NUMBER 43.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

TEN REASONS GIVEN FOR ALFALFA FAILURES

Whenever alfalfa is tried for the first time by farmers unacquainted with the habits and culture of this premier forage plant much grumbling and complaint is apt to be voiced because of a poor, uneven stand, weak plants or weed choked growth. The plant itself is hardly to blame if it fails to do its best under adverse conditions, yet few of us who possess unsatisfactory stands realize this, and more likely will say in no uncertain terms that alfalfa is not adapted to Wisconsin conditions.

Ten reasons which probably include nearly every common cause of alfalfa failures in Wisconsin, are given in a letter which L. F. Graber, secretary of the alfalfa association is sending to farmers who have sown alfalfa or who intend to sow it this year. In brief the reasons are:

1. Scar land.
2. Weeds.
3. Lack of inoculation.
4. Flat and poorly drained land.
5. Wrong time of sowing.
6. Poorly prepared seed bed.
7. Too heavy nurse crop.
8. Cutting too late in the fall.
9. Late pasturing.
10. Low soil fertility.

With each letter Mr. Graber has enclosed a piece of blue litmus paper with which tests for soil acidity may be made. For particulars in regard to this method of testing and the amount and kind of lime to use as a corrective, the farmer is referred to Bulletin 23, "Soil Acidity and Liming," issued by the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station, Madison.

HOW TO MANAGE CLAY SOILS IN WISCONSIN

How may the farmers on the heavy clay lands of Wisconsin increase their profits, improve their yields, and keep up the fertility of their soils?

As there are 3,000,000 acres of heavy clay soils in Wisconsin which, when properly managed are very productive and are adapted to a great variety of crops, these are very important questions.

To aid in answering them the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University has been making a series of experiments in the various clay districts of the state. These, together with suggestions for clay soil improvement are described in a bulletin, "How to Improve our Heavy Clay Soils," copies of which may be obtained by writing H. L. Russell, director, Madison.

DEEP CULTIVATION KILLS WEEDS AND CORN

Raise the shovels when cultivating the corn at this stage of the growing period. Otherwise, the roots and plants will be injured and a very much lower yield will be produced.

L. F. Graber of the Agricultural experiment station at the University of Wisconsin is authority for the statement that six weeks after corn is planted the roots have pushed themselves out to the middle of the row and that some of them extend to within three or four inches of the surface.

If done before the roots are developed, deep cultivation may be beneficial to the corn plant, says Mr. Graber. It stirs up the soil so that moisture and air can penetrate and make ready the plant food contained in the soil.

KEWASKUM AGAIN MEETS DEFEAT

Barton's Strong Aggregation Downs Our Boys on The Local Grounds Sunday 11 to 7

Last Sunday afternoon, in the face of threatening weather, the Barton base ball team braved the impending elements and came to our village to give our boys a few pointers in the game of base ball, and they succeeded in doing so, to the tune of 11 to 7.

This was the second successive defeat suffered by our boys this season on the local grounds. Although the game was one of the best played here this season, one bad inning for the locals told the story. Our aggregation had the game coming their way right along, until a few costly errors turned the luck in favor of the visitors. As we have before stated, our ball team is composed of excellent material, but it needs pep and ginger to back it up, so get busy boys and limber up a little for the next game. Today, Saturday our boys go to West Bend to play the team from that city, and Sunday the Allenton team will cross bats with our boys on the home grounds. The batteries for Saturday will be Urban and Altenhofen for Kewaskum and Burchard and Tillman for West Bend.

Manager Miller of the locals informs us that he has secured Glen Taylor of Barton to deliver the pill in Sunday's game, so all should turn out and see a rattling good game.

YEARS AGO RECALLED

July 4, 1896

—Miss Lizzie Hausmann closed her school at Wayne last Thursday with a picnic.

Wednesday was the hottest day of the season. The thermometer registered 100 in the shade at 2 p. m.

—L. Michels sold his bakery last Tuesday to Mr. Heilmann of Chil-ton, Wis., and the latter will take possession next Wednesday.

—A social party was held at Charist Mitz's last Sunday evening, and about 50 couples enjoyed dancing in the barn until early Monday morning. Quite a number drove down from here and they report as having had a good time.

—A team on one of the Kewaskum Creamery wagons, while being driven by A. Behling, last Wednesday was taken with lung bleeding near John Oppenorth's place here and Dr. Fivandt was called to relieve them.

—The railroad guard gates are now being erected at the Main street crossing and will be in operation as soon as a few missing parts arrive. Many have applied for the job of operating the gates but no one has secured it yet.

—A passenger upon the 2:19 p. m. train had a novel piece of baggage last Wednesday. It was a 12 year old horse which only weighed 86 pounds and measured 26 inches in height. He was enroute to a Chicago exhibition.

—While hauling brush from the new park last Saturday, Louis Liebel had a startling experience. His horse was aroused by some children, who got upon the wagon, that he only averted a disastrous runaway by grabbing the lines and driving the horses against a tree. The little people thanked their rescuer in a way peculiar to them, while Louis smiled approvingly upon finding that the accident would merely cost the price of a neckyoke.

WILLIAM RAETHER PASSES AWAY IN DEATH

William Raether passed away in death at his home in this village on Wednesday, July 1, after an illness of over a year's duration, having reached the age of 61 years.

Mr. Raether was born in Germany on December 4, 1853, and came to this country in 1885, settling in Kewaskum, where he has lived ever since. On July 24, 1875 he was united in marriage to Miss Hannah Behling, daughter of Hermann Behling, a well known citizen of this village. They were born to them of whom only one survives, namely, Charles of the town of Auburn. Three sons and one daughter having preceded their father in death some years ago. Deceased is also survived by two brothers, Ferdinand of Kewaskum and Carl of Unity, Wis.

Mr. Raether was an industrious worker and employed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He was one of the first members of the West Bend G. U. G. Germania and had remained in this order up to his death. He also had been employed by the Rosenheimer Mill & Grain company of this village for the past twenty-nine years, in the capacity of watchman, which position he faithfully filled until his illness of a year ago prevented him from further activity.

The funeral was held today, Saturday, July 4th, from the Ev' Place church at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mohme officiating. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. To the bereaved relatives we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned desire to thank all those who so kindly and willingly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, William Raether, and to all those who showed their respect by attending the funeral.

WILSON PREDICTS BUSINESS BOOM

President Says Unprecedented Era of Prosperity is Due. Talks on Trust Laws. Says They Will End Long Anxiety in Commercial World. Spoke to Editors

Washington, D. C., June 26.—(Under a "new constitution of freedom" for business given by anti-trust legislation soon to be passed by Congress, President Wilson on Thursday promised the country the greatest business boom in its history. This was the president's final answer to the opponents of trust legislation at this session of congress and to prophets of evil times, delivered with determined expression and every word emphasized with a clenched fist.

The president spoke to a group of Virginia editors in the east room of the White House, but his assurances were intended for the speech in full follows:

"I think it is appropriate, in receiving you, to say just a word or two in assistance of your judgment about the existing conditions.

Says Editors Responsible.

"You are largely responsible for the state of public opinion. You furnish the public with information and in your editorials, you furnish it with the interpretation of the information. We are in the presence of a business situation which he variously interpreted. Here in Washington, through the bureau committee and other instrumentalities that are at our disposal and through a correspondence which comes in to us from all parts of the nation we are perhaps in a position to judge of the actual condition of the business better than those can judge who are at any single point in the country, and I want to say to you that, as a matter of fact, the signs of a very strong business revival are becoming more and more evident from day to day.

Harassed for Ten Years.

"I want to suggest this to you: Business has been in a feverish and apprehensive condition in this country for more than ten years. I will not stop to point at the time at which it began to be apprehensive, but during more than ten years business has been the object of sharp criticism in the United States, a criticism growing in volume and growing in particularity; and, as a natural consequence, as the volume of criticism has increased, business has been growing more and more nervous. Business men have acted as some men do who fear they will have to undergo an operation and who are not sure that when they get on the table the operation will not be a capital operation.

Only Minor Operation.

"As a matter of fact as the diagnosis has progressed it has become more and more evident that no capital operation was necessary to remove admitted ailments and evils. The treatment is to be constitutional rather than surgical, affecting habits of life and action which have been hurtful. For on all admitted ailments that there are processes of business, or have been processes of business in this country which ought to be corrected and the correction has been postponed, and nothing is more unfair, nothing has been declared by business men to be more harmful, than to keep them guessing.

Would End Uncertainty.

"There is nothing more fatal to business than to be kept guessing from month to month and from year to year whether something serious is going to happen to it, if anything does. It is impossible to forecast the prospects of any line of business unless you know what the year is going to bring forth. Nothing is more unfair, nothing has been declared by business men to be more harmful, than to keep them guessing.

Business to Get Rest.

"Therefore I am sure that it is beginning to be evident to the whole press of this country and, by the same token, to the people, that a constructive program is at last not only to be proposed but to be carried out. That when it is completed business can and will get what it can get in no other way—rest, recuperation and successful adjustment. I am for rest if you send me to bed wondering what is going to happen to me in the morning; but if you send me to bed knowing what the course of business is to be tomorrow I can rest. How much better is certain justice to the men engaged in business.

Sees Speedy Settlement.

"And I do not think it is going to take a very long time. I believe that the temper of those engaged in this great thing, is admirable, that the various elements sometimes in antagonism in the congress of the United States are drawing together and that we shall witness an early statesmanship result for which we shall all have abundant reason to be thankful.—Pond du Lac Reporter.

KNOW TOO MUCH

A good many editors are said not to know much, says an exchange. The trouble is they know a lot of stuff that they dare not tell, answers a contemporary. They know who drinks the beer and they know the ladies who deviate from the straight path of rectitude, and the boys who smoke in the alleys and dark places, and the girls who are out auto riding till the roosters crow for daylight. They know the fellows who are good pay and they know the fellow who can't get trusted for a sack full of salt. They could guess at once why some fellows are as they are, and they can guess pretty closely what they do to make themselves so. Even in a town like this they know enough to make one of the ed-hottest, rip-snorting, high geared, triple-action, chain-lightning editions you ever read but they also know that it is best for the community and therefore to let the law take care of humanity's development and publish only such news as will do to read in the house. Editors generally pursue this policy and never get longed for and get more enjoyment out of life.

GOTTLIEB GUNTHER CRUSHED TO DEATH

Pioneer Businessman of Port Washington and Brother of Grandma Groeschel, Killed on Saturday

Gottlieb Gunther, president of the Gunther & Sons East Valley Brick and Tile company of Port Washington, was killed and his nephew Felix Gunther seriously injured, when a brick kiln in the course of construction collapsed and buried both.

Mr. Gunther was 66 years of age. He was a leading business man and active in church circles in his city. He also had served as aide-de-camp to the late Governor of Wisconsin. He was very well known having a large circle of acquaintances. The deceased was a pioneer of Port Washington, settling there in 1860. He is survived by his grief stricken widow and nine children, also a brother, Carl Gunther of Port Washington and a sister, Mrs. Mike Groeschel of Fillmore, the latter making her home here with her daughter, Mrs. N. J. Mertes, every winter. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon.

ANNUAL HUMANE MEETING HELD

The Annual Humane Meeting held last Sunday afternoon at Hartford, was very largely attended. The program was excellent and the speeches full of power and earnestness. Many since, they heard the reports of our agents, have formed a new idea of the Humane Society, and this meeting changed many indifferent cries into an active friend of the work. 17 new members joined the society.

Mr. E. C. Schauer, president and in a short address, he praised highly the work done by the agents. In brief he explained the object of the society and stated, we are not a prohibition organization, but we do humane work wherever we find it.

Then Rev. Kuhn of West Bend read his report and made a plea to the gathering to join the society. When Dr. Wehle of West Bend gave his report the people were shocked and astonished and shamed that some of their kind could happen in our civilized country. He investigated about 50 cases, some were of such a nature that we hardly can believe that a human being can give such things. Let me mention a few of his cases:

1. A child was severely punished by the father because it got sick.
2. A man put a call on hooks and took plenty of time, before killing it. He stopped and smoked the pipe and then he looked for an ax.
3. Another man plunged his hogs into boiling water before they were dead.
4. A farmer sold a crippled horse for ten cents, kept it in a woodshed and gave it split maple wood for bedding.
5. A man abused his wife.
6. He found five children without food, clothes and shelter.
7. Mother and child had not enough to eat.

Dr. Koets reported fourteen trips into the country in the interest of children and animals, besides much time spent in looking over the work done in the city.

The first speaker, Mr. C. F. Leins from West Bend, said the need of such an organization and made an eloquent and earnest plea for a larger membership. He also invited us to have our next meeting at West Bend.

Our main speaker was the President of the Wisconsin Humane Society, Hon. E. L. Phillips, the candidate for governor. He made an excellent speech. He reminded that on earth there are good and mean men and to protect the animals from the mean, we have the humane society. He said we have forty branches of the humane society in the state he stated and gave that where there is an active humane society, there is not much cruelty. He gave some illustrations from Milwaukee, in Milwaukee the Humane Society is drawing together and that we shall witness an early statesmanship result for which we shall all have abundant reason to be thankful.—Pond du Lac Reporter.

SPEND THE FOURTH AT KEWASKUM

Have you made arrangements for the Fourth? If you have not, why not make such arrangements so that you can spend the Nation's Holiday at Kewaskum. There will be plenty of amusements for all. In the North Side Park, one of the finest parks in the state, will be held a grand Fourth of July picnic. Mrs. J. E. Eberle, the proprietress, has made arrangements to make all those who attend enjoy themselves. The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Kewaskum Quintette, consisting of seven pieces. The Quintette will furnish concert music in the afternoon. In the evening the grand dance will be held, for which the same band will furnish the music.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

What is probably the largest snake ever killed in this city was put to death Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Will Konst. Children playing on Herman street discovered the snake, and on account of its size alarmed the neighborhood. Mrs. Konst, on seeing the snake, returned to her home for a shotgun and one charge ended the life of his snakeship. When measured the snake was found to be 55 inches in length and its body was nearly 5 inches in circumference. It is of a dark green color with large light brown spots. Some believed it was an adder, but its size and the markings were hardly those of the adder. Others believe it to be a species of water snakes. Mr. Konst will probably have the snake mounted.—Burlington Standard Democrat.

4TH OF JULY ACCIDENTS

The enormous loss of life which formerly characterized each July 4th is not likely ever again to be repeated. This is in part due to the spread of the Sane Fourth movement, and in part to the more intelligent handling of the fireworks injuries.

The horrible part of many of the deaths following Independence Day celebration has been the seeming unimportance of the injury. What appear to be only insignificant wounds may prove to be the ones most likely to be followed, by tetanus, or lockjaw as it is also known.

The tetanus germ will not grow when exposed to air. For that reason there is very much less danger in large open wounds than in those of a puncturing or stab nature. Little particles of powder, splinters, minute bits of stone, etc., are therefore, most dangerous. The public has gathered a valuable impression concerning the danger of injuries from puncturing wounds by rusty nails. The motion is wrong, in part at least, in attributing the danger to be in the rust. It is correct to the extent that old rusty nails stepped upon are most likely to have been exposed to garden soils and manure. The tetanus germ thrives in the intestinal tract of horses and is, therefore common in street sweepings and garden earth, fertilized by stable manure.

Returning to Fourth of July injuries, no matter how slight they may appear, should be considered suspicious and thoroughly treated. It is safest to employ a competent surgeon. In case none is available, the following treatment is intelligent:

1. Wounds should be thoroughly cleaned, even if they need to be enlarged to reach every crevice.
2. Paint the wound and surrounding tissues with tincture of iodine.
3. Apply wet dressing of boric acid solution and alcohol. Do not close the wound or bind tightly. Allow it to heal from the bottom.
4. Consult a physician upon the advisability of a preventive dose of tetanus antitoxin.

The latter is an almost certain preventive. While slightly better results are being obtained in treatment, lockjaw most positively belongs to the group in which prevention is more certain and far cheaper than cure.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MISS OPPORTUNITY YOU MISS SUCCESS

Waiting For the Seventh Wave Is Foolish.

WISCONSIN FIRM'S SCHEME.

An Up to Date Merchant Who Successfully Fought Fire With Fire—Local Dealers Request Consumers to Give Them an Opportunity to Figure. Can and Will Meet Competition.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]
If you want to succeed in the world you must make your own opportunities as you go on.

The man who waits for the seventh wave to toss him on dry land will find that the seventh wave is a long time in coming. You can commit no greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or infame.

Business men, local and otherwise, in the entire country, are desirous of increasing and extending their business, and if they did not care to do this they would not be in business.

Can Successfully Cope.

It is doubtful if there be a local retailer in the country who could not successfully cope with the mail order and catalogue retailer would he but try. This local merchant may not know, but nevertheless it is an absolute fact.

There is a retail firm in a town in Wisconsin which conspicuously displays upon its counters one of the catalogues of the largest Chicago mail order houses, upon the cover of which is pasted a notice that it will furnish any article advertised in the catalogue as cheaply as the buyer can secure the articles from Chicago, and it lives up to the advertisement attached to the very letter.

Mail Order House Seconds.

The substantial local merchant knows well that the cheap stoves sold by the catalogue mail order houses are light-weight stoves; that the iron beds shown in the advertisement matter as massive frames with strong corner posts and heavy crossbars are light, frail castings, commonly known to the trade as "seconds," which no honest or reliable furniture dealer would keep in his stock because he could not sell them to people who were given an opportunity to inspect the goods before purchasing.

It is only on very rare occasions that patrons of a mail order house ever get the worth of their money when they buy from the pictures in the catalogue, while, on the other hand, the local retailer, if he understands his business, buys his stock direct from the manufacturers and jobbers who have a reputation at stake and who supply goods of quality to their direct representatives, the retail merchants throughout the country.

Prize Their Reputations.

The responsible high grade manufacturer and wholesaler will not under any condition or circumstance sell their goods to the catalogue retailer at any price. Many instances are known where catalogue houses secured by trickery a quantity of staple goods of standard make and advertised them as "specials" at ridiculously low prices. The manufacturers, in order to protect their reputations and interests, necessarily had orders sent in for the entire stock or quantity of the articles through persons in their employ. They do not propose to have their articles which were standard, advertised by the side of inferior articles of light weight and of decidedly cheap construction.

A Vast Difference.

There are numberless articles which the catalogue house advertises as the best on the market, among which are paints, and it often agrees to furnish an impossible guarantee with this class of goods. However, it is not noticeable that it never attempts to ship its paints into states that require a printed copy of the analysis of the contents of the package.

The answer to this, of course, is that the goods are not as represented in the catalogue. The up to date local merchant, of course, is conversant with these facts and can explain them to his customers if given an opportunity, and he can also, if he understands his business thoroughly, explain the vast difference between the goods sold by the catalogue house and those sold by him.

Articles Challenge Explanations.

The cheap, flashy, flimsy article can never stand alongside of the honest, reliable article without challenging an explanation.

The business man who cannot meet this demand upon him is not up to date, and his education regarding the line of goods he carries should be touched up.

If the home town consumers are alive and awake to their own interest they can begin to educate the local merchants by demanding from them the information concerning the difference in the quality of their goods and the goods of the catalogue retailer. If they are unable to explain they will also be unable to render efficient service to their customers.

It is time merchants of this kind wake up to the situation.

Builders of Wisconsin Farms

Because he has followed in the path of the dairy cow,— success and prosperity is the lot of the Wisconsin farmer. Because the dairy herd is the central feature upon Wisconsin farms,—the state is today the Greatest Dairy State in the Union, and one of the richest agriculturally.

The Dairy Cow Wins a Great Victory in Wisconsin

The dairy cow has won a great victory in Wisconsin. Back in the 70's there were many sections in the state where the farms were so "run down" and unproductive that they were actually abandoned. The once virgin soils no longer yielded abundant crops; their strength and fertility exhausted by continuous years of wheat raising. Farming was all but ruined. It was under these conditions that the dairy cow was introduced into Wisconsin agriculture and from that day on she has steadily restored the lost fertility to the "worn out" soils, regained the agricultural prestige of the state, and enriched her owners. Every progressive farmer is a subscriber to farm papers. Every progressive farmer in Wisconsin should be a subscriber to a dairy farm paper,— and that paper should be—

Hoard's Dairyman

Right here in your own state, almost at your door, is published the leading dairy journal of the world,—the undisputed authority of the dairy industry. Hoard's Dairyman is a wise counselor and a safe guide for the man keeping cows. It is a handbook of timely and helpful suggestions and advice. Intimately familiar with local conditions, it meets the same problems every Wisconsin farmer meets, and assists him in solving them.

HOARD'S DAIRYMAN is the only agricultural paper in Wisconsin owning a farm that is kept constantly under the direct management of its editors.

Make 1914 Your Best Year

For the coming year Hoard's Dairyman will contain many features of special interest and value to Wisconsin farmers. It will help you to make this year your best year. Personal experiences of some of Wisconsin's most successful dairymen will be published. A series of articles on dairy farm management will be contributed by the eminent authority Prof. D. H. Otis, and the reports and discussions upon the

in which nearly 300 of Wisconsin's best managed dairy farms are entered, will form topics of absorbing interest. Soil fertility, rotation of crops, feeding and breeding problems, the raising of alfalfa, sanitation, farm buildings, dairy breeds, and scores of other vital subjects are discussed every week in Hoard's Dairyman with a fullness and directness that meets the needs of the beginner as well as the experienced dairyman.

SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION OFFER We are pleased to announce that by special arrangement with the publishers, we are enabled to offer a year's subscription to Hoard's Dairyman in combination with this publication at a most attractive subscription price. We offer—

Hoard's Dairyman and the Kewaskum Statesman— ONE YEAR FOR $1.75
