OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Canadian Nonsense

"You want a cozy home, a free life and sufficient income. You want education for your children and some pleasure for your wife. You want independence. Your burden has been heavy and your farm hasn't paid. You work hard and are discouraged. You require a change, etc.

So says Canada to the Wisconsin farmers. Such bunk many weeklies are forced to print because of contracts between Canada and publishing concerns which supply "patent insides" for country newspapers. But this from the report of the Canadian Super Government Agent for Wisconsin to the Canadian Superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa is suggestive.

In the southern or older parts of Wisconsin I find less desire than formerly to move west. This is accounted for by the fact that dairying, which is the chief business of this district, has been very profitable for the past two or three years and is getting better every year.

"Getting better every year? We believe it is and the industry only nicely started. And there's an empire yet to be developed within the state. The Wisconsin farmer never was more prosperous and the prospect for future development never so bright as at this time.

Wisconsin has spent a good many thousands of dollars, and a great deal of time and effort, in trying to prove to agriculturists that the only proper way to run a farm is to run it scientifically and in a business like manner. Probably there is no state in the union where the farmers as a class have accepted this doctrine more readily.

Getting down to brass tacks, just what is the test of the correctness of the theories of the university of Wisconsin agricultural school? Undoubtedly, it is this: has scientific farming resulted in increasing the profit obtainable from a given amount of land? The answer to that question is now at hand in the shape of statistics of the United States Department of agriculture. Its experts are ready to testify that Wisconsin has in recent years succeeded in making an acre produce more than formerly, and has also forged ahead of its neighbors in this respect.

Time to Think About Starting Alfalfa

He who is on the job at an early hour is the one who gets the best start. This is true in the matter of starting alfalfa culture in 1915. The matter of seed is an important one, and there is no other time than now to look after that part of the matter.

It is too late now to fail to recognize the importance of this crop. Not long ago every sort of objection was made—all of them untenable. Now it is not necessary to discuss them—alfalfa has won out. It is universally accepted as the greatest crop in the world to the dairyman and livestock man. There is no question about it. Its extension in Wisconsin and the use of clover catch crops as pasturage, will come near doubling the amount of livestock that may be kept on a given acreage.

Are you, Mr. Farmer going to get busy in this matter this spring? Are you going to be abreast with the times—or are you going to lag behind and lose in so doing?

It is very common for alfalfa growers in Wisconsin to consider the crops worth $80 per acre—what other crop approaches that amount? Wisconsin is destined to become one of the very greatest alfalfa states in America—a reputation of which we will all someday be proud. And the point just now is to be a leader in the new order of things—and wield an influence for progress.

Better get to the front.

Improving The Land

If every farmer in the state will sow clover seed with all grain crops during the next five years there will be a surprising increase in crop yields. Why not? The cost of the seed can be got back from pasturage and the growth plowed under will make big increase in the yields of subsequent crops.

LENTEEN RULES ISSUED

BY THE ARCHBISHOP

Members of The Catholic Church Will Observe The Regulations As Published

A letter including the first encyclical of the new Pope, Benedict XV., and also a copy of the Lenten regulations for the present year has been issued by the Archbishop, Sebastian Messmer, to the priests in his diocese. The encyclical was lengthy and was read by the priests at the services last Sunday. The Lenten regulations show very few changes from the rules of previous seasons. A copy of the regulations as sent to the pastors of churches is as follows: Lent begins Wednesday, February 17, with the observation of Ash Wednesday and continues for forty days, until Easter, April 4.

All Fridays and fast-days during the year are days of abstinence from flesh meat. On Saturdays, which by law are always days of abstinence, flesh meat is allowed by Apostolic indulgence at all meals, unless they happen to be fast days. By special decree a general dispensation from fast and abstinence is granted whenever a holiday of obligation falls on Friday; likewise as regards the Patrocinium of your church.

The following are fast days of obligation: All days of Lent (except Sundays); the Ember-days; the Vigils or Eves of Pentecost, of the Assumption B. V. M. of All Saints, and of Christmas; fastly, the Fridays of Advent.

On fast days only one full meal a day is allowed to persons obliged to fast. But indulgent custom allow coffee, tea, chocolate, with a piece of bread in the morning and the use of eggs, butter, milk, etc., in the evening. For sufficient reason, the collation (lunch) may be taken at noon and the dinner or principal meal in the evening.

By Apostolic indulgence flesh meat is allowed only at the principal meal on all week days during Lent except Wednesday and Fridays and Saturday in Ember week and Holy week. On fast days, flesh meat and fish (including oysters, crabs, frogs, turtles, etc., are never allowed at the same meal, a rule which applies even to Sundays in Lent and to all persons however otherwise excused or dispensed from the law of either abstinence or fast. But meals may always be prepared with the drippings of either fat or lard.

Persons excused from fast may use flesh meat more than once on the days when it is allowed to all. All who have attained the sufficient use of reason are bound by the law of abstinence. But when it is either physically or morally impossible to observe the law, or when it would entail serious difficulties, they are excused from it.

In virtue of the Apostolic faculties granted us by the Holy See we hereby delegate pastors to dispense, in each single case, from abstinence the men actually engaged in threshing as well as the farmer families at whose place threshing is going on.

We also delegate the pastors to dispense from abstinence all men engaged in the lumber camps during the winter.

Catholics having completed their twenty-first year of age, are bound to fast. But the causes of excuse just mentioned in regard to abstinence, apply to the law of fasting. Hence the church ordinarily exempts from fasting, the sick and those in feeble health (whether by sickness or old age, i. e. 60 years); women nursing children; all who are engaged in laborious and exhausting occupations. Persons in doubt whether they are excused or not should consult their confessor or pastor for advice or dispensation.

In virtue of an Apostolic indulgence we permit working men and their families the use of flesh meat at the principal common meal on all fast days and abstinence days throughout the year, with the exception of All Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week and the eve of Christmas.

Persons excused or dispensed from the law of fast or abstinence ought to perform some other good works of piety and charity in the spirit of Christian penance and satisfaction. Hence the pious custom of giving Lenten alms, "Redeem thou thy sins with alms, and thy iniquities with works of mercy," Dan. VI, 24. Also custom of abstaining from intoxicating drinks of staying away from theatres, dances, card parties and other profane amusement, etc.

LOCAL DOCTORS

RECEIVE NOTICE

Physicians Must Register Under Provision Made by New Harrison Act. Must Pay Yearly Fee

Local physicians have received notice from the Wisconsin office of the internal revenue collector that they must register under the provisions made in the new Harrison act to regulate the importation, manufacture, compounding, sale and dispensing of opium, coca leaves, or any other drugs. The registry fee is $1 and must be paid yearly. Under the act any person attempting to sell or handle drugs in any way without a license will be liable to a fine of $2,000 and imprisonment for five years.

Special order blanks are furnished by the revenue office with which drugs may be obtained. These are turned back to the government. The new law goes into effect March 1.

The majority of the physicians and druggists endorse the law, saying that it is the best move that has been made in this country to check the drug habit.

REV. MOHME RECEIVES

OVATION AT MILWAUKEE

In An Address Before The Neutrality League Meeting at The Auditorium Last Week Thursday Evening Kewaskum Pastor is Given Round After Round of Applause

Rev. Mohme, pastor of the Ev. Peace church in this village, was one of the principal speakers at a meeting of the Milwaukee Neutrality League held at the Auditorium there last week Thursday evening. The Reverend gentleman spoke in German and his remarks were met with frequent applause by the large crowd of 3500 people who attended. Rev. Mohme is a very fluent speaker and no matter what subject he has in hand, always handles it in a very creditable and masterful way. His speech dealt with the adoption of a resolution to place an embargo against the exportation of arms and ammunition to the warring powers of Europe and to have the President of the United States use his influence in promoting peace to the countries at war. His speech which was the first of the evening is in part as follows:

"Columbia Tottering Woman," "Not Belgium, not France, a nation once so great, now so crushed; not Russia, which would force upon Germany its standard of civilization; not England, surrounded by seas; not Germany, the beautiful and great Germania, bleeding now from a thousand wounds, yet persevering in its way; resting upon the right and its good sword; but Columbia is the tottering woman. We must call to her: 'You are on the wrong track.' We must get control over the ship of state and direct her into the right course. We should express our deepest indignation over the interpretation of neutrality as proclaimed by our government in July. We cannot withhold from our government the reproach that it made neutrality valueless. We demand true and real neutrality, for the dignity and welfare of our country. We demand upon our right to press our sympathies toward the side on which we see truth and justice.

"We learn that up to last November $300,000,000 in war supplies have been sent abroad. Are we neutral? We sent Christmas boxes with the inscription, 'Peace on earth'; and on Christmas day thousands of men were killed with our bullets, guns and powder. Is that real neutrality? The president fixed a peace Sunday, upon which we should pray for peace. We should pray for truth and justice, rather than for a peace that is no peace.

"Congressman Bartholdt has said that it is disgusting to see England patrolling our coast, demanding our commerce and dictating to a certain extent what America has to do. Secretary Webster said every American ship is American soil, wherever she may be. We must always be American—especially in these troubled times. While the American nation was at war with England in 1812 England did as she is doing today—sent in bloodthirsty Indians to cruelly fight for her.

"Have we still the right to celebrate Lincoln's birthday when we place no value upon liberty, justice and independence? Must we not blush when we celebrate Washington's birthday? Shall Columbia on the Fourth of July, pass through the land and look for the days of the forefathers and then cover her face and exclaim, 'Once there was?'"

LOCALS LOSE TO

NORTH FOND DU LAC

Kewaskum Quintette Get a Severe Beating at North Fond du Lac. Score is 50 to 28

The local quintette accompanied by a number of basketball fans journeyed to North Fond du Lac last Saturday for a return game, being defeated by the team of that city by the overwhelming score of 50 to 28. The boys, however, returned saying that they were very well treated and which must be true according to the following article, which appeared in the Fond du Lac Commonwealth last Monday evening:

"Playing good ball the N. F. A. A. basketball quintette defeated the Kewaskum aggregation by the score of 50 to 28, Saturday evening at the Auditorium, at North Fond du Lac.

Although the members of the invading team realized they were beaten after the first few minutes they put up a clean game and often drew applause from the spectators because of the flashes of form which they showed a few times during the match.

By the defeat of the Kewaskum team Saturday the North Fond du Lac bunch retaliated for the defeat they suffered at the hands of that team several weeks ago at Kewaskum.

On the local team Arnold Roll again proved himself to be extremely adept at shooting the pill and shot 2 free throws, Lawrence Zoch followed with 7 tallies while Jess Linden got a total of 6 counters. Earl Zoch and Otto Krause came in next with 2 and 1 respectively making the total number of goals 24.

Edward Miller on the invading team proved to be the basket fiend when he found the loop of iron for 8 goals the Romaine brothers, Edgar with 2 and Elwyn with 1 made the balance of the score.

The following is the line-up of the two teams as they played on Saturday evening:

N. F. A. A.	Kewaskum
L. Zoch	F. El. Romaine
A. Roll	F. Miller
E. Zoch	C. Ed. Romaine
O. Krause	G. J. Strachota
J. Linden	G. Schaefer
T. Schmidt of Kewaskum,	was the referee for the game.

EICHSTEADT-FROMM NUPTIALS

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eichstadt in the town of Kewaskum last Wednesday, Feb. 10, when their daughter Miss Belinda E. became the wife of Mr. Charles P. Fromm. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Mohme in the Ev. Peace church at Kewaskum. The bride was dressed in white silk messaline, trimmed with silk embroidered all over lace and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and ferns and was attended by Miss Laura, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, who was dressed in pale blue silk messaline trimmed with shadow lace and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ferns. Miss Helen, a sister of the bride was bridesmaid, dressed in white china silk, trimmed with embroidered all over lace, also carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Wilmer Prost as best man, while Paul, a brother of the groom was groomsmen. The bride is the second oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eichstadt and is a young lady of charming manner with a bright future before her. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fromm of the town of Barton and will surely prove to be a good husband. The event was celebrated in a most delightful manner, being largely attended.

The young couple will be at home on a farm in the town of Kewaskum after March 1st.

DOINGS IN OUR VILLAGE

HALF A CENTURY AGO

Items Taken From "West Bend Post" of February 18, 1865, May Prove Interesting to Many of Our Readers

A Glimpse of the Village Through the Medium of an Old Newspaper

In the columns of the "West Bend Post" of February 18, 1865, appeared an article in which the editor, C. D. Waldo, describes a visit to our neighboring village Kewaskum. Fifty years have intervened since those lines were written, which give some idea of conditions and life in those distant days, in the last year of the Civil War in that community. They will especially appeal to those minds who like to preserve local history as a clue to a complete understanding of a past that should be of immediate concern to their townsmen, and a means of looking into the future by looking back. The interesting items of the article follow:

"We made a flying visit one day last week to our enterprising sister village Kewaskum. We found our friend J. Myers, Esq., doing a thriving business in his flouring mill, and busy engaged in getting out timbers for a mammoth sawing mill, his old one not being sufficient to meet the demands of his numerous customers. He has also in contemplation a mammoth grain elevator and numerous storehouses which will be speedily constructed as soon as our Air Line railroad is completed, the prospects of which our good neighbors fill with high glees. "Our friends Altenhofen and Backhaus are both building themselves up in the mercantile business, and would they only let the public know through the press the inducements they offer in their line of business, they would certainly thrive in a tenfold measure.

"Mr. Cook, the good natured, whole souled and generous host of the Kewaskum House, is doing a thriving business, and well he deserves it, for he does the agreeable to his patrons equal to any landlord we ever knew. May his shadow never grow less.

"On Friday evening whilst we were there, the good villagers and citizens from all parts of the county gave their pastor, the Rev. Mr. Wilson, a surprise. It was one of the largest and gayest assemblages of the kind we ever witnessed, and the worthy gentleman may well feel proud of his flock.

"On Saturday evening we attended Prof. Simpson's singing school, and were well pleased with our evening's entertainment. The only drawback to Kewaskum now appears to be the scarcity of young men who are all off in the army, fighting for the dear old flag and the honor of their loved ones at home."

A Story of Which a Former Kewaskum Clergyman is The Hero

In the little story related below Rev. F. P. Grome, or "good old Father Grome" as he was lovingly called by his flock plays the part of the patriot on the side of the Union in the Civil War. Rev. Grome who served the Catholic congregation of Kewaskum for seventeen years from 1873 to 1895 is still remembered by many of that parish, who perhaps will appreciate the reiteration of the episode which is well worth to be revived once more, even if nobody would have a personal interest in the hero. In 1860, Rev. Grome, who was born and had studied in Bavaria was ordained priest in Covington, Ky. The Civil War found him in Kentucky, and he offered his service to the cause of the Union. Afterwards he took charge of a congregational Dayton, O., and remained there for seventeen years before coming to Kewaskum. After the death of Rev. H. J. Holzhauser of St. Joseph's congregation at Milwaukee, he was transferred to that parish. The story runs thus:

Father Grome was chaplain in a Kentucky regiment in Kosseau's brigade during the Civil War. By arrangement he was privileged to return occasionally to Cincinnati to consult with the bishop who would at such times send another priest to take his place. On one of these occasions a stranger to him, a young Irishman, presented himself with proper credentials from the bishop and a note to the chaplain directing him to repair to the city, while Father J.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

Little Cedar Lake in the last few weeks came to the front as a place where big fish are caught. They are monster pickereles that are freed from their ice-bound prison, only to meet a worse fate. One of the biggest fish so far this winter was caught by George Schubert of Diefenbach's Corner. The whopper weighed 22 1/2 pounds. He also caught one that scaled 19 pounds. Oscar Burekhardt of here last week Thursday landed a pickerele that weighed 15 pounds. Fish of such weight put up a hard fight, and it took twenty minutes of skillful maneuvering to tire out this giant caught on the flimsy line and pull him through the ice hole. Plenty pickereles of smaller size are caught.—West Bend News

The general store of the Chas. Ruedeusch Co., at Mayville was burglarized some time between Saturday night and Sunday morning, and goods amounting to several hundred dollars stolen. Among the articles taken was a valuable fur coat, several pairs of shoes, whole bolts of embroidery, silk and gingham, clothing and men's furnishings. The cash register was also broken into and rifled of several purses containing small change.—Hartford Times

Fire starting from spontaneous combustion caused loss estimated at $15,000 in buildings on South Main St., Fond du Lac, last Wednesday evening. During the blaze an explosion occurred in the Hoyer paint store. Mrs. G. Henry, who occupied a flat above one of the buildings, was rescued in her night clothes by firemen.

In 13,800 railroad wrecks in 1914 according to the interstate commerce commission, 605 persons were killed and 11,437 were injured. Property loss to railroads was placed at $9,965,181. Including accidents at railroad crossings and yards, stations and elsewhere, which did not involve wrecks, 9,293 persons were reported killed and 79,888 injured.

A pack of twelve wolves raided the farm of Jacob Keilhofer near Appleton killing his fourteen sheep, all he had, twelve geese and a pig. It was while one wolf was killing the pig that the owner appeared and shot it.

O'Brien remained to perform his duties, Father Grome examined the credentials of his substitute carefully and found them correct in every particular, even to the signature of the bishop which he knew so well and also the seal attached. Everything seemed regular, yet he had a vague distrust of the stranger, which he could not shake off.

Gen. Rousseau's habit was to come to the tent of the colonel of the regiment and there with the officers discuss plans of the campaign. An important move was on foot, and the details were to be communicated to the regimental officers the next evening, but the summons of the bishop named the morning as the time for Father Grome to set out. He measured his successor as cautiously as possible in various ways but could not detect nothing to confirm his suspicion. Finally at the close of the day, as the two were preparing to complete their devotions before retiring to rest, "Father" O'Brien made an attempt to separate himself from his companion. The latter who had reserved this for the final test, stopped him and firmly, though gently said: "No, no, we will say our offices together, Father O'Brien. The latter was not equal to the emergency. He was not up in his role and was compelled to confess that he was no priest.

A guard was summoned and he was taken into custody. Charged with being a rebel spy and seeing that he was exposed, he confessed the truth glorified his act and showered curses on Father Grome's head, who had prevented him from learning the secrets of the campaign. He was tried by court marshal, sentenced to death, and executed, meeting his death bravely.

"How he so nearly succeeded in his daring attempt remained a mystery. The bishop declared his entire ignorance of the man and said that he never signed the documents presented by him, yet there was the seal which the spy had managed in some way to obtain. The movement of Gen. Rousseau was a success, but it came near being a failure and only Father Grome's providential suspicion averted the disaster prepared for it.—West Bend News.

REJECTS U. S. APPEAL

BERLIN TELLS WASHINGTON THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN NATIONS ARE "STRAINED."

TWO NOTES ARE EXCHANGED

American Reply to Kaiser's Refusal to Safeguard Neutral Vessels Reiterates Objection to War Zone Established by Teutons.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Germany has notified the United States government, through Ambassador Gerard, that a state of "strained relations" exists between the two nations.

This being interpreted by state department officials means that a condition of tension has developed which is of serious concern to the president and the American people.

To restore the relations of the two nations to their former state of "friendliness" while at the same time assuring protection to American ships and American citizens traversing the high seas, is now the problem of the president and his cabinet.

The president is face to face with this situation:

The United States, in a vigorous note, requested assurances from Germany that American citizens and their vessels will not be molested by the naval forces of Germany otherwise than by visit and search in the "war zone" around the British Isles to be established Thursday.

Germany, in an official communication received on Tuesday, declined to grant those assurances and reiterated the danger from submarines and floating mines to neutrals traversing the "war zone."

So an impasse has been reached. The president and members of his cabinet discussed during the day the entire subject of the relations of the United States with Germany and Great Britain, with a view of devising a solution which would be generally satisfactory.

So far as Germany is concerned, they determined to do all they could to obtain a declaration by Great Britain with reference to the freedom of foodstuffs not consigned to the German government or to the German military and naval forces.

If Great Britain will comply with the great representations of the United States, Germany has promised to cancel the orders for the "war zone."

The reply of the United States was dispatched Tuesday afternoon.

It includes the fact that representations have been made to Great Britain and constitutes a reiteration of the attitude of the United States with reference to the Berlin decree.

The final note of Germany was polite, but left nothing to the imagination. The American note, like its predecessor, is more than polite—it is anxiously friendly. But still it is firm and shows an unyielding purpose on the part of President Wilson.

FANNY CROSBY IS DEAD

Blind Writer of Hymns Expires in Connecticut—Added Eight Thousand Songs to Gospel Book.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 15.—Fanny Crosby, well-known hymn writer, died on Friday at her home in her ninety-fifth year. Her death was not unexpected, as her health had been failing for some time. In spite of feeble health, especially within the last few months, Miss Crosby continued writing hymns up to a short time before her death.

Eight thousand hymns of Christian worship sung in Protestant churches through the world are the work of Fanny Crosby. Thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—who sang her songs, which were translated into every language, did not know that it was a blind woman's inspiration which they employed to express their Christian faith and hope in song.

LONG DEADLOCK IS ENDED

David E. Shanahan Is Elected Speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—The trick has been turned at last. The house of representatives of the Illinois legislature is graced by a regular speaker. It was a hard struggle, consuming over six weeks of expensive time, but at last David E. Shanahan of Chicago, the dean of the assembly, was elected by Republican vote, with a splash of "wet" and Igoe Democratic votes. Eighty representatives registered in favor of Shanahan, three more than were necessary to elect. Forty-nine of these were Democrats and 21 were Republicans. The end came on the second ballot of the day, which was the sixty-eighth taken.

TEUTONS WIN BATTLE

DEFEAT OF RUSSIANS MOST DISASTROUS OF WAR.

40,000 of Czar's Men Reported Captured—Capital of Bukowina Occupied by Austro-Germans.

Berlin (wireless via Sayville), Feb. 17.—The Russian defeat in East Prussia was the most disastrous of the war, and that it has been followed by another complete victory over the Russians at the other extreme of the eastern battle front in Bukowina, are the most significant announcements made in Berlin on Monday.

The Overseas News agency, which is semi-official, gave out the announcement that Field Marshal von Hindenburg's third battle of the Mazurian lakes will prove more disastrous to the czar's army than the defeat at Tannenberg or the rout in the battles around Allenstein earlier in the war. The number of prisoners captured is estimated at 40,000.

This was followed by publication of a dispatch from Budapest saying the Russians have evacuated Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina. Austro-German troops have entered the city and the Russians have crossed the Pruth river and are in full retreat.

FLASHES OFF THE WIRE

Washington, Feb. 18.—The government ship purchase bill, as an amendment to the Weeks naval auxiliary bill, was passed by the house at 1:20 o'clock Wednesday morning by a vote of 215 to 121. The passage of the bill followed a 14-hour parliamentary struggle. The measure will now go to the senate. Nineteen Democrats voted against the bill.

London, Feb. 18.—The prophecy that Italy would mobilize her army within a fortnight was made here by Ricotti Garibaldi, the Italian patriot. He said that unless the Italian government decided to participate in the war, there would be a revolution.

Berlin, Feb. 15.—Among the statements given out for publication by the Overseas News Agency on Friday was the following item: "Contrary to British reports that since the beginning of the war only one per cent of the British merchant ships have been sunk, Hamburg ship owners state that 113 ships of 308,000 tons, or about four per cent of the British commercial navy, have been destroyed."

AUSTRIANS TAKE RUSS STAFF

Czar's General Surrenders and Ends His Life—Austro-Germans Press on Toward Raton.

Berlin (wireless via Sayville), Feb. 16.—According to the Budapest Daily Aezet, the Austro-Hungarian troops entered Radautz, Bukowina, so unexpectedly that they captured the entire Russian general staff for the Bukowina campaign. The commanding general of the Russians committed suicide.

The official statement issued here says of operations in the eastern theater of war:

AIRSHIPS ON CANADA BORDER

Residents in Northern Montana Tell of Seeing Mysterious Aeroplanes Flying Over the Prairies.

Missoula, Mont., Feb. 16.—Dispatches from Ottawa, telling of aeroplanes reported flying over the Canadian border in the East, aroused comment here with reference to mysterious air craft whose movements have been reported by various towns on the Flathead island reservation. Aeroplanes have been seen, it is said, at points about one hundred miles from the Canadian border. Residents of Polson and Big Fork and farmers on the prairie are among those who told of having observed aeroplanes in their neighborhood.

DRYAN TELLS BRITAIN TO LIBERATE WILHELMINA OR EXPLAIN ACTION.

HAS FOOD FOR GERMANY

England Announces that the Allies Will Bring Full Naval Pressure to Bear on Enemy—Kaiser Offers Terms to End Blockade.

Washington, Feb. 17.—"Permit the steamship Wilhelmina to proceed at once with her cargo to her destination, unless his majesty's government can produce further grounds than that already advanced for doing otherwise."

This is the "suggestion" forwarded to the British foreign office by the state department on Monday through Ambassador Walter Hines Page at London.

With the new note was submitted evidence furnished by the state department by the owners of the Wilhelmina to show that her cargo contains no contraband of war, and that there is no reason under international law why Great Britain should hold up the vessel.

In a statement to the house of commons in London, Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, intimated that further action would be taken by the allies to prevent the importation of foodstuffs in neutral ships to Germany.

Mr. Churchill, in introducing the navy estimates, said that efficiency was the keynote of the admiralty's program, and that at the beginning of the war the supplies of ammunition, men and oil were complete. Every ship in the navy which was fit for service, as well as new ships which were being built for foreign governments and armed merchantmen, had been fully manned.

"The task lying before us is both anxious and grave. We are now to be the object of warfare never before practiced by a civilized power. So far we have not attempted to stop the importation of food. We have not prevented neutral ships from trading directly with German ports. We have allowed German exports in neutral ships to pass unchallenged. But the time is near when the enjoyment of these immunities by a state which as a matter of deliberate policy has placed herself outside of international obligations must be reconsidered."

"A further declaration on the part of the allied governments will be made, which will have the effect of applying for the first time the full force of naval pressure on the enemy."

The foreign office announced definitely that if the cargo of the American ship Wilhelmina should be diverted for the relief of the distress in Belgium, the prize court would be reconsidered.

Otherwise the cargo must be submitted to the decision of the court.

The German government in a note to the United States submitted to the state department at Washington through Ambassador Bernstorff declared that Germany is willing to recede from its announced policy to attack British merchantmen if Great Britain will cease interference with shipments of foodstuffs destined for the noncombatant population of Germany.

The German note asserted that the war zone proclamation was a retaliatory measure, adopted as a result of Great Britain's departure from rules of international law and her purpose to starve out Germany's civil population.

Powers Instruct Diplomats in Capital—New Decree Adds to the Tangle.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Practically all the foreign diplomatic representatives in Mexico City have been instructed by their governments to use their own discretion about leaving the capital, according to an announcement by Secretary Bryan.

Some of the embassies here understand that the diplomats in Mexico City have an agreement that if they leave Mexico City they will leave the country entirely.

The situation has been further complicated by the decree of General Carranza that none of his subordinate military chiefs shall discuss diplomatic questions.

This deprives the diplomatic corps at Mexico City of the privilege of dealing with General Obregon or the de facto authorities in Mexico City.

The only alternative held out to them for discussing diplomatic matters with the Carranza government is a visit to Vera Cruz, which they are unwilling to make, lest it be construed as formal recognition.

Before the present outbreak Miller had some papering done and a heavy coating of whitewash, which was scraped away, was thrown in a heap near the house. Warm, damp weather, physicians say, revived the germs, which had been imprisoned under the whitewash.

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völkerrkrieges

Die Nachrichten, welche in den letzten Tagen zu uns herübergekommen sind—selbst die von London und Paris—lassen ersehen, daß es um die Sache der Deutschen und Österreichischer gut steht.

In Frankreich bereitet sich ein neues Kriegsjahr, und dieses Kriegsjahr heißt Verdun. Letzte Woche kam, und zwar aus feindlichen Quellen, die Nachricht, daß Verdun von allen Seiten eingeschlossen sei. Der amtliche Bericht des deutschen Großen Hauptquartiers enthält keine Festhaltung dieser Meldung, aber er bezeugt, daß zahlreiche weitere französische Einheiten in den Argonnen und den deutschen Truppen genommen worden seien. Damit ist ein weiteres Verdringen der französischen Armee in dem Verdun nordwestlich und westlich vorgelagerten Waldgebiet festzustellen. Damit hat sich der südwestliche Ausweg, der den Franzosen aus Verdun noch offen liegt, bedeutend verengt, aber die vollständige Einschließung der Festung ist noch nicht zur Laufe gekommen. Ihr Schicksal wäre schon längst besiegelt, wenn sie nicht als wirksames Schutzwerk des vorgelagerten der Argonnen an ihrer Westfront hätte. Von Osten und Norden ist Verdun schon seit langem in der Hand der Deutschen. In schweren, blutigen Kämpfen sind die Franzosen bis unter ihren Fortgräben zurückgedrängt worden.

Im Elsaß ist es den Franzosen nicht gelungen, ihre dort vor einigen Wochen in Vergebung gefasste Offensive aufrechtzuerhalten. Der Plan von Thann aus an der Saar nach Mülhausen vorzudringen, die elbsächsische Ebene zu gelangen, ist bereits in Verfall geraten, das wenig nördlich von dieser Bahnlinie liegt, gründlich vereitelt worden.

Eine neue Offensive der Deutschen in Flandern macht sich nach den französischen Meldungen zu urteilen, vorläufig in nördlichen Ardennergebirgen bemerkbar, die seit mehreren Tagen unablässig fortgesetzt werden. Die Deutschen folgen dem alten napoleonischen Manöver, das bekanntlich auch darauf ausging, zuerst die feindlichen Stellungen durch unangesehene Artilleriefeuer zu erschüttern und dann die Infanterie herein zu lassen.

Auf dem östlichen Kriegsschauplatz rücken die Armeen Südbulgars immer näher an Baranau heran. Das Unvermögen der Russen trotz ihrer noch immer bedeutenden Überzahl, keine nennenswerten Fortschritte auf irgend einem der Kriegsschauplätze zu machen, selbst nicht gegen das nur schwach verteidigte Dnepropetrovsk, ist ein unangenehmes Zeichen für die russische Stellung. In Streifen wurden ganze Eisenbahnzüge mit Munition erbeutet, und über 120,000 Infanteriegewehre fielen in die Hände der deutschen Truppen. Und in Galizien haben die Österreichischen den Russen in einer Zeit 700 Gefangene abgenommen und nicht viel weniger verbrannt. Die Zahl der in der letzten Woche des Krieges erbeuteten und zerstörten Gefangenen ist noch nicht genau bekannt worden.

Als der wichtige Kampfplatz in Ostien hatte sich in der letzten Zeit der in der Bukowina dargestellt. Auch der möglichen politischen Folgen, der Einwirkung auf die Haltung des benachbarten Rumäniens halber. Dort hatten die Russen bereits den Gribaba-See erreicht. Weiter diesen Weg führt der Weg nach Siebenbürgen. Mit einer Kräfteanwendung, welche bewundernswürdig erscheint, haben die österreichisch-ungarischen Truppen sich dort dem Feinde entgegen geworfen. Die Schlacht bei Kreibitz wurde einmal als eine der bedeutendsten des gesamten Krieges im Osten bewertet werden. Die Russen sind durch diesen glänzenden Sieg der Waffen der Doppelmonarchie nicht nur über den See zurückgedrängt worden, sie haben auch in den Kämpfen bei Simpolung, welche im Gange sind, bereits schwere Schläge erlitten.

Eine andere glänzende Waffentat wird aus Straßburg, nämlich, daß eine deutsch-österreichische Armee die Stadt Metz in russisch-polen besetzt hat.

Als die Hauptstadt des russischen Gouvernements gleichen Namens und liegt in Südoften, etwa 50 Meilen nördlich von der galizischen Grenze. In dieser Gegend haben einige der schwersten Schlachten des Krieges stattgefunden. Die Einnahme der Stadt ist deshalb von überordneter Wichtigkeit, weil sie eine der wichtigsten russischen Stützpunkte und das wichtigste Eisenbahnzentrum im Südoften ist. Die Einnahme von Metz ist die Folge der neuen deutsch-österreichischen Offensive, die vor einigen Tagen in Vergebung gefasst wurde. Den Russen ist mancher die einzige Eisenbahnverbindung für ihre in Südoften und Nordgalizien liegende Armee abgeschnitten, und ein

BADGER NEWS NOTES

Fond du Lac.—H. M. Fellenz, this county's divorce counsel, is of the opinion if business continues to increase as it has in the last few years, this city may soon make Reno, Nev., and Perry, S. D., look to their laurels. During the last year he was served with forty-four divorce complaints. Twenty-five were taken to court and decrees granted. Eight others were dismissed in court and eleven are pending. Enough actions have been started to indicate the coming year will be busier.

Kilbourn.—When the two dozen members of the Kilbourn Rod and Gun club announced they were going fishing en masse, the entire village anticipated a feast. When the anglers returned in two groups, under Capt. A. P. Julson and Alvin Thomas they brought seven and a half pounds of fish. Each party had caught one. Capt. Julson's side the extra half pound.

Appleton.—While several hundred pupils were in the building an explosion of gasoline in the domestic science department started a fire that destroyed the high school building at Shiocton and entailed a loss of about $15,000. No one was injured. The flames spread so rapidly that pupils were unable even to save their books and wraps.

Fond du Lac.—There are twenty-four candidates already in the field for the coming election. Six of these are seeking signatures to nomination papers for mayor and the other eighteen want to be city commissioner. At the primaries on March 24 the voters will nominate two candidates for mayor and four for commissioner.

Chippewa Falls.—Indications are this city is in for a building boom. The Lumberman's bank will erect a new building. The Rutledge estate will erect a new office building. The Barker company is building a new garage. A number of business blocks will be remodeled and the usual number of new residences are being planned.

Madison.—Charles Nolan of Madison, who was sentenced to life imprisonment at Waupun for murdering Tommy Goff fifteen years ago, applied to Gov. Philipp for a pardon. A hearing will be held on the petition next month. Nolan is a model prisoner. Senator La Follette was prosecuting attorney when Nolan was convicted.

Columbus.—At a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association, the organization voted 34 to 2 in favor of permitting dancing in the school buildings.

Eau Claire.—If 300 acres of cabbage can be contracted for, Libby, McNeill and Libby of Chicago will erect a sauerkraut factory here.

Neenah.—Every person found upon the streets of Neenah in "more or less" intoxicated condition is to be arrested and prosecuted, following orders to the police department by the commissioners. Heretofore a certain degree of laxity has been exercised by the police in enforcing this city ordinance.

La Crosse.—The Franklin club of this city has approved a suggestion that a county mother be employed. The plan as presented by W. E. Barber provides for the hiring of some woman to visit poor families to teach them

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS WHEN BLADDER BOTHERS

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids—Splendid for the System.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

REFUSED TO TAKE ADVICE

Foxes, Unlike Men, Could Not See Things From the Viewpoint of the Politicians.

The foxes were new to politics, and so they listened to the advice of the politicians. "The thing for you to do," declared these, "is to belong to parties and always vote the straight ticket."

The foxes thought a moment. "If we do so," they objected, "are we not in danger of voting inadvertently for yellow dogs now and then? Of course, we don't wish to vote for yellow dogs."

"Of course not," replied the politicians. "There's no danger—none in the world. If you really and truly belong to a party it follows that there are no yellow dogs in that party, and of these no yellow dogs in the party, how are you going to vote for such, provided you always vote the straight ticket?"

But the foxes were not convinced. Indeed, after thinking a little more, they resolved to have nothing to do with parties. This fable teaches that foxes are sometimes foxier than men.—New York Evening Post.

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Joint resolutions for a referendum vote on equal suffrage in 1916 have been offered in the senate and assembly, so the full program of the suffrage forces is now before the legislature.

BILL AFFECTS TAX COMMISSION

As regards the tax commission, another bill, coming from the administration, will be introduced by Senator Baxter. This will make the tax commission consist of three members, of which the governor and state treasurer are to be two, ex officio. The third is to be a commissioner appointed by the governor. He is to serve four years at an annual salary of $5,000. This bill is probably the one that will be finally passed if any be passed, as it represents the views of the administration on this subject.

TWO WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE BILLS HAVE ALREADY BEEN INTRODUCED

Senator Bray introduced a bill providing for taxing autos by weight. The bill says: "There shall be paid annually to the secretary of state for the registration of each automobile and other similar motor vehicle a fee as follows: For each motorcycle, $3; for each automobile propelled by electricity or electric power and designed and used for the transportation of persons, $5; for each other automobile or motor vehicle, a fee based upon the gross weight thereof, as follows: For the first 1,000 pounds, $5, and $5 additional for each 1,000 pounds weights, or fraction thereof, in excess of the first 1,000 pounds."

Assemblyman Gampers is trying to get $108 from the state for a constituency whose land was overflowed on account of a dam built by beavers. It is alleged as the basis of the claim that the game wardens, when their attention was called to the beavers' operations, did not have the dam destroyed.

Assemblyman Nelson wants town boards to open roads through fields when highways are impassable on account of snow and has put in a bill to meet that want.

LAND PURCHASE IS HELD INVALID

CONSTITUTION NOT PROPERLY AMENDED, IS DECISION OF HIGH COURT.

TRUST DIVERSION UNLAWFUL

Amendment to the Constitution Designed to Permit Works of Internal Improvement Not Legally Adopted.

Madison.—The supreme court has decided the forestry case, which has been in court for some time against the state. Justice Marshall wrote the opinion.

In substance the court holds that section 10 of article 8 of the constitution was not legally amended; that the land contracts for the purchase of forestry reserve lands are void and not authorized by the statute. The present forestry statutes are unconstitutional and void; that the diversion of the trust funds is unlawful, and a referee, the Hon. Samuel D. Hastings, Green Bay, is appointed to state the account between the state and its trust funds, and a lien on the lands belonging to the trust funds and unlawfully sold is declared.

The amendment to the constitution designed to permit works of internal improvement, at state expense, as to forestry matters, was not legally adopted, says the court.

The board of land commissioners and Judge Samuel D. Hastings of Green Bay are named to make an accounting of all of the transactions which are declared illegal in this decision, and they are to report to the court which will then make a final adjustment settling up the affairs of the forestry department.

The decision in the width of its scope in wiping out a state policy is the most important which has been handed down in Wisconsin in many years. The action in which it is the decision was started as a friendly suit by state ex rel Atty-Gen. Walter C. Owen vs. Secretary of State John S. Donald.

"Under the forestry decision," said State Forester E. M. Griffith, "the state forestry department as constituted will continue as it is now. The work of administration is not touched upon by the supreme court's decision. It is unconstitutional until the constitution is amended for the state to purchase any more land primarily for forestry purpose, but the legislature can purchase additional lands to enhance the value of the trust fund land, and they can be managed incidentally as part of the forest reserve."

"The lands in the forestry reserves are derived from a number of sources. In 1905 the remaining swamp land was set aside as a part of the forest reserve by act of the legislature. All these lands are now held to belong to the school trust fund. The extent of this land was 342,746 acres."

SLAYS BABY; SHOTS SELF

Mrs. Harold W. Dawson, Stevens Point, Made Despondent by Domestic Trouble.

Stevens Point.—With her husband in the next room, Mrs. Harold W. Dawson, 23 years old, shot her 2-year-old baby boy through the head with a revolver and then sent a bullet through her own brain. Both died instantly.

When the husband, an employe of the Soo line, rushed into the bedroom he found the two bodies lifeless on the floor.

The police here say that domestic trouble was the cause of the woman's act. She had been married five years. The couple had been living in Stevens Point for three years.

A second child, a 4-year-old girl, was recently taken by the husband to Rhineland to live with his parents. A coroner's jury issued a verdict of murder and suicide, following an investigation.

NEW LIBRARY FOR SHAWANO

Work on $10,000 Building to Be Started at Once—Was Started Fifteen Years Ago.

Shawano.—Contracts for the construction of Shawano's Carnegie library will be awarded and work on the $10,000 building will be started at once. It is planned to finish the structure, planned by Madison architects who have drawn the plans for most of the more recent libraries in the state, by Aug. 1.

The Shawano public library was started about fifteen years ago by the Woman's club. It was maintained several years by private subscriptions and from socials, etc. About six years ago the city council appropriated $300 a year for library purposes. This about paid the rent and the librarian, and what money was spent for books was secured through entertainments. Three years ago the council gave the board $600 a year, which was enough for all expenses and books.

Last summer the library board went before the council to secure an increase of $400, making the annual appropriation $1,000, then application was made to the Carnegie foundation for an appropriation of $10,000 for a public library building. This was granted, and the board secured plans for the proposed building. The proposed building will be 32x60 feet with basement and first floor. The building will be a plain one; Mission or tapestry brick will be used.

TAX PAYMENTS SWELL FUND

Railroads and Counties Make Return at Same Time—Illinois Central Pays in Full.

Madison.—Eloquent in terms of cash are the figures which appear in the record of State Treasurer Johnson these days. The time for paying the first half of the railroad tax expired, as did the date for counties to pay their dues to the state. As a result there was added to the treasury $1,500,000. Add to this $322,862.81 paid by the Northwestern Railway company and something more than $1,000,000 paid by the counties, and the recent additions to the cash balance total something more than $3,000,000.

The Northwestern paid its full half of the tax, $822,962.81, making the total $1,221,160.22.

These payments clean up the first half-payment of taxes by the railroads, the amount due Feb. 15 being $2,390,923.62. Two small roads, the Robbins company and the Chicago & Lake Superior are the only ones now delinquent, their present dues amounting to only $333.16. The Illinois Central, following its usual practice, has paid its full tax, $14,660.07, anticipating the August payment by six months.

WASHBURN WINS $5,000 SUIT

Supreme Court Denies Heirs of Accidental Victim Money Demanded.

Washburn.—By a decision of the supreme court the city of Washburn is winner of a $5,000 damage suit brought by the administrator of the estate of Fred Carlson, deceased.

During the summer of 1913 Carlson, while returning from town one night, fell over the railing along the sidewalk on West Bayfield street, into a deep ravine. He was found next morning and taken to the hospital at Ashland, where he died.

Suit was brought against the city for $5,000 damages, and after a trial in the circuit court the jury awarded the plaintiff the damages asked. The case was taken out of the hands of the jury by Judge Risjord and a verdict directed in favor of the city. The supreme court affirmed the decision of Judge Risjord.

DAIRY THE DAIRY

BEST TIME FOR FRESHENING

Several Good Reasons for Having Cows Drop Calves During Months of September and October.

It is generally held by breeders that it is best to have cows fresh in the months of September and October. There are several reasons for having cows calve at this time. First, the cow will produce more milk when she freshens in the fall instead of in the spring; second, the prices for dairy products are higher during the winter months than in summer; third, calves born in the fall may be turned out to pasture to better advantage than those born in the spring; they are older and more capable of protecting themselves from flies. When cows freshen at this season of the year, and it is desired to have them freshen the following year at the same time, it is necessary to carry them for three months before breeding. This is the usual practice among the best dairymen.

We would say that it would be better to begin breeding the animals the first of January if it is desired to have them freshen in the fall, for it is quite possible that it will require more than one breeding.—Hoard's Dairyman.

CLEAN WATER IS NECESSARY

Artificial Pond Erected by Illinois Farmer Proves Quite Adequate for All Needs of Farm.

Good clean water is an essential necessary for the comfort and well-being of the dairy herd. Spring or well water, if good, is possibly the best, but when there is not a sufficient supply a good deep pond does not come amiss.

We have an artificial pond which supplies our needs in this direction, which is ordinarily from twelve to fourteen feet deep, cool and clean.

This pond was made by building a dam across a hollow in the pasture 45 feet wide at the bottom and wide enough at the top so a team could be driven across, says an Illinois writer in Farmers' Review. A wall on the inside of the dam was constructed of two-inch white oak boards to keep the wash from breaking the dam. The outlet is not over the dam, but on the side.

To accomplish this task three teams and four or five men were kept busy for three weeks. After the dam had settled it was built up to the necessary height twice at different intervals.

Here we row with a skill at leisure, and have a good old-fashioned swim when we so desire. In the winter we have a place to skate, and a most excellent place to get an abundance of ice for the icehouse. Not only this, but the neighborhood at this time has the privilege of securing all the water they wish to use. When the wells go dry there is plenty there to fill the demand. It took a lot of hard labor and backache, but it has given us 12 years or more of service.

JUDGMENT IN BUYING COWS

If Animal Has Characteristic Color Markings for Her Breed She is Always Easily Salable.

When buying cows, don't buy anything that won't sell well again in case you should want to do so. The best demand is for grade cows of the leading breeds, and if a cow of the characteristic color markings for her breed, she is easily salable. Of course, to sell a cow on the strength of her color alone is hardly fair to the buyer. Get them with color combined with production. The chances are, however, that once you have a nice looking cow that is a persistent milker you will not be tempted to part with her, no matter how short of money you may be.

WATER SUPPLY FOR COWS

In winter the water supply for dairy cows should have close attention. If watered from an outdoor tank the water should have its chill removed before cows are allowed to drink it; if cows are watered in the barn, be sure the watering devices are free from filth that may render the water impure or unwholesome. By all means water cows regularly.

TOUCHSTONES OF SUCCESS

Comfort and contentment are the touchstones of success. When a cow is comfortable and contented, she responds with a flow of milk far in excess of that she gives when she is uncomfortable and irritated.

PREVENT SLAUGHTER OF HEIFERS

Something must be done to prevent the annual slaughter of new-born heifer calves in the milk-producing sections if we are to do much good work in the improvement of our dairy cows.

New Anesthetic

A new anesthetic is being used in the treatment of wounded in the present war. It is understood to be related to amalgam, a preparation discovered, as this, too, has been, by M. Paulin, a distinguished French chemist and a pupil of Pasteur. Its action is not local; it operates upon the nerve centers of the body, and produces a state of obliviousness to pain which may last for several hours. It is claimed that by an injection of this fluid into the system the wounded soldier may be rendered unconscious sufficiently long to cover the period of his removal to the station, where the first serious treatment of his injuries may be seen to.

Most men are not blessed with such a treasure of a wife as is Langley to a friend one night, with profound pride. "Why, do you know, she's even found a use for the smell of my motor car."

"Great heavens! Do you mean it?" exclaimed his friend.

KNOW NOW

And Will Never Forget the Experience. The coffee drinker who has suffered and then been completely relieved by changing from coffee to Postum knows something valuable. There's no doubt about it.

"I learned the truth about coffee in a peculiar way," says a California woman. "My husband who has, for years, been of a bilious temperament decided to leave off coffee and give Postum a trial, and as I did not want the trouble of making two beverages for meals I concluded to try Postum, too. The results have been that while my husband has been greatly benefited, I have myself received even greater benefit."

"When I began to drink Postum I was thin in flesh and very nervous. Now I actually weigh 15 pounds more than I did at that time and I am stronger physically and in my nerves, while husband is free from all ills."

"We have learned our little lesson about coffee and we know something about Postum, too, for we have used Postum now steadily for the last three years and we shall continue to do so."

"We have no more use for coffee—the drug drink. We prefer Postum and health."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 20c and 50c tins.

The best cup of both kinds is about the same.

"BRAIN OF A BATTLESHIP"

Cross Section of Warship Has Been Erected to Show Electrical Equipment.

Among the interesting exhibits at the electrical exposition and motor show at the Grand Central palace is what might be termed "a cross section of the brain of a United States battleship." More than $10,000 has been expended in demonstrating to the public every detail of the workings of a war craft's system of conveying to the parts of the vessel the orders of its commander.

The navy department has caused to be constructed on the second floor of the Grand Central palace the bridge of a battleship in regular working order and with all the equipment necessary to maneuver the vessel. From the apparatus which controls the searchlights, or eyes, of the vessel at night to the electric fire control and engine room connections the bridge equipment is complete.

In another part of the exhibit the thousand and one pieces of apparatus of which the naval electrician must become a master are displayed, and a squad of experts from the Brooklyn navy yard has been detailed to explain everything to those who attend.

PRETTY WARM TIME.

The hottest weather story of the season comes from Winfield, Kan., and has to do with the hatching of eggs in a refrigerator at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Honold. The local newspaper declares that Mr. Honold on going to the refrigerator an hour of two after putting into it two dozen eggs which had just been delivered by the grocer was surprised to find therein several downy chickens tumbling about. They were removed to a basket and covered with a warm cloth and are now alive and doing well.

Broadway Waiters.

"The waiter of New York, the typical Broadway waiter, is apt to be fresh. He is apt to be impudent. But, then, you know, he has a great deal to annoy him."

The speaker was Paul Rainey, the noted lion hunter. He continued:

"The Broadway waiter is annoyed by ignorant clowns who fraternize with him one minute and insult him the next—was tipping his soup plate in order to miss none of a really exquisite potage St. Germain."

"Excuse me, sir, but you don't seem to be able to get all that soup up on your spoon? Suppose I get you one a week. Start tonight—Edw. C. Miller."

CANCER IS CURABLE

When educators organize for an attack on preventable disease they choose, in tuberculosis, the greatest single cause of death, and one which finds the vast majority of its victims in early adult life. The next great attack was made on the preventable causes of death in infancy.

Most encouraging progress has been made in both of these campaigns. As a result, the great reduction in the number of preventable deaths and the great increase in the average length of life have been secured in early life. Encouraged by what has been accomplished in the foregoing campaigns, a national movement has now been started against cancer. This effort will receive the hearty cooperation and assistance of this Bureau.

In engaging cancer battle is being offered to what is, perhaps, the most serious and difficult health problem of later adult life. Nevertheless, there are splendid opportunities offered for cutting down a tremendous amount of preventable suffering and greatly decreasing the number of premature deaths from the cause.

By acquiring a little fundamental knowledge about cancer one can lessen to a great extent his own chances of acquiring the disease in a fatal form. Know that the disease is easily cured if recognized early and promptly and efficiently treated. Cancer is usually, at first, localized and is almost invariably painless. Many cases arise in moles, warts, a little horny growths on the lips, tongue, etc. An unnatural, slowly growing lump in any location, and particularly in the breast, is a signal for a prompt visit to a thoroughly competent and reliable physician or surgeon. The latter should be consulted at once concerning any unnatural bleeding, especially in middle life, or later.

In no instance is there any warrant for becoming panicky. A suspicious sign will not become a cancer simply because a patient visits a physician. On the other hand if it is cancer ignoring the signs will not drive it away, but will waste the time in which a beginning cancer is absolutely and easily curable.

Neglected, long existing cancers are practically incurable. Obviously, the common sense course is to learn the truth from reliable and experienced counselors. Then, just as a passenger in a boat must trust his life to the pilot, so should the patient trust the physician and surgeon to see him through the troubled waters. Rocking the boat, or jumping in to the current to grasp at a straw in the shape of a deceptive cancer cure, is silly and almost certain to be suicidal.

The disregard of a Cold has often brought many a regret. The fact of sneezing, Coughing, or a Fever should be warning enough that your system needs immediate attention. Great Classical Works Lost.
There are more ways of destroying a book than burning it. The old monks were adepts at another form of destruction with what they considered laudable motives. Vellum was costly and they were indefatigable in erasing the best works of the Greek and Latin to make room for a life of some saint or other on the same sheet. In the Vatican one of the books of Livy can be faintly discerned beneath a mass of monkish writing. And the quality of the monk's composition was seldom comparable with what he destroyed.

PARROT & CO HAROLD MACGRATH

Author of The Carpet from Bagdad, The Place of Honeymoons, etc.

SYNOPSIS.

Warrington, an American adventurer, and James, his servant, with a caged parrot, the trio known as Parrot & Co., travel along the road to the landing, bound for Rangoon...

"Well, he wasn't above having his revenge. He made the syndicate come up there. They wired asking why he couldn't come on to Rangoon. And very frankly he gave his reasons. They came up on one boat and left on another. They weren't very pleased, but they bought his old lands. He came aboard last night with a check for twenty thousand pounds and two rupees in his pocket. The two rupees were all he had in this world at the time they wrote him the check. Arabian night; what?"

"I am glad. I like pluck; I like endurance; I like to see the lone man win against odds. Tell me, is he going back to America?"

"Ah, there's the weak part in the chain." The pursuer looked diffidently at the deck floor. It would have been easy enough to discuss the Warrington of yesterday, but the Warrington of this morning was backed by twenty thousand good English sovereigns; he was a different individual. "He says he doesn't know what his plans will be. Who knows? Perhaps some one ran away with his best girl. I've known lots of them to wind up out here on that account."

"When do we reach Promé?" "About six," understanding that the Warrington incident was closed. "It isn't worth while going ashore, though. Nothing to see at night."

"I have no inclination to leave the boat until we reach Rangoon."

She met Warrington at luncheon, and she greeted him amiably. To her mind there was something pitiful in the way he had tried to improve his condition. So long as she lived, no matter whom she might marry, she was convinced that never would the thought of this man fade completely from her memory. Neither the amazing likeness nor the romantic background had anything to do with this conviction. It was the man's utter loneliness.

"I have been waiting for Parrot & Co. all the morning," she said.

"I'll show him to you right after luncheon. It wasn't that I had forgotten."

Rajah took the center of the stage; and even the colonel forgot his liver long enough to chuckle when the bird turned somersaults through the steel hoop. Elsa was delighted. She knelt and offered him her slim white finger. Rajah eyed it with his head cocked at one side. He turned insolently and entered his cage. Since he never saw a finger without flying at it in a rage, it was the politest thing he had ever done.

"Isn't he a sassy little beggar?" laughed the owner. "That's the way; his hand, or claw, rather, against all the world. I've had him half a dozen years, and he hates me just as thoroughly now as he did when I picked him up while I was at Jaipur."

"Have you carried him about all this time?" demanded the colonel. "He was one of the two I trusted," quietly, with a look which rather disconcerted the Anglo-Indian.

"By the actions of him I should say that he was your bitterest enemy." "He is, yet I call him friend. There's a peculiar thing about friendship, said the kneeling man. "We make a man our friend; we take him on trust, frankly and loyally; we give him the best we have in us; but we never really know. Rajah is frankly my enemy, and that's why I love him and trust him. I should have preferred a dog; but one takes what one can. Besides..." Warrington paused, thrust the perch between the bars, and got up.

"Jah, jah, jah! Jah-jah-ja-ah!" the bird shrieked.

"Oh, what a funny little bird!" cried Elsa, laughing. "What does he say?" "I've often wondered. It sounds like the bell-gong you hear in the Shwe Dagon pagoda in Rangoon. He picked it up himself."

The colonel returned to his elderly charges and became absorbed in his aged Times. If the girl wanted to pick up the ruff rag to talk to, that was her affair. Americans were impossible, anyhow.

"How long have you been in the Orient?" Elsa asked. "Ten years," he answered gravely. "That is a long time."

"Sometimes it was like eternity."

"I have heard from the pursuer of your good luck."

"Oh!" He stooped again and locked the door of Rajah's cage. "I dare say a good many people will hear of it. It was splendid. I love to read stories like that, but I'd rather hear them told first-hand."

Elsa was not romantic in the sense that she saw heroes where there were only ordinary men; it was the obscure and unknown hero who appealed to her; such a one as this man might be.

"Oh, there was nothing splendid about the thing. I simply hung on." Then a thought struck him. "You are traveling alone?"

"With a companion." A peculiar question, she thought.

"It is not wise," he commented.

"My father was a soldier," she replied.

"It isn't a question of bravery," he explained, a bit of color charging under his skin. "This world is not like your world. Women over here. Oh, I've lost the art of saying things clearly." He pulled at his beard embarrassedly.

"Are you warning me against yourself?" "Why not? Twenty thousand pounds do not change a man; they merely change the public's opinion of him. For all you know, I may be the greatest rascal unhanged."

"But you are not." He recognized that it was not a query; and a pleasurable thrill ran over him. Had there been the least touch of condescension in her manner he would have gone deep into his shell.

"No; there are worse men in this world than I. But we are getting away from the point, of women traveling alone in the East. Oh, I know you can protect yourself to a certain extent. But everywhere, on boats, in the hotels, on the streets, are men who have discarded all the laws of convention, of the social contract. And they have the keen eye of the kite and the vulture."

To Elsa this interest in her welfare was very diverting. "In other words, they can quickly discover the young woman who goes about unprotected? Don't you think that the trend of the conversation has taken rather a remarkable turn, not as impersonal as it should be?"

"I beg your pardon! Shall I go?" "No. I want you to tell me some stories." She laughed. "Don't worry about me, Mr. Warrington. I have gone my way alone since I was sixteen. I have traveled all over this wicked world with nobody but the woman who was once my nurse. Now, tell me something of your adventures. Ten years in this land must mean something. I am always hunting for Harun-al-Raschid, or Sindbad, or some one who has done something out of the ordinary."

He inclined against the rail and stared down at the muddy water. "Adventure?" She frowned a little. "I'm afraid mine wouldn't read like adventures. There's no glory in being a stevedore on the docks at Hongkong, a stoker on a tramp steamer between

"I Want You to Tell Me Some Stories."

Singapore and the Andaman Islands. What haven't I been in these ten years?" with a shrug. "Can you fancy me a deck-steward on a P. & O. boat, tucking old ladies in their chairs, straggling about with a tray of hot-bowls, helping the steward to their staterooms, and touching my cap at the end of the voyage for a few shillings in tips?"

"Tell me more."

He looked into her beautiful face, animated by genuine interest, and wondered if all men were willing to obey her.

"It always interests me to hear from the man's own lips how he overcame obstacles."

"Sometimes I didn't overcome them. I ran away. After all, the strike in oil was a fuke."

"I don't think so. But go on," she prompted.

"Well, I have been manager of a coconut plantation in Penang; I've been lay tracks in Upper India; had a hand in some bridges; sold patent medicines; worked in a ruby mine; been a haberdasher in the Whiteaway, Laidlaw shop in Bombay; cut wood in the teak forests; helped exterminate the plague at Chitor and Udaipur; and never saved a penny. I never had an adventure in all my life."

"Why, your wanderings were adventures," she insisted. "Think of the things you could tell!"

"And never will," a smile breaking over his face.

How like Arthur's that smile was! thought the girl. "Romantic persons never have any adventures. It is to the prosaic these things fall. Because of their nearness you lose their values."

"There is some difference between romance and adventure. Romance is what you look forward to; adventure is something you look back upon. But I always supposed adventure was the finding of treasures, on land and on sea; of filibustering; of fighting with sabers and pistols, and all that rignarole. I can't quite lift my imagination up to the height of calling my six months' shovel-engineering on the Galle an adventure. It was brutal hard work; and many times I wanted to jump over. The Lascares often cut out of trouble that way."

"It all depends upon how we look at things." She touched the parrot cage with her foot, and Rajah hissed. "What would you say if I told you that I was unconventional enough to ask the pursuer to introduce you?"

The amazement in his face was answer enough. "Don't you suppose," she went on, "the picture you presented, standing on that ledge, the red light of the torch on your face, the bird cage in your hand—don't you suppose you roused my sense of the romantic to the highest pitch? Parrot & Co.!" with a wave of her hands.

She was laughing at him. It could not be otherwise. It made him at once sad and angry. "Romance! I hate the word. I again affirm that young women should not travel alone. They think every bit of tinsel is gold, every bit of colored glass, ruby. Romance, adventure! Bah! So much tawdler has been written about the East that cads and scoundrels are mistaken for Galahads and D'Artagnans. Few men remain in this country who can with honor leave it. Who knows what manner of man I am?"

He picked up the parrot cage and strode away.

"Jah, jah!" began the bird. "Not all the diplomacy which worldly-wise men have at their disposal could have drawn this girl's interest more surely than the abrupt, rude manner of his departure."

CHAPTER IV.

Two Days of Paradise.

At first Elsa did not know whether she was annoyed or amused. The man's action was absurd, or would have been in any other man. His advice to her to go home was downright impudence; and yet the sight of the parrot cage dangling at his side made it impossible for her to take lasting offense. Once upon a time there had been a little boy who played in her garden. When he was cross he would take his playthings and go home. The boy might easily have been this man Warrington, grown up.

Of course he would come and apologize to her for his rudeness. Perhaps he had resented her curiosity; perhaps her questions had been pressed too hard; and perhaps he had suddenly doubted her genuine interest. At any rate it was a novel experience. And that bewildering likeness!

She returned to her chair and opened the book again. And as she read her wonder grew. The diction was exquisite; there was style; but now as she read there was lacking the one thing that stood for life—blood. It did not pulsate in the veins of these people. Until now she had not recognized this fact, and she was half-way through the book. What had happened to her since yesterday? To what cause might be assigned this opposite angle of vision, so clearly defined?

The book fell upon her knees and drowsily she watched the perspective open and divaricate. The low banks with their golden haze of dust, the cloudless sky, the sad and lonely white pagodas, charmed her; and the languor of the East crept stealthily into her northern blood. She was not conscious of the subtle change; she only knew that the world of yesterday was unlike that of today.

Warrington, after depositing Rajah in the stateroom, sought the bench on the stern deck. He filled his cutty with purse-loaned tobacco and roundly damned himself as a blockhead. He had forgotten all the niceties of civilization; he no longer knew how to behave. The first young woman in all these years who had treated him as an equal, and he had straightway proceeded to lecture her upon the evils of traveling alone in the Orient!

And yet he had told her the truth. It was not right that a young and attractive woman should wander about in the East, unattended save by a middle-aged companion. It would provoke the devil in men who were not wholly bad. Women had the fallible idea that they could read human nature, and never found out their mistake until after they were married. He knew her kind. If she wanted to walk through the bazaars in the evening she would do so. If a man followed her she would ignore the fact. If he caught up with her and spoke she would continue on as if she had not heard. If a man touched her she would rely upon the fire of her eyes. She would never call out for help. Some women were just that stilly.

He bit hard upon the stem of his pipe. What was all this to him? Why should he bother his head about a woman he had known but a few hours? Ah, why lie to himself? He knew what Elsa, usually quick and receptive, did not know, that he was not afraid of her, but terribly afraid of himself. For things ripen quickly in the East, men and women, souls and deeds. And he was something like the pariah dog; spoken kindly to, it attached itself immediately and enduringly.

He struck the cutty against his boot heel. Why not? It would be only for two days. At Rangoon their paths would separate; he would never see her again. He got up. He would go to her at once and apologize. And thus he surrendered to the very devil he had but a moment gone so vigorously discountenanced.

He found her asleep in her chair. The devil which had brought him to her side was thrust back. Why, she was nothing more than a beautiful child! A great yearning to brother her came into his heart. He did not disturb her, but waited until five, that grave and sober hour, when kings and clerks stop work for no logical reason whatever—tea. She opened her eyes and saw him watching her. He rose quickly.

"I was very rude a little while ago. Will you accept my apologies?" "On condition that you will never take your playthings and go home?" He laughed engagingly. "You're hit it squarely. It was the act of a petulant child."

"It did not sound exactly like a man who had stoked six months from Singapore to the Andaman Islands. But there is one thing I must understand before this acquaintance continues. You said, 'Who knows what manner of man I am?' Have you ever done anything that would conscientiously forbid you to speak to a young, unmarried woman?"

"Take care of herself?" He rather believed she could. The bluntness of her question dissipated any doubt that remained.

"No. I haven't been that kind of a man," simply. "I could look into my mother's eyes without any sense of shame, if that is what you mean."

"That is all I care to know. Your mother is living?"

"Yes. But I haven't seen her in ten years." His mother! His brows met in a frown. His proud, beautiful mother!

Elsa saw the frown and realized that she had approached delicate ground. She stirred her tea and sipped it slowly.

"There has been a deal of chatter about shifty, untrustworthy eyes," he said. "The greatest liars I have ever known could look St. Peter straight and serenely in the eye. It's a matter of steady nerves, nothing more. Somebody says that so and so is a fact, and we go on believing it for years, until someone who is not a person but an individual explodes it."

"I agree with you. But there is something we rely upon far more than either eyes or ears, instinct. It is that attribute of the animal which civilization has not yet successfully

"No, I Am Going to Singapore."

She returned to her chair and opened the book again. And as she read her wonder grew. The diction was exquisite; there was style; but now as she read there was lacking the one thing that stood for life—blood. It did not pulsate in the veins of these people. WORDS THAT BURN

Washington's Address to Troops at Long Island a Marvel of Eloquence.

From an address delivered before the battle of Long Island, 1776. THE time is now near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be freemen or slaves; whether they are to have any property they can call their own; whether their houses and farms are to be pillaged and destroyed, and themselves consigned to a state of wretchedness from which no human efforts will deliver them. The fate of unborn millions will now depend, under God, on the courage and conduct of this army. Our cruel and unrelenting enemy leaves us only the choice of a brave resistance, or the most abject submission. We have, therefore, to resolve to conquer or to die.

Our own, our country's honor, calls upon us for a vigorous and manly exertion; and if we now shamefully fail, we shall become infamous to the whole world. Let us, then, rely on the goodness of our cause, and the aid of the supreme being, in whose hands victory is, to animate and encourage us to great and noble actions. The eyes of all our countrymen are now upon us; and we shall have their blessings and praises, if happily we are the instruments of saving them from the tyranny meditated against them. Let us, therefore, animate and encourage each other, and show the whole world that a freeman, contending for liberty on his own ground, is superior to any slavish mercenary on earth.

Liberty, property, life and honor are all at stake. Upon your courage and conduct rest the hopes of our bleeding and insulted country. Our wives, children and parents expect safety from us only; and they have every reason to believe that heaven will crown with success so just a cause. The enemy will endeavor to intimidate by show and appearance; but remember they have been repulsed on various occasions by a few brave Americans. Their cause is bad—their men are conscious of it; and, if opposed with firmness and coolness on their first onset, with our advantage of works, and knowledge of the ground, the victory is most assuredly ours.

GLORY IN MARTYRDOM.

Never shrink from deep devotion, because you fear its trials or its sacrifices. Paul, in martyrdom, was undoubtedly happier than God's half-hearted servants.—W. R. Huntington.

Easy-Going Monarch. Lord mayors have changed with the times. Dignity has succeeded impudence. One recalls a lord mayor who entertained Charles II. and "toasted" so well and so unwisely that when his royal guest left he "pursued him hastily, and catching him fast by the hand, cried out with a vehement oath and accent, 'Sir, you shall stay and take another bottle.'" The airy monarch looked kindly at him, and with a smile repeated this line of the old song: "He that's drunk is as great as a king," and immediately turned back and complied with his landlord.—London Chronicle.

Washington the Man. Washington occupies a unique place, not only in the history of the United States, but in the history of the world. No man of such recent years enjoys such a splendid perspective. America views him, not as a man but as a demigod. He looms vast, a hero with the awesome, inspiring splendor that invests the deities of Greek mythology. And yet, Washington the man is very real to us.

WASHINGTON

God will no man a slave. The man most meek, Who saw him face to face on Horeb's peak, Had slain a tyrant for a bondman's wrong, And met his Lord with sinless soul and strong. But when, years after, overfraught with care, His feet once trod doubt's pathway to despair, For that one treason lapse, the guiding hand That led so far now barred the promised land, God makes no man a slave, no doubter free; Abiding faith alone wins liberty.

No angel led our Chieftain's steps aright; No pilot cloud by day, no flame by night; No plague nor portent spake to foe or friend; No doubt assailed him, faithful to the end.

Weaklings there were, as in the tribes of old, Who craved for fleshpots, worshipped calves of gold, Murmured that right would harder be than wrong, And freedom's narrow road so steep and long; But he who ne'er on Sinai's summit trod, Still walked the highest heights and spake with God; Saw with anointed eyes no promised land, By petty bounds or pettier cycles spanned, Its people curbed and broken to the ring, Packed with a caste and saddled with a king— But freedom's heritage and training school, Where men unrul'd should learn to wisely rule, Till sun and moon should see at Ajalon King's heads in dust and freemen's feet thereon.

His work well done, the leader stepped aside, Spurning a crown with more than kingly pride, Content to wear the higher crown of worth, While time endures, First Citizen of earth.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. ## THE KITCHEN CABINET

What stronger breastplate than a heart untaunted? Thrice is he armed that has his quarrel not just; and he but naked, though locked up in steel. Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted.—Shakespeare.

DISHES WE ALL LIKE.

The following dishes will give pleasing variety to the bill of fare and the chill may be made of the cheaper cuts of beef.

Chili Con Carne.—Slice one large onion and fry it in drippings until yellow, then add two pounds of beef which has been cut in inch cubes, rolled in flour and well seasoned; add one can of tomatoes, two large green peppers, chopped, and a few dashes of red peppers; season with salt, cover with boiling water and simmer until tender. Add half cupful of cooked kidney beans to the stew and put another half cupful through a sieve and add to it, to thicken it. Serve very hot.

Mexican Tamales.—Prepare fricassee chicken by cutting the fowl into sections, dredging with flour and browning in hot drippings. Make a sauce of a quart of tomato, tabasco sauce, or minced red pepper and stew the chicken in this mixture. Make a thin cornmeal mush by using chicken stock with cornmeal. Carefully strip the husks from green ears of sugar corn, spread each husk with a layer of the mush. In the center pack two or three pieces of the chicken and pepper sauce. Tie the husks together with strips of corn husks and cook in a steamer for two or three hours.

Russian Perok.—Boil a small head of cabbage in salted water until tender, then cut in pieces; mix with diced hard-boiled egg, one for each cupful of cabbage. While hot, add salt, pepper, and enough cream to moisten the whole. Bake in a pie plate between two layers of rich pastry.

Chop Suey.—Let a cupful of dried beans sprout and use these sprouts with two pounds of lean pork; cut in small cubes, which have been dredged in flour and browned in hot fat; add one minced onion, two small bunches of celery, and with the seasonings, cover with boiling water and simmer until tender. Just before serving add a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce.

It must be somewhere written that the virtues of the mothers shall occasionally be visited on the children as well as the sins of the fathers.—Dickens.

GOOD DISHES WORTH TRYING.

Always save any left over cream of wheat or cooked breakfast food of oatmeal or the like. Mold in small amounts and fry for a hot luncheon or supper dish.

For those who have never eaten young squirrels brailed a toothsome sensation is still due. Clean and wash the squirrels, wipe dry and broil over a clear bright fire. When a golden brown season well, cover generously with butter and serve hot. This dish is for those hunters who have no conscience about taking the life of the joyous little squirrel.

Cabbage Salad.—Put one-half cupful of vinegar and one tablespoonful of butter to heat in a double boiler. Beat the yolk of one egg, one tablespoonful of flour, one of sugar and two of sour cream, cook smooth in the vinegar. Just as it thickens stir in the well beaten white of an egg and pour over shredded well salted cabbage.

Apple Dumplings.—Make a rich baking powder biscuit crust, roll out and cut in squares large enough to wrap a well cored and peeled apple. Fill the apple with chopped peanuts, sugar and bits of butter. Pinch each square and bake in a hot oven. A most delicious crust may be made by using peanut butter in place of other shortening in the making of the dumplings.

Almond Salad.—Wash and shred a half cupful of almonds, add six olives, stoned and chopped, a half cupful of celery and a half cupful of boiled dressing or sufficient French dressing to season well. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Creamed Chestnuts.—This is a delicious dish where chestnuts are reasonable in price. Boil until tender a cupful or two of chestnuts. Serve in well seasoned rich, white sauce. An egg may be added to the sauce to make it richer or cream used instead of milk.

Did He Get a Boy?
It was a baker's shop. From the perforated grating beneath floated a delicious aroma of cake, to the great enjoyment of a number of small boys who were looking in the window. Presently the proprietor appeared with a load of steaming hot cakes fresh from the oven, and began to dress the window with artistic piles. Having finished, he went away, but reappeared a few moments later with a card in his hand, which he hung in the window, bearing the words, "Boy Wanted!"—London Chronicle.

Cut of Russian Lines

A VERY distinctive and elegant style, and one of the easiest for the home dressmaker to follow, is shown in the dress pictured here. It is a style especially well adapted to plump figures. This dress of velvet, trimmed with embroidered bands, is innocent of a waist line, and because of this and its other peculiarities it is altogether out of the ordinary.

Imagine the effectiveness of a strong, rich shade of blue, a little darker than sapphire, in an excellent quality of velvet, when contrasted with bands of trimming closely covered with small steel beads. The combination is very fine, and dark green or black used instead of blue will prove quite as handsome.

There is a straight underskirt of silk, having the lower part of velvet. The simply cut upper garment hangs over this in lines of uncompromising plainness.

The belt and round neck are defined by the embroidery of beads, the sleeves are long and plain. This gown is a good illustration of the axiom that rich materials look best when simply made up, for it is unusual and impressive. But the model is not suited to commonplace materials.

Another development in an entirely different material is equally effective. This is demonstrated in a gown made of twine-colored net, the overgarment showing the net laid in side plaits a half inch deep. But in this gown a silk cord partly defines the waist line, which it encircles at the belt, falling below it at the front and fastening in a knot at one side like a Greek girdle. The underskirt is of plain net over a foundation of satin in the same color.

Although there is no flare in the skirt or upper garment, they are both roomy. It is the lack of definition of the figure that adapts the velvet model to the stout figure. But in the dress made of net the plaiting of the material and the addition of the girdle produce a gown which is ideal for a slender figure.

The Widely Featured Godet Veil

THE fad of the hour is the straight-hanging ample veil, rippling about the lower edge and just as full as it well can be made. It is of dotted or figured net and usually it is in black, although a warm gray or mode or dark fawn color is liked immensely. The latter are often finished with a lace pattern about the lower edge, which does not interfere at all with their being bound.

The usual binding is a narrow fold of black satin. A recent arrival is the black veil with binding of white satin. A few varieties are bordered with ribbon an inch wide, but the great majority of all the veils are cut circular, hang to a point a little below the shoulders, and are bound with a narrow fold of black satin.

An extreme of the mode is made of a square of black flannel net having small solid squares scattered over its surface. The net is a yard wide. A circular piece is cut out from the center and the opening is hemmed in a narrow hem into which a round elastic cord is run. The edges are bound with a narrow fold of white satin. The veil is adjusted to the hat by the elastic cord and hangs full, and in points, to waist line.

It is an easy matter to make one of these pretty veils, and anyone can afford to indulge in a fad that costs so little. The prettiest touch is added by tacking a rose or a small nosegay of bright flowers to the border at the left side. This is the very latest trick of adornment and is wonderfully pleasing.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

New Muffs Are Small.
As if to show just what length fashion would have us follow, the latest muffs are infinitesimally small. Quite absurd do they appear after the huge pillow affairs we have been cheerfully hauling around with us for the past few seasons. It may be that the long, tight sleeves, fur lined as they are on the modish suit, interfere with the huge muff, so mildy demands that a smaller affair be designed for her comfort.

Useful Frock.
A useful little day frock is of old parchment-colored woolen ree trimmed with braid, very wide silk braid to match, worked over again in places with very narrow braid in black, and the bottoms are wooden, matching the parchment hue, while there is an odd little waistcoat, of which little is seen, in black and white checked velvet.

Draperies Soften a Room.
To soften and tone down a room the touch of drapery is essential, especially window drapery, which, if skillfully arranged, can add to the width and height of any window. Fashionably speaking, window draperies tend to run clear to the floor. The delicate translucent mesh of madras, figured and in stained glass effect, some of the open work cotton draperies and the open work machine embroideries are more and more being used in household decoration. Figured stuffs, such as cretonnes and prints from Holland and Japan, range from the demurest effects to all the warmth and color needed to brighten the dark walls of the bungalow.

"You Can't Do It."
Henry N. Spaan tells a story of John S. Duncan, illustrating how quickly Mr. Duncan took advantage of an unusual occurrence in the trial of a case. The witness was being cross-examined with all the vigor John S. Duncan possessed. Finally he protested, "What are you trying to do to me?" the witness shouted at Mr. Duncan. "I am simply trying to get you to tell the truth," replied Mr. Duncan, instantly. "You can't do it, you can't do it!" exclaimed the witness exultantly. That reply terminated the cross-examination.—Indianapolis News.

WHEN men tell their friends about "Right-Cut" they call it the Real Tobacco Chew. Right there you have the secret of "Right-Cut" success—the fact that it has so many advantages causes men to tell the good news to their friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. That's it! Rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, not fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary cut tobacco makes you spit too.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

A POLITE man is one who listens with interest to things he knows all about, when they are told him by a person who knows nothing about them.

DAINTY DISHES FOR CHRISTMAS.

No holiday time will be just right with mince pie left out, so here is one to place in the family archives. Rich Mince Meat.—Use beef with some suet, chop the meat fine and for every pound add two pounds of chopped greening apples, a half pound each of currants and raisins, a third of a cup of currant sliced fine, the rind and juice of two lemons, a pound of sugar, a half cup of molasses and a cup of cider. Add enough beef juice to moisten, two teaspoonfuls each of mace and cinnamon, a half teaspoon of ground cloves and salt to suit the taste. Cook until well seasoned through. Often one will find that more seasoning is needed; taste and try it until it tastes right. Usually a pie baked will be a good test and one will then see what is lacking. Always serve mince pie warm for if there is anything unattractive about it, a mince pie with bits of hard clammy suet mixed through it.

Plum Pudding.—Boil a quart of milk and pour it on a quart of baker's bread. Let this stand for an hour, then stir into it one cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of suet which has been rubbed with a little flour, one cupful each of raisins and currants and one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, mace and nutmeg. Beat six eggs to a stiff froth and stir in. Butter a deep earthen dish and turn in the mixture. Bake four hours, or steam five. Serve with a rich sauce. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and powdered sugar and vanilla, add a little whipped cream.

Citron and Nut Cake.—Cream a quarter of a pound of butter and a half-pound of powdered sugar and the yolks of three eggs beaten, half a cup of milk, beat well and add a half pound of flour and two tablespoonfuls of baking powder (using pastry flour), add a tablespoonful of vanilla and then fold in the whites of the eggs well beaten. Cut a quarter of a pound of citron into small bits with the scissors, add a quarter of a pound of chopped nuts. Bake in a round buttered pan. Cover with boiled frosting and decorate with pieces of citron cut to resemble mistletoes. The berries are made of pieces of the almonds cut round. Garnish with holly or the real mistletoe if it is obtainable.

SOME BEST HOLIDAY RECIPES.

For the cookie jar this is a good one to try, for the little people will be sure to like them.

Christmas Cookies.—Cream a cup of butter and a beaten egg and two tablespoonfuls of cream, then stir in gradually two cupfuls each of flour and rice flour, with five tablespoonfuls of sugar. Roll out and cut with small biscuit cutter. Bake for ten minutes in a moderate oven.

Reliable Mince Meat.—A pound each of raisins, currants, chopped suet, chopped apples, brown sugar, sultana raisins, half-pound of chopped almonds, an ounce of mixed spices, the rind and juice of three lemons and three oranges, with a pound of candied citron chopped. Keep two weeks before using.

Marrons With Whipped Cream.—Cut rounds of sponge cake and place on each two preserved chestnuts. Sprinkle with a little of the sirup and force a little whipped cream through a pastry tube around the chestnuts. Serve on dolly covered plates.

Carrot Pudding.—To a cupful of chopped suet add a cup of grated carrot, two cupfuls of flour, one-half cupful of sweet milk, one cupful of raisins, one cupful of currants, one-half-cupful of sugar and one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-quarter of a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves and a quarter of a nutmeg, grated. Mix all together, adding the fruit last. Put in a buttered mold and steam three hours. Serve with any kind of pudding sauce preferred. The following is not very common and is most excellent.

Sauce for Plum Pudding.—Melt a cupful of sugar in half a cupful of water. Let it boil for five minutes, then add a half cup of orange juice with the grated rind and the juice of half a lemon. Another sauce of three beaten eggs, a half cup of milk and half cupful of sugar, with a teaspoonful of vanilla is a good sauce for any steamed pudding.

Cream of Chicken Soup.—Break up the chicken carcass left from the previous day, add bits of skin and barley, cover with cold water, cook slowly on the back of stove or simmering burner for an hour or more, then drain off liquor, add an equal amount of milk and thicken with flour and butter rubbed together. A little cooked rice or macaroni improves this economical and delicious soup.

Maple Frosting.—Here is a tested recipe for maple frosting: Break a half pound of soft maple sugar into small pieces and put into a saucepan with half a cupful of boiling water. Stir occasionally until the sugar is dissolved, and boil without stirring until the sirup will thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Pour gradually on the beaten whites of two eggs, beating constantly, and continue beating until the mixture is of the right consistency for spreading.—E. V. B.

LIVE STOCK

CAUTION AT FARROWING TIME

Animal Should Be Carefully Watched and Fed on Slop Ration—Supply Fresh Dry, Clean Bedding.

A few days before farrowing the sow should be placed in a clean, roomy pen in the central hog house or in a special portable house.

When the udder of the sow becomes distended and milk can be drawn from the teats she may be expected to farrow in 24 hours. She should then be closely watched and fed a slop ration rather than a dry feed, to keep her bowel open. She should have a medium supply of fresh, dry, clean, dustless bedding. Barley straw or wood shavings should be avoided.

Little pigs are very sensitive to cold and if they arrive during cold weather they must be given special attention. If a litter is farrowed in a small portable house the air may be considerably warmed by hanging a lantern from the ceiling, and doors will add greatly to the comfort of the animals.

In a large hog house it is best practice to put the little pigs as soon as farrowed into tight wooden boxes with clean straw and cover the box with a blanket. The pigs will nestle together and keep themselves warm. Should the weather be extremely cold hot bricks may be put in the bottom of the box and covered with an old blanket with dry straw on top for the pigs to rest in. Little pigs should be kept in the box for 24 hours longer, taking them out for a short time every two hours to nurse.

A sow should be kept quiet and fed little, if at all, during the first 24 hours after farrowing. She may be given a drink of water, followed by a light bran mash. The feed is then gradually increased up to the tenth day, when a full ration may be fed. By thus being careful milk fever in the sow and scours in the pigs are prevented.

TROUGH FOR GREEDY HORSES

When Animals Does Not Grind Its Feed Thoroughly Box May Be Arranged Like Illustration.

To prevent the greedy animal from eating so fast that it does not grind its grain well, the feed box may be arranged like the one shown here.

The box is built on both sides of the partition with only a narrow opening at the bottom. The feed is put into the outside half of the box and runs through the small opening slowly, says the Wisconsin Agriculturist. Grain is thus fed more economically and to greater advantage, as it cannot be bolted quickly by the hungry or over eager horse. A slide on the outside can easily be arranged to regulate the size of the opening through which the grain passes to the inner feed box.

TREATMENT FOR LUMPY JAW

Removal of Growth While in Tissues by Use of Knife is Considered Satisfactory Method.

The most satisfactory way of treating lumpy jaw is to remove the growth with a knife when in the tissues only. The animal is thrown, the skin is cut over the tumor, and the swelling removed by cutting around it in the healthy tissues. If hemorrhage is large the vessel may be tied or taken up with the forceps, bleeding from smaller vessels may be seared with a red-hot iron.

The wound should be washed with an antiseptic in one per cent. solution after the tumor is removed, and then packed with antiseptic gauze or cotton, and the wound stitched up. The next day remove the stitches and treat as an open wound.

Segregate Cattle and Horses. Cattle and horses should not run together and be shut in the same corral together. It may be all right to pasture them together, but in the corral, particularly during the cold weather, one is liable to hurt the other. Horses will run the cattle and cattle may hook the horses.

Maple Frosting.—Here is a tested recipe for maple frosting: Break a half pound of soft maple sugar into small pieces and put into a saucepan with half a cupful of boiling water. Stir occasionally until the sugar is dissolved, and boil without stirring until the sirup will thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Pour gradually on the beaten whites of two eggs, beating constantly, and continue beating until the mixture is of the right consistency for spreading.—E. V. B.

SURPASSES RECORD IN SEAL SALE

Visiting Nurse: Prize and State Pennants Awarded. Ellsworth Has Highest Sale

Milwaukee, Feb. 15th (Special). All records in the Wisconsin sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals were beaten this season according to a statement made today by Otto F. Bratley, Campaign Manager of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. Though there are a number of communities that have not reported, it is safe to say that the sale will total at least $31,000, exceeding last year's sale by at least $5,000.

West Allis, Burlington and Ellsworth have won the services of a visiting nurse for three, two and one week, respectively, for making the highest sales in their respective divisions.

First place pennants were won by Green Bay, Beloit, West Allis, Burlington and Ellsworth; second honors were taken by Oshkosh, Wausau, Waukesha, Monroe and Iola in the same classes. The highest per capita sale in the state reported was that of Ellsworth 15.1 cents.

"The greatest feature of the sale this year was the rural school sale," said Mr. Bratley. "Over four thousand rural school teachers in every part of the state had the pupils selling seals. Each teacher had a health story and a lecture to read aloud. The educational importance of this part was tremendous.

About six hundred rural schools sold 500 or more seals and they will be awarded an exhibit chart which gives a daily health program for boys and girls. A pennant will also be awarded to the school in each county having made the highest per capita of enrollment.

Trained Dairymen in Demand

Although more young men took this winter's short course in dairying than ever before in the history of the Wisconsin dairy school it is not likely that the supply of trained and capable creamery and cheese factory managers and operators will be sufficient to meet the demands when the season opens.

Between 160 and 170 students took the course which just closed. Each of these men will be required to operate a factory for several months before he will be in line to receive a diploma from the board of regents of the University, and not then, unless his factory and operations pass rigid inspection by a representative of the college of agriculture.

While several different states were represented in this year's class, very much the larger proportion of the students were from Wisconsin farms and factories. 47 of the counties of the state being represented in the enrollment. Manitowish had the largest representation 17 students being enrolled from that county.
