

Read the advertisements in the Statesman. They will enable you to shop more intelligently.

Kewaskum Statesman.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
SINGLE COPY..... $.05
THREE MONTHS..... $ 1.50
SIX MONTHS..... $ 3.00
ONE YEAR..... $ 6.00

VOLUME XVIII

KEWASKUM, WIS., SATURDAY, MAY, 31, 1913.

NUMBER 38.

WEDDINGS DURING THE PAST WEEK

Very Popular Young People of This Community are Married. Two Weddings Performed by Rev. Greve on Wednesday

RAETHER-MURPHY

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Raether in this village last Wednesday afternoon, when Rev. Greve pronounced the words that made James Murphy and Miss Amanda Raether man and wife. The bride attired in a blue Broadcloth suit and carrying lilies of the valley, was attended by her sister, Miss Theresa Raether, as maid of honor, she was attired in a tan silk dress and carried lilies of the valley. The groom was attended by his nephew, Orville Weber, as best man. At 5 o'clock a wedding supper was served with only close relatives in attendance. The groom is very popular among the railroad men, being employed as brakeman for the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, with headquarters at Milwaukee. During his visits to this village he has made friends with everyone he became acquainted with. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Raether of this village. She is a young lady of fine traits of character. She is held in high esteem by all who know her. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left on the 5:57 P. M. train for a wedding trip to Ohio and Terre Haute, Indiana. They will be at home to their many friends at 341 Walker St., Milwaukee, after June 20th. THE STATESMAN extends congratulations.

ENGLER-BRESEMAN

A very quiet wedding took place at the parsonage of Rev. Greve here last Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Mina Engler of Elmore and Chas. Breseman of the town of Wayne were united in holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Greve. The bride, who wore a dark blue traveling suit and dress hat and carried bridal roses, was attended by Miss Leona Backhaus as maid of honor. The groom was attended by his brother, Benjamin Breseman, as best man. The maid of honor wore a tan suit and picture hat. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Backhaus where a wedding dinner was served. The young couple left on the 5:57 P. M. train for a wedding trip to Minnesota and Iowa. They will be at home on the groom's farm after July first. Both of the young people are very well known in this locality and are regarded as very pleasant people. Their acquaintances are very large, who join with the STATESMAN in extending hearty congratulations.

BRAUN-HOFFMANN

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Minnie Braun at New Fane last week Saturday afternoon, when August Hoffmann of Beechwood and Miss Anna C. Braun were united in marriage by Rev. Gutekunst. The bride was attended by her sister, Alma Braun as maid of honor, and by her sister, Olga Braun, as bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Oscar A. Koch as best man, and Arthur A. Koch as groomsmen. The bride was gowned in a white voile dress and carried white roses. The maid of honor and the bridesmaid wore embroidered voile dresses. The bride is a very popular young lady and has a host of friends and acquaintances. She is well liked and is held in high esteem by all who know her. The groom is a very industrious young farmer of Beechwood and will prove a model husband. He also is correspondent for the Statesman.

The young couple will be at home at Beechwood after June 1st where the groom owns a farm. To the young couple we extend hearty congratulations. May their married life be blessed with happiness and prosperity.

ST. MICHAELS.

Miss Susie Schaeffer of Milwaukee visited with her parents here. Miss Annie Schladweiler of West Bend spent several days under the parental roof. Mrs. Jake Theisen of the town of Belguim visited a few days with relatives here. Mrs. Jos. Fellenz, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fellenz and children, Mr. and Mrs. Math. Fellenz and children and Mr. and Mrs. John Bandel and daughter Gladys visited with Mrs. Wiskirchen and family Sunday.

SILVER JUBILEE JUNE 8

The Local Branch of The St. Francis Aid Society will Celebrate Their Twenty-fifth Anniversary on Sunday, June 8th.

The St. Francis Aid Society of the Holy Trinity Congregation of Kewaskum will celebrate their silver jubilee on Sunday, June 8th. Societies from the surrounding towns have been invited. Those expected to attend in a body are West Bend Barton, St. Michaels, Addison, St. Lawrence, Hartford, Newburg, Campbellsport, St. Kilian and Ashford. The Kewaskum Brass Band has been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion. The program for the day has been arranged as follows: 9 A. M. reception for the visiting societies at the Catholic school hall; 9:30 A. M. High Mass; after mass the societies will march to the North Side Park headed by the Kewaskum Brass Band, where dinner will be served and a picnic held in the afternoon.

Several officers from the State Federation will be present and are expected to deliver short addresses at the park in the afternoon.

The officers of the local branch are: President, John Schoofs; Secretary, John Marx; Treasurer, Edward Miller.

Christian Oeder is Dead

Christian Oeder, one of the oldest pioneers of Sheboygan county passed away at his home on Friday, May 23rd, after a lingering illness of three months. Death being due to brights disease.

Mr. Oeder had reached the age of 84 years, 9 months and 7 days. He was born in Durlach, Baden, Germany, on August 16th, 1828. When a young man of 18 years he immigrated to America settling on a farm with his parents in the town of Scott, Sheboygan county where he resided up to the time of his death. In the year 1855 he was married to Catherine Etta. Their union was blessed with four children. Having lost this wife Mr. Oeder married again in the year 1863, this time to Paulina Nitschke. Their union was blessed with nine children. Deceased leaves to mourn his loss his wife 13 children and 16 grand children.

Mr. Oeder was a man who was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was very popular throughout the town of Scott and vicinity. He was a very kind and loving husband and father.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon with services in the Beechwood church. Interment was made in Union cemetery at Beechwood.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to hereby express our sincere thanks to all those who so kindly assisted us in our late bereavement the illness, death and burial of our beloved husband and father, and to all those who attended the funeral.

Mrs. Christian Oeder and family.

Alumni Holds Annual Meeting

The Kewaskum Alumni Association held its annual meeting in the village hall last week Thursday evening and elected the following officers:

President—Arthur Schaefer, Secretary—Martha Staats, Treasurer—Fred H. Buss.

It was decided at the meeting to hold the annual dance on Saturday evening, June 7th, in the South Side Park Hall. The committee in charge have this week sent out invitations to every member of the alumni. The Kewaskum Quintette has been engaged to furnish the music. The officers and committee expect a large attendance at this dance. The committee in charge of the dance is composed of Lauretta Schmitt, Elsie Guth, Josephine Ockenfels, Franklin Backhaus, Alton Altenhofen and Peter Hoerig.

Watch the Margin

We ask our subscribers to kindly consult the margin of their paper and if they are behind in their subscription to settle the small amount at once. If you are paid to January, 1914, the inscription on the margin of your paper will be 1-14. If you find any mistake in the credit please notify us by card and we will correct same. This will simplify matters and will be a benefit to you as well as to us. Watch your margin.

AUCTION.

The undersigned will sell at public auction on Saturday, June 7th, beginning at 1 P. M. all his household goods and residence together with one and one-half acres of land, located in the village of St. Michaels. Terms made known on day of sale.

Jos. Thuesch, Proprietor, Geo. F. Brandt, Auctioneer.

MORE POSTMASTERS RECOMMENDED

Congressman M. E. Burke of This District Swells His Recommendations For Postmasters.

Announcement has been made by Congressman M. E. Burke of the recommendation by him to the Postmaster General of the following named persons to be postmasters at their respective residences: Columbus—William J. Rieder, Insurance Agent and City Treasurer.

Elkhart Lake—Robert Horneck, real estate agent. Port Washington—Wigand B. Kruse, Editor of Port Washington Herald.

Sheboygan Falls—Rev. George Wildermuth, Lutheran Minister at that place.

Johnson Creek—John S. Meldeen Justice of the Peace.

Shgoeygan—F. Gottsacker.

Rural and Parochial School Graduates

Of the 151 rural and parochial school pupils who wrote on the county examinations on May 3, and May 10, 1913, 68 were successful and are to receive common school diplomas. Those that will be awarded diplomas in this section are:

ADDISON—John Speeter, Dorthea Mueller, Florence Greiner, Adele Sherman.

BARTON—Margaret Jordan, Rudolph Martin, Frieda Kopp, Clara Landwatter.

FARMINGTON—Esther Germer, Cora Yah.

KEWASKUM—Lorinda Schaefer, Lorina Schaefer, Elva Weddig, Esther Beliger, Louis Oppenorth.

WAYNE—Alma Klein, Harry Schaefer.

Read "Secret Service"

No greater story of the Civil War has ever been written than Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady's novel—a version of William Gillette's famous play, "Secret Service," which we have arranged to publish in the Statesman in serial form. "Secret Service" has aroused the emotions of theatre-goers for years, and Dr. Brady has preserved all the thrills and excitement in the telling. It is a story that will not be soon forgotten by the reader. Be sure to read the first installment, in this issue of the Statesman.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby wish to thank all those who assisted us in the death and burial of our beloved son, Paul Konitz, and to all those who attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Konitz.

A Night in Richmond in the Spring of '65

No greater story of the Civil War has ever been written than Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady's novelized version of Wm. Gillette's famous play,

Secret Service

The entire action of the story takes place in a single evening, but one that will not soon be forgotten by the reader. Not only is it exciting, but it has a tender love story that reaches its climax in a mighty struggle between love and honor.

Read Our Next Serial
If you enjoy thrills

BRAKEMAN IS CAUGHT

Full Account of Recent Fatal Accident as Related by the Escanaba Morning Press.

FUNERAL HELD ON SATURDAY

Remains Arrived in This Village on Friday. Interment was Made in Gage's Cemetery. Rev. Otto Officiated.

Paul Konitz, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Konitz of this village, who met with a fatal accident at Escanaba, Mich., last week Thursday, of which we made a brief mention in our last week's issue, was born in Berlin, Germany, on August 4th, 1887. When a boy of six years, in the year 1893 he came to this country with his parents, settling in Evanston, Ind., where they resided nine years, then moving to West Bend. When a young man of 18 years, he took up the life of a brakeman, at first being employed by the Chicago & Northwestern railway, then for the St. Paul company, with headquarters at Green Bay.

Deceased was a very industrious young man and well liked by his fellow brakemen and conductors. His acquaintances are very large throughout the railway brotherhood. The remains were shipped to this village, arriving here Friday, and removed to the home of his parents. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, services being held at the residence and interment made in Gage's cemetery. Rev. Otto officiating. To the bereaved parents we extend our deep heartfelt sympathy.

Following is an article clipped from the Escanaba Morning Press, dated Friday morning, May 23rd. "Slipping between the cars while making a coupling in the north yards of the St. Paul Railway company yesterday morning, Paul Konitz, 28 years old of West Bend, Wis., and employed by the company as a brakeman, met a tragic death. There were no witnesses to the accident, but marks in the ground at the side of the track show that he made a terrific fight to free himself, after being caught, the body being dragged for a considerable distance. The body was horribly mutilated, being severed at the waist and the head, arms and face being horribly cut and bruised.

Dr. A. J. Carlson, coroner, was notified immediately after the accident and went to the scene. A coroner's jury was summoned and after the testimony of the train crew had been taken a verdict of accidental death was returned. The members of the coroner's jury were: Philip Dupont, Louis Grenier, Nicholas Peiffer, August Lachasse, Edward Murray and Marc Pepin.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of J. A. Allo where it was prepared for burial. A telegram telling of the death of the young man was sent to his parents at West Bend immediately after the accident and at noon yesterday word was received that the father of the unfortunate man will arrive in the city this morning to take charge of the body.

According to stories told at the inquest by J. R. Krause, conductor; C. R. Donlvey, engineer and other members of the train crew it will never be known exactly how the accident occurred that resulted in the death of the young man. With a string of 73 empty ore cars all that remained for the train crew to do before leaving the yards and heading for Channing was to couple on the cabooses. Conductor Krause went into the freight office to get his running orders and Konitz, who was rear brakeman on the train, was on the ground ready to make the coupling to the cabooses. The head brakeman saw Konitz at the side of the track when he gave the signal to move ahead as he stepped towards the cars. When Conductor Krause came from the office he boarded the train and looked back for Konitz. He could not see him and when he met the head brakeman he asked for the whereabouts of the rear brakeman as he could not be seen. The conductor then walked back to the train and there found the mangled body.

Boys & Girls Wanted

Steady employment; good wages; and a chance to learn a good trade. Apply at ENGER-KRESS POCKET BOOK CO. West Bend, Wisconsin.

"HIGBEE OF HARVARD"

Senior Class of Local High School to Present Play Next Week Thursday Evening, June 5th

"Higbee of Harvard," a modern comedy-drama, with no "villains," nor forced scenes, will be staged by the Senior class of the local high school in Groeschel's Opera House on Thursday evening, June 5th. Reserve seats are now on sale at P. J. Haug & Co. The play is dramatic but not theatrical. The story is strong, direct, and not at all complicated. The characters are drawn with absolute fidelity and exactness.

About the different characters in the play we have to say that WATSON is a breezy, good hearted, self-willed man of 55. He is wholly unlettered, his grammar is atrocious; yet he is shrewd, keen, and far-sighted. He is honest, truthful and absolutely fearless. Though his quick temper often leads him astray, yet his kind heart always sets him right in the end. He is noisy, loudvoiced, and his utter ignorance of social amenities leads him into many amusing blunders.

WITTHROW is a slender, dignified, aristocratic man of 60. He is generally slow and exact in speech, and somewhat haughty in manner.

LORIN is about 23, a wholesome, alert young fellow. He is well educated and a gentleman, yet he shows at times a lack of perfect ease seen in one to the manner born.

DALRYMPLE is 25. He is bright, cheerful, full of fun. He is entirely at home in good society, and never feels any of that self-consciousness with which Lorin is occasionally afflicted.

HIGGINS is 55. He is an eccentric character, sometimes approaching low comedy. He is very humorous.

NANCY is 19. She is a thoroughly up-to-date American girl. Levelheaded, sensible, but full of fun and ready for a "lark" at any time.

MADGE is 18. She is a bright, lovable character, with a spice of temper when needed.

MRS. BALLOU is an attractive woman of about 45. She is a society woman, suave, easy, but a little imperious in manner.

MALVINA is a plump, red-checked woman of 40. She is full of animation and good nature.

How Much Rain We Are Having Lately

Editor Dean Hotchkiss of Fox Lake rises to make the following remarks in the last issue of the Representative.

Now the women are stealing our socks, it being considered very fashionable for women to wear half hose during the hot weather. They say that with the tight skirts now worn they can wear half hose better than they could with the flaring skirts of olden days and that the wind does not affect—er, that is, the men are not supposed to be any wiser, and the short socks are more comfortable. Well, all right; we don't care, so long as the dear creatures are comfortable and do not insist upon our giving up our socks to them. Fortunately most men's socks are too big for the girls and they will have to buy their own socks.

ST. KILIAN.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Beisbier on the 17th a baby boy. Congratulations.

Andrew Grab of Milwaukee spent several days of this week with relatives here.

Miss Mary German of Milwaukee spent several days of this week with relatives here.

Mrs. Oscar Bartelt and son visited with relatives at Boltonville a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob and Mrs. Theo. Weiland attended the funeral of Mrs. Joseph Felix at Stanley last week.

The marriage of Miss Mary Kern of this place to Chas. Reuter of Milwaukee was announced in church last Sunday.

On and after June 8th we will close our store on Sunday afternoons during the summer months.—Strachota Brothers.

The marriage of Kilian Strobel son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Strobel of this place to Miss Anna Wingers of Charlesburg was announced in church last Sunday.

After June 1st, during the summer months we will grind feed only every Saturday.—Muckerheide Bros. adv. 3t

ABOUT GETTING MARRIED

Legislature Makes Several Changes in Law Regarding Marriage License Applications

County clerks of the entire state are in receipt of a copy of the new Wisconsin law regulating marriages in the state, and if you are planning on getting married, you had better look up your family history and also take a peep into the past history of the other proposed member of the partnership. The new law makes several changes of a notable nature in the application for a marriage license and before any licenses are issued affidavits must be made in the presence of witnesses. These affidavits are entirely different from those in use in the state previous to the passage of the law.

The first question in the new application after the names of the parties to be married is an inquiry into the divorce records of every person securing a marriage license to marry in Wisconsin, in the future one must make affidavit that neither party to the marriage has been divorced in any court in the state within a year preceding the date of the application.

This is in keeping with the divorce laws of Wisconsin, as these laws now make all divorce decrees granted subject to reopening with in a year and at the end of a year the final decree divorce is entered in the case providing there has been no appeal to the court by either of the parties. The law does not demand that people divorced in other states wait a year before being married in Wisconsin, but the affidavit provides that both parties must swear that there is no legal impediment to their marriage. It has been held by the courts that a decree forbidding marriage within a year issued in one state becomes a legal impediment to marriage in another state. In addition to barring any divorce record that may exist, the applicants for marriage must swear that neither of the parties is epileptic, insane or idiotic. In case the clerk is in doubt as to any of the statements made in the affidavits the law gives him the power to demand a proper verification.

All applications for license must in the future be signed by two witnesses, but these witnesses may be regular employees of the county clerk's office.

The new Wisconsin law is along the same line as laws adopted in other states, and it is thought the enforcement of it will throw a greater safeguard about the marriage contract in Wisconsin. It is not thought that it will affect the number of marriages in the state.

Gets Heavy Damages

At 2:25 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the jury in the case of Dr. J. P. Connell vs. Dr. J. W. Ehmer returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and assessed damages in the sum of $5,500.

Of this amount $5,000 was for compensatory damages and $500 for exemplary damages. The jury retired at 11:40 o'clock Tuesday morning, after two hours had been consumed by the attorneys in arguments.

The verdict is a sequel to a slander and libel suit which Dr. Connell brought against Dr. J. W. Ehmer, a practicing physician at Lomira. Reports which were spread about the city and county two years ago were the basis of the suit.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Home-Coming Notes

Are you advertising the Home-coming?

The souvenir badges are expected to arrive here by June 1st, after which time they will be placed on sale.

Advertising stickers and postal cards can be secured at this office free for the asking. Be a booster and use some of these.

The decorating committee has engaged the Kewaskum Brass Band and orchestra to furnish the music on Saturday and Sunday of the Homecoming week. They expect to engage another band for on Sunday.

Amusements.

Thursday evening, June 5th. The Senior Class play given by the Seniors of the Kewaskum High School in Groeschel's Opera House. A laugh every minute.

Sunday, June 8th—Grand Baseball dance in the North Side Park hall. Be a booster and attend it. Music by the Kewaskum Quintette of six pieces. Everybody is invited.

July 4th—Grand Picnic and Dance in the North Side Park. Plenty of amusements.

TRIES TO POISON FAMILY THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

West Bend Man Puts Arsenic in Coffee Pot for Wife and Children to Drink

Herman Mueller, 51 years old poured arsenic into the coffee pot from which the members of the family were to be served Monday night and then went to a pump house near the railroad tracks and hanged himself.

Mrs. Mueller 50 years old, their 23 year old daughter Lena and son Edward 17 years old drank of the contents of the coffee pot and became ill. Lena was able to totter to the road where she called assistance.

A physician after working over the members of the family all Monday night declared Tuesday morning that Mrs. Mueller may die but that the others are out of danger.

Examination of the coffee pot on Tuesday revealed the presence of arsenic and a search was at once started for Mueller. A posse was formed and scoured the country side. The body was found hanging to one of the rafters.

Mueller has been employed at the malt house at West Bend, but for the last three weeks has been out of work.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

GIVEN TWO YEARS FOR FORGERY

Henry C. Bomhard Jr. son of a wealthy Milwaukee stove manufacturer, was taken to Waupun on Wednesday morning to serve a two years' sentence for passing forged checks. This is his fourth term. Bomhard is the fellow who passed a check for the sum of $35 on Henry Ziegler of this city last year, the check being drawn on a Wausau bank in which Bomhard had no funds. He also passed a check on a Milwaukee butcher signed the William Heppes Cash Store company of Hartford, Wisconsin the check being one of a local bank. The check on reaching here was at once declared fraudulent. When Bomhard left here he took an overcoat belonging to Joe Petesch. When he was arrested a few months ago Mr. Petesch and Mr. Ziegler went to Milwaukee and identified him as the man they had run up against. As there were a number of other charges against him the Hartford men did not press their claim at that time but it may be done when he finishes his short term in Waupun.—Hartford Press.

ORDAINED TO FRIENDHOOD

John and Dan Mogan were in Chicago where they attended the ordination ceremonies of their nephew Michael Mogan Jr., which occurred at the Holy Name Cathedral on May 17th. Most Rev. Archbishop Quigley officiating. Father Mogan celebrated his first mass at the Visitation church, Garfield Blvd and Peoria street. Father Mogan was born in Cascade this county and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mogan, former residents of Cascade, but for the past 25 years residents of Chicago. Friends here of Father Mogan and parents congratulate him and them on the happy attainment of his religious aspirations and hope that his life will be crowned with priestly success.—Plymouth Reporter.

JACOB PORTZ DEAD

Mr. Jacob Portz, one of Hartford's most prominent and esteemed German citizens, passed into eternal rest last Sunday afternoon May 18, 1913, at 5:30 o'clock, aged 77 years, 2 months and 2 days. The cause of his death was heart failure with which he had been afflicted for some time, but was only confined to his bed about one month.—Hartford Times.

Rubicon, May 22.—Richard Ballas and Arnold Seegert of Neda, Wis. were brought before Arthur A. Hauser, Justice of the Peace, Saturday, May 17th, charged with dynamiting fish in the waters of the Wild Cat River, having been caught by Geo. F. Hall, Deputy State Game Warden, Friday afternoon. Upon conviction each one was fined $50.00 and costs and in addition thereto, two months in the county jail.—Horicon Reporter.

Best Medicine For Colds.

When a druggist recommends a remedy for colds, throat and lung troubles, you can feel sure that he knows what he is talking about. C. Lower, Druggist, of Marion, Ohio, writes of Dr. King's New Discovery: "I know Dr. King's New Discovery is the best throat and lung medicine I sell. It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed." It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand and give it to everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by all Druggists. (Advertisement)

MINIMUM WAGE BILL ENGROSSED

CARRIES MINKLEY AND GOFF AMENDMENTS AND IS NOT DEBATED.

$75,000 FOR FRISCO EXHIBIT

Attempt to Reconsider Vote on Corn Syrup Bill Fails—Roessler Bill for Abolition of Election Pamphlet Non-Concurred in After Contest.

Madison.—The Mahon minimum wage bill with the Minkley and Goff amendments was ordered engrossed without debate in the assembly.

The Estabrook bill providing for a county board of managers for the county institutions, was ordered engrossed.

The Zoply senatorial joint resolution providing an investigation into the subject of state accident and sickness insurance, was adopted by a vote of 69 to 11.

The Vint joint resolution providing that the state shall lease all its lands and other rights for a period not exceeding fifty years, was adopted.

Reconsideration Fails. The Pfening syrup bill, or rather the Emery substitute amendment, which was ordered engrossed recently, came up again in the form of a motion by Schnitzler to reconsider the vote by which it was passed.

The Potts bill, authorizing the railroad commission to validate the issuing of mortgage certificates for improvement purposes as a first lien upon public utilities, where the cities owning them have already reached their debt limit; the Roessler bill, repealing the so-called coupon ballot law, and the McComb bill, providing that a judge cannot sit in a case where a son is one of the attorneys, all were passed.

Contest on Election Pamphlet Bill. The Roessler bill, providing for the abolition of the primary election pamphlet, was non-concurred in after a sharp contest on the floor, in which Senator Ackley was the chief advocate of the measure. The vote was 16 to 14.

The senate passed the True bill, appropriating $50,000 for a river wagon bridge across the Wisconsin river at Merrimac.

The Bowe bill appropriating $75,000 to provide for Wisconsin's exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco in 1915 was given final passage.

POISONS FAMILY; SUICIDES

West Bend Man Puts Arsenic in Coffee Pot and Then Hangs Himself in Pump House.

West Bend.—Herman Mueller, 51 years old, poured arsenic into the coffee pot from which the members of his family were to be served and then went to a pump house near the railroad tracks and hanged himself.

Mrs. Mueller, 59 years old, her 23-year-old daughter, Lena, and son, Edward, 17 years old, drank of the contents of the coffee pot and became ill. Mrs. Mueller may die.

Examination of the coffee pot on Tuesday revealed the presence of arsenic and a search was at once started for Mueller. A posse was formed and secured the country side. The body was found hanging to one of the rafters.

Indians Find Student's Body. Madison.—The body of Herbert Wright, the university student, who was drowned in Lake Mendota on May 17, was recovered by two Indian searchers from Minnesota. The body was located in sixty-five feet of water and was fully dressed, with the exception of one shoe. The Indians were paid a reward of $100 each.

Plant 300,000 Fish Fry. Couderay.—The sportsmen in this locality have planted about 300,000 trout and pike fry in the nearby streams and rivers during the last few days.

Class Is Record Breaker. Tomahawk.—With twenty-seven graduates the high school class of Tomahawk breaks all records. Last year there were twenty pupils in the graduating class.

Pick Site for Sanitarium. Neenah.—The Winnebago County Tuberculosis sanitarium will be located on the Oshkosh-Neenah interurban line of the Eastern Wisconsin railroad in the town of Vinland. Five acres have been purchased for $2,500.

Boa Constrictor at Large. Jefferson.—The escape from a small traveling show of three large boa constrictors in this city caused some excitement. The missing reptiles have not been found.

Tea Fatally Scalds Child. Marinette.—The 3-year-old daughter of William True is dead as a result of drinking boiling tea. The child took the teapot from the stove and drank some of the scalding fluid. She died a few hours later.

JUDGE R. C. FLANNIGAN

Judge Richard C. Flannigan of Ishpeming, Mich., is the magistrate before whom the Roosevelt-Newett libel case is on hearing this week.

PIER FALLS; 35 DIE

SCORES INJURED WHEN LONG BEACH AUDITORIUM FALLS.

Many Women Are Victims—Disaster Occurs During Celebration by English Subjects.

Long Beach, Cal., May 27.—While 10,000 persons were assembled on the land end of the big double decked municipal pier in front of the city auditorium in attendance on the celebration of British Empire days that suddenly collapsed Saturday with awful results.

Hundreds of persons were plunged down on the heads of other hundreds crowded on the second deck. The lower deck then gave way, and all were dropped down a chute of shattered woodwork to the tide washed sands twenty-five feet below.

Thirty-five persons—mostly women—were killed by the shivered timbers, impaled on big splinters or crushed to death by the falling bodies of companions and friends. Fifty more were seriously injured, while hysteria and paralyzing fright disabled scores of others.

The platform crumbled without warning like a paper box and in another moment there was a writhing mass of humanity crushed beneath the tons of splintered lumber. A panic among the other 7,000 spectators followed and in the wild rush of safety many persons were trampled on and seriously injured.

NEWS FROM FAR AND NEAR

Edinburgh, May 23.—A bomb was exploded in the Royal observatory here Wednesday, making a big hole in the second floor and destroying a large quantity of valuable instruments. Suffragettes are suspected.

Baltimore, Md., May 23.—One person is known to have been drowned and several men, women and children are reported missing as a result of a collision between the Bay freight steamer Avalon and the tugboat Eljah, with about 40 berry pickers aboard in the harbor here.

Penn Yan, N. Y., May 26.—Isaac Bassett of this county is a man of nerve, fearing he would die from gangrene which originated in his large toe, Bassett amputated the diseased member a week ago with his pocket knife. This, however, did not arrest the progress of the disease, so he cut off his foot Saturday with the same surgical instrument. Bassett is seventy-five years old. He lives in the extreme western part of the county, many miles from a physician.

Cleveland, O., May 26.—Thomas F. McMahon, head of the McMahon & Troughton Candy company, was severely beaten and robbed Friday by two thugs. Police captured one man, who gave the name of James Reed.

New York, May 26.—Stephen J. Stillwell, state senator from the Bronx, recently ennobled by the New York state senate of charges of bribery, was found guilty of bribery by a jury. The maximum penalty for the crime is ten years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine. He will be sentenced Wednesday.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 24.—The strike of the Pere Marquette boiler makers of the Wyoming yards assumed more serious aspects Thursday when 200 machinists and helpers walked out in a sympathetic strike.

Sends Wilson Annoying Letter. Philadelphia, May 27.—Charged with sending annoying letters to President Wilson, Richard Lindsay, said to be a resident of Chicago, was arrested here Saturday by secret service operatives.

Panama Canal Cut Through. Panama, May 27.—When two steam shovel met Saturday in Culebra Cut, one working from the west and the other from the east, the Panama canal was cut at grade from the Atlantic to Pacific ocean.

Famous Turfman Near Death. Lexington, Ky., May 26.—James B. Haggin, multimillionaire turfman and mine owner of Lexington and New York, is reported critically ill in New York. Mr. Haggin is in his ninety-fourth year.

Women Held in Boy's Death. Hugo, Okla., May 26.—Mrs. Malls-kar, twenty-one, was killed Friday and her eight-year-old stepson by giving him a capsule containing poison, was Friday held for action by the grand jury.

One Killed, One Dying From Accident. Cleveland, O., May 26.—Harry Herskar, twenty-one, was killed Friday and Andrew Benete is dying in a hospital as the result of the break of a boom on the breakwater construction at Edgewater park here.

T. R. FIRST WITNESS

ROOSEVELT WILL GO ON STAND IN HIS LIBEL SUIT AGAINST EDITOR NEWETT.

JURY IS CHOSEN AND SWORN

Miners, Teamsters, Farmers, Blacksmiths, Firemen and Woodmen Will Decide Upon by Newspaper Man.

Marquette, Mich., May 28.—A suit involving allegations of drunkenness on the part of Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States, will be heard here beginning Tuesday by a jury composed of four miners, three teamsters, two farmers, one blacksmith, one locomotive fireman and one woodsman.

Colonel Roosevelt, who is suing George A. Newett, an Ishpeming newspaper publisher, for $10,000 damages because of an editorial charging him with drunkenness, was the first witness today.

The following is the list of the jury-men:

Joseph Robear, Ishpeming, teamster, age twenty-five, married; William Pryor, Marquette, locomotive fireman, age twenty-seven, married; Robert Bruce of Powell, woodsman, aged fifty-four, married; W. H. Matthews of Gwyn, mining clerk, age twenty-five, married; William Fassender, Marquette, teamster, age twenty-eight, married; John Fredericksen, Negaunee, miner, age thirty-one, single; Gust Polcen of Wells, married, blacksmith, age thirty-two; William Sharp of Negaunee, born in England, age thirty-three, teamster, married; John A. Johnson, farmer, Marquette county, age thirty-six, married; William Garrow of Ely, miner, age twenty-six, married; Andrew P. Johnson, age sixty-eight, miner, lives at Humboldt, married; Thomas Howard, age fifty-two, farmer, of Chocoy, married.

Lawyer James H. Pound of Detroit, the chief counsel for the prosecution, was much more particular in his examination of jurors than W. P. Belden, the chief of the defense, and demanded the removal for cause of five prospective jurors to the defense's own. Lawyer Pound's favorite two questions were:

"Do you regard calling a man a thief or a drunkard or uttering other libel against him as a joke or a serious matter?" and "If you are selected as a juror in this case will you permit anyone to approach you and endeavor to influence your verdict?"

Lawyer Belden also had two favorite questions. The first one was: "Have you any prejudice against a newspaper, during a campaign, making charges against the character or habits of a candidate for office, provided that those charges are true?"

Lawyer Belden's second best question was, "Will you be influenced by the fact that one of the parties in this suit is a national figure and a former president of the United States, while the other is a country editor?"

And during all the questioning of the veniremen, Colonel Roosevelt sat quietly just inside the railing of the court room between James A. Garfield and George A. Shiras of Marquette, who is entertaining Colonel Roosevelt at his home. The colonel showed the deepest and most profound interest in the case and sometimes sat leaning over in the direction of the juror who was being examined, and with his eyes fixed sternly on the man's face. Sometimes an answer by a venireman would cause him to whisper excitedly to Garfield or Shiras, but he exchanged no words or even a look with his counsel, Editor Newett, who is a level, spare man of possibly fifty-five years of age with iron gray hair and mustache and ruddy complexion and looking more like a colonel of cavalry than a country editor, did not take the eager interest in the trial displayed by the colonel, but sat stiff and grim by the side of his counsel.

M'CARTY KILLED IN BATTLE

World's White Champion Heavyweight Dies When Arthur Pelkey Hits Him Over Heart.

Calgary, Alberta, May 27.—Luther McCarty, white heavyweight champion of the world, took the count of ten from Referee Edward Smith of Chicago which marked him the loser in the scheduled ten round fight Saturday with Arthur Pelkey and eight minutes later died from the effects of the blow.

His death was caused by a chance blow delivered somewhere in the region of the heart.

Appeals to Supreme Court. Washington, May 27.—The contempt case of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, John Mitchell, vice-president, and John Morrison, secretary, was Saturday appealed to the United States Supreme court.

Acquit Texan of Murder. Dallas, Tex., May 27.—Because J. A. Clopton, a wealthy capitalist, "thought" J. L. White, an official of a trust, was about to attack him, Clopton was acquitted here Saturday of the latter's murder.

Soup Supplied to Amundsen. Grand Forks, N. D., May 27.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, explorer, on his next expedition to the arctic circle will carry $4,500 cans of soup. An eastern soup manufacturing concern makes the gift to Amundsen.

Editor Dies in South. Chattanooga, Tenn., May 26.—W. L. Watherby, the aged editor of the Reform Press of Dunville, Ont., died on a Queen and Crescent train at Glenary, Tenn., Friday, while en route to the Confederate reunion.

One Killed, One Dying From Accident. Cleveland, O., May 26.—Harry Herskar, twenty-one, was killed Friday and Andrew Benete is dying in a hospital as the result of the break of a boom on the breakwater construction at Edgewater park here.

GEORGE P. NEWETT

George P. Newett is the editor and publisher of Iron Ore, of Ishpeming, Mich., who is being sued for libel by Colonel Roosevelt. The case is set for trial this week.

GEORGE V. FOR PEACE

SOUNDS FIRST POLITICAL NOTE OF BERLIN VISIT.

Princess Victoria Louise Weds Prince Ernest August—Latter Heads New State.

Berlin, May 26.—"The preservation of peace is my fervent desire, as it was the chief aim and object of my dear father's life," declared King George of England Saturday at a luncheon given by the British ambassador to the members of royalty, who were assembled here to attend the wedding of Princess Victoria Louise, Emperor William's only daughter, and Prince Ernest of Cumberland.

This is the first political note sounded during the wedding ceremonies of Emperor William's only daughter, for which three emperors and many princes are gathered.

Love and diplomacy entered into the marriage Saturday of Princess Victoria Louise and Prince Ernest August.

In brilliancy and in point of the great number of royal personages present the nuptials far outshine any similar event during the past decade. Kings, monarchs of lesser rank and crown princes and princesses saw the fair-haired, blue-eyed twenty-one-year-old daughter of the German kaiser become the wife of the strapping twenty-six-year-old prince, and with the ceremony was healed a breach between the houses of Hohenzollern and Guelph which had existed for about half a century.

As would be imagined, the wedding gifts are almost fabulous. Their value is estimated at close to $3,000,000. The kaiser was so glad that the old quarrel with the house of Guelph was settled that, after the marriage had been arranged, he promised to create a new German state and make the emperor the ruler of it. Accordingly Prince Ernest became the duke of Brunswick and the grand duke of Lunenburg.

TWO KILLED IN FEUD FIGHT

Four Others Seriously Wounded—Brother Kills Brother, Son Shoots His Father.

Merigold, Miss., May 26.—Five minutes after a trivial fight between Marion Henry and a man named John Law had started Saturday, in which both were hurt, two men were dead and four seriously wounded, a brother had killed a brother and a son had seriously wounded his father. With the exception of Law, all parties to the tragedy were well-known.

SIX DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

Cars Are Swept 300 Feet Down Mountain Side by Landslide Caused by Cloudburst.

Houghton, W. Va., May 23.—Six persons were killed and a number injured Tuesday night when a mixed train on the Sewell branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad was swept 300 feet down a steep mountain side by a landslide and completely swallowed up.

Pope Has Fully Recovered. Rome, May 27.—Pope Pius X has now fully recovered from his recent illness and is in normal health. Announcement to this effect was made at the Vatican. The pope resumed holding audiences Saturday.

Ball Kicks School Player. Concord, Neb., May 27.—Vance Faught, nineteen years old, a member of the local high school baseball team, died here Saturday as the result of being struck behind the ear with a baseball during a game.

French Soldiers Start Riots. Paris, May 26.—Hundreds of French soldiers engaged in riotous at various points Friday in protest against the new military law, which extends the term of enlistment to three years. A great many arrests were made.

Woman Faces Bigamy Charge. Cleveland, O., May 26.—Margaret Tylicki, twenty, who six weeks ago had the police searching the morgues and Cleveland medical schools for her body, was arraigned in police court Friday on a bigamy charge.

"LOBBY" IS RAPPED

PRESIDENT DENOUNCES MEN THAT SEEK ALTERATION IN TARIFF BILL.

SPEND MONEY WITHOUT LIMIT

Chief Executive Says All Branches of Government Should Be Relieved From This Intolerable Burden—Declares Public Is Misled.

Washington, May 28.—Lobbyists in general and particularly those who are trying to create an appearance of pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the items of the tariff bill, were scathingly denounced Monday by President Wilson.

The president made it plain that he entirely disapproved the methods used to swerve congress from support of the bill. At the same time he expressed confidence that the Underwood bill will be passed by the senate in substantially the same form in which it came from the house.

The president issued the following statement:

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertion being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the tariff bill. Washington seldom has seen so numerous, so industrious or so insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead the judgment of public men, but also the public opinion of the country itself.

"There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill. It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large have no lobby, and be voiceless in these matters while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and overcome the interest of the public for their private property. It is worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter.

"The government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden, and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would to be released from this unbearable situation."

The president made it clear that, so far as he is concerned, the letter writing propaganda conducted at the behest of the sugar and wool interests particularly not only met his disapproval, but was having the opposite effect from that intended upon him and upon the Democratic leaders.

He indicated that letters are being received from thousands of persons who know nothing about the subject upon which they write, indicating beyond all doubt a concentrated effort by interested persons to influence men in office who are responsible for the proposed legislation. On the other hand, the president admitted frankly that there were certain business men who had a legitimate interest in the wool and sugar items and who should not be classed in the category of lobbyists.

HOLD "CUT RATES" LEGAL

U. S. Supreme Court Decides Prices Cannot Be Controlled by Patentee of Articles.

Washington, May 28.—Patented articles sold under price restrictions by manufacturers may be resold by retailers at cut rates. The Supreme court Monday so held in the case of a newly patented nerve tonic. Safety razors, talking machines and thousands of other patented articles are affected by the decision.

The court's decision was five to four, with Justices McKenna, Holmes, Lurton and Van Devanter dissenting. Justice Day announced the majority decision, which held that while the patent laws gave the owner exclusive right to "vend" articles, that was not the same as a right to "keep up the price." That, the court held, was not granted by the patent law.

Many manufacturers had joined the manufacturer of the nerve tonic in his fight to sustain the contention that his patent gave him a right to sell or use his patented article under any conditions as to resale price he might see fit to impose.

Officials of the department of justice regard the decision of tremendous importance, putting an end to existing widespread extensions of patent monopolies, and sharply drawing a line of demarcation between the Sherman anti-trust law and the patent laws.

Mother and Baby Perish. Chicago, May 28.—Mrs. Martha Leiberman and her adopted daughter, Lillian Jacobs, aged nineteen months, were burned to death Monday in a fire that destroyed the Leiberman home in Cicero, west of here.

Bank Robber Is Caught. Toledo, O., May 28.—With a bent umbrella rib a man giving his name as James Evans of Chicago Monday robbed the Northern National bank of two rolls of bills, each containing $500. Evans was captured.

Bomb Kills Chinese General. Shanghai, May 28.—Gen. Hsu Pao San was killed by a bomb Monday while opening a box in the belief that it contained porcelain, of which he was an ardent collector. A servant was also instantly killed.

Ex-Senator Scott Improving. Washington, May 28.—Former Senator Nathan R. Scott of West Virginia has so much improved from the recent operation for cataract of the eye as to be able to go to his home Monday from the hospital.

Mill Strikers Renew Riots. Paterson, N. J., May 28.—After a long lull in the violence which has attended the silk mill strike, rioting again broke out here Monday when pickets tried to prevent non-strikers from returning to work.

Suggestion for Draped Gown That Has Won Admiration

A gown of black charmeuse trimmed with lace. The skirt reveals a rich panel of the same material, accordion pleated.

GOOD USE FOR OLD GOWN OLD POKE BONNETS REVIVED

Complete Transformation May Be Made in the Fashioning of the One-Piece Frock. Made Into Things of Beauty by the Clever Hands of the Up-to-Date Milliner.

It is rather astounding what a fashionable air can be given to a one-piece frock that has served during the winter as a house gown, by adding to it a belted jacket of figured silk material or crepon. Also, it turns the gown into a serviceable thing for outdoor wear through the spring and summer and saves one the necessity of getting a suit.

A dark blue crepe de chine trimmed with satin cloth which had served its purpose since December as a smart house frock was converted by one woman into a spring suit for the street and for afternoon wear by the addition of a dark blue watered poplin jacket which had a pronounced wave in it. This was lined with a figured silk in blue and yellow and belted in with a loose girde of crepe de chine run through a jet buckle in front. The revers were of crepe de chine and the long sleeves had a two-fold turnover cuff of the same.

Many manufacturers had joined the manufacturer of the nerve tonic in his fight to sustain the contention that his patent gave him a right to sell or use his patented article under any conditions as to resale price he might see fit to impose.

Officials of the department of justice regard the decision of tremendous importance, putting an end to existing widespread extensions of patent monopolies, and sharply drawing a line of demarcation between the Sherman anti-trust law and the patent laws.

Mother and Baby Perish. Chicago, May 28.—Mrs. Martha Leiberman and her adopted daughter, Lillian Jacobs, aged nineteen months, were burned to death Monday in a fire that destroyed the Leiberman home in Cicero, west of here.

Bank Robber Is Caught. Toledo, O., May 28.—With a bent umbrella rib a man giving his name as James Evans of Chicago Monday robbed the Northern National bank of two rolls of bills, each containing $500. Evans was captured.

Bomb Kills Chinese General. Shanghai, May 28.—Gen. Hsu Pao San was killed by a bomb Monday while opening a box in the belief that it contained porcelain, of which he was an ardent collector. A servant was also instantly killed.

Ex-Senator Scott Improving. Washington, May 28.—Former Senator Nathan R. Scott of West Virginia has so much improved from the recent operation for cataract of the eye as to be able to go to his home Monday from the hospital.

Mill Strikers Renew Riots. Paterson, N. J., May 28.—After a long lull in the violence which has attended the silk mill strike, rioting again broke out here Monday when pickets tried to prevent non-strikers from returning to work.

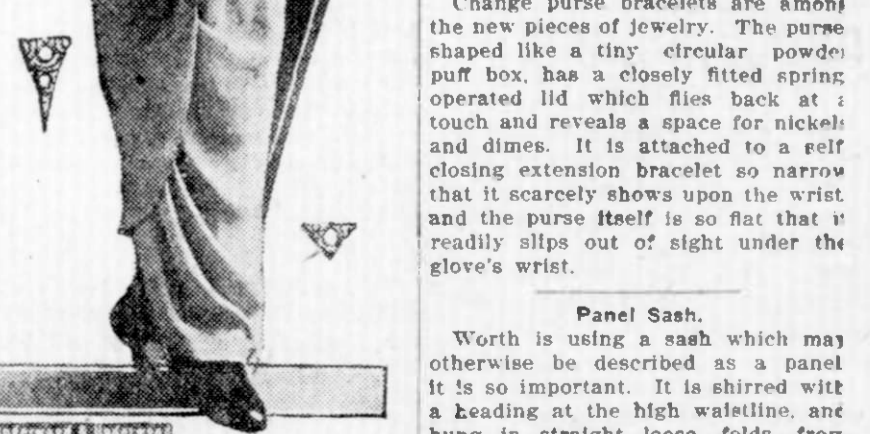

Even in the matter of tailor-made gowns a certain picturesque note asserts itself this season, the severity of the coats, for example, being very frequently softened by the introduction of frilled jabots of net and lace, emphasizing the Directoire style in which the collars and revers are cut.

The coats themselves, too, show a very becoming fullness, both back and front, above the curved lines of stitched strappings with which so many of the basques are finished. The fabrics which are employed for some of these tailor-made gowns are in themselves exceedingly picturesque and far more decorative than the smooth cloths and fine serges which have been used hitherto for gowns of this description.

New Veil. It is accordion plaited, and has a number of practical points. It is easy of adjustment, as it clings to the edge of the hat, and it can be conveniently rolled up and carried about in a hand bag without becoming mussed. The material may be either net or chiffon, but soft chiffon is the most satisfactory. You may have the plait run any direction that you choose. The selvage forms the top and bottom finish, and hems are necessary only in the back. A plait three-eighths of an inch deep is a good size. Consult a plater as to the amount of material required for a certain shape and size. The finishing of the edges must be done before the plaiting is put in.

Change Purse Bracelets. Change purse bracelets are among the new pieces of jewelry. The purse shaped like a tiny circular powder puff box, has a closely fitted spring operated lid which flies back at a touch and reveals a space for nickels and dimes. It is attached to a self closing extension bracelet so narrow that it scarcely shows upon the wrist and the purse itself is so flat that it readily slips out of sight under the glove's wrist.

Panel Sash. Worth is using a sash which may otherwise be described as a panel. It is so important. It is shirred with a heading at the high waistline, and hung in straight loose folds from there to the bottom of the skirt, entirely concealing the flat, scant line of the back caused by the placing of all the draperies and fullness in front.

A new model of blue crepon trimmed with white mulline and lace collar.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Big Reunion of Survivors of Civil War at Gettysburg on July 1.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Men Who Wore the Blue and Gray to Again Gather on Ground Made Memorable by Historic Conflict.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

WASHINGTON. — During the first four days of July the battlefields of Gettysburg, Pa., will again be the scene of a meeting of the Blue and the Gray, but this time they will meet in amity and affection. A half-century will have passed since the men of two great American armies met on this northern field. Then they were face to face in deadly conflict, for the issue, it was well understood to both contending forces, was the success of the southern cause, or the beginning of its defeat, to be followed by the restoration of the Union as it had been before the first shot was fired at Fort Sumter.

The United States government and the government of nearly every state in the Union have agreed to make the Gettysburg reunion of the soldiers of the north and south one of the great peace events of the century. The state of Pennsylvania some time ago appointed a "Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg commission" to make preparations for the four days' reunion, at which Pennsylvania as a state was to act as host to the veterans of the war between the states and to the thousands of visitors who would follow their march to the field of battle, and appropriated $150,000 for the purpose of entertaining the veterans.

40,000 Veterans Expected.

It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different reveille than that which the five and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of arms to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle. The United States government under an act of congress has appropriated money for the preparation of the camps and for the messing of the soldier visitors. The average age of the men engaged in the Civil war was only eighty years, but fifty years have passed since these soldier boys fought at Gettysburg, and so if the computation of age was a true one the average years of the veterans who will meet in Pennsylvania in July will be about sixty-eight years. Many of the men, of course, will be much older and a good many of them, men who entered at ages ranging from fourteen to seventeen years, will be younger, but all will be old men as the world views age.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriations to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern arm.

The preparations which the government is making to care for the veterans at Gettysburg are interesting. They have been under the charge of James B. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the United States army, and Henry G. Sharpe, commissary general of the United States army. Two years ago last March 14,000 regular troops were gathered in camp at Texas. The health of the soldiers throughout the Texas encampment was almost perfect, made so by the plans which had been carefully laid to see that perfect sanitation was maintained. The United States army was taught a lesson by the Spanish war, when lack of proper sanitary precautions and unpreparedness in other ways cost the government the lives of more men than were sacrificed to the bullets of the Spaniard.

The estimates of the commissary and quartermaster authorities are based upon an attendance of 40,000 veterans. It probably will cost the government about $300,000 to act in part as host to the survivors of the battle and other veterans who attend the Gettysburg reunion.

Big Task to Feed Men.

The survivors of the war from the north and south who will be present in large numbers, must be cared for in a way which would not have been necessary fifty years ago. The messing of the veterans will require 400 army ranges, 1 great field bakery, 40,000 mess kits, 800 cooks, 800 kitchen helpers and 130 bakers. This helping personnel will be required to be in camp for at least seven days, and many of them for a longer period, for the purpose of installing the field bakery, the field ranges and in dismantling, cleaning, packing and storing material after the encampment is over.

The old soldiers are to be supplied with fresh meat directly from refrigerator cars drawn upon the field. They will be given fresh vegetables and special bread with the best coffee and tea which the market affords. For them it will not be a case of hardtack, bootleg and poor bacon.

The Battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal

NOTED DIVINE IS CALLED BY DEATH

REV. JOHN BADING, PIONEER LUTHERAN MINISTER, EXPIRES AT AGE OF 88.

HEAD OF WISCONSIN SYNOD

Founded Northwestern University at Watertown, After Raising Funds in Europe for Its Establishment—Was in Ministry Sixty Years.

Milwaukee.—The Rev. John Bading, pioneer Lutheran minister of St. John's church, Milwaukee, for many years prominent in Wisconsin educational circles and father of Mayor Bading, is dead after a long illness. He was 88 years old.

Rev. Bading was born in Germany in 1824 and soon after being ordained a minister in 1853 came to America and took charge of the first Lutheran parish at Calumet, Fond du Lac county, this state, at a salary of $80 a year. In 1854 he was transferred to the church at Theriot, Dodge county. He was transferred to Watertown in 1860 and was chosen president of the Wisconsin synod. He was sent to Europe in 1863 by the synod to secure funds for the establishment of Northwestern university at Watertown. After seventeen months of travel he returned to Wisconsin with sufficient funds to establish the university. In recognition of his ceaseless and untiring efforts he was elected president of the board of trustees, which office he held until his death.

In 1882 he was elected president of the Lutheran synodical conference of North America, the highest official position the church has power to confer. Rev. Bading was pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, this city, for more than forty years and assistant pastor until his death. He was in the pastorate for more than sixty years. He was president of the Wisconsin synod twenty-six years and vice president twenty years.

ARRESTS FOLLOW EPIDEMIC

Selling of Impure Milk Held Responsible for Outbreak of Scarlet Fever at Jefferson.

Jefferson.—While a scarlet fever epidemic in Jefferson continues unchecked, there have been developments enough to get the town wondering what is coming next. Eight farmers from the towns of Sullivan and Palmyra have been arrested for selling impure milk. All of them pleaded guilty and paid fines of $25. A month ago at the outbreak of the fever there were wholesale arrests on the same charge.

Bars Solons from Tour.

Madison.—Another bit of politics developed in the senate when Senator Boshard offered an amendment to the Bowe Panama-Pacific commission bill providing that the governor in making appointments to that commission shall not name a member of the present legislature. The amendment was adopted.

Twenty-three Carroll Graduates.

Waukesha.—The Carroll college commencement exercises will open on Wednesday, June 11, when the annual meeting of the board of trustees will take place. On Sunday, June 15, the baccalaureate sermon will be given by President W. O. Carrier. There are twenty-three in the graduating class.

Homeopaths Elect Officers.

Fond du Lac.—At the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Homeopathic Medical society here W. N. Linn of Oshkosh was elected president; F. T. Clark, Waupun, vice-president; B. E. Nair, Fort Atkinson, secretary; F. E. Brown, Milwaukee, treasurer.

Sought Friedman Cure.

Marquette.—Dr. J. S. Atkinson, aged 42, died at his home here from tuberculosis. A wife and two brothers survive. Dr. Atkinson went to New York a few weeks ago to get the Friedman treatment, but failed. About four weeks ago, he married Florence Bieau, who will inherit his property.

Pastor Leaves Church.

La Crosse.—The Rev. S. L. Marvick, for many years pastor of the Trinity United Norwegian Lutheran church here, has resigned. He will go to a church at Black River Falls.

Eleven Die in Ten Days.

Couderay.—Eleven Chippewa Indians on the Couderay reservation here died during the past ten days, all from natural causes. This is out of a population numbering 1,000 Indians.

Regents Let Contract.

Madison.—The contract for the construction of an addition to the library of agricultural hall has been let by the regents of the University of Wisconsin for $4,444.

No Maneuvers at Sparta.

La Crosse.—That there will be no general military maneuvers on the national military reservation and rifle range at Sparta this summer, owing to the large number of troops being mobilized along the Mexican border,

Found Dead in Chair.

Maiden Rock.—Emil Zimmerman, 35 years old, was found dead, seated at the table, at his home in Nelson. In his pocket was a broken vial of carbolic acid.

Postoffice Jobs Filled.

Washington, D.C.—President Wilson has nominated the following Wisconsin postmasters: Grand Rapids, Robert Nash; Maiden Rock, Harvey G. Smith; Merrill, Richard B. Runke; Superior, Fred A. Russell.

Impatience.

Patience—Small panes of glass are set into the side of a new fountain pen so the quantity of ink it holds can be seen readily.

Fatigue—Some people are too impatient. Why can't they wait until the link comes out on their fingers to find out?

RECESS PLANNED IN SENATE

Members of Upper House of Legislature Plan to Leave Big Problems Until January.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

Madison.—At a conference of senators it was decided to introduce a resolution in the senate next week providing for a recess of the legislature from June to the second week in January.

It is thought that it will take six weeks or two months to finish the work now before the legislature if the present session is continued and that some of this legislation would be somewhat crude and defective if attempted at the present session.

It is proposed to refer the big propositions still pending to special committees which would conduct hearings during the recess and report and be prepared to introduce finished and perfected bills when the legislature reconvenes. The principal subjects still to be considered by the legislature are the water power, forestry, minimum wage, mothers' pensions and proposed state market commission bills.

Corn Syrup Bill Advanced.

By a vote of 51 to 21 the assembly today sent to engrossment the Pfenning bill as amended by the dairy and food department, prohibiting the sale in Wisconsin of corn syrup without a label telling the exact contents.

Pairing Privilege is Broken.

A new and not altogether pleasant precedent was established in the assembly when Assemblyman James Allison, with the assistance of a majority of the assembly, broke a pair on the Karo corn syrup bill which he had made with Assemblyman M. T. Battis, now on his way to the Hot Springs. As the pair was made, Mr. Battis was for the bill and Mr. Allison against. When the vote on the bill and its amendments was reached, Mr. Allison asked to be excused from the pair on the childlike plea that he had been taken unawares. Speaker Hull said he had no power to excuse the gentleman. As Mr. Allison insisted the question was put to a vote of the house, which excused Mr. Allison and he voted against the bill.

Fear Operation of Law.

Assemblyman Don C. Hall said in the assembly that the tax commission wished bill 1139A withdrawn because the members were afraid they would be criticized. The bill had been recommended once for passage but was re-referred to a substitute amendment.

This explanation was brought out by a demand for some reason from the tax committee why the request was made for the withdrawal of the bill. The bill provided for an inheritance tax on certain property based on stocks and bonds in holding companies of Wisconsin properties. The bill, if passed, would have reduced the inheritance tax on such properties now collected.

Alleges Hotel Clerk is Robber.

River Falls.—Munchausen, aged 24, is in custody here upon complaint of Joseph Bailey, a wealthy retired farmer, who claims Munchausen came to his room at the Parker hotel at midnight and attempted to rob him. Bailey says he surprised him at the work and in a scuffle, which followed, Bailey was badly bruised about the face and head and but for the intervention of another roomer would have been seriously injured. Munchausen is a clerk at the hotel.

Assistant Postmasters Elect.

La Crosse.—At the close of the fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Assistant Postmasters these officers were elected: President, William H. Zuehlke, Appleton; first vice-president, C. C. Looney, La Crosse; second vice-president, Ethel Gilman, Plymouth; third vice-president, H. A. Kreuger, Reedsburg; secretary and treasurer, George A. Claridge, Reedsburg. The next meeting will be held in Sheboygan.

Find Missing Bodies.

Wausau.—The body of Eleanor Janne, aged 19 years, drowned on May 11 in a motorboat accident, was found floating in Lake Wausau. The body of Frank Ostrowski of Hatley, who disappeared on March 21 while on a visit to Wausau, has also been found.

Rain Is Rotting Crops.

La Crosse.—All grains and garden stuff has been considerably damaged owing to excessive rains of the last ten days. Early corn which had been planted is rotting in the ground.

Church Destroyed by Lightning.

Couderay.—During a violent electrical storm lightning struck and set fire to the Catholic church at Sand Lake in this county. The church building was destroyed, nearby farmers saving most of the fixtures.

Hermit Commits Suicide.

Ashtland.—John Foley, 70 years old, who has lived in a lonely cabin at Spider lake, near here, for the last ten years, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart.

Postoffice Jobs Filled.

Washington, D.C.—President Wilson has nominated the following Wisconsin postmasters: Grand Rapids, Robert Nash; Maiden Rock, Harvey G. Smith; Merrill, Richard B. Runke; Superior, Fred A. Russell.

Found Dead in Chair.

Maiden Rock.—Emil Zimmerman, 35 years old, was found dead, seated at the table, at his home in Nelson. In his pocket was a broken vial of carbolic acid.

M'GOVERN RETURNS SUFFRAGE MEASURE

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

Madison, May 27.—Governor McGovern today sent to the senate the following communication on the bill providing for resubmission to voters of the state of the question of granting equal suffrage to women:

I return herewith, without approval, Bill No. 225-S, entitled "An Act to amend Section 12 of the statutes, extending the right of suffrage to women."

At the recent presidential election a proposal to extend suffrage to women was defeated in this state by a majority of over 82,000 votes. Immediately to resubmit precisely the same question for determination by the voters at the approaching state election cannot be justified.

Article 3, section 1, of the Constitution of Wisconsin enumerates the classes of persons entitled to vote and continues as follows: "Provided that the legislature may at any time extend by law the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated; but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election."

The method whereby a change in this part of the constitution may be secured thus differs from that for bringing about amendment of any other portion of our fundamental law, mainly in requiring favorable legal action at a single session of the legislature, instead of by the concurrence of two succeeding legislatures in support of a joint resolution. But here as in other cases the popular vote must be taken at a general election—not necessarily the next succeeding general election, but any general election.

In other words, this legislature may provide by law for the resubmission of this question at the November election in 1914, 1916 or any later time.

It seems to me no good reason can be given for the immediate resubmission of the proposed amendment. Since the decisive vote of last November the general situation with respect to woman suffrage in Wisconsin has not changed. At least nothing has occurred to justify a belief that if this issue were immediately resubmitted to the people the majority against it would not be even larger than before. The result of the recent election in Michigan is some indication that this would be the case. From the vote taken here it is evident that our people do not consider the experience of the Rocky Mountain states, such as Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming, relevant or even enlightening. Very recently however other states comparable to our own in population, social conditions, and industrial development, such as Kansas, California and Washington, have decided to try the experiment. But their experience is yet altogether too brief to afford any indication of what we should do. If this question be again forced upon the people of Wisconsin for decision at the election in November, 1914, they will be compelled to act upon it with no more information to guide them than they had last year. If, however, the vote be deferred until 1916 or later there is a chance at least that the experience of other states similar in many respects to our own may furnish guidance not available now. It would seem therefore to be the part of wisdom to wait until we can avail ourselves of the history to be derived from the trial of woman suffrage in those states before we again vote upon this question.

But this is not all. Wisconsin stands for popular rule. We have faith in the judgment and good sense of the average voter. We believe in the initiative and the referendum. But if the referendum is a good thing, manifestly the results of a referendum vote should be properly respected. Such respect will not be shown if almost as soon as the outcome of last year's vote upon this subject has been announced exactly the same proposal be immediately resubmitted without a single new fact or argument to support it. Such action by the legislature can have but one tendency—that of speedily bringing the principle of the referendum into disrepute.

An additional reason against hasty action in this matter is that an extension of suffrage such as this bill proposes once made is practically irrevocable. It is a step that once taken cannot easily be retraced. No matter how erroneous such a decision may later prove to be, no matter how soon the people may discover it to be a mistake, or how clearly its unwisdom may be demonstrated, the privilege of suffrage once conferred cannot readily be recalled. Opposed to such a repeal would stand not only most of its former champions and supporters but all the newly enfranchised voters, whatever their opinions might have been prior to the change, who

Cracksmen Frightened Away.

Fond du Lac.—When Postmaster C. G. Morgan reached the postoffice one morning recently, he found a jimmy hanging in the door of the office safe, but none of the contents were tampered with.

Youth Drowns Unseen.

Green Bay.—Lester, the 6-year-old son of John Duwe, drowned while playing on the docks. No one witnessed the accident. The boy's mother returned from a visit to the country two hours after his body was found.

Excellent Reason.

"Which school do you like best?" asked a visitor at Charles' house. "Day school or Sunday school?" "Sunday school, sure," answered the tot. "Why, dear?" "Cause I only have to go once a week."

Thoughtful.

"You used to want to hold my hand before we were married," she complained. "I'd like to now," said he easily, "but it would keep you from your housework, my dear."

Never Touches Him.

The average business man will go out laughing at the spelling reformers and depending on his stenographer to help him out as usual when he comes to a hard word.

Charity.

"Do you think $20 will be enough to give the minister?" inquired the prospective bridegroom. "You'd better make it $25," replied the best man. "He is going to be married himself next week."

Missing Man a Suicide.

Ashtland.—The body of Frank Shephard, a Cuyuga saloon keeper, who was missing a week, was found in a room over a saloon. He had shot himself.

M'GOVERN RETURNS SUFFRAGE MEASURE

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

Madison, May 27.—Governor McGovern today sent to the senate the following communication on the bill providing for resubmission to voters of the state of the question of granting equal suffrage to women:

I return herewith, without approval, Bill No. 225-S, entitled "An Act to amend Section 12 of the statutes, extending the right of suffrage to women."

At the recent presidential election a proposal to extend suffrage to women was defeated in this state by a majority of over 82,000 votes. Immediately to resubmit precisely the same question for determination by the voters at the approaching state election cannot be justified.

Article 3, section 1, of the Constitution of Wisconsin enumerates the classes of persons entitled to vote and continues as follows: "Provided that the legislature may at any time extend by law the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated; but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election."

The method whereby a change in this part of the constitution may be secured thus differs from that for bringing about amendment of any other portion of our fundamental law, mainly in requiring favorable legal action at a single session of the legislature, instead of by the concurrence of two succeeding legislatures in support of a joint resolution. But here as in other cases the popular vote must be taken at a general election—not necessarily the next succeeding general election, but any general election.

In other words, this legislature may provide by law for the resubmission of this question at the November election in 1914, 1916 or any later time.

It seems to me no good reason can be given for the immediate resubmission of the proposed amendment. Since the decisive vote of last November the general situation with respect to woman suffrage in Wisconsin has not changed. At least nothing has occurred to justify a belief that if this issue were immediately resubmitted to the people the majority against it would not be even larger than before. The result of the recent election in Michigan is some indication that this would be the case. From the vote taken here it is evident that our people do not consider the experience of the Rocky Mountain states, such as Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming, relevant or even enlightening. Very recently however other states comparable to our own in population, social conditions, and industrial development, such as Kansas, California and Washington, have decided to try the experiment. But their experience is yet altogether too brief to afford any indication of what we should do. If this question be again forced upon the people of Wisconsin for decision at the election in November, 1914, they will be compelled to act upon it with no more information to guide them than they had last year. If, however, the vote be deferred until 1916 or later there is a chance at least that the experience of other states similar in many respects to our own may furnish guidance not available now. It would seem therefore to be the part of wisdom to wait until we can avail ourselves of the history to be derived from the trial of woman suffrage in those states before we again vote upon this question.

But this is not all. Wisconsin stands for popular rule. We have faith in the judgment and good sense of the average voter. We believe in the initiative and the referendum. But if the referendum is a good thing, manifestly the results of a referendum vote should be properly respected. Such respect will not be shown if almost as soon as the outcome of last year's vote upon this subject has been announced exactly the same proposal be immediately resubmitted without a single new fact or argument to support it. Such action by the legislature can have but one tendency—that of speedily bringing the principle of the referendum into disrepute.

An additional reason against hasty action in this matter is that an extension of suffrage such as this bill proposes once made is practically irrevocable. It is a step that once taken cannot easily be retraced. No matter how erroneous such a decision may later prove to be, no matter how soon the people may discover it to be a mistake, or how clearly its unwisdom may be demonstrated, the privilege of suffrage once conferred cannot readily be recalled. Opposed to such a repeal would stand not only most of its former champions and supporters but all the newly enfranchised voters, whatever their opinions might have been prior to the change, who

Cracksmen Frightened Away.

Fond du Lac.—When Postmaster C. G. Morgan reached the postoffice one morning recently, he found a jimmy hanging in the door of the office safe, but none of the contents were tampered with.

Youth Drowns Unseen.

Green Bay.—Lester, the 6-year-old son of John Duwe, drowned while playing on the docks. No one witnessed the accident. The boy's mother returned from a visit to the country two hours after his body was found.

Excellent Reason.

"Which school do you like best?" asked a visitor at Charles' house. "Day school or Sunday school?" "Sunday school, sure," answered the tot. "Why, dear?" "Cause I only have to go once a week."

Thoughtful.

"You used to want to hold my hand before we were married," she complained. "I'd like to now," said he easily, "but it would keep you from your housework, my dear."

Never Touches Him.

The average business man will go out laughing at the spelling reformers and depending on his stenographer to help him out as usual when he comes to a hard word.

Charity.

"Do you think $20 will be enough to give the minister?" inquired the prospective bridegroom. "You'd better make it $25," replied the best man. "He is going to be married himself next week."

Missing Man a Suicide.

Ashtland.—The body of Frank Shephard, a Cuyuga saloon keeper, who was missing a week, was found in a room over a saloon. He had shot himself.

ON THE GREEN DIAMOND

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS APPROVAL ON BILL FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN.

Madison, May 27.—Governor McGovern today sent to the senate the following communication on the bill providing for resubmission to voters of the state of the question of granting equal suffrage to women:

I return herewith, without approval, Bill No. 225-S, entitled "An Act to amend Section 12 of the statutes, extending the right of suffrage to women."

At the recent presidential election a proposal to extend suffrage to women was defeated in this state by a majority of over 82,000 votes. Immediately to resubmit precisely the same question for determination by the voters at the approaching state election cannot be justified.

Article 3, section 1, of the Constitution of Wisconsin enumerates the classes of persons entitled to vote and continues as follows: "Provided that the legislature may at any time extend by law the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated; but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election."

The method whereby a change in this part of the constitution may be secured thus differs from that for bringing about amendment of any other portion of our fundamental law, mainly in requiring favorable legal action at a single session of the legislature, instead of by the concurrence of two succeeding legislatures in support of a joint resolution. But here as in other cases the popular vote must be taken at a general election—not necessarily the next succeeding general election, but any general election.

In other words, this legislature may provide by law for the resubmission of this question at the November election in 1914, 1916 or any later time.

It seems to me no good reason can be given for the immediate resubmission of the proposed amendment. Since the decisive vote of last November the general situation with respect to woman suffrage in Wisconsin has not changed. At least nothing has occurred to justify a belief that if this issue were immediately resubmitted to the people the majority against it would not be even larger than before. The result of the recent election in Michigan is some indication that this would be the case. From the vote taken here it is evident that our people do not consider the experience of the Rocky Mountain states, such as Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming, relevant or even enlightening. Very recently however other states comparable to our own in population, social conditions, and industrial development, such as Kansas, California and Washington, have decided to try the experiment. But their experience is yet altogether too brief to afford any indication of what we should do. If this question be again forced upon the people of Wisconsin for decision at the election in November, 1914, they will be compelled to act upon it with no more information to guide them than they had last year. If, however, the vote be deferred until 1916 or later there is a chance at least that the experience of other states similar in many respects to our own may furnish guidance not available now. It would seem therefore to be the part of wisdom to wait until we can avail ourselves of the history to be derived from the trial of woman suffrage in those states before we again vote upon this question.

But this is not all. Wisconsin stands for popular rule. We have faith in the judgment and good sense of the average voter. We believe in the initiative and the referendum. But if the referendum is a good thing, manifestly the results of a referendum vote should be properly respected. Such respect will not be shown if almost as soon as the outcome of last year's vote upon this subject has been announced exactly the same proposal be immediately resubmitted without a single new fact or argument to support it. Such action by the legislature can have but one tendency—that of speedily bringing the principle of the referendum into disrepute.

An additional reason against hasty action in this matter is that an extension of suffrage such as this bill proposes once made is practically irrevocable. It is a step that once taken cannot easily be retraced. No matter how erroneous such a decision may later prove to be, no matter how soon the people may discover it to be a mistake, or how clearly its unwisdom may be demonstrated, the privilege of suffrage once conferred cannot readily be recalled. Opposed to such a repeal would stand not only most of its former champions and supporters but all the newly enfranchised voters, whatever their opinions might have been prior to the change, who

Cracksmen Frightened Away.

Fond du Lac.—When Postmaster C. G. Morgan reached the postoffice one morning recently, he found a jimmy hanging in the door of the office safe, but none of the contents were tampered with.

Youth Drowns Unseen.

Green Bay.—Lester, the 6-year-old son of John Duwe, drowned while playing on the docks. No one witnessed the accident. The boy's mother returned from a visit to the country two hours after his body was found.

Excellent Reason.

"Which school do you like best?" asked a visitor at Charles' house. "Day school or Sunday school?" "Sunday school, sure," answered the tot. "Why, dear?" "Cause I only have to go once a week."

Thoughtful.

"You used to want to hold my hand before we were married," she complained. "I'd like to now," said he easily, "but it would keep you from your housework, my dear."

Never Touches Him.

The average business man

GUARANTEED
Kirschbaum Clothes
MADE IN U.S.A.

Your New Suit

Should be purchased here. Our Blue Serge Suits are splendid values at the price. These suits were never more popular than they are this season. There is no fabric that will give a man better wear.

$15.00, $18.00,
$20.00, $22.50.

Also a large display of gray and fancy patterns.

BOERNER BROTHERS
MERCANTILE COMPANY,
WEST BEND'S RELIABLE DEPARTMENT STORE

FIVE CORNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Volz and family spent Sunday at Pine Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Belsbier of Kewaskum was a business caller here Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Phil. Schleif called on the Oscar Glass family Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Senn and son Roland spent Sunday with the Schleif family.
Miss Selma Utke of Campbellsport was the guest of Miss Lydia Ferber Sunday.
Wm. Edwards of Milwaukee was the guest of the Elvir Rauch family over Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Ph. Schleif were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ferber and family Sunday.
The Misses Rose Ferber and Mary Haug called on the B. Steinacker family Wednesday.
Messrs. Billie Edwards of Milwaukee and Chas. Rauch of Kewaskum callers Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Herman Belger of Kewaskum were the guests of the Julius Klocke family Sunday.
The Misses Lizzie and Ella Rauch were callers at Campbellsport and Pine Grove Tuesday.
Mrs. Kathryn Etta and daughter Violet spent Tuesday and Wednesday with relatives at West Bend.
Mr. and Mrs. Jac. Ferber and daughter Frances were guests of the B. Steinacker family in North Auburn Sunday.
Mrs. Kathryn Etta and daughter arrived here Sunday evening after spending a few weeks with relatives at Knowles.
Miss Bertha Rauch returned to Milwaukee Sunday evening after spending a few weeks here with her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Elvir Rauch and family.
News was received here of the death of H. Carl Schleif, which occurred in Mantorville, Minn., May 7. Deceased is a brother of Phil. Schleif and of the late Geo. Schleif. He at one time resided in the town of Kewaskum.

PRAIRIE VILLA

Frank Day of West Bend, was a business caller in this vicinity last Thursday.
Mrs. Frank Johann and Miss Della Strupp spent last Wednesday with relatives at West Bend.
John Kocher Jr., Nic. Strupp and Roman Strupp were West Bend business callers last Wednesday.
The young ladies of this vicinity tendered a shower to Miss Tillie Schaefer last Wednesday evening.
Mrs. Frank Johann and daughter Dolores of Milwaukee are spending the week with Nicholas Strupp and family.
The approaching marriage of John Techtman to Miss Tillie Schaefer will take place at the bride's home June 10th.
A very enjoyable party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bath last Saturday evening, a large number were present and all report having had a good time.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.
E. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.
National Bank of Commerce
Toledo, Ohio.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
(Advertisement)

CEDAR LAWN.

Improvements on the Gudex cemetery this week.
John Gudex transacted business at Fond du Lac last Saturday.
Charlotte Gudex came home from Milwaukee last Saturday.
C. P. Kranke of Fond du Lac spent last Sunday at Cedar Lawn.
Jac. Kleinhaus of Elmore transacted business here last Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Adam Jaeger visited friends in Ashford last Sunday.
Fred Balch of Mellen, Ashland county called on old acquaintance in this vicinity.
Mrs. Helen Schoolcraft of Clintonsville called on friends here during the past week.
Glenway Ralf and Zemer Luedtke of Lomira called at the Gudex home last Sunday.

KOHLVILLE.

Gottlieb Metzner transacted business at West Bend last Wednesday.
Mrs. Henry Becker and son Melvin spent Wednesday at West Bend.
Miss Mary Rahl of Allenton visited with Adam Kohl and family Sunday.
John Rilling and wife of Hartford are visiting relatives here since Sunday.
Miss Elsie Sommers closed a successful term of school in Dist. No. 6 last Thursday.
Messrs. Jos. Umbs and Phil. Schellinger transacted business at Milwaukee last Saturday.
Messrs. John Coulter and Jos. Schmitt of near St. Kilian were callers in our burg last Wednesday.
Anybody in want of a choice colony of bees should call on Henry Kohl Sr. Prices are reasonable.
Paul Moritz and Miss Selma Metzner were at West Bend on Sunday, where the former played ball with the West Bend team.
John M. Braun of West Bend was a caller here on Sunday and on his way home was accompanied by his daughter Alma, who closed a successful term of school in Jt. Dist. No. 9 of town Wayne.

Clean Water For Your Hogs

G. KONITZ

SHOE STORE
In the former Mich. Heindl Stand.
All kinds of Shoes for Men, Ladies and Children always carried in stock.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN

Frank W. Bucklin
LAWYER
Opera House Block, West Bend

One of the finest residences on corner of Fond du Lac and Prospect Ave. Call on Henry Schurr, 4t.

The Best Showing in Town

Men who have always had their Clothes made to order are now wearing

ADLER COLLEGIAN CLOTHES

Because—They are made better.
Because—They have more style.
Because—They fit better.
Because—They are guaranteed clothes.
Because—The patterns are newer.
Because—The prices are less than one-half what you pay for so-called made to measure kind.

Drop in and see what we have to show.

Big Reductions mark this week's prices on Womens Misses Garments, Childrens Shoes Boys Clothing
You can save money doing your buying here.

PICK BROTHERS CO.

WEST BEND, WISCONSIN

BEECHWOOD.

L. J. Kaiser was at Plymouth Saturday on business.
Mrs. L. J. Kaiser spent a few days with Ottq Baum and family.
The dance in Koch's hall was largely attended 112 tickets were sold.
John Seil and men put a new roof on Mike McBride's dwelling Tuesday.
Ed. Kreitzinger bought a new carriage from H. R. Hausler last week.
Born to Dr. and Mrs. Bauer a baby boy last week Friday. Congratulations.
John Held is having his house painted by Jake Kratsch and men of Boltonville.
Mrs. Fred Hoppe and daughter of Milwaukee are staying with Dr. K. P. Bauer and family.
The Beechwood base ball team defeated the Batavia team here Sunday by a score of 2 to 1.
Frank Bartelt and August Arndt had a surveyor from Sheboygan Tuesday to survey their line fence.
Herman Brandenburg and wife of Fond du Lac visited a few days with John Brandenburg and family.
Mrs. Otto Arndt and children, and Mrs. John Arndt and son of Random Lake spent last week Thursday and Friday with relatives and friends here.

LOCAL MARKET REPORT.

Barley	45.00
Wheat	75.74
Red winter	87
Rye, No. 1	50.02
Oats new	30
Butter	21
Eggs	17
Unwashed wool	13 to 23
Potatoes	35.00
Beans	1.00 2.00
Hay	15.00 17.00
Hides (cut skin)	11.00
Cow Hides	11.00
Honey	10
Apples	7.00 10.00
Red Cheese (small, per 100 lbs)	8.00 12.00
White "	25.00 30.00
Alfalfa	16.00 19.00
Hickory Nuts	per bu. 1.50

LIVE POULTRY

Spring Chickens	14
Hens	12
Old Roasters	10
Ducks	13
Geese	15

DRESSED POULTRY

Chickens	10
Ducks	12
Geese	15

DAIRY MARKET.

ELGIN.
Elgin, Ill., May 26.—The prevailing price of butter Monday was 27c 1/2 under last week's price. The sale of 300 tubs of butter at 20c by two Chicagoans was ruled out by President Potter of the butter board, who charged that the Windy city men were attempting to set the majority price.
PLYMOUTH.
Plymouth, Wis., May 27.—On Plymouth central board on Tuesday, 35 factories offered 2,911 boxes of cheese for sale. All sold as follows: 39 boxes longhorns at 14c; 80 boxes twins at 14c; 1,896 boxes daisies at 14c; 550 boxes Americas at 14c; 1,500 boxes longhorns at 14c.

SHEBOYGAN.

Sheboygan, Wis., May 27.—On Sheboygan call board on Tuesday 29 factories offered 2,911 boxes of cheese for sale. All sold as follows: 39 boxes longhorns at 14c; 80 boxes twins at 14c; 1,896 boxes longhorns at 14c; 550 boxes Americas at 14c; 1,500 boxes young Americas at 14c; 178 boxes squares at 14c.

HARD COLDS

When first come, the best time to break them up. One standard remedy—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Sold for 70 years. Ask Your Doctor.

BUY YOUR PUMPING ENGINE NOW

You will find that the handiest, simplest, most reliable little engine for running your pump, cream separator, churn, washing machine, grindstone, feed mill, etc. is the Simplicity

2 H. P. PUMPING ENGINE
Backed by twelve years' reputation for service.
SIMPLE-SAFE-DURABLE-RELIABLE-ECONOMICAL
So simple a woman can run it easily, no complicated parts to get out of order, ready to start when you want it, cost of gasoline so little it hardly worth considering.
"Always on the Job"—Ask any "Simplicity" Owner.
You may pay more but you can't get a better engine.
For Particulars, Prices and Demonstration, See

L. ROSENHEIMER
Kewaskum, Wis.

Manufactured by TURNER MANUFACTURING CO., Port Washington, Wis.

GROCERIES

JOHN MARX
Kewaskum, Wis.

FLOUR and FEED

ATTENTION FARMERS

You will get full weight, full strength and full value for your money if you buy prepared soapstone (lye) from the Appleton Soap Factory, instead of bothering with lye made from ashes. Throw your ashes upon the fields and you will gain ten times the cost of your soapstone. It is excellent for the following purposes: to make hard and soft soap, to dehorn cattle, to clean sewers, sinks, milk cans, and machinery. To remove paints and varnish, to clean boilers, to dress wounds, on hoofs of cattle and sheep, to drive away mice and rats. Full direction with every can. For sale by: L. Rosenheimer, Kewaskum, Wis. Co-operative Farmers Store Co., Campbellsport, Wis.

ERLER & WEISS,

DESIGNERS OF AND DEALERS IN MARBLE & GRANITE MONUMENTS.
Cement, Stucco, Fire Brick, Fire Clay, Flue Lining, Sewer Pipe, Tile, Wall Coping, Lime and Earth or Material of all kinds.
BUILDERS OF STONE AND CEMENT SIDEWALKS.
West Bend, Wisconsin
For Sale.

—Our country correspondence list is extensive. It gives all the county news.
—A good house and a large garden and orchard in the village of Ashford. Very pretty home. Inquire of L. R. Rosenheimer.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING
WATCHES, CLOCKS, SILVERWARE, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY, CUT GLASS, ENGRAVING
ONLY ONE Commencement Day
There will be Many Birthday Anniversaries Many Xmas's—many other occasions for the giving of presents, but ONLY ONE Graduation Day in a lifetime.
Make it a Memorable Occasion Make the Gift a Valuable One
SEE US FOR SUGGESTIONS
MRS. K. ENDLICH
"The Leading Jeweler"
Kewaskum, Wisconsin

NO GREATER mistake can be made than imagining that it is economy to buy the cheapest Harness and Saddlery Goods because the price seems low. The shoddy character of cheap saving takes away all apparent saving and always conduces to dissatisfaction. I make a special point on the character of workmanship and all material. The lowest price consistent with a high standard of excellence always obtained at my place. I earnestly invite inspection of goods and prices. I positively insist to do the best I can by my patrons. Now is the time to have your Harness Oiled and Repaired and get your Horse Good at
VAL. PETERS
KEWASKUM, WIS.

—A copy of the Statesman sent to an absent friend is better than a weekly letter. Subscribe it.
—The Statesman has a circulation that makes it a very desirable medium for advertisers.

SECRET SERVICE

BEING THE HAPPENINGS OF A NIGHT
IN RICHMOND IN THE SPRING OF 1865
THE PLAY BY WILLIAM GILLETTE;
BY CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY
ILLUSTRATIONS BY EDGAR BERT SMITH
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

CHAPTER I.
The Battery Passes.
Outside, the softness of an April night; the verdure of tree and lawn. The climbing roses, already far advanced in that southern latitude, sweetly silvered in the moonlight. Within the great old house apparently an equal calm.

Yet, neither within nor without was the night absolutely soundless. Far away to the southward the cloudless horizon, easily visible from the slight eminence on which the house stood, was marked by quivering flashes of light. From time to time, the attentive ear might catch the roll, the roar, the reverberation of heavy sound like distant thunder-peals intermingled with sharper detonations. The flashes came from great guns, and the rolling peals were the sound of the cannon, the detonations explosions of the shells. There was the peace of God in the heaven above; there were the passions of men on the earth beneath.

Lights gleamed here and there, shining through the twining rose foliage, from the windows of the old house, which stood far back from the street. From a room on one side of the hall, which opened from the broad pillared portico of Colonial fashion, a hum of voices arose.

A group of women, with nervous hands and anxious faces, working while they talked, were picking lint, tearing linen and cotton for bandages. Their conversation was not the idle chatter of other days. They "told sad stories of the death of kings!" How "Tom" and "Charles" and "Allen" and "Page" and "Burton" had gone down into the Valley of the Shadow of Death, whence they had not come back. How this fort had been hammered yesterday, the other, the day before. How So-and-So's wounds had been ministered to. How Such-a-One's needs had been relieved. How the enemy were drawing closer and closer, and how they were being held back with courage, which, alas! by that time was the courage of despair. And much of their speech was of their own kind of bereft women and fatherless children. And ever as they talked, the busy fingers flew.

Upstairs from one of the front rooms the light shone dimly through a window partly covered by a half-drawn Venetian blind. One standing at the side of the house and listening would have heard out of the chamber low moanings, muttered words from feverish lips and delirious brain. The meaningless yet awful babble was broken now and again by words of tenderness and anguish. Soft hands were laid on the burning brow of the poor sufferer within, while a mother's eyes dropped tears upon bloodstained bandages and wasted frame.

And now the gentle wind which swept softly through the trees bore a sudden sharper, stranger sound toward the old house in the garden. The tramp of a horse, the creak of wheels, the faint jingling of arms and sabers drew nearer and rose louder. Sudden words of command punctured the night. Here came a battery, without the rattle of drum or the blaze of bugles, with no sound but its own galloping. It rolled down the street, gaunt horses were ridden and driven by leaner and gaunter men in dusty, worn, ragged, tattered uniforms. Only the highly polished brass guns—twelve-pounder Napoleons—gleamed bright in the moonlight.

The sewing women came out on the porch and the blind of the window above was lifted and a white-haired woman stood framed in the light.

No, those watchers did not cheer as the battery swept by on its way to the front. For one thing, a soldier lay upstairs dying; for another, they had passed the time when they cheered that tattered flag. Now they wept over it as one weeps as he holds for the last time the face of a friend who dies. Once they had acclaimed it as the sunrise in the morning, now they watched it silently go inevitably to the sunset of defeat.

The men did not cheer either. They were not past cheering—oh, no! They were made of rougher stuff than the women, and the time would come when, in final action, they would burst forth into that strange, wild yell that struck terror to the hearts of the hearers. They could cheer even in the last ditch, even in the jaws of death—fate the end better for their cheering perhaps; but women are more silent in the crisis. They bear and give no tongue.

The officer in command saw the little group of women on the porch. The moonlight shone from the street side and high-lighted them, turning the rusty black of most of the gowns, home-dyed mourning—all that could be come at in those awful days in Richmond—into soft shadows, above which their faces shone angelic. He saw the woman's head in the window, too. He knew who lay upon the bed of death within the chamber. He had helped to bring him back from the front several days before. He bit his lips for a moment and then, ashamed of his emotion, his voice rang harsh. With arm and saber the battery saluted the women and passed on, while from the window of the great drawing-room, opposite the room of the lint-pickers and bandage-makers, a slender girl stared and stared after the disappearing guns, his eyes full of envy and vexatious tears as he stamped his foot in futile protest and disappointment.

The noise made by the passing cannon soon died away in the distance. Stillness supervened as before; workers whispered together, realizing that some of those passing upon whom they had looked would pass no more, and that they would look upon them never again. Upstairs the moans of the wounded man had died away; the only thing that persisted was the fearful thundering of the distant guns around beleaguered Petersburg. Within the drawing-room, the boy walked up and down restlessly, muttering to himself, evidently nervously, to desperate resolution.

"I won't do it," he said. "I won't stay here any longer."

The door at the other end was softly opened. The great room was but dimly lighted by candles in sconces on the wall; the great chandelier was not lighted for lack of tapers, but a more brilliant radiance was presently cast over the apartment by the advent of old Martha. She had been the boy's "Mamma" as well, and no one dared to speculate how much farther into the past she ran back.

"Is dat you, Mars Wilfred?" said the old woman, waddling in, bearing two many-branched candlesticks, which she proceeded to deposit upon the handsome mahogany tables with which the long drawing-room was furnished.

"Yes, it is I, Aunt Martha. Did you see Benton's battery go by?"

"Laud lub you, chile, Ah done seed so many guns an' bosses an' soldiers agwine by Ah don't tek no notice ob 'em no mo'. Peahs lak dey keep on 'passin' fo'ebah."

"Well, there won't be many more of them pass by," said the boy in a clear accent, but with that soft intonation which would have betrayed his Southern ancestry anywhere, "and before they are all gone, I would like to join one of them myself."

"Why, my po' 'll lamb!" exclaimed Martha, her arms akimbo, "dat Ah done nussed in dese ahms, is you gwine to de fight?"

The boy's demeanor was anything but lamb-like. He made a fierce step toward her.

"You call me 'lamb' any more?" he said, "it's ridiculous and—"

Mamma Martha started back in alarm.

"Peahs mo' lak a lion 'd be better," she admitted.

"Where's mother?" asked the boy, dismissing the subject as unworthy of argument.

"I reckon she's upstairs wid Mars Howard, suh. Yo' bruddah—"

"I want to see her right away," continued the boy impetuously.

"Mars Howard he's putty bad dis ebenin'," returned Martha. "Ah bettah go an' tell her dat you want her, but Ah dunno's she'd want to leab him."

"Well, you tell her to come as soon as she can. I'm awfully sorry for Howard, but it's living men that the Confederacy needs most now."

"Yas, suh," returned the old nurse, with a quizzical look out of her black eyes at the slender boy before her. "Dey suah does need men," she continued, and as the youngster took a passionate step toward her, she gently passed out of the room and closed the door behind her, and he could hear her ponderous footsteps slowly and heavily mounting the steps.

The boy went to the window again and stared into the night. In his preoccupation he did not catch the sound of a gentler footfall upon the stairs, nor did he notice the opening of the door and the silent approach of a woman, the woman with white hair who had stood at the window. The mother of a son dead, a son dying, and a son living. No distinctive thing that in the Confederacy. Almost any mother who had more than one boy could have been justly so characterized. She stopped half-way down the room and looked lovingly and longingly at the slight, graceful figure of her youngest son. Her eyes filled with tears—for the dying or the living or both? Who can say? She went toward him, laid her hand on his shoulder. He turned instantly and at the sight of her tears burst out quickly:

"Howard isn't worse, is he?" for a moment forgetful of all else.

The woman shook her head.

"I am afraid he is. The sound of that passing battery seemed to excite him so. He thought he was at the front again and wanted to get up."

"Poor old Howard!"

"He's quieter now, perhaps—"

"Mother, is there anything I can do for him?"

"No, my son," answered the woman with a sigh, "I don't think there is anything that anybody can do. We can only wait—and hope. He is in God's hands, not ours."

She lifted her face for a moment and saw beyond the room, through the night, and beyond the stars a Presence Divine, to whom thousands of other women in that dying Confederacy made daily, hourly, and momentary prayers. Less exalted, more human, less touched, the boy bowed his head, not without his own prayer, too.

"But you wanted to see me, Wilfred, Martha said," the woman presently began.

"Yes, mother, I—"

The boy stopped and the woman was in no hurry to press him. She divined what was coming and would have avoided it all.

"I am thankful there is a lull in the cannonading," she said, listening. "I wonder why it has stopped?"

"It has not stopped," said Wilfred, "at least it has gone on all evening. I don't hear it now."

"No, but you will—there!"

"Yes, but compared to what it was yesterday—you know how it shook the house—and Howard suffered so through it."

"So did I," said the boy in a low voice fraught with passion.

"You, my son?"

"Yes, mother, when I hear those guns and know that the fighting is going on, it fairly maddens me—"

"Yes, yes," she said, "I know how you suffered—we all suffered, we—"

She turned away, sat down in a chair beside the table, leaned her head in her hands, and gave way to her emotions. "There has been nothing but suffering, suffering since this awful war began," she murmured.

"Mother," said Wilfred abruptly, "I want to speak to you. You don't like it, of course, but you have just got to listen this time."

Mrs. Varney lifted her head from her hands. Wilfred came nearer to her and dropped on his knees by her side. One hand she laid upon his shoulder, the other on his head. She stared down at his upturned face with a cannon-shot or a soldier. When can I go?"

The woman stared at him. In him she saw faintly the face of the boy dying upstairs— "that'll take forever. You never can tell where his brigade is from day to day. I can't wait for you to do that."

"Wilfred," said his mother, "I can't let you go without his consent. You must be patient. I will write the letter to her, but boy-like, he disengaged himself and drew away with a shake of his head, not that he loved his mother the less, but honor—as he saw it—the more.

"Why don't you speak?" he whispered at last.

"I don't know what to say to you, Wilfred," faltered his mother, although there was but one thing to say, and she knew that she must say it, yet she was fighting, woman-like, for time.

"I will tell you what to say," said the boy.

"Say that you won't mind if I go down to Petersburg and enlist."

"But that would not be true, Wilfred," said his mother, smiling faintly. "True or not, mother, I can't stay here."

"Oh, Wilfred, Russell has gone, and Howard is going, and now you want to go and get killed."

"I don't want to be killed at all, mother."

"But you are so young, my boy."

"Not younger than young Kittridge," answered the boy; "not younger than Ell Stuart or Cousin Steven or hundreds of other boys down there. See mother—they have called for all over eighteen, weeks ago; the seventeen call may be out any moment; the next one after that takes me. Do you want me to stay here until I am ordered out? I should think not. Where's your pride?"

"My pride? Ah, my son, it is on the battlefield, over at Seven Pines and upstairs with Howard."

"Well, I don't care, mother," he persisted obstinately. "I love you and all that, you know it—but I can't stand this. I've got to go. I must go."

Mrs. Varney recognized from the ring of determination in the boy's voice that his mind was made up. She could no longer hold him. With or without her consent he would go and why should she withhold it? Oth- er boys as young as hers had gone and had not come back. Aye there was the rub: she had given one, the other trembled on the verge, and now the last one! Yes, he must go, too—it live or die as God pleased. If he wanted her to sacrifice everything on the altar of her country, she had her own pride, she would do it, as hundreds of other women had done. She rose from her chair and went toward her boy. He was a slender lad of sixteen but was quite as tall as she

Keep the weeds down.
A hen can be kept too long.
Clean up and burn the rubbish.
Don't confine the chicks closely.
The dust bath is a natural enemy to lice.
A female fly will deposit 150 eggs at a laying.
Fifth in the summer months should never be allowed.
Broody hens should be moved to the permanent sitting nest at night.
Do not depend too much upon the ram for improvement; select your ewes as well.
Foliage and fruit diseases are usually controlled with little difficulty by spraying.
Poultrymen should select their breeding stock carefully and then take care of it.
When spraying, if showers come and wash off the poison, spray those trees a second time.
In selecting the eggs for hatching use only medium sized eggs that have good, sound shells.
Eggs saved for hatching purposes should not be subjected to high or low temperatures.
Setting hens should be placed where the rest of the flock will disturb them as little as possible.
If you have no trees in your chicken yards plant some corn to make shade while the trees are growing.
Be sure to keep plenty of fresh water before the hens. A great amount of water is used to form the egg.
Do not let the ambition for keeping all the new breeds you hear of cause you to make a failure with poultry.
Before any new chicks come see that there are no scales on the hens' legs—no mites or lice in the poultry quarters.
In seasons when drought prevails a better stand of clover can be secured by sowing the seed without a nurse crop.
If chicks have no stamina, get stunted, or are diseased, it is the careless, ignorant or lazy caretaker who is to blame.
Calves can well be fed corn ensilage as soon as they are old enough to be fed solid food stuffs, but they must not be overfed.
Tools and implements in their places and in good repair when not in use save lots of time when those busy spring days come.
A record should be kept of each hatch, showing the date set, number and kind of eggs, number tested out, and the chickens hatched.
The bill of fare should have a variety. Fowls do not wish to be confined to a single article of food any more than men do, and it is not good for them.
Light plows are all right for land that is free from stone; but look out for your ribs where there are many stones. For such land better get a heavier plow.
When a sick fowl is discovered, remove it at once. Maybe if you will attend to it then and there you can save it, whereas if allowed to wait too long it may die.
Potatoes planted in old land or rich garden soil are apt to be scabby and worm eaten; a teaspoonful of sulphur thrown onto the tubers when dropped will prevent both evils.
A mixture of salt, ashes and salt-peter raked into the soil when preparing the onion bed stimulates the growth of the onions and tends to banish the onion maggot.
It is muscle and bone that are required to withstand hardship and inactive colts never develop either like those which have the advantage of plenty of exercise every day.
Lambs should be docked when they are from 8 to 10 days old, according to the advice of the Minnesota experiment station. At that time the young animal receives practically no setback.
It is about as easy to keep an acre or two fertilized and suitable for garden as it is to keep a half acre, if plans have been made with that in view. So the garden can be planted in a new place every year, and a lot of hoeing and hard work avoided in keeping out the weeds.
Chilled eggs are responsible for a good deal of "bad luck" with incubators, but as a general thing eggs in the process of hatching will stand more cooling than many people think.
Use labor-saving devices. The high price of labor and importance of prompt planting, cultivating, spraying, etc., make it absolutely necessary to use effective tools and farm machinery.
The roots of the small grain crops, as wheat and oats, are more fibrous than the roots of such crops as corn, and the great mass of the roots of these crops is confined to the furrow slice. For this reason a well prepared seedbed is even more essential than for the coarser feeding crops.
If thoroughly rotten manure is available at least a part of it may be used to advantage as a top-dressing after plowing and before harrowing. This plan is preferable to the use of all the manure before plowing and this is especially true when shallow-rooted crops are to be grown, such as onions and celery.

Keep the weeds down.
A hen can be kept too long.
Clean up and burn the rubbish.
Don't confine the chicks closely.
The dust bath is a natural enemy to lice.
A female fly will deposit 150 eggs at a laying.
Fifth in the summer months should never be allowed.
Broody hens should be moved to the permanent sitting nest at night.
Do not depend too much upon the ram for improvement; select your ewes as well.
Foliage and fruit diseases are usually controlled with little difficulty by spraying.
Poultrymen should select their breeding stock carefully and then take care of it.
When spraying, if showers come and wash off the poison, spray those trees a second time.
In selecting the eggs for hatching use only medium sized eggs that have good, sound shells.
Eggs saved for hatching purposes should not be subjected to high or low temperatures.
Setting hens should be placed where the rest of the flock will disturb them as little as possible.
If you have no trees in your chicken yards plant some corn to make shade while the trees are growing.
Be sure to keep plenty of fresh water before the hens. A great amount of water is used to form the egg.
Do not let the ambition for keeping all the new breeds you hear of cause you to make a failure with poultry.
Before any new chicks come see that there are no scales on the hens' legs—no mites or lice in the poultry quarters.
In seasons when drought prevails a better stand of clover can be secured by sowing the seed without a nurse crop.
If chicks have no stamina, get stunted, or are diseased, it is the careless, ignorant or lazy caretaker who is to blame.
Calves can well be fed corn ensilage as soon as they are old enough to be fed solid food stuffs, but they must not be overfed.
Tools and implements in their places and in good repair when not in use save lots of time when those busy spring days come.
A record should be kept of each hatch, showing the date set, number and kind of eggs, number tested out, and the chickens hatched.
The bill of fare should have a variety. Fowls do not wish to be confined to a single article of food any more than men do, and it is not good for them.
Light plows are all right for land that is free from stone; but look out for your ribs where there are many stones. For such land better get a heavier plow.
When a sick fowl is discovered, remove it at once. Maybe if you will attend to it then and there you can save it, whereas if allowed to wait too long it may die.
Potatoes planted in old land or rich garden soil are apt to be scabby and worm eaten; a teaspoonful of sulphur thrown onto the tubers when dropped will prevent both evils.
A mixture of salt, ashes and salt-peter raked into the soil when preparing the onion bed stimulates the growth of the onions and tends to banish the onion maggot.
It is muscle and bone that are required to withstand hardship and inactive colts never develop either like those which have the advantage of plenty of exercise every day.
Lambs should be docked when they are from 8 to 10 days old, according to the advice of the Minnesota experiment station. At that time the young animal receives practically no setback.
It is about as easy to keep an acre or two fertilized and suitable for garden as it is to keep a half acre, if plans have been made with that in view. So the garden can be planted in a new place every year, and a lot of hoeing and hard work avoided in keeping out the weeds.
Chilled eggs are responsible for a good deal of "bad luck" with incubators, but as a general thing eggs in the process of hatching will stand more cooling than many people think.
Use labor-saving devices. The high price of labor and importance of prompt planting, cultivating, spraying, etc., make it absolutely necessary to use effective tools and farm machinery.
The roots of the small grain crops, as wheat and oats, are more fibrous than the roots of such crops as corn, and the great mass of the roots of these crops is confined to the furrow slice. For this reason a well prepared seedbed is even more essential than for the coarser feeding crops.
If thoroughly rotten manure is available at least a part of it may be used to advantage as a top-dressing after plowing and before harrowing. This plan is preferable to the use of all the manure before plowing and this is especially true when shallow-rooted crops are to be grown, such as onions and celery.

Milwaukee Directory

RAT-EXIT
Most Economical and Effective Remedy. In Self-sealing boxes, convenient to handle. At all drug stores. 15, 25 and 75c. Manufacturers Milwaukee Wis
Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Co

IT IS LOST OPPORTUNITY

MOVING PICTURE MEN and Locality Seekers to overlook any town where the Mutual Program is not represented. Why? Because briefly the MUTUAL PROGRAM is the program of QUALITY and the program for the People. It has the necessary attractive elements to establish a permanent patronage. It reigns supreme above all others; has no equal in Competition; thus assuring successful results. The following are but a few of the towns in Wisconsin open for such an opportunity. A complete list will be furnished upon application:

Antigo	Kaukauna	Tomahawk
Baraboo	Lancaster	Two Rivers
Burlington	Marshfield	Waupun
De Pere	Monroe	Waupun
Janesville	Chippewa Falls

We guarantee Exclusive and continued MUTUAL service to our customers in competitive localities.

WESTERN FILM EXCHANGE

Enterprise Building Milwaukee, Wis.

W. N. U., MILWAUKEE, NO. 22-1913.

DAISY FLY KILLER

placed anywhere, at once kills all flies. Kills house flies, stable flies, and all other flies. Kills all mosquitoes, and all other insects. Guaranteed effective. All dealers or direct from H. B. Somers, 210 DeWitt Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A self-inflicted man is merely a case of arrested development.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, etc. In a bottle.

The Venus of Milo explained. "I was trying to make myself into a cubist effect," she said.

HANDS BURNING, ITCHING

995 Lowell Place, Chicago, Ill.—"The trouble began by my hands burning and itching and I rubbed and scratched them till one day I saw little red sores coming out. My hands were disfigured and swollen, and troubled me so that I could not sleep. They were cracked and when the small sores broke a white matter would come out. I could not do any hard work. If I did the sores would come out worse. For two years nobody could cure my eczema, until one day I thought I would try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used warm water with the Cuticura Soap and after that I put the Cuticura Ointment on my hands twice a day for about five or six months when I was cured." (Signed) Sam Marcus, Nov. 28, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Last Civil War Veteran.

I was informed by the United States pension office that the last soldier of the Civil War will die in 1955. That is the estimate made by those who make a study of vital statistics. If the last veteran survives until that date he will have lived 90 years after the surrender of Lee.

Kronk, who died a couple of years ago in New York state, was the last soldier of the War of 1812, and he lived considerably more than 90 years after peace had been signed. Bakenham, the last soldier of the Revolution, lived for 86 years after the peace of 1783.

Here is hoping that some man who wore the blue or gray may fool the pension office and round out a full century after Appomattox!—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fresh Layers.

Customer—I see you have fresh eggs at 35 cents and extra fresh eggs at 40 cents. Is there much difference?

Grocer—Well, ma'am, the extra fresh ones were laid in the early morning when the hens themselves were fresh.

It takes a philosophic mind to expect a dollar and be satisfied with 15 cents.

Some men are insignificant by nature, and some are made so by marriage.

"LIKE MAGIC"

New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a way out of trouble he may be excused for saying "it acts like magic."

When it is a simple, wholesome food instead of a trial of a large number of so-called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle has been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way: "Like magic, fittingly describes the manner in which Grape-Nuts relieved me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing."

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without result. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and for the past two months I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years."

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach as something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves."

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. It is genuine, true, and full of happy interest.

Did Not Cheer as the Battery Swept By.

porch and the blind of the window above was lifted and a white-haired woman stood framed in the light.

No, those watchers did not cheer as the battery swept by on its way to the front. For one thing, a soldier lay upstairs dying; for another, they had passed the time when they cheered that tattered flag. Now they wept over it as one weeps as he holds for the last time the face of a friend who dies. Once they had acclaimed it as the sunrise in the morning, now they watched it silently go inevitably to the sunset of defeat.

The men did not cheer either. They were not past cheering—oh, no! They were made of rougher stuff than the women, and the time would come when, in final action, they would burst forth into that strange, wild yell that struck terror to the hearts of the hearers. They could cheer even in the last ditch, even in the jaws of death—fate the end better for their cheering perhaps; but women are porch and the blind of the window above was lifted and a white-haired woman stood framed in the light.

Did Not Cheer as the Battery Swept By.

No, those watchers did not cheer as the battery swept by on its way to the front. For one thing, a soldier lay upstairs dying; for another, they had passed the time when they cheered that tattered flag. Now they wept over it as one weeps as he holds for the last time the face of a friend who dies. Once they had acclaimed it as the sunrise in the morning, now they watched it silently go inevitably to the sunset of defeat.

The men did not cheer either. They were not past cheering—oh, no! They were made of rougher stuff than the women, and the time would come when, in final action, they would burst forth into that strange, wild yell that struck terror to the hearts of the hearers. They could cheer even in the last ditch, even in the jaws of death—fate the end better for their cheering perhaps; but women are more silent in the crisis. They bear and give no tongue.

The officer in command saw the little group of women on the porch. The moonlight shone from the street side and high-lighted them, turning the rusty black of most of the gowns, home-dyed mourning—all that could be come at in those awful days in Richmond—into soft shadows, above which their faces shone angelic. He saw the woman's head in the window, too. He knew who lay upon the bed of death within the chamber. He had helped to bring him back from the front several days before. He bit his lips for a moment and then, ashamed of his emotion, his voice rang harsh. With arm and saber the battery saluted the women and passed on, while from the window of the great drawing-room, opposite the room of the lint-pickers and bandage-makers, a slender girl stared and stared after the disappearing guns, his eyes full of envy and vexatious tears as he stamped his foot in futile protest and disappointment.

The noise made by the passing cannon soon died away in the distance. Stillness supervened as before; workers whispered together, realizing that some of those passing upon whom they had looked would pass no more, and that they would look upon them never again. Upstairs the moans of the wounded man had died away; the only thing that persisted was the fearful thundering of the distant guns around beleaguered Petersburg. Within the drawing-room, the boy walked up and down restlessly, muttering to himself, evidently nervously, to desperate resolution.

"I won't do it," he said. "I won't stay here any longer."

The door at the other end was softly opened. The great room was but dimly lighted by candles in sconces on the wall; the great chandelier was not lighted for lack of tapers, but a more brilliant radiance was presently cast over the apartment by the advent of old Martha. She had been the boy's "Mamma" as well, and no one dared to speculate how much farther into the past she ran back.

"Is dat you, Mars Wilfred?" said the old woman, waddling in, bearing two many-branched candlesticks, which she proceeded to deposit upon the handsome mahogany tables with which the long drawing-room was furnished.

"Yes, it is I, Aunt Martha. Did you see Benton's battery go by?"

"Laud lub you, chile, Ah done seed so many guns an' bosses an' soldiers agwine by Ah don't tek no notice ob 'em no mo'. Peahs lak dey keep on 'passin' fo'ebah."

"Well, there won't be many more of them pass by," said the boy in a clear accent, but with that soft intonation which would have betrayed his Southern ancestry anywhere, "and before they are all gone, I would like to join one of them myself."

"Why, my po' 'll lamb!" exclaimed Martha, her arms akimbo, "dat Ah done nussed in dese ahms, is you gwine to de fight?"

The boy's demeanor was anything but lamb-like. He made a fierce step toward her.

"You call me 'lamb' any more?" he said, "it's ridiculous and—"

Mamma Martha started back in alarm.

"Peahs mo' lak a lion 'd be better," she admitted.

"Where's mother?" asked the boy, dismissing the subject as unworthy of argument.

"I reckon she's upstairs wid Mars Howard, suh. Yo' bruddah—"

"I want to see her right away," continued the boy impetuously.

"Mars Howard he's putty bad dis ebenin'," returned Martha. "Ah bettah go an' tell her dat you want her, but Ah dunno's she'd want to leab him."

"Well, you tell her to come as soon as she can. I'm awfully sorry for Howard, but it's living men that the Confederacy needs most now."

"Yas, suh," returned the old nurse, with a quizzical look out of her black eyes at the slender boy before her. "Dey suah does need men," she continued, and as the youngster took a passionate step toward her, she gently passed out of the room and closed the door behind her, and he could hear her ponderous footsteps slowly and heavily mounting the steps.

The boy went to the window again and stared into the night. In his preoccupation he did not catch the sound of a gentler footfall upon the stairs, nor did he notice the opening of the door and the silent approach of a woman, the woman with white hair who had stood at the window. The mother of a son dead, a son dying, and a son living. No distinctive thing that in the Confederacy. Almost any mother who had more than one boy could have been justly so characterized. She stopped half-way down the room and looked lovingly and longingly at the slight, graceful figure of her youngest son. Her eyes filled with tears—for the dying or the living or both? Who can say? She went toward him, laid her hand on his shoulder. He turned instantly and at the sight of her tears burst out quickly:

"Howard isn't worse, is he?" for a moment forgetful of all else.

The woman shook her head.

"I am afraid he is. The sound of that passing battery seemed to excite him so. He thought he was at the front again and wanted to get up."

"Poor old Howard!"

He's quieter now, perhaps—"

"Mother, is there anything I can do for him?"

"No, my son," answered the woman with a sigh, "I don't think there is anything that anybody can do. We can only wait—and hope. He is in God's hands, not ours."

She lifted her face for a moment and saw beyond the room, through the night, and beyond the stars a Presence Divine, to whom thousands of other women in that dying Confederacy made daily, hourly, and momentary prayers. Less exalted, more human, less touched, the boy bowed his head, not without his own prayer, too.

"But you wanted to see me, Wilfred, Martha said," the woman presently began.

"Yes, mother, I—"

The boy stopped and the woman was in no hurry to press him. She divined what was coming and would have avoided it all.

"I am thankful there is a lull in the cannonading," she said, listening. "I wonder why it has stopped?"

"It has not stopped," said Wilfred, "at least it has gone on all evening. I don't hear it now."

"No, but you will—there!"

"Yes, but compared to what it was yesterday—you know how it shook the house—and Howard suffered so through it."

"So did I," said the boy in a low voice fraught with passion.

"You, my son?"

"Yes, mother, when I hear those guns and know that the fighting is going on, it fairly maddens me—"

"Yes, yes," she said, "I know how you suffered—we all suffered, we—"

She turned away, sat down in a chair beside the table, leaned her head in her hands, and gave way to her emotions. "There has been nothing but suffering, suffering since this awful war began," she murmured.

"Mother," said Wilfred abruptly, "I want to speak to you. You don't like it, of course, but you have just got to listen this time."

Mrs. Varney lifted her head from her hands. Wilfred came nearer to her and dropped on his knees by her side. One hand she laid upon his shoulder, the other on his head. She stared down at his upturned face with a cannon-shot or a soldier. When can I go?"

The woman stared at him. In him she saw faintly the face of the boy dying upstairs— "that'll take forever. You never can tell where his brigade is from day to day. I can't wait for you to do that."

"Wilfred," said his mother, "I can't let you go without his consent. You must be patient. I will write the letter to her, but boy-like, he disengaged himself and drew away with a shake of his head, not that he loved his mother the less, but honor—as he saw it—the more.

"Why don't you speak?" he whispered at last.

"I don't know what to say to you, Wilfred," faltered his mother, although there was but one thing to say, and she knew that she must say it, yet she was fighting, woman-like, for time.

"I will tell you what to say," said the boy.

"Say that you won't mind if I go down to Petersburg and enlist."

"But that would not be true, Wilfred," said his mother, smiling faintly. "True or not, mother, I can't stay here."

"Oh, Wilfred, Russell has gone, and Howard is going, and now you want to go and get killed."

"I don't want to be killed at all, mother."

"But you are so young, my boy."

"Not younger than young Kittridge," answered the boy; "not younger than Ell Stuart or Cousin Steven or hun-

Stared Down Into His Upturned Face.

As he stood there he looked strangely like his father, thought the woman.

"Well," she said at last, "I will write to your father and—"

"But," the boy interrupted in great disappointment, "that'll take forever. You never can tell where his brigade is from day to day. I can't wait for you to do that."

"Wilfred," said his mother, "I can't let you go without his consent. You must be patient. I will write the letter to her, but boy-like, he disengaged himself and drew away with a shake of his head, not that he loved his mother the less, but honor—as he saw it—the more.

"Why don't you speak?" he whispered at last.

"I don't know what to say to you, Wilfred," faltered his mother, although there was but one thing to say, and she knew that she must say it, yet she was fighting, woman-like, for time.

"I will tell you what to say," said the boy.

"Say that you won't mind if I go down to Petersburg and enlist."

"But that would not be true, Wilfred," said his mother, smiling faintly. "True or not, mother, I can't stay here."

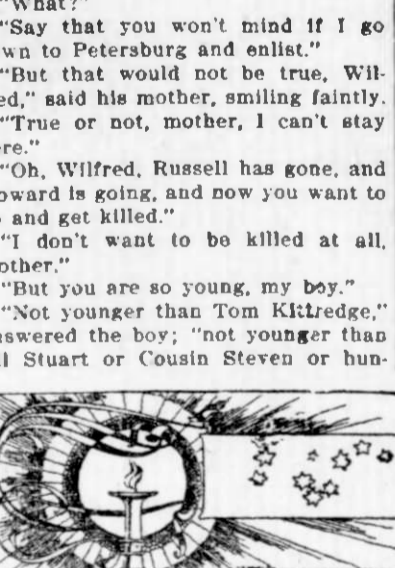

"Oh, Wilfred, Russell has gone, and Howard is going, and now you want to go and get killed."

"I don't want to be killed at all, mother."

"But you are so young, my boy."

"Not younger than young Kittridge," answered the boy; "not younger than Ell Stuart or Cousin Steven or hun-

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

FOOTBALL IN HOLY CITY

Contending Teams Strive for Victory in the Shadow of the Sacred Walls.

Recently, for the first time in the history of the Holy City, its people thronged around a field, almost within the shadows of its sacred walls, where contending football teams strove together for victory. The victorious team was composed entirely of American students from the Syrian Protestant college at Beirut, and Uncle Sam's boys can claim to have introduced the sport of football into the Holy Land. The contests were spread over four days. On the first afternoon the Beirut men played a team made up of the young men of the missions of the London Jews' society and of the Church Mission society of the city; on the second afternoon with a team selected from the ranks—Christian, Moslem and Jewish—of the Young Men's Christian association of the city; on the third afternoon with the team of St. George's college, and on the last afternoon with a team selected from all the Jerusalem players. The third game was a tie, but the three others were won by the Beirut men. The teams were made up of natives and Europeans, the latter being of several religions, including Mohammedans. A local band of the American colony played on the last day. There was great enthusiasm and thousands of spectators, including Moslem ladies in their sheets and veils, watched the sport.

Profitable Fine.

An amusing story is quoted

Pimples—Boils

are danger signals—heed the warning in time. When the blood is impoverished the gateway is open for the germs of disease to enter and cause ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

eradicated the poisons from the blood by purging the liver into vigorous action—purging and softening the blood, and thereby fortifying the whole system. Skin and "itching" diseases readily disappear after using this old-time remedy.

Has been sold by druggists for over 40 years—and always satisfactorily

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

Do you realize the fact that thousands of women are now using

Paxtine

A Soluble Antiseptic Powder

as a remedy for mucous membrane affections, such as sore throat, nasal or pelvic catarrh, inflammation or ulceration, caused by female illa? Women who have been cured say "it is worth its weight in gold." Dissolve in water and apply locally. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in its private correspondence with women.

For all hygienic and toilet uses it has no equal. Only 50c a large box at Drug-gists or sent postpaid on receipt of price. The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

Get a Canadian Home in Western Canada's Free Homestead Area

60 ACRES
THE PROVINCE OF MANITOBA
FREE HOMESTEAD AREA

has several New Homesteads available that afford rare opportunity to secure 60 acres of land FREE.

For Grain Growing and Cattle Raising

this province has no superior and its profitable agriculture shows an unbroken record of over a quarter of a century.

Perfect climate; good markets; railways convenient; soil the very best; and social conditions most desirable.

Vacant lands adjacent to Free Homesteads may be purchased and the older districts lands can be bought at reasonable prices.

For further particulars write to
Geo. A. Hall
123 Second St., Milwaukee, Wis.
Canadian Government Agent, or Immigration, Ottawa, Canada.

PROVERBS BROUGHT TO DATE

Unlike Those Generally Known, But Containing a Great Deal of Real Truth.

A man with small feet hideth them not, and she whose hands are well formed delighteth to play chess.

Why doth the virgin rejoice? Why readeth she her love letters to her sisters? Behold, there is a compliment therein, and it shall not be concealed.

Enthusiastic is women's praise of a passable damsel; yea, they lift up their voice continually, saying, Lo, she hath fine eyes. But when she who dazzleth men's sight approacheth, behold their tongues are hushed, they whisper one to another in their confusion, confessing her comeliness.

As a man with his first automobile, so is an old wife with a young husband; she is fond, yet fearful.

The shop damsel extolleth her wares, saying, Lo, I myself wear this kind. And the customer smilith bitterly, and turneth away.

To a clever woman, a man without audacity is a weariness to the spirit; and as for the timid one who obeyeth her, lo, she sendeth him upon errands.

Modern Conditions.

"I'd like to get that son of mine to spade up the yard."

"Well, why don't you direct him to do it?"

Reasons Therefor.

"Mrs. Prim's dear little house looks good enough to eat."

"That is because she keeps it in apple pie order."

The end man in a minstrel show can tell a joke as well as the next man.

Breakfast A Pleasure when you have Post Toasties with cream.

A food with snap and zest that wakes up the appetite.

Sprinkle crisp Post Toasties over a saucer of fresh strawberries, add some cream and a little sugar—

Appetizing Nourishing Convenient

"The Memory Lingers"

Sold by Grocers.

Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

THE AMERICAN HOME

W. A. RADFORD
EDITOR

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

The word "Colonial," as referring to house construction and also to furniture design, is frequently used without a definite idea of its meaning in this connection. Properly speaking, a Colonial house, or Colonial furniture, dates back to a time before the Declaration of Independence, when this country was a dependency of Great Britain and classed as a colony or colonies. Some good houses were built at that time by emigrants from England and other countries, and the best ideas of building then known were incorporated in these houses. There is abundant evidence of the influence exerted on the minds of builders in these days by the free expanse of new territory. Some of these old-time builders came from the narrow streets of old London and other large cities, where narrow fronts and a dingy outlook were the rule even in the case of the better and more expensive dwellings.

A broad front and square rooms, with a wide hall in the center, was the elegant plan adopted by the more generous-hearted entertainers of colonial days. They could afford to be prodigal in the expenditure of space because they had left congested behind them, and the influence of their new environment had suggested broadened lines in regard to house room as well as affairs of state.

Many ideas have since resulted in the modification of this commendable style of house building; but down to the present time we have many admirers of the old-fashioned square house with a parlor on one side and a drawing-room on the other. These old houses had a broad hall, often ten or twelve feet wide, in the center of the house. This great hall sometimes was furnished with a big brick or stone fireplace in the far end, where cordwood sticks were burned and the warmth from the fire was diffused through the open stairway to the rooms above.

It is easy to imagine the cordial reception the guests received on entering the wide, thick paneled front door encaused in a heavy frame of timbers. There was a heavy sash with its several lights of glass on each side of the door-frame, sometimes reaching nearly to the floor; and generally there was a big brass knocker, and an immense lock with a key nearly a foot long. But the big, heavy doors opened easily and quickly in response to the clatter of the big brass knocker, because even strangers were welcome, and friends were received with genuine cordiality if not affection.

Some of these old Colonial houses were built with timbers much larger and placed closer together than is now customary in building our largest barns or warehouses.

Through all the intervening years, we have retained the general style of these commodious old houses. The one herewith illustrated has the old style of roof, the square proportions, and the general air of breadth—practically the same as the most approved house in George Washington's time. But we have moved the hall a little to one side, to make room for a longer sitting room in proportion to the size of the house. We have done away with the old-fashioned drawing-room, and substituted a parlor and sitting room combined that offers a great deal more comfort because it tends to increase sociability, and sociability is the keynote of entertaining.

We still have the wide hall with a fireplace in the far end; but we haven't reduced the size of the fireplace to fit the fuel that we are obliged to use. Then, instead of building the servants' quarters outside in a separ-

NEWS for the YOUNG PEOPLE

HOW TO TELL THE WEATHER

Peculiar Actions of Many Animals Taken as Sure Indication of Rain, Snow, Wind or Calm.

If a cat sneezes it is a sign of rain. The goat utters a peculiar cry before rain.

When the fox barks at night it will storm.

If rats and mice make much noise it indicates rain.

If the dog eats grass in the morning it will surely rain before night.

If the tracks of bear are seen after the first snow fall, look for a mild winter.

The wind will blow from the point the cat faces when she washes her face, and fair weather will follow.

If the bull goes first to pasture, it will rain; if the cow precedes him the weather will be uncertain.

It is a sign of rain if the cat washes her head behind the ear. Cats rub against an object before a storm.

If cows fall in their milk look for stormy and cold weather. If they bellow in the evening it will snow before morning, and when a cow stops and shakes her foot there is bad weather behind her.

If cattle lie down early in the day expect rain, also when they lick their fore feet, lie on the right side, scratch against posts, when they refuse to go to pasture in the morning, and when they low and look at the sky.

Salmon do not like cats, and they have a saying when the cat is frisky she has a gale of wind in her tail, and a charm is often resorted to in a calm by throwing the cat overboard to raise a storm.

If cows fall in their milk look for stormy and cold weather. If they bellow in the evening it will snow before morning, and when a cow stops and shakes her foot there is bad weather behind her.

During the interval between the good old Colonial days and the present time, we have added a hot-water heater to our kitchen range, and connected it with a water-pressure supply that carries hot water to the bathroom as well as to the kitchen sink.

Our modern bathrooms effect a great saving in perfumery bills. When hot water was scarce and bathrooms were the exception rather than the rule, scented bottles and sachet bags as close and convenient as possible to the range.

Much Amusement Afforded to Company of Little Folk by Appearance of Rabbit on Wall.

No company of little folk yet failed to laugh at the sight of a rabbit or fox appearing on a whitened wall.

As a rule, all that is necessary is for the worker to stand with his hands and arms free between the light and the wall, or better still, to place himself behind a sheet fixed for the purpose, with one or two small cloths and a few prepared cards, as a study of the illustrations will show. The simplest shadows are of course those formed with the hands above.

Electricity in Rubber.

An ordinary india rubber band stretched and allowed to spring back by virtue of its own elasticity develops a negative charge of electricity, which is retained for a considerable time. The result does not appear to be influenced by the quality of the india rubber, and the same effect is produced by a length of tube sufficiently thin walled to be fairly elastic. An essential condition, however, is that the material be allowed to contract suddenly. If pulled out slowly and gradually allowed to resume its original dimensions, no electrification will be produced.

ILLUSION WITH SMALL DOTS

Hexagonal Figures, Black and White, Appear to Be of Different Sizes, but Are Not.

If we look with one eye only, or with eyes half closed, at these groups of circular dots they assume the appearance familiar to us in honeycomb. This is an effect of the contrast and opposition of the black and white in the sensation of the retina.

Although the black and the white circles are of the same diameter the irradiation is in their case so intense that the white circles appear to be larger than the black.

When Sea Feeds Land.

Seaweed, at one time thought valueless, is a wonderful fertilizer. Tons of it are collected in carts at low tide by the Cornish farmers, and around the coast of Jersey.

After being dried in heaps, it is spread on the land. There its nutritive properties of nitrogen and potash in which it is very rich, are absorbed into the soil, and produce wonderful crops. New potatoes from Jersey, and spring cabbages from Cornwall, are raised with seaweed fertilizer. The sea also furnishes food for the land in other ways.

Legal Angle.

First Lawyer—I was looking over my boy's geometry lesson last night. I was quite interested in that proposition that the three angles of a triangle are equal to two right angles.

Second Lawyer—That isn't very complicated.

First Lawyer—No, but I was trying to think what a man could do if he had the other side of the case.—Puck.

Unexpected.

The office boy opened the door and looked in.

"My grandmother—" he began.

"Bah!" snorted the boss.

"Has just died."

"Wow!" yelled the boss.

"Has just died and left me a lot of money—and I've resigned—see?"

And he softly closed the door.

VACUUM EXPERIMENT IS ODD

Candle Burns Oxygen in Glass and Blotting Paper Contracts, Making an Air-Tight Joint.

A very interesting experiment may be performed with two drinking glasses, a small candle end and a piece of blotting paper, says the Pathfinder. The glasses must be the same size and of the thin-glass kind. The candle end is lighted and set in one glass; the blotting paper is well dampened and placed on top of the glass, and the other glass inverted and its rim placed exactly over the lower one and pressed down tightly. The candle will burn up all the oxygen in the glass and go out.

The air in the glass being heated will expand and some of it will be forced out from under the moist paper, and then, as the portion remaining cools, it will contract and draw the upper glass on the paper and make an air-tight joint. The upper glass can then be taken up and the lower one will cling to it.

Vacuum Experiment.

HOW TO MAKE A BOOMERANG

Amusing Little Toy May Be Made by Cutting Little Piece of Cardboard as Shown in Illustration.

Cut out in cardboard a boomerang as nearly as possible of the size and pattern given here.

Place it flat on the back of the first three fingers of the left hand, sloping them upward; then flick it smartly with the second finger of the right hand. It will fly off and return to your lap. Try it.

A Toy Boomerang.

Walnut Shell Beats.

Materials required—A walnut shell, a small piece of cardboard, a match, a piece of white paper, and some sealing wax.

Scoop out any remaining fragments of nut and skin from the interior of the shell and cover the opening with cardboard, which must be, first of all cut the exact size. Thrust a match through the middle of the cardboard and fasten it securely to the bottom of the shell with sealing wax. The cardboard can also be fastened on to the shell in the same way. A sail can then be cut from white paper and fastened to the match by means of two holes.

Electricity in Rubber.

An ordinary india rubber band stretched and allowed to spring back by virtue of its own elasticity develops a negative charge of electricity, which is retained for a considerable time. The result does not appear to be influenced by the quality of the india rubber, and the same effect is produced by a length of tube sufficiently thin walled to be fairly elastic. An essential condition, however, is that the material be allowed to contract suddenly. If pulled out slowly and gradually allowed to resume its original dimensions, no electrification will be produced.

RIDDLES.

Why are doctors always bad characters? Because the worse people are the more they are with them.

Why is a camel a most frascible animal? Because he always has his back up.

Why are weary people like carriage wheels? Because they are tired.

What is that which every one can divide, but no one can see where it has been divided? Water.

What is majesty deprived of its externals? A jest—in-a-jest-y.

Is there a word in the English language that contains all the vowels? Yes, unquestionably.

Why does a miller wear a white hat? To keep his head warm.

Why didn't the dog want to go into the ark? Because he had a bark of his own.

What makes the cost of tea so high? Because we must pay a steep price.

Why would a tanner make a good chemist? Because he understands (ox)idea.

Why was Moses the most wicked man that ever lived? Because he broke all the commandments at once.

What fruit grows on telegraph wires? Electric currents (currants).

When is it dangerous to enter a church? When there is a canon in the reading desk or a great gun in the pulpit.

What is the only pain of which every one makes light? Window-pane.

TENDERFEET WIN WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

HILL AND SONS, THE OAT CHAMPIONS, ARE COCKNEYS BORN AND BRED.

City-bred in the world's greatest metropolis and untrained as to things agricultural, were J. C. Hill and his three boys when they settled on homesteads at Lloydminster, in the Province of Saskatchewan (western Canada), eight years ago. Today they are the recognized champion oat growers of the North American continent, having won twice in succession the silver challenge cup, valued at $1,500, at the Fifth National Corn exposition, Columbia, S. C. The Plate, officially known as the Colorado Oat trophy, is emblematic of the grand championship prize for the best bushel of oats exhibited by individual farmers or experimental farms at these expositions.

The Hill entry won this year in the face of the keenest competition, hundreds of exhibits being sent by experienced farmers from all parts of the United States and Canada. The oats were grown on land which was wild prairie less than four years ago.

When Mr. Hill and his three sons, who probably never saw a wider acreage than the hills of Hampstead Heath, or the parks of London, came to Saskatchewan eight years ago, they had little more capital than was required for homestead entry fees. They relied on four homesteads, in the Lloydminster district, which straddles the boundary of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

They labored early and late and denied themselves paltry pleasures, glad to stand the gaff for a while in rising to their possibilities. They talked with successful farmers and studied crops and conditions and profited by both. The new life on the farm was strange but they never lost heart, handicapped as they were by lack of experience and capital.

The farm house, modern in every respect, compares favorably with any residence in the city. The Hills have substantial bank accounts and their credit is gilt-edged from Edmonton to Winnipeg and beyond.

"There is nothing secret about our methods nor is our plan copyrighted. We first made a thorough study of climatic conditions, soil and seed," said Mr. Hill. "We tended our crops carefully and gradually added live stock, realizing from the beginning that mixed farming would pay larger and more certain returns than straight grain growing. We have demonstrated that fact to our satisfaction and the result is that many of the farmers in the district are following our example."

The land that the Hills work is of the same class as may be found anywhere in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta.—Advertisement.

Some people have a knack of turning everything to their own disadvantage.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night."

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured."

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Such letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for woman's illa. Why don't you try it?

Your Liver Is Clogged Up

That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put your liver in a few days.

They do their duty.

Cure Constipation.

Biliousness, Indigestion and Sick Headache.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Warranted

E. H. MADFIELD'S BELGIUM OINTMENT

AT HARDWARE AND PAINT STORES

WANKESHA, WIS. Price 50c.

Guaranteed to cure Piles

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Preserving, a Pleasure —with Parowax

Dip tops of jars and catsup bottles in melted Parowax. Or pour this pure paraffine directly on top of contents of each jelly glass. Result—a perfect seal, light, mould-proof seal that keeps canned vegetables, catsup, chow-chow, preserves and jellies indefinitely.

No Tins or Tops Needed

It is even simpler than it sounds. It is as cheap as it is easy. No bother with tops that will not fit. Not even paper covers need be used. The direct contact of Parowax with the jelly cannot affect its taste or goodness.

Parowax is tasteless and odorless. It is so thoroughly harmless that it can be chewed like food or gum.

Indispensable in the Laundry

Parowax cleans and whitens clothes in the wash. It imparts a beautiful finish to them in the ironing. And Parowax has a hundred other household uses. No home should be without it.

Your druggist and grocer both keep Parowax. Order it today.

Mrs. Rorer's Recipe Book

Ask your dealer for this valuable free book by this celebrated culinary expert. Or send direct to us.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY, Chicago, Ill. (AN INDIANA CORPORATION)

Wanted to Keep Her. "She cost her father two thousand a year for clothes alone." "I don't believe it." "Why not?" "He would not let me marry her."

Their Location. "I have been looking over your master's wardrobe. Where are his spats?" "Mostly with the missus, sir."

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS. I suffer from RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, MIGRAINE, BRUISES, SWELLINGS, BURNS, SCALDS, SORES, WOUNDS, AND ALL THE AFFECTIONS OF THE SKIN. I have tried every remedy, but have not been cured. I have heard of FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS, and I have bought a box, and I have taken it, and I am cured. I am now as well as ever. I am now as well as ever. I am now as well as ever.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS. RICH IN CURATIVE QUALITIES FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Higher Quality - Longer Service

That's why everybody likes the famous Cream City Ware so much. The makers have always tried to give just a little better quality. And the result is that Cream City Ware lasts longer, wears better and gives more satisfaction in every way.

This Bread Box is typical of the entire line. It's extra strong—made to wear for years—free from dirt-gathering cracks—deep and roomy—handsomely finished in white and gold—and so absorbent moisture and dust proof that you can depend on its keeping your cakes, bread, biscuits, pastries, etc., fresh and sweet. It's one of the Cream City Ware line that you certainly ought to have in your kitchen.

Bread Boxes—all sizes..... 45c to 75c
Flour Boxes—50 lb. sizes..... 95c

Cream City
Flour & Bread Boxes
L. ROSENHEIMER, Kewaskum, Wis.

Bonesho called on friends at Milwaukee last week Saturday.

The Misses Green of Milwaukee were callers at the home of their sister, Mrs. Lupowich Sunday.

Mrs. A. Denhardt and Miss Anne Bost of West Bend spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Schaefer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Haskin returned home Wednesday after spending two weeks with their daughters at Waupun.

The regular monthly meeting of the Campbellsport Mutual Fire Insurance Co. will be held at their office Thursday evening.

Mrs. Leo Arimond and son Carol returned to Milwaukee Friday after several days visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Flynn.

ELMORE

Lena Mueller spent Sunday with Linda Rusch.

Geo. Scheid spent Sunday in our burg.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gantenbein Jr and John Scheid visited Friday evening with Wm. Geidel and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Weiss spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Straub.

The Ladies Society will meet at the Mrs. Jacob Guntly home next Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Backhaus of Kewaskum visited Sunday here with the Wm. Geidel family.

A party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keno in honor of Mr. Keno's 48th birthday anniversary Friday evening.

Miss Mary Mangan, our school teacher, was called home Wednesday evening on account of the death of her father at Rosendale, Wis.

THE STUDEBAKER

Five Passenger Touring Car, fully equipped, F. O. B. Detroit $885

4 Cylinders, Long Stroke, 3 1/2 inch Bore x 5 inch Stroke, Selective Sliding Gear Transmission, 3 Speeds Forward and Reverse.

Run over in your mind the requisites of a fine Car; readiness for any trip, mechanical efficiency, easy riding qualities, power, speed, convenience, economy, and notice how perfectly the Studebaker fulfills your mental picture. Higher priced cars will do no more. Equipment: Acetylene Primer, Demountable Rims, Jiffy Curtains, Electric Horn, Stewart and Clark Speedometer, Deep Upholstery, Silk Mohair Top, Ventilating Windshield, Robe Rail, Full Elliptic Springs, Presto-lite Tank, Tire Holders, Extra Rim, Full Set of Tools, Tool Box, 2 Large Acetylene Headlights, 2 Oil Side and 1 Tail Lamp, Goodrich Tires 30x3 1/2 Front and Rear. Gear ratio 3 1/2 to 1. Brakes both operating on rear wheels.

All prospective buyers are invited to call at my store and inspect this great Car. Will gladly demonstrate on appointment.

WM. FOERSTER, Dist. Agt.
WAYNE, WISCONSIN

Studebaker

"The wagon that stands up like the reputation of its makers"

When you buy a Studebaker wagon you buy a wagon that will last until you turn the farm over to your son and he turns it over to his son.

One of the first Studebaker wagons ever made saw constant service for thirty years, and we will gladly send you the names of farmers who have in their possession wagons that have been in constant use anywhere from 17 to 48 years—and there are thousands of them. We are building the same kind of wagons today.

A Studebaker wagon is an investment that will give you full return for your outlay. It is built on honor, iron, steel, wood, paint and varnish used in its construction are tested and retested to make sure each is the best.

For work, business or pleasure—for town or country use—there is a Studebaker vehicle to fit your requirements.

Farm wagons, dump carts, trucks, buggies, surreys, runabouts, pony carriages, business vehicles of every description—with harness of the same high standard.

See our Dealer or write us.

STUDEBAKER South Bend, Ind.
NEW YORK CHICAGO DALLAS KANSAS CITY DENVER
MINNEAPOLIS SALT LAKE CITY SAN FRANCISCO PORTLAND, ORE.

CAMPBELLSPORT.

M. Farrell was in Milwaukee Monday.

B. Romaine spent last week at Milwaukee.

Chas. Lade was an Elmore visitor Sunday.

Dr. P. A. Hoffman was in Fond du Lac Monday.

P. M. Schaefer spent last week Friday at Fond du Lac.

Jos. Rodler was a business caller at Oshkosh last week.

Dr. Block was a business caller at Fond du Lac Saturday.

John Wenzel spent Monday at Fond du Lac on business.

H. J. Paas was a business caller in Fond du Lac Saturday.

Mrs. J. Day of Hartford spent Sunday with Mrs. M. Klotz.

Leo Hoffman resumed his studies at Calvary Tuesday.

J. Flanagan was at the County Seat on business Saturday.

Vernon Van Slyke of Oshkosh visited friends here Sunday.

Edward Martin was a Fond du Lac visitor Sunday evening.

John Polzean called on friends at Kewaskum last Saturday.

Mr. Miller of Milwaukee was a business caller here Tuesday.

Peter Schaefer was a business caller at Fond du Lac Friday.

Miss Mildred Johnson was at Fond du Lac Sunday evening.

Mrs. H. J. Weld called on friends at Fond du Lac last Saturday.

Atty Louis Fellenz of Fond du Lac was a caller here Tuesday.

Jos. Bauer and daughter were at Fond du Lac on business Tuesday.

John Bonesho was a business caller at the Cream City Saturday.

Jas. Hodge attended to business affairs at Kewaskum last Monday.

Dr. G. J. Hoffman and brother Leo were in Milwaukee Saturday.

Miss Kit Klotz of Fond du Lac spent Sunday with relatives here.

F. Kleinhaus looked after business matters at Milwaukee Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Scheid called on friends at Fond du Lac over Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Curran were Fond du Lac callers over Saturday.

Miss Minnie Manske was the guest of friends at Brownsville Sunday.

Joseph Hutter Sr., of Fond du Lac was a business caller here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoffman of Milwaukee visited friends here a few days.

Mrs. A. Schwandt spent last week Friday with friends at the County Seat.

Arnold Ertz visited with relatives and friends at Milwaukee last Sunday.

Miss Bessie Adams was the guest of friends at Fond du Lac last week Friday.

Mrs. F. Gilden and daughter Marie were callers at Elkhart last week Friday.

Ignatius Klotz and Andrew Sukawaty were Beaver Dam visitors last Sunday.

Louis Lobenstein of Necedah was the guest of his brother Ben here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Frey of Elmore visited with friends in the village Sunday.

Mrs. C. Flint and daughter visited with relatives and friends here last week.

A. Koepke made a business trip through the northern part of the state last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Becker and son visited relatives at Kewaskum Sunday afternoon.

Ed. Arimond left for the northern part of the state last Tuesday on a business trip.

Ever Johnson of Stratford, S. D., is spending the week with B. Ullrich and family.

Valentine Dieringer of Gillett visited relatives and friends here a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Curran and daughter Mary were guests of Eden relatives Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Pesch of Newburg is spending the week with her brother Adam Pesch.

Mrs. David Knickel and Miss Lydia Vetsch were Kewaskum visitors Sunday afternoon.

John Guntly of Waucausta is spending the week in the village with relatives and friends.

Mrs. D. Wenzel and Miss Tillie

The Burlington Standard Democrat says: As we understand it the proposed eight hour a day law will not interfere with the farmers or the country editors. They will still be given the right to work sixteen hours a day. The lawmakers have no desire to starve the poor cusses.

—Fine job printing is a specialty of the Statesman. Give us a trial.

Quality Multiplied

One of the many points of advantage

G & J Tires

have over other tires is that they are made the UNITED STATES TIRE COMPANY way.

They are a combination of the strong points of four world-famous brands.

Tires made as these tires are made give a four-fold guarantee of quality.

This quality-guarantee means increased mileage for the user.

Why not try Them?

J. W. Schaefer & Sons

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

WASHINGTON COUNTY COURT, IN PROBATE.

In the matter of the estate of Olga Behling, deceased.

Letters of administration on said estate having been granted to Mrs. William Raether and an order allowing and limiting the time for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and fixing the time and place for examining and adjusting the same having been entered.

Notice is hereby given that creditors are allowed until the first Tuesday in December, 1913, to present their claims against said deceased to this court for examination and allowance, and that said court will on the third Tuesday of December A. D. 1913, at the Court House in the city of West Bend, in said county, examine and adjust all claims so presented against the said Olga Behling, deceased.

Dated May 25th, 1913.

By order of the Court,
Frank W. Bucklin, P. O'NEARA,
Attorney, County Judge.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

About the "Twin Tables"

Up to this time, Pedestal Tables have been made with a single pedestal, but their shortcomings are so many that one manufacturer has succeeded in overcoming them by using two pedestals—each oval or oblong and complete in itself. They are called

"Twin" Pedestal Extension Tables

They are superior to others because:

No troublesome lock necessary. Gaping or standing open at bottom impossible. As perfect extended as when closed.

In extending a "Twin" to 6 ft. the tops open without spreading pedestals. Prevents marring of finish on legs. If extended farther than this the pedestals spread, giving the most rigid support possible without exposing unfinished surfaces, locks, bolts, etc., as is the case with the single pedestal tables, a feature worthy of your attention, especially when entertaining friends at luncheon or if table is continually used, in the extended position.

"Twins" are made in numerous designs and finishes. CALL AND INSPECT THEM

We also carry a full line of FURNITURE, PIANOS, SEWING MACHINES, VACUUM CLEANERS, TRUNKS, SUIT CASES, SHEET MUSIC, MUSIC BOOKS, BEDS, BEDDING, CURTAINS AND SHADES.

Hammocks
Lawn Swings Benches and Porch Rockers
Prices to Suit Everybody
Come in and be Convinced

MEILAHN & HAUG
Undertaking and Embalming—Lady Assistant
Kewaskum, Wisconsin

The Pen With The Crescent-Filler

This Crescent-Filler under the thumb identifies the most perfect, convenient and satisfactory fountain pen made—

CONKLIN'S Self-Filling Pen

On a fountain pen it insures what "Sterling" does on silver. The Conklin is different from all other fountain pens—and better. Call and see.

Math. Schlaefer
Up-To-Date Jeweler

Where Quality Tells and Price Sells. Campbellsport, Wisconsin

We Wish to Announce

That we handle only high grade of Flour and do all kinds of Feed Grinding. We guarantee satisfaction in every transaction. Give us a chance to show what we can do.

BUY YOUR FLOUR AT THE MILL

H. H. WARDEN & SON
Proprietors of Campbellsport Roller Mills

MRS. K. ENDLICH
Carpet Weaver
Kewaskum, Wis.

MRS. JOS. EBERLE
PROPRIETRESS OF THE NORTH SIDE PARK

This is one of the Prettiest Parks in the State and is an Ideal Place for Picnics, Excursions, etc. It has a new 50x80 foot Dance Hall

ALSO PROPRIETRESS OF THE Farmers Hotel
BOARD BY THE DAY OR WEEK.
GOOD STABLE ROOM.

Dealer in Wines, Liquors and Cigars, Etc.
KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN

Consult Leissring
ABOUT YOUR EYESIGHT

Will be at REPUBLICAN HOUSE, KEWASKUM, WIS.

Every 2nd Wednesday of Month
9:30 A. M. to 11:30 A. M.
Wm. Leissring EXPERT OPTICIAN
At Home Office every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

F. J. Lambeck, M. D.
EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT GLASSES FITTED

OFFICE HOURS:—10 a. m. to 1 p. m.; 2 to 5 p. m.;
Sundays 10 a. m. to 12 m.
Telephone 6 230

ROOMS 334-35, MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS BANK BLDG.
WATER ST. Milwaukee, Wis.
—Subscribe for the Statesman.

HOT WEATHER

is soon here. Be comfortable in your kitchen.

Get a
KEROSENE OIL STOVE AND OVEN with a Wick Blue Flame.

Once used, always used. Save your fuel bill. No danger and very reliable.

Let us show you our large stock. Every household should be equipped with an Oil Stove and Oven. Prices Reasonable.

NIC REMMEL
KEWASKUM, WIS.

—It pays to advertise in the Statesman. Try it.
—Send your absent friend the Statesman

—Legal papers for sale at this office.
—Highest price paid for Cast scrap iron at Remmel's foundry of