SUIT CASE MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

The Mysterious Suit Case Which Was Found in Hy. Schultz's Swamp Two Weeks Ago by Wm. Rauch Sr. and Marshal Brandt of This Village, is Identified

The article which appeared in this paper two weeks ago pertaining to a mysterious suit case, which was found in Henry Schultz's swamp between this village and Campbellsport, on Sunday, February 1st, has been cleared up and the owner of the suit case found. It appears that a lady, who had been an inmate of the Waushara sanitarium, had left that institution for her home near Eden, but instead of getting off the train at Eden she got off here and walked as far as the above mentioned swamp, where she became lost, and wandered back this way as far as West Bend where she was taken in charge by the sheriff and placed in the Washington County Asylum. Later the sheriff communicated with Marshal Brandt of this village and the authorities at Eden, and the lady's brother-in-law came and took her to her home.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

EVEN FARMERS SUBJECT TO SEED LIABLE LAW

Dealers whose seeds are not labeled are required to do so at once, or be prosecuted. A declaration to this effect was made before the farmer's course at Madison by Prof. L. Stone, the seed inspector, who spoke on the work of his office. The law requires seeds to be labeled with the name of the dealer, the name and kind of seed, and the purity and germination test, and if it is alfalfa, corn or small grains, it must also tell where the seed was grown. The object in part, is to protect the honest dealer and prevent the sale of seeds of poor quality for high prices, under such names as "Ermine," "Raney," "Choice," "A-1," etc. Under the law, he explained, any farmer in this state who cannot buy seed of his dealer which is not properly labeled should demand that it be labeled according to law before purchases, and in case of the dealer's refusal should report it to the seed inspector. The farmer who sells seeds of any kind to his neighbors for seeding purposes, must have it labeled as any other dealer would do.

TO MAKE FARMING ATTRACTIVE TO BOYS

Farming as a national game is played under rules somewhat different from those adopted when the fathers of the present day farm boys learned it. It has been found that country boys are eager to learn the new plays under competent coaches, for when skill, practice and dexterity are necessary to win in a contest, the game takes on new interest. The seven county agricultural representatives of Wisconsin are, in reality, trainers and coaches for the growing generation, who must play the farm game to win, and sometimes against close competition. While aiding in every possible way the farmers of mature age and experience the county representatives are making a special effort to help the boys and girls of the farms to visit in the regular performance of their duties.

A special winter course for Langlade county boys will be given late in February and early in March by county representatives, F. G. Swoboda.

MASQUE BALL A DECIDED SUCCESS

The Annual Masque Ball Given by The Royal Neighbors Last Saturday Evening Drew a Large Crowd

The annual masque ball given in Groeschel's hall last Saturday evening by the Royal Neighbors was a grand success, over three hundred admission tickets being sold. The affair was attended by large numbers of people from the surrounding country and we believe that all enjoyed themselves immensely. There were not as many enmasques as in former years, but those who were there were very good, thus causing the judges considerable trouble in picking the prize winners. The ladies of the Royal Neighbors are to be congratulated on the way they conduct these annual occasions. Following is a list of the prize winners: Best group of four—The Spinners, Mrs. Chas. Groeschel and the Misses Olga and Olive Haug and Manilla Groeschel. Best group of three—Colonial Dames, Mesdames Lehman Rosenheimer, Newton Rosenheimer and Karl Hausmann.

Best couple—Japanese Girls, the Misses Emily Forrer and Helen Remmel.

Best lady mask—Gypsy Portune Teller, Miss Alice Burkhardt.

Best gent mask—Chinaman, Byron Rosenheimer.

Best comical mask—Female Photographer, Mrs. N. J. Mertes.

U. S. Civil Service Examination

A competitive Examination under the rules of the U. S. Civil Service commission will be held at West Bend and Hartford, Wisconsin, on Saturday, March 28th, 1914, for the position of Rural Letter Carrier in Washington county.

An eligible register for the position of rural letter carrier for each county will be maintained. A rural letter carrier after one year's satisfactory service may be transferred to the position of clerk or carrier in a first or a second class post office, railway mail clerk, or other position in the classified service, subject to such examination as may be required by the Civil Service rules.

As a result of this examination it is expected that certification will be made for filling the position of carrier on a rural route from Allenton, Wisconsin, and other vacancies on rural routes at post offices in the above named county, as they may occur in the future, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill vacancy by reinstatement, transfer or promotion.

Only male citizens of the United States who have their actual domicile in the territory supplied by an office in the county for which the examination is held will be admitted to the examination.

Eligibles on registers established prior to March 1, 1912, can be considered for appointment only at the office for which they were examined. Such eligibles may be examined within one year from date of their former examinations upon filing applications showing that they meet the requirements of the new examination, their old eligibility for their home offices not being cancelled.

Application for this examination must be made on application Form No. 131, which together with information in regard to the examination may be secured from the secretary of the local examining board or the postmaster at the post office or post offices named above. The application should be executed and immediately forwarded to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

HILBERT, WIS., MAN DRAWS THREE YEARS

Stole $3,000 So Wife Could Wear Good Clothes and the Woman Skips With An Affinity

Becoming a thief so that his wife could dress in silk and satin and live like a woman of wealth, Peter Hengstler, aged twenty years, a Hilbert Junction man, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in Milwaukee courts and was sentenced to three years and six months at the Green Bay reformatory.

The sentence was imposed after the prisoner had confessed to the theft of eight trunks and ten suit cases from the baggage room of the Union depot, the receptacles containing valuable loot which was valued at $3,000. Six trunks and a part of their contents were recovered by the police and the road detectives.

Born near Hilbert Junction, the son of a farmer, Hengstler went to the big city when fourteen years old, with little knowledge of city life and three years later was married. He, according to his own statement, was not in a position to provide the life his wife craved and could not dress her in the fashionable clothes which she admired.

He, therefore sought the solution of his wife problem by becoming a thief. He drove an express wagon and, through his knowledge of the baggage business was able to clandestinely remove the trunks.

The thefts were committed in 1911 and a year later, according to Hengstler's testimony, his wife fled from Milwaukee with an affinity—Manitowoc Herald.

CAPTURE PALS OF HOULIHAN?

Chicago Detectives in Raid Take Men Whom They Suspect of Being Members of Safeblowers' Gang

"FROSTING" WAS EXPLOSIVE

Officers Found Wife of Alleged Yegg Cooking Nitroglycerine on Kitchen Range

Chicago detectives, Thursday afternoon, captured men, who they believe, are the remnants of the gang of safe blowers captained by "Bid" Houlihan, one of the yeggs sent to the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth recently for attempting to burgle the post office at Kewaskum.

The Chicago papers give the following story of the arrest:

A man carrying a pail of beer passed five of Captain John J. Halpin's detectives at West Thirty-sixth street and Parnell avenue yesterday.

"Tail him," whispered Joseph Carmody, "he's one of the best petemen in the country a pal of Bid Houlihan and a brother of Jac. O'Neil, who was settled with Bid in Milwaukee a week ago." The detectives split out. They shadowed the man to a house at 3616 Parnell avenue.

Carmody signaled to his companions Joseph P. Cahill, John Egan, George Parker and William O'Connor to surround the house.

Carmody and Egan entered. They found Thomas O'Neil, Frank C. Priestch and John McFadden drinking. Mrs. O'Neil and four children were in the same room. Mrs. O'Neil was busy at the stove where a kettle was simmering.

Identified by Scar

"Hands up and be quick about it," said O'Connors.

Even the "kiddies" raised their tiny arms.

"The scar on your neck gives you away," Carmody told O'Neil when he began to deny his identity.

The three prisoners, who are suspected of being the remnants of the Houlihan-O'Neil gang of safe blowers were taken to the Twenty-second street police station. There, while being transferred to a patrol wagon to be taken to the detective bureau, O'Neil broke away and led the police a chase of half a mile while a dozen bullets whistled by him. He was retaken.

The detectives went back to the "lair". They found Mrs. O'Neil and the four kiddies weeping.

"Frosting" is Nitroglycerin

"Where's that stuff you were cooking?" asked Detective Cahill.

"That was frosting for a cake," she answered. "It's in the ice box."

The detectives extracted two quart jars of nitroglycerin from the refrigerator. They also found two sticks of dynamite and 150 cartridges in the house.

Captain Halpin thinks the three suspects committed many of the thirty-seven safe robberies in Chicago since last October.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

NEW RULINGS ARE IN EFFECT

Postmaster Geo. H. Schmidt Receives New Rulings From Department at Washington

Among some of the new rulings received by Postmaster Geo. H. Schmidt this week, from the post office department at Washington D. C. are that the limit of weight for miscellaneous printed matter constituting third class mail, the rate of postage on which is one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, is four pounds. Parcels of miscellaneous printed matter weighing more than four pounds, but which are within the limit of weight and size for matter of the fourth class, come within that class and are mailable at the pound rates of postage prescribed for fourth class matter. Hereafter printed matter weighing 50 pounds may be sent by parcel post in the first and second zones, while the weight limit for the same matter in the remaining zones is 20 pounds.

Another important ruling is that letters and post or postal cards may be dispatched whether or not any postage is prepaid thereon; other articles shall not be dispatched unless prepaid at least in part; and in all cases of insufficient prepayment double the amount of the deficiency shall be collected of the addressee. The option of no prepayment of postage does not apply, however, to either letters or other articles mailed with the apparent intention of avoiding prepayment.

In order that the addressee will not be compelled to pay the double postage of the deficiency it will be better for the sender of all mail to be sure and have the full postage prepaid on all mail matter in the future.

TELLS OF MEETING IN HOTEL

Oklahoma Lawmaker Declares Mrs. Minnie E. Bond's $50,000 Damage Suit is Frame-Up on Part of Several Disappointed Office-seekers.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 18.—Thomas P. Gore, United States senator from Oklahoma, said on Monday that political opposition was responsible for the damage suit for $50,000 filed against him by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, who alleges that Senator Gore attacked her in a hotel at Washington.

Senator Gore took the witness stand in his own behalf. He denied making an attack on Mrs. Bond and said he believed the charge to have been made to injure him in his campaign for renomination as the Democratic candidate for the senate.

Senator Gore was asked about his acquaintance with Mrs. Bond, the plaintiff, and replied that he remembered meeting her at a reception here, and that her husband's candidacy for internal revenue collector was mentioned at the time. He said he had not given her any encouragement about her husband's candidacy.

Regarding the alleged assault in Washington, the senator, in reply to questions, told of meeting Mrs. Bond at her hotel after she had telephoned him making the appointment.

"I had never been in there before," he said, "and when I reached the door Mrs. Bond approached me in the lobby. I supposed we were to go to the hotel parlor, but she took me to another room."

"Where did you sit?" Senator Gore was asked.

"I sat in a rocking chair," replied he. "We talked about the appointment of her husband. I told her again there was no chance for him. She seemed to feel that he had lost."

"I arose, remarking that I must go, and Mrs. Bond took hold of my hands. She was remarking that I was going to have a hard race. At that moment the telephone bell rang and she answered it. Then she came back and sat on the bed."

"We talked only a few minutes. I arose and she took hold of my hand, then fell on the bed. I asked: 'What does this mean?' Just then Robertson came into the room and told her to stop that squalling."

"Did you at any time touch Mrs. Bond?" he was asked.

"I did not," the senator replied.

Continuing his testimony, Senator Gore said he told Robertson he wanted to see Mrs. Bond again.

"I asked her if she had anything to say about the incident. 'I want to know what this means,' I said."

"She replied she didn't want her husband to know about it. Robertson also said he had nothing to say about it."

4 MEN DIE ON SHIP

CREW FOUND FROZEN TO RIGGING NEAR CAPE COD.

Others Are Rescued by Life-Savers—Captain Washed Overboard and Perished.

Provincetown, Mass., Feb. 19.—Eight men were rescued in the breeches buoy and four remain frozen in the rigging of the bark, Castagna of Savona, Italy, bound for Weymouth, Mass., with 1,000 tons of guano fertilizer, which the hurricane drove ashore on the rocks between the life-saving stations at Cahoon's hollow and Palmer's river on the south side of Cape Cod Tuesday. Owing to the high tide and the heavy seas that thundered across the beach and are sweeping mountain high over the bark, the life-savers are unable to reach the vessel. Captain Guiseppi of the bark was washed overboard and drowned.

When the life-savers arrived opposite the wreck it was found that it would be impossible to get out of the vessel in boats. Guns shot a rope to the men on board. Above the thundering surf and jagged rocks, one man after another was brought ashore in the breeches buoy. Four men remained behind frozen in the rigging and unable to aid themselves. Two of the survivors were badly frozen.

Wireless dispatches state that the revenue cutter Gresham is steaming at full speed to the scene of the wreck. The vessel has been standing off the cape for nearly a week trying to make Boston.

New York, Feb. 19.—Steamships arriving here showed the effect of their encounter with winter storms at sea. The decks, rails, rigging and even the outer funnels of the Stephano were encrusted with ice when the Stephano arrived from Newfoundland.

BANKS TAKE AVERY FIRM

Estimated Earnings of $800,000 in 1913 Shrink to $138,166 When Books Are Audited.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Estimated net profits for 1913 of $800,000, which on examination shrank in reality to only $138,166, enabled the Avery company, manufacturers of farm implements at Peoria, to borrow hundreds of thousands of dollars from Chicago banks before the real condition of the company became known. As a result of disclosures made by a firm of accountants, the banks on Tuesday, acting through an extension committee, took charge of the Avery company's business. The bankers were astounded when they found how the profits of the company had been overestimated in the financial statements on which the verdict extended by the banks was based. A sizzling statement was issued by the bankers' committee, in which it was stated that the methods of accounting used by the Avery officials were so loose that the officials themselves did not know what the profits really were.

On the basis of exaggerated estimates the Avery company during 1913 increased its bills and accounts payable from $572,411 to $2,139,946 on December 31 last. The committee has granted an extension of the indebtedness until December 31, 1914, and three officers of the company have individually guaranteed payment of new extension six per cent. notes issued, in exchange for the old indebtedness.

U. S. TAKES CASTILLO

NINTH CAVALRY TROOP CAPTURES BANDIT AND SIX FOLLOWERS.

WILL BE TAKEN TO FT. BLISS

Outlaw May Be Turned Over to General Villa for Punishment for Cumbre Tunnel Outrage—Diaz Flees From Assassins.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 19.—The Ninth United States cavalry captured Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit, and six of his followers.

This fact was confirmed by a message received by Gen. Hugh L. Scott, commander of the Second cavalry brigade, on Tuesday. The message came from Captain White, in command of the United States troops at Hachita, N. M.

The message declares that Castillo and six of his followers were taken by a troop of the Ninth cavalry which crossed the international boundary at Dog Springs, N. M., some time Monday night. General Scott had been notified by Captain White that the bandits were on the Mexican side of the border and might make an attempt to cross into United States territory. Orders were immediately issued to send cavalry troops to Dog Springs for the purpose of arresting the bandits should they make an effort to cross the boundary. This move on the part of the United States troops resulted in the capture of Castillo.

Havana, Feb. 19.—Gen. Felix Diaz on Tuesday called for the United States. Fear that agents of President Huerta of Mexico would assassinate him caused him to forsake Cuba. He is on board the Ward liner Morro Castle.

Castillo is turned over to General Villa for punishment for the Cumbre tunnel outrage it will be at the dictation of the United States government.

Castillo crossed the international boundary at Dog Springs, N. M., some time Monday night. Orders were immediately issued to send cavalry troops to Dog Springs for the purpose of arresting the bandits should they make an effort to cross the boundary. This move on the part of the United States troops resulted in the capture of Castillo.

Castillo was a passenger on the car. He occupied the same seat with her and talked with her all the way home. From the time the girl left the car until the discovery of the body by her father little is known of the movements of the two. The father arrived home about ten o'clock and asked for the daughter. Mrs. Hollander said the girl had not arrived.

The father started on his search. A red trail led him out of the yard, along the sidewalk and into the cemetery to a tiny grave upon which lay the girl's body.

YOUNG GIRL IS SLAIN

WOMAN MURDERED AFTER DANCE AT AURORA, ILL.

Slayer Crushed Her Head With Cleaver—Former Suitor Is Held by the Police.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Miss Theresa Hollander of Aurora, twenty years old, was brutally slain near her home Monday night. Her body was thrown across the head of a grave in St. Nicholas' cemetery, where it was found by her father.

On the theory that the crime had been committed by a rejected suitor, the Aurora police arrested Anthony Petras, who was married last September.

The girl's head was crushed by blows from a heavy piece of timber which had been used in lowering coffins into graves. The timber, stained with blood, was found near the body.

Stories of a love entanglement told by Mrs. Mathew Hollander, the girl's mother, led to Petras' arrest. She said her daughter had been engaged to the man and had broken the engagement. Miss Hollander was financial secretary of the Aurora lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor. She, with her father, attended a meeting of the lodge Monday night, and the girl collected about $10 in lodge dues.

About nine o'clock she turned the money over to her father, saying that she was going home. As near as could be learned by the police she boarded an Ohio street car in front of the lodge hall.

Petras was a passenger on the car. He occupied the same seat with her and talked with her all the way home.

From the time the girl left the car until the discovery of the body by her father little is known of the movements of the two. The father arrived home about ten o'clock and asked for the daughter. Mrs. Hollander said the girl had not arrived.

The father started on his search. A red trail led him out of the yard, along the sidewalk and into the cemetery to a tiny grave upon which lay the girl's body.

Statesman From Georgia Succumbs to Heart Trouble—President Mourns His Death.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Augustus Octavius Bacon, United States senator from Georgia for nearly 19 years and chairman of the foreign relations committee since the ascendancy of the Democratic party, died in a hospital here on Saturday after an illness of ten days. He was the first United States senator elected by direct vote of the people under the seventeenth constitutional amendment. The immediate cause of death was diagnosed as a blood clot in the heart.

Mr. Bacon's death was a shock to his colleagues. A public funeral was held in the senate chamber on Tuesday afternoon, and was attended by the senate and house of representatives, the president and his cabinet, justices of the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, the admiral of the navy and chief of staff of the army.

In the death of Senator Bacon President Wilson loses one of his chief advisers on foreign affairs. Mr. Wilson, on learning the news, said: "My association with Mr. Bacon has been of the most cordial and, to me, helpful sort. I particularly profited by his experience in foreign affairs."

HORICON DECIDES ON CITY MANAGER

DODGE COUNTY CITY IS FIRST IN STATE TO ADOPT NEW PLAN.

WILL GET SALARY OF $1,000

Position of Auditor Is Created by Common Council When Other Officials Have Their Pay Cut.

Horicon.—Following in the path blazed by Cleveland, O., and other eastern cities, this city is going to have a city manager. The common council has decided to select a man who shall have the title of city auditor, receive a salary of $1,000 a year and permit, by the charter of the city, will be the city's manager. All of the present city officials are to be retained, though their salaries are reduced.

The matter has been under consideration here for several months and was brought to a head through the demands made by the city treasurer and city clerk for increases in salaries. When the council voted to create the new position it decided to cut the pay of the city treasurer from $200 a year to $20, that of the city clerk from $300 to $20, and the assessor from $100 to $15.

The new official, the city auditor, is to take over the work of the city treasurer, city clerk and assessor, and devote all his time to the work. No selection has as yet been made, the council wishing to take time to pick the man best fitted for the position who is willing to accept it at the salary offered.

The new city head will in no way interfere with the work of Mayor Charles Hawkes, the banker, who found that much of his time had to be devoted to looking after city accounts and public affairs.

TREASURY RAIDED BY STORK

Employe of Lumber Company Promised Raise With Each Babe—Becomes High Salaried Plutocrat.

Waupun.—Six years ago the Loomis Lumber company promised John Howard, employe, that with every arrival of the stork his pay would be increased. Howard had just got married.

At the end of a year the first baby arrived. Howard smiled when he saw the hoost in the figure on his pay check. President I. F. Rossman of the lumber company smiled. "It is a worthy deed," he said as he signed the check. The next year a pair of twins arrived and the following years brought two more babes. At the end of the fourth year President Rossman smiled only faintly as he signed the pay check and at the end of the fifth year he smiled not at all. Encouraged by its more enthusiastic reception each time it arrived, the stork brought another pair of twins. In high glee Howard brought the news to his employer.

After a hurried meeting of the board of directors of the lumber company the ultimatum was given: "Up to the present time we have fulfilled our agreement," said Mr. Rossman, "but because we cannot pay two president's salaries we hereby apply the recall on our promise."

SCHRANK TAKEN TO NEW JAIL

Man Who Attempted to Assassinate Theodore Roosevelt Goes Into Home for Criminal Insane.

Waupun.—Closely guarded by two deputy wardens and carefully watched that he might make no attempt to escape, John Schrank, who tried to kill Theodore Roosevelt, was taken from the state penitentiary and placed in the hospital for the criminal insane. As the guards hurried along from the old building to the new, Schrank kept his eyes to the front, gazing at the structure that is to be his home as long as alienists declare he has not recovered a normal mentality. Not a word did he speak as the big iron gates closed behind him, and with three others he was placed in the care of Dr. George Slevester, head of the new institution. Arrived in the great structure, close to the one which has been his home since he was found mentally deficient after he had attempted the life of Theodore Roosevelt on Nov. 14, 1912, he was registered in the new set of books, assigned to a cell and given a set task.

The train consisted of eight mail coaches and carried no passengers. Brakeman Frank Hirsch, Milwaukee, was the only person injured. He suffered cuts on his left arm and shoulder. The derailment occurred at a crossing of the Northwestern road and traffic on the La Crosse division branch of that system is tied up, as well as all Milwaukee road traffic between Chicago and Minneapolis. The line was cleared this afternoon. Six of the coaches were thrown off by the broken rail. The train was going at about 40 miles an hour when derailed and the tracks are torn up for 400 feet.

He was an extensive traveler in this country, as well as in Europe and Africa.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

THE STUFFED ONION.

The onion is one of our most valuable vegetables, and should be often on our tables. We do not tire of the common foods, but we do of the way in which they are served. The following may be suggestive of ways in which they may be served:

Onions Stuffed With Nuts.—Boil sufficient even sized onions for the family to serve and when half done drain and remove the centers; chop and mix well with chopped nuts, a little butter, salt and bread crumbs; stuff the centers and put into a baking dish and pour around a little broth or butter and water which is used to bake them while cooking. Serve them as a garnish to a platter of pork chops, or they may be served in the baking dish in which they were baked.

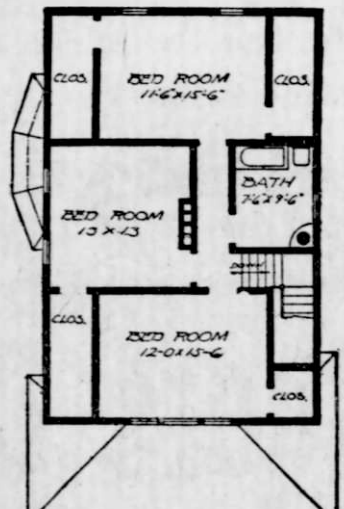

Onions Stuffed With Beans.—Take the small sized Spanish onion and boil gently for an hour. Cook two tablespoonfuls of mushrooms chopped fine in a tablespoonful of butter; add salt and pepper. Rub a quarter of a cup of cooked butter beans through a sieve, mix them with the mushrooms and stuff the onions

But there is a greater advantage than this. The open fire is not only the most cheerful fire that you can have, but it is the best ventilator that was ever put into a house. You cannot have good air in a dwelling without some proper means of changing it, and this should be continuous. You can open the doors and windows once in a while, and let the foul air out and the fresh, pure air from the outside come in and take its place, but you can't be doing this all the time. On the other hand, a fire in the grate is drawing the foul air from near the floor all the time and sending it up the chimney. Good air from outside comes in through the cracks around the doors and windows to take its place. Some people make the mistake of using double windows and rubber strips to keep this pure air out. I don't understand intelligent people doing that way in these days of education. Everyone understands that pure air is absolutely necessary for good health, and I cannot understand the fads about different kinds of entrance ways and different arrangements of rooms; we may do away with the front room; but after we have experimented with all the different arrangements possible to make, we shall come back to the front hall and front stairway going up from it, with a good, comfortable living room to one side, as an old standby for the most satisfactory and desirable entrance to a dwelling. Every woman likes to have a front hall and a front stairway, and she doesn't care to have the stairway placed in some inconvenient corner just because that happens to be a fad. Some of the peculiar structures that are now being built will be considered freaky and undesirable in a few years' time. They may look very pretty when new, and the oddities worked in them may appeal for a time to certain young folk who think they want something smart or a little different from the ordinary; but such people usually acknowledge after a while that they made a mistake in selecting the house plan they did.

peculiar mental process by which people can deliberately set themselves to work to shut out their greatest necessity. I have acquaintances who never open a window if they can help it. I notice they usually open their pocket-books every little while to pay a doctor's bill. There is, however, no law to compel them to breathe pure air if they don't want to. Another point of superiority about this house is the arrangement of the dining room, china closet, pantry and kitchen. It would be difficult to invent an arrangement better than this for a woman who does her own work. There is, in addition, a good closet of the dining room, to hold a hundred things which a woman likes to have near by, but which are not always in sight. The fine large dining room window is a good place, for example for the sewing machine, but a woman does not care to store a sewing machine in the dining room. With the arrangement here given, the machine can easily be wheeled into the closet and left there until wanted next time. A built-in back porch that can easily be screened against flies and mosquitoes is another very good feature. It is impossible to keep flies out of the kitchen when they are gathered in multitudes on the back porch. A screen door is not sufficient. It is difficult and expensive to screen some porches, but this one is an exception. Screening can be done so easily that there is no excuse for leaving the porch open as an invitation for flies and mosquitoes.

Recognize Equality of Women. In the Pacific ocean, far beyond China and Japan, lie the only two countries in the world which fully acknowledge the equality of men and women by giving political rights to all citizens of twenty-one, regardless of sex. They are New Zealand and Australia. New Zealand was the first by a dozen years to put her daughters on a suffrage equality with her sons. It was in 1887 that the cry was raised, "Shall our mothers, wives and sisters have suffrage?" The answer was given in 1893 by the full enfranchisement of women. In Australia the chance came more gradually, province by province. But a few years ago the final concession was made, and now Australian women, like their sisters of New Zealand, are the equals in this way of their husbands, brothers and sons. Polish after this with a soft rag, which may be wrapped around a floor broom.

SON SAYS MOTHER MADE HIM MURDER

REMARKABLE STORY TOLD AS HURLEY MAN IS ARRAIGNED IN COURT.

"SHE MADE ME GET HIM"

Frank Tenell Watched Neighbors Christmas Joy While He Lay in Wait to Kill His Own Parent.

Hurley.—Frank Terrell, 22 years old, is in jail on a charge of having murderously beaten his own mother. By way of explanation of his alleged unnatural acts he told a story of cruelty and crime that has started this "little hell" of Wisconsin, accurately, as it is, to the sordid narrative of crime.

"She made me kill my own father," cried the son when arraigned in police court and accused of beating his mother. "Five years ago Christmas, when other boys get presents and have lighted Christmas trees, I had to gun for my dad. He wasn't much of a father, but she made me kill him."

"She gave me a rifle and told me to put old 'Black Joe' out of the way. She taught me to hate him, and he always licked me. I know she would beat me if I did not do as she said. I laid for him and shot at him through a window. I wanted to hit, but my hand shook. Anyhow, the gun missed fire. Then she told me I had to kill him for sure."

"She let me up into the attic and told me not to come down until I had done the job. I was there three days with nothing to eat. I did not dare come down for she told me she would tell Black Joe I had tried to get him. I was crazy hungry. All I could think of was to kill the old man."

"I was there on Christmas eve. I peeked through a crack in the roof and saw folks in a neighbor's house opening Christmas packages and some kids were chasing around and they hung up their stockings on nails over the wood box back of the stove. I watched them close. It made me forget some how hungry I was. Dad was out on a Christmas tear. The neighbor kids went to bed and I saw their mother and aunt, that lives there, bring out some packages and their old man went and got the top of an evergreen tree and fixed it on a box and the women trimmed it up with things and put the packages around the bottom of the tree."

"I never had nothing like that. Next day I saw the kids play and open their presents and they sang around the tree and at night they sang again when the candles were lighted. Next day, I got a shot at Black Joe. I did what she told me, and they sent me to Waukesha. At that it was better'n home."

Black Joe Terrell was one of the characters of Hurley in its most "wide open" wicked days. When he was killed, Dec. 26, 1908, his son was arrested, but because he was supposed to be mentally unsound he was sent to the industrial school at Waukesha and remained there until a year ago when he came of age.

SUICIDES AT WEDDING HOUR

Girl Weeps Over Body of Sweetheart at Time She Thought She Would Be a Bride.

Milwaukee.—It was 7:45 at night and in a little more than an hour Miss Emma Hartwig was to be married.

"I'm going to call up John," she said. "She got the number and then, 'Is John there?' she asked. 'John shot himself and is dying,' came a man's voice.

"Now don't joke with me," she answered. "Call him, for he's just got time to get here. We're going to be married at 8 o'clock, you see."

Then a woman's voice answered. After the first few words the girl screamed and dropped the receiver.

"John Schwartz, aged 25, a machinist in the Allis-Chalmers plant, who lived at 5305 Greenfield avenue, West Allis, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver between 4 and 6 o'clock," is the way the cold coroner's report stated the case.

Schwartz went to his room about 4 o'clock, apparently to dress for the wedding. No shot was heard but at 6 o'clock, when a friend went to his room to call him, he was lying unconscious on the floor.

An note which he left said: "Emma, My Sweetheart: I love you with all my heart, but you do not love me so well as that. It is because I know this that I am killing myself. Good-bye, dearest. Forgive me. JOHN."

OLD OFFICIAL DIES

E. C. McFETRIDGE, FORMER TREASURER, PASSES AWAY

Was Prominent in Politics For Thirty Years—Figured in Famous Suit to Recover State Funds.

Beaver Dam.—Edward C. McFetridge, for a third of a century prominent in the councils of the republican party in Wisconsin and a personal friend of many of the party leaders in the state and nation, died at his residence in this city. Death was not unexpected, resulting from a period of ill health that covered several years and which began with an attack in 1901 that at the time was feared would cost him his life.

It was while as state treasurer that Mr. McFetridge came into the greatest prominence. He had been prominent in county affairs, was a familiar figure in state conventions and was a close personal friend of United States Senator Philetus Sawyer. While Mr. McFetridge was state treasurer the historic suits were brought against the state treasurer and his bondsmen by the state for the recovery of interest on state moneys that had been in the hands of the state treasurer and by him deposited in various banks. The suit led to a sensational trial.

Mr. McFetridge was born in Rochester, N. Y., April 15, 1836, and he received his elementary education in the schools of that city, and upon his graduation was one out of three who received free scholarships in the University of Rochester.

CIVIL WAR NURSE IS DEAD

Elizabeth F. Ward, Sister of Mrs. Sabina Halsey, Passes Away—Served in Hospitals During War.

Fond du Lac.—Elizabeth F. Ward, civil war nurse and sister of Mrs. Sabina Halsey, widow of Dr. Halsey, one of the most prominent members of the Wisconsin Methodist Episcopal conference, died at Brandon, where she was making her home with a niece, Mrs. C. D. Shuart.

Miss Ward was born at Munson, Mass., on Feb. 8, 1838, and when 6 years old came west with her parents, locating at Pleasant Prairie, near Kenosha. At the outbreak of the civil war she tendered her services to the Christian commission, which then had headquarters in New York, and served on battlefields and in federal hospitals, caring for wounded soldiers. She served in the field hospital at Chattanooga and later at St. Louis. Miss Ward lived at Pleasant Prairie forty years and for twenty-five years was a member of the Dr. Halsey household at Milwaukee, Fond du Lac and Oakfield.

RESCUE LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER

Summons Help With Rifle When Ice Floe Starts to Drift Out Into Lake.

Superior.—Heroically braving the icy waters of Lake Superior, fanned by a stiff breeze which made it practically impossible for a rowboat to last, three men rescued Roger Campbell, keeper of the lighthouse at Superior entry, from an immense ice floe upon which he was being carried away. When he was pulled into the boat the ice was beginning to break up and Campbell was exhausted from exposure. He had started down the shore to hunt rabbits, going along the ice near the shore. About seven miles from the entry he discovered that the ice was moving out from shore.

With a gap of more than 100 feet between him and the shore, he started back on the run. He attracted his rescuers on the shore by repeatedly discharging his rifle.

BADGER ITALIANS RESENT NEW RULE

OBJECT TO SEGREGATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THEIR RACE.

TO APPEAL TO WASHINGTON

Plan Monster Indignation Meeting to Present Alleged Discrimination—Claim Rule is an Insult and Slur Upon Them.

Beloit.—Because young Italian children of the city were segregated in one room in the Strong public school at the beginning of the present school semester, Italians of the city have appealed to Washington to prevent alleged discrimination against their children and will hold a monstrous indignation meeting in one of the halls of the city. The Italians resent the action of Superintendent of Schools F. E. Converse on grounds that it is a "slur upon the Italian race." Mr. Converse explained that the change in policy in teaching the Italian children was instituted because it was thought they would learn the English language and get the rudiments of public school education more quickly.

One of the best teachers in Beloit was furnished them and when they finished the third grade they were to be placed with other children.

SHOOTS BOARDER: SUICIDES

Proprietor Follows Lodger Upstairs, Fires Three Bullets into Body and Then Ends His Own Life.

Milwaukee.—Goza Sabadi, 32, saloon and boarding house keeper at 508 Park street, fired three bullets into Steve Zwilke, 24, a boarder; then shot himself in the mouth. Sabadi died instantly. Zwilke died at the Emergency hospital. The shooting occurred in Zwilke's bedroom, just over the saloon. Mrs. Sabadi and boarders say the tragedy was the result of a quarrel over money. They say Zwilke, a hard drinker, owed Sabadi between $150 and $200 for board and liquor. Rumor in the neighborhood connects the name of the boarder with that of the wife, though the boarders emphatically deny any hint even of such a thought.

The driver attempted to cross the stream with a load of ice and had reached the center boat when the accident occurred. The river at that point is about eighteen feet deep. One of the horses was badly cut, but little other damage resulted.

TO MAKE PERFECT DUMPLINGS

Really is No Great Secret, Though Some Housewives Fail to Make a Success of It.

The ability to make really good dumplings is to be desired in these days of high prices; and if we can get as much food value from half the quantity of meat, while adding to it a palatable and digestible amount of dumplings, we will get a better proportion of protein to the needs of the body. Dumplings made by the following recipe will be light and dry, and will be found excellent to serve with chickens, guinea fowl or veal, and will be reheated in the gravy in a casserole. They may be made successful on the top of the stove, also, if care is taken to keep the liquid at the simmering point, and not let boil rapidly. Have the gravy thinner than is wanted to serve, as it will thicken some with the cooking of the dumplings.

For five persons, beat one egg till smooth, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and flour enough to make a stiff batter. Mix one teaspoonful of baking powder with the last of the flour, and beat well. Drop by teaspoonful into the hot gravy, cover and cook 15 minutes. Dish around the edge of a deep plate, the meat and gravy in the middle.

OLD STYLE OF POTTED BEEF

Nothing Better Has Been Devised Than This Method That Was Used by Our Grandmothers.

Take a good piece of a round of beef and cut off all the fat. Rub the lean well with salt and let it lie two days. Then put it into a jar and add to it a little water in the proportion of half a pint to three pounds of meat. Cover the jar as closely as possible (the best cover will be a coarse paste or dough) and set it in a slow oven or in a vessel of boiling water for about four hours. Then drain off all the gravy and set the meat before the fire until the moisture may be drawn out. Pull or cut it to pieces and pound it for a long time in a mortar with pepper, allspice, cloves, mace, nutmeg and melted fresh butter, adding these ingredients gradually and moistening it with a little of the gravy. You must pound it to a fine paste, or till it becomes of the consistency of cream cheese.

Put it into the potted cans and cover it an inch thick with fresh butter that has been melted, skimmed and strained. Tie a leather cover each pot and keep them closely covered. Set them in a dry place.

Game and poultry may be potted in this manner. From the use of melted fresh butter, instead of paraffin in sealing, and other points in this recipe, it will be simply suggestive and a good study for adaptation to modern conditions by those who desire to put up some of this delicacy for special occasion or emergencies.

Angels on Horseback

In spite of its name, this dish is a close relative of our older friends "pigs in blankets." To make these tid-bits, wrap each big plump oyster, drained and dried and seasoned with salt and pepper, in a nice, thinly sliced blanket of bacon. Skewer with a wooden toothpick and stick two cloves in the fat end of each oyster. Cook in a hot frying pan or the chafing dish blazer until the bacon is crisp and the "angel" or "pig," as you choose to call it, is ruffled around its edges. Serve on small squares of toast with a garnish of watercress and an olive or tiny pickle as an appropriate finish.

Cupid Wafers

Beat one-half cup of softened butter to a cream and gradually beat into it the following in order given: One-half cup powdered sugar, grated rind of one lemon, one cup of strained honey, and two cups of sifted flour. Spread thinly on buttered tins in round forms about two inches diameter and bake in moderate oven till browned slightly. Let stand for a minute then lift carefully and roll over a round stick. Very dainty to serve at St. Valentine's party. Tie each roll or two together with ribbon and serve with the ice.

Poor Man's Sauce

Mince an onion finely. Fry it in a little dripping until it is tender, then pour over it a glass of vinegar and a glass of water or broth, and a little pepper and salt. Let the sauce simmer gently for a few minutes, then add a tablespoon of mushroom ketchup. This sauce is to be served with young roast turkey. Sufficient for three or four persons.

Painted Flat Irons

One neat housekeeper's flat irons were painted with aluminum paint, such as is used to give a silvery appearance to radiators and stove pipes. She says it keeps them in perfect condition, preventing them from rusting. They were treated to a coat once a year. Of course the flat face of the iron is not touched with the paint.

Old English Crisps

One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one and one-half cups molasses, three cups flour. Melt the butter and the other ingredients, mix well together and drop by small spoonfuls far apart on a greased flat baking tin. Bake in a rather slow oven, remove from the tin with a broad bladed knife and place over the edge of a bowl to curl and cool.

Whiten Scorching Linen

When white linen has been scorching in the ironing, wet it with soapuds, and lay it in the sun, if the scorch is a slight one. If this does not remove the scorch, boil the piece in milk and soap in the proportion of a quarter of a pound of soap to a quart of milk.

Butter Toffee

Very good toffee is made with one pound of sugar, one-half pound of butter, one-quarter pound of sirup, a pinch of salt, a little water and two tablespoons of vinegar, which last-named should be added just before the toffee is done.

Catch Sea Cow on Coast

Whether the skill shown by William Steamer, negro fisherman, in lassoing a large shark at the Breakers Hotel pier, caused the appearance there of a sea cow, has stumped even the old time yarn spinning fishermen who pride themselves as solvers of aquatic riddles.

A score of persons were gathered on the pier watching several West Indians draw in their nets. Much to the surprise of the spectators and the negroes the sea cow was brought to the surface of the water. Fishermen well acquainted with these waters say that the sea cow is now extremely rare, so much so in fact that it is against the law to kill one. Consequently, after the negroes had hauled it close enough to the pier so that its cumbersome form could be seen the cow was released. In view of Steamers' feat and the later incident, the waters around the pier have been called the corral.—Palm Beach (Fla.) Dispatch to New York Herald.

Statesmen and Large Families

The revival of discussion on the falling birth-rate recalls some of the schemes of statesmen and others to encourage the rearing of large families. Pitt, for example, said that they should make relief in cases where there was a large number of children a matter of right and honor, instead of a ground of opprobrium and contempt, and he added that that would make a large family a blessing, and not a curse. Napoleon offered to take under his own charge one member of any family which contained seven male children. And Louis XIV, for whom no extravagance was too great, had exempted from public taxes all those who married before the age of twenty, or had more than ten legitimate children.

What She Wanted

"I suppose," said the new saleswoman, "that you want a suit that will make you look attractive to your husband?" "Attractive to my husband!" echoed the shopper. "I should say not. He wouldn't know if I wore a suit ten years old. What I want is something that will make my next-door neighbor turn a pale pink green with envy."

"I saw an item in a paper the other day to the effect that Mark Twain frequently went without eating for a whole day."

"Well, what of it? That's a common habit with people who produce literature for a living."

SCHOOL TEACHERS. Also Have Things to Learn.

"For many years I had used coffee and refused to be convinced of its bad effect upon the human system," writes a veteran school teacher.

"Ten years ago I was obliged to give up my much-loved work in the public schools after years of continuous labor. I had developed a well defined case of chronic coffee poisoning.

"The troubles were constipation, flutterings of the heart, a thumping in the top of my head, and various parts of my body, twitching of my limbs, shaking of my head and, at times after exertion, a general 'gone' feeling, with a toper's desire for very strong coffee. I was a nervous wreck for years.

"A short time ago friends came to visit us and they brought a package of Postum with them, and urged me to try it. I was prejudiced because some years back I had drunk a cup of weak, tasteless stuff called Postum which I did not like at all.

"This time, however, my friends made the Postum according to directions on the package, and it won me. Soon I found myself improving in a most decided fashion.

"The odor of boiling coffee no longer tempts me. I am so greatly benefited by Postum that if I continue to improve as I am now, I'll begin to think I have found the Fountain of Perpetual Youth. This is no fancy letter but stubborn facts which I am glad to make known."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for a copy of "The Road to Wellville."

Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds. "There's a Reason" for Postum.

New Appliance on Cars

The Milwaukee Northern Railway is making an experiment with a new appliance for announcing the various stations. The arrangements consist of a system of wires and megaphones. A tube in the rear vestibule through which the conductor announces the various stops. The voice is carried to the two megaphones inside and by some special sounders the voice is repeated in a loud clear tone. This saves the conductor the necessity of walking through the car and announcing the station. Thus far only part of the cars have been equipped but should the arrangement prove a success they will be installed on all cars.—Port Washington Star.

ARCHBISHOP ISSUES RULES FOR LENT

Those Excused From Law of Abstinence Are Urged to Perform Some Other Good Works of Piety

The following rules and regulations are issued by Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee for the Lenten season beginning next Wednesday, February 25.

The collections for Indian and negro missions, the African missions, the Holy Land and Washington university will not be taken up this year, according to the Lenten regulations issued by Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer (Peter's pence) will be taken the first Sunday of Lent on March 1.

The Lenten regulations will go into effect on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 25. The rules will be read and explained in all masses in church on Sunday, Feb. 22.

Fast Days Designated

The rules are as follows:

1.—All Fridays and fast-days during the year are days of abstinence from flesh-meat. On Saturdays, which by law are also of abstinence, flesh-meat is allowed by Apostolic indulgent at all meals unless they happen to be fast-days.

2.—The following are fast-days of obligation: All days of Lent (except Sundays); the Ember-days; the Vigils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption B. V. M., of All Saints, and of Christmas; lastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast-days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indult and custom allow coffee, tea, chocolate, with a piece of bread in the morning, and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason, the collation (lunch) may be taken at noon, and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

Flesh Meat and Fish Barred

During Lent, by Apostolic indult, flesh meat is allowed only at the principal meal on week days, except all Wednesdays and Fridays and also the Saturdays in Ember week (March 5) and Holy Week (April 11). On fast days in Lent, flesh meat and fish (including oysters, crabs, frogs, turtles, etc.) are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to the Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may always be prepared with the drippings of either fat or lard.

Should the feasts of the Nativity Christmas and the Circumcision (New Year) the feasts of the Assumption and the Immaculate Conception of the Bl. Virgin Mary, and the feast of All Saints fall upon a day of abstinence or fast, a general dispensation from such abstinence or fast has been granted for solemnity as well as the course of people.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh meat more than once on the days when it is allowed at all, whether in Lent or outside of that season.

Catholics having attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by the law of abstinence. But when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law, or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

Sick Are Exempted

In virtue of the apostolic faculties granted us by the holy see we hereby delegate pastors to dispense, in each single case, from abstinence the men actually engaged in working as well as the farmer families at whose place threshing is going on.

Catholics having completed their twenty-first year of age, are bound to fast. Put the causes of excuse just mentioned in regard to abstinence, apply also to the law of fasting. Hence the church ordinarily exempts from fasting the sick and those in feeble health (whether by sick or old age); women nursing children; all who are engaged in laborious and exhausting occupations. WHY FARMERS SHOULD KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT!

Their Bank Deposit Book affords them a complete record of their Cash receipts, while the stubs of their check books are a perfect record of expenses and payments. Paying a laborer, or store account or any other bill with a bank check is much safer than with money; because you avoid the risk of handling the actual cash, and the endorsed check returned by the bank is the best kind of a receipt.

PATIENTS DESPERATE SEEKING SANATORIA

Waiting List at Other Institutions Increased by Burning of Blue Mound Institution

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 16, 1914.—Special. The urgent need for more institutions to care for the unfortunate victims of the Great White Plague in Wisconsin, at all times apparent, has been strikingly emphasized since the burning of the Blue Mound sanatorium belonging to this city. Patients and their relatives have appealed to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, to learn that there was everywhere a waiting list ahead of them.

There are patients trying to get in, who have been on the waiting list for over two months, said Doctor J. W. Coon, Superintendent of the State Sanatorium at Wales, when appealed to over the long distance phone. "I would like to take this patient in but the other cases are also very important and must be taken in order of application."

The waiting list is much larger for women than for men at both the state and county institutions. Dr. Coon stated that he would soon be able to take a few male patients.

If the members of the various county boards could have been in our office last week to hear the stories of the earnest and disappointed, almost desperate people, wanting to gain access to a sanatorium," said Dr. Hoyt E. Bearholt, Executive Secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, "there would be sanatoria provided in many more counties. Now that it has become generally understood that the state bears the main share of maintenance of a county tuberculosis sanatorium we expect many more to be provided."

—New Appliance on Cars

The Milwaukee Northern Railway is making an experiment with a new appliance for announcing the various stations where arrangements consist of a system of wires and megaphones. A tube is in the rear vestibule through which the conductor announces the various stops. The voice is carried to the two megaphones inside and by some special sounders the voice is repeated in a loud clear tone. This saves the conductor the necessity of walking through the car and announcing the station. Thus far only part of the tube has been equipped but should the arrangement prove a success they will be installed on all cars.—Port Washington Star.

ARCHBISHOP ISSUES

RULES FOR LENT

Those Excused From Law of Abstinence Are Urged to Perform Some Other Good Works of Piety

The following rules and regulations are issued by Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee for the Lenten season beginning next Wednesday, February 25.

The collections for Indian and negro missions, the African missions, the Holy Land and Washington university will not be taken up this year, according to the Lenten regulations, issued by Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer. The collection for the pope (Peter's pence) will be taken the first Sunday of Lent on March 1. The Lenten regulations will go into effect on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 25. The rules will be read and explained in all masses in church on Sunday, Feb. 22.

Fast Days Designated

The rules are as follows: 1—All Fridays and fast-days during the year are days of abstinence from flesh-meat. On Saturdays, which by law are also days of abstinence, flesh-meat is allowed by Apostolic indulgent at all meals unless they happen to be fast-days.

2—The following are fast-days of obligation: All days of Lent (except Sundays); the Ember-days; the Vigils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption B. V. M., of All Saints, and of Christmas; lastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast-days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indulgent custom allows coffee, tea, chocolate, with a piece of bread in the morning, and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason, the collation (lunch) may be taken at noon, and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

Flesh Meat and Fish Barred

During Lent, by Apostolic indulgent, flesh meat is allowed only at the principal meal on week days, except all Wednesdays and Fridays and also the Saturdays in Ember week (March 7) and Holy Week (April 11). On fast days in Lent, flesh meat and fish (including oysters, crabs, frogs, turtles, etc.) are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to the Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may always be prepared with the drippings of either fat or lard.

Should the feasts of the Nativity Christmas and the Circumcision (New Year's) the feasts of the Assumption and the Immaculate Conception of the B. Virgin Mary, and the feast of All Saints fall upon a day of abstinence or fast, a general dispensation from such abstinence or fast has been granted for such an occurrence by a special order of the Holy Father issued on July 2, 1911. The same holds good for parishes where the feast of the Patron Saint (titular) of the church is observed with solemnity and a large concourse of people.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh meat more than once on the days when it is allowed at all, whether in Lent or outside of that season.

3—Catholics having attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by the law of abstinence. But when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law, or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

Sick Are Exempted

In virtue of the apostolic faculties granted us by the holy see we hereby delegate pastors to dispense, in each single case, from abstinence the men actually engaged in threshing as well as the farmer families at whose place threshing is going on.

4—Catholics having completed their twenty-first year of age, are bound to fast. But the causes of excuse just mentioned in regard to abstinence, apply also to the law of fasting. Hence the church ordinarily exempts from fasting the sick and those in feeble health (whether by sick or old age); women nursing children; all who are engaged in laborious and exhausting occupations. Persons in doubt whether they are excused or not, should consult their confessor or pastor for advice or dispensation.

In virtue of Apostolic indulgent we permit workingmen and their families the use of flesh meat at the principal common meal on all fast days and abstinence days throughout the year, with the exception of all Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesdays and Saturdays of Holy Week, and the eve of Christmas.

5—Persons excused or dispensed from the law of fast of abstinence ought to perform some other good works of piety and charity in the spirit of christian penance and sanctification. Hence the pious custom of giving Lenten alms. "Redeem thou thy sins with alms, and thy iniquities with work of mercy." Dan. iv. 21. Alms the custom of abstaining from way from theaters, dances, card parties and other profane amusements, etc.

—C. Gordon Meith of Milwaukee, a promoter of the new Milwaukee Western Electric Railway, which will run from Milwaukee to Fox Lake, by way of New Butler, North Lake, Hartford and Beaver Dam, was in the village last week and tells us that the right of way has nearly all been purchased and that work on the line will start early next spring.

—A meeting of the Old Settlers of Washington county will be held at the Washington hotel at West Bend next Monday, Feb. 23.

WHY FARMERS SHOULD KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT!

¶ Their Bank Deposit Book affords them a complete record of their Cash receipts, while the stubs of their check books are a perfect record of expenses and payments. Paying a laborer, or store account or any other bill with a bank check is much safer than with money; because you avoid the risk of handling the actual cash, and the endorsed check returned by the bank is the best kind of a receipt.

PATIENTS DESPERATE SEEKING SANATORIA

Waiting List at Other Institutions Increased by Burning of Blue Mound Institution

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 16, 1914.—Special. The urgent need for more institutions to care for the unfortunate victims of the Great White Plague in Wisconsin, at all times apparent, has been strikingly emphasized since the burning of the Blue Mound sanatorium belonging to this city. Patients and their relatives have appealed to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, to learn that there was everywhere a waiting list ahead of them.

"There are patients trying to get in, who have been on the waiting list for over two months, said Doctor J. W. Coon, Superintendent of the State Sanatorium at Wales, when appealed to over the long distance phone. "I would like to take this patient in but the other cases are also very important and must be taken in order of application."

The waiting list is much larger for women than for men at both the state and county institutions. Dr. Coon stated that it has been soon be able to take a few male patients.

"If the members of the various county boards could have been in our office last week to hear the stories of the earnest and disappointed, almost desperate people, wanting to gain access to a sanatorium," said Dr. Hoyt E. Dearholt, Executive Secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, "there would be sanatoria provided in many more counties. Now that it has become generally understood that the state bears the main share of maintenance of a county tuberculosis sanatorium we expect many more to be provided."

GOING SOME A ROMANCE OF STRENUOUS AFFECTION BY REX BEACH

SUGGESTED BY THE PLAY BY REX BEACH AND PAUL ARMSTRONG Illustrated by Edgar Bert Smith

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized photograph of the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch...

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued. "They won't let me. I'm supposed to keep to myself."

"Just the same, I oughtn't to do it. There is a strict routine."

"I told you 'Allah was some guy,' he wheezed. 'When does Covington arrive?'"

"Wally reread the message. 'It says 'noon Friday.' Why, that's today! He's here now!'"

"'That's what I call fine,' declared the youth. 'By Jove! and I'm so fond of cake!'"

"'Break it with your own hands, please. Besides, it's too hot to eat.'"

"'I'm so sorry. May I show you a surprise I brought for you?'"

"'Here, take your foot off my angel food!'"

"'Bo, you are about to contest for the honor of this ranch! That cake will make a bum of you!'"

"'Oh—hi!'" gasped the author of the delicacy.

"'Stop before it is too late!'" Glass held his hungry eye to a distance, striving to make known by a wink the necessity of his act.

"'There is absolutely nothing in my cake to injure any one,' Helen objected loyally, with lifted chin; whereupon the corpulent trainer turned to her and said:

"'Really! I had no idea I was the least bit dangerous.' Miss Blake, turning to her host, smiled frigidly. 'I'm so sorry I intruded.'"

"'Now don't say that!'" Speed strove to detain her. "Please don't be offended—I just have to train!"

"'Of course. And will you pardon me for interrupting your routine? You see, I had no idea I wasn't wanted.'"

"'But you are, and I do want you!'"

"'Good-by!'" She nodded pleasantly at the door, and left her lover staring after her.

"When she had gone, he cried, in a trembling voice: 'You're a fine yep, you are! She got up early to do something nice for me, and you insulted her! You wouldn't even let me sit and hold her hand!'"

"'No palm-reading!'" Speed turned to behold his trainer ravenously devouring the cake, and dashed to its rescue.

"'It's heavier than a frog full of buckshot. You won't like it. Cul!'"

"'It's perfectly delicious!'" came the choking answer.

ment. He vowed that he was done with false pretenses; henceforth the strictest probity should be his. No more false poses. Praise won by dissimulation and deceit was empty, anyhow, and did he escape this once, henceforth the world should know J. Wallingford Speed for what he was—an average individual, with no uncommon gifts of mind or body, courage or ability.

At noon Wally went through the mockery of a second blood-race meal, with no cake to follow, and that afternoon Glass dragged him out under the hot sun, and made him sprint until he was ready to drop from exhaustion.

His supper was wretched, and his fatigue so great that he fell asleep at Miss Blake's side during the evening. With the first hint of dawn he was up again, and Friday noon found him utterly hopeless, when, true to his prediction, the unexpected happened. In one moment he was raised from the blackest depths to the wildest transports of delight. It came in the shape of a telegram which Jean summoned him to the house to receive. He wondered listlessly as he opened the message, then started as if disbelieving his eyes; the marks of a wild emotion spread over his features, he burst into shrill, hysterical laughter.

"Do tell us!" begged Roberta. "Covington—Covington is coming!" Wally felt his head whirl, and failed to note the chaperon's cry of surprise and see the palling of her cheeks.

"Covington is coming! Don't you understand?" he shouted. After all, the gods were not deaf! Good old Culver, who had never failed him, was coming as a deliverer.

Even in the face of his extraordinary outburst the attention of the beholders was drawn to Lawrence Glass, who caused the porch to shake beneath his feet; who galloped to his employer, and seizing him by the hands, capered about like a hippopotamus.

"I told you 'Allah was some guy,' he wheezed. 'When does Covington arrive?'"

"Wally reread the message. 'It says 'noon Friday.' Why, that's today! He's here now!'"

"'Rah! 'Rah! 'Rah! Covington!'" bellowed the trainer, and Mrs. Keap sank to a seat with a stifled moan.

"'Why all the 'Oh joy! Oh rapture! stu!'" questioned Berkeley Fresno.

"'As Socrates, the Hemlock Kid, would put it, 'Snatched from the shadow of the grave,'" quoth Glass, then paused abruptly. "Say, you don't think nothin' could happen to him on the way over from the depot?"

"'I'm so sorry we didn't know in time to meet him, lamented Miss Chapin.

"'And I could have run over to the railroad to bid him welcome,' laughed Speed. 'Twenty miles would do me good.'"

Still Bill and Willie approached the gallery curiously, and in subdued tones inquired:

"'What's the matter, Mr. Speed?'"

"'You ain't been summoned away?'" Willie stared questioningly upward.

"'No, no! My running partner is on his way here, that's all.'"

"'Running partner?'"

"'Culver Covington.'"

"'Oh, we was afraid something had happened. You see, Gabby Gallagher has just blown in from the Centipede to raise our bets.'"

"'We think it's a bluff, and we'd like to call him.'"

"'So, by all means!' cried the excited athlete. 'Come on, let's all talk to him!'"

The entire party, with the exception of Mrs. Keap, trooped down from the porch and followed the foreman out toward the sheds, where, in the midst of a crowd of ranchhands, a burly, loud-mouthed Texan was discoursing.

"'I do wish Jack were here,' said Jean nervously, on the way.

Gabby Gallagher seemed a fitting leader for such a desperate crew as that of the Centipede, for he was the hardest-looking citizen the easterners had beheld thus far. He was thickset, and burned to the color of a ripe olive; his long, drooping mustaches, tobacco stained at the center, were bleached at the extremities to a hempen hue. His bristly hair was cut short, and stood aggressively erect upon a bullet head, his clothes were soiled and greasy beneath a gray coating of dust. A pair of alert, lead-blue eyes and a certain facility of movement belied the drawl that marked his activity. He removed his hat and bowed at sight of Miss Chapin.

"'Good evenin', Miss Jean!' said he. 'I hope I find y'all well.'"

"'Quite well, Gallagher. And you?'"

"'Tol'able, thank you.'"

"'These are my friends from the east.'"

The Centipede foreman ran his eyes coldly over Jean's companions until they reared upon Speed, where they remained. He shifted a lump in his cheek, spat deprecatingly, and directed his remark at the Yale man.

"'I rode over to see if y'all would like to lay a little mo' in this 'ere foot race. I allow you are the unknown.'"

Speed nodded, and Stover took occasion to remark:

"'Them's our inclinations, but we've about gone our limit.'"

"'I don't blame you none,' said Gallagher, allowing his gaze to rove slowly from top to toe of the eastern lad. 'I can't blame you none whatever. But I'm terrible grieved at them tidin's. Though we Centipede punchers has ever considered y'all a cheap an' poverly-riden outfit, we give you credit for bein' game, till now.' He spat for a second time, and regarded Stover scornfully.

"'We are game,' retorted Stover, 'and for your own good don't allow no belief to the contrary to become a superstition.'"

"'Don't let a Centipede bluff you!' exclaimed Speed. 'Cover anything they offer—give 'em odds. Anything you don't want, I'll take, pay or play, money at the tape. We can't lose.'"

"'I got no more money,' said Carara, removing his handsome bespangled hat, 'but I bet my sombrero. E's wort' two hundred pesos.'"

Murphy, the Swede, followed quickly.

"'Aye, ban! send my vages home to my ole' moder, but aye skall bat you some.'"

"'Haven't you boys risked enough already?'" ventured Miss Chapin. 'Remember, it will go pretty hard with the losers.'"

"'Harder the better,' came a voice. 'Y'all don't have to bet, just because I'm 'bjar,' glibed Gallagher.

"'God! I wish I was rich!' exclaimed Willie.

But Miss Chapin protested. "You are two months overdrawn, all of you. My brother won't advance you any more."

"'Then my man, Lawrence, will take what they can't cover,' offered Speed. 'That's right! Clean 'em good brothers,' croaked the trainer.

"'If you'll step over to the bunk house, Gabby, we'll dig up some personal requisites and family heirlooms.' Stover nodded toward his men's quarters, and Gallagher grinned joyously.

"'That shore listens like a band from where I live. We aim to annex the wages, hopes, and personal ambitions of y'all, along with your talkin'-machine.'"

"'Excuse me,' Willie pushed his way forward. 'How's she gettin' along?'"

"'Fine!'"

"'You mule-skinkers ain't broke her?'"

"'No; we plays her every evenin'.'"

The little man shifted his feet; then allowed himself to inquire, as if regarding the habits of some dear departed friend:

"'Have you chose any favorite records?'"

"'We all has our pick. Speakin' personal, I'm stuck on that baggage coach song of Mrs. Moore's.'"

WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE OF WIND WAGON

Wind Wagon Equipped With Runners Furnishes Much Good Winter Sport.

Surprises come often when the wind wagon performs. It has now been equipped with runners and has been driven at high speed over the snow-covered roads and the ice of the river and creeks around Indianapolis. The wind wagon is driven entirely by the wind resistance created by the revolving propeller in the rear. The differential is not connected with the drive shaft. In fact, there is no drive shaft.

MAKE-UP OF MONORAIL SLED

In Coasting the Rider Lies at Full Length on the Top Board. With Hands on Steering Bar.

An Exhilarating Glide Accompanied by a Buoyant Sense of Freedom Only Obtained in the Monorail Type.

The sketch, and are shod with strap iron, one inch wide and one-quarter inch thick. Round iron or half-round iron should not be used, as these are liable to skid. The square, sharp edges of the strap iron prevent this and grip the surface just as a skate.

The top is a board six feet long and 11 inches thick, securely fastened to the runners as follows: Blocks are nailed, or bolted, on either side of the upper edge of the rear runner and the top is fastened to them with screws.

The runner is also braced with strap iron, as shown. The same method applies to the front runner, except that only one pair of blocks are used at the center and a thin piece of wood fastened to their tops to serve as the fifth wheel, writes Harry Hardy of Wilby, Ont., in the Popular Mechanics.

The hole for the steering post should be six inches from the front end and a little larger in diameter than the steering post. The latter should be rounded where it passes through the hole, but square on the upper end to receive the steering bar, which must be tightly fitted in place.

In coasting, the rider lies full length on the board with his hands on the steering bar. This makes the center of gravity so low that there is no necessity for lateral steadying runners, and aside from the exhilarating glide of the ordinary sled, the rider experiences a buoyant sense of freedom and a zest peculiar to the monorail type. Then, too, the steering is effected much more easily. Instead of dragging the feet, a slight turn of the front runner with a corresponding movement of the body is sufficient to change the direction or to restore the balance. This latter is, of course, maintained quite mechanically, as everyone who rides a bicycle well knows.

True for One. Such was Willie's misconduct that the school authorities in despair, reported it to the boy's father, hoping he would see that the crime was visited on the miscreant's head—or else where—in a more effective manner than they could.

Next day tender inquiry was made for Willie's health, but the boy's answer proved disappointing.

"'What!'" exclaimed the teacher. "D'you mean to say your father didn't whip you?'"

"'No, ma'am,' said Willie. 'He told me a likin' would hurt him more than me.'"

"'Stuff and nonsense! Your father's too absurdly sympathetic!'"

"'Not he, ma'am,' he remarked; but just now he's got rheumatism in both his arms!'"—London Answers.

Mexican Signs. The Mexicans have a turn for the picturesque which displays itself in the street names of the capital. There is 'Love of God Street,' 'The Holy Ghost Street,' 'Sag Indian Street,' 'Street of the Wood Owls,' 'Lost Child Street' and a cautionary 'Pass If You Can Street.' Shop names, too, in Mexico, are out of the common. A drug store calls itself 'Gate of Heaven,' surely ambiguous and a drinking saloon describes itself frankly as 'The Bat of the Devil!'"—London Chronicle.

CONSTRUCTION OF ICE BOAT

For Use on Lakes and Wide Rivers Craft Has No Equal—Three Boys Can Build One.

The ice boat shown in this sketch runs directly before the wind, with a square sail as shown in the picture. A three-cornered sail may be used, but it is harder to manage. The frame work of the craft consists of two two-inch planks, which are laid across each other as in Fig. 2. Fig. 3 shows the under part of the top plank at the rear end. Note how the planks are joined and braced with wire.

The steering is done with the rear single runner. The lower part of Fig. 3 shows how it is made. A bolt in the center of "A" fits in a hole in the center of "C," not so tightly as to interfere with the free motion of the steering runner. The bottom of the runners should be shod with flat iron. Half round or round iron will not do. The mast is three inches in diameter by six feet long. The sail is six feet by four feet. The mast is braced by running two stout wires from the top to the cross plank. The sail is controlled by a wooden handle bar. For use on lakes and wide rivers this boat has no equal, writes Moses La Bonte.

MUST BE POLITE TO POLICE

Visitor to Montevideo Finds It Necessary to Take Off His Hat When Addressing Politician.

The policemen of Montevideo are mostly of Indian origin. They are always courteous and polite, but they are great sticklers for etiquette. Through ignorance of their customs, a foreigner sometimes finds himself in an embarrassing situation.

One day last summer a well-dressed American stepped up to a policeman in the Plaza Independencia and said in very good Spanish:

"Will you please tell me where the Calla Rincon is?"

The policeman looked haughtily at the stranger and turned away.

"The American tried again with still more courtesy:

"Would you be so extremely kind as to very accommodatingly tell me where the Calla Rincon is?"

To his astonishment, the policeman retorted:

"You have no manners, sir!"

Needless to say, the American was quite abashed, but he had to find the Calla Rincon, so he put the question to a Spanish youth who was standing near. The youth answered very cordially and went some little distance to direct the stranger properly. After the American had thanked him he asked:

"Why did the policeman refuse to answer me?"

"Because," replied the youth, "when you addressed him you neglected to take off your hat."—Youth's Companion.

Generally speaking, this word is thought to be derived from the word Magnesia, a city of Lydia in Asia Minor, where the peculiar magnetic properties of the ore of iron known as lodestone were first discovered.

AT SUNDAY BREAKFAST

FAD THAT HAS BEEN LARGELY TAKEN UP IN THE CITIES.

Can Be Made Really Enjoyable Repe if the Company Is Congenial and Not Too Hard to Satisfy.

Four thousand followers of the fads and foibles of the faded Four Hundred find fragrant fun in following fashion's fancy for Sunday breakfasts for friends fond of food, furnished formally, with father figuring frantically at the frying pan. Get it?

In other words it is the proper thing among the younger dwellers in the cavernous buildings which consist mainly of entrance halls and two and three room apartments with kitchenette to entertain their friends at breakfast at noon on Sundays. To have the affair done properly the host does the cooking and the hostess entertains as many of their friends as can comfortably be fed in the restricted limits of the dining room.

With a congenial party and the host wholly successful as a means of meeting social obligations, and productive of some of those joys of living young persons long for, even away from the trotteries. It is such parties as these that fill the air with those theoretically musical sound waves the churchgoers hear on their homeward journeys. The more venerable the ragtime reverberations the older the participants in the breakfast. New music, newly-weds.

Fried bacon and eggs or fried sausages with a plentiful supply of pancakes and coffee, all of which must be prepared by the head of the house, make up the general bill of fare, though should he happen to be of Philadelphia extraction the host is apt to essay such flights as fried catfish and waffles, while the Baltimore born and bred will launch out in fried oysters and corncakes. Fruits of course are served before the meat but rarely does a cereal figure in the meal. The frivolous conversation or the well told story suffices to fill that gap, while the host acts as waiter in the intervals between flapjack turnings.

A short after breakfast stroll in the crisp air or a motor trip to the country usually brings these altogether pleasant little affairs to a close.

Treatment of Curtains. When doing up fine curtains the weight alone of the heavy work often tears the curtain. To avoid this, take cheesecloth that has been shrunk, or old sheets sewed together, on which carefully baste the curtains. After shaking out the dust, soak in cold water. Put in suds and boil. Gently lift up and down in the water. Rinse in several waters, the last slightly blueed for white curtains or stained with coffee for color. Put through the wringer; never wring by hand. Set up the stretcher, and after doubling your curtain to find the center, commence to pin on from center to outside. Keep the curtains constantly wet while pinning on, or they may tear. Four curtains may be pinned on at once, so keeping all pairs precisely the same size and shape for bay or double window. A little starch may be added to the last rinsing water if desired.

How to Have Fresh Rolls in Morning. It is not generally known that the finished yeast dough for bread rolls or coffee cake may be kept in a very cool place from one day to another. When ready to mold your bread, take as much as you might want for fresh rolls for breakfast and place in a deep bowl. Brush top with melted butter, cover with a towel and set in cold place. In the morning you can mold the rolls, set in a warm place and in a short time they will be ready for the oven. The same can be done with sweet dough, buns or plain coffee cake can be formed and set away in the cold, then just raised and baked in the morning without any trouble.

German Sand Tarts. Two pounds of flour, two pounds sugar, one-quarter pound butter, three eggs.

Rub butter into flour, add sugar and wet with eggs well beaten but not separated. Let stand several hours on ice or in a cool place; roll very thin; cut out and place split branched almonds on top, wet with a beaten egg. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. These are better made in cool weather.—Mrs. Waldo Cummer.

Butterscotch. Take one pound of brown sugar, one-half pound of butter, one teaspoon of water. Put the sugar and water in a saucepan, set it over a slow fire, and boil till the sugar has become a smooth, thick sirup; then stir the butter into it and boil half an hour. It is done when a little dropped in cold water will harden immediately. Flavor with a few drops of essence of vanilla and pour on to flat dishes which have been previously wetted with cold water.

Hot Club Sandwiches. Butter twice the number of slices of bread that you wish to have sandwiches. On one of each pair place a thin slice of chicken. Then broil as many thin slices of ham or bacon as you expect to make sandwiches and while hot place on the other slice of bread. Dip a lettuce leaf in mayonnaise and place between the meats, making a sandwich. Trim, cut diagonally and serve at once while hot.

Russian Toffee. One small can of condensed milk, one pound of moist sugar, two ounces of butter, one teaspoon of vinegar. Put the sugar into a pan to melt with the vinegar, add the milk as soon as the toffee will set (try by dipping a little into cold water) add the butter. Butter loses its flavor by being boiled long, so it should be added last. Pour in a well-greased tin.

For Your Oilcloth. A very good and inexpensive polish for oilcloth and linoleum is made by melting bits of candle and adding common turpentine to the grease. Apply the mixture with a soft rag and polish with a clean cloth.

SWEEPSTAKE UPON SWEEPSTAKE

CANADA ADDING OTHERS TO ITS SERIES OF VICTORIES.

A Manitoba Steer Carries Off Similar Honors to Those Won by a Half-Brother in 1912.

When Glencarrock I, the Aberdeen-Angus steer, owned by Mr. McGregor of Brandon, Manitoba, carried off the sweepstakes at the Chicago Live Stock Show in 1912, it was considered to be a great victory for barley, oats and grass versus corn. So that there might be no doubt of the superiority of barley feeding, Manitoba climate, and judgment in selecting the animal, Mr. McGregor placed in competition in 1913, another Aberdeen-Angus, a half-brother to the animal that won last year, and secured a second victory in the second year. In other classes he had excellent winnings, but the big victory was the sweepstakes for the best steer. This victory proved that Manitoban-grown barley and oats, and prairie hay, had properties better than any contained in corn, which in the past has been looked upon as being superior to other grains in fattening and finishing qualities. Not only this, but Glencarrock's victory proves that the climate of the prairie provinces of western Canada, in combination with rich foods that are possessed by that country, tends to make cattle raising a success at little cost.

Other winnings at the live stock show which placed western Canada in the class of big victories were: Three firsts, seven seconds, and five other prizes in city classes.

The winners, Bryce, Taber, Sutherland, Sinton, Mutch, McLean, Haggerty, Leckie and the University of Saskatchewan are like family names in Saskatchewan. Each one had "the goods" that won honor to himself and combined made a name and record for Saskatchewan.

Look at the recent victories won by western Canada within the past three years.

In February, 1911, Hill & Sons of Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, showed a peck of oats at the National Corn Exposition, held at Columbus, Ohio, and carried off the Colorado silver trophy, valued at $1,500.

In February, 1913, the same men, father and son, had a similar victory at Columbia, N. C., and should they win in 1914 at Dallas, Texas, they will own the trophy.

In 1911, Seager Wheeler of Rosthern won $1,000 in gold at the New York Land Show for the best 100 pounds of wheat.

In 1912 at the Dry Farming Congress at Lethbridge, Alberta, Mr. Holmes of Cardston won the $2,500 Kameley engine for best wheat in the world.

In 1913 at the Dry Farming Congress, held at Tulsa, Okla., Mr. P. Gerlack of Allen, Saskatchewan, carried off the honors and a threshing machine for the best bushel of wheat shown in competition with the world.

In 1913 at the International Dry Farming Congress at Tulsa, Okla., Canada won the majority of the world's honors in individual classes, and seven out of the six ten sweepstakes, including the grand prize for the best bushel of hard wheat.

The grand prize, a threshing machine, was won by Paul Gerlack for best bushel of hard wheat, which weighed 71 pounds to the bushel, and was of the Marquis variety.

In the district in which the wheat was grown that won this prize, there were thousands of acres this year that would have done as well. Mr. Gerlack is to be congratulated, as well as the province of Saskatchewan, and western Canada as a whole, for the great success that has been achieved in both grain and cattle.

Other prizes at the same place were:

Best peck of barley, Nicholas Tetmiger, Claresholm, Alberta.

Best peck of oats, E. J. Lanigan, Elfrons, Saskatchewan.

Best bushel of flax, John Plews, Carduff, Saskatchewan.

Best sheaf of barley, A. H. Crossman, Kindersley, Saskatchewan.

Best sheaf of flax, R. C. West, Kindersley, Saskatchewan.

Best sheaf of oats, Arthur Perry, Cardston, Alberta.

In district exhibits, Swift Current, Saskatchewan, won the Board of Trade Award, with Maple Creek second.

Red fire spring wheat, E. A. Fredrick, Maple Creek.

Another variety of hard spring wheat, S. Englehart, Abernethy, Sask.

Black oats, Alex. Woolley, Horton, Alta.

Western rye grass, W. S. Creighton, Stalwart, Sask.

Sheaf of Red Fire wheat, R. H. Carter, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

Sheaf of Marquis wheat, C. N. Carney, Dysart, Sask.

Oats, any other variety, Wm. S. Simpson, Pambrun, Sask.

Two-rowed barley, R. H. Carter, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

Six-rowed barley, R. H. Carter, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

Western rye grass, Arthur Perry, Cardston, Alta.

Alsike clover, Seager Wheeler, Rosthern, Sask.—Advertisement.

Good Excuse. "Henry," said the young wife to her bucolic husband after his first Christmas dinner with her relatives, "I must ask you to look a little more carefully after your manners at table when we are out for dinner. Last evening you ate with your knife. Why don't you use your fork?" "I did, dear," he replied sadly, "but they gave me an old fork. It had slits in it and it leaked."—California Fruit Grower.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at all to get up and what I did do was on my feet and what I did do was on my feet. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tullip St., Richmond, Pa.

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

Keep the pigs clean. Keep the sheep pen dry. Start tomatoes in the botbed. Do not catch a sheep by the wool.

Keep the pigs clean and they will be healthy. A dry pen and a dry bed are essential to thrift in pigs.

The best time to select the young sow is when she is ready to wean. Drafts are fatal to hogs, causing rheumatism, pneumonia and other ills.

If blinders are used, don't let them be loose so as to flap against the eyes. "Canned summer time" is the new name for silage. Sounds like a good thing.

Before any animals can transmit better qualities it must have those qualities. In weaning time ewes should be put on dryer pasture or fed for two or three days.

See that the collars fit snugly, so as to admit of the hand being inserted at the bottom. To milk a cow requires time and patience. The milk should be drawn slowly and steadily.

A good cow is naturally impatient. With constant irritation, any cow will fail in quantity of milk. That is a good reason why every sheep ought to have her own stall and be fed separately from the rest.

There is not much gain in breeding a heifer before she is eighteen months old, but there is considerable risk. Which do you prefer, to pay $2,500 to a stallion peddler for a $1,000 horse, or keep the $1,500 in your own pocket?

Some cows have very tender teats, and if you want a well disposed cow, be gentle in your treatment towards her. The man with five cows and a cream separator is better off than his neighbor who has eight cows and no machine.

The actual cost to keep added to the service fee of the sire, represents the amount at which horses you raise stand you. Especially in summer, it is not economy to load butter with water, for it will not keep as well nor sell at as high a price.

Chickens of frying size in June and July bring almost twice the money when sold as the same weight brings in September and October. The seed corn should be stored where there will be little danger of frost. This is especially true until the ears are entirely dried out.

Don't overdo the soft mash plan of feeding. All good chickens are gizzards which can do a lot of food grinding. One soft mash a day is probably enough. When you buy dairy cows you do not want beef animals, for they are inclined to lay on flesh instead of giving value received for their feed and care in the bucket.

In the early stages of bloat in cattle a mixture of two ounces of soda and ginger in a quart of water, can usually be depended upon to cure. Give the mixture in a drench. It is poor economy to feed the poultry on one kind of grain. It is more profitable in every way to give variety, of which corn, wheat and oats should be the leading feeds.

If there is any protection at all for the poultry from the high winds, they should be let out for a few hours at least, every day, when the weather is not so cold as to freeze the combs. The manure spreader and the slo are two things that point the farmer towards a better bank account, and it is not going in every way to long before we will add to this the milking machine.

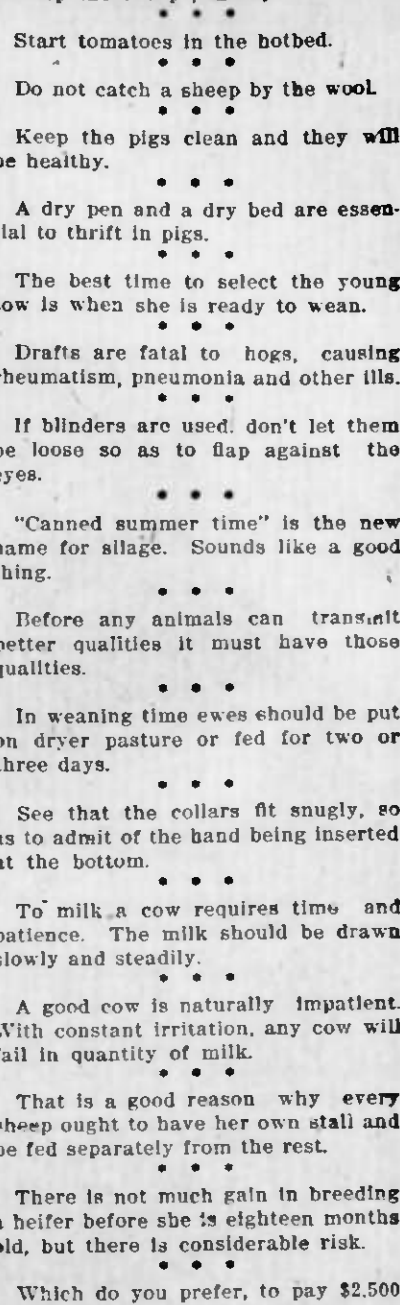

The only certain way to find out what sort of cows we have is to test them. Sometimes the results are very disappointing and we may wish we had not done it, but in the end it is greatly to our advantage. To omit the first and second spraying from an apple orchard while it is bearing a partial crop, practically means the loss of the crop for that season, no matter how thoroughly later applications of poison are made.

Pear blight is an infectious disease which affects pears, apples and quinces. It is caused by a bacterium, an organism which is similar in habit to typhoid fever, and can be controlled only by cutting out the affected branches. The pure bred bull has done a great deal to improve the dairy herds of the middle west. All states, or at least the principal ones, are reporting an increased dairy production, and the results may be traced to better cows, not more of them.

Many varieties of apples, peaches and grapes do not produce sufficient pollen to fertilize their own blossoms, and in many varieties the blossoms will not set fruit with their own pollen. This necessitates planting two or three varieties together for the purpose of affording cross pollination. Fall-plowed land which is allowed to remain rough over winter stores more of the winter rains and snow than unplowed or smooth land. Frequent summer cultivation holds the moisture for the crops during drought.

The idea of a few sheep on every farm to act as scavengers is a good one. But the sheep are growing fewer year by year. What's the answer?

Making Ready for Summer Time

THE "summer girl" should take to heart that good old adage which advises that in times of peace we should prepare for war. Now that days are cold, evenings long and spring styles already fairly well settled, she should get ready for the summer season. All of her dainty lingerie—so much more worth-while when made at home—and several of her pretty gowns will make the last of winter fly away. The work is so interesting and its constant suggestion of springtime so inspiring!

If one knows how to embroider even a little bit, the smartest of white voile gowns made up with laces, should be got under way. Fashionable embroidery for gowns will not try any one's eyes, for it is done in bold stitches, like the strokes of a paint brush. Flounced gowns and draped skirts are to be with us this spring. Printed voiles and cotton crepes will be popular, and taffeta silk has an assured triumph before it.

White voile and lace may be combined to make a dress like that pictured here. There is a plain foundation skirt of net or a very thin fabric, with a flounce of lace about the bottom. Over this are three plaited plaits on the underskirt.

Indispensable for Wear on the New Evening Gowns That Are Being Worn. Many of the new evening gowns show plaited underskirts. The plaits are either of the accordion order or quite flat; they fluff out at the hem in a most engaging manner, and for dancing they are quite ideal, because when made of Oriental satin or charmeuse they cling in about the feet and look eminently graceful.

For walking costumes also plaited skirts become more and more fashionable. Two of the most notable dress artists of the Rue de la Paix have always refused to countenance ultra-tight or ultra-short skirts. On one occasion a famous dressmaker was heard to say that he had never in his life permitted an entrave skirt to leave his establishment. And then the majority of the noted painters who have recently interested themselves so much about modern fashions have voted in favor of plaited skirts and floating draperies.

These experienced artists have pointed out, and with reason, that a charming woman becomes doubly fascinating when she is enveloped in mystery when her pretty feet are partly hidden when her graceful form is disguised and yet displayed by skillfully arranged draperies. How to Place Your Rugs. To preserve harmony in a room, the rugs, whether one or more, must be laid on the floor with the edges parallel with the edges of the floor; not thrown on, creating all sorts of ugly spots by the rugs and by the floor spots left around them. If one rug is used it should conform as nearly as possible to the room proportions, particularly when the room is pleasing in its proportions. When the room is not so the rug may help to make it so. For example, if the room is too long for the width, select a rug which will nearly cover the room in width and will leave a considerable area of floor exposed at either end. This will tend to shorten the appearance of the room and to shorten it in length by opposition of direction. If a room is to be distinctly a period room, an Oriental rug can seldom be used to advantage.

Modish Handbags. Handbags are usually in satin or velvet. Even for evening or shopping, except with a dark-colored tailor-made, one may carry a bag in very smooth and shiny leather, very long in shape and lined in black with very simple clasps. Very dressy bags are made in silk broche with white, cream or pale-blue flowers on a white ground. An additional smartness is given by tiny flowers embroidered over beads. For evening, handbags are entirely made of beads, and only just large enough to hold a handkerchief. The clasp is a jewel in itself.

"Let me see—How old are you?" asked the physician. "I'm eighty-six." "Madam," replied the doctor, "you ought to thank the good Lord that you are able to cough at that age."

The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. SHAME TO ARREST RASTUS. After Aunt Rosa's Explanation Liberty Should Have Been Matter of But a Short Time. Aunt Rosa, who had presided in the kitchen for many years and was a person of high privilege in the family, came into the library in a highly flustered state, wiping her fat hands upon her apron. She was plainly both distressed and indignant. She addressed herself without preamble to the master of the house.

To Be Thankful For. Harry Lauder told of an old Scotch woman who had reached the age of eighty-six without having had a serious illness. One day she caught cold and developed an annoying cough. She decided at length to visit a physician. "Well, my good woman," she was asked, "what is your ailment?" "Oh, I have a terrible cough," she replied, sitting the action to the word. "Let me see—How old are you?" asked the physician. "I'm eighty-six." "Madam," replied the doctor, "you ought to thank the good Lord that you are able to cough at that age."

ECZEMA SPREAD OVER BODY. Roxbury, Ohio.—"When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Wherever that matter would touch it would cause another pimple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several. The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so restless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly. "We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19, 1913. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

HYPOCRISY IN LARGE PACKAGES

Stole Livery of Heaven to Serve Devil In.

HYPOCRITE IS EVERYWHERE.

Man Loves Gold and Hates to Be Imposed Upon by Counterfeits—Goods Shipped in Plain Packages—Many Local Merchants Deficient in Knowledge of Advertising.

(Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.) The first hypocrite was the man who stole the livery of the court of heaven to serve the devil in.

Some people speak as if hypocrites were confined only to religion, but they are everywhere, people pretending to wealth when they have not a sixpence, assuming knowledge of which they are ignorant, shamming a culture they are far removed from, adopting opinions they do not hold and pretending honest business roles which are far from the legitimate.

As a man loves gold, in that proportion he hates to be imposed upon by counterfeits, and in proportion as a man has regard for that which is above price and better than gold is his abhorrence of hypocrisy which is but its counterfeit.

Lying before the writer is the acme of hypocrisy. It is a catalogue of one of those mail order houses, and on one page three sewing machines are advertised. The first is declared to be the "most perfect sewing machine on the market," the second is said to have "more good sensible ideas than any other," while the third is praised as being "the most superior sewing machine on the market."

Now, which of these machines really is the best? Which of them is as good as the one your retailer sells and guarantees? Can any reader of the above trifurcate of ads. tell? Most assuredly not.

The lesson should be plain to all who receive these catalogues. They contain glowing descriptions of goods, but the senders of money do not know what they are going to get for their money when they send it to a mail order house.

Goods in Plain Packages. Were it not so serious it would be amusing to read some of the smooth arguments the catalogue houses advance to their readers in an effort to induce them to send in orders. They say that goods are sent in plain packages because many merchants who buy of them to sell again object to having their name appear on the boxes. We know we are safe in saying there is not one single merchant in the whole United States who ever ordered any goods from these concerns. The statement is made in an effort to make the consumer believe that he can buy as cheaply as his local merchant can.

But printed matter that will sell goods is within the power of almost any local retailer. Most of the expert advice is little more than empty generalizing about nonessentials. It is not literature, remember, but advertising of words and type and the ability to write fine introductory paragraphs and striking headings are not to be despised, of course, but the facts, not fancy ways of saying them, are what induce the people to spend their money in the local stores.

The merchant's knowledge of his store, his goods and the people is more than an offset for any lack of ability to coin catchy phrases or to use technical language in telling the printer how he would like to have his advertising look.

When the merchant sits down to write his ad. he should imagine that his hardest customer to sell to is seated on the other side of his desk. He should write what his talk would be if he were determined to make a sale to that customer when in the most obstinate of moods. He should write it all down, then lock it in his desk for a few hours, later cut out all the superfluous words and print the facts without any trimmings.

Personality Brings Trade. The nearer the local merchant can come to making his advertising sound like his talk the more effective it will be. Personality is what brings and holds trade; personality secures to your competitor trade. Likewise difficult to wear away from him.

The modern retail merchant must make sure that his displays in his windows and in the store itself are such as will interest women. A general variety ought to be shown, with prices clearly indicated in plain figures. Make inspection easy and then let shoppers inspect undisturbed, for in this manner many new wants will be developed in the minds of the shoppers. The merchant or salesman who stands over a shopper and attempts to press a sale invariably annoys the customer and hastens his or her departure.

The merchant who has not advanced with the times must come to a full realization at once that many changes are necessary before he can hope to compete successfully with retail mail order houses, and the first and principal change is the manner in which his stock is displayed, and in the process of this arrangement he must take into consideration the fact that men have almost completely ceased to figure in the day to day purchases of household necessities.

WEAK FEET AND ANKLES

Strong feet make a strong foundation for a strong body. A very large proportion of all people have weak feet and ankles. One should be as unconscious of the sensation of discomfort in his feet as he is in his hands; but few are so fortunate.

As a rule shoes are not well adapted to their purpose. Their object should be to protect feet from injury, wet and cold. With too many they are utilized to compress a naturally useful and good looking member into a deformed lump at the lower end of the leg.

Normal ankles and feet do not need to be splinted and supported any more than normal wrists and hands do. High shoes and ankle braces weaken until they become necessary after a time. Even weak ankles and feet can be strengthened by exercise. For other weakness one doesn't willingly adopt a crutch permanently.

That is what is done when high shoes are used to support children's ankles. Cold feet are due primarily to shutting off blood circulation and free movement. One of the best preventives of cold feet is wearing low shoes. Gaiters may be worn in snow and by the bottoms of their skirts are likely to become wet. Most people who wear low shoes in the summer change to high ones by the calendar and because of any sensation of cold. They haven't been cold but they think they will be. Many of our habits have no more sensible foundation.

Heels on shoes are an abomination. Originally they were probably adopted by distinguished warriors as members of the leisure class. Obviously, no hard physical work could be done upon such high heels as those affected by some women.

Strong, capable feet are important to their own account, indirectly they are even more important. Unwillingness to use painful feet in wholesome play and needed exercise has frequently been responsible for a general weakness of the entire body. This general weakness invites specific infections and disorders which are responsible for serious disease and premature death.

Weak ankles and feet may be permanently strengthened by a simple exercise. Turn toes in, heels far apart. Rise quickly on tip toe, sink slowly to heel. Repeat 15 times. Gradually increase number as strength increases. Toes should not be turned out in standing and walking. Keep feet parallel.

BUSINESS METHODS NEEDED FOR FARMING

That the successful farmer of the future will closely follow the examples of successful men in the commercial world and introduce better business methods into his work, is the opinion of Charles K. Graham, director of agriculture at the Hampton Institute, Virginia, who spoke at one of the sessions of the Wisconsin Farmers' Course when in session at Madison.

Proper rotation of crops, careful apportionment of manure and human labor in such a manner that none is ever idle, the planning of work months ahead, and the introduction of the line of farming best suited to a given locality are the largest profits are to be made.
