BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels. A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

Forgot His Sweetheart. Doctor Brandes, the Danish man of letters, who recently visited this country, tells a curious story of himself, says the Chicago News. The lamentable sequel was that he forgot all about the young girl to whom he had to say good-by.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HER GRAY HAIR

She Made Up a Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to Bring Back Color, Gloss, Thickness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of the famous old recipe for about 50 cents. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Adv.

Fewer Paupers and Workless. The number of unemployed among the trades of Great Britain affected by the national insurance act is now considerably lower than last year. During August, the first month of the war, the percentage of those out of work was doubled. Similar statistics in regard to pauperism point to a return to normal conditions. In the first week of the war, applications for relief under the poor law increased to 17 per cent. The payment of separation allowance to soldiers' families and the boom in manufacturing war supplies have since co-operated to reduce distress until there are now fewer paupers shown in the statistical records than in any year, excepting 1913.

ADOPT UNITED STATES IDEA

Warring Nations Making Use of Trenches, Which Were First Employed by Americans.

It has taken Europe a century and a quarter to catch up with the United States in one important feature of making war. This is the first big European conflict in which trenches cut a real figure. German, French, Russian and English are now learning the lesson our daddies taught Howe at Bunker Hill. That was the first important occasion where trenches played a great part in battle.

Americans have ever since then been as handy with the spade as the rifle. A hole in the ground is a far safer place for a soldier when shells are flying than in a steel encased or granite fort.

Napoleon didn't use trenches, nor did Von Moltke, nor Wellington, nor Blucher, nor Frederick, nor Braddoek, but now the trench is the real defense.

There are several other lessons in that war of '76 which some of the monarch-ridden lands of Europe may learn when peace comes again.—Philadelphia Ledger.

GIRL A HEROINE ON POLES

Her Presence of Mind Proved Salvation of Young Skater, Who Had Broken Through Ice.

About two hundred persons were skating on Clay Pit creek when suddenly the ice began to crack. Everybody skated to safety except George La Barre, fourteen years old, son of Charles La Barre, a New York broker. The ice broke beneath him. "Get a rope," shouted one, scurrying off toward a distant farmhouse to put the advice into action.

"Get a ladder," cried another, running after him, "and shove it out on the ice."

Then a girl pushed her way down to the edge of the ice.

"I'll get him," she said, and got down on her hands and knees, holding a pole in each hand, which distributed her weight over a great surface.

Slowly, but steadily, she neared the floundering boy. Soon she had him by the collar and drew him up on the ice.

"Lie still; hold to the poles."

Young La Barre imitated the girl's motions, and without mishap both reached the shore. A cheer went up and the crowd gathered about the girl, Josephine Hower, of Locust, captain of the Navesink girls' hockey team, showering her with congratulations.

"It was nothing," she insisted; "nothing but common sense."—Red Bank Dispatch to New York Press.

A GLASS OF SALTS WILL END KIDNEY-BACKACHE

Says Drugs Excite Kidneys and Recommend Only Salts, Particularly If Bladder Bothers You.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

THE SENATOR ENJOYS A PLEASANT DREAM.

A NATIONAL benefit—is "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. Nearly all men use tobacco. When you think how much human comfort it must be giving it's no wonder the many thousands of users are talking about it to their friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco, makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and laurier. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

One Farmer Quick to Remedy Wrong, SPENDS MONEY AT HOME.

Local Storekeepers Not Altogether Blameless For Growth of Mail Order Business—Petty Dickering Should Cease, and They Should Trade With One Another.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.] Seeing the errors of others, a wise man corrects his own. Men are apt to prefer a prosperous error to an afflicted truth. It is only an error of judgment to make a mistake, but it argues an infirmity of character to adhere to it when discovered. The Chinese say: "The glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time you fall."

Error's Influence Upon Man. In its influence upon man error has been compared to a magnet concealed near the ship's compass.

As in the latter case, the more favorable the winds and the greater the diligence and skill in working the ship the more rapidly will it be speeded on in a wrong course. And so in the former—the greater the struggle for safety the more speedy the progress of ruin.

This is the position in which a farmer with whom the writer recently talked found himself. This farmer, who lives but a short distance from town, has prospered and accumulated a considerable quantity of worldly goods and has always scribbled many errors on the white pages of life.

Takes Pride in Town. When asked his opinion of his town as a market place he replied, "It's the best in this section of the country."

"Do you sell all of your products here?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes," he answered. "And buy all of your necessities and supplies here, too, don't you?"

"Oh, no; I'm too wise for that," replied the farmer. "Those fellows here are too high. I can buy cheaper from the mail order houses."

There he stood, a big, awkward, intelligent countryman, who for years had been committing the unpardonable error of robbing the treasury of his own town and aiding the upbuilding of the mightiest trust on earth—in some distant center of population.

As the injustice of his practice was explained to him his honest eyes lighted with intelligence as into his weather beaten face there appeared a look of determination, and as his lips parted these words came firm and clear:

"From this day on I will be a true citizen of the township in which I live. The money that I earn here and receive for my produce I will spend here. I will retrace my steps and correct as many of my past errors as lies within my power."

And the honest farmer will make good his promise.

Drains Town of Dollars. How many farmers and consumers are doing the same identical thing as was this farmer—draining the town of its dollars, receiving, but not giving, aiding the large cities and crippling their own little town, which is striving and struggling to maintain a commanding position on board the good ship Earth?

There was never a better illustration than the retail mail order house itself of what may be expected of consumers who fail to see the "signs" and neglect to fit themselves to the "times." The price of existence is measured both by demand and accomplishment.

Do Not Demolish, but Build. The man who wishes to exert a useful influence must practice what he preaches. He must not demolish, but build. He must raise temples in which mankind will come to worship.

There are hundreds of thousands of farmers—yes, millions—who thoroughly realize the necessity of expansion of trade, the protection of their home markets, which is naturally brought about through the development and prosperity of their town.

When once brought to realize what centralization of business into large commercial centers means to rural life there will be an uprising among our American people that will resound from coast to coast.

Storekeepers Are to Blame. The entire responsibility and blame for the present growing conditions cannot be laid at the door of the farmer. Unconsciously the hundreds of thousands of storekeepers that have the gall or nerve to call themselves merchants are equally responsible with the farmer.

As the merchant's pocketbook is the first to be hit he should be the first to reform and set a good example to his customers and those that should be his customers. Petty bickering and quarrels with competitors and local tradesmen should be the first reform made.

The next reform should be to encourage trading with one another more generally than is now being done.

The best way to show your appreciation of your home town is by patronizing the industries in the home town.

THE PRICE OF STRENGTH

To me, no comment on the European war has been more interesting than the accounts of the wonderful attention that has been given to the physical care of the German soldier. Someone once said that "an army marches on its stomach". That was a forceful expression upon the importance of good, well cooked food.

The Germans, probably without ignoring the stomach, have lost sight of the very important fact that the infantry, at least march on their feet. Thus, the greatest attention has been paid to the condition of the feet of soldiers. For a long time, before the outbreak of the present war, a sore-footed soldier was considered a disgrace to the efficiency of the German army.

Hitherto I am certain not nearly so much attention has been given in other armies to the condition and care of soldiers feet as has been to the condition of the horses.

There is here a lesson for all people. So much depends upon the physical fitness of men and women, and yet how careless we are about keeping strong feet and ankles serviceable stomachs and well ordered intestines!

Employers who safeguard their horses by good stabling, careful feeding and veterinary surgical attention, employ almost any kind of human flesh. And an employer who tries to regulate the health of his human employees would be likely to create antagonism by his interference with personal liberty. Some day some business genius will devise a system of grading labor as wheat is now graded, pay to the physically fit what they are worth, and no more than that to the physically unfit.

At first this will be hard on the physically incompetent. At present, however a hardship is imposed upon the physically competent, for they carry their own burden and a part of that of their less competent fellows.

I am not arguing for a repudiation of the debt of the strong to the weaklings (God's Children) who are weak through no fault of their own. Our present knowledge of prevention however is lessening the number of instances which can be attributed, by intelligent people, to God's killing or crippling. More and more, as our intelligence increases, we shall hold out a reward to the strong for resisting the lures of dissipation, lust and laziness.

Country Pot Roast. In a hot frying pan melt a lump of butter or fry out a small piece of pork. While very hot put in the roast, browning all sides. Roll it over. Do not insert the fork, so as to keep all the juice in. When browned put in a pot which has been heated, put water in the frying pan to get any juice that may have escaped and pour over the meat. Cover closely and cook slowly for three hours, turning occasionally. Keep about a cupful of water under the meat and sprinkle a little flour and salt over it 15 minutes before taking out. Turn several times.
