OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

STATE AID IN LOANS TO FARMERS

The legislature of 1913 passed the law known as Chapter 666, the so-called land mortgage association act. This act is designed to provide money for the land owner for long periods of time at reasonable rates of interest with the installment payment privileges. Since the legislature adjourned the State Board of Public Affairs and the commissioner of banking have worked out the constitution and by-laws to be adopted by an association formed under this act.

The plan is a simple one says the Wisconsin Agriculturist. Fifteen or more persons may incorporate with a capital stock of not less than $10,000 and adopt by-laws prepared by the State Board of Public Affairs. The funds of the association are loaned on first mortgage security and when these securities are deposited with the state treasurer, the association may issue bonds to an amount equal to the securities deposited. The bonds issued are sold and in this manner additional funds are provided. When the association sells the bond issue it has again in its treasury as much money as when it started.

The affairs of the association are managed by a board of trustees consisting of seven members. In addition to this board, a committee on loans and an auditing committee are required. The committee on loans acts upon all applications for loans and recommends the same only after a thorough investigation and after satisfying itself that the loan will benefit the borrower. The auditing committee must audit the accounts of the association every three months or oftener.

The feature of the constitution and by-laws is the inclusion of a provision for loan forms included therein. This form requires a detailed description of the applicant, his property and affairs—and a statement as to what the money is to be used for. It also requires the signature of every officer or person required to pass upon any matter connected with the making of the loan. The object is to make sure that the person is responsible in each case.

The commissioner of banking under the act and constitution of by-laws has control and supervision over all associations formed in this state, which is as great or greater than that exercised over state banks.

The first association to organize in this state under this law is located in Eau Claire and will operate mainly in Rusk County. In all probability this is the first organization of this kind organized in the United States. It is composed of Eau Claire bankers and business men, and is known as the First Wisconsin Land Mortgage Association.

WISCONSIN A CORN STATE

Notwithstanding an inclination not to include Wisconsin among the states constituting the corn belt, the fact remains that this state stands so well among the large producers of corn that it properly belongs, not only in the corn belt, but among the leading states. During the ten year period ending with 1910, Wisconsin stood fifth among the states producing 25,000,000 bushels per year. The states that had a higher yield per acre than Wisconsin were from one to two and four-tenths bushels a margin that would not make up for the difference in the cost of land.

Since 1910 the state has stood well and this year leads them all. There is no doubt that in the future Wisconsin will be a contender for the highest rank.

In recent years there has been much in the papers about the results of the corn contests in the south, but there these contests have been conducted with an expense amounting to extravagance. In Wisconsin yields materially above 100 bushels per acre have been achieved by boys who used only good seed and culture. This is the proper practice. It is unnecessary to make an extravagant use of commercial fertilizer in Wisconsin.

PROTEST EARLY STATE FAIR DATE

Many of the northern counties of the state are protesting against the proposed early date for the state fair. This is for the reason that crops will not mature enough to make the desired showing. This applies not only to the northern counties, but to the whole state. State fairs are held in most states at such an early date as to preclude the exhibiting of mature farm products.

The northern counties are taking hold of the state fair in a manner that warrants consideration. They are planning to extend their co-operation, and are much displeased with the proposal of an earlier date.

WISCONSIN AGAIN TO LEAD THE NATION

Christmas Seal Money Spent to Permanently Eradicate Disease

"Wisconsin gives promise of again standing first in the Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign" is the statement of Otto F. Bradley, campaign manager of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. "The returns are complete enough at the present time, however, to warrant an estimate of what the total sale will be.

The money from the Red Cross Seal campaign is to be used in a campaign for the permanent eradication of preventable disease, primarily among children. Organized relief is the policy of the association. It does not give money to individual sufferers. Success is on the face of it would be folly. The $16,000 netted last year from seals, if distributed among the 24,000 living cases of tuberculosis in Wisconsin would mean little more than a half dollar per case per year without counting the cost of attempting to administer such a fund for the whole state of Wisconsin efficiently and with justice which would be impossible.

The association by securing the establishment of visiting nurses sanatoria has procured care for far more patients than it could have by spending its limited means on the patients directly. Furthermore, its work is permanent, and will be self-perpetuating. In addition, the education of the general public has been even more important.

Two facts should not be overlooked. First, during the past five years the death rate from tuberculosis in Wisconsin has decreased six times as fast as the total death rate. Second, Wisconsin now has the third lowest death rate of all the forty-eight states in the Union."

Burglars Trial Next Monday

U. S. Deputy Marshall William Rankel of Milwaukee was in this village on Wednesday to subpoena the witnesses in the trial against the four alleged yegmen, who attempted to burglarize the post office in this village during the night of July 8, 1913. The trial has been set for next Monday, January 19, in the United States District court at Milwaukee. The four men accused are William Houlihan, William Burns, Daniel Murphy and James Moore. It is also thought that these men are implicated in the Horton post office robbery, which occurred a few weeks previous to the local attempt.

The four in making their getaway from this village, stole a team of horses and a rig belonging to the firm of Grell & Wollensak, driving to Fond du Lac, where the team and rig were found the next morning. It is supposed that they boarded the Line train at Fond du Lac and went direct to Chicago, where, before entering the city, Post Office Inspectors having a clue, arrested them. The witnesses subpoenaed from the village are: Marshall Brandt, Arthur Koch, Erwin Koch, Edw. C. Miller, August Bilgo, Joseph Oppenhor, William Brandstetter, William Hess, Alex Klug, Roland Backhaus, S. Wollensak and A. P. Schachbacher.

40 Per Cent Dividend Paid

The annual meeting of the Orchard Grove Co-operative cheese and butter Co., of Farmington was held on Jan. 2, and the following officers were elected: President—Bruce Wescott; Vice President—John Gifford; Secretary—John Handke; Treasurer—Math Thull; Directors—Henry Schacht, John Thull, Chas. Johnson, P. Schladewell, and August Degner. Manager—Mich Thelen. The company was organized about two and one half years ago and has been doing a very good business since. The fact that the company has paid in dividends since its organization 40 per cent.

Woman's Club Gives Supper

The Woman's Club of this village gave an oyster supper to its members and families in the Good Templar's hall last Wednesday evening. The date was the first anniversary of the organization of the Woman's Club and the women certainly did entertain royally for the occasion. A sumptuous oyster supper was served about 6:30 to about forty people. After supper was over with, card playing took place and a prize cinch party was held. The victorious people in winning the prizes were: A. L. Rosenheimer, gent's 1st. prize; and Mrs. A. L. Simon, 1st lady's prize.

The New School Board Law

Some people have somehow got the idea that the new law providing for a county board of education is to do away with district consisting of five members, which will be elected at the spring election. They will not take place of any officer now existing. All the school boards will have the same duties and privileges as they now have. These five new county officers will be elected by the county at large, excepting the cities which have city superintendents, and any voter on school matters is eligible to the office.

Colvin, 1st Assistant—B. H. Rosenheimer, 2nd Assistant—S. C. Wollensak, Treasurer—Fred H. Buss, Secretary—Val H. Buss.

ANNUAL MEETING OF INSURANCE COMPANY

Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Company Hold Annual Meeting on Thursday Morning. Report Shows That the Company Had a Good Year.

The annual meeting of the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Co., was held in the company's office above the new bank building on Thursday morning. Secretary Joseph Schmidt, shows that on Dec. 31, 1913, the assets of the company were $22,713.55 and that 4634 risks were in force. The losses paid during the year amounted to $9,783.93, including $2995.22 for losses occurring in previous year.

After all reports were read the election of directors, whose terms expired, took place. The three elected were to succeed themselves namely: John Brunner, N. J. Mertes and A. W. Koch, the latter for the unexpired term of his father.

In the evening the board of directors met and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President—A. L. Rosenheimer, Vice-President—N. J. Mertes, Secretary—Joseph Schmidt, Treasurer—L. P. Rosenheimer, Approving Committee—A. L. Rosenheimer, N. J. Mertes and Joseph Schmidt.

The showing made by the Kewaskum Co. last year was a remarkable one. Although not as much insurance was written, the company was very careful in taking risks and their losses showed a big decrease. The Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Co. has a record and has always paid its losses promptly. The rates charged are low in comparison to the Old Line companies and it has saved its members thousands of dollars in premiums during the year. The report of Secretary Schmidt:

LOCAL HIGHS DEFEAT HARTFORD

Defeated Hartford Last Friday Evening in a Close Game. Score 19 to 14

The Hartford High School Basketball team journeyed to this village last Friday evening and to their sorrow, they were defeated by the local high school team by a score of 19 to 14.

As can be seen by the score, the game was very hotly contested and not until the final blow of the whistle was the game firmly settled. The score at the end of first half was 11 to 4 in favor of the home team. Hartford, however, went in strong in the second half and was determined to win from our boys. They made a goal attempt at scored 10 points against 8 for our boys. For a while it looked blue for the home team, for about five minutes before the end of the game, the score was 15 to 14. Our boys then made two baskets, giving them a goal to lead by 19 to 14. The Hartford boys worked hard, but it availed them nothing, for they had to journey back to Hartford with defeat with them.

The game was not as interesting as it might have been, for the numerous fouls that were called on both teams, made the game slow. The last ten minutes of play were very good and the real basketball spirit was shown. Following is the lineup of last Friday's game:

Kewaskum	Hartford
H. Brandt	F. Seitz
E. Mohme	F. Weinshein
E. Romaine	C. Jeffords
A. Schaefer	H. Hayes
A. Schoofs	G. Walterbach
W. Schaefer	Sub Klurk
Field Baskets, Brandt 1; Mohme 2; Romaine, 4; Schaefer, 1; Seitz, 4; Weinshein, 1. Free Throws, Brandt, 1; Romaine, 2; Seitz, 4.

NOTES

Oh you Hartford Referee. Schools played a very good game as guard.

Romaine for the locals made ten of the local points. Seitz made twelve of Hartford's points. Not so bad. West Bend last night, Friday. Dance followed the game.

The crowd was a very small one. Why not give the local boys your patronage. They have a good team and deserve good crowds.

Manager Brandt has a good team now and with a continuance of their regular practices, ought to hold their own against most of the teams.

Expenditures and Appropriations

The following figures have been compiled from the official records of Wisconsin and show the expenditures and appropriations for the two year period for the years 1914 and 1915.

Using the federal census of 1910 as a basis and figuring the ratio of increase upon the basis, the total population of Wisconsin does not exceed 2,473,314. Subtracting the infant or non adult population the present adult population of the state is 1,399,047. The total male adult population is 699,524. The total expenses of the state government in Wisconsin will be in excess of $31,554,940 for the two years 1914-15.

Divided on the basis of per capita population, the cost of government are as follows:

For each man, woman and child in the state this means an annual tax of $6.50. For each adult man and woman it means an annual tax of $11.37. For each child under 16 years of age it means an annual tax of $22.30.

The cost of commissions in Wisconsin in relation to the total expense of government, is considerable. The appropriations are made for a period of two years and the following figures show what some of the commissions are costing:

Highway Commission	$3,140,000
Industrial Commission	240,000
Tax Commission	397,000
Railroad Commission	360,000
Dairy & Food Commission	167,000
Fisheries Commission	118,000

Adding the cost of the Board of Public Affairs as a proper charge against the executive department the expenses of the executive department are as follows:

Executive Department	$ 57,000
Board of Public Affairs	120,000
Attorney General's Office	63,000
Secretary of State's Office	219,686
State Treasurer's Office	48,000
Supreme Court	126,924
Supt. of Public Property	323,220
Fish and Game Commission	255,500

The appropriations for the University of Wisconsin are $4,919,179. In many cases, the appropriations are not for specific amounts but carry "sufficient amounts" for stated purposes and in such cases, the amount given are taken from the expenditures of the previous year for like purposes.

The appropriations for the state of Wisconsin for the years 1914-15, together with expenditure may be summarized as follows:
University of Wis.	$4,919,179.00
Normal Schools	2,644,006.00
Other Educational Activities	6,611,724.31
Penal and Charitable Institutions	5,394,572.27
Health	633,150.00
Highways	3,822,500.00
Parks	12,300.00
Governmental	7,283,982.43
Aid Associations	117,750.00
Refunds	11,965.58
Incidental	103,360.00
Total	$31,554,940.59

Val. Peters is Elected President and B. H. Rosenbrimer Secretary. Other Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

At the annual meeting of the Kewaskum Advancement Association held last week Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Val. Peters, to succeed John P. Klassen. Vice-President—S. C. Wollensak re-elected. Secretary—Byron Rosenheimer to succeed Geo. H. Schmidt.

Treasurer—John Marx, re-elected. Board of Directors—H. Krahn, Arthur Koch, Edw. C. Miller, Dr. Wm. N. Klumb and Chas. Groeschel, the latter two being new members taking the places of John Klassen and Geo. H. Schmidt.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $420 in the treasury.

Wisconsin Civil Service Examination

Examination for DEPUTY OIL INSPECTOR for District No. 31, comprising towns of Farmington, Kewaskum, Barton, Wayne, West Bend, Trenton and Jackson in this county; also towns of Lomira and Theresa in Dodge county; also all of Fond du Lac county, excepting towns of Rosendale, Ripon, Metomen, Alto and Waupun, will be held at the court house in Fond du Lac on Saturday, Feb. 14, 1914, at 8 A. M.

The examination is open only to men residing in this district and who are over 21 years of age. Preferred ages 25 to 50 years. The appointee must consent to reside at a point easily accessible to places where oil is to be inspected. Appointee will be required to give bond. No inspector shall, during his term of office, traffic, directly or indirectly, in any oil used for illuminating or heating purposes or be interested in any manner whatever in the manufacture, refining or sale of such oil.

The appointee will not be required to devote his entire time to the work but his business must be such as to permit him to leave it at any time to attend to the duties of the position, which include the enforcement of the red cap law as well as the usual inspection.

The compensation consists of fees and amounts approximately to $1200 per annum. Men interested should write to the Wisconsin Civil Service Commission at Madison for application blanks and copies of the oil inspection law.

KOHLVILLE

Alvin Rosenthal of West Bend visited relatives here last Sunday. The Kohlville Volunteer Fire Co. held their annual meeting on Saturday evening. The secretary read his annual report which shows that the company now has forty-six active members and two honorary members, the latter being Andrew Endlich, Jr. and Jac. Endlich. The financial condition of the company is O. K., which in a great extent is due to our two honorary members who donated fifty dollars to our department.

Besides the ordinary business the following officers were elected: Chief, Ph. Schellinger; first ass't. chief, Chas. Sell; second ass't. chief, Ph. V. Illian; secretary, Adam Kohl; treasurer, Henry L. Kohl; chief of fire, Fred Busch and Jac. Meinhardt; janitor, John Schellinger.

A New Order

County Judge Paul T. Krez has entered an order that will reduce the time for settling estates in the County Court by at least two months. Commencing with the first of the new year, the time for hearing on claims will be shortened, making the time limit for filing claims four months, instead of six months as heretofore. This action by the Judge will be generally appreciated by the public and also by the attorneys as it will enable those interested to settle up the affairs two months earlier than heretofore. The action of Judge Krez was made possible by a bill enacted by the legislature, at Plymouth Reporter.

Schutz Confirmed as Postmaster

At a session of the senate last Monday evening at Washington D. C., the nomination of Frank H. Schutz, democrat, as postmaster of the city of Milwaukee in place of David C. Owen, removed, was confirmed. It is now expected that Mr. Schutz will commence his new duties about February 1st.

One charge upon which the postmaster general removed Owen is failure to comply with the postmaster general's requirement of presidential postmasters in the matter of daily time and personal attention to official duties. Another charge was that Postmaster Owen sold large quantities of stamps in the Milwaukee office for use elsewhere in violation of regulations.

Given Chicken Supper

Mich Johannes Jr., who resides about two miles from this village, entertained a number of gentlemen friends from this village last Sunday evening at his home. The party consisted of seven and they went to "Mike's" place in Brunner's auto. They left late in the afternoon and about six o'clock, a delicious supper was served. They returned about 8:30 in the evening. The party consisted of the following: John Brunner, Don Harbeck, Frank Heppie, Fred Buss, Peter Mies, John Witzig and B. H. Rosenheimer.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

At a sale at Beaver Dam on Saturday, Feb. 14, of the assets of the Beaver Dam Malleable Iron company, the assets of the bankrupt concern were disposed of to the General Realization company of Milwaukee for approximately $185,000. The sale is confirmation of a bankruptcy court at Milwaukee. The plant, one of the largest in the state, has been operated for fifteen years, and since the bankruptcy proceedings were instituted it has been kept running under direction of a receiver, Jesse C. Bradley, president of the General Realization company, said that the property was purchased as an investment and that future operation will depend upon market conditions. The sale has been confirmed by the Referee in Bankruptcy.—Hartford Times.

Carp fishing in Beaver Dam Lake has been attracting considerable attention recently. A company consisting of Louis Lange, Joseph Gallitz and Clement Neuman has been making some big hauls lately by operating under the ice. Sunday in one catch a twenty one hour haul taken and in the past few days the total catch of this company exceeds sixty tons. Several other companies of fishermen have been operating on the lake but the above company has been about the only one to get into the big winnings.—Horicon Reporter.

A woven belt purse which was used eighty years ago by Mr. James Newham, of Oconomowoc, when he was a sailor on the Mediterranean Sea, was recently given to the State Historical museum at Madison by Miss Newham, his daughter, now living in Oconomowoc. The belt was made and used by Mr. Newham while he was in the British navy serving on Her Majesty's Ship Acticon, in the years 1830 to 1834. Mr. Newham later came to Oconomowoc and lived there until his death.—Hartford Times.

GOING SOME A ROMANCE OF STRENUOUS AFFECTION BY REX BEACH SUGGESTED BY THE PLAY BY REX BEACH AND PAUL ARMSTRONG Illustrated by Edgar Bert Smith

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized photograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A horse party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale and Columbia University, inter-collegiate champion runner, is expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, becomes interested in the loss of the photograph. She suggests to Jean Chaplin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the photograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake and Speed who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede men. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally to compete. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. (To be continued.)

Carara returned the knife to its hiding-place, swept the floor gracefully with his sombrero, then placing the spangled headpiece at an exact angle upon his raven locks, lounged out, his silver spurs tinkling in the silence. Glass took a deep breath. "He doesn't mean to kill you—just cut you," said Speed. "I got it," declared the other, fervently. Again he laid depressing hands upon his bulging front and looked down at it tenderly. "They've got it in for my pad, haven't they?" "I told you to keep away from that girl."

"Humph!" Glass spoke with soulful conviction. "Take it from me, Bo. I'll walk around her as if she was a lake. Who'd ever think that chorus-man was a killer?" "Surely you don't care for her seriously?" "Not now. I love my Cuban, but—no quivered apprehensively—" "I'll bet that mummy packs a whiff in every pocket."

From outside the back-house came the low, musical notes of a quail, and Glass puckered his lips to answer, then grew pale. "That's her," he declared, in a panic. "I've got a date with her." "Are you going to keep it?" "Not for a nose-bag full of gold nuggets. Take a look, Wally, and see what she's doing." Speed did as directed. "She's waiting."

"Let her wait," breathed the trainer. "Here comes Stover and Willie." More bad news. Glass unrolled his prayer-rug, and stepped upon it hastily. "Say, what's that word? Quick! You know! The password. Quick!" "Allah!" "That's her!" The fat man began to mumble thickly. It was plain that his spirit was utterly broken. But this call was prompted purely by solicitude, it seemed. Willie had little to say, and Stover, ignoring all mention of the earlier encounter he had witnessed, exclaimed: "There's been some queer goin'-on 'round here, Mr. Speed. Have you noticed 'em?"

"No. What sort?" "Well, the other mornin' I discovered some tracks through one of Miss Jean's flower-beds." "Tracks?" "Sure! Strange tracks, Man's tracks." "What does that signify?" "We ain't altogether certain. Carara says he seen a stranger hangin' 'round night before last, and just now we found where a boss had been picked out in the ravine. Looks like he'd stood there more'n once."

Glass allowed his mouth to open in amazement. The day was replete with surprises. "So?" he said, while the light of understanding came over him. "You're Cloudy-but-the-Sun-Shines?" "Yes—Carrie!" Cloudy threw back his head, and pointed with dignity to the flag of his Alma Mater hanging upon the wall. "By Jove, I remember that!" exclaimed Speed.

"So will Yate so long as she lives," predicted the Indian, grimly. "You crippled me in the second half—he stirred his withered leg—but I dropped it on you; and—I have not forgotten." He ground the last sentence between his teeth. "See here, Bo—Mr. Cloudy. You don't blame us for that?" Cloudy granted, and threw a yellow envelope on the floor at Speed's feet. "There is something for you," said he, while his lips curled. He turned and limped silently to the door. "And I tried to kid him!" breathe Glass with disgust, when the visitor had gone. "I ain't been in right since Garfield was shot."

"It's a telegram from Covington," cried Speed, tearing open the message. "At last!" "Thank the Lord!" Glass started forward eagerly. "When'll he be here? Quick!" Then he paused. J. Wallingford Speed had gone deathly pale, and was reeling slightly. "What's wrong?" The college man made uncertainly for his bed, murmuring incoherently: "I—I'm sick! I'm sick, Larry!" He fell limply at full length, and groaned ("Call the rage on!").

Glass snatched the message from his employer's nerveless fingers, and read with bulging eyes, as follows: "J. Wallingford Speed, Flying Heart Ranch, Kidder, N. M.; 'Don't tip off. Am in jail Omaha. Looks like ten days.' " "CULVER COVINGTON." The trainer uttered a cry like that of a wounded animal. "Call it off, Larry," moaned the Hope of the Flying Heart. "I've been poisoned!" "Poisoned, eh?" said the fat man, tremulously. "Poisoned! Nix! Not with me!" He walked firmly across the room, flung back the lid of Speed's athletic trunk, and began to paw through it feverishly. One after another he selected three heavy sweaters, then laid strong hands upon his protégé and jerked him to his feet. "Sick 'eh? Here, get into these!"

"What do you mean, Lawrence?" inquired his victim. "If you get sick, I die." Glass opened the first sweater, and half-smothered his protégé with it. "Hurry up! You're going into training!"

CHAPTER XI. THAT was a terrible hour for J. Wallingford Speed. As for Larry, once he had grasped the full significance of the telegram, he became a different person. Some fierce electric charge wrought a chemical alteration in his every fiber; he became a domineering, iron-willed instructor, obsessed by the one idea of his own preservation, and not hesitating to use physical force when force became necessary to lesson his pupil. Repeatedly Speed folded his arms over his stomach, rocked in the throes of anguish, and waited that he was perishing of cramps; the trainer only snorted with derision. When he refused to don the clothes selected for him, Glass fell upon him like a raging grizzly.

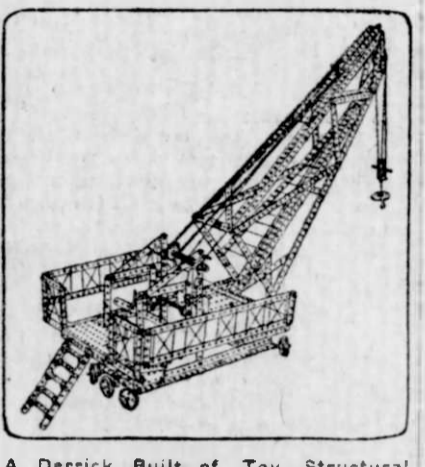

"You won't, eh? Well see!" Then Speed took refuge in anger, but the other cried loudly: "You're going to run off some blubber today." "But I have to go riding!" "Not a chance!" "I tell you I'll run when I come back," maintained the youth, almost tearfully beseeching. "They're waiting for me." "Let 'em gallop—you can run along side."

For the LITTLE ONES

INSTRUCTIVE FOR THE BOYS

Many Pretty Things May Be Constructed by Skillful Use of Toy Steel. Just Put on Market.

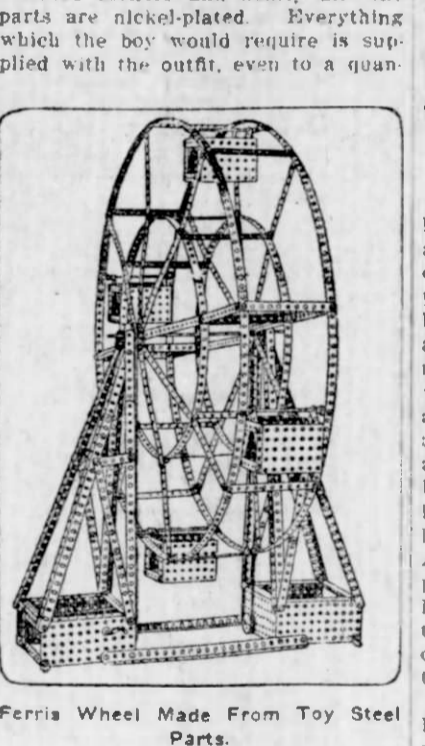

Toy structural steel, from which an ingenious boy may build anything that a real engineer would make out of real steel members, is now being widely advertised and is a feature of the holiday exhibits. Some of the things that may be constructed in little by the skillful use of this material are bridges, derricks, engines—anything in fact from a toy wagon to a miniature printing-press. A writer in the American Exporter (New York) comments thus as a realization of the young mechanic's idea to "build something himself." The boy with a mechanical mind, he says, is seldom satisfied with shop toys. He would

A Derrick Built of Toy Structural Steel.

A hundred times rather take a hammer and nails, and with what odds and ends he can find work out some idea of his own than to possess a whole household of ready-made locomotives and fire-engines, which, to his critical eye, lack many important details. The writer goes on: "These outfits consist of strips of steel varying in length and having holes punched at equal distances from end to end. Included in these sets are also gears, pinions, pulleys, flanged wheels, axles, beams, etc., which give the boy all the parts necessary to build up almost any kind of a miniature machine. The strips are held together by means of small screws and nuts, and the structures that can be built in this way in a remarkably short space of time by any boy are declared to be surprisingly real in appearance. The various metal strips are formed in imitation of structural steel beams, and the young engineer in this way acquires a knowledge of the strength of materials and elementary engineering practice which many weeks of study from books would probably fail to impress upon his mind. He also becomes familiar with the forms of many of the well-known works of engineering and acquires a knowledge of the subject which cannot fail to be of great value to him in later years, even though he may not follow the engineering profession."

"Each piece of material is nicely finished with smooth edges and rounded corners and nearly all the parts are nickel-plated. Everything which the boy would require is supplied with the outfit, even to a quantity of good stout string, for even this is not always obtainable in the home. A complete manual of instruction is also furnished with each set, which is furnished with 89 different models that can be built. Small motors, counterweights and transformers, also supplied, enable the boy to construct his own power plant."

Ferris Wheel Made From Toy Steel Parts.

What He Wished. One afternoon not long ago a certain Brooklyn youngster was much depressed by loneliness. His own brother had gone away for a week, and he had come back occasionally, with whom he played occasionally, was ill in bed. Moreover, there were no toys that he found amusing. In this state his mother found him. "Perhaps," she suggested, "I can play with you. What is it you wish to play with?" "No, ma'am," sighed the boy. "I wish I was two little dogs, so I could lay together."—Lippincott's.

Franklin. Leyden, after a quarrel with the author of "The Pleasures of Hope," said to Sir Walter Scott: "You may tell Campbell that I hate him, but that he has written the best poetry that has been written for 50 years." Scott carried the message faithfully, and Campbell's reply follows: "Tell Leyden that I detest him, but that I know the value of his critical approbation."

LITTLE JIM WAS INTERESTED

Not in Wonderful Deeds of Hero in Story Teacher Was Reading, But in Her Crooked Tooth.

You could have heard a pin drop in the kindergarten that morning. Miss Mary was telling a story to be true, but all was so quiet that even her voice had taken on a subdued tone. Jimmie was sitting next to Miss Mary, and in addition to Jimmie there were 44 other children in the morning circle, all breathless over the wonderful hero of this story of knightlyhood. It might have been an accident that Jimmie sat there. Again, it might have been a scheme worked by Miss Mary herself, for Jimmie never is seen to stoop.

Acrobatic performances, such as springing only one leg of a chair, pinching his neighbor unawares, or tying the plait of the little girl next to him to the back of her chair, were all more desirable forms of entertainment, according to Jimmie's idea. In the above-mentioned chair he at least seemed safer, and there was a bare chance that he would later.

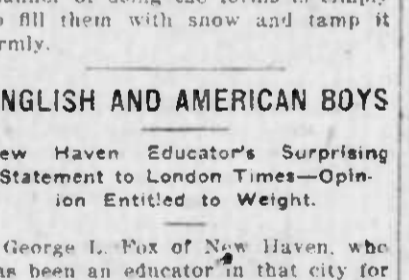

"Ah!" thought Miss Mary. "I have found the kind of stories that appeal to Jimmie. He likes this because the hero so bravely overcomes grave difficulties. The high ideals held up have aroused him. I must be careful to choose this sort of story in the future."

She grew more dramatic as she continued, and the children more tense. She felt Jimmie's eyes fastened on her face, and knew that he sat motionless as he watched her. Could it be possible that this was to be the turning point of her career with him? Up to this time he had seemed a hopeless case. She felt eager to reach the end, for surely she would get some interesting response. Never had she seen Jimmie so interested, and she believed he would express himself about the story.

She had become so tense herself in her interest that there was an audible sound all around the circle as she said the last word. Then, oh joy, Jimmie was going to speak. What would it be? Perhaps a resolution to be like this hero, perhaps—but this is what he really said: "Gee, Miss Mary, that crooked tooth of yours sure does look ugly when you talk."

BUILDING BLOCKS OF SNOW

German Novelty Placed on Market for Amusement of Children in Construction of Forts.

Building Wall of Snow Blocks.

An ingenious novelty on the German market is an adjustable wooden form, of the kind used in concrete masonry, by means of which children can construct blocks of snow for various kinds of snow structures, such as Eskimo igloos, castles, forts and the like, says the Popular Mechanics. The manner of using the forms is simply to fill them with snow and tamp it firmly.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN BOYS

New Haven Educator's Surprising Statement to London Times—Opinion Entitled to Weight.

George L. Fox of New Haven, who has been an educator in that city for a long series of years and a student of school conditions in the English public schools for the last 20 years, has made the discovery that the average English schoolboy at the age of nineteen years is two years farther advanced in his studies than the average American schoolboy at the same age and about the equal of the average German boy of the same age. The Hartford Times states: "As Mr. Fox has arrived at this conclusion after having become a veteran master in American schools and after having personally visited two scores or more English schools, his opinion is entitled to weight, notwithstanding it is uncomplimentary to the American system."

The little son of a well-known minister had spent a half day in the woods with his uncle who is an ardent nature student. When he reached home that evening the boy asked his father: "Papa, are there any little bird preachers?" "That's a funny question," the father answered. "What makes you think there are little birdie preachers?" "We saw one," the boy explained. "At least Uncle Jim called it a cluckie D. D."

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sarsaparilla Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—MRS. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

Hopkinton, N.Y.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall never feel that I shall my good health to your medicine."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments should fail to try it. It is a safe, reliable, and effective medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Shanghai and Salt Fish.

The city of Shanghai imported last year about 500,000 yen worth of salt fish. The import of salt fish dates three years back, and began with the introduction of salt salmon from Primorskyaya (Russian littoral province), salt cod from Kwangtung leased territory, and salt sardines from Nagasaki, says the Manchurian Daily News. In addition to salt cod, the leased territory exported 5,000 yen worth of swordfish last year. This fish, which owes its name to its likeness to a sword in shape as well as in its glistering, scaly body, is found in great abundance in these coast waters. The local quality is better suited to the Chinese palate than imports from Ningpo and ports on the North China coast, and has a promising future on the Shanghai market. In fact, the Chinese are heavy consumers of this fish, the total annual import to Shanghai reaching 4,200,000 piculs.

His Life-Story.

"Excuse me, sir," said the steady one in the hotel lobby, "but though a stranger to me, your face seems familiar. Have you any relatives in Atlantic City?" "Not one," was the reply. "Years ago I floated down the Chattahoochee river on a raft, leaving all my relatives behind. The raft was wrecked in a storm and I had to swim ashore, with a 40-pound outfit in tow. I traded the fish for a week's board, put an 'ad' in the 'Lost' column, recovered my wrecked raft and started a lumber yard. You can get a doubleheader of near-beer at the bar on the left, here's the price."—Atlanta Constitution.

SKIN CLEARED. By Simple Change in Food.

It has been said by a physician that most diseases are the result of indigestion. There's undoubtedly much truth in the statement, even to the cause of many unsightly eruptions, which many suppose can be removed by applying some remedy on the outside. By changing her food a Kan. girl was relieved of an eczema which was a great annoyance to her. She writes: "For five months I was suffering with an eruption on my face and hands which our doctor called eczema and which caused me a great deal of inconvenience. The suffering was almost unbearable. The medicine I took only gave me temporary relief. One day I happened to read somewhere that eczema was caused by indigestion. Then I read that many persons had been relieved of indigestion by eating Grape-Nuts. I decided to try it. I liked the taste of the food and was particularly pleased to notice that my digestion was improving and that the eruption was disappearing as if by magic. I had at last found, in this great food, something that reached my trouble. When I find a victim of this affliction I remember my own former suffering and advise a trial of Grape-Nuts food instead of medicines. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement.

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many.

It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills, as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary.

Another way is to put a tablespoonful of oil in the bottom of a chafin dish, turn the heat full on, and drop in enough nuts at a time to cover the bottom of the pan.

Almonds, blanched and shelled, and pecans, carefully cracked but not blanched, can be salted in the same manner as peanuts.

When they are brown, turn them in a paper and sprinkle them with salt. Let them cool before taking them from the paper, which absorbs the superfluous oil and makes them pleasant to handle.

Now, the stairway in this plan solves the problem in a new way. It not only fills a new felt want, but it fills the neighbors with envy and the contractor with malice.

Ever since two story houses were first built stairs have occupied prominent positions, usually in front in full view of the street door where floor space is more valuable than in any other part of the house.

The front stair not only takes up valuable space on both floors but it often spoils the living room or parlor down stairs and curtails two of the best bedrooms upstairs.

SALTED NUTS MADE AT HOME

Old Favorite for Afternoon and Evening Entertainments Need Not Be Expensive.

Salted nuts are always acceptable as a part of the refreshments for afternoon and evening entertainments, and as an adjunct to the simple home dinner as well as to the formal one.

They are expensive when they are bought ready salted, and unless they are bought of a reliable enterer they sometimes taste stale. They can be easily, inexpensively and well made at home.

Peanuts are appetizing and so much less expensive than almonds that it is a wonder they are not more often substituted for almonds.

To salt them, buy unroasted peanuts—which can be easily purchased from any street vender of peanuts. Shell them and remove the inside skins by letting them stand for a minute or so in boiling water, after which the skins may be removed between the thumb and forefinger.

There are several ways of browning the nuts. One way is to put two tablespoons of olive oil—it must be of good quality—in a pan and roll the nuts in it. Then put them in a brisk oven and leave them there until they are brown.

Another way is to put a tablespoonful of oil in the bottom of a chafin dish, turn the heat full on, and drop in enough nuts at a time to cover the bottom of the pan.

Almonds, blanched and shelled, and pecans, carefully cracked but not blanched, can be salted in the same manner as peanuts.

ALBERTA CROP YIELDS

At MacLeod, Alta., weather conditions were excellent all through the season. Ninety per cent of the wheat up to Oct. 1st graded No. 1, the only No. 2 being fall wheat.

Inventory is a new district in Alberta. Here wheat graded No. 2 and some of it went 50 bushels to the acre, oats going about 75 bushels.

Lethbridge correspondent says: "In the Monarch district the yield on summer fallow is averaging thirty-five bushels a large percentage No. 1 northern."

All spring grains are yielding better than expected in the Milk River district south. A 300 acre field of Marquis wheat gave 113 bushels.

Experimental farm results on grain sown on irrigated land place 'Red Pile' wheat in the banner position, with a yield of 59.40 bushels per acre. Oats yielded 132 bushels to the acre.

'Red Pile' averages in weight from 60 to 68 pounds, and at Rosthern the Marquis wheat will run as high as 64 pounds to the bushel, while a sample of Marquis wheat at Arcola weighed no less than 68 pounds to the bushel.

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 8.—The problem of handling Alberta's big grain crop is becoming a serious one, and there is a congestion at many points in southern Alberta. One thousand cars could be used immediately. The C. P. R. prepared for a normal year, while the yield of grain was everywhere abnormal, with an increased acreage of about 23 per cent.

Moose Jaw, Sask., returns show some remarkable yields. Bassano, Alta., Sept. 25, '13.—Individual record crops grown in Alberta include 1,300 acre field of spring wheat grown near Bassano which went thirty-five bushels to the acre and weighed sixty-six pounds to the bushel.

Noble, Alta., Oct. 1, '13.—All records for the largest shipment of grain by one farmer will be broken this year if the estimate of C. S. Noble of Noble, Alberta, proves correct. Mr. Noble has notified the Canadian Pacific Railway here that he will have 350,000 bushels of grain, chiefly barley and oats, ready for shipment very shortly.

L. Anderson Smith, writing to a friend in the Old Country, located at Kildam, Alberta, says: "Anyone taking up land will find Alberta an ideal province. The soil is a rich black loam, varying from 8 to 12 inches in depth. The land here in this district is not wholly open prairie. At intervals, sometimes closely, sometimes widely scattered, there are small plots of poplar and willows. These generally grow round some small depression in the land, and the snow drifts here in the winter and melts in the spring filling these sloughs (prairie 'slews') with soft water. Nearly all these sloughs have old buffalo tracks to them, for it was from them that they always got their water. The poplars are very useful for building barns and hen-houses. Wild grasses are plentiful, while tame grasses, such as timothy, bromo and western ryegrass do remarkably well."

Spelling Reform. "Are you a spelling reformer?" "I am—to the extent of not believing that McMillan ought to be recognized as the Irish word for 'spelling'."

In the Hospital. "What is the matter with this prohibition patient, doctor?" "What might be expected. Water on the brain."

Its Result. "How did Maude's experiment in apartment life succeed?" "Not at all. It was a flat failure."

Every time a man turns a corner on the road to success he bumps into a toll gate.

Calumet the Secret of Economy

The high cost of living nowadays, and the way prices are steadily climbing skyward, is making economy in the kitchen even more important than it was in the good old days of our thrifty ancestors.

In many lines, it depends almost entirely on the housewife's knowledge of foods and on her watchfulness—but fortunately, in one line, baking, economy can be made almost automatic by the use of the famous Calumet Baking Powder.

Economy in baking, as every good cook knows, depends not so much on economy in buying the materials as on the success of her baking. Failures mean waste—bigger losses by far than the savings she makes in buying. And the fact that Calumet absolutely prevents failures and makes every baking successful has made it the favorite of every cook that wishes to be economical. In other words, Calumet is the secret of economy in baking.

It is the purest, too-attested by hundreds of leading physicians—and as for its general quality, it is enough to say that Calumet has received the highest awards at two World's Pure Food Expositions—one in Chicago, Ill., and the other in Paris, France, in March, 1904.

More Worth. "Hello, old man; on your way home?" "Yep." "Day's work all done?" "No much. Wife just telephoned me to come home and button up her dress in the back, as she had to get out."

His Experience. "That milkman ought to be able to coach his lawyer in his suit." "In what way?" "In how to pump his witnesses."

The Joke. "This is a new view of the law the trusts seem to be taking." "Yes, dissolving views."

Rheumatism Is Torture

Many pains that pass as rheumatism are due to weak kidneys—the failure of the kidneys to drive off uric acid thoroughly.

When you suffer with bad joints, backache, dizziness and some urinary disturbances, get Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that is recommended by over 150,000 people in many different lands.

Doan's Kidney Pills help weak kidneys to drive off the uric acid which is the cause of backache, rheumatism and lameness.

Here's proof. AN INDIAN CASE. M. C. Walker, 921 Grand Ave., Council Bluffs, Ind., says: "For ten years I had muscular rheumatism. I was laid up in bed and couldn't move a limb. I had a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and two more boxes permanently cured me."

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

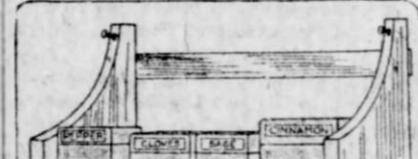

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged.

This is the beginning of most human ills.

Explanation of the Weather Map

An objection occasionally made to the weather maps issued by the Weather Bureau is that they are not understood by a large percentage of their recipients. This want of understanding is perhaps confined to those who have concluded that they are too complex for ready comprehension, and it is the present purpose to explain as simply as possible just what the weather maps show and what information of value the layman can derive from them.

The daily weather map shows the weather condition throughout the United States at 9 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. The places where observations are taken are indicated by small circles. The shading or symbols inside the circles indicate the state of the weather—clear, partly cloudy, cloudy, rain, snow, etc.—as indicated in the explanatory notes. The arrows passing through the circles indicate the direction in which the wind is blowing.

It will be noticed that the map is traversed by a number of lines, some continuous and some dotted or broken. The continuous lines are "isobars," lines that pass through places having the same atmospheric pressure. The velocity of the wind usually increases as the distance between the isobars decreases. The dotted or broken lines are "isotherms," or lines that pass through places having the same temperature. The values of the lines are indicated by accompanying figures, the pressure being shown in inches and tenths and the temperature in degrees.

The words "High and Low" indicate the regions of high and low atmospheric pressure, the latter being the centers of atmospheric disturbance. Over the United States the general movement of the "Highs and Lows" is eastward. The rate of movement, varying from a few miles to as much as 75 miles an hour, the average being about 25 miles. Lows bring higher temperatures, easterly to southerly winds, and increasing cloudiness with precipitation, the character of which depends upon the season of the year. When a low passes a given place the winds shift to the west and northwest, and a high follows, with falling temperature and usually with clearing weather. The high is in turn followed by another low, and so on. As the movements of the highs and lows are not always due to easterly conditions that follow the westerly material from the general rule.

Sometimes the map contains shaded areas. These show where precipitation in measurable quantity occurred during the preceding 24 hours. Additional features of the map not mentioned here explained in the notes. The data on the face of the map are supplemented by other weather information in text or tables.

Although by a study of the weather map, and guided by the knowledge that highs and lows move successively across the country, the average person can obtain some idea of probable changes in the weather, it must be remembered that the movements are not always the same, and consequently the resulting conditions can not well be foreseen except by the trained forecaster. For general purposes, however, a careful student of the weather map can form a fair idea on a broad scale of coming weather changes.

Mr. and Mrs. August Ramthun and daughter Irene, returned here last Saturday after a weeks' visit with relatives and friends at Milwaukee. William Schultz, who resided on the William Krueger farm for the past three years, purchased the William Bartel farm near the Five Corners this week. Bank examiner Hayes of Madison examined the books of the Bank of Kewaskum, last week. As usual he found them to be in very good order. Postmaster William Hausmann and family of West Bend spent last Sunday here with the former's mother and other relatives and friends. John Naumann Jr., and Arthur Naumann were callers at West Bend this week. They helped celebrate their father's 55th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Ernst Wittig of Fillmore, a sister of John Klosek of this village, passed away at her home in Fillmore last Wednesday. The funeral will be held today Saturday. Otto Ramthun was the winner of the organ that was disposed of by Louis Krueger at Groeschel's last Tuesday evening. He held the lucky number 38. Miss Florence Meffae, assistant principal of the high school returned here last Saturday after spending the holidays with her parents, at Rhinelander. Mrs. Peter Mies spent the latter part of last week with her parents at Fond du Lac. She attended the funeral of her grandmother at Monday. The dance given by Mich Bath in Groeschel's hall last Sunday evening was quite well attended. A large number of young folks of West Bend attended the dance. Leroy Groeschel returned here last Saturday after a three weeks visit with his parents at Duluth, Minn. He resumed his studies in the public school on Monday. A bill was introduced in congress by a representative to raise the salary of the rural carriers 25 per cent over their present salaries on account of the parcel post. Paul Tump on Thursday moved his household goods into Rosenheimers residence in Rosenheimers new addition, the residence being vacated recently by Theo. Schaefer. A bright little baby boy made its appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marx, making the second little baby boy in the J. J. Marx family. Congratulations to the happy parents. Insurance Examiner Barton of the State Department at Madison examined the books of the Kewaskum Mutual Ins. company here on Tuesday and Wednesday. He found them in very good order. NOTICE—On account of starting a new ledger, I request each and every one, who are indebted to me, to come and settle on or before the 20th day of Feb., 1914, and oblige. -Adv. Mrs. Chas Koeh

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Subscribers to the Kewaskum Statesman are earnestly requested to bring in the regulation of the post office department regarding newspapers and keep their subscriptions paid up. While the amount of an annual subscription is a small item to the subscriber, it is of considerable importance to the publisher under the present rule of the government.

W. S. Olwein returned here on Wednesday from the northern part of the state, where he spent the past month with Fred Meisnecke trapping. The latter is expected home the latter part of the week.

NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given that the joint meeting of the Kewaskum Fire Department will be held in the village hall on Monday evening, Jan. 19th. All members are urgently requested to attend.

Edward Heise, this week, purchased the Mrs. Gritter property on East W. street. The residence on the property is at present occupied by John Mathew. Possession will be given Mr. Heise in spring.

Lawrence Haessly last week moved his household goods from West Bend into the home of Mrs. Haessly farm. Mr. Haessly recently rented the above mentioned farm and will make his future home there. We wish him success.

Jacob Honeck, who was seriously injured last week, was released from the hospital on Monday of this week instead of last week Thursday as we published in last week's issue. Mr. Honeck is still suffering intense pain due to internal injuries.

Math Bruhy and William Leins of West Bend, (well known pedestrians of that city), walked to this village last Sunday afternoon and spent several hours here with their many friends. However, the weather took a decided change and they had to take the train back to our neighboring city.

This year Easter will fall on April 12th, which is three weeks later than last year, when it occurred on March 29th. Easter fell on the earliest date possible last year and not until 1925 will it occur so early. Ash Wednesday falls on the 25th of February, on which date lent will commence. During the year there will be four eclipses, two of the sun and two of the moon. Only one will be partially visible here.

Irish Good Business Men.

Agricultural co-operation is organized in Ireland, through the efforts of Irishmen, in a way which brings experts from other countries to examine and imitate. The farming in County Kildare and thereabouts suffers not by comparison with any other district in the United Kingdom. And, in matters concerning the horse, Irish maintain, and are extending, their old supremacy. They have an unerring eye for his qualities; they will pick up a despised brute in an English sale ring and make thousands by selling the progeny back to Englishmen. Let us, in all our discussions of Irish affairs, bear in mind the fact that the Irishmen may be and often is, a good man of business as well as an amusing companion and a first class soldier.

Women and Ugly Men.

What chance has a homely man to win a prize in the baffling game of matrimony. A good one—in Berlin—where Fraulein Derben has just organized "The League Against Beauty." The members—all pretty girls, of course—have pledged themselves to marry only ugly men because of the theory that handsome mates are unreliable. The moods of My Lady Fair these days are oftener grave than gay, but love will continue to be blid. The fat or baldheaded rival of Apollo Belvedere at least is to have an even break, a fair start and no favors, but the same old winners will forge ahead just the same in this new race of hearts.

Unconquerable Cat.

There is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast became the slave of man or else fled far from human habitation. One and one only refused to flee or to submit. This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat. When some animals became man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. It simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer and refused to do one lick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will fawn on you. Beat a cat and it will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.

Had Him Cornered.

A newly elected officer in one of the prominent New York publishing houses is having the following story told at his expense: Shortly after the announcement of his election he met half a dozen of his colleagues at The Players one noon, and they all sat down together for luncheon. Congratulations were extended, and he accepted them gracefully, as was becoming in one of his position. Luncheon was ordered. And do you sign checks, too?" inquired one of the number. "Oh, yes," came the ready answer. Whereupon six luncheon checks were thrust upon him with a chorus of "Then sign these." He signed them.

Back to the Farm

Although the procession keeps up a good following to the cities there is a steady and growing sentiment which looks to the farm as to the future home of many young men who are struggling to maintain a precarious existence in the large cities. It is a good omen. The outlook on the farm was never more promising. The prices of crops are generally satisfactory. The management of the farm is becoming more and more a scientific matter. Many progressive young men are making a study of the productiveness of soils and their adaptability.

These things point the way to better conditions. The time was, and not many years ago at that, when farm products were sold at ruinously low prices. The farmer worked hard and when the year's reckoning was made there was a debtor balance. It was not encouraging. Naturally, the drift was to the cities. A living was guaranteed there, and there was an absence of annoyance for fear that both ends would not meet at the conclusion of the season. This condition does not exist today. Prices are good for practically all the products of the farm. A better knowledge of farm needs and conditions are apparent. Strikes and lay-offs, so frequently existing in the cities, are quite unknown on the farm. Agricultural journals are subscribed for and read with intelligent interest. And the younger generation, especially, is acquiring some scientific preparation which will make the future farmer a real acquisition to the movement.

While statistics do not support any great return to the farm, the public sentiment is certainly pointing in that direction. And that will ultimately lead to the desired end. And when intelligent interest is aroused the rest will be comparatively easy.

The Wisconsin Brotherhood of Threshermen will hold its annual convention in the city of Madison on next week Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 20th and 21st. All threshermen whether members of the association or not will be welcome to be present at this convention. Good speakers will be present.

WHY FARMERS SHOULD KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT! Their Bank Deposit Book affords them a complete record of their Cash receipts, while the stubs of their check books are a perfect record of expenses and payments. Paying a laborer, or store account or any other bill with a bank check is much safer than with money; because you avoid the risk of handling the actual cash, and the endorsed check returned by the bank is the best kind of a receipt. We furnish you with Check Books and Deposit Books free of cost. Over fifty farmers have opened accounts with us the last half year. Ask the satisfied customer that checks with us. LAVA KILLS MANY THOUSANDS LOSE LIVES WHEN JAPANESE CITY IS BURIED UNDER ASHES.

KAGOSHIMA IS WIPE OUT

Neighboring Island is Also Swept by the Fiery Stream—Quake Destroys Island and Tidal Wave Adds to Horror—Warships to Scene.

Nagasaki, Japan, Jan. 15.—Earthquake and volcanic eruptions which struck Kagoshima, in southern Japan, on Monday, were followed by a tidal wave, according to official advices.

It is believed the Kagoshima disaster will prove to be one of the most serious in the history of Japan. The loss of life and property increases as fuller details are received, and indications are that the death list will run into the thousands.

Ashes to the depth of six inches have fallen in the segment of Miyazaki, on the east coast of Kyushu.

A postal employe who fled from Kagoshima says the big post office building there collapsed during the earthquake and tidal wave and that many residences were ruined, while many people and animals were killed or injured.

The navy and army departments are hastening succor and supplies to Kagoshima. Government authorities declare that any official estimate of the extent of the disaster will be impossible for several days. The population of the city of Kagoshima, which is almost completely buried in volcanic ashes and stones, was 60,000 at the last census. The population of the adjoining island of Sakima, the center of the disturbance, is given as 15,000.

On this island hundreds are reported to have perished beneath the streams of molten lava of Sakurajima. Many more were undoubtedly drowned while attempting to escape.

The violence of the eruption of Sakurajima is so great that showers of dust are falling here, although the distance between Nagasaki and the island of Sakurajima is about 90 miles.

A refugee who arrived here on Monday from Kagoshima gave the following account of the disaster:

The eruption started suddenly with columns of thick black smoke and flame from the crater of Sakurajima. Hundreds of the inhabitants of the small island in the Gulf of Kagoshima, where Sakurajima is situated, rushed to the beach and leaped on beams, planks and pieces of driftwood, which carried them across three miles of water to Kagoshima, ashes, stones and particles of white hot lava falling all the while on the decks.

The horror was increased by the shaking caused by incessant shocks of earthquake, which rocked the houses all day. More than 350 earthquake shocks were recorded before midnight.

The people fled in disordered droves along the highway leading west and north of the city.

When I left Kagoshima the volcano resembled an enormous setpiece of fireworks glowing from the foot of the mountain to the summit. During the night the glowing lava illuminated the entire district. The volcano constantly emitted thunderous explosions.

The burning rock and ashes set fire to several villages. At Mochi on the Kishuu railway 100 persons were killed. Several villages along the foot of the volcano were buried in streams of lava.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 15.—The entire western part of the island of Anahim, New Hebrides has been devastated by volcanic eruption, according to news brought by the Canadian Australian liner Makura. The steamer France succeeded in saving 500 natives.

120 ON SHIP REPORTED LOST

British Mail Steamer Strikes Ledges on Briar Island in the Bay of Fundy During Storm.

Hullfax, N. S., Jan. 15.—The Royal Mail steamer Cobeguid, with 120 persons aboard, went aground on Briar Island, in the Bay of Fundy, as she was battling against a terrific storm just before dawn on Tuesday.

Wireless communication with the stranded vessel ceased abruptly. The operator sent a last flickering message that the engine room of the Cobeguid was flooded. No trace of her has been found and her fate is in doubt. The greatest fears for her safety are entertained. It is believed she is lost.

The distress cry of the Cobeguid, which urged immediate aid, was picked up by the wireless station at Cape Sable, across the bay, and was relayed to a dozen vessels. They are now struggling against an icy gale and mountainous seas to reach the location given by the Cobeguid.

Seals Off Rampolla Rooms

Rome, Italy, Jan. 14.—The seals were removed from the apartment of the late Cardinal Rampolla in the presence of representatives of all parties interested in his estate. An inventory was taken of everything found.

Hundreds Killed by Lava.

Tokyo, Jan. 14.—Sakurajima volcano in southern Japan is in violent eruption. Refugees declared that hundreds had been buried alive or suffocated by the volcano's fumes. A shower of ashes is falling at Kagoshima.

Tidal Wave Inundates Callao.

Lima, Peru, Jan. 14.—The seaport of Callao was inundated by a tidal wave, accompanied by an earthquake lasting 15 seconds. No loss of life is reported. The naval school at La Punta and hotels were flooded.

MEXICAN REFUGEES RECEIVE PROTECTION OF UNCLE SAM

First photograph received from Presidio, Tex., where refugees crossed the Rio Grande from Mexico after the battle at Ojinaga had raged for days and made it impossible for women and children to remain where there was neither food nor shelter. Two thousand refugees took shelter in this way, and sentries were placed on guard, with orders to return fire should the Mexicans fire on the refugees, who had been disarmed.

HUERTA MINUS CASH

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT ORDERS DE FAULT OF INDEBTEDNESS.

Member of Cientifico Party Executed After He Paid $15,000 to Rebels for Liberty.

Mexico City, Jan. 14.—The Mexican government will default in the payment of the semi-annual interest on the bonds of the internal and external debts due this month, according to a decision reached at a cabinet council which lasted until midnight.

The decision of the council was announced by Querido Moreno, foreign minister, who declared he had been instructed to notify all foreign governments of the default.

The principal internal and external loans of Mexico are held for the most part in the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The failure of the Mexican government to meet its most important financial obligations—the interest on its external and internal debt—emphasized to official Washington that the Huerta government really was in serious financial distress.

Chihuahua, Mex., Jan. 14.—Inacio Irigoyen, a member of the Cientifico party, was shot after having paid $15,000 to the rebels, for which he was promised his liberty.

Naco, Ariz., Jan. 13.—Mexican rebels commanded by General Villa fired upon four troops of the Tenth United States cavalry while they were across the border on Sunday. Two of the cavalrymen were wounded and all four were arrested by the rebels and held until their immediate release was demanded by Captain Tompkins, commander of the border patrol here. The incident aroused intense feeling on both sides of the border and more trouble is looked for.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 13.—The Mexican federal army with its blue general's equipment Ojinaga, Mexico, and the triumphant rebel forces under Gen. Francisco Villa occupied the village on Saturday.

Defeat of the federal army at this point marks the most important rebel victory of the present revolution. It leaves the rebels in possession practically of all the north of Mexico.

CAVALRY CHARGES MINERS FOLLOWING DEPORTING OF "MOTHER" JONES.

CONTESTED FROM TRINIDAD, COLO.

Stones and Clubs Hurling When Troopers Escort Aged Woman Out of Town—Two Men Perish in Michigan Mine Fire.

Trinidad, Colo., Jan. 14.—Two troops of cavalry with drawn sabers charged 1,000 striking miners here on Monday and several men were seriously injured in the battle that followed. The mounted troopers were escorting an automobile in which "Mother" Mary Jones, the strike agitator, was being rushed to jail.

As the mob barred the way of the troopers, the aged woman, who has been active in the field wherever trouble brewed in every strike for years, stood up in the machine and shouted encouragement to "her boys."

Stones and clubs were hurled by the strikers and several of the militia troopers were bowled from the saddle. None was seriously hurt. The melee lasted for fully a quarter of an hour before the mob was dispersed.

"Mother" Jones was deported from the southern Colorado coal fields January 4 by the militia. She returned to Trinidad from Denver.

"Mother" Jones left the train at the outskirts of Trinidad and later appeared at a local hotel. She was arrested by a detail of state troops, hurried out of the hotel, placed in an automobile and whirled through the streets with the cavalry escort galloping at full speed in front and behind the machine.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 14.—A fire in the mine of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company at Negawac cost two men their lives. One of these was John Beebe, a pumpman. The other was Capt. John S. Barrett, who headed the first rescue crew in search of Beebe and lost his life in the dense smoke in drifts at the seventh level, where Beebe was thought to be. Barrett leaves a wife and eight children. Several others of the rescuing parties were overcome by smoke and had to be helped to the surface. The fire is believed to be spreading rapidly among the timbers.

Proctor, Texas, Jan. 14.—Martial law was proclaimed in the Transval and Orange Free State as a result of the railroad strike. Soldiers will be placed on all trains and a general resumption of traffic will be attempted. The authorities gave orders to the troops to shoot all persons attempting to dynamite trains.

GLYNN TO REARREST THAW

New York's Governor and Attorney General Plan to Act if He Leaves State.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Governor Glynn and Attorney General Carmody, at a conference on Monday, planned the immediate arrest of Harry K. Thaw the moment he leaves New Hampshire. Requisition will be made upon any governor to whose state Thaw may flee.

"The case is entirely in the hands of the attorney general, and I agree to his proposition," said the governor.

David Laird Is Dead.

Idaho Progressives to Fight.

Noise, Idaho, Jan. 12.—The Progressive state central committee passed a resolution to put full state and congressional tickets in the field this year's election and to make nominations for every office.

SOLON HITS N. Y. CENTRAL AND PENNSYLVANIA.

Congressman Introduces Resolution in House That Demands Stock Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 13.—An attack upon two of the greatest railroad combines in the country, the New York Central and the Pennsylvania lines, was begun on behalf of the Progressives of the house by the introduction of resolutions by Representative Hinebaugh of Illinois. The first resolution calls upon the interstate commerce commission to report to the house upon the interlocking stock control of the New York Central over the Michigan Central Railroad company and the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern company and the influence of this control upon railroad cost, service and rates.

The second resolution directs the attorney general to transmit to the house his opinion as to the legality of the relations existing between the Pennsylvania railroad, the Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad company in view of the supreme court decision in the Northern Securities case.

The resolution touching the New York Central system declares that "interlocking stock control confers all the powers which actually come from interlocking directorships. Under the present system there is no honest competition between parallel railroad lines. The only purpose of legislation against interlocking directorates is to bring about honest competition in the interests of the public between these great transportation companies."

Deaths in Southern Case

Eugene Grace of Georgia, Who Said Wife Shot Him in 1912, Killed by the Wound.

Newnan, Ga., Jan. 14.—Eugene Grace died here on Monday from the bullet wound he mysteriously received in Atlanta nearly two years ago. He suffered from partial paralysis since the shooting. Grace was wounded at his Atlanta home in March, 1912. Police summoned by telephone found him semi-conscious. At the hospital he accused his wife, Mrs. Daisy Olive Grace, of the shooting. Mrs. Grace was found at the home of Grace's mother here and was arrested. Later in the same year she was tried on a charge of attempted murder and found not guilty. Soon after the trial Grace left his Atlanta home to live with his mother in Newnan.

Will Jail Law Offenders

Sub-Committee of House Judiciary Body Completes Draft of Anti-Trust Bill.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The subcommittee of the house judiciary committee on Friday completed a draft of the administration anti-trust bill which is an amendment to the Sherman law. They acted on the theory that guilt is personal and that trust magnates shall be subjected to imprisonment as well as fined.

The bill consists of a number of separate measures. These will be introduced in the house after they have been submitted to President Wilson for his approval. The most important of the measures provides a penal punishment for corporation officers found guilty of a violation of the anti-trust laws.

MILWAUKEE TURNS DOWN STATE FAIR

MANUFACTURERS AND MERCHANTS WILL NOT PROVIDE $30,000 FUND.

STATE SHOULD SHARE COST

Business Men Say Attitude of Legislature is Parsimonious—Claim City Has Not Been Treated Justly.

Milwaukee.—The Merchants and Manufacturers' association issued a statement explaining its stand in refusing to guarantee a $30,000 fund for the 1914 and 1915 state fairs.

In the statement it is said that Milwaukee reaps but little financial benefit from the fair and that the legislature pursued a "parsimonious policy" in conducting the fair at its present site, slighting Milwaukee and suggesting support from business men when it is the duty of the legislature to properly finance what is a state institution.

The report says in part: "Milwaukee will in the future, as it has in the past, do its full duty in support of the state fair, but its people feel that the institution should not be dealt with as a purely local project, but as one in which an entire state is concerned and for which the legislature must make ample and adequate provision."

50,000 POLES HONOR BISHOP

Big Crowd Turns Out to Welcome the Second Polish Bishop in the United States.

Milwaukee.—Milwaukee Poland, as represented by 50,000 persons, paid tribute to Bishop Edward Kozlowski at the culmination to a memorable day—memorable to the new bishop, memorable to the Roman Catholic church and memorable to the Polish people of the city, when Father Edward Kozlowski, formerly priest at Bay City, Mich., diocese of Grand Rapids, received the sacred token of the laying on of hands and forthwith became auxiliary bishop of the diocese of Milwaukee. Bishop Kozlowski is the second Polish bishop in the United States, and the demonstration in his honor was one of the most remarkable in the history of the city.

KEELEY INSTITUTE BURNS

Fire Was Most Spectacular in History of City—Loss Covered by Insurance.

Waukesha.—Fire which originated from a new overcasted furnace destroyed the Keeley institute here. The loss of $20,000 is covered by insurance. The building was of frame construction, having been built many years ago for hotel purposes. Lack of water pressure led the firemen helplessly. Dr. J. W. Hart is at the head of the institute. The fire was one of the most spectacular in the history of the city.

Wins Race Against Death.

Marquette.—With the temperature dropping below zero and his life depending on a strand of rope he had tied about his neck when he shot off his foot while hunting on his father's farm, Ward Baggett, 24, won his race with death and arrived at the Marquette hospital, fifteen miles from his home, in time to save his life. Physicians who amputated the injured foot said Baggett would recover.

Thieves Raid Creamery.

Viroqua.—Two familiar evidently with the high cost of living to be looking for more cash with great eagerness in sight, burglars, who entered the creamery here, ignored the safe and cash register and directed their onslaught on the cold storage rooms. Butter and buttermilk in large quantities were carried away. Epitaphs favoring totalitarianism are under preparation.

Let Canal Contracts.

Racine.—The contract for the big sewer drainage canal has been awarded to R. H. and G. A. McWilliams of Chicago for $72,000. The bridge work went to the Worden-Allen company of Milwaukee for $9,500. The drainage ditch was ordered built by Judge Belden of the circuit court after it had been held up in legal processes for several years.

News Notes of Wisconsin.

Madison.—Gov. McGovern has made the following appointments: Dr. F. T. Clark, Wausau, to be a member of the Wisconsin state board of medical examiners; Dr. Milton, resigned, Dr. John M. Boffel, Milwaukee, to be a member of the state board of medical examiners.

Dr. Charles McCarthy, Madison, commissioner for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States. Hosea W. Road, Madison, to be custodian of Memorial Hall. J. G. Sanders, Madison, to be state orchard and nurseryman. With the exception of Dr. Clark these are all reappointments.

Madison.—A commission created at the last session of the legislature to investigate the feasibility of digging a canal between the Mississippi river and Lake Superior has been appointed by Gov. McGovern. The membership consists of Assemblyman John A. Chinnock, Hudson, Senator Edward F. Ackley, Chippewa Falls, and James Barden, Superior. The three appointments are to serve during the life of the commission. The legislature appropriated $2,500 to conduct the investigation.

Madison.—Tant labor camps of the United States are a menace to health is the conclusion of William J. Leiserson, head of the state free employment bureau. Wisconsin camps are much better than those of other states, he says.

Of 50,000 men employed in labor camps in Wisconsin 20,000 live in railroad box cars, 20,000 in lumber camps, 5,000 in barracks in hot fields and 5,000 in miscellaneous camps of contractors and in cannery factories.

Madison.—The annual course in home economics for women of Wisconsin will be held here on Jan. 27-31. The women's one week school will be from Feb. 2 to 6. The people's course in agriculture, for winners of grain growing contests, will be from Jan. 27 to 31. That for creamery and cheese factory operators will be from Feb. 2 to 6. In conjunction with the farmers' course will be held the Wisconsin country life conference.

Racine.—A special session of the county board has been called for Jan. 22 upon matters pertaining to the construction of a new courthouse, or the remodeling of the present building will be considered.

Ashtand.—Indian Agent Everett is planning to buy cattle to be fattened on the Bad River Reservation next spring. Each Indian's individual money will be used.

Appleton.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the saloon and palm garden at Waverly Beach, on Lake Winnebago, entailing a loss of about $6,000.

Madison.—A trout of the albino variety, entirely white with the exception of two pink eyes, is on exhibition at the biology building of the University of Wisconsin.

Madison.—The state will pay $15,619.65 in taxes to the localities on its lands within the state forestry reserve. The assessment of the state lands within the reserve is announced by the state tax commissioner in a letter to Secretary of State John S. Donald. The total value of the land within the area owned by the state is $1,249,521. It is located in the counties of Vilas, Forest, Iron, Oneida and Price.

Eau Claire.—Benjamin J. Churchill, 83 years old, one of the pioneer residents of this city, dropped dead of heart failure here.

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

Sweet clover aids the soil. The cow is not a machine. Milk is a food, not a beverage. Manure is a valuable by-product. It is poor economy to stint on the cows' feed.

When common scours appear immediately reduce the feed one-half. Newfoundland has for several years steadily increased its agricultural production. Switzerland is first and Belgium second in the interest taken in the raising of bees.

Confortable hens pay well. Keep the manure cleaned up. Good cows are always valuable. There should be more pure-bred bulls.

Don't feed grain to warm horses. Give them hay first. Feathers add materially to the profit of poultry raising. Mistakes teach practical lessons.

Ground oats make an excellent grain feed for the fall calf just learning to eat. The wise feeder sees to it that Mr. Hog is dead at the earliest profitable moment.

A clean pig sty, with a clean trough, is a delight to the pigs, and those looking on. Potash is soluble and manures that are exposed to rains lose this element very quickly.

The most expensive policy is to try to save feed by giving the cows less than they can use. Whole corn is good feed for setting hens. Water, grit and dust baths should also be provided.

There are nearly 6,000,000 acres of waste land in this country which are capable of being cultivated. A heifer's first lactation period should be made as long as possible so as to develop persistency in milking.

TWO BABIES ARE BURNED TO DEATH

CHILDREN ARE CREMATED IN BLAZE THAT FOLLOWS DROPPING OF LAMP.

VICTIMS' FATHER IS INJURED

Attempt to Rescue Little Girls Fails—Mother Saves Fire Who Started Fire—Home Is Destroyed.

Chippewa Falls, Oct. 6. Two young children, six and four years old, and their mother, were cremated in the farmhouse of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bench, which burned during a blizzard which raged through this section.

The fire was caused when Frank, Jr., 6 years old, twin brother of the burned sister, went into the kitchen and took the kerosene lamp off a shelf and dropped it. The lamp exploded, starting a blaze that filled the room.

The father was summoned from the barn and entered the room, but the flames forced him to jump through a window to save himself. He was badly burned and cut by glass. The cottage was quickly reduced to ashes and nothing was saved.

WILL REPUDIATE CONFESSION

Harry Dorow, Now on Trial for Murder of Mrs. Emily Will, Denies Guilt.

Milwaukee.—An absolute denial of any connection with the murder of Mrs. Emily Will on the night of Oct. 19 will be the defense of Harry Dorow, according to plans given out by Attorney John C. Kleis, chief counsel for the defense.

Elaborate and Beautiful Evening Gown

THE Oriental influence is distinct though in this elaborate evening gown, in which one thin fabric after another is draped over the silk foundation. There is first a skirt of silk veiled with chiffon. Six narrow ruffles are also veiled with chiffon with a border or neck of this fabric extending below each ruffle.

NETS AND SHADOW LACES USED FOR THE LATEST BLOUSE

THE last material in the direction of thin meters for blouses is said to be shadow laces. An underblouse with sleeve caps (finished with lace) is made of the same net as that used over it, in the waist model shown here. A broad band of ribbon is tacked to it below the bust and finished with a bow at the left side. The blouse with long sleeves is placed over this. The shoulder seams and under arm seams are in one.

The sleeves are finished at the wrist with two single frills. Sometimes two kinds of net are used, but often shadow lace makes the outside waist, over plain net. Heavier all-over laces are used as well. In any of these the waist is so sheer that a fancy corset cover must be worn under the blouse. These are of lace, chiffon, net or thin silk. They are trimmed with ribbon and small chiffon or ribbon flowers, and are very pretty.

Mendota Closes Late.

Madison.—Lake Mendota has not been so slow in closing as it has this winter in 24 years.

Newspaper Man Dies.

Milwaukee.—John J. Harvey, for many years identified with the publishing business here, died at St. Mary's hospital after a short illness. He was 55 years old. Mr. Harvey, who for the last ten years has been business manager of the Milwaukee Free Press, was stricken suddenly.

Fox Farm Is Worth $75,000.

Bayfield.—Henry Moreland, the Bayfield county "fox farmer," has an annual net worth at nearly $75,000.

we must concede to the French designer a masterful handling of the drapery. It is modest, but is meant to be conspicuous. It is original and sticks to beautiful lines, so that there is no straining after novel effect at the expense of taste. The headpiece is in keeping with the character of the gown. It is made of rhestonnet and a magnificent spray of costly flowers. The hair is peculiarly dressed but suits the type of the model in the illustration, which is pure French. After the gown, collar, and hair ornament suit this type incomparably well, so that the ensemble is full of fascination. One could hardly be other than charming with a toilette so complete and so beautiful. And it is the knowledge that she is making a charming appearance which lends charm to those wonderful French women, to whom the world owes a debt of gratitude. They are preserving charm; they take care to be charming. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

SEASON'S COLOR IS YELLOW

Skillfully Handled, as It Must Be, It Is Becoming to the Average Wearer.

Yellow is much seen in these days. Last spring yellow was first extensively used in lingerie. Ribbons or yellow were used into all sorts of under-wear and negligees. Then yellow and crepe de chine were used for the making of rest robes and petticoats and waists and night gowns. Yellow chemises of chiffon and crepe de chine were next worn. And then evening frocks and afternoon frocks of yellow appeared. There are even some yellow tweed street suits. Yellow is usually a becoming color, if it is skillfully handled. But there are not many skins that are improved by coming into direct contact with yellow. This fact is now understood by most dressmakers. In almost all the gowns and blouses of yellow there is a generous use of cream of white tulle at the throat. There is usually a touch of black somewhere on these yellow garments. A little black velvet is usually a becoming color, if it is a knot of black in the drapery of the skirt, gives character to the color that might otherwise seem monotonous.

Two Kinds of Wrinkles.

Can you tell the difference between wrinkles produced by smiling and those produced by discontent? And which would you rather have? Perhaps you say "Neither." But the wrinkles from happiness only come after a couple of scores of years of smiling, while those which spring from worry may grow over night. Another argument for the smile wrinkle is that when it comes it is really attractive, curving up and giving the face even in repose a happy expression. On the other hand, the lines born of discontent make the expression unhappy.

Hooded Coats.

The hooded coats are very smart. They are made of velvet, broche satin, velours de laine, fine faced cloth and many other materials, says the New York Press. The genuine leg of mutton sleeve is seen, and, as a rule, these coats are generously trimmed with fur.

To Heal Chapped Skins.

Skins that have been chapped and made rough by exposure can be relieved by applying with a bit of old linen a lotion consisting of one ounce of rose water, half an ounce of glycerine, half a teaspoonful of borax and three teaspoonfuls.

It is an individual Adder, to be placed on one's desk, close to one's books and papers. To take the place of the central machine requiring skilled operators.

It is also intended for offices and stores where costly machines are a luxury.

The price is due to utter simplicity, and to our enormous output. Seven keys do all the work.

Each copied number is shown up for checking before the addition is made.

The machine will add, subtract and multiply. With very slight practice anyone can compute a hundred figures a minute. And the machine never makes mistakes.

Countless offices, large and small, are getting from these machines the highest class of service.

Now we make this offer so that offices everywhere may learn what this machine means to them.

WE CAN'T DO THE IMPOSSIBLE

If it is not advisable to make the effort, we will tell you so. Our specialty is watch repairing. So if you need your watch repaired, cleaned or regulated, bring it to us. Regularity is the keynote of success in a watch or clock; if it doesn't keep time, you might as well sell it for old metal. Every timepiece which leaves this store is in A. No. 1 order.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT

Almost everyone of us should eat less. That is a negative statement, yet it is made very positively.

Every individual has his own convictions upon diet. His personal likes and dislikes, his own taste. Some are ready to fight over the question whether the diet of human beings should be of vegetable or animal food. The best study of the structure and workings of the human body, and comparisons with carnivorous and herbivorous animals, indicate that both factions are right. We should eat both meat and vegetables.

Probably most of us need more vegetables and less meat. Meat has been comparatively cheap in this country and we've been overdoing a good thing. The cooking of vegetables in America is an unappreciated art. In Europe where meats have been very expensive, cooks have made vegetable food appetizing.

Not nearly so much "fodder" is eaten by Americans as it should be. By "fodder" is meant coarse food in which there is a great deal of waste to keep the intestinal tract in good condition.

Nature didn't provide ready cooked, pre-digested, and over-tender foods. As a consequence, the intestines are too long for modern usages. Without tough and coarse food, part of the tract is worked less than it was intended to be. That, together with a lessened amount of physical work, accounts for constipation which is so prevalent.

A very wide variety in food stuffs is available. Practically all of the common articles of diet are useful. The food value of fruits, fibre vegetables, sugar, etc., is apt to be underestimated by some who are striving to avoid waste. A large amount of "ashes" is necessary to keep the human machine in good order.

Once more, I want to emphasize the fact that, in general, too much rather than too little is eaten. The very poor are more apt to starve for variety than for quantity. Partial starvation occurs, also amongst the well-to-do who do not have their diet well balanced.
