels with lace inset between them, while revers from a narrow point on the shoulder came down to meet at the waist and were continued in ten-inch wide ladder-like lines to the hem of the garment. This gown was carried out in black and white marquisette, with Venetian lace for trimming.

Boots American Woman is Wearing.
With short walking skirts boots should play an important part. The average woman is seldom enthusiastic about shoes for a long time; probably she is too much concerned about the slimness or shapelessness of her ankle, which is apt to spread inelegantly unless it be strictly confined.

The boot of the moment is of black patent leather with white glaze uppers, for which white suede may be substituted, and it is really very smart, although already it suffers from the misfortune of being imitated by the cheaper shope.

Shoulder Strap Comes Back.
Modistes Return to Style of a Few Years Ago, Which Has Much to Recommend It.

You remember the jumper dress that women liked a few years ago? It was virtually a skirt: a wide girder and shoulder straps, and was worn over a blouse of washable fabric. Well, it is here again in a charming revival of style, having profited by its respite, according to the New York Press.

Modistes have launched a few models of the dress that has "braces" or suspenders, and it bids fair to be one of the features that spell practical beauty. From a comparatively small piece of material and a variety of separate chiffon, net or washable blouses, this new favorite will assure a change of dress at little expense.

NEW MATERIAL FOR NEGLIGEE.
Madras Curtains Make Up Into Very Finest Boudoir Garment That Can Be Devised.

If you are needing a new negligee don't seek for the material for it in the dress goods department of your favorite shop, but go to your house-furnishing merchant. He will have precisely what you need—a pair of extra curtains in madras—that he'll sell for a song. If they are of white or cream or black, large-figured in pale blue, light green or vivid cerise, so much the better for you. They'll make up into a stunning negligee of the sort that cut in two pieces, and slipping on over the head, buttons from throat, to shoulder tops and half way down the outer side of the kimono sleeves, with oriental beads of huge size and lurid tone enhanced with flecks of gold. About the throat and the edges of the sleeves place heavy cordings in silk matching the color of the figure on the madras, but use no further trimming. The material trims itself. A negligee in this design is unquestionably modest. It falls straight from the shoulders to the toes, does not cling to the figure and may be flung on in a second of time above a princess slip of taffeta or lawn.

Blouse of Spot Net.
This is a charming little blouse arranged with a low neck and long sleeves with deep wrist ruffles.

Gown for a Matron.
For a matron a black and white princess robe is made in narrow stripes of equal size and arranged with lengthwise and horizontal panels alternating with a suggestion of a ladder and its rungs.

The notable feature of this robe is its revers, the corsage having short outer lapels with lace inset between them, while revers from a narrow point on the shoulder came down to meet at the waist and were continued in ten-inch wide ladder-like lines to the hem of the garment. This gown was carried out in black and white marquisette, with Venetian lace for trimming.

Boots American Woman is Wearing.
With short walking skirts boots should play an important part. The average woman is seldom enthusiastic about shoes for a long time; probably she is too much concerned about the slimness or shapelessness of her ankle, which is apt to spread inelegantly unless it be strictly confined.

The boot of the moment is of black patent leather with white glaze uppers, for which white suede may be substituted, and it is really very smart, although already it suffers from the misfortune of being imitated by the cheaper shope.

Big Muffs.
Muffs will be of more mammoth size than ever this winter. The furriers have seen to that all right. They are also desperately concerned in working up original little fittings for the neck, in the guise of high stocks.

Effective Bandeau.
Ornaments are always worn in the hair, and a narrow bandeau of velvet is still popular. A Paris house shows a narrow stiff band of blue velvet sewn with colored beads, from the center of which springs up a peacock's feather of gold with the "eyes" of the feather in natural colors, a bizarre and striking ornament. Another band of velvet is sewn with brilliant, and a white osprey rises in the middle in a fashion that is both becoming and dignified—which is more than may be said for many fashions of the moment.

New Toggles Pins.
Buckle-shaped brooches now fasten the back of the stock collar and these are so wide that they almost fill the space at the nape of the neck and afford the support to the collar and neck throat veiling at that point which the best of boning will not furnish.

HARD FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

It's hard enough to keep house in perfect health, but a woman who is weak, tired and suffering all of the time with an aching back has a heavy burden to carry. Any woman in this condition has good cause to suspect kidney trouble, especially if the kidney action seems disordered at all. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of women suffering in this way. It is the best recommended special kidney remedy.

AN INDIANA CASE.
"My Picture Tells a Story."
Mrs. Mary A. Franklin, South Franklin, Ind., says: "I believe Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life. I was so weak and tired that I could not do my work. I had a terrible headache and my back ached so much that I could not get up. I had a doctor, but he could not cure me. I had a friend who suggested Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a box. I took them and in a few days I was cured. I have not had a headache since and my back is all right. I feel like a new woman." Get Doan's at any Drug Store. 50c. a Box. Doan's Kidney Pills. Not a Dry Book.
"This is the most lachrymose novel I've ever read. The heroine weeps in almost every chapter." "Then you certainly can't call it a dry book."

Dull.
"Was your ariving meet a success?"
"No, not much of a one. There were only three accidents and no fatalities."

Accounted For.
"I will not let my wife go to these fashionable bridge parties."
"I'm glad you take that stand. So you think it is immoral to gamble?"
"No, but she's such a wretched player."

At a Distance.
"She certainly tries to obey her mother's injunction not to let the young men get too near."
"Why, I saw a young man with his arm around her last night."
"I know, but she had a faraway look in her eyes."

Out of Fashion.
"I see where Buffy skirts saved a girl from drowning in the Chicago River recently. The old styles were the best styles after all."
"Hub, she probably tried to drown herself because she had to wear the fumes."

Liquid Measure.
It was the time of the singing lesson at the local council school, and the teacher was explaining to the young hopefuls that if a "treble," and "alto," a "tenor" and a "bass" sung together, their united efforts would constitute a quartet.
There seemed no trouble about that, and the teacher thought the class was getting on very nicely.
"Now, Jimmy, leave off pinching your brother's leg and listen to me," said she. "If a bass and tenor sang together, what would you call that?"
Jimmy was the son of the local milkman, and a bright lad withal. His answer was not long in coming.
"Please, miss," said he, "that would be a 'pintette'."

VARIETIES OF SALAD

MADE FROM VEGETABLES ALWAYS IN SEASON.

For Those Fond of Shrimps. Here is a Delicious Recipe—So-Called Pilgrim Salad—Green Peppers, Grapefruit and Celery.

Preparing a Shrimp Salad.—Cut the contents of one can of shrimps into small pieces, add two cups of celery and one cucumber cut into dice. Mix thoroughly with a boiled mayonnaise dressing. If cucumbers are not to be had substitute more celery and garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs and use plenty of dressing.

Pilgrim Salad.—Peel and cut tomatoes in half-inch slices, stamp out rounds from the center of each and insert four or five cooked asparagus tips. Lay them on crisp lettuce leaves. Cut the centers of the tomatoes into cubes and put these with several olives on one side of each plate. Put half a cupful of olive oil into a pitcher, the strained juice of half a lemon, one teaspoonful of grated onion pulp, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard, and one teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley. Shake until thick and creamy and pour over the portions of salad.

Making Florida Salad.—Cut slices from the stem ends of green peppers and remove the seeds. Refill with grapefruit peeled and cut into cubes, and the tenderest stalks of celery cut into small pieces and finely chopped nut meats, allowing twice as much grapefruit as celery and one-third as many nut meats as grapefruit. Arrange in nests of endive and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Kumquat Salad.—Peel a box of Kumquats, cut them in halves, add two peeled and chopped apples, and a can of chopped pears. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing or mayonnaise dressing.

IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY W. M. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 175 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

A good front hall, four rooms, and a bathroom downstairs, and three rather large bedrooms upstairs, is a brief description of the interior of the house shown in the accompanying design. Looking at it from the south-east corner it appears especially well provided with verandas, and so it is. It is a regular summer resort in the summertime, but the verandas are not wide enough to darken the rooms much in winter. Some people have a horror of an overhanging roof to shut out the little light that nature provides between daylight and dark during the fall and early winter months; but there is a possibility of designing a veranda so it will answer the purpose intended without a corresponding disadvantage.

This is a good, big, square house as dimensions go in these days of high prices—just the kind of house to support a good veranda. In fact, the long veranda gives an air of elegance to what would otherwise be a rather plain exterior. To save expense, the kitchen part is only one story in height, but the house is large enough then for an ordinary family of from four to six adults and children.

A bedroom downstairs is liked by old persons because they object to climbing stairs. This style of house permits the building of a bedroom and bath on the first floor, and still provides for large living rooms conveniently arranged.

Putting the pantry away back in the northwest corner has the advantage of coolness. You cannot have a pantry too cold in a house that is heated by steam, hot water, or warm air furnace. The arrangement of kitchen, dining room, and pantry must depend to a great extent on the way you want to keep house. If you use a big ice box and take ice the year round, you can manage without a cold pantry; but if you prefer to do

Stewed Chicken.

Required: A chicken or fowl weighing about four pounds, one onion chopped fine, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of salt, one-half a teaspoonful of oregano, one-half a teaspoonful of ground ginger, one-half a teaspoonful of ground nutmeg, and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper.

Cut the chicken into pieces suitable for serving, wash it and put it in a saucepan. Cover it with water and set it on to boil. When boiling add the onion, parsley and the spices Cook it slowly for three hours or until tender, and about one-half hour before serving thicken it with three tablespoonfuls of browned flour and enough liquor from the stew to mix the flour. Be careful not to have it lumpy. When well mixed pour it into the stew and let it simmer for a half hour. Garnish with rice and sprigs of parsley.

Mushroom and Bacon Pie.

Cut the mushrooms in small pieces and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cut thin slices of nice bacon in small pieces, put them in the bottom of a rather shallow baking dish. On these put a layer of mushrooms and over these put a layer of finely mashed potatoes seasoned. Fill the dish, alternating in this way, but have the potatoes on top. Now scatter bits of butter over. Put cover on and bake half an hour in a moderate oven. When nearly done remove the cover and brown the top.

Potted Chicken.

A chicken is cut up as for fricassee, and to each pound of meat allow two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt (very scant) and a dust of pepper. Mix thoroughly and roll each piece of the meat in the mixture. Pack closely in a large bean pot and cover with boiling water; bake for three hours and a half. Cover after 10 or 15 minutes, but not before it boils.

Boiled Cauliflower.

Let the cauliflower lie in ice cold salted water to run hour. Cook in slightly salted boiling water, and skim gail. Drain and serve with a sauce made from four level tablespoonfuls of sifted flour and the same amount of butter stirred together, with two cups of milk. Cook ten minutes and season with salt and pepper.

Creamy Chocolate.

One-half cup granulated sugar, one-half cup sifted flour, one-half teaspoon salt. Into saucepan put one-half cup of finely shaved chocolate, add one quart of boiling water and stir till dissolved. Add the flour, sugar and salt, and boil gently five minutes, stirring constantly. Then stir in one quart of boiling milk and serve at once.

Boiling Cracked Eggs.

An egg that is cracked can be boiled by enclosing it in a piece of wet paper. When the paper becomes wet it adheres to the egg, and prevents it from coming through the shell. This process should be successful in every case where the crack is of a moderate length.

Tomato-Oyster Soup.

Neutralize a part of the acidity of a cupful of hot tomato pulp with a small pinch of soda, then add a pint and one-half of scalded milk, a tablespoonful of butter and a pint of par-boiled oysters. Season with celery salt and white pepper and serve hot with oyster crackers.

Breaded Tongue.

Slice the left-over tongue in one-fourth-inch slices, dip in crumbs, beaten egg, crumbs again; put in a baking pan, dot over with butter, bake about 20 minutes in a hot oven. Use the left-over gravy with the red currant jelly melted in it for a sauce.

Preparing Cauliflower.

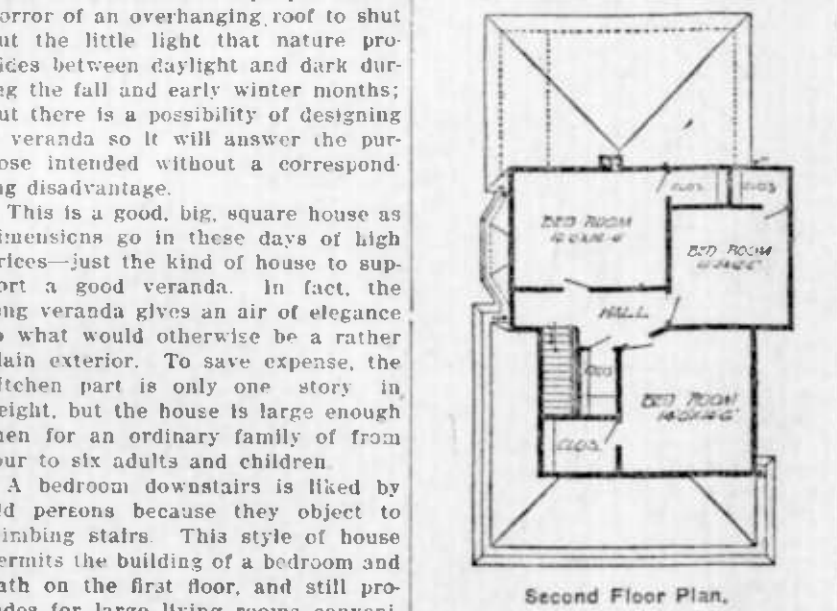

Always put a cauliflower in plain water, so as to draw out any insects. If salt is placed in the water it kills the insects and they are left in the vegetable.

IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY W. M. A. RADFORD.

ruined by building a new stable. When the fine building was finished, the old horses, harness, rugs and sleighs were not in keeping. He fancied they didn't look well in the new up-to-date stable; so they were sold, and he bought an entire new outfit. The stylish rigs required a stylish coachman—which called for more style—and before he got through with it he found it necessary to sell his fine property, and his pride was such that he could not come down to earth in his native town, so he moved away to a distant city. I don't know just where the moral comes in, but I suppose there is one somewhere if you hunt for it.

I have seen a great deal of nonsense in building. What is very common in one section of the country is a rarity two or three hundred miles distant. Red brick, for instance, is common in one section, because the mixture of clay and sand used for brick burns red. In other sections the clays are yellow and the bricks are yellow. Well, as foolish as it seems the snob living in the red brick country sends away and gets yellow brick because he thinks it is more tony. At the same time another snob living in the yellow brick section sends away to the other place and gets red brick. Both men pay more originally than the brick would cost at home, and they pay freight and extra teaming, besides a couple of profits; and the loss from breakage is considerable. But their pride is satisfied, and they puff out quite chosty when some ignorant person admires their good taste.

With good management, however, and a disposition to take advantage of circumstances, home prices, and home talent, this house should be built in a very satisfactory way for $2,500 or $2,600.

Treatment That Effected a Cure.

The good wife was very ill, so bad that she was having a serious talk with her husband.

"James," she said in a low voice, "in case of anything happening to me, I think a man of your temperament and domestic nature should marry again, both for your sake and for the sake of our children."

James dashed the moisture from his eyes ere replied, "Do you think so, my dear?"

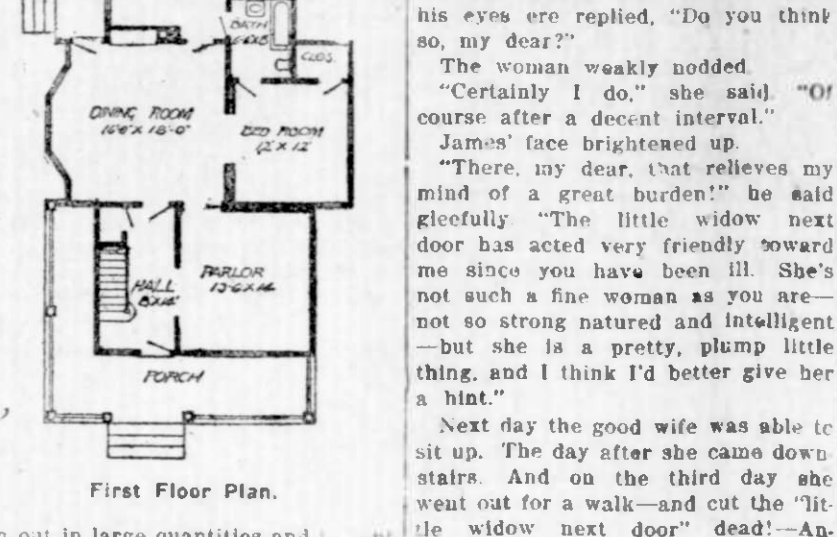

The woman weakly nodded.

"Certainly I do," she said. "Of course after a decent interval."

James' face brightened up.

"There, my dear, that relieves my mind of a great burden!" he said gleefully. "The little widow next door has acted very friendly toward me since you have been ill. She's not such a fine woman as you are—not so strong natured and intelligent—but she is a pretty, plump little thing, and I think I'd better give her a hint."

Next day the good wife was able to sit up. The day after she came downstairs. And on the third day she went out for a walk—and cut the "little widow next door" dead!—Answers.

Venezuelan Cow Tree.

In Venezuela there is a vegetable wonder called the cow tree. It grows where scarcely another vegetable thrives. Its leaves are leathery and crisp, but by making incisions in the trunk a peculiar grayish fluid resembling milk exudes, sweet and of a peculiarly agreeable balmy odor. It is a purgative thing to a stranger in that land to see the trunks of these trees bristling with plugs, as he will see them, for the drawer of milk from a hole he has made in a tree plugs up

Original Woman Suffragist.

A modern historian makes the claim that Congru Hroff, the mighty Viking, who afterward became the first duke of Normandy and the progenitor of William the Conqueror, was the original woman suffragist, and that it was this valiant Norseman who sounded the first clarion call for women's rights ten centuries ago.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR BREAKFAST.

The American breakfast, compared to the English meal, is quite in the beginner's class. Here is a simple breakfast menu for August, taken from an English cook book. (Holders on toast, collared tongue (whatever that may be), hot buttered toast, marmalade, white bread and butter brown bread, and bread and milk.

Another—Pigeon pie, stewed kidney, milk rolls, dry toast, brown and white bread, mustard and cress, milk porridge.

A person who could digest such breakfasts as these in August ought to make a good soldier. It is said, and justly, that Americans eat too much, but we certainly are low on breakfasts, compared to the English. We need follow no law except that of the individual in preparing our breakfasts, as each individual has desires peculiar to himself. Fruit is enjoyed by some and a source of distress to another. Cereal is energy to one and a "sobering mass of indigestibility" to another. Coffee, the fragrant, refreshing cup, a joy to many, is blamed for much of which it is innocent.

Then there are the "no breakfast" advocates, an arrangement which certainly has its good points, for it does away with the hurried meal presided over by no house mother or a frowny one. Such a beginning is not a good start for the day's work.

A dainty breakfast well served, is of far more value to the individual than the more food properties served. A far better day is in store for the man who leaves his breakfast table in an agreeable frame of mind, and he will return, usually, in the same mood. No greeting, however smiling, or dinner well prepared, will atone for a hurried scramble at the breakfast table.

It has been well said that children, to be well trained, should begin with their grandfathers. To have and serve a successful meal, we must begin the day before. A meal well planned is usually a successful one.

FIGS AND DATES.

We are in the habit of thinking that dates, figs and raisins are confections, tidbits and luxuries. They are, in a measure, but contain much food value, and are much more wholesome for children to eat than too much of the so-called fresh fruit with which they are provided. These dried fruits are both nourishing and economical, as they take the place of more expensive foods. Dates have a food value in calories of 1275 to a pound, while the much used potato has only 235 to the pound.

Stuffed Dates.—Roll rapidly with cut stirring one-half a cup of granulated sugar and a quarter of a cup of milk. Keep the granules from forming on the sides of the pan, by swabbing with water. When a soft ball forms when dropped in cold water, pour out on a platter and beat with a wooden spoon until thick. Add a quarter of a cup of shaved walnut or pecan meats and mold quickly in a sheet a quarter of an inch thick. Stone dates and stuff with the mixture.

Dates Dainties for Travelers.—Stone dates and stuff with a mixture of nut meats, candied ginger, candied pineapple, roasted almonds and fondant flavored with lemon juice. Roll each one in granulated sugar and pack in layers in a tin box, covering each layer with paraffine paper. These will keep indefinitely.

Fig Brittle.—Melt a pound of sugar in a saucepan, stir in a half pound of figs chopped fine, and pour into a greased pan a half-inch thick; cut in strips and serve. Nuts may be added with the figs, if desired.

Oriental Cream.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatine in a fourth of a cup of cold water, dissolve it in a fourth of a cup of hot milk; add a half cup of sugar, set into a pan of cold water and stir until it begins to thicken. Then add the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, a third of a cup of each of figs and dates chopped, and a half pint of whipped cream. Turn into a mold and chill thoroughly.

Dairy states are rich states, dairy countries are rich countries, and the men and women engaging in intelligent dairying are the successful men and women of our country.

Farmers as one-half of the "social world," furnishing food and raw materials to the other half and receiving from it the comforts, instruction and pleasures of life, should put themselves into the closest ministrations to the mechanical, professional and commercial sides of their industry. Inter-course is enlightenment. Adv.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.:—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."
"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 633 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

High Price of Beef Due to Cost of Fattening
An interesting fact in steer feeding and a partial explanation of the high cost of meat, is that when a young or thin steer is fed for beef, it costs more per pound to fatten the steer than the added flesh will sell for. Consequently, the finished steer must be sold for enough more per pound than it costs as a feeder to make up the loss caused by fattening. This greater price can usually be obtained on the market because of the improvement in quality brought about in the fattening process. This is an important factor for every steer feeder to understand and is explained more fully in Bulletin 224 issued by the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. This bulletin may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture.
