Waters Quickly Engult Ship.

The doomed ones had little time even to pray. They were engulfed by the onrushing waters that swallowed tie big ship inside of nineteen minuses from the time she was struck. The wireless operators on the Em-

Calls for Inquiry.

London, May 30 .- The London morning papers in commenting editorially on the disaster call for a thorough investigation as to whether the bulkheads were closed, and, if so, how was it that the most modern system of watertight compartments failed to keep the ship from sinking?

The claim for the Empress of Ireland will be the heaviest suffered by the Lloyds underwriters since the sinking of the Titanic. It is expected that the disaster will give a serious check to the scheme for establishing a Canadian Lloyds, with a view of reducing the rates charged in London for insuring vessels navigating the St. Lawrence.

Statistics show that the underwriters have consistently lost money on such voyages, owing to the dangers of the river and the prevalence of fogs and ice. The Times, in an editorial, considers that nothing could have saved the Empress of Ireland, considering the nature of the pllision, but asks: "What was the Storstad doing to run into the Empress of Ireland with such suddenness and violence?"

Passengers Saved From Empress of Ireland Relate Thrilling Stories of Rescue Work.

Quebec .- Thrilling tales of heroism, stories of futile fights for life, narratives that tell of the horrors of that fateful few moments after the Empress of Ireland was rammed by the Storstad poured from the lips of the rescued when the special train bearing them reached this city

There was little voiced criticism for the terrible loss of life; rather those who had been snatched from the laws of death seemed anxious to tell of men who had proven themselves heroes in the supreme moments of their lives.

Special praise was given to the work of Dr. James F. Grant of Victoria, B. C., ship surgeon on the Empress. To his coolness was credited the saving of a large number of persons taken out of the water who probably would have perished had they not received prompt medical attention.

Surgeon's Own Narrow Escape. A graphic description of the scene on the Empress of Ireland after the collision was given by Doctor Grant. "I was in my cabin," said the ship's surgeon, "and knew nothing of the accident until the boat listed so that I tumbled out of my berth and then rolled under it. I tried to turn on the light, but there was no power. 1 erable time to open it. "When finally I got out and reached the passageway it was so steep, due to the way the ship was canted, that my efforts to climb were rendered impossible by the carpet which I was clinging to breaking away. "I then scrambled up and managed to get my head through a porthole, but I was unable to get my shoulders through. At that time the ship was lying almost flat in the water on its starboard side.

A passenger finally managed to pull me through the porthole.

Sank With One Hundred Others. "About a hundred passengers were gathered on the side of the ship at the time, but a moment after I joined them the vessel took another list and plunged to the bottom. "I next found myself in the water and swam toward the lights of the steamer Storstad, and when nearly exhausted from the struggle and the exposure I was picked up by a lifeboat. "This boat went on to the scene o the disaster and picked up a load of survivors from the water and then took them on board the Storstad.

There we were wrapped in blankets and I was provided with clothes. "When able I did what I could to help the survivors. Some of them, however, were in such exhausted condition that they died." Child Says She Saved Herself.

Only two children are known to have been saved from the wreck. A wonderful rescue was one of theselittle eight-year-old Gracie Hanagan. daughter of the leader of the Salvation were both drowned. Gracie was not told of her loss and believed at night that her father and mother would come to Quebec on the next boat

When asked how she was saved Gracie replied: "Oh, I saved myself." The child was entirely unconcerned, apparently not realizing what she had been through. No lifeboat was near when she was thrown from the Empress. She sank at once, but rose to the surface in a moment, saw a piece higher side to the lower or water of floating wood near her and seized it. side." Later she was pulled into a lifeboat. She had been benumbed to the point of exhaustion by the cold water, but kindly hands worked skilfully to revive her and she soon was entirely restored.

wife were among the saved.

"I got a life belt for my wife," said Major Attwell, "and we both jumped and water rushed into the steerage into the water together when we saw quarters. and I was surprised when I afterward came to realize the awful consequences of the crash. When we got on deck there were very few persons to be seen. In fact, the people on the deck were so few that they were hardly noticeable.

"The reason for this is that when the boat had listed to one side the stairs from the sleeping apartments up to the boat decks were very difficult, almost impossible to mount. I did not see the hole in the side of our shin as I rushed for the stairs, but I did see the water entering in such volume that it threatened to drown us before we could mount the stairs.'

Salvation Army Man's Story. A. McIntyre was in the second cabin with most of the other Salvation Army passengers. He told a vivid story of his own experiences and of what he saw as he swam to safety.

"Virtually every leading officer of the Salvation Army in Canada is gone," he said. "Commissioner Rees and his wife and the children sank and only three of this family survive. Out of our Salvation party of 150 on board probaby less than twenty were rescued.

"I was on the upper deck and therefore had a better chance to get to safety than those in the lower berths. The water came in through the portholes of the lower decks before the passengers there realized their danger or that there was danger at all.

"I was aroused from my sleep by the impact and awoke the others in my cabin. I could then hear plainly the rush of water, and I felt sure that something serious had happened. I also heard the machinery of the boat running. It did not stop immediately after the crash, but continued until the explosion occurred.

Gave Woman His Life Belt. "I grabbed a life preserver and went out to the deck. On deck there were no life belts and quite a number of people were standing about apparently

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills. In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health - many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. SYNOPSIS.

The Watermelon and James, two tramps, bantering each other regarding their personal appearance, decide to clean up, acquire new clothes and let their companion, Mike, be the judge as to who is the better looking. Watermelon goes to a barber shop, wins the contents of the cash register from the barber by a clever trick and gets a chave. He discovers a young man bathing in an automobile he discovered standing empty by the roadside. General Crossman and his daughter, Henrietta drive ap in a car. Assuming that his car is disacted, the general profers assistance. Watermelon hands him a card bearing the name William Hurgrave Batriscive. The general recognizes the name as that of a young man who broke the colton corner in Wall street a few data before. He invites him to dine with them. Watermelon is introduced to Bartistic fall in love. But it who has been eating by Batchelor's operations, plans to keep the supposed broker with him for The Watermelon and James, sighter. # HUERTA'S TERMS TO BRING PEACE

Dictator Asks Rebels to Mediation Parley.

BOARD PLAN IS REJECTED

Carranza Defies A.B.-C. Agents and Takes Stand Against Interference -Mediators to Give Rebel New Invitation to Parley.

Mexico City, June 3.-It was learned Monday from a wholly reliable source that President Huerta's proposition for the settlement of the Mexican difficulty involves primarily the admission of representatives of the rebels to the mediation conference so that questions affecting Mexico may be discussed and adjusted between Mexicans exclusively.

With that basic condition Huerta couples a rejection of the American suggestion of an interregnum or a new provisional government in Mexico, as the adoption of such a plan would imply impairment of the national sovereignty.

He proposes, on the other hand, that election for president, vice-president, senators, deputies and state governors be held July 5, according to arrangements previously made. The election in question is to be free and fair, the rebels having the privilege of exercising supervision in those portions of the country that are controlled by the government and the government agents in those portions of the country controlled by the rebels.

Finally Huerta binds himself solemnly to abide by the mediation conference and before the civilized world to hand over the supreme power to the person who shall be elected at the election thus conducted.

El Paso, Tex., June 3.-A semi-official statement issued from General Carranga's hadquarters at Durango defied the A.-B.-C. peace mediators at Niagara Falls and declared the constitutionalists would tolerate no outside interference with internal problems of

The statement holds that the constiintionalists, the conquerors of Mexico, are being dictated to by the conquered. as it is declared that the only obstacle to the entrance of the rebels to Mexico City is the destruction of the railroads. The agrarian problem, which the peace commission has been seeking to solve, is held to be an internal problem which requires no outside interference for settlement "Indeed, this is the attitude of the constitutionalists with regard to the entire proceedings of the mediators," the statement declares.

In proof of their contention that they are the conquerors of Mexico they point to what they have already accomplished in the way of driving the federale from two, thirds of area of the country

General Villa also issued a statement reiterating his allegiance as a military leader to Carranza Ningara Falls, Ont., June 3.-The A.B.C. mediators have decided to send an answer to the telegraphic note delivered to them in behalf of General Carranza, which suggests that the constitutionalists should be permitted to participate in the Niagara Falls conference.

In their response the mediators will say that a constitutionalist representative will be admitted to the conference on the condition accepted by the American and Mexican governments, namely That the constitutionalist forces shall suspend hostilities while the peace negotiations are in progress. The way for constitutionalist participation under this condition has been paved by advance assurances that the Maxican delegates will assent to it.

Washington June 3 -Since the arrival of Senor Urquidi in Magara Falls with a note from the constitutionalist junta here precipitated what was little less than a crisis in the peace conference, indications have increased of a wide difference of opinion between the A. H.C. mediators and the department of state. This divergence of view, in fact, was indicated particularly in the widely differing language of the mediators' offers of their services and Mr. Bryan's note of acceptance. The situatlon has reached a point where even the state department with its longing for peace is looking for a sterner joinder of insues.

Builders of Wisconsin Farms

Because he has followed in the path of the dairy cow, success and prosperity is the lot of the Wisconsin farmer. Because the dairy herd is the central feature upon Wisconsin farms,—the state is today the Greatest Dairy State in the Union, and one of the richest agriculturally.

The Dairy Cow Wins a Great Victory in Wisconsin

The dairy cow has won a great victory in Wisconsin. Back in the 70's there were many sections in the state where the farms were so "run down" and unproductive that they were actually abandoned. The once virgin soils no longer yielded abundant crops; their strength and fertility exhausted by continuous years of wheat raising. Farming was all but ruined. It was under these conditions that the dairy cow was introduced into Wisconsin agriculture and from that day on she has steadily restored the lost fertility to the "worn out" soils, regained the agricultural prestige of the state, and enriched her owners.

Every progressive farmer is a subscriber to farm papers. Every progressive farmer in Wisconsin should be a subscriber to a dairy farm paper,and that paper should be-

Hoard's Dairyman

Right here in your own state, almost at your door, is published the leading dairy journal of the world,—the undisputed authority of the dairy industry. Hoard's Dairyman is a wise counselor and a safe guide for the man keeping cows. It is a handbook of timely and helpful suggestions and advice. Intimately familiar with local conditions, it meets the same problems every Wisconsin farmer meets, and assists him in solving them.

HOARD'S DAIRYMAN is the only agricultural paper in Wisconsin owning a farm that is kept constantly under the direct management of its editors.

Make 1914 Your Best Year

For the coming year Hoard's Dairyman will contain many features of special finterest and value to Wisconsin farmers. It will help you to make this year your best year.
