Marked increases are noted in imports of sugar, coffee, wool, silk, fruits and nuts, cotton, sisal grass, hides, leather, tanned skins and fertilizers over 1913. With a better appreciation of breeds and feeding and an unequalled area of new land being broken this season the dairy industry has entered a record-smashing epoch.

How Can We Lower The Cost of Milk

How can the farmer so manage his dairy herd and feed his cows as to reduce the cost of produc-

These are questions which concern the thorough-going dairy-men of this country. To answer them they have enlisted the services of their respective experiment stations. Dr. H. P. Armsby at one time connected with the. agricultural experiment station at the University of Wisconsin, and later director of the Pennsylvania Station, is among the number now giving this subject his special at-tention. The result of his work will be of unusual interest to Wisconsin farmers.

Dr. Armsby recently visited Wisconsin for the purpose of acquainting himself with the work being carried on along these lines in this state. While here he visited his successor at the Wisconsin station, Dr. S. M. Babcock, the inbears his name,

AUTO ACCIDENTS THE PAST WEEK

Louis Bath of This Village and Charles Jung of Kohleville Both Have Very Narrow Escapes From Death

Louis Bath, of this village, had a narrow escape from a fatal accident early last Monday morning while on his return home from West Bend after escorting several people to that city, who attended the Bath Threshing crew dance in Groeschel's hall on Sunday evening.

Mr. Bath was driving his big Kissel Kar, which he recently pur-chased from Otto Lay, and was proceeding east on Main street, when upon approaching the Main Street crossing, the 4a.m. limited passenger train southbound came along at a high rate of speed and struck said train somewhere behind the engine. From appearance and according to an eye witness, Mr. Bath was driving at a fair rate of speed and upon approaching the tracks and seeing his danger, turned the steering wheel to one side, which per-haps not only saved his life but other serious damage to the car. If he would not have turned the car to one side, the auto would have been struck by the engine, but by turning missed the engine, and was struck by one of the coaches. The damage done to the car is slight considering the circumstances. Mr. Bath was un-injured and was still sitting in the car having a hold of the steering wheel after all damage was done. The damage done was to the extent of a broken wheel, a bent front axle and other minor brakes. The engineer realizing that something happened and perhaps thinking that someone was killed at once applied the brakes to his train and brought it to a stop and hurried back to the scene, Upon arriving and finding that no one was seriously hurt, he claimed "Thank the Lord."

According to Mr. Bath's story, Mr. Bath was driving at a fair rate of speed and did not hear or see the train. He also claims that he hit the second last coach of the the future he will be more careful and is also grateful that he is still a living man.

This ought to be a son for all drivers, w' should follow the motto "Safety First." Considerable reckless driving has been seen here of late, and a stop should be made to this method at Chas. Jung of Kohlsville had : narrow escape last Sunday when the automobile driven by his cousin. Mr. Eckert of Richfield, ran into a ditch and turned turtle throwing the occupants out. Mr. Jung when picked up was found to have sustained two fractured ribs and scratches on the face. The other members of the party A large number of our young escaped without injury. The acfolks attended the kirmess at cident happened while going up a hill near Mrs. Fred Buddenhagen's place, when the driver some manner lost control of machine which started to back down the hill and finally landed in a ditch at the bottom as above mentioned. The occupants were very fortunate in getting off as luckily as they did.

CHARLES T. RIETZ KILLED LAST SATURDAY

Auto Which He Was Driving Turns Tur- Although it was presented to the Underneath, Breaking His Neck

Charles T. Rietz, proprietor of the noted Silver Creek distillery No. 18, was instantly killed shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night when his automobile ran off the road and turned turtle, about one and one-half miles northeast Boltonville on the Sheboygan

The wrecked car was discovered about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night by William Groshaus, and investi-gation disclosed the fact that Mr. Rietz was lying under the car, his neck broken.

Mr. Rietz, who lives at Silver Creek, in the town of Sherman, had made a business trip to Random Lake, Campbellsport, Kewas-kum and West Bend on Saturday and started home early in the evening in his automobile. He left Boltonville, just over the county line about 8:30 o'clock and had gone but little over a mile when for some unknown reason the car went into the ditch, was over turned and in the fall Rietz's neck was broken and he was instantly killed.

It was reported Sunday morning that the car had struck a rut in the road, but other parties de clare the road at that point is very smooth and the exact cause of the accident will probably never be known. Mr. Rietz known as a very careful driver and it is hardly thought he was speeding. It may have been that his car struck a stone and in trying to right it he threw the steering whiel around too far. The news of the accident spread rapidly Saturday night and causwestern part of the county, where Mr. Rietz was well known and very popular. Charles T. Rietz, was born at Silver Creek, April 20, 1867, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rietz. His father, a native of Germany, had become an expert distiller in that country and followed that profession after coming to America in 1860. He spent two months in Pennsylvania and then came to Milwaukee where he assisted in founding the Went & Pfile Distillery company , which was later sold to John Miner and tillery trust. In 1862 Mr. Rietz removed his family to Silver Creek, where he constructed a small log building with a straw roof, and immedia 18, of which he was the sole proprietor. This building was later burned and was replaced by still standing but is no longer usto throw baskets. The score tructed new buildings and added his death he was manufacturing and shipping 130 gallons of liquor every twenty-four hours. Charles 1. Rietz was educated in the district school at Silver Creek. He worked with his fathhe er in the distillery from the time A he was but a small boy, became assistant and finally in July 1903, took complete charge of the business when his father retired. The elder Mr. Rietz died in 1904. The noted distillery continued to grow under the efficient management of his son and at the present time has a capacity of nearly 200 gallons of whiskey a day, for which there was always a demand.

Mr. Rietz proved to be a good business man. He was well liked by all who had any dealings with him because he was scrupulously honest, fair in all his business transactions, generous and kind, and was very prosperous. A few years ago he constructed an elegant home at Silver Creek where he frequently entertained his friends royally. Mn 1889 Mr. Rietz was united in marriage to Miss Gertrude Stahl. who, with five children survive. The children are Mrs. Arthur Surflinf, of Sheboygan, Phyliss, 13: Charlotte, 11: Carl, 7; and Richard 5 years of age, all at home with their mother. Herman Rietz of West Bend and one sister, Mrs. Magnus Smith of Oshkosh, also survive.

Mr. Rietz was a devout member of the Lutheran church and his religion was a vital force in life. In politics he was generally with the Republican party, although he often supported a Democratic candidate if he thought him better fitted for the office. Mr. Rietz was not a politician and, never sought any political office.-She bovgan Press.

LATER REPORT

A close examination of the automobile Monday disclosed the fact that the gasoline had been shut off before the car went into the ditch. This and the fact that the tracks showed that the car had run in zig-zag fashion some little distance has led to the belief that Mr. Rietz was stricken with paralysis and realizing he was ill and losing control of the car, shut off the gasoline and at tempted to stop the machine, but was unable to apply the brake.

A Tale With an Air All Its Own It's All Right

By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

Gypsies and artists, society folks, reckless Bohemians, bold conspirators and a performing bear unite to keep this story acing down the road to Arcady. From the care-free, airy life of the wandering gypsies along the highway you are carried to the strangest, gayest spot in Gotham's fascinating Bohemia. The characters bring their own atmosphere with them and live together in a wonderful world of joyous adventure. Action and mystery, love and humor, thrills and surprises all find place. There is a fresh plot and clever talk. There is much that is quaint, amusing and bizarre. The story is pictorial and poetic and carries the reader far out of his own work-a-day world to one that is free from care and responsibility.

Pedro, a little gypsy lad, is the central figure in the story. Answering the call of genius, with his performing bear, Mr. Jones, shuffling along behind, he sets out for New York. No sooner does he strike the flagstones of the busy metropolis than excitement reigns supreme. In less than no time he is heralded as a celebrity. He becomes the center of not one, but two holding romances. With the inevitable lones, he is fairly hurtled into the midst of a daring tevolutionary scheme. Adventure follows adventure. The element of suspense grows and grows. More intense becomes the love story with every chapter. And then a great unfolding—the revelation of Pedro's real identitycomes as a fitting climax for so strange a tale.

TWO WAYS TO LOOK AT IT If Customer Was in Luck in Getting Hat to Fit Him, How About the

Shop Keeper? After playing a matinee performance recently in Omaha, relates a popular actor, I discovered my hat was missing from my dressing room. This was really a serious loss, for, being possessed of an exceptionally large head, it is not unusually necessary for me to visit every hat shop in the town before I can find a hat to fit, Finally, after a lot of effort and determination, I found a hat shop where they had just one hat that would fit me, I inquired the price of it, and the shop keeper answered with an encouraging smile that it was five dollars. It struck me that the hat wasn't worth that, being somewhat out of His face was set sternly toward the date, I offered him two and a balf. "Two and a half!" he exclaimed, shrugging his shoulders. "Whr, you ought to be mighty glad to get that even for five dollars. Where will you be able to find a hat large enough to fit your head?" 'That may be true," I answered, "but where will you be able to find a head large enough to fit your hat?" I got the hat for two and a half.

CHRISTMAS CAMPAIGN

Wisconsin Association Shown Recogni tion by Minnesota Officers. Christmas Seal Sale will Open on Thanksgiving Day

A call for 1800 local campaign managers to take charge of the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals has been issued by Otto F. Bradley, Campaign Manager of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. This constitutes the opening gun of the 1914 Seal Campaign by which the association will raise funds for continuing the work which is now saving so many lives in Wisconsin from consumption and other preventable diseases.

Splendid recognition was given the Wisconsin Campaign by the Minnesota State Society in seeking to get the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association to take over the complete management of the Minnesota sale. "The proposition came over too late for us to take over the entire campaign' said Mr. Bradley. "We are giving them advisory assistance how-ever. I have jus returned from two days in St. Paul consulting with the Minnesota officers and planning a campaign for them to carry out, and arrangements will probably be made for me to take kee business caller last Saturday. charge of both states next year for the association.

Nearly as many seals were sold in Milwaukee as in the entire state of Minnesota last year. Rural schools in Wisconsin made a higher sale on the average than villages of 500 population in Min-

Thanksgiving Day has been set for the opening of the sale and will close at Christmas. The sale will be pushed upon a purely business basis. It is urged that buying Chirstmas Seals is the cheapest and best form of life insurance. It furnishes protection against sickness rather than indemity after death. It can be shown that unquestionably many Mrs. Jac. Scheid and daughter lives have already been saved through the work supported by Christmas seals.

Those who are willing to help in the campaign to wipe consumption and other preventable ed with friends at West Bend last diseases out of Wisconsin are urged to write the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Associatoin at

From Worms to Man

By simple but comprehensive study and work, he was able, in a single year, to create a net profit of over $5,000,000 on the sale of colcoons of one estate, which previous to his handling, had not met expenses. As a result of readily appreciable value of the scientific methods of his investigation and handling, he was given another and similar problem to solve. An-Att'y B. J. Husting and family of thrax had become prevalent amongst the cattle of France and it was feared that unless its ravages could be checked and controlled the disease might destroy millions of dollars worth of valnable property. By similar methods he discovered the cause and means of preventing the disease. That anthrax amongst cattle has not been entirely eradicated is due solely to the fact that Pas-

In spite of the fact that Louis Pasteur's work was responsible for the saving of millions of dollars for the people of France, he died a comparatively poor man. This fact has been instanced many practical people to justify the commercialization of scientific medical discoveries, Certainly it is true that no man who business so well as Louis Pasteur did should ever want any of the reasonable luxur which money could provide. How to Hold Local Patronage Despite the Aggressive Assaults of Mail Order Houses-"Special" Days a Splendid Scheme That Is Productive of Excel-

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. It disposes them to peace by estab lishing in their community an order of citizens bound by their interests to be the guardians of public welfare. Live merchants' associations, live in minds, can do much toward regaining and holding the farmers' patronage now being sought and fought for by the aggressive mail order houses.

All of the merchants of a town o county co-operating as members of the right kind of an association can accomplish much to the general benefit of all concerned in the solution of the retail mail order problem

ganizing them lose sight of the law of mutual benefit and seek to advance

Law of Mutual Benefit.

But, starting with the fact that both farmer and townsman are interested in making the town and country prosperous, you would have the law of mutual benefit on which to build up an association that would be powerful in convincing all the people of the section that "it pays to keep your money at

Getting farmers to town, it seems to me also, is the most important field of a merchants' association And having "specials" or "bargains" for getting them into the stores is the field of the merchant's individual efforts within which he should retain every bit of his liberty to act.

Many Merchants Offer Prizes. In many parts of the country the merchants' associations have established what they call "carnival day," or "county court day," or "fair day," or "market day," and on these days each merchant advertises that he will give prizes for the largest number of eggs brought to his store, or for the best roll of butter, or for the best bushel

There are many other legitimate schemes which may be used to create interest and draw the people to his

Sometimes several merchants offer prizes of the same kind of produce, and this stimulates interest and results in sharper competition.

On these "special" days the merchants often arrange to have an expert auctioneer on hand to sell any kind of secondhand machinery or farm utensils, household goods, horses. cattle, etc., on a commission basis. If sales are made the auctioneer receives 5 per cent; if no sales are made there is no expense incurred. Wonderfully Helpful.

Propositions of this character are wonderfully belpful in bringing people to town, and when they get to town it is a comparatively easy matter to interest them in something they need. These "special" days, however, must be arranged to correspond with the periods of farm work.

For instance, it would be useless to arrange such days when the farmer is in the midst of planting or harvest-
