NUMBER 25.

TO FORM A CORPORATION

At a Special Meeting Tuesday Evening The Kewaskum Advancement Assoc. Decided to Take Over the Nic. Remmel Concern.—Will Capitalize at $40,000.

At a special meeting of the Kewaskum Advancement Association, which was held in the village hall last Tuesday evening, the enterprise investigating committee, consisting of D. M. Rosenheimer, A. A. Perschbacher and Nic. Remmel reported that they have secured an option from Mr. Remmel, for the purchase of his entire business, machine shop, foundry and hardware business, and recommended that the concern be turned over to a stock company with a capitalization of $40,000.

All present at the meeting were very enthusiastic over the affair and at the present time indications are, that no trouble will be met by raising this amount. A corporation of this kind not only would be a paying proposition, but also a good help to the village. In a course of time a large number of men could be employed. It is also the intention that in case a corporation is formed that the hardware and tinware business will be discontinued, and go exclusively into manufacturing. The machine shop will be run in connection, and repairing done as heretofore.

A subscription list is at present being circulated by a number of members of the association. The shares are selling at par $100. Everybody is invited to take stock, members or non members.

The investigating committee also reported further correspondence in regard to a woolen mill, which correspondence was ordered placed on file for the present.

That the association is accomplishing great things for the village is being shown by the interest taken at the meetings. It is an association that is open to everyone, not only businessmen. The membership fee is only $1 with no dues to pay. Further information can be secured from any of the present members, or from the President J. P. Klassen, and Secretary Geo. H. Schmidt.

MORE REAL ESTATE DEALS

Local Real Estate Dealers Are Kept Busy Buying and Selling Farms.

A. L. Rosenheimer and J. B. Day are still busy with real estate deals. This week they sold 153 acres of their 267 acre farm near Fillmore to the former owner, Louis Gerner for $25,000. Mr. Gerner purchased the farm for one of his boys.

On Wednesday the above firm sold the Fred Dimmer 120 acre farm in the town of Mitchell to Peter and Christ Brownand for $12,000. The latter are from Switzerland and are only in this country for three years. The latter on Thursday purchased a horse from Kilian Honeck for $200.

On Thursday the aforesaid mentioned firm purchased the Carl Heise 80 acre farm located six miles northeast of this village together with all personal property for $8350. Possession will be given the new owners on April 1st.

NEW COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Articles of Incorporation of the Campbellsport Co-operative Company Filed Last Week.—To Establish a Store in the Village

Articles of incorporation of the Campbellsport Co-operative association were filed in the office of Register of Deeds, Emil C. Kraemer last week. A copy of the article has also been filed with the secretary of state at Madison.

The Campbellsport company is similar to the one that the farmers in this section of the county are endeavoring to form. The capital stock of the new concern is $20,000 of which there are 200 shares at $100 each.

The purpose of the company as stated in the articles of incorporation, is to conduct any agricultural, dairy, mercantile, mining, manufacturing, or mechanical business on the co-operation plan. The principal place of business will be at Campbellsport where the co-operative store will be located.

The board of directors will consist of five members and will have charge of operating the store.

The incorporators of the Campbellsport company are A. D. Chesley, J. R. Hull, Fred Zacher, J. E. Adams and J. A. Hendricks.

Most Economical Car.

The Ford places more percent of tire surface upon the ground per pound of car than any other automobile made.

And it has a greater percent of power per pound than any other. These tremendous advantages make it the most inexpensive car to operate. It is surely and swiftly making the horse and buggy an expensive extravagance. Twenty-five miles per gallon of gasoline is not an exceptional average and no one has yet lived long enough to measure the life of the car.

In both first and after cost the Ford is proportionally inexpensive.

While Ford repairs are seldom needed, a big advantage to Ford owners is the always "near-at-handness" of Ford repairs. There is scarcely a village or hamlet in the country where a Ford dealer is not to be found. And every Ford dealer carries a complete equipment of Ford repairs for which he charges a fixed catalogue price, based upon the cost of the part in the complete car. A price list of these parts is furnished to every owner of a Ford car.

There are no vexing delays for repairs—nor still more vexing over charges for parts—for him who owns a Ford.

The Ford is the car of the day no doubt of it. It is the one "universal car". Its simplicity and surety of operation make it a real joy to him or her who loves "the open road." Its lightness frees from annoying tire and other heavy car troubles. Its economy makes for it a world wide appeal. Its price makes it "the people's car."

Thousands upon thousands of Ford cars are being sold today to people who have owned—or do still own—heavier and more expensive cars.

They are learning that "false pride" is an expensive commodity and that the Ford will "git them there" as surely, as swiftly, as comfortably, at a fraction of the cost.

Geo. Kippenhan is the district agent for the aforesaid mentioned car. Watch for his large ad in next week's issue.

Married on Wednesday.

William Hillenberg of Josephsburg, Canada, and Miss Hulda Siegel of the town of Kewaskum were quietly married at Milwaukee on Wednesday. On Thursday morning they left for the home of the groom where they will make their future home, where the groom owns a farm. Both of the contracting parties are well known in this community. The Statesman office extends its best wishes for a very happy and prosperous married life.

EDEN COMPANY ORGANIZED

Articles of Incorporation of New Electric Light Concern Were Filed Last Week.

Articles of organization of the Eden Electric company were filed in the office of Register of Deeds Emil C. Kraemer last week. A copy of the articles has also been filed with the secretary of state at Madison.

The company has been organized for the purpose of operating and maintaining an electric light and power system in the village of Eden. The name of the concern will be the Eden Electric Light company and its principal place of business will be in the village of Eden.

The capital stock of the company is $5000. The incorporators are John O'Brien, Kathryn O'Brien and Frank Sielaff.

Fire Associations Consolidate.

The annual meeting of the Milwaukee and Waukesha County Volunteer Firemen's Association was held Sunday at West Allis at the city hall, Joseph Paul, president of the association, presided and Secretary J. L. Merville and Treasurer Edward Pink made reports. On motion by Fire Chief of West Allis the organization was dissolved and the five companies of the Association voted to join in a body the Badger Volunteer Firemen's association, formerly the Milwaukee and Ozaukee county association, composed of the firemen of West Bend, Cedarburg, South Germantown and Jackson. The consolidation of the two associations will be completed at once, and the new members will take part in the annual tournament to be held in June at Cedarburg. The meeting was well attended, the delegates were unanimous in support of the consolidation.—Cedarburg News.

Wolves in Dodge County

It seems strange to think of wolves in Dodge County but such is a fact. For some time past it has been known that a pack has been up on the Horicon Marsh and were seen in the vicinity of Chester.

The pack seems to have gone south towards Hustisford and were seen by several farmers in that vicinity. There were eleven in the pack and they were about the size of Scotch collies and were mistaken for dogs by those who saw them.

They disturbed the farmers living between the Juneau Club House and Hustisford and last Saturday a general hunt was on, nearly everyone who had a firearm turning out on the hunt. Several days were spent in vain effort to round them up. It was reported that a hunter killed one of the pack near Juneau.—Horicon Reporter.

Hunters Win Case.

In the circuit court the case of the Diana Shooting club vs Paul O. Husting was decided in favor of Senator Husting. He claimed that as the river was navigable he had a perfect right to hunt while in a boat. The Diana Shooting club also lost its case against Republican County Chairman William Kohl of Mayville, whom they alleged trespassed on their grounds, the court affirming the decision of the justice's court, which about a year ago awarded the club 6 cents damages and 6 cents costs and they carried it up.

Taken to Tomah.

Adam Manemas, who was run over by a freight train last month and lost both legs, was moved to the hospital of the Milwaukee road at Tomah Monday night. Since the accident he had been cared for at the office of Rogers & Hoffman.—Hartman Press.

Other Court House Notes.

According to figures compiled by Register of Deeds Kraemer Monday morning there were eighty-three births as compared with sixty-five deaths in Fond du Lac county during January. There were twenty-nine marriages during the first month of the year.

Armond, being here before with a troupe.

PROGRESSIVE OF PROGRESSIVES

Congressman Burke Receives High Tribute in Magazine.

The February edition of the Army and Navy Magazine published at Washington D. C., contained a picture of Hon. Michael E. Burke, our representative in Congress, with the following article:

"Hon. Michael E. Burke, lawyer and statesman, was born at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, on October 15, 1863, and was educated at Wayland Academy and the University of Wisconsin, graduating from the Law Department of the latter in 1886. He is considered one of the leading lawyers in his section of the state. He served in the General Assembly and State Senate and was mayor of his native city at the time he was elected to the 62nd Congress. He was re-elected to the 63rd Congress by about six thousand majority, and was chosen Chairman of the Congressional Committee of his state. He is very favorable spoken of for United States Senator from Wisconsin in 1914 in the event of the democratic victory. He is a hard worker, a man of great ability and of strong personality, and in his political career, extending back over a period of twenty years, he has always been successful.

"Congressman Burke is a progressive of progressives of the progressive state of Wisconsin. He was fighting for the principles of Progressive Democracy for years before Wisconsin became a progressive state, and helped frame the first progressive Democratic platform ever presented to the voters of Wisconsin.

"Representative Burke, as a member of the Committee on Invalid Pensions, has done valiant work for the old soldiers. In the Caucus and on the floor of the House he was an ardent advocate of the two battleship proposition, and he also is strongly in favor of an adequate Navy."

EVIDENCE IN GUDEX CASE

Five Witnesses Were Examined.—Defendant Presented Long Petition Asking That Plaintiff Secure Costs.

A hearing of the case of the State versus John L. Gudex, a prominent town of Eden farmer, charged with criminally libelling J. Weller Long, ex-candidate for the nomination for state senator from this district on the Social Democratic ticket took place Wednesday before Court Commissioner Frank W. Chadbourne.

The action is based on an alleged defamatory article about Long which Gudex is said to have caused to be published in the Campbellsport News on August 8, 1912, when Long was seeking nomination. The complaint alleges that the article was widely circulated in this county, was totally untrue and was printed with malicious intent on the part of Mr. Gudex.

The first action of the defendant's attorney when the case was called this morning was to ask that Mr. Long be made to give security for costs in the action on the ground that Mr. Long was not a legal resident of this state. In support of the motion, the defendant presented a petition signed by 120 residents of the county. The motion was denied.

Five witnesses were examined. The first one was W. J. Sullivan, editor of the Campbellsport paper in which the alleged article was published. He testified that the article had been brought to him and ordered published by Mr. Gudex, and to prove his statement he produced the original manuscript. George Justen, a local saloonkeeper was the second witness, and gave testimony to the effect that Mr. Gudex had shown the article before it appeared in the paper. Chas. Holz of the town of Oacoola, and J. R. Hall of Ashford were also sworn, and told of incidents connected with the publishing of the communication about Mr. Long. Chas. Hildebrand of this city, testified that Mr. Long was regularly selected by the local socialists to run for the nomination for state senator.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

BUDGET SYSTEM IS URGED

Senator Scott is For Business Methods in State Accounting.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 29.—(Special) A strong plea for the adoption of the budget system for state accounting as recommended by the state board of public affairs was made by Senator George E. Scott, chairman of the finance committee, in an address before the Madison Saturday Lunch Club.

If the system is adopted and thoroughly installed, he declared Wisconsin will stand far in advance of other states of the union, and will have developed business rules and business methods which will make possible accurate and understandable reports to money.

The public as to what has been accomplished with the people's money" and under this head he included a resume of business affairs of the state since its earliest days.

In opening his address the Senator compared the state to a vast corporation in which each citizen was the holder of one heard of stock. "Their contributions to governmental undertakings" he maintained, "are for the prime purpose of securing better citizenship."

The question with the people, he maintained, is not so much what they are assessed if they can intelligently arrive at right conclusions regarding the expenditures of their money and the desirability of results obtained. He pointed out that from time to time there had been criticism of the accounting for the people's money and it was there that the speaker took the opportunity to recommend the system of accounting recommended by the state board of public affairs.

"Wisconsin is the first state in union to recognize the failures of the old accounting methods," he maintained, "and to seriously undertake the problem of placing the accounting of the state upon a firm business basis. The legislature of 1911 created the state board of public affairs. The board has made a very careful study of the accounting problem of the state and has proposed a new system of accounts. The plans of this board are too comprehensive to take up for this short discussion. The Governor, however, in his recent message to the legislature presented a summation of the shortcomings of the present system and the fundamentals of the proposed system. How the system will work out has been demonstrated to a considerable degree by the budget which has been prepared by the state board of public affairs and is now being used by the joint committee on finance. This budget contains in very great detail all of the financial facts relative to the expenditures of the people's money. It shows the expenditures of every department and institution of state, classifies such expenditures in proper items according to the internal activities of the department or institution.

MADERO AND SAUREZ SHOT DOWN

FORMER PRESIDENT OF MEXICO AND HIS AID ASSASSINATED

Tragedy Occurs While Prisoners Were Being Transferred to Penitentiary—Attempt to Escape Alleged.

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—Francisco I. Madero and Jose Pino Suarez, deposed president and vice president, are dead. In a midnight ride under guard from the national palace to the penitentiary they were killed. The circumstances surrounding their death are unknown, except as given in official accounts, which do not conform in all cases. The only witnesses were those actually concerned in the killing.

The provisional president, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, says the killing of the two men was incidental to a fight between their guard and a party attempting to liberate them. The minister of foreign relations, Francisco de la Barra, adds that the prisoners attempted to escape. Neither makes a definite statement as to which side fired the fatal shots. It is not impossible that neither knows. An official investigation has been ordered to determine the responsibility and solemn promises have been made that the guilty will be punished.

Official Explanation Doubtful.

Not unnaturally a great part of the public regards the official version with doubt, having in mind the use for centuries of the notorious "ley fuga," the unwritten law which is invoked when the death of a prisoner is desired. After its application there is written on the records, "Prisoner shot while trying to escape."

Concern Over International Phase.

An international phase of the tragedy which is causing great concern is that these two officials were slaughtered after diplomatic representations had been made by the ambassador from the United States in their behalf and assurances from the Huerta government that their safety would be guaranteed.

WILSON MAINTAINS SILENCE AS TO HIS MEXICAN POLICY

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 24.—President-elect Wilson was shocked to hear the news that Madero and Suarez had been killed in Mexico City. "It's too bad," he said, but he refrained from comment, saying he would maintain his policy of silence until he had taken office.

Shooting Occurs in Street.

The tragedy occurred shortly after midnight. Madero and Suarez, who had been prisoners in the national palace since their arrest on Tuesday, were placed in an automobile, which was accompanied by another car, and escorted by 100 rurales under the orders of Commandant Francisco Cardenas and Col. Rafael Pimiento. With instructions not to outdistance the escort, the cars moved slowly.

Shots were fired at the escort out of the darkness. The rurales closed in and ordered the prisoners out of

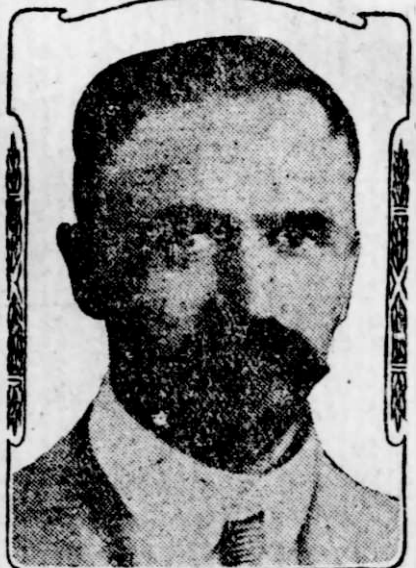

"I can't understand how you have the presumption to think I would permit my daughter to become your wife."

"It does seem rather surprising, I suppose; but cheer up, you're not half so badly upset as I was when she suggested it to me."

Men have received valuable hints and learned many things of importance from beasts; such as gratitude from dogs, vigilance from the crane, foresight and frugality from the ant, honesty from the elephant and loyalty from the horse.—Don Quixote.

In Spain, for the most part, washing is done in the old-fashioned way, with cold water in large earthen tubs, generally in little wash houses on the flat Oriental roofs. Local custom is exceedingly hard to change, and the cheapness of labor obviates the use of modern machinery and time and labor saving devices.

"What does it mean to cast your bread upon the waters?" asked the Sunday school teacher. "It means that the fishes have to be fed," replied the Sadle.

the car. Thirty of the guards surrounded the prisoners, while the remainder disposed themselves to resist an attack. About fifty men, some afoot and some mounted, threw themselves upon the detachment guarding the cars and the exchange of shots lasted twenty minutes, when the attacking party fled.

The body of Madero shows only one wound. A bullet entered the back of the head and emerged at the forehead. The body of Suarez shows many wounds, entering from in front.

After the engagement on the road to the penitentiary Commandant Cardenas reported to the military commander, who conducted him to Gen. Huerta. The president summoned his cabinet, and after apprising his ministers of the occurrence issued an official announcement.

Full Investigation Promised.

Both president and ministers deeply deplored the affair and decided upon a full investigation to fix the responsibility to punish the guilty. Already formal action has been taken by the authorities, as the members of the escort are under arrest pending the inquiry.

In his capacity as minister of foreign relations Senor de la Barra addressed a note to the diplomatic representatives, giving an account of the killing and assurances of a thorough investigation.

The foreign minister says that after the government had decided that all facts relating to Madero and Suarez should be adjudicated according to law, it was decided to send the former president and vice president to the penitentiary where they would have the necessary security, consideration and comfort pending the next step, known as the accusation process.

Concern Over International Phase.

An international phase of the tragedy which is causing great concern is that these two officials were slaughtered after diplomatic representations had been made by the ambassador from the United States in their behalf and assurances from the Huerta government that their safety would be guaranteed.

In Spain, for the most part, washing is done in the old-fashioned way, with cold water in large earthen tubs, generally in little wash houses on the flat Oriental roofs. Local custom is exceedingly hard to change, and the cheapness of labor obviates the use of modern machinery and time and labor saving devices.

UNITED STATES NOT TO INTERVENE AS A RESULT OF SLAYING

Tragedy at Mexico City Stirs Officials in Washington, But Policy Remains the Same—Will Watch Huerta.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—President Taft announced Sunday night that the slaying of Madero and Suarez, the deposed president and vice president of Mexico, deplorable as it must be regarded, will not precipitate American military intervention.

To quote what the president said, the crime "affords no basis for any change in the policy of the United States with reference to the Mexican situation."

That policy contemplates the concentration of an expeditionary force of troops at Galveston, Tex., comprising the Fourth and Fifth army brigades, and the maintenance of battleships in Mexican waters.

The assassination of Madero brothers will be proof to the other leaders in the field that failure to obey the government will result in their execution if captured. But what this government is afraid of is that a reign of terror will be inaugurated far worse, if that is possible, than has been the case up to the present time.

It was in the hope of preventing such a condition that Ambassador Wilson, in accordance with instructions sent to him by Secretary Knox, expressed the earnest hope that Madero would not be executed by any summary or illegal process, and that his life might be spared. Mr. Wilson explained that this representation, made on behalf of his government, was based purely on humanitarian motives and on the belief that the execution of Madero would be a blot on the record of the new government. Gen. Huerta promptly gave assurances that no ill advised action would be taken and created the expectation that Madero would not be killed.

The effect of the treacherous conduct of Huerta toward Madero, the man under whom he served as military commander, and his responsibility for the death of his former chief, will be, so far as the United States is concerned, to place his claims to the government of Mexico under more rigid scrutiny. His assurances of protection to Americans and foreigners generally and their property will be regarded as worthy of little consideration and as justifying the adoption of all possible precaution and even intervention if necessary.

His government has not been recognized by the United States nor has any refusal to recognize been made. Ambassador Wilson is in relations with him as the de facto authority in Mexico City and in other places where his rule has been accepted.

Huerta will be held to strict accountability for any attack upon Americans, and should these attacks be of a general character, or should communication be interrupted between Mexico City and its port, Vera Cruz, marines and blue jackets will be landed at once and will be promptly reinforced by the army. Public opinion in the United States is expected to support such a policy, and the murder of the Maderos and Suarez unquestionably will create such feeling in this country as to back up the extreme step of intervention should it be taken.

BROTHER OF MADERO IS STUDYING IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Feb. 24.—"Had my brother been given his choice he would have preferred death to confinement within the walls of the Mexico City penitentiary. I know and my brother knew there are worse things than death."

Carlos Madero, 18 year old brother of Francisco I. Madero, who is a student at St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., thus expressed his resignation to the fate of the late former president of the Mexican republic who was shot to death.

Since the outbreak of the revolution two weeks ago the youth has been hoping against hope that all members of his family might escape to Europe, but he at all times has been prepared to hear the worst. In each paper which he read he half expected to read that his brother, the former president of Mexico, had been killed.

"I thought I told you not to eat any porterhouse steak without my permission."

"So you did, doc; so you did."

"Then why are you disobeying my order?"

News Notes of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee.—Paul Lachmund, aged 68, for a score of years secretary of the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers' association, died at his home here three days after resigning the position on account of ill health. Mr. Lachmund conducted a lumber yard at Sauk City for thirty years, coming to Milwaukee in 1905. He had been prominent in state politics and was chosen one of the McKinley electors at large in 1896.

Washington, D. C.—Wisconsin is to have last place in the suffrage parade which will march down Pennsylvania avenue on March 3. The states were assigned alphabetically, but Wyoming got a more prominent place because it has adopted woman suffrage, and Wisconsin had to take the end. Mrs. La Follette, wife of Senator La Follette, has promised to march.

Maiden Rock.—Fred Nigg, 22 years old, was found unconscious in the barn of his employer, George Ender, at Nelson, where he shot himself. He probably will die.

Neenah.—The city council has voted to borrow $20,000 to pay on outstanding water works bonds.

Janesville.—As a result of five mysterious fires, State Fire Marshal Thomas Purcell and Assistant J. F. Baker, attorney for the office, are in the city to make a most thorough investigation.

Janesville.—Income taxes to the amount of $25,192.64 have been paid into the city treasury. A few foreign corporations are delinquent. The city has refused to pay the cost of the reassessment to the county treasurer.

Oconomowoc.—The Baptists of this city have dedicated a new church edifice costing over $15,000.

Racine.—Fire wrought damage of $10,000 in Union Grove, a village near here. Two residences were destroyed and several business houses were damaged. The fire originated in a shed near John Abby's blacksmith shop. The Grand Army hall narrowly escaped destruction. As a rule there is a water supply tank for fire protection but on this occasion the tank was empty.

Sheboygan.—Otto B. Joerns, former assemblyman, will be a candidate for mayor on the non-partisan ticket against Mayor Theodore Dieckman, democrat.

TEXAS SOLDIERS RUSHED TO BORDER

Governor Orders Militia to Rescue Imprisoned Americans.

HELD FOR RANSOM IN MEXICO

War Department Telegraphs General Steever to Prevent State Troops Crossing Boundary Line—May Bring Serious Clash.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 25.—Gov. O. B. Colquitt at midnight ordered four companies of the Texas State Guard to proceed to Brownsville with all haste when it was reported to him that Americans had been arrested and held for $20,000 ransom at the Mexican town of Matamoros, across the boundary from Brownsville, when they refused to contribute money to the officials in charge of Matamoros.

The governor also sent this message to Captain Head, in command of the Brownsville company of the Texas National Guard:

"Notify Mexican commander at Matamoros, who is demanding money, that if he harms a single Texan, his life will be demanded as a forfeit."

Consul Asks Aid. Governor Colquitt earlier in the night received the following telegram from Captain Head of the company of the National Guard which has been on duty at Brownsville for several days at the request of the sheriff of Cameron county:

"Have just received message from Consul Joseph E. Johnson at Matamoros. Can you authorize me to cross river at order of the consul to protect the consulate and American interests? Demand made upon Americans for money."

Holds Troops in Texas.

The governor telegraphed Captain Head as follows: "Telegram received. Do not cross river unless you receive orders to do so. Request American consul and Americans to come to Brownsville."

Governor Colquitt repeated the telegram from Captain Head to the officer in command of the United States troops at Fort Sam Houston:

Serious Clash May Result.

Washington, Feb. 25.—A serious clash may result between Federal troops and the Texas National Guard at Brownsville, Tex., should the latter attempt to cross the Rio Grande to the relief of Americans alleged to be imperiled in Matamoros, Mex.

When the war department learned that Governor Colquitt had issued orders for four companies of Texas guardsmen to proceed to Brownsville orders were telegraphed at once to Brig. Gen. E. Z. Steever, in charge of the Federal troops on the border, to send to Brownsville immediately such a force as he deemed necessary and under no circumstances to permit the crossing of the river except upon the specific orders of the secretary of war.

Wood in Personal Charge.

When the word of Governor Colquitt's action was received Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, recognized the danger in the situation and immediately took personal charge. Over the military telegraph line from Fort Meyer he sent imperative orders to General Steever to utilize his forces to prevent the proposed invasion of Mexican territory. These he supplemented by further orders through the regular channels of the war department.

Order More Troops to Border.

President Taft has ordered 7,000 more troops to mobilize at Galveston, Tex. With their arrival at Galveston there will be a full division at "peace strength," about 12,000 men, ready for duty in Mexico.

Maj. Gen. Carter to Command.

The other brigade of this division received orders to move Saturday and is now well en route to Galveston. Maj. Gen. William H. Carter, commanding the central department and second division headquarters at Chicago, will command the mobilization camp.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, said that the orders were issued by direction of the president and that the movement was part of the president's plan to be prepared for any emergency.

Does Not Mean Intervention.

President Taft said the movement of additional troops did not mean intervention. He said the administration still adhered to a nonintervention policy, but that he wanted to be prepared to meet any contingency which might arise, and that he wanted his successors to be as well prepared as he (the president) would like to be.

The troops' movement ordered followed the receipt of dispatches from the American ambassador at Mexico City and American consuls throughout the Mexican republic. These dispatches stated that almost the entire Mexican republic was aflame as a result of the killing of Madero and Suarez, the deposed president and vice-president of Mexico. Dispatches from consuls in the northern tier of Mexico states that those states were ready to openly revolt against the Huerta-Diaz regime in Mexico City. These reports state that the local authorities in the states named were bitter in the denunciation of Huerta for permitting the assassination of Madero.

A Rapid Counter.

URGES BUDGET PLAN

PRESIDENT TAFT IN SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS SETS FORTH ITS ADVANTAGES.

IS BASED ON COMMON SENSE

Bureau of Central Administrative Control and Congressional Budget Committees Recommended by the Chief Executive in Document.

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Taft on Wednesday submitted to the house and senate a message which included a concise statement of financial conditions and results, and urged the adoption of a budget system.

"The fact that ours is the only great nation whose government is doing business without a budget," said the president, "has not been a dominant reason for departure from 123 years of precedent. Such procedure is based on common experience and common sense. It is supported by the best judgment and experience that has obtained in the management of corporate bodies, both public and private."

While officers of private corporations are not ordinarily limited by law in such manner as to make it necessary for them to act under formal appropriations, it is the ordinary method of transacting business to have the president of a corporation lay before its board at its annual meeting a report which is also made available to all persons who may be interested; it is common experience for the president, as the responsible head of the executive branch, to set forth what has been done during the past year and what it is proposed that the corporation shall do during the next year; SIDETRACK FAIR REMOVAL PLANS

DELAY FOR MATTER SEEN IN INTRODUCTION OF SUBSTITUTE BILLS.

LOOK OVER PROPOSED SITES

Joint Committee. After investigation, will report to Legislature at present session or two years hence—Threatened Fight Averted.

Madison.—The threatened fight on the floor of the assembly over the Carpenter bill for the commission to investigate new sites for the state fair was averted, when Assemblyman Axel Johnson submitted a substitute bill providing that the proposed commission shall investigate "all appropriate sites." This allows an inquiry into the present situation at Milwaukee and causes of the alleged poor attendance and all incidental considerations of the problem. The commission is asked to make a report to it on the next legislative session. Mr. Carpenter moved that his bill and amendments offered by Messrs. Koessler and Kiefer be referred to the committee on agriculture. This was so ordered.

Urges U. S. Intervention

Assemblyman Dove of Ashland has presented a resolution to the lower house petitioning the Wisconsin senators and representatives at Washington to urge intervention in Mexican affairs. This resolution cites the conditions prevailing in Mexico and declares that there is no evidence of an abatement of the conditions under the new military rule. It declares that American lives are in jeopardy and that it is and always has been the policy of the American government to lend counsel and help in such emergencies.

Clocks Must Work Sundays

The bill limiting the hours of labor in a drug store to 120 for fourteen days and providing that every clerk must have twenty-four hours of consecutive rest from duty during every period of two weeks is to be recommended for passage. The feature of the bill prohibiting drug stores from remaining open except for a limited period on Sunday will be stricken from the bill. Because of the necessity of having drug stores open all day Sunday in some communities it was decided by the committee to eliminate the provision from the bill which provided that drug stores could only remain open on Sundays between 8 o'clock and 10 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the evening.

$235,000 Reformatory Asked

The state board of control, in a report submitted to the senate recommends the purchase of a site for a four mile reformatory, to be located four miles south of Fond du Lac. The site recommended consists of forty-one acres and will cost $35,000. The estimated cost of site and buildings is $235,000 and the state board recommends that that sum be appropriated for the purpose.

Fair Board Eject Killed

Assemblyman Shoor's bill providing for a reorganization of the state board of agriculture and for a new system of management of the state fair was recommended for indefinite postponement by the assembly committee on agriculture after a hearing. Mr. Paul's bill providing in effect that purchasers by contract of farm products shall pay for the weight ascertained at the time of delivery at the price agreed upon, was reported for passage.

Hits Mill Dam Owners

Madison.—The assembly committee on state affairs had a hearing on the Hull bill making owners of mill dams liable to two times the amount of the damages caused by the giving away of such dams. The bill grew out of the breaking of the Hatfield dam a year ago, causing great damage to the city of Black River Falls. The committee took no action on the bill.

To Organize Brewing Company

Wausau.—A brewing company, with capital stock of $125,000, is in process of organization here.

$1,500 Fire at Post Washington

Port Washington.—Fire discovered in the warehouse of Mrs. A. Boeger caused $1,500 damage to the contents of the warehouse and smaller loss to four other firms.

Neenah Man Appointed

Madison.—State Dairy and Food Commissioner Emery announces the appointment of E. L. Aderhold of Neenah as assistant dairy and food commissioner to succeed Prof. U. S. Baer of Madison, resigned.

Crossed Wires Cause Fire

Manitowish.—A fire of unknown origin, believed to have been caused by crossed electric wires, caused a loss of from $7,000 to $14,000 in the Krumdieck block.

Bish p's Secretary Rev. Death

La Crosse.—The Rev. John W. Rupp, for many years secretary to Bishop James Schwebach, is critically ill at St. Joseph's hospital, where he recently submitted to an operation for cancer.

MADERO AND SAUREZ SHOT DOWN

FORMER PRESIDENT OF MEXICO AND HIS AID ASSASSINATED

Tragedy Occurs While Prisoners Were Being Transferred to Penitentiary—Attempt to Escape Allege

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—Francisco I. Madero and Jose Pino Suarez, deposed president and vice president, are dead. In a midnight ride under guard from the national palace to the penitentiary they were killed. The circumstances surrounding their death are unknown, except as given in official accounts, which do not conform in all cases. The only witnesses were those actually concerned in the killing.

The provisional president, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, says the killing of the two men was incidental to a fight between their guard and a party attempting to liberate them. The minister of foreign relations, Francisco de la Barra, adds that the prisoners attempted to escape. Neither makes a definite statement as to which side fired the fatal shots. It is not impossible that neither knows. An official investigation has been ordered to determine the responsibility and solemn promises have been made that the guilty will be punished.

Official Explanation Doubtful

Not unnaturally a great part of the public regards the official versions with doubt, having in mind the use for centuries of the notorious "ley fuga," the unwritten law which is invoked when the death of a prisoner is desired. After its application there is written on the records, "Prisoner shot while trying to escape."

Senora Madero, widow of the ex-president, received the first definite information of his death from the Spanish minister, Senor Colegan y Colegan. She already had heard reports that something unusual and serious had happened, but friends had endeavored up to that time to prevent her from learning the whole truth. Soon afterward, accompanied by her brother, Jose Perz, and Mercedes Madero, a sister of Francisco, Senora Madero drove to the penitentiary, but was refused permission to see the body of her husband.

Senora Suarez also was denied admittance to the mortuary, where physicians, in accordance with the law, were performing an autopsy. Grief of Widow Pitiful. In contrast to the widow, whose grief was of a pitifully silent character, expressed in sobs, Mercedes Madero, a beautiful young woman, educated in Paris, who has been a brilliant leader of society since the revolution of 1910, was dry eyed and tigerish in her emotions. By the side of the two women whose husbands had been killed, the girl hurled accusations at the officers who barred the entrance.

"Cowards! Assassins!" she called them, her voice pitched high. The officers stared impassively. "You! The men who fired on a defenceless man! You and your superior officers are traitors!" No effort was made to remove the women, nor did the officers attempt to silence them. Senora Madero continued weeping, and the girl did not cease her hysterical tirade until the arrival of the Spanish minister and the Japanese charge, who came to offer their services.

The minister spoke with the officers in charge, but was told that on account of the autopsy it would be impossible for any one to see the bodies. Later in the day, they said, the request would be complied with. The diplomats then conducted the women away from the penitentiary. Shooting Occurs in Street. The tragedy occurred shortly after midnight. Madero and Suarez, who had been prisoners in the national palace since their arrest on Tuesday, were placed in a automobile, which was accompanied by another car, and escorted by 100 rurales under the orders of Commandant Francisco Cardenas and Col. Rafael Pimiento. With instructions not to outdistance the escort, the cars moved slowly. No incident occurred until they had reached a point near the penitentiary, where in an open place the guards' attention was attracted, according to the official version, to a group of persons following.

Shots were fired at the escort out of the darkness. The rurales closed in and ordered the prisoners out of the car. Thirty of the guards surrounded the prisoners, while the remainder disposed themselves to resist an attack. About fifty men, some on foot and some mounted, threw themselves upon the detachment guarding the cars and the exchange of shots lasted twenty minutes, when the attacking party fled. The body of Madero shows only one wound. A bullet entered the back of the head and emerged at the forehead. The body of Suarez shows many wounds, entering from in front. After the engagement on the road to the penitentiary Commandant Cardenas reported to the military commander, who conducted him to Gen. Huerta. The president summoned his cabinet, and after apprising his ministers of the occurrence issued an official announcement.

Full Investigation Promised

Both president and ministers deeply deplored the affair and decided upon a full investigation to fix the responsibility to punish the guilty. Already formal action has been taken by the authorities, as the members of the escort are under arrest pending the inquiry. In his capacity as minister of foreign relations Senor de la Barra addressed a note to the diplomatic representatives, giving an account of the killing and assurances of a thorough investigation. The foreign minister says that after the government had decided that all facts relating to Madero and Suarez should be adjudicated according to law, it was decided to send the former president and vice president to the penitentiary where they would have the necessary security, consideration and comfort pending the next step, known as the accusation process.

Concern Over International Phase

An international phase of the tragedy which is causing great concern is that these two officials were slaughtered after diplomatic representations had been made by the ambassador from the United States in their behalf and assurances from the Huerta government that their safety would be guaranteed.

Wilson Maintains Silence AS TO HIS MEXICAN POLICY

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 24.—President-elect Wilson was shocked to hear the news that Madero and Suarez had been killed in Mexico City. "It's too bad," he said, but he refrained from comment, saying he would maintain his policy of silence until he had taken office. While nothing has come from Mr. Wilson to indicate what his attitude would be, he has kept himself consistently informed of developments, displaying at all times a keen interest in the progress of events in the trouble ridden country.

Mr. Wilson, it is known, had hoped from the first that Mexico's problems would find amicable settlement without the least interference from the United States. He realizes the gravity of development, however, and is studying the situation earnestly. It is even declared among some of his friends that he may hasten the announcement of his cabinet so that he could avail himself at once of their council on a situation that will require the immediate attention of the new administration.

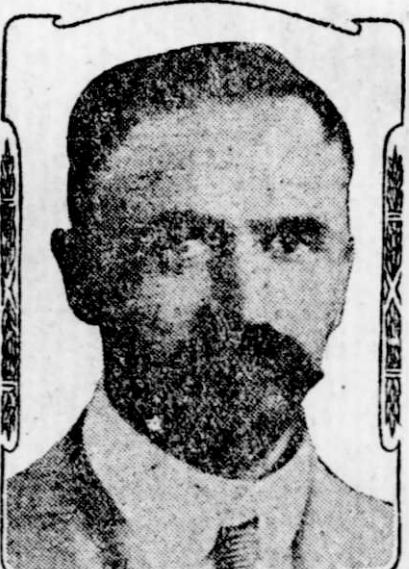

It is said the members of the Taft cabinet have volunteered to place before Mr. Wilson immediately all information at their disposal, so that he may begin to familiarize himself with some of the official reports before taking office. Mr. Wilson had no comment to make on this phase of the situation.

"I can't understand how you have the presumption to think I would permit my daughter to become your wife." "It does seem rather surprising, I suppose; but cheer up, you're not half so badly upset as I was when she suggested it to me."

Men have received valuable hints and learned many things of importance from beasts; such as gratitude from dogs, vigilance from the crane, foresight and frugality from the ant, honesty from the elephant and loyalty from the horse.—Don Quixote.

In Spain, for the most part, washing is done in the old fashioned way, with cold water in large earthen tubs, generally in little wash houses on the flat Oriental roofs. Local custom is exceedingly hard to change, and the cheapness of labor obviates the use of modern machinery and time and labor saving devices.

"What does it mean to cast your bread upon the waters?" asked the Sunday school teacher. "It means that the fishes have to be fed," replied Sadie.

Both president and ministers deeply deplored the affair and decided upon a full investigation to fix the responsibility to punish the guilty. Already formal action has been taken by the authorities, as the members of the escort are under arrest pending the inquiry.

In his capacity as minister of foreign relations Senor de la Barra addressed a note to the diplomatic representatives, giving an account of the killing and assurances of a thorough investigation. The foreign minister says that after the government had decided that all facts relating to Madero and Suarez should be adjudicated according to law, it was decided to send the former president and vice president to the penitentiary where they would have the necessary security, consideration and comfort pending the next step, known as the accusation process.

An international phase of the tragedy which is causing great concern is that these two officials were slaughtered after diplomatic representations had been made by the ambassador from the United States in their behalf and assurances from the Huerta government that their safety would be guaranteed.

Wilson Maintains Silence AS TO HIS MEXICAN POLICY Princeton, N. J., Feb. 24.—President-elect Wilson was shocked to hear the news that Madero and Suarez had been killed in Mexico City. "It's too bad," he said, but he refrained from comment, saying he would maintain his policy of silence until he had taken office.

While nothing has come from Mr. Wilson to indicate what his attitude would be, he has kept himself consistently informed of developments, displaying at all times a keen interest in the progress of events in the trouble ridden country. Mr. Wilson, it is known, had hoped from the first that Mexico's problems would find amicable settlement without the least interference from the United States.

It is said the members of the Taft cabinet have volunteered to place before Mr. Wilson immediately all information at their disposal, so that he may begin to familiarize himself with some of the official reports before taking office. Mr. Wilson had no comment to make on this phase of the situation.

"I can't understand how you have the presumption to think I would permit my daughter to become your wife." "It does seem rather surprising, I suppose; but cheer up, you're not half so badly upset as I was when she suggested it to me."

UNITED STATES NOT TO INTERVENE AS A RESULT OF SLAYING

Tragedy at Mexico City Stirs Officials in Washington, But Policy Remains the Same—Will Watch Huerta.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—President Taft announced Sunday night that the slaying of Madero and Suarez, the deposed president and vice president of Mexico, deplorable as it must be regarded, will not precipitate American military intervention. To quote what the president said, the crime "affords no basis for any change in the policy of the United States with reference to the Mexican situation."

That policy contemplates the concentration of an expeditionary force of troops at Galveston, Tex., comprising the Fourth and Fifth army brigades, and the maintenance of battleships in Mexican waters. The assassination of Madero brothers will be proof to the other leaders in the field that failure to obey the government will result in their execution if captured. But what this government is afraid of is that a reign of terror will be inaugurated far worse, if that is possible, than has been the case up to the present time.

It was in the hope of preventing such a condition that Ambassador Wilson, in accordance with instructions sent to him by Secretary Knox, expressed the earnest hope that Madero would not be executed by any summary or illegal process, and that his life might be spared. Mr. Wilson explained that this representation, made on behalf of his government, was based purely on humanitarian motives and on the belief that the execution of Madero would be a blot on the record of the new government. Gen. Huerta promptly gave assurances that no ill advised action would be taken and created the expectation that Madero would not be killed.

The effect of the treacherous conduct of Huerta toward Madero, the man under whom he served as military commander, and his responsibility for the death of his former chief, will be, so far as the United States is concerned, to place his claims to the government of Mexico under more rigid scrutiny. His assurances of protection to Americans and foreigners generally and their property will be regarded as worthy of little consideration and as justifying the adoption of all possible precaution and even intervention if necessary. His government has not been recognized by the United States nor has any refusal to recognize been made. Ambassador Wilson is in relations with him as the defacto authority in Mexico City and in other places where his rule has been accepted.

Huerta will be held to strict accountability for any attack upon Americans, and should these attacks be of a general character, or should communication be interrupted between Mexico City and its port, Vera Cruz, marines and blue jackets will be landed at once and will be promptly reinforced by the army. Public opinion in the United States is expected to support such a policy, and the murder of the Maderos and Suarez unquestionably will create such feeling in this country as to back up the extreme step of intervention should it be taken.

BROTHER OF MADERO IS STUDYING IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Feb. 24.—"Had my brother been given his choice he would have preferred death to confinement within the walls of the Mexico City penitentiary. I know and my brother knew there are worse things than death."

Carlos Madero, 18 year old brother of Francisco I. Madero, who is a student at St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis., thus expressed his resignation to the fate of the late former president of the Mexican republic who was shot to death. Since the outbreak of the revolution two weeks ago the youth has been hoping against hope that all members of his family might escape to Europe, but he at all times has been prepared to hear the worst. In each paper which he read he half expected to read that his brother, the former president of Mexico, had been killed.

"I thought I told you not to eat any portehouse steak without my permission." "So you did, doc; so you did." "Then why are you disobeying my order?" "This won't delay the paying of your bill, doc; this steak is being paid for by my friend here."

News Notes of Wisconsin

Milwaukee.—Paul Lachmund, aged 68, for a score of years secretary of the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers' association, died at his home here three days after resigning the position on account of ill health. Mr. Lachmund conducted a lumber yard at Sauk City for thirty years, coming to Milwaukee in 1905. He had been prominent in state politics and was chosen one of the McKinley electors at large in 1896.

Washington, D. C.—Wisconsin is to have last place in the suffrage parade which will march down Pennsylvania avenue on March 3. The states were assigned alphabetically, but Wyoming got a more prominent place because it has adopted woman suffrage, and Wisconsin had to take the end. Mrs. La Follette, wife of Senator La Follette, has promised to march.

Maiden Rock.—Fred Nigg, 22 years old, was found unconscious in the barn of his employer, George Ender, at Nelson, where he shot himself. He probably will die. Neenah.—The city council has voted to borrow $20,000 to pay off outstanding water works bonds.

Janesville.—As a result of five mysterious fires, State Fire Marshal Thomas Purcell and Assistant J. F. Baker, attorney for the office, are in the city to make a most thorough investigation. Janesville.—Income taxes to the amount of $35,182.84 have been paid into the city treasury. A few foreign corporations are delinquent. The city has refused to pay the cost of the reassessment to the county treasurer.

Oconomowoc.—The Baptists of this city have dedicated a new church edifice costing over $15,000. Racine.—Fire wrought damage of $10,000 in Union Grove, a village near here. Two residences were destroyed and several business houses were damaged. The fire originated in a shed near John Abby's blacksmith shop. The Grand Army hall narrowly escaped destruction. A rule there is a water supply tank for fire protection but on this occasion the tank was empty.

TEXAS SOLDIERS RUSHED TO BORDER

Governor Orders Militia to Rescue Imprisoned Americans.

HELD FOR RANSOM IN MEXICO

War Department Telegraphs General Steever to Prevent State Troops Crossing Boundary Line—May Bring Serious Clash.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 25.—Gov. O. B. Colquitt at midnight ordered four companies of the Texas State Guard to proceed to Brownsville with all haste when it was reported to him that Americans had been arrested and held for $20,000 ransom at the Mexican town of Matamoros, across the boundary from Brownsville, when they refused to contribute money to the officials in charge of Matamoros. The governor also sent this message to Captain Head, in command of the Brownsville company of the Texas National Guard: "Notify Mexican commander at Matamoros, who is demanding money, that if he harass a single Texan, his life will be demanded as a forfeit."

Consul Asks Aid. Governor Colquitt earlier in the night received the following telegram from Captain Head of the company of the National Guard which has been on duty at Brownsville for several days at the request of the sheriff of Cameron county: "Have just received message from Consul Joseph E. Johnson at Matamoros. Can you authorize me to cross river at order of the consul to protect the consulate and American interests? Demand made upon Americans for money."

Holds Troops in Texas. The governor telegraphed Captain Head as follows: "Telegram received. Do not cross river unless you receive orders to do so. Request American consul and Americans to come to Brownsville." Governor Colquitt repeated the telegram from Captain Head to the officer in command of the United States troops at Fort Sam Houston.

Serious Clash May Result. Washington, Feb. 25.—A serious clash may result between Federal troops and the Texas National Guard at Brownsville, Tex., should the latter attempt to cross the Rio Grande to the relief of Americans alleged to be imperiled in Matamoros, Mex. When the war department learned that Governor Colquitt had issued orders for four companies of Texas guardsmen to proceed to Brownsville orders were telegraphed at once to Brig. Gen. E. Z. Steever, in charge of the Federal troops on the border, to send to Brownsville immediately such a force as he deemed necessary, and under no circumstances to permit the crossing of the river except upon the specific orders of the secretary of war.

Wood in Personal Charge. When the word of Governor Colquitt's action was received Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, recognized the danger in the situation and immediately took personal charge. Over the military telegraph line from Fort Myer he sent imperative orders to General Steever to utilize his forces to prevent the proposed invasion of Mexican territory. These he supplemented by further orders through the regular channels of the war department.

Order More Troops to Border. President Taft has ordered 7,000 more troops to mobilize at Galveston, Tex. With their arrival at Galveston there will be a full division at "peace strength," about 12,000 men, ready for duty in Mexico.

The last troops ordered out are the Fourth and Sixth brigades of the Second division, central department. Maj. Gen. Carter to Command. The other brigade of this division received orders to move Saturday and is now well en route to Galveston. Maj. Gen. William H. Carter, commanding the central department and second division headquarters at Chicago, will command the mobilization camp.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, said that the orders were issued by direction of the president and that the movement was part of the president's plan to be prepared for any emergency. Does Not Mean Intervention. President Taft said the movement of additional troops did not mean intervention. He said the administration still adhered to a non-intervention policy, but that he wanted to be prepared to meet any contingency which might arise, and that he wanted his successors to be as well prepared as he (the president) would like to be.

The troops' movement ordered followed the receipt of dispatches from the American ambassador at Mexico City and American consuls throughout the Mexican republic. These dispatches stated that almost the entire Mexican republic was in flames as a result of the killing of Madero and Suarez, the deposed president and vice-president of Mexico. Dispatches from consuls in the northern tier of Mexico states that those states were about to openly revolt against the Huerta-Diaz regime in Mexico City. These reports state that the local authorities in the states named were bitter in the denunciation of Huerta for permitting the assassination of Madero.

URGES BUDGET PLAN

PRESIDENT TAFT IN SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS SETS FORTH ITS ADVANTAGES.

IS BASED ON COMMON SENSE

Bureau of Central Administrative Control and Congressional Budget Committees Recommended by the Chief Executive in Document.

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Taft on Wednesday submitted to the house and senate a message which included a concise statement of financial conditions and results, and urged the adoption of a budget system. "The fact that ours is the only great nation whose government is doing business without a budget," said the president, "has not been a dominant reason for departure from 123 years of precedent. Such procedure is based on common experience and common sense. It is supported by the best judgment and experience that has obtained in the management of corporate bodies, both public and private. While officers of private corporations are not ordinarily limited by law in such manner as to make it necessary for them to act under formal appropriations, it is the ordinary method of transacting business to have the president of a corporation lay before its board at its annual meeting a report which is also made available to all persons who may be interested; it is common experience for the president, as the responsible head of the executive branch, to set forth what has been done during the past year and what it is proposed that the corporation shall do during the next year. It is common experience for the president as the head of the administration to accompany his proposals with estimates; it is common experience for the president as the responsible head of the executive branch, to set forth what has been done during the past year and what it is proposed that the corporation shall do during the next year. It is common experience for the president as the head of the administration to accompany his proposals with estimates; it is common experience for the president as the responsible head of the executive branch, to submit estimates with recommendations as to how proposed expenditures shall be financed."

"First in the list of proposed changes in law setting forth what legislation should be enacted in order to enable the administration to transact the public business with greater economy and efficiency is a recommendation for the establishment of a bureau of central administrative control, with a controller at the head who would be responsible to the president and to congress. Concretely the proposal is to consolidate the six auditors' offices as well as the office of the comptroller of the treasury and the other central accounting offices of the government in one executive bureau. "While it is with much hesitation that I suggest any change in common organization in congress, it seems to me to be highly desirable to have some provision such as has been frequently suggested by members on the floor, whereby a budget committee may be established as a final clearing house through which all the recommendations of the committees having to do with revenues and expenditures shall pass before they take the form of a definite bill."

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT LAW Secretary of State Knox Announces That It is Now a Part of the Constitution. Washington, Feb. 27.—Secretary Knox issued a notice to the public Tuesday that the income tax amendment is now a part of the Constitution, having been ratified by more than the constitutional two-thirds of the states.

The new amendment will be "Article XVI." No further action is required on the part of the executive branch of the government. The next steps to give effect to the amendment must be taken by congress.

10,000 ARE SLAIN BY TURKS

Report to Washington the Slaughter of Myriad of Allies in Scutari Battle. Washington, Feb. 25.—Six thousand Montenegrins and 4,000 Serbians perished at Scutari in the last battle between the allied troops and the Turkish forces, according to an official dispatch from Constantinople, received at the Turkish embassy Sunday. The town of Bardan was retaken by the Turks. The Ottoman war office advises that the Montenegrins do not seem to be in a position to continue the war.

LEGISLATORS WORK IN FEVERISH HASTE

AFTER DRAGGING ALONG FOR SEVEN WEEKS, LAWMAKERS BEGIN RUSHING IN BILLS.

AID FOR FARMERS PROPOSED

Assemblyman Spoor's Measure for Licensing of Commission Dealers Is Designed as Means of Assuring Square Deal to Tillers of the Soil.

Madison.—After dragging along for seven weeks without accomplishing anything of moment, the legislature has gone to the other extreme. Now there is shown a feverishness of action with a view of making every one, including the legislators, believe that great work is being done.

Over on the assembly side this rushing has given rise to predictions that the legislature will come to a close by April 1. The old timers among the members smile indulgently at these dreamers of dreams. They will be well satisfied if the legislature can adjourn sine die on June 1.

However, for the present there is a rush to get bills scheduled for hearings. In the desire to make a showing bills are bulletined for hearings which have not yet been printed. Until a bill is printed no one outside the authors and a small circle of friends of the measure knows what the bill contains, or whether it is "loaded."

It is well within the probabilities that these bills will have to be put over when reached, as in all decency persons can not be asked to appear before the committees until they have had a chance to study the measures carefully on which they are to put in an appearance.

Licenses for Commission Men

The licensing of commission men as a means of protecting farmers in getting proper returns for their labor is proposed in Assemblyman Spoor's bill. He has introduced a measure which those interested believe will prove a "hog tight" fence against those commission men who fail to make proper returns on the produce consigned to them.

The bill provides first that no commission man can do business without a license. This he is to obtain from the secretary of state, for which he will have to pay $5, or rather for the secretary's work in examining and approving a bond that the commission man will have to file before getting the license.

The bond remains in force until notice of its being revoked is filed and for thirty days thereafter. It is provided that "successive actions may be brought on such bonds for a breach of the condition thereof by the persons injured thereby, until the entire amount of the penalty is exhausted."

Any one who tries to dispose of farm products for the producer without having obtained a license shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. On conviction he can be fined from $100 to $500 for "each and every day" in which he has been engaged in business.

Senators Ask Personal Freedom

Representatives of Wisconsin Christian Scientists are here planning a campaign for the protection of their people in the right to select the healers and advisers they desire in times of illness. The campaign of the Christian Scientists will be fought this year on a somewhat different ground than it has been carried on in the past. When the so-called medical bills are taken up the Christian Scientists will come forward and declare that they have no objection to any protection being thrown around any class of practitioners or healers which those practitioners or healers may desire, so long as it is clearly understood that the right of individuals to choose any kind of healing or advice in cases of illness is protected. In other words the Christian Scientists will ask that the limitation placed on the practice of medicine or any other form of healing such as chiro-practice, be solely for those professions and that no attempt shall be made to legislate that the individual shall not have the right to call healers outside of those professions if he so desires.

Pass $470,000 Highway Bill

Senator Browne's bill, appropriating $470,000 for state highway aid fund, went through all the processes of introduction, references, reading three times and passage, without discussion. From its introduction on the opening day, in the senate, to the hour of its passage, not a single word has been uttered for or against it.

Session Limit Passes Assen. by

The Axel Johnson resolution limiting sessions of the legislature to a maximum of 140 days was adopted in the assembly without opposition. The resolution increasing the pay of members of the legislature from $500 to $1,200 for the biennial period was passed, making the second passage of this resolution by the assembly, it having passed the legislature two years ago. The amendment provides for the payment of a salary to legislators of $500 annually.

Child Killed in Runaway

Prairie du Chien.—The little daughter of Verdie Clark was killed by the old weathered engine in a runaway. The horse driven by the Clarks became frightened at an automobile on a highway near here.

Motor Apparatus Coming

Appleton.—One piece of motor driving apparatus will be installed in the local fire department, and if found satisfactory the entire department will be equipped.

Boundary Report Filed

In the senate the report of the joint committee appointed two years ago to confer with a similar committee from Minnesota upon boundary lines, was read to the effect that the committees of the two states, after numerous conferences, found that there was no possibility of coming together. The contention of the Wisconsin committee was that the boundary line through the St. Louis river is identical with the center of the main channel of the river as indicated on maps and records of the war department.

Monument for Gen. Dodge

A monument to the memory of Gen. Henry Dodge, first territorial governor of Wisconsin and a well known military hero of the Blackhawk war, is proposed in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Allen D. Richardson of Iowa county. It calls for an appropriation of $5,000 for the erection of a cenotaph at Dodgeville. Gov. Dodge was born in 1782 and in 1826 came to Wisconsin from Indiana to engage in lead mining in the southwestern part of the state. He was appointed territorial governor by President Jackson in 1836.

Trade Restraint Hit Hard

The assembly by a vote of 84 to 4 advanced Speaker Hull's anti-discrimination bill designed to prohibit under selling of commodities. A similar measure was advocated by Woodrow Wilson last fall for national enactment. Hull has pressed this measure in four legislatures. The bill would prohibit the selling of commodities in one community for less than the same dealer sells the same kind of goods for in other communities, due allowance being made for difference in grade and cost of transportation.

Vicksburg Memorial Fund Cut

The assembly amended the bill to complete the memorial at Vicksburg so that it reads $1,500 instead of $2,000. Nine out of thirteen bills on the assembly calendar were killed without opposition at the same session. Among these was included several bills by Assemblyman C. H. Hood, La Crosse, cutting down the appropriation for the state forestry board, the library board and the industrial commission. This last bill would have put the commission out of business. All were killed without mercy.

Income Tax Hearing Plan

The plan now in regard to the income tax amendments which have been offered to this legislature is to hold a general hearing on the measures before any special hearings are held on any particular clauses on which there have been amendment bills presented. The general hearing on the income tax question will be held some time early in March.

Holds Contracts Illegal

Attorney General Owen has given an opinion to the state railroad commission in which he holds that contracts between competing telephone companies by which there is a division of territory are illegal. There are many companies in the state operating in adjacent territory which have these contracts and the railroad commission intends to secure their cancellation.

The executive offices in the capitol building are being improved by the addition of rich furniture. A carload of massive mahogany pieces reached the city and was installed in the offices of the governor.

John Hayes, an instructor in the banking and commerce course of the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed state banking examiner to succeed A. R. Emerson, now assistant state treasurer.

Pole Valuter Sets New Record

Madison.—The world's and the conference indoor pole vault record was shattered when John K. Gold, captain of the university track team, vaulted 12 feet 6 inches, breaking the world record by one-quarter inch and passing the conference mark 3 1/2 inches.

Mad Dog, Bites Four

Appleton.—Residents of Newash, Menasha and Appleton are out, armed, and in search of a mad dog which has bitten four children in the two latter cities.

Reception to Senator Walsh

Two Rivers.—Citizens here gave a public reception in honor of Thomas G. Walsh, newly elected senator from Montana, brother of John Walsh of Ashland. Two Rivers was the birthplace of the Walsh brothers.

Death of Col. W. H. Young

Oconto.—Col. William H. Young, one of Oconto's oldest citizens, died here suddenly. He was on Gov. Scofield's staff, had been a member of the legislature.

Supreme Court Adjourns

Madison.—The supreme court has adjourned until March 11. The McGovern-Ekern case was put at the foot of the calendar, and will probably be reached for argument on Saturday, March 15.

Masks as Women; Faces Trick

Madison.—Because he attended the "short-horn prom" masqueraded as a girl, James S. Mavrick, student at the state university, will be tried by the student's court.

Washburn in Coal Famine

Washburn.—Washburn is likely to experience a coal famine this spring if the cold weather continues. There is less than fifty tons of coal on the docks of the Northwestern Fuel company.

Clerk of Fish Commission

Madison.—John Abbring, a Milwaukee newspaper reporter, has been appointed chief clerk of the state fish commission, succeeding Rudolph Shiebel, who recently resigned.

TO PROTEST TAFT'S RULING

Catholics Will Ask New President to Revoke Decree Against Religious Dress in Wisconsin Indian Schools.

Superior.—As soon as Woodrow Wilson becomes president of the United States he will be asked to reverse President Taft's ruling which prohibits any new contracts for the employment of Roman Catholic sisters as teachers in Indian schools that receive aid from the government unless the sisters adopt some other costume than the religious habit for wear in the school room. This prediction is made by the Rt. Rev. A. F. Schinner, who has recently resigned as bishop of the diocese of Superior, and who is daily expecting an appointment from Rome to a western bishopric.

It was Bishop Schinner himself who went to Washington a few years ago to protest against the action of Indian Agent Campbell in forcibly removing two Indian children from the Catholic Indian school at Odanah, Wis., and compelling them to attend the government school. With the aid of Senator La Follette he carried the matter direct to the White house, and by sheer persistence he finally forced the Indian department to go on record as declaring that Indian parents had the same right as whites to say whether their children should attend a religious or a secular school.

TRAFFIC CRIPPLED BY STORM

Sleet, Snow and Wind Work to Derailment of Train Schedule and Interrupt Wire Service.

Milwaukee.—A heavy snowstorm and blizzard raging in central and northern Wisconsin caused much suffering and delayed traffic and wire communication, according to reports received here.

The storm completely tied up the interurban lines which have Oshkosh as a center, with the exception of the one to Fond du Lac. The Omro lines were put entirely out of commission. Steam trains into Oshkosh were down an hour to an hour and a half late.

Railroad lines were practically tied up in the vicinity of Green Bay, both mail and passenger trains being many hours late.

A despatch from New Richmond says that a severe blizzard has raged for twenty-four hours throughout northwestern Wisconsin. The country roads are blocked, wires are down in many places and railroads are not making pretense to run the trains on schedule time.

BUILDING PONTOON BRIDGE

Old Structure Across Mississippi River at Prairie du Chien Being Replaced by Railroad Company.

La Crosse.—A new pontoon bridge 210 feet long, 56 feet wide and 60 feet above the water level is being built across the Mississippi river between Prairie du Chien and North McGregor by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. The new bridge will replace one built forty years ago by James Lawler, who operated it as a private enterprise for several years and obliged the Milwaukee road to pay a toll of $1 a car for every car that crossed it. After a fortune had been made out of toll collections Mr. Lawler sold the bridge to the railroad company.

Eight Coaches in Ditch

Madison.—Steel cars prevented a loss of life and the smashing to splinters of tons of mail and baggage when train No. 515, consisting of eight coaches, the "Twin Cities Limited," on the Chicago and Northwestern road was ditched by a broken rail while going at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour near Sveue, eight miles south of here. Blocking traffic between Madison and Chicago for eighteen hours. Beyond slight bruises and cuts there were no injuries to the train crew of six men.

Farmer Nearly Beheaded

Monomoneie.—John Alsech, a farmer residing two miles west of Monomoneie, had a miraculous escape from instant death in a very peculiar accident. Mr. Alsech started to drive a nail into the floor of his granary when a double bitted axe fell from the rafters and struck him across the back of the head, severed the muscle and cut half way through the skull bone. He will recover, but had the axe struck an inch lower he would have been beheaded.

Hurley Policemen Reinstated

SPURNS THAW BRIBE

OFFER OF $20,000 TO RELEASE SLAYER IS REJECTED.

Gov. Sulzer Asserts Statement Saying He Wanted Murderer's Release Is False.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—A bribe of $20,000 to release Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane was offered by a lawyer last November to Dr. John K. Russell, the superintendent of the institution, according to his own testimony before the Sulzer committee of inquiry on Friday. Doctor Russell said he refused the money.

This was the result of a charge that William F. Clark, a friend of Governor Sulzer and secretary of the inquiry committee, had tried to influence Doctor Russell and Dr. James V. May, the president of the state hospital committee, to give Harry K. Thaw his freedom.

Thaw can be released only upon a supreme court order or through a certificate signed by Doctor Russell that he has recovered his mental balance.

Governor Sulzer declared that the use of his name was unauthorized. "If Mr. Clark or any other man made the statement that Thaw's release would be pleasing to me, it is absolutely untrue," said Governor Sulzer. On February 15, Doctor Russell said, Doctor May called him on the telephone from Albany saying he had seen the governor and that Mr. Sulzer would issue no order and "the case would have to take its regular course."

COURT SUSTAINS MANN ACT

Highest Tribunal Rules Congress Has Power to Create Interstate Police Regulations.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The Supreme court of the United States upheld the constitutionality of the Mann white slave act Monday, ruling that it is within the power of congress to adopt regulations which have the quality of interstate police regulations.

The verdicts of conviction in four white slave cases were affirmed. These were the cases of Della Bennett, Emma Harris and Bessie Green, for transporting girls from Chicago to Cincinnati; Louis Athanasas and Michael Sampson, convicted in Florida for having enticed a girl to become chorus girl in a theatrical company of low character, and of Effie Hoke and Basile Economides, for enticing a girl from New Orleans to Beaumont, Tex. It was in the opinion on the latter case that the constitutionality of the Mann act was upheld.

CAPITAL GUARD IS PICKED

Fifteen Hundred Special and Regular Policemen to Protect Crowds at Inauguration.

TWO EXPLORERS DIE

LIEUT. NINNIS AND DR. MERZ OF MAWSON EXPEDITION IN THE ANTARCTICS.

SEVEN STAY IN FAR SOUTH

Leader of Explorers and Six Others Remain in Adelie Land After Missing Boat—They Are Heard From by Wireless.

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 27.—By the news received here Tuesday of the death of two members of the expedition commanded by Dr. Douglas Mawson, another was added to the list of Tasmanian in 1911, accompanied by a large body of scientific men, to explore thoroughly the regions around the southern magnetic pole.

Once again the British army is affected by the loss of a brilliant officer, Lieut. B. E. S. Ninnis of the famous Royal Fusiliers regiment. He was a close friend of Capt. Lawrence Oates of the Inuitkilling dragons, who perished returning from the south pole with Scott. Lieutenant Ninnis was killed by falling into a crevasse near a year ago. His death was practically instantaneous.

Switzerland also has suffered a great loss by death of Doctor Merz, a prominent scientist and sportsman. After winning the ski jumping championship in Switzerland in 1905 he served his services to Doctor Mawson. Lieutenant Ninnis was the expert of the expedition on surveying and sledging. Wireless messages hitherto received from the Aurora do not state the cause of the death of Doctor Merz.

Unfortunately Doctor Mawson and six of his companions, after they had been picked up by the Aurora, undertook another expedition and were unable to rejoin the ship, which was compelled to leave them to spend another year in the antarctic.

Professor David, who was a member of Sir Ernest Shackleton's south pole expedition, received the following wireless dispatch from Adelie Land: "Dr. Douglas Mawson and several of his men missed the Aurora, which had gone to fetch them under command of Capt. J. K. Davis. This happened owing to unfortunate circumstances."

Lieut. B. E. S. Ninnis of the City of London regiment of Royal Fusiliers, and Doctor Merz, who was ski champion of Switzerland in 1908, are both dead. All the others are well.

Doctor Mawson and six other members of his party probably will winter on Adelie Land.

CULLOM FALLS IN SENATE

Statesman Badly Shaken Up, But Is Suffering Only From the Shock, Says Physician.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Considerable excitement was caused in the senate chamber Tuesday afternoon when Senator Cullom of Illinois, the dean of the senate, fell as he attempted to rise from his seat. For a moment it was thought that the senator, who is in his eighty-fourth year, was severely injured, and the business of the senate was immediately suspended. Senator Root and others of his colleagues at once rushed to his assistance and helped him to a chair. He was at once taken to his office in the capitol and Representative Foster of Illinois, a physician, was summoned. Doctor Foster found that the senator was badly shaken, but suffering only from shock.

CASTRO GOES TO CUBA

EX-DICTATOR OF VENEZUELA LEAVES NEW YORK.

Former President Declares That He Is Only Taking a Pleasure Trip.

New York, Feb. 25.—Cipriano Castro, one time president of Venezuela, without warning, sailed for Havana Sunday.

While he was being held a prisoner on Ellis island Castro declared that he had no intention of going to Havana. Immediately after his arrival it had been stated that Zelaya, his brother revolutionist of Nicaragua, was in Havana and was organizing a new revolution for that country.

Castro was asked if it was true he was going to meet Zelaya in the Cuban capital.

"I do not know Zelaya," was the equivocal reply. "I have never met the general."

"Isn't this rather a secret and hurried departure?" asked a reporter.

"Not at all," replied Castro through his valet, who interpreted Castro's Spanish. "I have made no secret of this trip. It is not my fault that the public know nothing of my plans. I am visiting Cuba for pleasure only. There is absolutely no business connected with the trip."

Washington, Feb. 25.—The sudden departure of General Castro from New York for Cuba Sunday was coincident with the receipt of a dispatch from Elliott Northcott, American minister to Venezuela, stating that there were rumors in Caracas of a small anti-government disturbance in the state of Trujillo.

CONSTIPATION

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle means, they do not grip, they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get into the nourishment from food that it put into it. Price 25 cents. All Druggists.

No, indeed. "Ladies are beginning to smoke cigarettes, aren't they?"

"No, indeed." "But I am sure I saw a woman smoking one yesterday!" "But you said ladies!"

Hint Direct. A dirty-looking stranger entered an hotel.

"Where's the bar?" he asked of Pat, who was standing at the door. "What kind of a bar?" asked the latter.

"Why, a liquor bar, of course. What do you suppose I mean?" "Well," drawled Pat, with a twinkle, "I didn't know, but what you what you might mean a bar of soap."

Some Method. "Don't you think, dear," began Mr. Comfy, "that our next door neighbors, the Scrubbes, are putting on a great deal too much style, considering the fact that they never know from day to day where the next meal is coming from?"

"Well," replied Mrs. Comfy, "you see, the more style they put on the more likely they are to be invited out to dinner."

"Hullo! There goes Jones in his 300 horsepower car. Do you know him?"

"Do I know him? Do I know Jones? Why, man alive, Jones and I were struggling young millionaires together!"—New York Times.

Dangerous Talk

"Mother, I wish you wouldn't mention dishwashing when George is calling on me!"

"Why not, indeed?" "I don't like it. It sounds common."

"Common, eh? We have to eat, don't we?"

"Of course." "And George knows we eat and use dishes?"

"That's very true." "And George also knows that dishes have to be washed, therefore somebody has to wash them?"

"But, mother—" "What now?"

"If you keep on talking about it George may discover that you make father wash them, and he may think the same thing is coming to him if he should propose to me."—Detroit Free Press.

HOW TO SECURE A TRAVELING LIBRARY

The State Supplies Them.

What They Are.—Traveling libraries are small collections of books which are sent by the state from one community to another. They are maintained by the state and circulate from the offices of the Wisconsin Free Library Commission in the capitol, free of all charge except the cost of transportation upon receipt and return of each library. The libraries are made up of the best popular books in English, for adults and children, in fiction, history, travel, biography, science and literature. The commission also furnishes study libraries on special subjects. German, Scandinavian, Yiddish and Polish libraries containing about thirty-five books each, as well as small groups of ten books each in German, Norwegian, Swedish, Bohemian, Danish and Polish will be sent where need of foreign books exist. The libraries are shipped in stout hinged cases and are accompanied by supplies necessary for keeping records of circulation.

The traveling libraries are intended for farming communities and small villages not enjoying public library privileges. When the people at a station have read a library it is returned to the commission, where the books are checked up, record of their circulation is taken, necessary repairs made and binding done, and then it is sent to another station.

To secure a traveling library for a farming community or a village too small to support a public library, ten responsible citizens should make application on the blank furnished by the commission and select a responsible person to care for the library.

The books of the traveling library must be loaned without charge to any person in the community who will observe the rules made by the commission. Before a borrower is allowed to take his first book he is required to sign an agreement, sent with the box, pledging the return of all books and the payment of all fines and damages. If fines received for over detention of books are not sufficient to pay freight charges, small contributions from borrowers may be received. Libraries must not be kept longer than six months without special permission.

The traveling library should be kept in the most centrally located and most easily accessible place that can be found. The local postoffice is usually the best place, but it may be placed in the general store, or a private residence, and should if possible be accessible continually or at frequent intervals. The library should not be located in the schoolhouse if any other place can be found for the reason that the schoolhouse is closed periodically, and adults do not usually patronize libraries when so located. If the library is located in a schoolhouse adults must each week be given access to it outside of school hours and if the books are not returned to the commission at the close of the term of school the library must be removed to some other place accessible to the public. If the library is to be located in the schoolhouse a special bill will be furnished by the chairman and clerk of the school board and by the local teacher.

If further information is desired, address the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, Madison, Wisconsin.

EFFICIENT CITIZENSHIP-- HOW BEST PROMOTED

It is our business in this country to get at the best methods to govern ourselves. It was very well when we were a little federation stretching along the Atlantic seaboard. In one hundred years we have swelled from a handful to ninety millions, and the problem is to educate these in the principles of that government of which they are an essential and vital part. We want citizens and the public school and the public library are the places where citizens are made. The Wisconsin Free Library Commission, Madison, Wisconsin, invites correspondence from those who desire to secure the blessing of books for their communities, for the library extension work which it carries on aims to supply to every man, woman and child either through its own resources or by co-operating with other affiliated agencies what each community or any individual in the community may require for mental stimulus, intellectual recreation, or practical knowledge and information.

Wisconsin's Grand Citizenship

A great eastern statesman has said: "Out of the state of Wisconsin is coming a type of citizenship through the amalgamation of the Teutonic races that will be superior to all other types of citizenship in America." The great factors in promoting this better type of citizenship are the church, the schools, the newspaper and the public library. The Wisconsin Library Commission at Madison, a state board organized for the purpose of aiding the library movement of the state, stands ready to assist any community that wishes to establish a public library or a traveling library station.

A THOUSAND RURAL TRAVELING LIBRARIES

There are over 1,000 traveling library stations in Wisconsin in the state and county systems. Many communities have had libraries continuously since the establishment of the first system in 1896, while others have yet to feel their benefits. There is no place, whatever size it may be, that need go long for good books, for they may be had for the asking from the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, Madison, Wisconsin. Inquiries welcomed.

SYNOPSIS.

Robert Cameron, capitalist, consults Philip Clyde, newspaper publisher, regarding anonymous threatening letters he has received. The first promise a sample of the writer's power on a certain day. On that day the head is mysteriously cut from a portrait of Cameron while the latter is in the room. Clyde has a theory that the portrait was mutilated while the room was unoccupied and the head later removed by means of a wire, introduced by Cameron. Evelyn Grayson, Cameron's niece, with whom Clyde is in love, sends direct threats against the life of Cameron. Clyde learns that a Chinese boy employed by Philipus Murphy, an artist, had been nearby, had borrowed a rifle from Cameron's lodgekeeper, Clyde makes an excuse to call on Murphy and is furnished with a Chinese boy. He pretends to be investigating alleged infractions of the game laws and speaks of finding the head of an opium pipe under the tree where Cameron's portrait was found. The Chinese boy, who had been in Cameron's dressing room a Nell Grayson, dead next morning. While visiting Cameron in his dressing room, Cameron's mirror is mysteriously shattered. Cameron becomes seriously ill as a result of the shock. The third letter appears mysteriously on Cameron's desk. It reads: "I make direct threats against the life of Cameron. Evelyn Grayson, who pronounced from Chinese literature, who pronounced from Chinese literature, Clyde seeks assistance from a Chinese fellow collector, The Sable, most prominent Chinaman in New York. The latter promises to seek information of Cameron among his countrymen."

"Mr. Clyde," he said, with no more emotion than he might have exhibited had I told him I wished to sell for me a Chinese bronze on commission, "Mr. Clyde, I do not see, exactly, why you come to me."

"I came at Mr. Mow's suggestion," I explained. "He tells me you know the Chinese of New York as no one else does."

"The police, I should say," he returned, "know the class you seek better than I. Why not go to the police?"

It was not easy to explain to him why I had not gone to the police, for I did not care to reveal all that we feared, and how we dreaded that which police pursuit might precipitate.

"Because," I began, after a moment's hesitation, "I believe the whole thing is a mistake. I believe that those involved in the plot must sooner or later find out it is a mistake, the fact that a mistake has been made will not be any extenuation. My object is to find the plotters, prove to them that they are in error, promise them immunity, and recover my friend."

"What you have told me," said Yup Sing, speaking slowly, "is not enough. If you will tell me everything, I will let you know what I think. You must give the names and the places and the dates."

I did give him the names and the places and the dates. Mow Chee had told me I could rely upon him, implicitly, and I told him all, without reservation. I gave him even the letter, the only one of the three that remained to us—the last letter in which the final threat was made.

As I look back on it, now, I cannot understand why I did this. It was the only piece of proof, the only clue left. And yet, when he asked to keep it for a little, I consented without so much as a demur. I argued, I suppose, with an established business, and that, therefore, treachery on his part was not to be considered.

"And your friend," he said, as he folded the paper, "was never in China?"

"Never," I affirmed.

"How do you know?"

"He has told me so."

It was neither a smile nor a sneer which flared for just a moment across those sphinx-like features. It was a gleam of pitying tolerance, a patronizing gleam, merely, from the small, deep-set, almost eyes. One of England's greatest actresses, in speaking of the Chinese, has said: "They look as if they are always thinking, I have lived before you; I shall live after you." That was how Yup Sing looked then. But he merely said:

"Very well, I will learn what I can." "Soon?" I begged. "Very soon?"

He stood up, an imposing figure in his purple silk.

"Come to me tomorrow evening. Not here, but at the Chinese restaurant on Doyers street. Come at nine o'clock."

From my pocket I drew out the copy of the afternoon paper, and pointed to the article about the Celestial and the mysterious box.

"Do you suppose that could have any bearing on the matter?" I asked.

He adjusted his spectacles and read the half-column, slowly, from first to last. Then he smiled.

"I have that box in my cellar," he said. "It contains woolen underwear shipped to me from Lowell, Massachusetts."

CHAPTER XII.

"We were in Peking Together." At my evening conference with Evelyn Grayson, reviewing the day's events, I dwelt with some insistence upon the singularity of that episode at Yup Sing's.

"It was impressively significant," I maintained, "even if it was only a coincidence. Incidentally it convinced me that nothing escaped Mr. Yup's observation. I had no intention of referring to my discovery. I chose rather to have him think I had not noticed the figure the child was painting. But my choice was not to be gratified. He knew that I had seen and noticed it; and so, to relieve the situation, he frankly directed my attention to the symbol, explaining that what I had regarded as mysterious was most commonplace. 'It is one of the first things that Chinese babies learn to draw,' he went on, 'it is like the pothook and hanger of the American primary schools. First they draw houses, then ships, then men; and the houses, the ships and the men are all alike, just as are your A's, your B's, and your C's. And when signed to a letter.'"

I queried, "what does your ship stand for?" He shrugged his lean shoulders in a manner almost Gallic. "Who shall say?" he returned.

"And do you believe the pothook and hanger explanation?" Evelyn asked, pointedly. It was her way to probe at once to the heart of a matter.

"I can't say that I am altogether convinced," I answered, non-committally. "In spite of Mow's enthusiastic encomium, I was not very favorably impressed by Yup Sing. His wall of reserve is too high and too thick. It is neither scabable nor penetrable. And yet he stands well, I believe, in the community."

We sat in the music room, where a fire of drift wood rove a woof of green and violet strands through the red warp of the blaze, for the weather had turned chill. Evelyn wore a clinging gown of black panne velvet, with purple orchids at her waist. It had a wonderfully mature effect for one so young as she, but it was not unbecoming. Indeed it effectively accentuated the deep raw gold tints of her hair and added to the transparency of her unwonted pallor. I was marvelling once again over her outwardly brave up-bearing in spite of the constant anxiety of which pallid cheeks were the only visible sign, when she said:

"I was sure we should hear from Captain MacLeod today."

"He has probably met with rough weather," I consoled. "It isn't child's play rounding Point Judith at this season, you know."

"Rough weather or not," she insisted, "he must have reached Gloucester by now. And if he found Ieter Johnson, or if he didn't, he was to telephone, you remember."

"Gloucester is something of a place," I explained, adopting the vernacular. "It includes no less than eight villages and five thousand men are engaged there in the fishing industry. MacLeod can't be expected to learn in five minutes whether a man named Peter Johnson is one of the five thousand."

"But the whole community would know if one of their number had such an experience as he just passed through." And for this argument I had no answer ready.

Fortunately, however, none was required of me, for at that moment steps were audible crossing the hall, and when our eyes turned downward they encountered the dapper figure of Louis, Cameron's French valet, halting respectfully on the threshold.

"Mademoiselle," he said, bowing, "mais voici des lettres qui jal trouve." And we saw then, that he carried a tin despatch box.

Evelyn directed him to place it upon the table by which she sat. It seemed that she had not given over the idea that the letters for which we had searched so diligently on Sunday were somewhere in the house, and had directed Louis to bring to her anything in the way of writing that he could lay his hands upon.

He had found the despatch box, he told us, hidden away behind some seldom employed volumes in the library, and thinking it might contain that of which Miss Grayson was in quest, had forced the lock, to discover several carefully-tied packets of letters.

I wish I could give even a half adequate idea of the way she thanked Louis. It would add so much to a realizing sense of her sweetness without detracting at all from the envisagement of her dignity. No one could have heard her "bon garcon" and not have felt impelled to consecrate his endeavors henceforth and forevermore to her service. As for Louis his respectful homage and fidelity were almost pagan. I verily believe he would willingly have suffered martyrdom to serve her.

As he withdrew we fell avidly upon the contents of the box, yet with small hope of finding what we sought; for the letters it contained were all, apparently of distant date; letters, for the most part, of a private, personal nature, carefully assorted, and arranged in red-taped or elastic-banded bundles.

It was no mere idle curiosity which impelled us to read many of them, but to us, hidden away behind some seldom employed volumes in the library, and thinking it might contain that of which Miss Grayson was in quest, had forced the lock, to discover several carefully-tied packets of letters.

dearly uninteresting at one moment and so keenly engrossing at the next. There was correspondence here which meant nothing to us whatever, and there was correspondence which threw a searchlight upon portions of Cameron's career, baring good deeds and follies alike, without discrimination.

It was only natural, I suppose, that we should dig up a romance—a gem of luster shining amidst dun, sordid surroundings. Evelyn and I came upon two of its facets, simultaneously, and paused in our work to question its disposal. It seemed to us a holy thing, too sacred for a strange touch, and, even at the risk of passing over what might prove our one agent of revelation, we folded it away again with a sense of guilt at having dared to lift even the corner of the veil.

For a full hour I had scanned one letter after another in absorbed intentness, but with small profit. Evelyn, across the table, had been quite as busy. Rarely had we interrupted our employment with exchange of words. But now the writing which I held provoked exclamation.

"Addison!" I cried, so sharply cutting the silence that the girl started. "Addison! Did you ever hear of him?" She gazed at me, bewildered. "Not that I remember," she qualified. "Why?"

"Because we must find him," I declared, a little excitedly, I imagine; for the letter seemed wonderfully important.

Instantly she was all alert.

"What is it?" she asked, springing up and coming to my side. "What have you found?"

"Look!" I commanded, the sheet of paper in one upraised hand, a finger of my other hand pointing to a passage. "Look! In 1903, your uncle Robert was in Peking; and yet he gave me his word that he had never visited China."

Resting an arm on my shoulder and bending forward she read for herself: "Just to think! We were in Peking together and neither of us was aware of it until too late! What a foreboding we missed! Even five minutes' chat would have been something; but I no sooner saw you, than the crowd on Legation street swallowed you up."

"Have you read it all?"

"Not to the end," I told her, "just the beginning and the signature. Come," I added, "we'll read it from first to last, together."

It was written from Cairo, and bore date of December 7, 1903.

"My dear Cameron," it began, "I am wondering whether you are back in New York again. However, you will probably be there for Christmas and therefore this letter will not long await you. We have been making a rather leisurely tour of the east. Arrived here two days ago and shall remain until some time in January."

The writer then gave a general outline of his travels. "You will probably be surprised to learn that once you and I passed each other as ships in the night, save only that we did not even speak each other in passing," he went on. "It was my last day—indeed my last hour—in Northern China. Otherwise I should have made search for you. Just to think! We were in Peking together, and neither of us was aware of it until too late. What a foreboding we missed! Even five minutes' chat would have been something; but I no sooner saw you, than the crowd on Legation street swallowed you up. Half an hour later I was on the train for Tientsin."

The rest of the letter was rather confusingly personal in its references to mutual friends and interests. It was signed: "Always with warm regards, Addison."

"Do you suppose that is his first name or his last?" Evelyn asked me as we came to it.

"I refuse to suppose," I returned, smiling. "It's an even chance. What is more to the point is, how long has Louis been your uncle's valet?"

"Several years."

"Several is indefinite. Too indefinite. Too indefinite. Suppose you have him in here and find out exactly. Possibly he knows Mr. Addison."

When Louis came, however, he knew nothing. He had never heard of a Mr. Addison or of a Mr. Addison. Something in all the three years and eight months of his service with Mr. Cameron. So Evelyn thanked him once more in her own gracious way and we continued our work, directing our efforts especially now to unearthing further Addison-signed letters which might prove enlightening.

"Why should Uncle Robert tell you he had never been in China?" Evelyn asked me, looking up suddenly and dropping to her lap the letter she was at that moment examining. "I can't understand that."

"Nor I," I admitted. "If I had asked him out of idle curiosity he would have been justified perhaps in misleading me; but he must have known that it was in his interest I made the inquiry."

For just a moment she sat in silence, her narrowed gaze on the glowing embers in the fireplace. Then she turned to me again.

"Do you think, Philip, it was because he had something to hide?" she asked, seriously. "Something he was ashamed of and feared might become known?"

even had I believed otherwise I should have been tempted to preparation could I have foreseen my reward. Before I quite realized her purpose Evelyn was out of her chair, had slipped over behind me, and encircling my neck with her arms, had pressed her lips softly to my cheek.

"Oh, how glad I am to hear you say that! You believe in his business—in his nobility, just as I do, don't you, Philip, dear?"

"I'm sure he could never have been guilty of anything dishonorable," I declared again, imprisoning her hands. But the next moment, hearing steps again crossing the hall, I reluctantly released them.

For a third time Louis stood in the doorway. Now he upheld a small red-bound book, and his face was beaming.

"Voilà, mademoiselle!" he exclaimed, delightedly. "Je viens de trouver ce livre."

It was a book of addresses, and the valet, nervously turning the pages, put his finger upon the name of Horatio Addison, M. D., with the air of one who had discovered buried treasure. I am inclined to think that we were ourselves almost as demonstratively elated as he, for though we could not be sure that this was Cameron's correspondent, the odds certainly favored that conclusion; and unless the physician had died or moved away since the entry was made, we were now in possession of his address, which chance to be an apartment house on Madison avenue, that I knew to be given over entirely to doctors' offices.

This time Evelyn assured Louis that he was not merely a "good boy" but an incomparable assistant, and the richness of the reward came nigh to totally wrecking his composure, for, as he started to back from the room, I detected unmistakable tears glistening on his lashes.

"Louis," I checked him, with sudden inspiration, "apportez-vous le directoire téléphonique, s'il vous plaît."

And when the book was brought the fact that Dr. Addison's address had not been changed was promptly established. I was for calling him up, then and there, but Evelyn pointed to the clock and advised patience. It was already after midnight, high to totally wrecking his composure, for, as he started to back from the room, I detected unmistakable tears glistening on his lashes.

"I will be good enough to tell me, Mr. Clyde, why you think you require professional attention?"

And my inability to answer him, off-hand, paradoxical as it may seem, eventually supplied me with an answer at once truthful and convincing.

"Because," I explained gravely, "I find that of late I am losing my power of mental co-ordination."

The ardor with which he seized upon this index of my supposed malady was amusing. Instantly he grew obviously and deeply interested. I have since learned that what is known as confusional insanity, a rare condition, usually has its inception in this wise, without essential emotional disturbance. If I may quote an authority at the time, I believe he was suspicious of a developing paresis. What he thought, however, or what he did not, is aside from the story. I know only that his manner changed abruptly, his object evidently being to gain my full confidence. Whereupon, the bars of reserve lowered between us, I ventured to revert to our so-called "mutual friend."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

When Damon Doubled Pythias. Not until I had been passed into an elevator by a dainty young woman in the white habit of a trained nurse, shot up four floors into the hands of another who might have been the first's twin sister, and ushered by her, in turn, into a severely professional-looking waiting room, did it occur to me that I was upon an errand involving the employment of an extraordinary degree of tact. So imbued had I been with the importance of learning whether Cameron had or had not been in Peking in 1903, that up to this moment I had quite lost sight of my own position. Now I asked myself, on what ground was I to make my plea for information? To tell this Dr. Addison the whole story would certainly be inexpedient. To hint even at alarm concerning Cameron might involve the precipitation of that financial disaster he had feared and regarded which he had warned me. Indeed, would not any effort to obtain the facts I desired be likely to arouse sus-

Philadelphia Man Has No Need to Worry About Getting a Suitable Office Boy.

"Talk about luck in having office boys," said a well known Philadelphia business man. "I have hit it great. Back in 1887 I took on my first boy, and he was all that could be desired. After he had been with me for over three years and began to get nearly as fast as I was, he decided that he should learn a trade. Before he left he told me he had a younger brother who would like to take up the job. 'If he does as well as you did, he will do all right,' I said. 'The second brother came, and after four years' service he decided on a trade. But before he left he brought his younger brother, who took up the work. He proved as good as the first two, and then he grew too large for a $3.50 a week job and passed it along to the next in the family. Well, the fourth brother went to a trade and two more after him. I began to think that it was going to be perpetual. Then I learned something. The boys were all used up. There were no more to come. 'While I was wondering where to get another good boy, he spoke for his nephew. 'Who is your nephew?' I said. 'John's boy,' said he. It was the son of the first boy that I had started in 25 years ago, and he had grown up to the same age as his five uncles and his father when they began. 'Send him along,' I said. He has been with me for several months and is as good as any of his uncles. From last reports I understand I am good for a supply of good boys for the next 25 years.'

Solar Eclipse Affects Wireless. During the recent solar eclipse an interesting test was undertaken between the radio station of the Royal dock yard in Copenhagen and the Blaavandshuk station on the coast of Jutland, so as to ascertain the effect of the eclipse upon wireless transmission. It transpired that the telegraphing became more distinct and reliable as the eclipse progressed, and that it was most distinct shortly after the culmination of the eclipse. The view that it is the effect of the solar light upon the atmosphere which is the cause of radio telegraphy being much better at night than during the day seems thus to be confirmed.

Progressive Milkman. Competition among the milkmen is active in Evanston. A few mornings ago a woman moving to Evanston from Kansas City was surprised as she approached her new residence on her way from the train to see a stranger come up to her and call her by name. "I'm the milkman," he explained. "I heard that you were coming today. Let me carry your groceries. He got her trade.—Chicago Tribune.

Who dare deny the truth, there's poetry in pie. —Longfellow.

PIE, THE GREAT AMERICAN DESERT.

Pie crust is condemned as indigestible, owing in a great measure to the finished product. The materials, if rightly handled and baked, are not such a menace to the digestive powers as we are led to suppose. A light, flaky crust well baked and well masticated, is not unwholesome, if eaten not too frequently or in too large quantities. At any rate, bad or good, people will have pie, so let us make them as perfectly as possible.

The proportions for a medium rich crust are one and a half cups of flour to six tablespoonfuls of lard, a teaspoonful of salt and as little cold water as possible when mixing. Handle quickly, always rolling the crust from you.

Orange Cream Pie.—Beat together two egg yolks and a half cup of sugar, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and one of cornstarch; cook in a pint of milk, cool and flavor with orange rind or extract, and pour into a baked crust. Beat the whites stiff, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and spread over the top. Bake until the meringue is brown. The mixture must be well cooked with the cornstarch before the yolks of the eggs are added.

Chocolate Pie.—Melt two squares of chocolate, add a half cup of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, three egg yolks, salt, vanilla. Cook all together except the egg yolks and vanilla. A pint of milk is added, then when the cornstarch is cooked stir in the eggs and cool. Flavor, pour into a baked crust and cover with a meringue made of the egg whites.

Do NOT be troubled because you have not great virtues. God made a million spears of grass where he made one tree. The earth is fringed and carpeted not with forests, but with grasses. Only have enough of the little virtues and common duties and you need not mourn because you are neither a hero nor a saint. —Henry Ward Beecher.

SMALL CHOCOLATE CAKES. These small cakes are nice to serve for afternoon teas or receptions: Chocolate Dominoes.—Mix together a half cupful each of chopped walnut meats and figs, add a half cup of pounded almonds and the rind of an orange, a pinch of salt and orange juice to make of a consistency to spread. Knead on a sugared board, cut in domino shape, coat with melted chocolate and decorate with pieces of almonds to simulate the dots on the dominoes.

Chocolate Angelettes.—Beat the whites of four eggs, add a half teaspoonful of cream of tartar, a half cup of sugar, pinch of salt. Heat and fold in a fourth of a cup of flour, four tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, a teaspoonful of vanilla, drop on a buttered sheet in spoonfuls, sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake in a moderate oven.

Brownies.—Cream a cup of butter, add a cup of sugar, two squares of chocolate, two eggs, and a half cup each of chopped nuts and flour, with a pinch of salt. Spread on buttered sheets and bake fifteen minutes. Cut in squares as soon as baked.

Chocolate Cakes.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, add a cup of sugar and half a cup of water, two beaten eggs, four tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, pinch of salt, one and a half cups of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Melt the chocolate over hot water and flavor with vanilla. Bake in patty pans in a moderate oven.

"Feed Dr. Hess Stock Tonic on Three Months Test at Our Expense."—Dr. Hess & Clark.

John Marx, Kewaskum, Wis.

Dear Sir:—We want every stock raiser that comes into your store this Fall to go home with a package, sack or pail of DR. HESS STOCK TONIC. This is asking a good deal perhaps, but if you will read the conditions of this request we believe you will agree with us that there is not a single solitary farmer in your whole community that would not avail himself of this opportunity. Here it is:—

"Mr. Feeder:—Take home from your dealer's store a package, sack or pail—or a ton if you like of Dr. Hess Stock Tonic, feed it to your horses, cows, hogs, etc. all Winter and Spring. It costs less than a cut of hay for a horse, cow or steer, and 5 cts. a month for the average hog. If after it is used you are not satisfied with the extra profit it has made you, its increased growth, and milk production, besides keeping your animals healthy and free from worms, take back the empty packages and your dealer is compelled to refund your money."

We authorize you to make the same iron-clad guarantee on DR. HESS Poultry Pan-A-Ce-A, to make hens lay, to shorten the moulting period.

INSTANT LOUSE KILLER we guarantee to destroy lice on horses, cattle, sheep, ticks, etc.

Refund every cent if these preparations fail and we will reimburse you. Very truly yours,
DR. HESS & CLARK.

To meet the demand of this guarantee, we have a large stock of Dr. Hess Stock Tonic, Poultry Pan-A-Ce-A, Etc. on hand. Come in and take home any quantity you desire. We will have more goods on the way, so we can supply every customer.

JOHN MARX, KEWASKUM, WIS.

SHE LOST HER HAIR. But she found it again. That is the good part of the story. It cost her a lot of pride to lose it, and just a dollar to find it. You see, the dollar is the price of a bottle of Hall's Hair Renewer. No coloring of the hair. First of all, she talked it over with her doctor. This gave her confidence to go ahead.
