NUMBER 41.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS GET EARLY START IN FIGHT ON CHOLERA

Shall we vaccinate the young pigs? This is a question that many of the cornbelt farmers are asking at the present time. Most authorities agree that as long as the pigs are suckling an immune sow it is unnecessary to vaccinate them. But owing to the ease with which they are handled and smaller amount of serum needed many advocate vaccination as soon as weaned.

It is the opinion of Dr. F. B. Hadley of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, that unless there is cholera in the county, it is better not to vaccinate the pigs at weaning time, but let them go until they weigh about forty-five pounds and then treat them with the serum and virus. In this way they are rendered permanently immune while, if given the treatment when very small they soon outgrow the immunity and are susceptible to the disease as soon as they are exposed. In communities where cholera has been prevalent it is best to use serum alone for virus may be a means of introducing hog cholera. He, however, recommended in the course of a recent interview that in a community all pigs be given the serum treatment at weaning time which will render them immune for a time, whether from immune or susceptible sows. Later the double treatment can be given when they have reached the required size.

Vaccinating when the pigs are young rather than letting them go until cholera gets into the neighborhood or perhaps into the herd has a threefold advantage; young pigs are easily handled; less serum is needed, and the cost is correspondingly less; and it insures against loss when they get older.

BOOST FOR UP- PER COUNTRY

The coming farmers' paradise is in the northern counties. Having purchased land in Washburn and Sawyer counties and having visited the properties several times during the last year, it becomes more of a pleasure each time the trip is made as I see more possibilities. The farm in Washburn county is a beautiful piece of ground with a large clearing and the balance can be easily cleared. The soil is adapted to raising all kinds of grain, corn and potatoes. The crop of corn on this farm last year was a good one and this soil is well adapted to raising all kinds of grain, corn and potatoes. All around our properties the hand of improvement can be seen as the brush is being cut and little homes are being built. The people who are settling there feel highly contented.

In Sawyer county the possibilities are equally as good, the ground is very fertile. The grains and potatoes raised in this county will make any southern Wisconsin farmer's mouth water, for such perfect products cannot be raised on his land. Also any lover of woods will find his ideal here, as there is lots of virgin timber that needs little effort. The sportsman also finds his dream comes true. The county is full of deer, quail, partridges, grouse, abundant with fish of all kinds which can be caught with little effort. The people already in this county are prosperous, congenial and open-hearted and make every new settler welcome and assist him in every way they can.—Milwaukee Journal.

PREFER FARM TO STORE

Roth Brothers have recently placed sixty head of Holstein cows on their mammoth farm, a few miles south of this city. The Roths are proprietors of a large store in this city, and for a time were inclined to sell their farm, but they have caught the optimistic spirit that prevails in all Upper Wisconsin at this time and are keeping the farm.

One thing that affects the situation with the Roths is the great success in producing pork from a few acres of alfalfa. There was an immense profit in alfalfa pork in Upper Wisconsin.—Pioneer Press.

WHAT WE WILL PRINT IN 1915

An exchange says: In about 1915, when we have made our stake and can print a paper just as we please, our local news column will be a great deal more interesting than it is now. Specimen locals then to appear:

Nosy old Mrs. Talker is reported to have another scandal started among women on the west side of town.

Dan Labornott has bought the first fishing pole of the season. Dan is about as lazy and good for nothing as a mortal can be.

The next time we see Jim Clever talking to Mrs. Nighthawk on a street corner at 11:15 p. m., we are going to say something more about it.

One of the Gadhers died last week. Mrs. Gader had been too busy with her club affairs to give it proper attention, but she did attend the funeral.

It looks like Jim Noguee and Dolly Ditto were going to get married. If old man Ditto accumulates a few more worthless sons-in-law, maybe he'll forget his checker board long enough to give his family a little attention.

Mrs. John Blatherskite is again putting in one of the largest grafts in town. Her lazy good-for-nothing husband claims he isn't strong enough to work. John did, however, spade up most of the ground while digging fish worms.

RINGLING CIRCUS IS ANNOUNCED

World's Greatest Shows and Spectacle
"Solomon and the Queen of Sheba"
Now On Way

Official information confirms the announcement that on July 7, Ringling Brothers' circus will give two performances in Fond du Lac. Many new features have been added this year, the most notable of which is the spectacle "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba." This colossal production is presented with a cast of 1,250 people, a ballet of 300 dancing girls, 735 horses, 32 camels and a trainload of scenery, costumes and properties on the biggest stage in the world.

Following the spectacle, a circus program of unusual brilliancy will be presented, including an array of foreign and American acts new to the circus world. The menagerie contains 1,003 wild animals, 41 elephants, five giraffes and a "baby zoo." The circus is transported on 88 double length cars. Special arrangements have been made by the railroads to accommodate the crowds that will visit the circus from this city and the surrounding country.

ENTIRE CITY ENLISTS WAR ON FLYS

Oshkosh, Wis., June 18 (Special)—Fly traps on the main street of Oshkosh are not successful because the street is now being kept so clean as a result of the clean-up and fly campaign recently started here by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, according to Miss Kate Kinney, visiting nurse, who has taken a lead in the work. The children in the school, however, turn in several thousand dead flies each day.

The whole city of Oshkosh has become so interested in the work, that the campaign bids fair to be carried on automatically all summer," said Miss Kinney today.

"War has been declared and the citizens, as well as the children, are determined that the flies are to be exterminated. Merchants are making an effort never known in the past, because they have been brought to feel that every fly in their vicinity is a reflection on their business.

"The children are organized into an army of sanitation. The officers are ranking according to the number of flies they have killed, and are given chevrons furnished by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association to show their rank."

The Inspection Department of the army has already reported several violations of the garbage ordinance and the manure ordinance which was passed recently in response to this agitation. Not only is the fly swatted but his breeding places are being taken away. Over five thousand handbills have been distributed by the Boy Scouts in this campaign in addition to the talks in all of the schools and a great deal of newspaper publicity.

Word was received at Dundee late Tuesday night of the death of Ben Schenk, of Cascade, a former resident of Dundee. His death occurred at 8 p. m. Tuesday after a day's illness with pneumonia. KEWASKUM DEFEATED BY CAMPBELLSPORT

A Very Poor Exhibition of the National Game Was Pulled Off on the Local Diamond Sunday

With a good crowd in attendance and an ideal day, the Campbellsport and Kewaskum baseball teams did battle on the local grounds nearly the whole afternoon last Sunday. It was one of the longest games ever pulled off here. The game started off with a rush by Kewaskum and they ran up a score of 8 to 0 up to the third inning, after which they became over confident and started the balloon skywards. Altenhofen and Uroan were on the firing line for Kewaskum and put up a strong defense up to about the fifth inning, when Urban gave out. From that time on it was a regular swat fest for the visitors until the end of the game. Lade and "Skinch" Martin were the opposing batter and did very good work. The only sensational play pulled off was by Pesch of Campbellsport, when he pulled down a high one in deep center. The all around good playing of Erwin Mohme was also a good feature of the game. The final score was 17 to 18. Having seen our team in action last Sunday we are certain that it contains excellent material if they only practice and use a little teamwork work. So boys get down to good hard work and there will be no fault to find with the attendance at games and support of the fans. Tomorrow, Sunday, our boys play the strong Klunke team at Boltonville. Following is the score of Sundays game by innings.

Almost every train now days, brings people here from the city to visit relatives and brighten their eyes with country scenery. Well, let them come, Kewaskum who may sustain them from a supply of fresh air remains undiminished.

Last Wednesday while Martin Bassel was carpentering on the new park dance hall, he stepped upon a loose joist and sprained his right ankle. This is the second time he has been injured while at work this season, and it will disable him for active work for some time.

Dr. Francis M. Baker and Miss Rosina Buerger of Lomira were married last Tuesday at 10 o'clock in a special train from Milwaukee brought out about 100 guests and a brass band. A delegation and band from Mayville also attended the festivities, which took place in a grove near the lake.

While cooping a car at the L. Rosenheimer elevator last Monday, P. McLaughlin was severely injured by one of the car doors, which hung attached to the ceiling when not in use. It fell and struck him in the face, inflicting such a gash that Dr. Elmergreen was called to dress the wound.

MRS. J. RUPLINGER DEAD

In her home at Allenton, on Saturday, June 13, 1914, at 3:30 p. m., Mrs. John Ruplinger passed away quite suddenly. She had been ailing for some time with diabetes but on the morning of the day of her death was up and about the house.

Mrs. Ruplinger, nee Katherine Hermbel, was born in Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, on May 4, 1848. When 12 years old she accompanied her parents to this country, locating in the town of Polk, where some of her brothers still reside. She was married at Milwaukee on January 14, 1868, to John Ruplinger, who survives her. In 1881 the family moved to this city, and a year later when the Wisconsin Central R. R. built the line through the western part of the county, they located at the newly established village of Allenton, where they have lived ever since. Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ruplinger, of whom two to survive, Helen, Mrs. John G. Mueller and Peter, both of Allenton. One adopted daughter, Rose, also survives.

The remains were taken to Milwaukee on Tuesday morning, and after services in Holy Cross church by Rev. Lorenz, were laid to rest in the family lot in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Ruplinger was a good and noble woman and her death is mourned by all who knew her.—West Bend News.

EGGS BY PARCEL POST

That eggs can be marketed successfully by parcel post, and that this method frequently secures a better price for the producer and a lessened expense to the consumer has now been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the experts in the United States Department of Agriculture.

The department conducted tests that covered a period of five months. At the end of that period it came to the conclusion that the parcel post was of particular value to the man whose flock was too small or who lives too far from express service to permit him to ship his eggs in the regular commercial case, which holds thirty dozen.

In the course of these experiments the department shipped 9,131 eggs in 46 lots. Of these 327, or slightly less than 3.6 per cent broken, but only 298, or slightly less than 2.3 per cent were absolutely wasted. The others, though cracked, could still be used. The percentage of the breakage, moreover, will be greatly reduced, it is said, when the employees of the postoffice become more accustomed to handling such fragile matter.—E. F. D. News.

WAUSAU MAN WEDS AT CAMPBELLSPORT

Miss Alma M. Husting Bride of Frank J. Schaefer. An Early Morning Wedding

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Matthew's church, Campbellsport at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Alma M. Husting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Husting, of that village became the bride of Frank J. Schaefer of Wausau. Rev. B. July performed the ceremony in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives of the bridal party.

They were attended by Miss Catherine Schaefer, a sister of the groom, and Leo Husting a brother of the bride.

The bride was crowned in white crepe meteor, trimmed with shadow lace. She wore a veil and carried a prayer book. The bridesmaid was attired in pink silk crepe and carried white roses. A reception was held for a large number of relatives at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer left the same day for a trip to the east and will be at home to their friends at Wausau after August 1st.

Mr. Schaefer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schaefer of Campbellsport, but for the past few years has been located as a jeweler in Wausau.

His bride is one of Campbellsport's popular young ladies and has a wide circle of friends.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

GROWING BOYS AND GIRLS

The following argument was presented by a fellow passenger in a recent railway journey. A faithful reproduction of his spoken word has been attempted.

"Recommend athletics for boys, and for girls too! In support of the suggestion, I'd like to offer the testimony of my own experience.

"As a youngster, I took a very keen interest in sports. As you know, I gained a fairly prominent position and some fame. All through my boyhood I was "hard as nails." Every spare minute from study, chores, etc., was taken up by some form of physical play. As a consequence I had little or no time for dissipation and I had no nerves or didn't need the stimulation of coffee and tea nor the soothing influence of cigarettes. Besides, I knew that these would spoil my chances of winning in athletic contests, and I had no time for girls, and none whatever for any kind of rough and ready kind with clean bodies and clean minds. The self-conscious, sex-conscious girls didn't interest me for a moment.

"Appetites were arked and controlled by my athletic ambitions. With high ambition in this direction, the simple diet of the training table had a glamour which overwhelmed what was considered by me, the appetite of a molyocodde. The hunger occasioned by my strenuous physical exercise and play made plain substantial food satisfying.

"There was no time to waste on listening to a telling stories that were off color. I hadn't as yet learned much about introspection. Love stories and sentimental, passionate, and poetic outpourings of the same kind were in a language I didn't understand. What did I care about unrequited love? I could easily understand the triumphs and despair of the arena, the diamond, the gridiron, and the race track. That was real life.

"Accounts of explorations, wars, strikes, and struggles of all kinds struck a responsive chord. These I could understand. Imagination worked overtime filling in the gaps in the stories. Days made up as those were are clean days. Nights were needed for sleep reinvigorating, dreamless, physical and mental relaxation.

"I have properly called attention to the dangers that may accompany competitive athletics. I've seen bad results. Nevertheless, an athletic heart is not nearly so distressing as other diseases and conditions which are prone to attack the non-athletic type of boy and girl.

"My own boys and girls are being encouraged by every means to take an absorbing interest in athletics. I am confident that, as a result, they will be cleaner young men and women, cleaner mentally, physically and morally."

A SAD ACCIDENT

A sad accident occurred near Knowles Thursday afternoon when Ben Burelbach, a young man of the town of LeRoy had the misfortune of losing the sight of one of his eyes while working about a windmill. The young man was helping repairing a windmill when in some unaccountable manner a piece of steel rope slipped into his right eye, injuring it so badly that the eye began to run out. He was rushed to the office of Dr. L. M. Bachhuber at Mayville and later he was taken to a specialist at Milwaukee. It is feared that he will lose the eye.—Lomira Review.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Foerster and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bernstein and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schirmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Matushke, all of Milwaukee, spent Sunday with the Geo. Rauch family. They made the trip in three autos belonging to the three first mentioned. On their return they were accompanied by Viola Haessly, who intends to visit at Milwaukee for some time.

WOULDN'T LET SHERIFF PASS

Once in a while a man who believes that automobiles have no right on the country highways makes a sad mistake. Frank Knetzke of the town of Barton is one of these fellows, but since he paid one dollar and costs in Justice Rix's court he will know better hereafter. Ordinarily he would have been allowed to pass on without a fine, but he tried his stunt of refusing to let an auto pass him and it happened to be Sheriff Benike who drove the auto. The sheriff decided to teach the fellow a lesson and without much fuss did so.—West Bend Pilot

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

Joseph Dhasee, who came to West Bend from Kewaskum, Ill., several weeks ago and was since then employed by Ben Alliet, the sewer builder, was arrested on Sunday on a charge of having stolen two watches and a knife off a chance board in Jac. Schaefer's saloon some time on Sunday afternoon. Dhasee was suspected soon after the articles were missed and when his room was searched by Policeman Held the articles were found. On Monday Dhasee pleaded guilty in Justice Rolf's court and was fined $100. He did not have the money to square himself but volunteered to work for the city until he had earned enough to get square. The sum of $15 was also taken out of the cash drawer of Mr. Schaefer's saloon, but Dhasee could not be connected with having taken the money.—West Bend Pilot.

The officers of the town of Addison have been informed by the attorney general of the state that a liquor license must not be granted to a certain saloon in that town, because of the fact that the license of that saloon was transferred since 1907. The saloon has been running in Allenton since that time, but as no one complained it was allowed to do business. Objection has now been made and the town board intends to comply with the ruling of the attorney general. The matter has stirred up the citizens of the town as nothing else has for years, and there is considerable ill feeling in consequence.

Fox Lake, Dodge county, reports a hen which has a camel beaten more than a mile. While workmen were engaged in pressing hay near that village a few days ago they opened a stack put up last July and were surprised to find a hen imprisoned in the center. The hen was alive, and three eggs were found deposited nearby. She had worked a hole in the hay about two feet square and had evidently lived on the seed in the hay, but had been without water for nearly a year.

While returning home from Allenton last week, Anton Schaefer had the misfortune to break the rear axle of his motor bus, as he was coming down the hill near the Brown farm. He had a number of passengers but as he was running slowly no one was hurt. A new axle was received this week and put on the bus. Mr. Schaefer is assuredly glad to have the Allenton garage at present.—Hartford Press.

Two clever crooks secured $45 from the safe of the Singer Sewing Machine agency of Sheboygan last Saturday. While one of them engaged the attention of the cashier in the basement on the pretense of buying a crate the other removed the money from the unlocked safe and escaped.

G. G. Gollmar, founder of the Gollmar Brothers' circuses, died at Baraboo June 5, at the age of 90 years. He came to Baraboo in 1851.

SYNOPSIS.

Watermelon and James, two brawny banters each other regarding their personal appearance. He decides to clean up, acquire new clothes and let their companion, Mike, be the judge as to who is the better looking. Watermelon goes to a barber shop, wins the winks of the cash register from the barber by a clever trick and gets a shave. He discovers a young man bathing in a lake and steals his clothes. While sitting in an automobile he discovered standing empty by the roadside, General Crossman and his daughter, Henrietta. He drives up in a car. Assuming that his car is disabled, the general offers assistance. Watermelon hands him a card bearing the name William Hargrave Bachelor. The general recognizes the name as that of a young man who broke the cotton corner in Wall street a few days before. He invites him to dine with them. Watermelon is introduced to Bartlett, a big Wall street operator, and his daughter, Billy, whom he proceeds not to fall in love. Bartlett, who has been stung by Hatcher's operations, plans to keep the supposed broker with him for a week while he works a coup in the market. He gives instructions to his broker. While chatting with Billy, the telegraph boy tips off Bartlett's message to Watermelon. Watermelon slips away and tells his hobo companions of his adventure and asks them to find Bachelor and give him the tramp clothes. The party starts out with Bartlett's and Crossman's cars. Late at night they come to a deserted house, break in and eat their lunch. They spend the night in the house. In the morning Watermelon discovers that the police are coming. He tries to escape, but is stopped by the officers who are hunting for Hatcher's accomplices. A clever ruse gets them out of trouble. As Bartlett had planned the party becomes lost.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

Billy and the Watermelon soon drifted away by themselves up a tiny cove lane, fragrant with sweetbrier. They wandered up it side by side, like two children, neither saying a thing, content to be together. At the end of the lane they leaned for a while on the pasture bars.

The two stood side by side, their elbows on the top rail, their hands before them. They said nothing. There was nothing to say, just the night and they two, alone, among the sweetbriers and the fireflies.

Now and then Billy sighed, unconsciously and happily. A great silence had enveloped Billy for the last two days, a silence in which she was content to dream and in which words seemed superfluous and uncalled for.

Without warning the bushes at her side parted and a cow with great, gentle eyes peered out at them. So near that Billy could feel the breath, warm and sweet, upon her cheek. With a little cry, she shrank close to the Watermelon.

He felt her slender body, soft and yielding, nestling against him, smelt the fragrance of her curly hair, and suddenly a great tide of longing, of passion, of desire welled up in him and choked him. He wanted to crush her to him, to cover eyes and hair with kisses, to hold her so tightly that she would cry for release. All the unexpressed feelings of the past few years surged over him and threatened to carry both forever out of sight of land and decency. But, blindly, not knowing what he did, he turned from her and picked up a stick to hurl at the cow. She had turned to him in

CHAPTER XV.

Love in Idleness.

One not born a vagabond in heart can never understand a vagabond's love for the open places, for absolute freedom, to go where he wants, see what he wants, work when he wants, be a vagabond an office is intolerable, the accumulation of dollars, grinding another man to gain a petty advance for oneself, utterly uninspiring, conventionality, the ceaseless humdrum round of existence as a clerk at ten per cent, revolting.

For the last few years the Watermelon's feet had followed his errand the incredulous bookseller he held it at arms' length, looking at it curiously as he turned it from side to side and from end to end; then he cautiously examined the title page, with its "th edition," which he greeted with a guttural "Huh!"

Next he turned to the last page and read the concluding sentence with another grunt of astonishment. Then he dipped into the volume in two or three places, and finally, satisfied that he was not being deceived, handed back the book to Giuseppe without looking at him, and said:

"Well, well! dot brooves dot you must neffer trow a poy." The Century.

One of His Off Years.

"You seem harmless," said the police justice, "but the officer reports you as having no visible means of support. Haven't you any trade or occupation?"

"I have, your honor," responded the man; "I'm an enumerator. I'm out of a job just now, your honor, but every ten years I help take the national census."

will, now here, now there. He was impervious to hardship while he could wander as he wished, indifferent to good clothes when the price was eight hours a day spent in a stuffy office, bent, round-shouldered, hump-backed, over a column of figures. Beneath good clothes or shabby, there was nothing but a human body, all more or less alike. So the Watermelon had gone his careless, contented way, now resting here, now working there, unworried by rent days falling due, by collars fraying around the edges, coats getting shabby and shiny at the seams, and then Billy came along, Billy, young, sweet, conventional, an honored member of convention's band, walking around and around the same well-beaten path, in the same small enclosure. If he had elected to be one of the throng, he would never have met her.

But now he was out and a fence unscalable was between them. If he climbed the fence again, it would do no good.

Bartlett, like Billy, wondered if he were growing simple-minded. A desire to confide in Henrietta, to tell her what he was up to, had come upon him and seemed too strong to be resisted. Last night, up the quiet country road, alone with Henrietta, he had been forced to suppress the desire sternly, and now in the garish light of day it was still upon him. He took a seat beside her on the stone wall where she tried to be comfortable as she fished olives from a nearly empty bottle, the remains of last night's supper.

"I wonder," said he, hovering on the edge of his foolish desire, "if any one can become a man with nothing to regret."

"Certainly not," said Henrietta. "There would always be the years."

"I mean something that he had done himself," explained Bartlett soberly. "Don't tell me your troubles," said Henrietta, thinking miserably of the years it would soon be so hard to deny. "I have enough of my own. Confession may be good for the soul, but it's the death-blow to your reputation."

"Father used to say that if there were public confession instead of private in the Catholic church, there would be no Catholics," said the Watermelon.

"Let's have a public confession," cried the artless Billy. "Everybody tell the worst thing they ever did in their lives."

The Watermelon laughed and leaned toward her, a moth flirting with the candle flame. "Oh, kid; I'll bet the worst you ever did was to swipe the jam-pot when ma wasn't looking."

"No," said Billy, "I did an awful thing once."

"Let's hear it."

Billy took the olive bottle from Henrietta, speared an olive and passed the bottle on before she spoke. "Will you confess, if I do?" she asked, pausing with the olive half way to her mouth.

"Sure," said the Watermelon. "I robbed an apple orchard once."

"You're fooling," accused Billy. "I'm not. I'm really serious."

"So am I," vowed the Watermelon. "Billy," said Henrietta, "spare us. I am too young to listen to a tale of depravity."

But the lure of the confessional held Billy and she passed Henrietta's remark without notice. She turned to the Watermelon. "If I tell you the worst thing I ever did, will you tell me the worst you ever did?"

"I haven't done the worst yet," explained the Watermelon.

The general having nearly wrecked the cars and seen the damage repaired by Alphonse, hurried to the four sitting.

"Come on," said he. "It is time we were going. We have no blue book, you know."

"I shouldn't wonder," said Henrietta, "if there were not a rare chance for some one to confess a heinous crime."

She looked at Bartlett as he held out his hand to help her down and her eyes leaned deep into his.

"In self-defense—" he pleaded in a whisper.

So in the freshness of the early morning they dipped down the hill into the valley, passed farm-houses and corn lands. They stopped about nine at a farm-house and partook of a breakfast of coffee, bacon and eggs. Alphonse filled the cars at a village store and they went on. The glory of the day, the close proximity of Henrietta, who sat beside him, dainty, merry, feminine, the success so far of his plan, which in his saner moments he still cherished, raised Bartlett's spirits higher and higher and they went faster and faster. Farm-houses appeared and disappeared in a cloud of dust. Lakes were seen one moment and gone the next. They swept around a bend in the road and into a man trap, a pile of wood across the road and three farmers waiting grimly with loaded guns.

The Watermelon in the tonneau of the general's car, with Billy, straightened up with a sickening fear of being arrested in her presence. The fun and excitement of the adventure had disappeared. In their stead stalked the grim reality of the fear of exposure, of the surprise, scorn, per-available in a largely protruding length.

Now this is to be altered. The shopper buys her hat and the saleswoman, with the aid of her gullotine, clips the hatpin to the exact size. With just a twirl a new point is turned in the place of the one beheaded; another twirl and the pin is polished ready for use, protruding only the fraction of an inch.

In the Days of Prosperity.

Discussing the high cost of living, Henry J. Oliphant, a Des Moines banker, said frankly at a banquet:

"The price of a commodity is what it will bring, and, when monopoly is once secured, that price mounts pretty high. Look at oil, look at meat."

"But all this spells prosperity," I said to be a trust magnate the other day.

"I suppose your wife goes to church to see what other women are wearing?"

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

William Pitt

Move chicken coops often.

Whitewash the chicken coops.

Keep the chickens busy and hungry.

Why not corn, clover, cows and cash?

Be sure the horses have good, deep, clean beds.

In preparing the land for alfalfa it is best to go slow.

Pasture and forage crops are needed to make cheap pork.

Work the butter just enough to distribute the salt evenly.

Good pastures are essential for profitable beef production.

It takes a mighty good cow to hold her own with 25 average hens.

Rutabagas are a good rooting crop for the hogs to harvest next fall.

Do not cover fine seed deeply. Put on just enough dirt to cover the seed.

The selection of the sire is a very important factor in building up a dairy herd.

If sows are kept near the male hog they can usually be bred at about the same time.

Exercise, alfalfa, a little corn, and slop will keep the brood sow in excellent condition.

Exercise the greatest cleanliness in all your work in connection with the rearing of small chicks.

The increasing demand for milk products indicates that there is money ahead for the wise dairyman.

In curing alfalfa hay, the main aim should be to save all the leaves and to keep the plants from bleaching.

San Jose scale appeared and caused much destruction of fruit trees in California more than thirty years ago.

A clean coop and plenty of fresh air and exercise will do much toward keeping chicks healthy and growing.

For forage purposes the sweet sorghums usually produce a greater tonnage to the acre than either kafir or corn.

If the young sows are fed as liberally as they should be to properly develop them, the old ones will become too fat.

Keep the pigs growing rapidly, by feeding through the sow, and by inducing them to eat in an inclosure by themselves.

Before turning the young horses and colts to pasture, have the teeth of each one examined by a competent veterinary surgeon.

As a general rule, the best milking ewes are the ones to suffer from the low nutritive food value of spring and early summer pasture.

The kind and amount of commercial fertilizer to use should be determined by the value of the crop grown and its power of acquiring food.

Sitting hens should be kept free from lice and given a chance to eat all the whole corn, grit and charcoal that they want at least once every day.

The litmus paper is an absolutely reliable test for the presence of acids, but when applied as a soil test it does not indicate all that we need to know.

Both sorbeans and cowpeas are highly nutritious feeding stuffs and by reason of their high protein content are especially valuable for feeding with corn.

To obtain the full value of crimson clover as a fertilizer, the entire green crop should be plowed under, thus adding to the soil a large quantity of nitrogen and humus, or decayed vegetable matter.

Nothing beautifies a home more than hardy vines. Remember this in making up the nursery order. Half a dozen different vines planted about the dwelling can be made to produce a shower of flowers throughout the summer and fall.

See that the young sow raises the right number of pigs (from eight to ten, according to her capacity and milk flow) or none at all, as otherwise her udder will be poorly developed and she probably always will raise small litters.

Pasteurization of skim-milk and whey before returning them to farms from creameries and cheese factories so as to avoid unnecessary spreading of tuberculosis and contagious abortion germs, is advocated by E. G. Hastings of the University of Wisconsin dairy department. He believes that the advantages of such pasteurization warrant the extra labor and equipment necessary.

Finishing cattle early in the summer is usually more profitable than finishing them later in the season.

Keep the chicks growing.

Feed the chicks for growth.

Rape is used as a soiling crop.

There is money in raising apples.

Plant pasture grasses over the waste lands.

Handle the colts carefully and intelligently.

Any check in a calf's growth is a loss to the owner.

Study individual tastes in the cows, and feed accordingly.

Young pigs need plenty of exercise, sunshine and dry beds.

It is an established fact that young cockleburrs will kill hogs.

A good lawn and garden will make the home brighter and better.

Remember that sheep like a short bite, but don't let it be too short.

Green rye and alfalfa, equal parts, will make a fair grade of ensilage.

A sore on the breast or shoulders of a horse is a rebuke to the driver.

Sheep must have shade in the pasture. They never graze in the hot sun.

A dozen sheep are more effective weed destroyers than a man and a hoe.

Nearly a million women in the United States are either farmers or farm laborers.

It is a waste of time and labor to plant corn on rough, badly prepared, thin ground.

If the butter is to go on the market it should be put in neat, attractive packages.

Thin steers when put on pasture make larger and cheaper daily gains than fleshy ones.

If beginning in the poultry business be sure you get healthy stock or eggs from healthy stock.

The more milk a sow gives after her pigs are old enough to take it, the faster they will grow.

Don't burn the straw. Use it for bedding for the stock and return it to soil to renew fertility.

At this time of year a good sized hen, like a Plymouth Rock, can cover 15 eggs if given a snug nest.

Try to give the chicks, chick-size grit and charcoal in such a way that they cannot help but find it.

There is no excuse for stacking alfalfa, for one can make big interest on money that is invested in barns.

For every cherry that a robin eats, he should be credited with destroying perhaps thousands of injurious insects.

Rye straw makes the best bedding for stock. Do not be too economical with it. Place a foot deep under the stock.

Hogs should have plenty of clean, fresh water to drink. They prefer clean to muddy water and it is more healthful.

Rape is used in a small way only as a soiling crop to grow near the barn and cut for hogs or other stock when pastures are dry.

More than in any other branch of farming, success in poultry raising depends on regularly and faithfully doing the little things.

Weed seed and small grain will never produce a profitable crop when run through the seeder. Look out for your seed before sowing.

With a pair of tinsmith's shears remove all the black teeth that are present in the young pig's mouth as soon after farrowing as possible.

Frequent change of pasture and the feeding of supplemental forage and grain are excellent means of assisting in keeping the ewes in good flesh condition.

Weeds should be killed as soon as they begin to grow, but the primary reason for cultivating is to maintain the proper proportion of air and moisture in the soil.

There is a growing interest in saving and improving old neglected orchards. Do not cut down a single tree until convinced that it is wholly useless. If necessary, consult an expert orchardist.

Hogs should have warm, dry beds during the chilly nights of late spring and early fall and during cold, wet weather in summer. This will prevent many cases of pneumonia, probably a greater hog-killer from year to year than cholera.

Brooder chicks require less heat during the late spring and summer than the early hatches. Ninety and 95 degrees for the first ten days is a good temperature, but after this it should never go higher than 75 and with it plenty of fresh air.

There are fewer blackberries grown than any other berries, although no fruit meets with a more ready sale or brings a higher price in the market than the blackberry and no fruit is more delicious. They make the best of pies and are most excellent in various ways. They bring from ten to twelve cents per basket and they are a berry that is easily picked if they are properly handled.

The cow is a beautiful machine, but the engineer must be on his job to get proper results and satisfaction.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued it until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and feel good. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 196 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

Two Texas doctors met on the street. "I feel sorry for you. You ought not to be out in this kind of weather. You are a sick man," said Dr. Blister. "I am not feeling very well," replied Dr. Snoonover.

"What doctor is treating you?" "I am prescribing for myself." "You shouldn't do that. You are liable to be arrested for attempted suicide."

Wanted to See Novelty.

A little girl's uncle wrote her a letter, using a "script" typewriter, the letters of which were joined as those in ordinary handwriting. The little girl noticed the difference between this type and that more generally used, with interest.

"Oh, uncle, uncle," she cried, upon her next visit to his office, "I want to see the typewriter that writes words instead of letters!"

Bachelor girls outnumber marriageable men in San Jose, Cal., three to one.

Love stories are so attractive that a girl is liable to forget to wash the dishes.

The Source of Uric Acid

Eating too much is a common habit that does a lot of harm. Meat, especially, forms uric acid and the constant filtering of acid-laden blood weakens the kidneys. Uric acid causes rheumatic and nervous troubles, weakens the eyes, forms gravel and leads to dropsy and Bright's disease. Kidney weakness gives early warnings, however, such as backache and urinary disorders and can be stopped by prompt treatment. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended and most widely used kidney remedy.

A Wisconsin Case

"For years I had kidney disease," says Mrs. Andrew Nelson, of 423 Evergreen Ave., Kenosha, Wis. "My complexion was often confined in bed. Puffy spots came under my eye, and one doctor told me an operation was necessary. When I had almost given up hope of ever being well, I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I passed several kidney stones and from that time I improved until I was able to do my usual work. I have since been in the best of health."

New Indian Animal Stories

How the Rabbit Stole the Otter's Tail

By JOHN M. OSKISON

Color the Animals to Suit Yourself.

Copyright, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Long time ago the animals met and held a council to decide who had the finest coat. In those days, they were always quarreling about their good looks, for they did not have enough to do to keep themselves busy.

Far up the creek lived the otter—so far that he very seldom came down to visit the other animals. It was said that the otter had a very fine coat, but it had been such a long time since any of them had seen him that no one could remember just how it looked.

When the word went out to come to the council the rabbit said he would go and make sure that the otter would come. And to himself the rabbit said:

"I must have the most beautiful coat of all at the council. I will go to the otter, and if his coat is as fine as I think it is, I must plan a way to steal it and wear it at the council."

So the rabbit went up the creek to where the otter lived and invited him to the council. As soon as he saw the otter, the rabbit knew that his soft brown fur coat was the most beautiful of all.

"The animals sent me to bring you to the council," said the rabbit to the otter. "It is a long way from here, and I will be glad to go with you." The otter thanked him and they started back to the council.

They traveled all day and at night they made a camp. The rabbit selected the camping ground, for as he said to the otter, "you are a stranger here and I know just what to do."

After he had cut some little bushes for beds and they had finished their supper, the rabbit took a stick and began to shave it down to the shape of a paddle. The otter asked him:

"What are you doing that for?"

"Oh," said the rabbit, "I have good dreams when I sleep with a paddle under my head."

Then the rabbit cut a clear path from the fire to the edge of the stream. "Why are you doing that?" asked the otter.

"I will tell you," said the rabbit. "This place is very near the Fire Sky, and maybe it will rain fire tonight. You go to sleep and I will sit up and watch. If it does begin to rain fire I will shout. Then you jump right up and run to the water. But first hang up your coat on a limb over there, so that it won't get burnt."

And so the otter hung his coat on a limb and went sound asleep. After a while the fire burned down to red coals; the rabbit called, but the otter never stirred; he called again, but the otter was too sound asleep to hear.

Then the rabbit took up some hot coals on the paddle he had made and threw them into the air. At the same time he shouted, "It is raining fire! Run to the water, Mr. Otter!"

The otter woke up and saw hot coals falling all around him, and he lost no time in running to the river and jumping in. Then the rabbit took the otter's coat, put it on and went to the council.

At the council every one thought the otter had a beautiful coat, but he was very bashful, for he kept a paw over his face all the time. Finally the bear came up and pulled the paw away and there was the rabbit with his split lip! Before the bear could catch him the rabbit jumped up and got away.

But the bear got a piece of his stall and so now the rabbit has only a stump of a tail left; and, besides, the rabbit had to give back the otter's coat.

Exclamations.

Among the queer exclamations now in everyday use, "Hello!" and "Hurrah!" have perhaps the queerest origins attributed to them. It is said that the people of Carnwood forest, Leicestershire, England, when they desire to hail a person at a distance, call out not "hello!" but "halloo!" This, a well known author says, is simply a survival of the time when one cried to another: "A loup! a loup!" or "A wolf! a wolf!"

OPPORTUNITY FOR FARM BOY

Washington and Lincoln Were Men of Great Strength and Had Advantage of Open Air.

For city boys, the correspondence schools and night schools afford the best means available in continuing an education. The main difficulty encountered is the fact that their hours of employment leave no time or strength for study. Many have impaired their health in attempting more than their strength would permit. Washington and Lincoln were men of great strength and endurance, and had the advantage of open-air life in their youth. This is a tremendous advantage. All farm boys have it, and advantage have an advantage in many things after they leave school. Farm places a educational. The farmer who works his eyes and mind open grows bigger intellectually every day that he lives. The country agricultural agent, or demonstrator, adds to this advantage. He brings the school to the farm. With his help and suggestions, the boys on the farm can develop themselves in a way that makes the educational advantages of the city negligible importance.

Diseases of School Children.

Tuberculosis of the lungs is the leading cause of death among American children during the period of school life. Next in order are accidents, diphtheria and croup, typhoid fever, and diseases of the heart. Out of a total of 51,603 deaths from all causes at ages of five to nineteen, 24,518, or 47.5 per cent, are caused by these five diseases. Tuberculosis causes 14.3 per cent and accidents 13.8 per cent of the mortality among children of school age. The figures are given in an article in the School Review.

Who Could Resist?

Alfred was having one of his "bad" days, and upon coming to the table began to cry. He was sent to the kitchen to wait until the family had finished. Several minutes afterward, when the incident was forgotten by all but small Alfred, the kitchen door opened softly and a small red head and a pair of dancing eyes, but a very serious little face, was thrust into the dining room, while a pathetic little voice said: "Anybody here call Alfred?"

Edna Was Curious.

Small Edna gazed thoughtfully into her grandmother's wrinkled face. "Grandma," she said, "I'd like to have your face when it was green."

FOR THOSE FOND OF ALMONDS

Desirable Dessert Dish That is Made With the Addition of Gelatin and Sugar.

One cupful of sweet almonds, blanched and chopped fine, half a box of gelatin soaked two hours in half a cupful of cold water. When the gelatin is sufficiently soaked put three tablespoonfuls of sugar into a saucepan over the fire and stir until it becomes liquid and looks dark; then stir the chopped almonds thoroughly into it; turn it out on a platter and set aside to cool. When the sugar and almonds mixture has cooled break it up in a mortar, put in a cup and half of milk and cook for ten minutes. Now beat together the yolks of two eggs with a cupful of sugar and add to the cooking mixture; add also the gelatin until smooth and well dissolved; take from the fire, set in cold water and beat until it begins to thicken; add two quarts of whipped cream and turn the whole carefully into molds, set on ice to become firm. Spongecake is then placed around the mold or lady fingers, halved if more convenient.

Onion in Salad.

Onion is indispensable to a good salad, but its presence should never be obvious. The best way to conceal it is to rub the sides of the dish with a section of an onion, and not to put any onion in the salad at all. Another way is to use half a teaspoonful of onion juice in the salad dressing. This is for the French dressing, of oil and vinegar, salt and pepper. The juice is obtained by grating the onion. It is well to set aside a small grater for this purpose, as the onion will cling to it. Grate the juice into a saucer and use no more than a half teaspoonful to a small salad.

Carrots.

After scraping four carrots, cut into long slices. Cover with cold water for half an hour. Then put them into a saucepan of stock and allow them to simmer until tender. Drain and pass through a colander. Beat two eggs until light and add them to the carrots with a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, onion juice if desired, and a tablespoonful of sweet cream. Fill into timbale or ordinary cups. Let them cook in a pan of boiling water for twenty minutes, the cups covered with greased paper. Turn from the cups, garnish with parsley or freshly cooked peas and serve hot.

Wedding Cake.

One pound of butter and same of sugar, thoroughly mixed together; 1 pound of eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, putting the whites in first, with the butter and sugar, and blend thoroughly. Add 2 pounds of raisins, 3 of currants, teaspoonful each of clove and mace, 1 tablespoonful each of cinnamon and allspice, 1/2 cupful molasses, 1 pound of pastry flour, teaspoonful of cream tartar, 1/2 teaspoonful soda, dissolve in little water, the yolks of the eggs, and 1/2 pound of citron, cut fine, and added last, when in pans. Makes the good-sized loaves. Bake eight hours in a slow oven.

Bear Pot Roast.

Two pounds of chuck steak, one cupful carrots cut into small pieces, one cupful potatoes cut into small pieces, one and one-fourth cupfuls sliced onion. Cover the meat with boiling water; place cover on bean pot and let meat cook in a moderate oven for two hours, then add vegetables, cut in half-inch cubes, season to taste. Cook until vegetables are tender; about an hour and a half; then serve, pouring a sauce over the meat made from one cupful of the liquid in which meat was cooked, thickening with flour.

California Nut Cake.

One cupful of sugar, one egg, one-half cupful of butter, two thirds cupful of sweet milk, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half level teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful chopped raisins, one-half cupful chopped walnut meats. A little cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Save a little flour out to mix raisins and nuts. Bake in cup cake tins. Hickory nuts or butternuts make a richer cake.

Rye Bread.

Pour 2 cupfuls of scalded milk on 2 tablespoonfuls each of sugar and butter and 1 teaspoonful salt. When lukewarm add 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1/2 cupful lukewarm water, 2 cupfuls rye flour of caraway seeds and 6 cupfuls rye flour. Toss on the slightly floured board and knead in 1/2 cupful of entire wheat flour. Cover and let rise until it has doubled its bulk. Shape into loaves, put in greased pans, cover, again let rise and bake.

Fish Turbot.

Here is a nice recipe called fish turbot: Steam a white fish until tender, take out bones and sprinkle with pepper and salt. For dressing heat one pint of milk and thicken with one and one-half cupfuls chopped parsley and season with onion and parsley; put in baking dish a layer of fish, then a layer of sauce until full. Cover with crumbs and bake one-half hour.

Turbans of Fish.

Take slices of halibut about one-half inch thick, cut into fillets, dip in a mixture of one-quarter melted butter, the juice of one lemon, a little onion juice and a sprinkle of salt and pepper. Roll up like a little rosette, fasten with a toothpick and roast 20 minutes. Serve with cheese sauce and potato spikes.

To Prevent Jam Burning.

To prevent jam or marmalade or anything of that kind from burning, butter the bottom of the preserving pan before putting the contents into it. This also prevents them boiling over.

French Chef's Advice.

Soup should never be salted while cooking until it has been thoroughly skimmed, as salt prevents the scum from rising.

400,000 Settlers a Year

Immigration figures show that the population of Canada increased during 1913, by the addition of 400,000 new settlers from the United States and Europe. Most of these have gone on farms in provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lord William Percy, an English Nobleman, says: "The possibilities and opportunities offered by the Canadian West are so infinitely greater than those which exist in England, that it seems absurd to think that people should be impeded from coming to the country where they can most easily and certainly improve their position."

New districts are being opened up, which will make accessible a great number of homesteads in districts especially adapted to mixed farming and grain raising.

At first an attempt was made to disguise the outbreak of hostilities between Carranza and Villa by giving out a statement that Villa had resigned to become governor of the state of Chihuahua, but the truth became known when the news of the confiscation of Carranza's offices was supplemented by reports of the arrest of Carranza's agents.

At the same time the report that Villa had resigned as commander of the northern military zone was semi-officially confirmed.

SUFFRAGE LAW VALID

ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT SAYS STATUTE IS O. K.

Gives Women Undisputed Right to Vote for All Statutory Offices of State.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Woman's right to the ballot in Illinois has been upheld by the supreme court. By the vote of 4 to 3 the justices decided that the equal suffrage law was constitutional.

Justice Frank W. Dunn of Charleston wrote the majority opinion, in which he was joined by Justice James H. Cartwright of Oregon, Justice Orin N. Carter of Chicago and Justice Alonzo K. Vickers of East St. Louis. All are Republicans.

Three separate dissenting opinions were filed by Justice George A. Cooke of Aledo, Justice Charles C. Craig of Galesburg and Justice William M. Farmer of Vandalia.

The justices who dissented contended that the granting of women the right to vote is in violation of the state constitution.

The majority opinion, which holds the Illinois legislature did not go beyond its constitutional powers in granting the right to women to vote for all statutory offices, which includes presidential electors, as set out in the 1913 act, and that the act in all of its details is "good."

By the terms of the decision the entire act is held constitutional, including the right to vote at local option elections and on all "little ballot" questions which are not specifically forbidden by the constitution.

Chicago, June 16.—A mild, tremendous round of applause and the singing of "Illinois" and other patriotic songs, woman suffrage was nearly unanimously endorsed by the twelfth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs meeting in the Auditorium theater. When the result of the vote was announced by President Pennybacker, the entire assemblage arose and gave a shout of joy.

BANK BOARD NAMED

PRESIDENT WILSON NOMINATES MEMBERS OF FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD.

TO NAME GOVERNOR LATER

Charles S. Hamlin, P. M. Warburg, T. D. Jones, W. C. P. Harding and A. C. Miller Are Appointed—Banks Are in Good Condition.

Washington, June 17.—Charles S. Hamlin of Massachusetts, assistant secretary of the treasury, was nominated by President Wilson on Monday to be a member of the federal reserve board for two years.

Paul M. Warburg of New York for a term of four years.

Thomas D. Jones of Illinois for a term of six years.

W. C. P. Harding of Alabama for a term of eight years.

A. C. Miller of California, assistant secretary of the interior, for a term of ten years.

The president also nominated John B. McLaughlin of Denver, Colo., to be surveyor general of Colorado.

The declination of Simmons of St. Louis made way for Hamlin's appointment after he had been temporarily dropped from consideration.

August 1 is the date agreed upon by administration officials for the inauguration of the federal reserve system.

Comptroller of the Currency John Skelton Williams has announced by July 1 the balloting for directors of the reserve banks in classes A and B will have been completed.

The condition of the banks in the wheat belt at the present time is not unlikewise upon Secretary McAdoo and other financial officials as being favorable.

The farmers in the wheat belt already are beginning to harvest a bumper crop, and although the demands on the banks for money are great, they are being met with comparative ease.

This lack of friction at the time when the greatest strain on the banks is felt is looked upon by the direct effect of the passage of the new currency law.

But should the strain on the banks in the wheat regions become too great to be met by the ordinary means, it is expected that the regional reserve system will be in full operation in time to forestall any depression.

Following this first call upon the functions of the new system will come the big demand for the moving of the autumn crops. But by that time it is expected that every cog in the new system will be working so smoothly that no obstacles will be encountered which cannot be overcome with alacrity.

The selection of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago merely as one of the members of the federal reserve board comes somewhat as a surprise in view of the fact that it was confidently expected that Jones would be named as governor of the board. President Wilson, however, has decided that he will not name the governor for some time to come.

Jones is a Chicago lawyer, a former Princeton university trustee and a personal friend of the president.

HUGE GUARD FOR KING

1,000 POLICE PROTECT GEORGE AT ASCOT RACE COURSE.

British Ruler in Fear of Attack by Militant Suffragettes.

London, England, June 17.—Never before has such precautions been taken to guard members of the royal family from the suffragettes as were taken at the Ascot race course. The opening of the leading society race meeting found more than 1,000 London policemen and hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard assembled on the historic course as re-enforcements for the regular Berkshire county police, which had been mobilized in full strength.

A large contingent of resident Americans were among those invited to the royal inebriety. These included Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, and Mrs. Page, with the members of the embassy staff; Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Philip J. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Col. Edward M. House of Texas.

The Daily Mail asserts that a suffragette plot was disclosed to the authorities to blow up the reservoirs at Woolwich, which supply a large section of eastern London with water. A strong force of police was assigned to protect them.

James A. De Rothschild's Broadway, a four-year-old bred in the United States, won the Ascot stakes, the principal race on the first day of the Royal Ascot meeting. Asparagus was second and The Guller third. Twenty-four ran.

The stakes are valued at $10,000 and the distance is two miles.

RAILROADS WIN AND LOSE

Flat Raise of Rates Denied, But Increases of 1 to 5 Per Cent Are Given Where Justified.

Washington, June 17.—The salient points of the decision of the interstate commerce commission on the petition of the railroads of the eastern division of the country for a five per cent increase in rates are:

1. The commission will deny the application for a flat increase of three per cent.

2. However, it will grant increases ranging from one to five per cent and perhaps higher on commodities now transported below cost.

3. It will decline to make advances on certain other commodities.

4. The public will be emphatically warned that the increases ordered do not justify any advance in the prices of food or other necessities.

5. The railroads will be denounced for engaging in a gigantic conspiracy to create a public sentiment in favor of the five per cent increase and against the commission.

The task of making equitable rates upon the thousand upon thousand commodities is a tremendous one, and is responsible for the delay of the commission in filing its decision. Frequently a change in the rate for the transportation of one commodity affects the rates upon hundreds of others.

The commission has completed part of the work. But a vast amount remains to be done. It is not believed the commission will be able to report much before a month.

GEN. VILLA BREAKS OFF WITH CARRANZA

MEXICAN REBEL LEADER RESIGNS AND SEIZES OFFICES OF HIS SUPERIOR.

THROWS HIS ENEMIES IN JAIL

Breach Between Revolution Heads is Believed to Be Due to Long Standing Jealousy—Villa Seizes Telegraph Office.

El Paso, Tex., June 17.—The long predicted and often denied split between Gen. Carranza, the nominal head of the Mexican rebels, and Gen. Pancho Villa, his ablest and most successful general, materialized Tuesday night when Carranza's offices at Juarez were seized by Villa's supporters, and similar confiscations were reported to have taken place at Chihuahua City and Torreon, where Villa remained on Tuesday.

At the same time the report that Villa had resigned as commander of the northern military zone was semi-officially confirmed.

At first an attempt was made to disguise the outbreak of hostilities between Carranza and Villa by giving out a statement that Villa had resigned to become governor of the state of Chihuahua, but the truth became known when the news of the confiscation of Carranza's offices was supplemented by reports of the arrest of Carranza's agents.

Perez Abreu, Carranza's publicity agent, was reported as jailed, and it was made known that nearly all of the employees of Alberto Pani had been arrested. Pani has been in charge of the treasury department at Juarez and has been the trusted right man in the recent exchanges between Carranza from Saltillo and Raphael Zubaran at Washington, who in turn transferred the messages to the mediators at Niagara.

Natera Causes Breach. The breach which in general is believed to be due to the long standing jealousy between the two rebel leaders, was brought to a culmination by Gen. Natera's attempt to take Zacatecas, without orders from Villa. Natera is said to have had the backing of Carranza.

It is reported Gen. Carranza has called together chief army officers of various brigades under Gen. Villa for the purpose of selecting by vote a second in command to succeed Villa in the same way as the latter was chosen. It is likely that Felipe Angeles, now secretary of war for the constitutionalists, will succeed Villa.

Seize Telegraph Office. The bureau of information and the telegraph office at Juarez in control of Carranza officials here forebly taken over Tuesday night by soldiers under Col. Tomas Ornelas—military commander of Juarez and a Villa supporter.

Refused to Give Aid. The appointment by Carranza of Gen. Pancho Natera as commander of a newly created military zone placed him in charge of a strip of country which Villa previously had planned to invade, including the yet uncaptured city of Zacatecas. Natera attacked Zacatecas while Villa remained at Torreon, viewing the experiment from the rear. According to reports from Mexico City Natera was defeated decisively in frequent attempts to take the city. Then it was that Carranza requested Villa to rush to Natera's assistance. This was several days ago, and in the meantime reports continued to arrive of Natera's defeats. Villa remained at Torreon.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

When it shall be said in any country in the world: "My poor are happy; neither ignorance nor distress is to be found among them; my jails are empty of prisoners, my streets of beggars, the aged are not in want, the taxes are not oppressive, the rational world is my friend; because I am a friend of its happiness"—when these things can be said, then may that country boast of its constitution and its government.—Thomas Paine.

Green Peas and Curried Rice.—Pour over a little water on a pint of green peas, a pint of green until tender, add a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a dash of pepper. Before the peas are put to cool, place a peeled and halved onion in three tablespoonfuls of butter, add a half cup of rice, one tablespoonful of curry powder, and stir these until the butter has been absorbed. Add three and a half cups of broth, a teaspoonful each of lemon juice and salt, a tablespoonful of lemon juice and cook the rice until tender. Place the rice in a ring and put the peas in the center to serve.

Spanish Salad.—To a cupful of chopped celery add a half cupful of flaked salmon, one tomato, one green pepper and a bit of onion all chopped fine, season well with any dressing,

Peter Rockman, an Indian, sentenced May 24, 1906, for first degree murder, committed on a drunken spree. Dell Oborn, who killed a man who was friendly with his divorced wife and was sentenced from Winnebago county in December, 1908, for twenty-one years. The arrest was made by Sheriff Zweifel and Detective Cunningham of the Soo line. Emil Villnow, the ticket agent, who saw the murder committed, is confident Smith is the man wanted. A discrepancy in the identity, however, is in the clothes worn by Smith.

Oppose Prohibition Laws.

Racine.—The Racine County Federation of Catholic Societies in annual convention at Watertown adopted a resolution protesting against prohibition laws because they do not aid temperance and are infringements on personal liberties. SEIDEL FOR SENATOR

STATE TICKET NOMINATED BY SOCIAL DEMOCRATS.

Oscar Ameringer, Milwaukee, Picked to Make Race for Governor—Qualify Church Tax Resolution.

Milwaukee.—Oscar Ameringer and Emil Seidel, Milwaukee, were nominated for governor and United States senator, respectively, by the state Social Democratic convention.

On the ticket with them are: Lieutenant-Governor—R. C. McCaleb, La Crosse. Secretary of State—F. W. Rehfeld, Milwaukee. Attorney General—Lynn D. Joseph, Green Bay. State Treasurer—E. D. Deuss, Sheboygan.

Two important stands were taken: An adoption of a plank in the state platform providing for the taxation of all property except that used directly for educational, charitable or church purposes.

The adoption of a resolution providing for a state referendum prohibiting any member of the party from voting for candidates on other tickets in local or general elections, whether the Social-Democratic party has a candidate for the position in the field or not. No question was ever more bitterly fought by a Socialist convention than the proposition to tax church property. The original resolution provided for the "taxation of all property," including state lands, church, educational and charitable institution holdings. The resolution got through without being noticed and the convention voted then to add the following clause: "Provided, however, that we favor the exemption of all property used for worship, for school or charitable purposes, but not the exemption of property held by religious associations for speculation."

COURT RULE HITS SUPERIOR

Head of the Lakes Has Territory Similar to That Affected by Liquor Decision in Minnesota.

Superior.—That the decision of the United States Supreme court upholding the treaty of 1855 under which saloons may be eliminated from a large portion of Minnesota means the carrying up for a decision of the similar treaty of 1846 with the Chippewa tribes covering the greater part of northern Wisconsin is believed here by those who have looked into the situation. It is said that the Anti-Saloon league and allied forces stand ready to take this action, confident that the high court of the nation must take the same view of this treaty as of the other.

The treaty of 1846 contained practically the same clause regarding the sale of liquor on Indian lands and lands upon which the Indians would be likely to roam as did the treaty of 1855. Included within the territory which would be made "dry" if the older treaty is strictly interpreted and enforced are Ashland and a number of the towns between Superior and that city as well as south. That Superior may also be included is considered a strong probability.

The Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league expects to bring a test suit to determine whether any of the Indian ceded land in this state is made dry by the decision in the Minnesota case.

National Meeting of Big Fraternal Order Comes to Milwaukee

Meeting of Big Fraternal Order Comes to Milwaukee July 27 to Aug. 1.

Milwaukee.—Milwaukee gets the 1914 national Moose convention. Word was received here by National Organizer Arthur Brookwell from the supreme council that it had voted the gathering to this city over Chicago.

The announcement ends a long suspense during which it was believed for some time that the gathering was going to Chicago. The Milwaukee lodge, Milwaukee No. 49 and Cream City No. 136, kept up the fight and won over the Chicago organizations to the support of this city.

The meeting, which will be held the week of July 27 to Aug. 1, inclusive, will bring at least 20,000 persons to Milwaukee from all parts of the country. Owing to the proximity to Chicago and Mooseheart, the national Moose home, it is believed the Milwaukee meeting may even reach 35,000, by far the largest attendance in the history of the organization.

Badger Boy Wins Prize.

Janesville.—The most important prize at Yale university, the John Addison Porter prize of $500 for "original effort," was awarded to Philip Barrow Whitehead of this city.

COMMISSION SETS HOURS FOR WOMEN

PEA PACKING COMPANIES ADVISED OF NEW RULES FOR FEMALE LABOR.

RUSH PERIOD RECOGNIZED

Old Time Records Must Be Sent to Madison for Examination by State Board—Fewer Violations are Expected.

Madison.—Well in advance of the opening of the pea canning season the industrial commission has advised all Wisconsin pea packing companies of its new orders for the regulating of hours of employment for women. The department now has complete data on the tremendous importance of the industry, and also possesses complete records of experience on employment of women and children. The pea canning industry means something like $6,000,000 a year to Wisconsin manufacturers. In 1913 the total output of the eighty factories was 3,088,875 cases or 73,000,000 cans of peas. This represents about 60 per cent of the total output of the United States.

The chief problem in the pea canning industry is the rapid and prompt handling of the freshly picked peas in order that they may not have time to deteriorate before being sealed in the cans. The industrial commission, by a special order, has provided for such contingencies, but has so limited the operation of the order that no employer can stretch a point in order to employ women for excessive hours. During the rush season and in case of abnormal conditions brought about by breakdowns, bad weather or climatic changes, women engaged in canning may be employed not to exceed twelve hours each day, exclusive of meal times, but these twelve hour days are limited to fifteen in the season. Employers must provide for a period of rest of at least nine consecutive hours from the end of work on any one day to the beginning of work on the next day.

It is the intention of the commission to have several members of the field force engaged solely in the inspection of pea canning factories. These inspectors will have access to all the time records and their reports will be made direct to the commission. Fines for violations of law were collected last year from fifteen canning companies. The commission expects that the companies this year will avoid further prosecutions.

FIX DATES FOR MANEUVERS

Badger Militia Encampment to be Held July 6 to 15 at Camp Douglas.

Madison.—The entire Wisconsin national guard will participate in the joint maneuvers with the United States regulars this year, and the date for the encampment at Camp Douglas, will be July 6 to 15, according to an announcement by the war department on Wednesday. Joint maneuvers will be participated in by a limited number of regulars, owing to the absence of a large part of the army from the usual stations on account of the Mexican situation.

Not only will the attendance from the regular army be limited but some of the companies from the regular establishment probably will do duty with more than one of the state militia organizations.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEET

Annual State Convention Will be Held at Madison, June 25 to 28.

Madison.—Leading figures in the world wide Christian Endeavor movement will be seen at the state convention of the organization, to be held in this city June 25-28. The list of speakers is headed by Dr. Francis E. Clark, Boston, the founder, and president of the united society. The state president, the Rev. D. J. Williams, Oshkosh, says the attendance will be double that of any other state session.

Postmasters Elect Officers.

Milwaukee.—Thomas W. Leslie, Racine, was elected president of the Wisconsin Association of Assistant Postmasters at its final session in the Republican house. Other officers named are: Vice-president, Katie Morrissey, Delavan; George Potter, Fort Atkinson; Louise Schroeder, Clintonville; secretary-treasurer, Sidney S. Eberly, Watertown.

Champion Fly Swatter Found.

Antigo.—Henry Berner, Jr., 12 years old, won first prize in the fly swatting contest held in this city. The contest lasted a week. He killed flies weighing 225 grains, or 2,500 flies.

Oddfellows in Meeting.

Neilsville.—The annual district meeting of Oddfellows of this vicinity was held in this city on Friday and was attended by about 250 members of the order.

A. H. Dahl Out for Governor.

Madison.—Andrew H. Dahl has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor at the publican primaries. Mr. Dahl resides at Westby, Vernon county, and has been three times state treasurer.

Two Districts Plan Schools.

Antigo.—Two Langdale county school districts, No. 1, town of Antigo, and No. 2, town of Polar, have voted to build new schools, the cost of which will be $2,000 apiece.

Beautiful Things for Late Summer

THE last and the most fascinating word that the goddess of fashion has uttered is this whisper of crepe and chiffon in which she tells her dream of the best of the things for midsummer. One may follow the gown pictured here and be sure that it will outlast the summertime, and that the fall and winter will see its day of greatest triumph. There is hardly a color in which it cannot be developed effectively. In crepe or satin (of the clingy kind) it allows the fulness that such fabrics demand, without any building out of the figure. The underskirt is cut to hang in at the ankles and reaches to the instep. It is made of the crepe or satin. Set on to a yoke of bordered chiffon at a point a little below the swell of the hips is a side plating of bordered chiffon. This is in a darker shade (and might be in black) hemstitched. The open-throated blouse is cut on the same lines as the kimono and other full, draped blouses, but the sleeve is lengthened into a mousquetaire with a narrow turned-back cuff. It wrinkles about the arm and must extend fully to the knuckles. The neck is finished with a narrow turnover collar of chiffon. About the waist is the very simplest of girdles made of wide ribbon tied in a two-looped bow at the front. The soft underbodice with Medici collar is as sheer as lace and chiffon will make it. Pretty and equally soft corset covers (with no corset under them, by the way) must be worn under these very sheer waists to make the best effect. There are plenty of corsetless gowns and more to be worn with corsets that extend hardly above the waist and much below it. There is an odd and attractive hat with this gown. It is made of braid sewed over a shape that every one is familiar with. It is one of those good things in millinery which, with little variation, live through at least three seasons. Perched all over it are butterflies, simulated in small wings, made of feathers. Beautiful and soon passing, they appear to have flocked to the head of the wearer, verifying the old adage about "birds of a feather."

Coiffure Cap for Modern Dancing

COIFFURE caps are almost a necessity for those light-footed young women who dance the airy and the rather aerobic steps of the modern dances. Here are two from Carlier of Paris that are attractive and becoming to the youthful faces they are pictured with, and even more becoming to older faces that belong to equally energetic dancers. The foundation of the first cap is of silk messaline or other light weight and highly lustrous fabric. Over it a rather heavy lace cap is placed. A rosette made of tinzel petals and a tinzel cord finish the decoration. The cap is confined to the head by an elastic cord, which adjusts it firmly to place. The second cap is made of a heavier silk, with a spangled net draped with it. It is arranged in folds, and is, in fact, a sort of oriental turban which sets close to the head and falls, with much grace, to the nape of the neck. It is impossible to keep the hair confined during the buoyant steps and frolicsome springing about in which the new dances abound. These little caps have proved the best solution to the difficulty of keeping the head neat looking at the dancing party. There are many other designs in caps, made of beads or of tulle or of beaded and spangled materials. In fact, the designs are almost as numerous as the steps that are danced. There is no limit to the latter, every one invents one for himself and his partner and presents it to the devotees of dancing with as much satisfaction as a painter takes in a masterpiece of his art. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

Very serviceable and useful is the stenciled pillow. The design may be one of pine cone or a conventional pattern. If you prefer one of pine cone, stencil the cones and stems in reddish brown and the needles in bright green. If a conventional pattern is used, stencil the design in brown, orange and dull green. To be attractive and effective, the designs should be stenciled on gray art linen. The entire pillow may be made of gray art linen or the cap is confined to the head by an elastic cord, which adjusts it firmly to place. The second cap is made of a heavier silk, with a spangled net draped with on any color preferred. The strips may either be joined by narrow carpet warp insertion or by merely sewing the strip to the background. Suede and Patent Leather. One of the smart new bags is made of suede, with a pointed end of patent leather or black dressed kid. This sort of bag is especially good when it is carried by a woman wearing shoes with black straps or heels and uppers of gray or tan kid, to match the bag.

FOR FIRELESS COOKER

EXPERT ADVISES SOME NEW AND DELICIOUS DISHES.

How Requisites for Any Meal May Be Prepared Through the Agency of the Latest Kitchen Labor-Saving Device.

Some new things which may be prepared in the fireless cooker were presented by Miss Fannie Merritt Farmer. Following are the recipes: Cracked Wheat.—Soak one cupful of cracked wheat in five cupfuls of cold water two hours. Put over flame and bring to the boiling point; add salt and let boil for three minutes, stirring constantly. Set pan into a larger one containing boiling water and cook in a fireless cooker over night. Serve with sugar and cream. Smothered Haddock.—Cut fish into filets and season with salt, pepper, and lemon juice. Arrange fish in kettle, cover with sauce, tomato soup; over this put a second layer. Place kettle in a larger one containing boiling water and let water continue to boil for three minutes. Cook with or without radiator about 45 minutes. Roly Poly.—Remove fat, skin and bones from a loin of lamb. Remove meat from eight veal chops, arrange the eight pieces of veal, separated by a thin piece of fat salt pork, close to the lean meat of the loin. Season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with a rounding tablespoonful each of finely chopped carrot, celery and parsley. Roll as tight as possible, put over a few strips of very thin salt pork and fasten with a string to keep meat in shape. Dredge, roll with flour and brown in a pan placed over gas flame. Cook between two radiators two and one-half hours. Scalloped Egg and Potato With Cheese.—Arrange alternate layers of cold sliced boiled potatoes and sliced hard boiled eggs, and on each layer of eggs arrange one-half of this sliced onion which has been parboiled for one minute. Pour over a thin sauce flavored with cheese, salt and pepper to taste. Cook over one radiator one and one-half to two hours. String Beans With Cheese.—Remove strings by cutting entire length of each side, then cut beans into two-inch lengths. Plunge into cold water and allow them to remain until all the beans drop out, which may afterwards be discarded. Cook pods in boiling water, allowing one-quarter teaspoon of soda to two quarts of beans, for five minutes; then cook over one radiator two hours. Drain thoroughly, put in serving-dish, season with salt and cayenne, add one-half cup of graded rarebit cheese and one-quarter cup of heavy cream. Stir until well mixed, sprinkle generously over top grated Parmesan cheese and dot over with one tablespoon of soft butter. Reheat in hot oven or under gas flame. Nut Butter.—Mix and sift two cups of bread flour, one cup of graham flour, one cup of brown sugar, two tablespoons of baking powder and one teaspoon each of soda and salt; then add two cups of sour milk and one cup of chopped or coarsely cut English walnut meat. Turn into bread pan and bake in fireless gas range with the gas on for 16 minutes and about an hour after gas is turned off. Black Eyed Susan.—To one cup of brown bread crumbs add two and one-half cups of scalded milk and let stand until mixture cools; then add two eggs slightly beaten, one tablespoon of butter, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon and one-quarter teaspoon each of clove, nutmeg and salt. Bake between two radiators. Serve hot with sugar and cream.—Boston Transcript.

Not to Be Doubted. "Beauty is only skin deep." "That may be, but it's the best skin game going."

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher in Use For Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria. Suggestion to Husbands. The man who settles matrimonial difficulties by shooting his wife is getting unpleasantly numerous again. Some especially hot form of punishment should be devised for such of these gentry as do not wisely take matters into their own hands and shoot themselves.—Indianapolis Star.

HOW TO TREAT PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free with 32-p Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Easily Accomplished. Judge Hanington, when leader of the opposition in the New Brunswick legislature, representing the county of Westmoreland, was once delivering a vigorous address in the house against some measure of the government, then led by Mr. Blair. "Oh, that my constituents in Westmoreland could hear me now," exclaimed the opposition leader in violent tones. Mr. Blair motioned to an attendant. "Open the windows," he said.

A Puzzler. An American woman made the ascent of Vesuvius recently with a small party which included Mrs. Cook, widow of the famous tourist manager. The display within the crater was unusually fine, which the American at dinner smilingly attributed to the presence of Mrs. Cook. After several moments of silence, two Englishmen exclaimed in one breath, "But how could they manage that?"—Youth's Companion.

Saved. The chief Powellman was about to pulverize Mr. John Smith when a shriek rent the air and Pocahontas stood beside them. "Stay!" she commanded. "Ah!" exclaimed Smith, who was noted for his fertility in resource, "you are the first I ever loved." Pocahontas was just graduated and believed everything she heard, and so they were married.

Sure Clue. "Doctor, is your patient sure you can cure him by your new method?" "How did you know my patient was not a woman?" "I heard that you were going to try the silence cure."

Many a man carries a mortgage because he is unable to lift it. Love is blind, so what's the use of wasting gas on it?

EYE STRAIN Relieved by Quitting Coffee.

Many cases of defective vision are caused by the habitual use of coffee. It is said that in Arabia where coffee is used in large quantities, many lose their eyesight at about fifty. Tea contains the same drug, caffeine, as coffee. A N. J. woman writes to the point concerning eye trouble and coffee. She says: "My son was for years troubled with his eyes. He tried several kinds of glasses without relief. The optician said there was a defect in his eyes which was hard to reach. He used to drink coffee, as we all did, and finally quit it and began to use Postum. That was three years ago and he has not had to wear glasses and has had no trouble with his eyes since. "I was always fond of tea and coffee and finally became so nervous I could hardly sit still long enough to eat a meal. My heart was in such a condition I thought I might die at any time. "Medicine did not give me relief and I was almost desperate. It was about this time we decided to quit coffee and use Postum, and have used it ever since. I am in perfect health. No trouble now with my heart and never felt better in my life. "Postum has been a great blessing to us all, particularly to my son and myself." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins. The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same. "There's a Reason" for Postum.—sold by Grocers.

Normandy Salad. Take one pint of peas. If canned ones are used, wash, drain and dry. If fresh, cook and chill. Blanch one cupful walnut meats by pouring hot water over them and removing the skin. Cut them into bits the size of the peas, mix peas and nuts, arrange on lettuce leaves and pour over them. Then press the soft mass through a colander and beat either with or without the white of an egg until it is light and foamy, sweetening to taste.

Saving Time. When baking cookies an excellent way to save space in the oven, time in cooking and washing pans is to use a large preserve kettle cover, one with a ring that turns down. If the oven is hot, place it right side up so the ring may be used for a handle. A good sized cover will bake about fourteen cookies at a time.

What to Do With the Covers. Save the covers of cocoa or mustard boxes to use for cleansing frying pans and saucepans. Hammer down sharp side. Scrape with the sharp lower edge. The rounding corners of the covers fit in the round pans much better than anything you can buy for the purpose.

A Good Flavor. Horseradish sauce adds a piquant flavor to the boiled meat, as well as to roasts of beef. Grate a tablespoonful of horseradish, mix it with a gill of cream, a teaspoonful of vinegar, one of sugar, a saltspoonful of salt and the same quantity of mustard.

For a Rusty Sink. There's nothing better for cleaning a sink that has become rusty than kerosene oil.

TOWN DESTITUTE OF MERCHANTS
Causes Great Loss to the Local Community.
INCONVENIENCE SOON SEEN.
A Fireside Discussion of "Life" in Case There Was a Simultaneous Migration of the Local Merchants and Dealers—Rights Encroached Upon by a Dangerous Outside System.
(Copyrighted 1914 by Thomas J. Sullivan.)
Napoleon said that imagination rules the world. It is the divine attribute of the imagination that when the real world is shut out it can create a world for itself and with a benevolent power can conjure up glorious shapes and forms and brilliant visions to make solitude populous and eradicate the gloom of dungeons.
Just Supposing.
To better exemplify the range and possibilities of the human imagination we will give a little "imaginary" conversation which took place in the cozy cottage of William and Alice Spenser on a recent evening.
"William, you asked me what I would do if the butcher, the baker, the grocer, the druggist, the shoe dealer, the lumberman, the coal merchant, the hardware dealer and dry goods merchant should pack up and leave town on an everlasting vacation," said Alice. "Why, that's easy. I would get my goods from the mail order houses, of course."
No Catalogue House Credit.
"But," persisted William, "suppose you were broke, as usual?"
"Oh," said Alice, "that's so. I could not get credit from the catalogue houses; neither could I inspect the stock and select the best, nor could I take anything back and exchange it, as in most cases, and if there was anything broken I would have to file a claim with the railroad company, and it would take the better part of a year to settle it, if at all."
"And supposing you wanted something in a hurry," suggested William.
"That's so," said Alice. "I would have to stock up like a lumber camp, as it takes from two weeks to the end of the month to get anything from those mail order concerns. And, William, I would not want to buy meat by mail. I want to see what kind I am getting. Well, we would just have to live with out meat, that's all."
No Garden Truck by Mail.
"Garden stuff—yes, we would want fresh; but not by mail, thank you. And bread—your mother could make that, as you always said your mother could make better bread than I. My, but I hope the baker won't go though!"
Alice cheered up when William smilingly reminded her this was but an imaginary absence of the town merchants.
But the cheery smile on Alice's face lasted only a moment, as William tantalizingly inquired how about getting shoes for her dainty little Chicago feet.
"Shoes!" cried Alice. "Whoever heard of any one with pride or coyness buying shoes without first trying them on—yes, trying on mostly everything in the store. And then what about getting soled while you wait? Oh, no; we must have a shoe dealer anyway," answered Alice.
William Becomes Excited Too.
Then William took the floor and bodied forth the following words of wisdom:
"Yes, hardware; sure I might borrow a pound of nails or a couple of screws from Brother Charles, if he had them, but have you any idea, Alice, how heavy nails and screws and hardware are? No? Well, I have, and freight bills on that class of stuff are ruinous. No, Alice; a town without a hardware store is a bum town, and if our hardware man is going to move I am too. And, besides, we want a lumber yard and coal yard. I don't want to buy lumber and coal in car load lots."
"But, William, this is only imaginary," said Alice.
No Dead Town For Him.
"Tell you what, Alice," continued William; "should this imaginary business become real and the retail catalogue houses put our local merchants out of business and force them to seek other locations I'd be with you I'd go, too, for who could or would live in a dead town? We couldn't."
"And, come to think it over, William, I believe those mail order concerns are encroaching upon our rights and the rights of our local merchants and I for one am willing to join with you and the rest of the citizens of this community in an effort to adjust differences that will redound to the welfare of the entire countryside, embracing all the people—men, women and children."
The Small Town Killer.
Notwithstanding that this is only an imaginary situation, it is too true that a condition of this sort is to be experienced in thousands of the smaller towns and villages in this country unless some radical change takes place among consumers in checking the growth of the small town killer, the fast forming retail trust.
Why not profit by the imagination of Alice and William?
