OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Badger Butter Scores High in November

Although butter made during the fall months is liable to be influenced very decidedly by feed and weather conditions, the quality of Wisconsin butter exhibited at Madison in the November scoring contest was of uniformly high character, the average score being 93.7 and 50 percent of the entries scoring from 93 to 95.5.

Among those securing unusually high scores were, Christian Christenson, Rose Lawn, Peter Lunn, Askeaton, John Mattson, St. Croix Falls; Harry Nichols, Elkhorn; H. H. Whiting, Cedarburg; and Carl Jorgenson, Rose Lawn.

One of the faults reported in the butter shown in the recent scoring exhibition was that of gasoline taint. Oftentimes the cause of this peculiar taint in butter can be traced, according to C. E. Leary, who has charge of this scoring work, to the use of the gasoline engine in operating the farm cream separator. This can be overcome if the engine is carefully run or placed in a different room than that containing the separator. When an engine is over fed or too much lubricating oil is used, the odor thrown off cannot help but taint the cream as it runs from the separator or while it stands in the separator room.

University Investigates Concrete Materials

A three year investigation of the physical properties of concrete and mortar made from sands and stones and gravel found near the largest cities and towns in Wisconsin is now drawing to a close. This work has been conducted by the College of Engineering of the University of Wisconsin and a preliminary report on experiments was prepared by Professor M. O. Withey and read before the American Society for Testing Materials.

The investigation revealed the importance of knowing the character and quality of broken stone. "We have found materials in use," said Mr. Withey, "in some places which are not of the best class of construction, while in other places material has been of the finest character." Large sources of supply are in the southern part of the state convenient to shipment.

In which the principal deposits have been sampled is in the southern portion of Wisconsin south of the line drawn from Milwaukee to Madison. Investigation of deposits is now being extended northward.

Millions Locked Up in Grasses and Clover

"Enough grass and clover is growing in Wisconsin this season to make several millionaires if fed to beef cattle and cows."

Such was the announcement recently made by representatives of one of the largest railroad companies in the middle west, the lines of which cross the state from north and south and east to west.

Wisconsin is, without doubt, exceptionally well adapted to the raising of live stock. All classes of grasses and clover which grow luxuriantly upon our soils, the cereals do well in practically every county, the corn area of the state due to the cooperation of many of its farmers, school officials, and agronomists employed at the Wisconsin experiment station, is being extended from the Illinois boundary line on the south to the shore of Lake Superior on the north. Practically all are within easy access to market, which is a very necessary condition in the profitable production of livestock or livestock products.

High School Notes

No practice was held by either the Boys' or Girls' Basketball teams this week.

This week is "quiz" week at the High School. Everybody happy. Everybody working.

The American Literature class under the instructions of Prin. A. L. Simon, has completed memorizing Bryant's "Thanatopsis."

There were no classes held at the High School on Thursday and Friday of this week on account of the Thanksgiving vacation.

Did you know that the jolly Juniors joke, and the saucy Seniors smile, can't beat the fancy Freshman folk, or serious Sophomores, select style?

A record breaking class standing was made by the Sophomores in the Arithmetic test, given them by Miss McRae Monday morning. All received one hundred on their papers, except one.

This week being Thanksgiving week, Miss Reinkens will spend the holiday at her home in Marinette, consequently the regular work and singing instructions were given Monday instead of Wednesday morning.

Saved His Foot

H. D. Ely of Bantam, O., suffered from horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctors advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. He then wrote: "I used your salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Best remedy for burns, cuts, bruises and eczema. Get a box today. Only 25c. H. E. BUCKLEN, CO., PHILADELPHIA OR ST. LOUIS.

Farm Mortgages

MAIL YOUR PARCELS EARLY

Postmaster General Burleson Has Requested Postmasters to Give the Cause the Widest Publicity

Postmaster Geo. H. Schmidt is in receipt of a notice from Postmaster General Burleson of Washington D. C., that the coming holiday season, the first one under the parcel post law, will witness the heaviest postal business that the service has ever experienced. Hon. Burleson instructs all postmasters to be ready to handle this enormous mail promptly and efficiently. Notice is also posted in the local postoffice that all parcels should be mailed early, securely wrapped and plainly addressed. All parcels must have the return address of the sender. Do not trace, according to C. E. Leary, who has charge of this scoring work, to the use of the gasoline engine in operating the farm cream separator. This can be overcome if the engine is carefully run or placed in a different room than that containing the separator. When an engine is over fed or too much lubricating oil is used, the odor thrown off cannot help but taint the cream as it runs from the separator or while it stands in the separator room.

Married Five Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. John Bremser of the town of Kewaskum, last Monday celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage, a large number of relatives and friends being present to extend best wishes, and to take part in the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Bremser were presented with suitable and appropriate gifts. The guests came in the evening and spent most of the time in singing and playing games, at 10:30 a delicious supper was served to the merry guests.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bromser, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Berres, Mrs. Wm. Berres, Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Herriges, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Geier, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fellenz and family, Mrs. Joe. Heller, Mr. and Mrs. William Bremser and daughter Alice, Math Stockhausen and family, Joe. Bohn and family of West Bend; Lorenz and Marvin Staehler, John Thull, Joe. Stockhausen, Math Herriges, Frank Stelplig, Joe. Kollar, John Herriges, Willie Schneider and Joe and Henry Berres, and the Misses Margaret Stockhausen, Barbara and Pauline Schneider, Anna and Regina Koller, Marie and Ella Stelplig, Marie and Rose Bremser and Marie Berres. The guests departed for their respective homes at a late hour, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Bremser for the pleasant time they had, and wishing them many more anniversaries.

Popular Young Couple Married

The marriage of Miss Minnie Herber of Campbellport, to Oscar Geidel of Elmore took place at the German Reformed Church at Campbellport on Nov. 15th, at 10 o'clock, Rev. Landseidel tying the nuptial knot.

The bride was attired in a white messaline silk dress, trimmed with silk lace and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Nora Geidel, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, and Tillia Herber as bridesmaid. The groom was groomed in an embroidered voile dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by George Kibbel as best man, and Alfred Geidel as groomsmen.

Immediately after the ceremony, the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kibbel where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, only near relatives and friends being in attendance. The house was prettily decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper, and wedding bells.

The bride is a young lady, who has a large host of friends and is held in high esteem by all. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Geidel of Elmore. He is a young industrious farmer and is well liked by all who know him. After returning from a short honeymoon through the northern part of the state, the young couple will reside on the groom's farm three miles south-west of Campbellport. The STATESMAN extends to Mr. and Mrs. Geidel best wishes for a long and happy married life.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF CORN SHREDDER

Well Known Farmer of LeRoy Has Arm Taken Off

The corn shredding machine claimed another victim on Friday of last week, when Otto Bauer, aged twenty-seven, a prominent young farmer of the town of LeRoy, Dodge county, had his right arm caught in the knives of the machine, lacerating it so badly that amputation was necessary. The accident occurred at his farm near LeRoy. Bauer was helping the crew and was feeding the machine when his arm became caught in the roller, and the arm was drawn into the shredder. Physicians were immediately summoned, who found it necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow. He is recovering nicely at this writing.—Hartford Times.

BLINDNESS

According to excellent authority there are in this country more than 2,500 blind in the United States. Estimating that Wisconsin has a proportionate share of this number, it is no doubt that there are 2,500 blind in this state. A New York commission which investigated one thousand cases affirms that one-third of them were positively preventable. Undoubtedly a similar investigation in Wisconsin would arrive at the same conclusion.

One of the great causes of blindness is infection of the baby's eyes during birth. Leading oculists state that one-fourth of all blindness is due to this infection. Such blindness is absolutely preventable. Indeed, if the laws of the state are complied with, all cases of this nature in Wisconsin will henceforth be prevented.

The preventive measures are exceedingly simple, merely requiring the use of harmless eye drops immediately after the birth of the infant. To prevent any oversight which might be responsible for a loss of eye sight, parents should positively know that this precaution has been taken by the attendant.

The existence of 2,500 blind citizens constitutes a drag anchor upon public and family resources and prosperity. Public relief is almost inevitable. Modern competition is such that it is a healthy man's job to keep ahead of his creator. Few handicapped individuals can be expected to do so.

Blindness is incurable. The only hope is in prevention. To prevent the most of individual cases, each individual case must be prevented.

Business Philosophy

Mail Order Buying An Unfair Practice

An Injustice to the Buyer, His Neighbor and the Entire Community.

Copyrighted 1913 by National Business Publicity Association, Milwaukee.

By THOMAS J. SULLIVAN.

Mail Order Buying An Unfair Practice

Grown big and insolent, the mail order houses, with a disgusting display of bumptious presumption now "gratefully" profess to eliminate the necessity of the middleman, and thereby save to the consumer the extra commissions which are paid him, while in reality it is the local merchant which they are eliminating and gradually forcing out of business.

Pracy of mail order houses is as pronounced today as the savage, illegal, thieving trusts, and within a year, at the present stride—will have crushed to earth the smaller merchants, just as effectually as the Standard Oil Trust has killed off the small dealer, unless something is promptly done to curtail and retard its progress.

The man who buys goods of a mail order house and expects his neighbors to buy goods of him, or to buy labor of him, or to buy professional service of him, is economically a leech. He is sucking industrial blood out of his town and giving nothing in return. He sends his earnings or profits out of town like a Chinaman or a Dago, and has no more right or standing in the community than a foreigner of this type. All should be neighbors frugally in every town, but the man who sends his goods away is not of that spirit. He is another industrial system and deserves no man's respect or support.

The fact that their system of doing business is economically

wrong is recognized by the mail order houses themselves. They protect their customers as thieves by offering to keep the people from knowing where the mail order goods come from. The mail order houses have no tags on their goods.

They say in their catalogue that none of their goods are marked and that no one knows where they are bought. If it is proper to hide the place of purchase of an article it is wrong to buy the article at that place. Only the man who steals is ashamed to say where he got anything he has.

There are such things as "tainted" dry goods, "tainted" furniture and "tainted" groceries.

All of such that are not bought at home of men who befriend you, of men to whom you owe a living, are "tainted" because they come unfairly.

It is only on very rare occasions that the patrons of a mail order house ever get the worth of their money; when they buy from the picture in the catalogue. While on the other hand, the local retailer, if he understands his business and he usually does, buys his stock direct from the manufacturers and jobbers who have a reputation at stake and who supply goods of quality to their direct representatives—the retail merchants.

It is time to get together. It is time to begin to reform yourselves, and not your neighbors, by buying everything at home whether your neighbors do or not, and now is the time to begin.

The thing to do is to turn over a new leaf.

DEATH OF JOHN STROBEL

Former Resident of This Village Passed Away at the Home of His Daughter at Milwaukee Saturday

John Strobel, a well known former business man of good lineage, passed away at his daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Smith's home at Milwaukee Saturday morning at the age of 66 years. He had been ill for six months. He was born in Germany and came to Wisconsin when he was 12 years of age, settling in St. Francis of the town of Kewaskum on Nov. 12, 1868. A few years later he and his wife moved to Nabob, but they did not remain there long for they moved to this village where Mr. Strobel took possession of the Republican House, which business they conducted until about ten years ago. Twelve children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Strobel, eight of whom survive. Those living are: Mrs. J. J. Altenhofen, Mrs. Rudolph Wagner, Emma, Clara and Joseph of Milwaukee; Mrs. Frank Zwischka of West Bend; and Mrs. Jacob Schlosser and Mrs. George Brandt of this village. He also leaves to mourn his loss, fifteen grand-children, five brothers and three sisters. His wife preceded him in death on March 18, 1906.

Mr. Strobel was well liked here by his many friends. He held the responsible offices of assessor and treasurer of this village for several years and conducted the Republican House now under the management of Schaefer & Schultz for about 10 years. He lived in his home on South Fond du Lac Ave., now occupied by the Henry Martin family, until two years ago, when on account of his ailing health, he moved to Milwaukee to make his home there with his daughter.

The remains were brought to this village Monday afternoon, and taken to the home of George Brandt. On Tuesday, funeral services were held at the Holy Trinity Catholic church. Rev. Philip Vogt officiating. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

The bereaved members of the family and relatives, we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

CHARGING FRAUD

Auburn Woman Brings Suit Against Sister Claiming She was Led to Sign Deed

Claiming that she was fraudulently led to sign away a half interest in forty acres of land in Auburn for $10 when she thought she was simply signing an agreement to allow her sister and husband to work the place, Rosalia Smith began an action in circuit court this morning to have a quit claim deed set aside covering the farm in question. The defendant in the case is Hattie Baum, who with Mrs. Smith were heirs to the estate of their father, Guenther Rauch, a farmer of the town of Auburn. Mr. Rauch died four years ago, leaving a widow and the two children mentioned.

Mrs. Smith claims that on Feb. 24, 1899, she was summoned to the farm, where her sister, Hattie Baum, her husband and Mrs. Rauch lived. On reaching the place, she claims Mrs. Baum suggested that she and her husband be permitted by Mrs. Smith to remain upon the farm, improve it and sign their names along with supporting their mother, Mrs. Rauch, she was to have the profits of the place. All concerned, Mrs. Smith testified to, drove to Elmore where a pauper was drawn up by a justice of the peace. Mrs. Smith says this was the first time she had ever seen a legal paper, having had but three years' schooling. She thought it was simply to give her sister the right to take the profits of the farm. After her mother's death, Dec. 24, 1912, she learned that it was a quit claim deed that she signed.

Mrs. Baum claims that when she and her husband moved onto the farm, there was an $800 mortgage against it, which was wholly unimpaired. She says that there was fraud exercised in the matter.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth, Nov. 25, 1913.

Sale of Red Cross Seals Opened Friday

The first official action toward the 1913 Christmas Seal Campaign was taken in Milwaukee when the city School Board, which has voted unanimous approval of the work of education against tuberculosis conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association and the annual Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign. The School Board has by unanimous vote authorized the public schools to join in the campaign to sell the seals. With similar action taken in the Catholic parochial schools under the approval of Cardinals Gibbons and Parley, and Archbishop Messmer, this means that 70,000 children will engage in the 1913 sale.

The School Board did not stop, however, with this vote, but ordered a letter sent from the secretary's office to every principal urging the importance of the work. It is because of the educational effectiveness of the Christmas Seal Campaign that the School Board has thus authorized what might be construed as inconsistent with the rule of the School Board prohibiting soliciting through the schools for philanthropy or any other purpose.

"The Christmas Seal Sale not only offers a splendid chance to teach children social service, but it is the most impressive method of teaching them the vital importance of problem of disease," said one of the school directors who has been most interested in the war against the white plague. "Talks will be given to the children explaining the nature and extent of the disease, when they are distributed. The subject is not dropped after one talk, however, and forgotten, for the general advertising of the campaign as well as the participation of the children themselves serve to keep the interest alive, and to make the problem of tuberculosis one in which the children are interested as active workers to prevent the spread of the disease."

Barn is Destroyed

Last Tuesday morning, at about 6:30, fire broke out in the Frank Metz barn, located two and one half miles north of this village, destroying same. Dworschak and Schiltz of New Fane, threshers here, were at the barn and were ready to move away. While the clover huller out of the barn, the fire was discovered, but the flames spread rapidly and in a short while, the entire barn was ablaze. It was stated that within fifteen minutes, all the damage was done. Besides the barn and clover straw, a few seeders were burned. It is believed that the fire originated from sparks of the engine. The high wind of the day aided a great deal in preventing the extinguishing of the flames, those present being helpless, as nothing could be done. The barn is valued at $1,000 with some insurance. The clover huller was saved.

The farm and barn had just been leased by Ferdinand Schurr.

SISTERS IN COURT

County Board Completed Session at West Bend Last Saturday

The county board of supervisors, which was in session at West Bend since Nov. 11, adjourned last Saturday. This year's session ran along more smoothly than it ever did before and the board consisted of the most harmonious and progressive members than it did for a long while. A brief summary of the important doings of the county board is as follows:

Re-elected Anton Thielmann as superintendent of public property; re-elected George W. Jones as trustee of the county asylum; re-elected August Bernhagen as court house janitor.

Chairman Schellinger appointed Theo. Bernd as a member of the committee to purchase or rent road machinery for the county highway commission, in place of Thomas Hayes.

Ordered the superintendent of public property to install separate telephones in each office in the court house.

Authorized the purchase of new visible typewriters for the county clerk and county superintendent of schools.

Appropriated $600.00 to the Washington county agricultural society; $300.00 for a fund for the aid of dependent children; $200.00 for the county humane society.

Awarded the contract for the county printing to the Washington County Publishing Company at the price of $715.00. The proceedings of the county board will be published in supplement form in all papers of the county, for which the printers are to receive four cents a copy.

Fixed the salary of the county highway commissioner at $800.00 and expenses, and left the appointment of a county highway commissioner to the state highway commission.

Transferred $1890.80 received from the state treasurer as our share of the motor vehicle license fees into the county road machinery fund.

Fixed the mileage and per diem of the members of the county board at six cents per mile for acting travel and $4.00 per day. The work of the board not to exceed twenty days for each member in any one year.

The tax budget for 1913 shows an increase of $4,220.91 over that of 1912. The county tax is lower this year by approximately $18,000.00, while the state tax increased over sixty thousand dollars, or to be exact $60,089.87, over 1912, when it was $34,016.16, while this year it is $54,106.03. The decrease in county tax is due to the fact that last year the county bought the Gutchenritter farm and this is just about the amount that the county tax is lower than last year. But then the board this year appropriated $4000 to the county asylum and $3500 to the county poor home which sums are extra. The tax budget in detail follows:

NEW FANE.

Peter Schiltz and wife made a business trip to Sheboygan Friday.

The town board of Auburn will meet at John Kohn's place Dec. 2, 1913.

Mrs. Frank Kohn and children visited with John Kohn and wife last Friday.

Mrs. Steve Ketter and Mrs. Joe. Arnt left Monday for Canada to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Thill left Tuesday for Dakota to attend a wedding of a relative.

Mrs. Jac Schiltz and daughter spent a few days this week with John Janssen at Beechwood.

Paul Ritzlaff and Henry Naumann left Monday for Jackson to do some carpenter work there.

Mrs. Joe. Arnt and son Nick from Sackville visited with Steve Ketter and family Saturday and Sunday.

Maggie Schiltz left Sunday for Port Washington to be bridesmaid at the marriage of Anna Uelmen to Peter Paule, which took place Tuesday.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

Paul Yesso, a Hungarian, accidentally broke a large plate glass window in the Republican House at Hartford last week, when he threw a stone at another Hungarian but instead of hitting him, the stone landed on the window. The loss amounts to about $75.

John B. Mueller, a well known resident of St. Lawrence, died at his home last Friday at the age of 74 years. Death was caused by a complication of diseases. Deceased is a brother of County Treasurer Anton Mueller.

Miss Gladys Rayome and Alex Bruby, both of West Bend, were secretly married at Waukegan, Ill., on May 10th. Announcement of their marriage was made last week.

The pipe organ factory of B. Schaefer & Sons at Schleisgerville will be re-opened in the near future. The company has an order for a $2,000 organ for a church in Minnesota.

Mrs. Lena Chor, a former resident of the town of Kewaskum and Fillmore, died at her home at Rock Island, Kansas last Saturday from diabetes.

John Telle, a mason employee of Thorn Bros. of Hartford had three of his fingers smashed last week Friday, while working on the new addition to Heppes' store.

Lomia and Mrs. August Schuland of Lomira celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Schuland are both 73 years of age.

Miss Ida Kissel of Hartford has been appointed as an assistant in the office of the Secretary of State.

Mrs. Adolph Hahn of Hartford intends to leave this week for California, where she will spend the winter with her daughter.

Quarantine Rules

A general revision of the health rules relating to contagious diseases has been made by the state board of health, which will have the force of law. The new rules prohibit the attendance at school of children from homes where there is scarlet fever, meningitis or infantile paralysis. An old rule of the board has been amended to permit children from a home where whooping cough exists, rather than the one suffering from the disease, to attend school. It is the opinion of the board that the disease is rarely transmitted through a third person.

In all homes where infantile blindness, whooping cough or measles have occurred, the premises must be given a general cleaning by a disinfectant. Heretofore there has been a rule for the quarantine of patients suffering from meningitis. The rule has now been amended and made stronger by requiring the quarantine of the whole family for a period of fourteen days. Persons dead from meningitis must be buried within thirty-six hours and public persons are prohibited in case of deaths from infantile paralysis, meningitis, diphtheria, small pox, and scarlet fever. A further rule has been made prohibiting the bringing into the school of any library books, where persons are suffering from small pox, meningitis, diphtheria, typhoid fever, pulmonary tuberculosis and measles.

An old rule of the board, adopted in 1907, prohibited the attendance at the schools of children suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis. This rule has now been changed so as to permit such children to attend "open air" schools, several of which are about to be established in the state. For the most stringent rule to be adopted by the board provides that the "sale of milk or dairy products from a home where tuberculosis, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, small pox or diphtheria exists shall be prohibited, unless the persons so afflicted are entirely dissociated with the care of the products, the keeping and cleaning of the utensils, and the handling of stock or the sale of milk products." The board claiming that this drastic rule will prevent the spreading of many contagious diseases.

A Consumptive Cough

A cough that bothers you continually is one of the danger signals which warns of consumption. Dr. King's New Discovery stops the cough, loosens the chest, banishes fever and let you sleep peacefully. The first dose checks the symptoms and gives prompt relief. Mrs. A. F. Mertz of Glen Ellyn, Iowa, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery cured a stubborn cough after six weeks' doctoring failed to help." Try it, as it will do the same for you. Best medicine for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Money back if it fails. Price 50c and $1.00. All druggists, by mail.

News Notes of Wisconsin. Janesville.—That Rock county bids fair to be the banner corn county of the United States is evidenced by the results of one crop of seed corn grown on the farm of A. Austin, just east of the city.

Madison.—According to the new university director, there are 4,438 resident students, an increase over last year of 424. The college of letters and science leads with 2,502; agriculture is second with 968, and engineering third with 714.

Appleton.—Charles Smith of Neenah, head of the Menasha Woodmen company, went to Washington, D. C., to attend the wedding of Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the president, who was a member of Mr. Smith's class at Princeton university. President Wilson and Mr. Smith are intimate friends.

Fairfield, Neb., Nov. 25.—One child of C. Sibly was burned to death and another so badly that it will die, when the auto Mr. Sibly was driving skidded on a wet road, upset and caught fire.

Booth Brothers Meet. New York, Nov. 26.—After an estrangement of 17 years, Bramwell Booth and Hallington Booth shook hands at the luncheon guests of Rev. Alden L. Bennett, a mutual friend. The meeting was private.

Fruit Trees in Bloom Again. Belleville, Ill., Nov. 26.—Freeberg, a town seven miles from Belleville, reports that all of the fruit trees in that section are in bloom again. This is the second time they have bloomed this year.

THE KITCHEN CABINET WOULD you throw away a diamond because it pricked you? One good friend is not to be weighed against the jewels of the earth.

ECONOMICAL DISHES. Meats which are not tender enough to serve as steaks, chops or roasts are as nutritious as those which cost more money per pound.

Meat Loaf.—To each pound of chopped beef add two ounces of fat pork or suet; mix with a fourth of a cup of bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of salt, seasonings of herbs and a beaten egg.

SHAKE INTO YOUR SHOES Allen's Foot-Powder, the Antiseptic powder for Tired, Tender, swollen, nervous feet. Gives rest and comfort. Makes walking a delight. Sold everywhere. Do not accept any substitute. For FREE sample, address: Allen S. Gilman, Inc., 230 N. 4th St., St. Paul, Minn.

UNUSUAL DISHES. This is rather an unusual way of serving frankfurters. Boil six sausages fifteen minutes, cool and remove the skin and cut in small bits.

Almond Balls.—Found a half cup of blanched almonds a fine pulp. Beat two eggs well, season with salt, cayenne and a very little chopped parsley; then add the almonds and three-fourths of a cup of sifted flour and a teaspoonful of baking powder.

Chicken Souffle.—Mix together a tablespoonful of melted butter and one of flour stir in a pint of milk or cream, a little onion juice, chopped parsley and salt and pepper. When thick, add a cupful of chopped chicken and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Cool and add the beaten whites. Pour into a buttered dish and set in hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with mushroom sauce.

His Luck. "Sure, it's Mike, the boy, that's the lucky man." "How was he lucky?" "Why, mum, he got insured for $5,000, and the very next day he fell off the ladder, paintin', and broke his neck."

His Escape. Sister (at the piano)—Where is Herr Braun? Little Sister—Oh, I got up to open the door for Fido, and he slipped out at the same time.

CANADA WINS AGAIN

This Time at the International Soil Products in Oklahoma. Last year and the year before, and the year before that, the farm products of Western Canada carried off first premiums, championships and honours, together with medals and diplomas, feats that were likely to give a swelled head to any other people than those who had so much more behind.

At the Dry Farming Congress held at Lethbridge in 1912, Alberta and Saskatchewan, farmers carried off the principal prizes competing with the world. The most recent winnings of Canada have been made at Tulsa, Oklahoma, where seven of the eighteen sweepstakes rewards at the International Soil Products Exposition were taken by Canada in competition with eleven states.

His Escape. Sister (at the piano)—Where is Herr Braun? Little Sister—Oh, I got up to open the door for Fido, and he slipped out at the same time.

Its Value. "Don't you think a detective automobile corps would be a useful thing?" "In what way?" "It could so easily run people down."

THREE WOMEN TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Streator, Ill.—"I shall always praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound wherever I go. It has done me so much good at Change of Life, and it has also helped my daughter. It is one of the grandest medicines for women that can be bought. I shall try to induce others to try it."—Mrs. J. H. CAMPBELL, 206 N. Second St., W. S., Streator, Illinois.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"It was at the 'Change of Life' that I turned to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, using it as a tonic to build up my system, with beneficial results."—Mrs. SARA HAYWARD, 1825 W. Venango St., (Tioga) Phila., Pa.

San Francisco, Cal.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for many years whenever I would feel bad. I have gone through the Change of Life without any troubles and thank the Compound for it. I recommend it to young girls and to women of all ages."—Mrs. C. BARRE, 3032 25th St., San Francisco, Cal.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Army of Constipation

Is Growing Smaller Every Day. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are responsible—they not only give relief—they permanently cure Constipation. Millions use them for Biliousness, Sick Headache, Sallow Skin, Indigestion, and other ailments. SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature.

PATENTS

Sometimes a woman can flatter a man by telling him that she can't. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic, etc. A bottle for 25c.

Brocades and Furs Dominate Fashion

EVERYWHERE in fashionable apparel, brocades and furs are featured. Whether in coats or gowns or hats, one or the other (and often both together), tell of the love of luxurious clothing which seems to be palpable in women. Brocades and furs—in the parlance of the street—"talk money." They are rich and beautiful beyond all other materials. It will not be hard to picture to the mind the wrap shown here, with dark mottle-colored ground having deep Nattier blue in the pattern of foliage and flowers which covers it. The combination is quiet but very rich. There is almost no combination more elegant. Brocades for such coats are wide and they are expensive. One must expect them to cost from ten to twenty dollars a yard. They are more costly than plain velvet, but such triumphs of the weaver's art must bring a price commensurate with their superb beauty. Muffs and turbans are made of these rich fabrics, and trimmed with fur. They lend elegance to plain costumes without requiring a great outlay of money. Fabric muffs are draped and are larger than those of fur. It will be noticed that the material is draped in the seams of the coat pictured here and that the shoulder line (or the lack of shoulder line) preserved the vague outline of the figure which fashion delights in. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

BEST METHODS OF ARRANGING THE COIFFURE

If you have dark and glossy hair, show the same discriminating taste displayed by the beautiful brunette who is pictured here. Instead of striving for any of the fluffy or any of the severely plain styles in coiffures, select those which bespeak a rich abundance of shining hair. There is almost no wave in the hair dressed in this fashion. By it is carefully coiled, braided and pinned with many small pins into position. There are four coils overlapping across the back of the head, those at each side being first braided loosely. The ears are covered except at the lobes, and the hair is brought out only a little way on the cheek. A few short locks are just barely curled at the ends at the side and lie flat to the temples. This coiffure may be managed by any one having fairly thick hair, even if it is short. Brunettes are blessed with hair even in color, and the coils at the back are easily managed with short novelties which will match the natural hair exactly. It is not so easy for blonds to find a perfect match, as blond hair is generally somewhat streaked. In dressing this coiffure nearly all of the hair is combed back to form the coils. These require four strands, and they are parted off evenly. By waving the hair a little it is easier to make the coils full and light and gives the back of the coiffure a better finish also at the crown of the head.

Leather Accessories. Leather and suede are popular for many of the accessories of woman's dress. One sort of leather pelum fitted to the flare of the hips, and twelve or fourteen inches of the newest things is the wide hip belt—wide. These belts are fastened with ball and socket fastenings under little pearl buttons. They are lined with silk in self color. Giving Her a Hard Job. Mrs. Newrich (who has advertised for a pianist)—"So you are the music teacher that answered my advertisement?" Pianist—"Yes, mad'am." Mrs. Newrich—"Well, sit down and play a couple of duets, so that I can see what you can do."—Yonkers Statesman. Nothing in It. An advertiser calls his patent washing machine "The Ladies' Delight." Now, if there is anything about washing that delights the ladies, we should like to know what it is. They are any thing but delighted on a washing day.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

Keep the grit box full. Clean up the strawberry bed. Keep the fall pigs growing. Mature sows are best for breeding. The fall-chosen seed is likely to be the best. The cheapest way to get good cows is to raise them. A fertile soil is a big item in economical milk production. The eggs should be gathered daily and marketed twice a week. In packing apples for market the less handling they get the better. The question is not what kind of fences you have but how well they are kept. A pot or box of parsley, growing in a kitchen window, is both useful and ornamental. Strawberry plants should be covered to a depth of two inches with hay or old straw. The cause of white specks in butter, in most cases, is due from oversouring of the cream. Be sure the sheep barn has a tight roof, a dry floor and good ventilation with no drafts. Hang up a bunch of alfalfa where all the chickens can peck at it as much as they please. The poultry like fresh straw now and then just as well as the cow likes to be well bedded. The patient mule is not much for speed, but he keeps going, and usually arrives on time. Save money by having the old horses' teeth flattened so they can grind their feed. In selecting future dairy cows from heifers, see that the milking organs are well developed. Fertility can be built up faster upon the dairy farm than upon any other kind of a farm. Prune out limbs and twigs of apple trees infested with blight. Disinfect tools after each cut. The germ of seed corn lies in the tip of the kernel. Broad, well-filled tips indicate strong germs. Sell all old and poor ewes and start your breeding season with a good, vigorous, pure-bred stock. Time and care spent in the orchard is almost sure to pay for itself and a good rate of interest besides. All eggs should be tested by the seventh day, which often makes it possible to rest some of the hens. Don't keep a horse going after it begins to show signs of exhaustion. You will save him by resting a bit. Sweet clover may be sown just before it freezes up, but, on the whole, it gives better results to sow early in the spring. Do not forget that the fowls need green food. If a change of yards is not possible see that some is fed them daily. The clearing up and burning of the garden rubbish this fall will mean a less number of insects to fight next season. Breed for a purpose. This idea is being constantly brought to our attention among the different breeds of stock. A mule never seems to be really frightened at anything. When he runs away he does it through pure love of mischief. What is a farm? A piece of land does not make a farm. There must be fences, houses, stock, cultivation and a crop. Large ears of corn are not necessary to large yields. Maturity is essential to satisfactory crops. Don't go after too large ears. Docking lambs improves their general appearance and increases their market value, without retarding their growth to any extent. The well-bred draft horse is always in demand, and the farmer who breeds it constantly is the one who makes the most profit in horses. The spring chicken is one hatched not earlier than February nor later than May, and is of market weight at two or three pounds. Collect the eggs regularly at least once, better twice, a day in moderate weather and more frequently in very warm and very cold weather. A wash made up of washing soda and soft soap when applied to the trunks and limbs of trees will prevent lichen adhering to the trees. The dairyman who looks after the comfort of his cows will get the most out of them. He will lessen the cost of milk production, which is the same thing as increase in price. Milk heifers in their first lactation periods as long as they should be milked when mature, even if the milk glands do not pay for the time spent. It will pay in establishing the habit of persistency. To feed and develop a cow so that she will gradually increase her yield from year to year until she reaches the meridian of life, tends toward improvement and is what the breeder term constructive. To force her beyond her normal limit of performance is destructive.

What is Woman's Beauty but Health?

And the Basis of Her Health and Vigor Lies in the Careful Regulation of the Bowels.

MRS. C. S. VANCE

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels. The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected. An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly, among them Mrs. C. S. Vance, of 511 S. Ray St., New Castle, Pa. At times she had spells of indigestion so severe that she thought she would die. Syrup Pepsin regulated her stomach and bowels, and she attributes her excellent health today to this remedy. All the family can use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently. It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-remedy in America today and thousands of families are now never without it. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

ERUPTION SPREAD ON FACE

510 East Elm St., Streator, Ill.—"A running sore broke out above my right eye, which spread over my entire face. It started as a small pimple. I scratched it open and the contents of this small pimple ran down my face. Wherever this ran a new sore appeared. They itched and burned terribly; I couldn't touch my face it burned so. It disfigured my face terribly and I couldn't be seen for everyone was afraid of it. It looked like a disease of some kind; it was all red and a heavy white crust on it. Everybody kept out of my way, afraid it would spread. I lost rest at night and I couldn't bear to have anything touch my face, not even the pillow. I had to lie on the back of the head. I was always glad when morning came so I could get up. It was extremely painful. "At last I thought of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I commenced using them. It took three weeks to complete the cure." (Signed) Miss Caroline Miller, Apr. 30, 1913. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free with 32-p. Skin Book. CO-OPERATION IN DAIRY MARKETING

DEVELOPMENT OF PLAN CONSIDERED BY STATE BOARD OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

WOULD FIX HIGH STANDARD

Successful Methods of Farmers in Holland and Denmark to Be Urged as an Object Lesson.

Madison.—Development of a plan for co-operative marketing of dairy products was considered by the state board of public affairs at a meeting in the office of Gov. McGovern.

The aim is to devise a plan for the marketing of butter and cheese that will be an improvement upon the present system and the branding of products with a view to establishing a standard of excellence is a main idea.

During the summer Dr. Charles McCarthy and M. S. Dudgeon, representing the state board of public affairs, went to Europe and made a study of co-operative marketing, particularly in Denmark, Sweden, Holland and Ireland.

A co-operative plan, such as is in operation in Denmark and Holland and Ireland, modified to meet conditions in this country, may be established here at once.

The dairy and food commission has its standards of purity and butter scoring contests are held under the supervision of the university.

It would be an easy matter to establish a standard both for cheese and for butter and by the adoption of a brand for the various products a demand could be created for them that would result in the elimination of all profits arising between the farmer and the home where the product is to be consumed.

The Sheboygan county cheese manufacturers already have an organization and a system of inspection that is said to be very successful and advocates of the plan hold that the Sheboygan county idea should be enlarged and made to cover the whole state.

WEDDING OF MISS JESSIE WILSON AND FRANCIS B. SAYRE

Mr. and Mrs. Sayre and East Room in Which They Were Wedded.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second of President Wilson's three daughters, was married to Francis Bowes Sayre at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The ceremony took place in the east room of the White House, and was performed by Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., the president's former pastor and a close friend of the Wilson family for many years.

The entire affair was very simple, as had been requested by the bride, and the number of guests was rather small—distressingly so to many persons in official and social circles of Washington who had expected to receive invitations but were disappointed.

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, eldest of the three daughters, acted as maid of honor to her sister, and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the youngest, was one of the bridesmaids.

The three other bridesmaids were Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott of Princeton, daughter of Prof. William B. Scott; Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, Pa., daughter of Mrs. Wilson's cousin, Col. E. T. Brown, and Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, a college friend of the bride.

Dr. Grenfell is Best Man. Mr. Sayre was attended by his best man, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the famous medical missionary to the fishermen of the Labrador coast.

The ushers were Charles E. Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes of the Supreme court and a classmate of Mr. Sayre in the Harvard law school; Dr. Gilbert Horax of Montreal, N. J., who was a classmate at Williams college in 1909 and now at Johns Hopkins university; Benjamin Burton of New York city, and Dr. Scoville Clark of Salem, Mass., who was Mr. Sayre's companion in Labrador and Newfoundland.

Wedding Gown of Ivory Satin. The bride's gown was of satin, of a soft ivory tint, trimmed with beautiful lace, both old and rare. It was made in New York and the women connoisseurs declared that it was a masterpiece.

The lingerie in the trousseau is of the most dainty material and is all hand made. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were beautifully gowned and all looked their best.

Coming right in the midst of the chrysanthemum season, this was made a chrysanthemum wedding and that flower was used most profusely in adorning the White House. As the bride's favorite color is mauve, that was made the prevailing color in the decorations.

Depart on Their Honeymoon. After the ceremony was completed and the couple had received the congratulations of the guests, refreshments were served, and then Mr. and Mrs. Sayre departed for their honeymoon. Their plans include a visit to the home of Miss Nevin, Mr. Sayre's aunt, at Windsor Forge, near Churchtown, Pa., where they first met.

There was one disappointment for those who attended the wedding, for the gifts were not put on display. It is known that these included many beautiful and valuable articles sent by relatives and personal friends of the bride and groom and of their families and by admirers of President Wilson.

Handsome presents were sent by both the senate and the house, that of the latter being a diamond lavalliere which Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker, bought for the representatives in New York.

Those who were invited to witness the wedding were mostly personal friends and the number was kept down close to four hundred. The list was pared and revised several times, and as has been said, the operation resulted in many heartburnings.

Something About the Groom. Francis Bowes Sayre is twenty-eight years old, and was born at South Bethlehem, Pa., a son of the late Robert Heysam Sayre, who built the Lehigh Valley railroad and at one time was assistant to the president of the Bethlehem iron works since known as the Bethlehem steel works.

Francis Bowes Sayre graduated from Lawrenceville school, Lawrenceville, N. J. in 1904, and from Williams college in 1909. He entered Harvard law school and graduated "cum laude."

Mr. Sayre's mother is Mrs. Martha Enlay Sayre, daughter of the late William Nevin, who was president of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster, Pa. She is a descendant of Hugh Williamson of North Carolina, one of the framers of the Constitution of the United States, and is a sister of the late Robert Nevin, head of the American church at Rome, and a cousin of Ethelbert Nevin, the composer.

Other White House Weddings. The wedding of Jessie Wilson and Francis Sayre was the thirteenth to be solemnized in the White House. The first was that of Anna Todd, a niece of Dolly Madison's first husband, and John G. Jackson. Then Mrs. Madison's sister, Lucy, was married to Judge Todd of Kentucky. The third wedding, that of Maria Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, to Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur in 1820 marked the first social use of the east room.

Immense Wedding Cake. Jessie Wilson's wedding cake was a triumph of the pastry cook's art. It was two and a half feet tall, counting the white orchids that were placed on top of it, and weighed 135 pounds.

Gift of the House. This is the diamond lavalliere which was the wedding present of the house of representatives to Jessie Woodrow Wilson.

and trying to obtain through the windows a glimpse of the doings within. The police arrangements were admirable and nothing happened, in the White House or outside, to mar the happy occasion.

Trumped. "I wish I had never learned to play cards!" exclaimed a man who had been unfortunate at the game. "You mean you wish you had learned, don't you?" was his wife's sarcastic rejoinder.

Something Worth Seeing. A four-year-old youngster on his first visit to a city saw a ferryboat crossing the river. "Oh, mamma!" he exclaimed, much excited, "come and look! Here's a choo-choo car in swimming!"

Wealth Has Its Trials. In an apartment of 34 rooms and eight baths, such as has been leased by a New York man, the job of trying to remember where you left your pipe seems indeed a salient.

TOWN ELECTIONS CHANGED BY LAW

STATUTE ENACTED BY LAST LEGISLATURE EFFECTIVE AT SPRING VOTING.

CAUCUSES SHOULD BE HELD

Candidates for Office to Be Nominated Seven Days Prior to Day of Election, Provides Biechler Law—Printed Ballots Required.

Madison.—Residents of various towns of the country are looking forward with interest to the spring elections, the first to take place under the new Biechler law passed by the last state legislature.

The measure provides that the electors of town and village shall hold caucuses at least seven days prior to the date of the day of election. Candidates for office are to be nominated at caucus or by nomination papers signed by the electors of each town or village equal to number to 10 per cent of all the votes cast in such town or village for all candidates for governor at the last preceding election.

From the caucus records or official nomination papers the town or village clerk shall make up a printed ballot and the election shall be conducted under the Australian system. The names of the persons nominated at the caucus or by nomination papers, none other shall be placed on the official ballot. In case no nominations are made, the space in which names of candidates may be written shall be left blank.

Ballots not provided by the town or village clerk shall not be counted in any election, but any voter may write upon his ballot the name of any person for whom he desires to vote.

BOOSTS WISCONSIN LANDS

New Booklet Issued by Board of Immigration, Tells Advantages in State.

Madison.—A pamphlet telling of the agricultural advantages of northern Wisconsin has just been issued by the state board of immigration, under the title, "Making Good on New Soil."

The booklet was prepared by B. G. Packer, commissioner of immigration. "Wisconsin is a state of small farms," says the pamphlet. "And it is of added importance that present improvement is being accomplished by a large number of men who are developing comparatively small holdings."

Even a casual visit through the region will convince the reader of the significance of such growth. Here, as in the best European countries, the small farm is a positive revenue maker. Years ago we learned the advantage of a diversified agriculture.

Francis Bowes Sayre graduated from Lawrenceville school, Lawrenceville, N. J. in 1904, and from Williams college in 1909. He entered Harvard law school and graduated "cum laude."

Mr. Sayre's mother is Mrs. Martha Enlay Sayre, daughter of the late William Nevin, who was president of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster, Pa. BUY PUBLIC UTILITIES

THIRTEEN CITIES TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE 1907 STATUTE.

Aggregate of $2,404,900 Expended, Oshkosh Paying the Most, $525,000.

With the order of the railroad commission toward turning the property of the Beaver Dam Water company to the city of Beaver Dam at a valuation of $133,000, thirteen plants have been purchased by cities under the utility law since the law was enacted.

The thirteen cities have paid an aggregate of $2,404,900 for the plants. In 1907 the legislature passed a law permitting the utilities to take out indeterminate permits. This law permits the city take take over an existing utility at any time at a valuation to be fixed by the railroad commission.

The cities that have purchased plants since the law was enacted are:

Table with 2 columns: City, Price Fixed. Includes Ashland, Appleton, Eau Claire, etc.

At the present time the commission is valuing the Racine waterworks which has property of nearly $1,000,000; the Janesville waterworks and the electric plant of the Grand Rapids Electric company, with property worth about $75,000.

SUES SENATOR FOR $49,000

Rodney Sackett, Assistant in Management of Stephenson's Campaign, Ask for Pay.

Washington, D. C.—Rodney Sackett, formerly a clerk in the senate, and employed in a clerical capacity as an assistant of E. A. Edmonds in the management of Senator Stephenson's primary campaign, has brought suit against the senator for $49,000.

The claim is based on services rendered, covering a period of three years or more. Mr. Sackett sets forth that he was employed in the preparation of the senator's itemized campaign statement; that he settled various claims; that he was obliged to travel to Madison, Washington and New York; that his work continued until February, 1909; that further obligations were incurred on account of his aid to Mr. Stephenson in his contest for his seat in Washington, and before the Wisconsin legislature, this service covering more than two years, according to Sackett's complaint, and that he gathered the sentiment of individual senators on the case and reported to the senator.

Funeral Halts a Wedding. Stevens Point.—Instead of the ceremony that was to unite in marriage Miss Martha Demares of Dowsy and Leo Jach of Sharon, funeral services over the body of Conrad Demares, brother of the bride to be, were held at St. Mary's church. Preparations for the wedding had been practically completed, even the curing of the provisions for 300 guests, when news of the death of Conrad Demares was received from Park Falls, where he had been killed in a hunting accident.

May Confiscate Deer Hounds. Madison.—Dogs running deer may be confiscated by the state game warden's department. The attorney general gave this opinion to State Game Warden John A. Shotts. The deputy warden at Wausau confiscated two hounds which were being used by a party in hunting in Marathon county and the owner has taken out a writ of replevin for the recovery of the dogs.

Want Tax Commissioner Ousted. Madison.—A protest against the continuance in office of the present members of the Wisconsin tax commission, duly signed by all the members of the Langlade county board, was adopted to be forwarded to Gov. McGovern. It is virtually a petition to remove the commissioners and criticizes them for their method of compiling the assessment of Langlade county, which is called discriminatory.

Hits Military Suit Graft. Madison.—Commandant Wrightson has stated that hereafter freshmen will probably have to buy their military drill suits through the school, thus cutting off a lucrative side line of students who sold second hand uniforms.

Meets Death Under Train. Stevens Point.—Herbert Specker, 22 years old, was instantly killed when struck by a Soo line passenger train at Atwood.

Kick Schoolmate to Death. Cumberland.—While returning home from country school, six miles west of here, George Ladd, 13 years old, was kicked to death by schoolmates who engaged young Ladd in a fight.

La Crosse Girl a Suicide. La Crosse.—Mrs. Meta Grothoff, aged 17, daughter of Fred Schell, president of the board of public works, committed suicide by poisoning.

Must Raise $338,772.60. Green Bay.—A total of $338,772.60 must be raised in taxes in Brown county for 1913, as ordered by the Brown county board of supervisors in adopting the tax levy.

Cuts Clerk's Salary. Madison.—Because the last legislature passed a law empowering clerks of the courts to retain naturalized fees, the Dane county board has reduced the salary of the clerk from $2,000 to $1,800. The fees amount to from $200 to $500 per year.

Supervisors Raise Their Pay. Appleton.—The Outagamie county board voted its members an increase in pay of $1 a day. This makes the salary $4 per day.

High Price for Cabbage. Neenah.—Chicago buyers are paying $30 a ton for cabbage in this section of the state. When offered this price, farmers began hauling it to town instead of holding it until spring, as is generally done.

Fatal Crossing Accident. Chippewa Falls.—Gust Zillet, aged 50, was instantly killed and Henry Kretzfeldt, aged 45, was probably fatally injured at Ogdont, twelve miles from here, when their wagon was struck by a Sto engine.

Antigo Water Plant Appraised. Madison.—The city of Antigo must pay $128,860 for the plant of the Antigo Water company, according to a decision announced by the state railroad commission.

J. W. HICKS HEADS POTATO GROWERS

PRENTICE MAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION AT ANNUAL CONVENTION.

MANY EXHIBITS ARE SHOWN

Rhinelanders is Decorated for the Occasion, Most of the Stores Using Tubers for Farming of Signs—Attendance Large.

Rhinelanders.—The first annual convention of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association opened here with President John Hess presiding. John Swedberg, president of the common council, welcomed the visitors in the absence of Mayor H. C. Braeger.

J. W. Hicks, Prentice, was elected president; Anton Follstad, Iliho, vice president; Ben East, Eau Claire, treasurer, and J. G. Milward, Madison, secretary.

The attendance was large, men being here from all the middle states, from Colorado, Oregon, Washington, and a number of experts from the Wisconsin university.

Prof. J. G. Milward of the university was in charge of the exhibits. He arranged the various varieties in booths all around the great hall. There are all kinds of potatoes and many competitors for the prizes offered by the several counties.

Rhinelanders is decorated for the occasion, most of the stores having displays of potatoes made into signs. The hotels and restaurants arranged means to typify the occasion, potatoes being served in "57" ways.

PLAN BIG POULTRY EXHIBIT

Annual Show of the Wisconsin Association Will Be Held at Madison From Jan. 5 to 9.

Madison.—Preparations are being made to make the tenth annual show of the Wisconsin Poultry association, to be held in the stock pavilion at Madison on Jan. 5 to 9, 1914, the largest and most representative exhibition of farm and commercial poultry ever seen in the state.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the association, the purchase of twenty-five additional sections of cooping for the coming exhibition was authorized. This will give the exhibitors the use of 120 five pen sections of cooping, or accommodations for approximately 1,000 fowls.

As many of the exhibitors prefer to bring their own show coops it has been officially estimated that fully 1,500 birds will be on exhibition at this mid-winter show.

The members of the association and the poultrymen of the state, generally, have taken an unusual interest in the welfare of the university poultry plant, cooperating with James G. Halpin, poultryman of the college of agriculture, in its enlargement and improvement.

WOULD-BE MURDERER KILLED

Racine Resident Tries to Kill Kenosha Sweetheart and Falls Under Train in Escaping.

Racine.—Fleeing from the scene of the attempted murder of his sweetheart in Kenosha, Edward Friedrickson fell from a train in this city and was cut in two. Friedrickson attempted to take the life of Miss Emma Evens, who had twice refused his offer of marriage, by beating her on the head with a revolver. He fired one shot at the girl.

Only Jones

A Day-Before-Christmas Story in Three Parts

Part One

REV. ARTHUR MONTGOMERY SIMMS-SINCLAIR was suffering in the flesh and in the spirit. A cup of tea was in his right hand, a wreath of holly daunting from that wrist, and P. Wilmering DeLancey, standing at his left and interrupting his profound remarks to Miss Ursula Allen, made a combination to try his soul. The words, the glances, the smiles that he felt were meant for him were being coolly appropriated by P. Wilmering. Worse than that, P. Wilmering was able to sip his tea without allowing the holly to slide to his shoulder. Nor was the holly tickling the wrist of P. Wilmering as it was that of Rev. Simms-Sinclair. P. Wilmering acted as if he might have sipped tea with both hands cuffed behind him. Rev. Simms-Sinclair almost wished his rival were in that predicament, and about forty miles away at the same time. Now, Jones, who was patiently putting holly and evergreen about the woodwork and pictures—the three men had graciously come to help get things ready for the children's party—Jones, we say, was not bothering Rev. Simms-Sinclair. Jones was not bothering any one. In the main, it was Ursula Allen who bothered the reverend young gentleman. Women—young women—can bother the mind of man without intending so to do. Ask them. They will assure you they never have any such intention. That is exactly what Ursula Allen would have told you, but she would not have believed her own statement. For Ursula was a woman, and she believed herself to be attractive. This belief was shared by Rev. Simms-Sinclair and P. Wilmering and—but Jones didn't count.

"Ah," mused Rev. Simms-Sinclair, doing a Hermann the Great movement and capturing his cup before it jumped from the edge of the saucer. "Ah, what would Christmas be without the children?" His eyes took on a mellow look and he gazed tenderly at the two young people before him. "What would Christmas be without the children?" "Were you speaking to me?" asked Jones, after neither of the others had supplied Rev. Simms-Sinclair with a reply. "Er—ah—that is, my remark was purely a general one," explained the rector of St. Paul's. "Kind of an echo-answers-why proposition," said Delancey. "Or the children without Christmas?" asked Ursula, handing another bunch of evergreen to Jones. "One poor family down in Abbeville alley has sixteen children. Sixteen. Think of that!" "Fellow ought really to think of sixteen children in instalments," declared P. Wilmering, earnestly. "If I have to think of all of them at once I'd rather think of an orphan's home and be done with it."

Rev. Simms-Sinclair saw his opportunity to waltz himself into the wave of sympathy that was engulfing Ursula. It was one of those opportunities which Rev. Simms was continually looking for, and few of which escaped him when offered by P. Wilmering. "What can the father of those little ones do?" he inquired, with pathos in his voice. To hear him, one could conjure up pictures of a worn, weary man coming home in the gloomy twilight, disentangling himself from thirty-two arms and trying to answer sixteen simultaneous requests for a penny. "What can the father of those poor little ones do?" he repeated, at the same time giving Ursula a glance of yearning affection which that young lady might, or might not, interpret as being intended for herself or for the suffering father of sixteen children. "Write to Roosevelt," suggested Jones, who was standing on a chair and trying to harmonize a strand of cypress and holly berries with a rubric visage of good old Uncle Jethro Allen, who had fought, bled and died in the Mexican war—and lived to tell of it. "Of course Jones had no business butting in at such a time. He was there to assist only in the work of decoration, and not to umpire the love game of the Rev. Simms-Sinclair and P. Wilmering. Ursula dimpled. "I want everybody to be happy on Christmas day, and if there is anything I can do or say for them on Christmas eve, I am only too glad of it. And it is simply noble of you men to help so much in getting the house ready."

Jones, who was posing as one of the Laccoon group, with some ten yards of greens representing the entwining serpent, glanced at the tea cups and then laughed as well as a man may be expected to laugh when his hilarity is strained through a serrated row of tacks and teeth. Delancey walked down the room to study the effect of the decorations, and Simms-Sinclair drew nearer to Ursula, to say softly: "You were speaking of wanting this to be a happy Christmas for all, Miss Ursula. And that if there was anything you could say or do you would be only too glad. Now, there is one poor, lonely soul that you can cheer at this time. It is—"

Before he could finish, Delancey came back, and Rev. Simms-Sinclair is yet wondering whether he fractured a commandment by concluding his remark with a reference to a poverty-stricken parishioner of his who had been released from jail only to learn that his job had not been held for him during his stay in the cells. "Poor man!" Ursula sighed. "We must take a basket to his family. He has children, you say?" "Yes, that is fine of you—splendid. Ah, what would Christmas be without the—"

"Without the mistletoe," Delancey interrupted. "Simms-Sinclair, take a look at that wreath Jones has hung upon the brow of the bust of Grandpa Allen. As an arbiter of what is elegant and decorous in this community, doesn't it give the benign old gentleman rather a bacchanalian air?" "Such an idea!" Ursula gurgled, glancing at the bust.

While the rector was adjusting the wreath on Grandpa Allen, Delancey told Ursula that he had something to say to her when she had a moment to spare. "My goodness!" she said. "I don't know when I'm going to have a restful moment until after New Year's."

"But this will only take a minute. 'Shall I put the mistletoe on the chandelier or will you trust to luck?' Jones asked suddenly, from behind Delancey, and Delancey is quite sure he consigned Jones to a place where Christmas is entirely unknown. "I didn't know we had any mistletoe," Ursula pouted.

It is a wrong idea to tell girls about the mistletoe. Simms-Sinclair remarked, ponderously, "I may say, is a relic of an ancient pagan rite, and should be—"

"Those pagans had their faults," Delancey asserted; then with a feeble smile: "But they always stood up for their rites."

"A pun!" said Ursula, sarcastically. "Puns give me the creeps."

"Puns, I may say, have been characterized as the lowest order of wit."

supplemented Rev. Simms-Sinclair. It was but another one of the opportunities he was watching for and never overlooked, and for just an instant he felt he had scored heavily on Delancey. "But you can't tell what the pun was—and that's worse than making one," Delancey retorted. "Now, let's not quarrel over it," Ursula laughed. "I'm wondering what has become of Mr. McAdam. He promised to be here, too, to help."

"Not Jabez McAdam, the railroad organizer, or disorganizer, or whatever you call him?" Delancey asked. "Yes, and two or three others, and a lot of pretty girls. They are coming tonight to assist. I chose the prettiest ones I know, because you men must have beauty about you." "As far as I am concerned," Delancey vowed, "I stand with the old Prussian poet—what's his name?—the fellow that spiked his verses with capital letters and asked whether you got off the car at this corner or rode as far as the barns."

"What in the world are you talking about?" Ursula asked. "I mean the chap that wrote that thing to the lady and told her that as long as he had her and a cold bottle and a best-selling book the wilderness would be a furnished apartment with a kind-hearted janitor."

Simms-Sinclair gravely took a cup from the table and studied it before correcting P. Wilmering. He was sure P. Wilmering needed correcting because of the effect it would have on Ursula, and besides, triviality of such a kind-heered janitor."

Simms-Sinclair gravely took a cup from the table and studied it before correcting P. Wilmering. He was sure P. Wilmering needed correcting because of the effect it would have on Ursula, and besides, triviality of such a kind-heered janitor."

"Oh, I guess you can tell all right enough. All you got to do is find out isn't that right, Miss Ursula?" "Now, our work here is over for the present," Ursula evaded. "I must begin my round of Christmas visits. I have an amount of presents for my poor charges."

"And don't forget, Miss Ursula," begged Simms-Sinclair. "that you promised to look in on some of my worthy parishioners. There's the man who lost his position."

"Look here," McAdam remarked bluntly. "If I'd known Miss Ursula was going to run around and see each fellow's objects of charity, best if I wouldn't have had ten or fifteen men fired—for Christmas week, anyhow."

"But the cases I mention are real," Simms-Sinclair stated. "There's that man with the free silver ratio of children," Delancey suggested. "There are a goodly number of them," calmly continued the rector. "I have a wedding ceremony to perform at six o'clock and cannot devote the time I should like to the visits. When I took my degree at Oxford I promised myself that never should I be a minister of the gospel."

McAdam pulled from his pocket a hugely repellent roll of bills. The outer wrapper had a C on it, and the bundle was as thick as his wrist. He flipped the bills against the end of his thumb and said: "I'll be left out. I'll just tuck one of them shipplasters into each of Miss Ursula's baskets. That's me. I may be late getting into the game, but I'll make my ante good. I'll go along with you on this good Samaritan trip and scatter seeds of sunshine. Isn't that right, Miss Ursula?"

"What I'd like to know," Ursula remarked, "is which of you is going to play Santa Claus tonight?" "Which of us?" asked Simms-Sinclair. "A man of my cloth could hardly—I must beg of you to excuse me from such a task."

Now Simms-Sinclair could think rapidly when he had to, and just then he was swiftly reflecting that whoever enacted the role of Santa Claus would be kept from the side of Ursula the entire evening. Also, Wilmering, Delancey could think quickly. No Santa Claus for him. He knew what he wanted Santa Claus to give him, and he knew if he played Santa he would not get a chance to ask for it. "I haven't any conscientious scruples," he explained, "but I couldn't take the part of Santa Claus. I haven't the flesh. The spirit is willing but the flesh is missing. Simms-Sinclair is all right for the part. He's fat!"

"Sir!" from Simms-Sinclair. "He's fat, and good natured—some times—and he's fond of children. What would Christmas be without them, Simms-Sinclair?" "I'll be Santa," Jones offered. "Oh, you're the very man for the part!" Ursula beamed. "Couldn't get a better," agreed the rector. "Just what you should do," Delancey asserted.

"But where's Mr. McAdam?" Ursula asked, wondering. "He said he would come this afternoon, sure." "McAdam has his troubles," Delancey said. "He always impressed me as a very clever gentleman—mayhap a trifle crude, but then—"

"O, you just want to sue him for merging a lot of railroads and making a lot of money," Delancey explained. "In this country, if you don't make money some one will sue you, and as soon as you do make money they begin picking out the jury." "He will be here, though," Ursula declared, positively. "Mr. McAdam always keeps his promises. He does what he says he will do. He is one of those big, bold, aggressive men who conquer all obstacles."

his breath. Glad to have a friend at court. Wish you'd be on the bench if they ever serve those papers on me. Now, what's up here?" "We've been decorating for Christmas."

"Christmas?" "To be sure. Tomorrow, you know. This is Christmas Eve."

"You don't say! I've been so busy I haven't kept track of holidays—not even Fourth of July or Thanksgiving—except Sundays. Have to remember Sundays, don't we, Simms-Sinclair?" (He pronounced the rector's name as it was spelled.)

"Simms-Sinclair. If you please," said that gentleman, stiffly. It ruffled him to have any of his parishioners forget that he was not of the common run of Sinclairs, and to permit them to forget it might affect his standing as rector of St. Paul's.

"Sure! Have it your own way. But why don't you say it the way you spell it, or spell it the way you say it?" "It's the way we English pronounce it, and one naturally wishes to have his name pronounced as he—"

"Of course, my boy. Sure! Simms-Sinclair, then. How's that sound?" Delancey said, eyeing Ursula, but she was studying the holly over a picture. "Well, tastes differ. Some people may want to take Delancey for a name, and some may want to take McAdam. How about that, Jones?"

"You never can tell," Jones replied, brushing some holly leaves from his coat. "Oh, I guess you can tell all right enough. All you got to do is find out isn't that right, Miss Ursula?"

"Now, our work here is over for the present," Ursula evaded. "I must begin my round of Christmas visits. I have an amount of presents for my poor charges."

EXPECT VOTE FEB. 1

CURRENCY DEBATE TO LAST UNTIL SESSION'S END.

Money Bill is Made Unfinished Business—Owen and Hitchcock File Divergent Views.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The currency bill, with the amendments proposed by the divided senate banking and currency committee, was laid before the senate on Saturday. Debate on the measure began, but the final vote is not expected much before February 1.

The two factions of the committee, headed by Senator Owen and Senator Hitchcock, filed their divergent views on the administration measure and the bill as passed by the house was made the "unfinished business" of the senate. Senator Owen fired the opening gun in the debate for the administration forces. Senator Hitchcock will follow with an attack on the administration's proposals in a speech setting forth the position of his faction of the committee. From today until the end of the special session, a week off, senators will make set speeches discussing the currency reform problem.

JOHN H. MARBLE IS DEAD

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Succumbs Suddenly to Uræmic Poisoning.

Washington, Nov. 24.—John Hobart Marble, interstate commerce commissioner, died suddenly at his home here on Friday of uræmic poisoning. He is survived by a wife and nineteen-year-old daughter. Mr. Marble was attorney for the commission for several years. He was made secretary to the interstate commerce commission in February, 1912, and was confirmed as a member of the commission March 10, 1913. He was born at Ashland, Neb., February 26, 1869.

FOOD TRUST WAR ON

M'REYNOLDS ORDERS COUNTRY-WIDE INVESTIGATION OF COLD-STORAGE COMBINE.

PROSECUTION TO FOLLOW

Attorney General Points to Cost of Eggs and Attempt of Dealers to Ward Off Inquiry by Slashing Prices—Bills Ready in Congress.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The administration's first attack on the food trust was taken on Monday when Attorney General McReynolds issued orders for a countrywide investigation of the cold-storage combine which is believed to be responsible for the present high price of eggs.

In addition, several bills are before congress, and early action regulating the cold-storage combine is expected. The investigation ordered by Attorney General McReynolds will extend into every judicial district where there are federal officials. They are to get complete figures and all the other evidence obtainable bearing on the charge that cold-storage men are withholding eggs and other food products from the market in an effort to raise and sustain prices.

The investigators will report on the number of eggs in storage, the price at which they went in storage, the length of time stored, and the price at which they were sold when taken out. They will ascertain also approximately the number of eggs produced in their respective districts.

"I want to know the inside of this thing," said the attorney general. He is already in possession of information showing some attempts on the part of the cold-storage houses to corner the egg and vegetable supply in their communities. As showing that the cold-storage people admit they have plenty to fear, it was stated at the department of justice that some dealers had dropped egg prices in the hope that the investigation might be averted.

If the investigation of the department sustains the evidence already brought to the attention of the attorney general he will bring prosecutions both under the pure-food law and the anti-trust act. Dealers selling eggs out of storage for fresh eggs can be reached under the pure-food act for alleged misbranding.

"There is no doubt that the cold storage of eggs is responsible for their high prices," said Senator Bristow. "The eggs which we are now eating at 45 and 50 cents a dozen were bought for 18 and 20 cents by the cold-storage warehouses. The tariff law has proved a fake, so far as eggs are concerned. The cold-storage houses may be able to buy eggs a few cents cheaper per dozen because of the tariff reduction, but I don't see that the consumers are getting them any cheaper."

There are three members of congress who have been particularly active in trying to get the government to regulate the cold-storage combine. These are Congressman McKellar of Tennessee, Carry of Wisconsin, and Vard of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McKellar's remedy is a bill which would prohibit the holding of food products in cold storage for a period longer than ninety days. The Carry bill would regulate the interstate shipment of cold-storage products and would require conspicuous labeling to show the time of storage.

SEND $1,000,000 TO END RUN

Washington, Nov. 25.—Huge motor trucks carried $1,000,000 in bills of small denomination from the treasury to the branches of the United States Trust company in expectation of further demands from depositors.

ROAD'S FAILURE TOLD

COMMERCE BODY QUIZ STORY OF FRISCO TO CONGRESS.

Report Will Show That $32,000,000 Was Paid to Bankers and Others in Commissions.

St. Louis, Nov. 24.—The cause of the Frisco failure, revealed by the interstate commerce commission's four days' inquiry in St. Louis, shall be laid before congress in December. It will be shown in the official report that the railroad was forced to the wall because:

1. It was compelled to carry and pay interest on a fictitious indebtedness of $40,000,000 created by enormous commissions paid to bankers and brokers for the sale of its securities, and profits to promoters of feeder lines in the southwest.

2. The chairman of its board of directors and controlling factor in its management, B. F. Yoakum, made profits for himself and associates by trading with himself in the capacity of promoter and builder of Texas roads which he caused to be sold to the Frisco at big prices.

The report of the commission to congress will show that approximately $22,000,000 figuring in the Frisco total funded indebtedness of $24,000,000 was paid to bankers and brokers in commissions and more than $7,000,000 to Yoakum and his associates as profits on their feeder lines. The average rate of commission to brokers and bankers was 12.5 per cent, while the profits to Yoakum and his associates in the promotion of the feeder lines sold to the Frisco ranged from ten per cent to more than 100 per cent.

TWO U. S. AVIATORS SLAIN

Young Army Officers Lose Control of Aeroplane at San Diego, Cal.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 26.—Two more fatalities were added to the long list of deaths that has attended the introduction of the flying machine, Lieutenants Kelly and Ellington, of the United States army aviation camp being dashed to death.

The two young officers, who had spent the night at the aviation camp, were astray early on Monday eager for their flight in which they expected to perform some sensational feats. The two men were in one machine. They ascended some time after half past seven and had been in the air something more than twenty minutes when the accident occurred. While the officers were at a height of 80 feet, their brother officers who had been watching the flight suddenly saw that the officers had lost control of their machine.

WRIT FOR F. PINNEY EARLE

Artist Expected to Arrive at New York Today Charged With Kidnaping Son.

New York, Nov. 25.—Henry Wellington Wack, attorney for Mrs. Marie Emma Fishbacher Earle, first wife of F. Pinney Earle, the rich artist, obtained a writ of habeas corpus from Supreme Court Justice Clegg, calling upon Earle to produce Harold Earle, eight years of age, in the supreme court. Earle is expected to arrive in New York today. Attorneys will be present at the pier to serve a copy of the writ. He is charged with kidnaping the boy.

CHILDREN'S SAINT IN JAPAN

Jizo-Bosatsu Is Believed to Protect the Souls of the Dead Little Ones.

Among the Buddhists in Japan it is believed that the souls of children go after death to Sui-no-kawara (the stone river-bed) and there they remain until they reach maturity under the care of Jizo-bosatsu, who is represented as a priest with a long cane in one hand and a ball in the other.

He is said to stand in the center of the kawah, where he preaches to the children as they pile up stones, one for the salvation of their father, one for the mother, the third for brothers, and the fourth for sisters and the fifth for their own salvation.

When the night comes on and the wind blows hard a gigantic evil spirit appears and with a huge iron rod knocks down the heaps of stones the children have made, and they are so frightened that they run to Jizo and hide themselves in the big sleeves of his kimono, which have a miraculous way of increasing in size, according to the number of children who seek refuge. Then the evil spirit disappears, and the children begin again the work of heaping up the stones.

Passing through cemeteries in Japan one sees tombs that have the image of Jizo carved upon them, and as the parents take this way of gaining the special favor of Jizo for their children, and one will see little piles of stones built up by the parents and brothers and sisters of the children with the hope of helping in the tedious work of the little ones in the kawah.

WHY HE CRIED

Old Lady—What's the matter with the little boy? Elder Brother—Oh, he's crying 'cos I'm eating my Christmas cake and won't give him any. Old Lady—Is his own cake finished, then? Elder Brother—Yes, an' he's crier while I was eating that, too.
