HEAD BLOWN OFF

IN EXPLOSION

James M. Connell, Quarry Superintendent at Marblehead, is Instantly Killed

James M. Connell, general superintendent of the Union Lime company of Marblehead, was instantly killed this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when a charge of more than fifty pounds of dynamite which he was lowering into a drill hole in the company's quarries exploded.

Mr. Connell's head was blown off by the explosion, and other employees of the company who were standing nearby narrowly escaped being injured. They were so close to Mr. Connell that blood spattered on them. Among them was Peter Grimm, quarry foreman, whose house was dynamited by unknown persons several weeks ago.

Mr. Connell is survived by a widow and family and is a second cousin of Robert Salter, proprietor of a store at Eden. The body was brought to the McLain Mahoney morgue in this city late this afternoon.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

"THE DEADLY SPARK" MARRIED IN THIS VILLAGE MAN KILLED AT THERESA

At The Movies Sunday Evening, June 27th. A Two-Reel Kay Bee

CAST
Ralph Miller.....Mr. Butler
Edward Marsden.....Edward Brennan
John Peters.....J. Barney Sherry
Jane Peters.....Miss Williams
Everybody had expected that Jane Peters would marry Ralph Miller. Perhaps the only thing against that young man was the fact that Jane's wealthy parent, John Peters, strongly favored his suit. Edward Marsden appeared on the scene and Ralph's chances became decidedly less.

At any rate it came as a distinct surprise to Jane's circle of friends, when they learned that she had married Marsden, after a thrilling elopement, and that thereupon her father had sternly disinherited her. After that the couple just dropped out of sight and decided to make the best of it.

In their new home Marsden introduced her to a number of idle men and women, who seemed to have nothing better to do than to pass the time away in gambling. That they nearly always lost never struck Jane as strange until one day in picking up her husband's coat she noticed a strange contrivance in the sleeve. Then she accused her husband of being a card-cheat. Thereafter matters went from bad to worse. Just when their fortunes were at lowest ebb, Jane heard her husband making a desperate plan, which was meant at her own father's house. Jane at once sent an anonymous note to her father, warning him of the danger. John Peters speedily notified the police of the intended robbery.

Marsden writes a note to Peters informing him that his daughter is seriously ill. As he passed through the garden he narrowly missed stepping on a live wire. This gave him an idea. Peters meets Ralph Miller coming in the gate. The communications are explained to him. Miller decides to stay while Peters goes to Jane. When night came a detail of police took positions around the house. Marsden well acquainted with the grounds, entered the house by the garden door and swiftly went in the library, where the safe was kept. Peters who is listening nervously in the next room heard the intruder enter. There was a pause that seemed endless, then an anguished exclamation, the buzzing roar of the released electricity, a thud, as if a heavy body falling and all was still. Lights are turned on, police enter and before the safe lay the lifeless body of Marsden.

Ralph Miller and Jane entered the room. Before they could stop her, she ran to the inert form on the divan and bent over it shudderingly. Then, with a sob, she took refuge in her father's waiting arms.
Remember the Movies Sunday evening, June 27th. In addition to the Deadly Spark will be shown the following:
Sid Nees Friend, a one reel Thanhouser comedy drama.
His Second Childhood, a one reel side splitting Keystone comic Mutual Weekly. Incidents of the present European War.

Elmer Miller and Miss Casilda Urban Married at the Holy Trinity Church Wednesday at 9:30 A. M.

On Wednesday, June 23, occurred the marriage of Mr. Elmer Miller to Miss Casilda Urban at the Holy Trinity church here at 9:30 o'clock a. m., Rev. P. J. Vogt tying the nuptial knot. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered net and carried a bouquet of cream colored roses. Miss Odella Heim acted as maid of honor. She wore a white embroidered net dress trimmed with yellow messaline and carried white carnations. Miss Laura Brandstetter was bridesmaid, she wore a pink La France silk dress and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by Paul and John Urban.

After the ceremony at the church the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was held with only nearest relatives and friends in attendance.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Urban of this village. She is a young lady of pleasing personality and well liked by her many friends.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Miller also of this village. He is an ambitious and industrious young man and very popular among his acquaintances. The newly married couple left Thursday for Milwaukee where they will make their future home at 247 Elm St.

We extend hearty congratulations and best wishes for a bright and prosperous married life.

Peter Peterson, Employed With Steel Gang, Meets With Horrible Death

Peter Peterson, aged 38 a laborer, employed with the crew who were laying new steel for the Soo Line at Theresa the past week, was struck and instantly killed by a south bound passenger train, known as No. 2, last Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. It is said that the man was walking on the main track north of the water tank, and on account of being slightly deaf failed to hear the approaching train. The engineer in charge of the train sounded the whistle repeatedly, and owing to the fact that they were going at a high rate of speed, it was impossible to bring the train to a stop until they had passed the station. The accident was witnessed by a number of people who were near the station. The body was badly mutilated and mangled parts were scattered along the track for quite a distance.

Undertakers Beck & Kietzer of Theresa were notified and they were on the scene in a very short time and took charge of the body. An inquest was held but it was impossible to locate any of the unfortunate man's relatives. The body was interred in the Union cemetery at Theresa Thursday morning.—Lomira Review.

BAND CONVENTION

LARGELY ATTENDED

The Convention Held at Theresa Last Sunday Attracted Over 5000 People. Mayville Band Wins First Honors

The first of the two conventions of the Northwestern Band Association to be held this year took place at Theresa last Sunday. The day was very ideal for the occasion. The convention attracted over 5,000 people and was a financial success. There were eight bands in attendance. At 1 p. m., a street parade was held on the principle streets of the village, all members of the various bands forming in two sections, after which they proceeded to the park, where a general picnic was held and a contest for honors for first and second prize among the bands in attendance. The picnic was opened with a welcome address by the President of the village, who was followed by Byron Barwig, president of the Band Association. After listening to all bands, the judges awarded Mayville first honors, and Horicon, second.

The dance in the evening was very largely attended nearly 500 dance tickets being sold. It was rumored that nearly 3,000 paid admissions were made to the park in the afternoon. The second convention will be held at Iron Ridge on Sunday, August 22nd.

The committee in charge of the affair are to be complimented upon the system they had in handling such a large crowd, especially the taking care of the autos. It is estimated that fully 500 automobiles were in the village that day.

That Kewaskum was well represented was shown by the advertising that was done for the Homecoming on Sunday, July 25th. All autos from the village had banners attached, reading, "Meet me at the Kewaskum Homecoming Sunday, July 25th. Three Bands. Grand Picnic and Dance, and Auto Parade." Circular tags advertising the big affair were also distributed by all of our citizens present. The tags could be seen worn by the majority of the people in the park. When ever conversation was had about the Kewaskum Homecoming, the result was that everybody talked about attending. The method of advertising the Homecoming received compliment upon compliment.

Graduating Exercises Held

To the teachers and pupils of Washington County.

The County Graduating Exercises for the pupils who received Common school diplomas and the Spelling Contest for Washington County will be held at the Opera House, West Bend, Wis., Saturday, June 26, 1915 at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Prof. C. E. Patzer of Milwaukee Normal School and Prin. D. E. McLane of the West Bend High School will be the principal speakers. Both of these men have long worked with teachers and pupils of the rural schools and will have much of interest to say to both.

The County Spelling Contest is to determine who shall represent Washington County in the State Spelling Contest to be held at the State Fair this fall. All expenses of the County Representative to and from Milwaukee and while at the fair will be borne by the State Fair Management.

The contestants were selected earlier in the year by contests among the schools in the various towns of the County.

The names of the contestants; the town which they represent, and the district from which they come are as follows:

- Addison—Thecla Wolf, Dist. No. 9.
- Barton—Emma Landvetter, Dist. No. 5.
- Farmington—Angela Moths, Dist. No. 5.
- Germantown—Willie Held, Dist. No. 5.
- Hartford—Annetta M. O'Connor, Dist. No. 9.
- Trenton—Erna Seideman, Dist. No. 3A.
- West Bend—Rudolph Horlmann, Dist. No. 4.

That more of the towns are not represented is due to the fact that less than fifty per cent of the schools in those towns took part in the town contests.

As both of these ventures are new, a good attendance will be appreciated. Everyone is invited to attend; the parents of the children receiving Diplomas are especially requested to do so, as both Mr. Patzer and Mr. McLane will have some thing to say of special interest to them.

Yours respectfully,
Geo. T. Carlin, Co. Supt.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

One of the features of the annual commencement exercises of the Fond du Lac high school Friday which was deserving of special notice and was passed over lightly because of the length of the rhetorical programme was the music. The class processional was a beautifully rendered number, the selection by the Glee club so excellent as to have caused extended remark, but the most remarkable number of the programme was the presentation of Rossini's "Inflammatus et Accensus" by a chorus of some two hundred and forty voices, under the direction of Miss Olive Flaherty with Mrs. T. S. Arthur taking the solo portions.

This composition is recognized by all musicians as exceedingly difficult and way above the ability of the ordinary high school chorus. The finished production given it Friday morning is a distinct triumph for the singers and their director, Miss Flaherty, who have worked long and faithfully in its preparation. So distinctly unusual was the offering that the speaker of the day, M. C. Potter, superintendent of the Milwaukee schools, gave it laudatory mention from the platform and privately expressed his congratulations to all concerned for what he designated a "glorious number", and musicians of this city and away are giving it most complimentary comment.

It is the consensus of opinion that Miss Flaherty and her pupils have accomplished a distinct musical feat and set a criterion for the future events of the same nature.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

George Zeiske of Pike Lake was in town last Monday, showing a very fine copper specimen which he plowed up in the cornfield of the Zeiske farm a few days before. Just what the copper is it is hard to say. It is evidently a tool similar to a chisel, and is nearly six inches in length, with square sides. One end tapers and is slightly turned over on the tip. Mr. Zeiske is trying to identify his find.—Hartford Press.

During the severe rain storm last Sunday night, at about 8:30 o'clock, lightning struck an old log barn on the farm of Adam Goetz, near Pike Lake. There were four young heifers in the barn, and two of them were killed. One heifer was severely stunned, but revived again after a short time. A hole was torn in the roof of the barn and some of the rafters were badly splintered.—Hartford Times.

Edwin Horsch of Schleisingerville, formerly employed with Maas & Polt of this city had the misfortune to break a bone of his right leg, above the ankle last Sunday afternoon while at Cedar Lake Park. He had met some friends in the bar room, and in making a quick turn he twisted the limb in such a manner as to cause the accident.—Hartford Times

Annual Meeting of the Washington County Humane Society

The annual meeting of the Society will be held at the school hall in West Bend Sunday, June 27. All members and friends of Humane work are cordially invited.

2:30 p. m., meeting called to order by the president C. F. Leins, Vocal Music by Mrs. C. C. Henry—Reading Reports of Secretary & Treasurer by Rev. E. A. Kubn—Reports of Officers by Dr. Wehle and Dr. Roeths.

Relation of District Attorneys office to Humane Work by Dist. Attorney Bucklin. Remarks by Rev. Jos. Hartmann Address by Judge S. S. Barney Election of Officers.

Real Estate Deals the Past Week

On Monday Chas. Groeschel bought a lot and a half, west of Jos. Schmidt's property, in the Rosenheimer addition, Mr. Groeschel will erect a residence on same as soon as possible.

Last Saturday Andrew Groth bought of Lehman Rosenheimer his property and residence on South Fond du Lac Ave. Consideration private. Mr. Groth will move into same as soon as Mr. Rosenheimer can occupy his new residence.

Mrs. F. Gruber bought a house and lot at West Bend on South Main street of Jos. O'Meara last Saturday. Immediate possession was given Mrs. Gruber.

Mrs. Gruber intends to sell or rent her property here and move to West Bend.

BIG BILLS ARE UP BEFORE SOLONS

BOTH HOUSES READY TO TAKE UP IMPORTANT ADMINISTRATIVE MEASURES.

CLOSE VOTE IS PREDICTED

Motion to Reconsider Tax Commission Change May Result in Reversing the House Action on the Bill.

Madison, June 23, 1915.

Important administration bills are up for a hearing in both houses of the legislature. The assembly has the new tax commission bill. The senate has the new board of agriculture bill and new conservation commission bill.

The tax commission bill will come up in the assembly on a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was indefinitely postponed.

Unanimous Consent Requested. To amend the bill when, on final passage requires unanimous consent or a suspension of the rules.

There will be a hard fight in the senate on three administration bills there. It was felt that the senate will send the agricultural and conservation bills to third reading.

Ask $20,000 State Aid. The senate, after considerable discussion, laid over the Fairchild bill appropriating $20,000 to the city of Milwaukee as state aid for continuation schools.

The senate passed a bill appropriating $3,000 for the maintenance and equipment of the state camp for tubercular patients at Tomahawk Lake.

The senate concurred in the assembly bills providing that school districts shall be entitled to participate in state aid for common schools, notwithstanding they have failed to pay minimum wages to teachers, as required by law, and the Hager bill, appropriating to State Insurance Commissioner H. L. Ekern money as a refund on an excessive amount paid into the state treasury as insurance license fee.

The senate committee on finance introduced a new bill appropriating $100,000 to the state board of control for installation of automatic sprinkler systems in the state hospitals for the insane at Mendota and Oshkosh and for state institutions, as a protection against fire.

Boxing Appropriation Wins. The boxing commission bill, carrying an appropriation of $5,700, was ordered engrossed by the assembly.

Assemblyman Hedding showed every penny had been properly accounted for. He said he had been giving the commission office room and telephone service for a very small amount, but could not do it any more and the additional $700 above what had been appropriated before was for office room and other things of that kind.

School Board Repeal Advanced. The repeal of the county board of education law went to engrossment in the assembly.

Monument to Soldiers. Grand Rapids.—At a recent meeting of the Sons of Veterans it was decided to erect a suitable soldiers' monument in this city in honor of the soldiers of Wood county. The following committee was appointed to devise ways and means to procure the necessary funds: B. M. Vaughan, George L. Warr and R. C. Getts.

Chaffey Postoffice Discontinued. Washington.—The postoffice at Chaffey, Douglas county, Wis., has been discontinued and the mail will be transferred to Foxboro. The postoffice at Green Lake, Minocqua, and Waunakee will become presidential, July 1. The first two pay a salary of $1,400 each, the last named $1,000.

Two Rivers Has Boom. Two Rivers.—Building activities have assumed unusual proportions here this year. Already fifty-five dwellings are under construction.

School Census Shows Gain. Oconomowoc.—The school census just completed here shows 835 children of school age in the district, which comprises the city, towns of Summit and Oconomowoc. This is a gain of eighty-two over last year.

Fined for Shooting Deer. Tomahawk.—Eugene Allord was arrested and fined $50 and costs, amounting to $60.95, for illegal hunting. The entire carcass of a deer was found in his possession.

Jitney Breaks Man's Leg. Kenosha.—A jitney bus traveling forty miles an hour and driven by Floyd Hennemann crashed into an express wagon here. Henry O'Hare, the driver, had his right leg broken. Hennemann was arrested.

Two Postoffices Closed. Grand Rapids.—The Saratoga and Van Driessen postoffices were closed on orders from the postmaster general. Hereafter the mail will be supplied by rural carriers.

OLD GRADUATES MEET AT REUNION

NORTHWESTERN COLLEGE HOLDS ITS GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

MANY GUESTS ARE PRESENT

Graduates and Friends of the Institution Came From Many Parts of the Middle West.

Watertown.—Gray-haired ministers and retired business men and farmers who were graduated from Northwestern college nearly fifty years ago met at the golden jubilee celebration of the college here.

They found plenty of opportunity to talk over old times when Northwestern was one of the smallest of small colleges and to meet and exchange reminiscences with graduates of later days still in the midst of their careers and with young men who left the college only a few years ago.

It was a joyous reunion, the biggest thing of its kind in Northwestern's history. There was pathos, too, in the mutual acknowledgment of high hopes of college days still unrealized or otherwise misfortune suffered.

It was a big day in every sense; big with the feeling of chums and friends long separated; big in plans for the future for individuals and for the college; it was big, too, in the sense of numbers, for graduates and friends of the institution came from many parts of the middle west.

MUST LOWER FREIGHT RATES

The Wisconsin Railroad Commission Ordered Roads to Haul Coal at Less Cost.

Madison.—The Wisconsin railroad commission ordered the Milwaukee road and Chicago and Northwestern to establish a connecting track between their two lines where they cross near the southern limits of the city of Waukesha, which shall be long enough to hold ten cars.

The commission ordered the Northwestern to reduce its rate on hard coal from Green Bay to Wausau and Marathon City from $1.50 to $1.40 per ton. The Green Bay and Western railway company was ordered to reduce its rate on hard coal from Green Bay to Black Creek from $1 to 88 cents per ton, to Iola from $1.25 to $1.20; Amherst Junction from $1.25 to $1.20; Arnott from $1.35 to $1.30; Plover from $1.50 to $1.30, and Stevens Point, Mehan, Coyne, Barron, Grand Rapids, Walker and Elm Lake from $1.50 to $1.40. The Soo company was ordered to build a new depot at Dwight.

FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Anthony Push, Highland, Chosen President of State Association at Rice Lake.

Rice Lake.—It is estimated that 6,000 persons attended the firemen's tournament in this city. At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Anthony Push, Highland; first vice-president, W. P. Zech, Reedsburg; second vice-president, John J. McCullum, Rice Lake; recording secretary, Benjamin R. Burt, Jefferson; treasurer, John West, Barron; corresponding secretary, John Clifford, Juneau. Juneau was selected for the meeting place next year.

Puffs Pipe on Birthday.

Beloit.—Mrs. Adella Ellison celebrated her 96th birthday. She observed the anniversary by smoking her clay pipe and holding in her garden at her cottage, 1130 Forest avenue. She is in good health, does not require glasses, and says she expects to celebrate at least four more birthdays. She was born in Champion, N. Y. She came west in the spring of 1861 and has lived in Beloit thirty years.

Form Auto Club.

Grand Rapids.—With a membership of 121 the Wisconsin River Valley Automobile club has been formed in this city. The following officers were elected: C. W. Rood, president; Otto R. Roenius, first vice-president; Dr. H. L. Waters, second vice-president; E. P. Arpin, third vice-president; Robert L. Nash, secretary and treasurer.

Many Licenses Held Up.

Kenosha.—The city council threw a scare into the saloon men of Kenosha when the licenses of twenty-five applicants were held up pending further investigation by the members of the license committee.

Collect Car of Old Paper.

Ashtland.—Efforts of the Young People's society of the St. John's Lutheran church to collect enough old papers and magazines to fill a freight car have resulted successfully. It took them just about a year.

"Forty-niner" Gets Papers.

Janesville.—Gilbert Evenson, aged 89, who took out his first papers in 1849 and has been a resident of Wisconsin ever since, has just taken out his second papers.

Manitowoc Shows Growth.

Manitowoc.—According to an accurate census taken by Henry Mulholland, the population of this city is 14,247, two-thirds of which is in the south side. The last government census gave Manitowoc 13,027.

Purchase Land for Park.

Racine.—The Weber property fronting on Lake Michigan and running parallel to the beach for a block has been purchased by the city for park purposes.

Glenwood Fair Dates Set.

Glenwood City.—The dates of the sixth annual Glenwood intercounty fair have been set for Sept. 1, 2 and 3.

DEATH CALLS JUDGE HAND

WOLF PELT FRAUD CHARGED

William Whitt Arrested at Frederic for Alleged Connections With Bounty Swindlers.

Superior.—William Whitt, long famed as champion wolf slayer of northern Wisconsin, is under arrest at Frederic, Wis., and state game wardens are claimed to have connected him with gigantic frauds, whereby the northwestern counties of Wisconsin have been defrauded of more than $20,000 in the last five years.

Others are said to be implicated in the plan which it is alleged centered around the purchase of pelts of Canadian wolves, brought to the Twin cities and their presentation to Wisconsin county clerks for bounty payments. The pelts are said to have cost the hunters from $2.50 to $4.50, while the bounty is $20, half paid by the state and half by the county.

During the last four years Whitt has collected from the state and from treasurers of Douglas, Burnett, Polk and Washburn counties $9,504, officials charge. That such of this was paid on Canadian wolf pelts, and that other men have used the same system with similar results, is alleged, and arrests are imminent.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS SUCCESS

Advance in Studies as Marked as Physical Improvement, Reports Green Bay Institution.

Green Bay.—Every one of the fifty pupils in the two open air schools made at least one grade during the year which has just closed. One of the fifty has done three years' work in one. Six have done the work of two grades and eight have made one and one-half grades. This is regarded as a most remarkable showing, as the schools are maintained only for children suffering from serious physical handicap and the gain in health has been as striking as the record in study.

At least three-quarters of an hour each afternoon is given to sleeping and the fine record made by the two schools is regarded as a typical demonstration of what fresh air, proper food and sufficient rest will accomplish.

The greatest gain in weight during the year was fifteen and a half pounds. The least was one-half pound, but the child who made the minimum in weight made great gain in general health conditions. The schools are under the supervision of Miss Myra Kimball.

Oconto Has $50,000 Fire.

Oconto.—Fire broke out in the Donlevy business block. Fifteen establishments in the big building were sufferers through the destruction of the block. Three persons were injured. The damage is estimated at $50,000. The block contained a cigar factory, shoe store, restaurants, billiard halls, laundry, flats and other stores. There was heavy damage by water.

Women Form Club.

Grand Rapids.—The Wood County Women's club has recently been organized in Vesper, the purpose being the welfare of the women in rural communities. The officers are: Mrs. Otto J. Leu, president; Miss K. C. Hoelnd, secretary, and Mrs. A. Kiefer, treasurer.

Plan Fleet of Freight Boats.

Neenah.—An attempt is being made to interest capitalists in the Fox river valley to organize a company and construct a fleet of freight boats for service on the Fox river between Fond du Lac and Green Bay.

Council Reverses Club License.

Beloit.—The Beloit council reconsidered its previous action demanding $500 license from clubs which serve liquor, and club bars will be operated as in the past. Thirty-two saloon licenses were granted and two more held up.

Vote on Waterworks.

Sauk City.—Sauk City will vote on the question of bonding the village for $10,000 for installing a system of waterworks.

Go on Booster Trip.

Oshkosh.—About 100 Oshkosh merchants will go on a trade boosting trip around Lake Winnebago. Van Dyne, Fond du Lac, Calumet Harbor, Calumet, Brothertown, Stockbridge, High Cliff, Sherwood, Menasha and Neenah will be visited.

One Less Neenah Saloon.

Neenah.—Twenty-six saloon license application are to be acted on by Menasha city officials. This is a decrease of one.

Die Folgen des Tauchbootkrieges gegen England.

Wir sind geliebt und dadurch gewohnt, so schreibt Kapitän zur See A. D. v. Rühlwetter in der königlichen Volkszeitung, England lediglich als „meerherrschende Albion“ zu betrachten und denken dabei gemeinhin nur an die Tauchboote, jeder anderen an Zahl weit überlegen, Herrin der Meere sind. Es ist uns geläufig, daß England durch diese Beherrschung des Meeres den Grund zu seiner Größe und zu seinem Reichtum lege, daß seine Seefriede das Großbritanniens, wie es vor dem jetzigen Kriege stand, geschaffen haben. Weit weniger waren wir gewohnt der Entwicklung dieser Latiade nachzugehen und damit ihre Schrecken zu betrachten, die Abhängigkeit Englands von dem Meer zu sprechen, aber von der Abhängigkeit Englands von der See ist doch man weniger gewohnt. Und die Folgen dieses Abhängigkeit, man kann fast sagen gottgewollten Einwirkungs zu sprechen, aber von der Abhängigkeit Englands von der See ist doch man weniger gewohnt.

So steigen Nahrungsmittel und Rohstoffe für die Industrie gleichmäßig. Die Teuerung der Lebensmittel führte zur Unruhe in der Bevölkerung, zum Verlangen nach Steigerung der Löhne und damit zu Konflikten zwischen Arbeiter und Arbeitgeber, denn die Arbeitgeber sehen damit das Geschäft, das sie vom Kriege erwarteten, durch Englands Seefriede überall hin zu liefern, mo fort der deutsche Konsumtort heißer und billiger war, gerietern Streit zwischen Arbeiter und -nehmer führt immer zu Streiks und Verminderung der Produktion, und die bedeutet zusammen mit den ungewohnten Kämpfen und Erprobten, die von der Knappheit herrühren, schmerige Gitterzeugung und Mangel an Kriegsmaterial, von dem wir in englischen Zeitungen und Ministerreden lesen. Damit steigt die Notwendigkeit der Einfuhr, die ihrerseits wieder die Preise treibt. Außerdem aber sinkt mit dem Rückgang der Produktion die Ausfuhr. Und damit steigt die passive Handelsbilanz, d. h. das Ueberschreiten der Einfuhr über die Ausfuhr, das England heute schon hat. Was es einfließt, muß es bezahlen, kann es das nicht mit Waren, die es ausführt, und das ist jetzt schon längst eingetreten, denn in Gold. Damit fließt kein Geld ins Ausland und es hat zurzeit keine Einnahmen mehr, die diesen Abfluß decken. Und dabei wollen wir daran denken, daß ein solcher Abfluß vermindert, das letzte Milliarden werde diesen Krieg gewinnen.

All diese Angaben sind aus rein englischen Quellen gefloßt. Das ist die Schraube, an der der Unterseebootskrieg dreht und dreht sich — daß er dreht, läßt sich an den englischen Angaben Woche für Woche verfolgen, und solange er dreht, kann es uns ganz gleich sein, ob englische Statistiken taufend oder schaufend Schiffe in der Minute in englischen Häfen einlaufen lassen, es kann uns auch ganz gleich sein, ob die Reflektoren gerichtet sind, die englische Gunard. Eine verteilte eine höhere Dividende als sonst, denn all ihre Schiffe hat die Regierung, und der Ertrag englischer Schifffahrt ist im allgemeinen um 20 Prozent gekunken: wir wissen aber auch die Symptome zu mirdeben, ebenso wie das deutlich hervorzuheben Bedürfnis der britischen Regierung, möglichst viele Veröffentlichungen wirtschaftlicher Art zu unterdrücken und mehrere Zeitungen nicht ins Land zu lassen.

War England vor dem Krieg mehr Herr oder Knecht? Jetzt jedenfalls soll das Meer, dessen Herr es sich wußte, uns dienen, Britannien freisetzen.

Der Reichsfangler und die italienische Kriegserklärung. Weilin. In einer Rede vor dem Reichstag, gab Reichsfangler von Bethmann-Hollweg in passender Weise die Ereignisse wieder, welche der Kriegserklärung Italiens an Österreich-Ungarn vorausgingen.

Nebenher sagte, daß Italien die weitgehenden Zugeständnisse von der Doppelmonarchie gemacht wurden in Deutschland als Bürgen für die Erfüllung derselben einzutreten.

Ohne einen Tropfen Blut zu üben hätte Italien Territorium in Tiroi und am Monso erhalten sowie die italienische Sprache verherichtet, ferner freie Hand in Albanien, den wertvollen Hafen Triest und wichtige Ausfuhrhäfen betriebs Triest.

Wie weit der Dreierbund aber jenseitige Anstifter hinter der Kriegserklärung stehe, wird erst die Zukunft lehren. Wenn aber der Kriegsverlauf, wird das italienische Volk erkennen mit welcher Freilichkeit es sich in denselben geführt hatte.

WISCONSIN NEWS BRIEFS.

Oconomowoc.—The organization of a local firemen's benevolent fund association was completed at a meeting of the fire department.

Stevens Point.—Headquarters of the Wisconsin conference of Seventh Day Adventists may be moved from Grand Rapids to Milwaukee to obtain better facilities.

Birchwood.—The Zimmerman Steel company of Louette, Ia., will give a demonstration at Weirco, near here, to determine the actual cost of clearing land.

Madison.—The University of Wisconsin summer session opened with courses in nearly every college in the institution.

Milwaukee.—Thirty-six graduates of Marquette academy received diplomas at the commencement exercises held in Gesu auditorium.

Kendall.—Charles Huber, an aged farmer living near Okadale, was badly burned when he rose in the night and getting the wrong bottle, rubbed himself with carbolic acid instead of liniment.

Monroe.—A sure way to detect gasoline is drop a lighted match into it. This was the test made by William Zilmer, a local jeweler, with the result several business houses were endangered, although the timely arrival of the fire department kept the loss down to several hundred dollars.

Neenah.—Unsuccessful attempts have been made in this city and others in the Fox valley where paper mills are located to secure paper makers as strikebreakers in eastern mills.

Grand Rapids.—Emmet Knutson was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Martin Jackson, a rural mail carrier. Knutson was riding a bicycle.

Beloit.—Loretta Johnson, 4 years old, the "little sunbeam" of the central fire station company, is dead. Her parents keep a restaurant next to the station.

Oshkosh.—Joseph A. Mayer, Neenah, charged with selling liquor without a license, on trial before Judge Goss, admitted selling bottles beer May 22, and was convicted, paying $25 and costs.

Oshland.—Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Hall and family of Seattle, Wash., have arrived in this city, thus completing an auto trip of approximately 3,775 miles. They were on the road over two months. This is the first auto trip made to this city from the Pacific coast this year.

Grand Rapids.—Two new teachers have been added to the teachers' force of the city schools—Miss Elizabeth Gonia of Milwaukee, who will teach in the primary department, and Miss May Hardie of Wild Rose, who will succeed Miss Saecker as instructor in history.

Ferrville.—Mrs. W. T. Robertson of this village is exhibiting a new fancied type of radish. When the radish developed it was encircled by a suspensoria beakle.

Kenosha.—Automobile thieves stole an auto belonging to George Harkins, which had been left in front of a store within a stone's throw of where a crossing policeman was stationed.

Westby.—Carl Lovestad passed away in a La Crosse hospital, due to injuries sustained when he was kicked by a horse.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Cooking is a powerful moral agent, capable of influencing men's opinions and feelings to a great extent. Some may think that in speaking of cooking, as a moral agent, I am greatly exaggerating its power, and they may regard it as an idle folly. If I go still further and say that cooking is not only a powerful moral agent in regard to individuals, but may be of great service in regenerating a nation. I believe that cooking schools for the wives and daughters of workmen in this country, will do more to abolish drinking habits than any number of teetotal associations.—Sir T. Lauder Brunton.

HELPFUL HINTS.

If a tile becomes loose in the fireplace or floor do not let it remain loose as it will be apt to become broken. A few cents worth of plaster of Paris will do the work. Mix with vinegar or water and set it, wipe off the paste and let it set for a few minutes when it will be firm.

If the faucet leaks do not think it is necessary to call a plumber, turn off the water, remove the faucet and put on a new washer. Purchase a few washers and have them on hand when needed. A wrench will be needed to remove the faucet.

Sometimes the drain is stopped by lint and congealed fat. If boiling water poured down the drain in a large quantity does not open it up, just unscrew with a wrench the plate at the bottom of the trap shaped like a letter S. Clean out this pipe, for more times than any other this is the cause of the stoppage. Use sal soda in boiling water often to flush the pipes, this will dissolve all fats and keep the pipes clean.

When chair bottoms made of reed or rattan sag, stand them in a tub and pour boiling water through the rattan, being careful not to wet the wood. This treatment will make the cane shrink and they will be as taut as ever when dry.

Have the faucets of the kitchen sink, at least one of them, with threads at the bottom to attach the garden hose; this may prove a great comfort in time of fire in the house or one can use the hose to wash the porches.

When serving canned pears, drain off some of the pear juice which may be served for other uses and add orange juice with a little sugar. The flavor is most agreeable and improves the pears greatly.

When whipping cream in a bowl with a Dover egg beater put the beater handle through the bottom of a paper bag which has been slipped over the bowl to save the splattering of the cream.

When slicing tongue do not cut straight across the tongue; but diagonally; this makes better slices and there are no small dry tips left.

Serge Outing Suit With Braid Binding

To be practical for all the demands of a journey, long or short, to be comfortable, are the ends sought for in this suit of good wear-resisting serge. It is one of the plainest and quietest of models and is presented for the consideration of those who are preparing for a summer outing which may take them over land and sea, in cities or to the wilderness.

An easy adjustment to the figure, a certain masculine severity and simplicity of line in this suit, have resulted in meeting that demand for a combination of the smart and practical.

The skirt is plaited with a straight panel down the front and back having two wide plaits at each side. It is cut ankle length and finished with a three-inch hem. There are small pockets at each side and the waist extends three inches above the normal waist line. The short skirt is the only one really to be considered for a journey or for street wear in a city.

The coat is a box model with double breast when fastened at the front. It opens with long revers and is furnished with pockets at the sides and an inside pocket for convenience, such as are found in men's coats. The sleeves are long and plain, having cuffs finished with braid and three bone buttons like those used for the fastening at the front of the coat. A plain full blouse of white crepe de chine, open at the throat, has a wide collar of black-and-white wash silk and a small cravat bow of the silk as a finish. It fastens at the front with square buttons of black jet.

A well-fitting Panama hat, with band of black-and-white ribbon, short white washable gloves with black stitching, and cloth-topped shoes complete the details of a costume in which the traveler will feel at ease wherever her wanderings may carry her.

Headwear Made of Cotton Fabrics

Whether to be worn to gather vegetables or flowers from the garden or to go a-marketing in the morning or on the drive about the country every woman wants becoming headwear. And it seems she is destined to be gratified, for the garden hats and sunbonnets of today are as carefully planned as the dress hats with which fair women fortify themselves to meet the critical eyes of their peers.

Cretonnes, gingham, chambrays, and new fancy cotton weaves have been brought into unfamiliar service and used in new ways to evolve the home-made headwear that is illustrated in the picture given here. Even the plain little sunbonnet manages to be becoming and pretty, frivolous while it fulfills its mission of shading the eyes and protecting the neck.

Some of the new cotton fabrics, such as cotton gabardine or cotton poplin, are of just the right weight and body for these pretty bonnets. Plain white tape or sinding braid makes an attractive finish and adds to the firmness of edges and shapeliness of the capes and brims. There is quite a variety in paper patterns for making them and they are designed to be easily laundered. There are the time-honored gingham and chambrays, more beautifully colored than ever, to be used, and combinations of plain and figured fabrics where a fanciful border for the beach or mountain road is required.

A garden hat is shown made of plain chambray for the brim, with a puffed crown made of figured cretonne. One hardly needs a pattern for a hat so simple as this, but the standard pattern companies furnish such patterns. The brim is a circle of butcher's linen covered with the plain chambray on both sides. It is stiffened with rows of machine stitching. The crown in this hat is made of a small circular piece of the linen covered with cretonne, with a puff of the cretonne gathered into it. The lower edge of the puff is turned up and gathered and sewed to the brim. There is a band of silk braid about the crown, finished with a little bow having double loops. Gayly flowered small figured cretonnes are used with plain goods of the same color as that prevailing in the cretonne.

The black-and-white checked hat is part hat and part bonnet in design. A stiffened cape at the back may be either turned up or down, and fastens by means of a loop to a button on the visor at the front. Bright red, green, or black braid is used for the binding and the crown is a circle plaited into the band at its base. Machine stitching and an interlining of butcher's linen provide the requisite stiffness for the brim and top.

She Objected.

"I certainly shall not give you a recommendation. You have disgraced us."

"In what way, madam? Hasn't my work always been satisfactory?"

"Your work has been all right. It's the reasons for your leaving me that I object."

"I don't understand."

"Then I'll explain. I've had servants leave me to get married, and because they were needed at home, and because they found pleasant employment at summer resorts, but you are actually getting to get more money than I can afford to pay. What will my friends think when they know that?"—Detroit Free Press.

Modesty.

Appropos of a painting to which Anthony Comstock had objected, according to the New Orleans State, George Luke, the artist, said in New York:

"We are an overmodest people, almost a prurient people, and Comstock keeps trying to make us worse."

"I know a lady who went into a department store to buy some underwear the other day. A dark, romantic, handsome man waited on her. Comstock would have approved of the modest way this man described his wares."

"I can show you, madam," he said, "some very choice bargains in undies of all kinds—nighties, combies, knickers and chimes."

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada. There is no conscription and no war tax on lands. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. SHE KNEW ALL THE TRICKS

Rich Girl's Actions at One-Room Tea Party Proved That She Had Once Been Poor.

She looked rich and acted rich, and everyone knew that she was rich, because she had married a rich man, yet the Sherlock Holmes of the tea party discovered that she had once been poor.

"Take it from me," she said, "that there was a time, and that not so very long ago, when she was as poor as the rest of us."

"Marvelous!" exclaimed the other four girls. "How did you discover that?"

"Through her knowing so absolutely where I keep all my housekeeping things. She knew that the tea caddy was in the writing desk, that the cheese, biscuits, and other edibles beloved by nice were in that tin box under the sofa, that the alcohol for my stove was in the corner behind the washstand, that the butter and milk were on the window ledge, and that the eggs and other raw foods were in a box on the bottom shelf of the wardrobe."

"When we were cooking she went straight to the spot and got everyone of those things without once asking where they were, which is something that a person who has not had a wide experience of housekeeping in one room could never have done."

It Really Happened.

"You must bring little Gertrude over and let me take her picture sometime."

"You can't take her picture, Papa Lewis."

"Why not?"

"What?"

"Yes, sir, Papa Lewis, she squirms all the time."

Matter of Doubt.

At a rural council meeting in the north of Ireland a "burning" question as to unfair taxation was being discussed with much vigor. One member who was justifying the imposition of the tax ejaculated during the course of the debate, "Until we get to heaven someone must suffer."

"Well, gentlemen," replied the general chairman, "we'd better adjourn discussion of the matter until we get there."

"But, Mr. Chairman," retorted the wag of the board, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "would you have a quorum?"

"The dispute was amicably settled."

ECONOMICAL DISHES.

When preparing lamb or mutton pie if the meat is a little scarce add a few peas to piece out, and add flavor as well as nourishment to the dish.

Tunny fish is a most delicious canned fish which tastes more like turkey or chicken than fish; this may be rescaled or made into a loaf. The following method for the preparation of the loaf is worth noting. Take a pound can of tunny fish, flake the fish fine; add the yolks of three eggs well beaten, a half cupful of bread crumbs, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of melted butter, salt, pepper and chopped parsley to taste. Fold in the well-beaten whites of three eggs and bake in a buttered dish for 40 minutes or steam for an hour. Serve with creamed peas and potato chips.

When distracted to know what to have for dessert, take a cupful of canned peaches, put them through a ricer, add a half cupful of sugar and the whites of two eggs, beat with a Dover beater until thick. Serve with a thin custard. Any fruit may be used if it is scraped or put through a sieve.

Tomatoes and Onions.—Put canned tomatoes and stewed onions with bread crumbs and bacon fat for seasoning into a baking dish. Bake until thoroughly hot.

Madras Beef.—Slice two small onions and one apple, chopped, and fry in hot butter; sprinkle a teaspoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful of flour and the juice of half a lemon over the apple; then turn in several slices of cold roast beef with a cupful of gravy. Simmer 20 minutes, season and serve with cooked rice.

As soon as green apples are on the market this dish should be prepared for a winter relish.

A Good Thing.

Between the fox trot and the hesitation, two women sat down to chat.

"Do you believe in the twilight sleep?" asked one. "I hear a great deal of talk about it."

"I certainly do," said the other. "A little snooze after dinner is a fine thing. I usually get up about eight o'clock and I find myself so refreshed that I can dance until four in the morning."

Just then the orchestra struck up, and the two women were led out on the polished floor.

Molasses Tarts.

Make a good short paste and roll out twice to about half an inch in thickness, putting a little butter and an oval fish and line with the pastry. Put one-half cupful of molasses in a basin and stir in a few very finely grated bread crumbs. Pour some of this into the dish, then another layer of pastry and continue until the dish is full. Wet the edge of the pastry with milk and pinch. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. This is a delicious molasses tart if carefully made and baked, and the molasses does not run out and burn.

Homemade Towels.

A fad has developed among fastidious women for making their own towels. They buy for the purpose fine French bird-eye and French huck for their own personal use and German huck for general family use. Of course, the fancy towels, which are lace trimmed and embroidered, are not honestly practical.

Any Time Is a Good Time For New Post Toasties

Crisp, delicious and better than ever before—they have a body and form that keeps them crisp and firm—they don't mush down in cream as the ordinary corn flakes do.

These Superior Corn Flakes are not only a delightful breakfast food—they make an appetizing lunch at any hour of the day.

And how the kiddies do enjoy them! After playtime—for lunch or supper—the crinkly brown flakes just hit the spot.

Post Toasties are made of the choicest Indian corn; steam cooked, daintily seasoned, rolled and toasted to a delicate golden-brown.

They reach you ready to serve—mighty good with cream or any kind of fruit.

Some Marvelous Exhibits at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition

Exhibits in Agricultural Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Show Caterpillar Gaining Favor Over Lug-wheeler Tractors in Farm Machinery. An observer in the Agriculture Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco cannot help noticing, in the display of agricultural power machinery, the almost complete supersedeance of the new design of power tractor, known as the caterpillar, over the cumbersome, unstable, high-wheeled engine of a few years ago. There are few of the old models on exhibition, while the caterpillar principle has been applied to almost every type of engine for agricultural purposes.

The caterpillar proper is a heavy sheet metal chain, varying in width from ten inches to two feet according to the weight of the engine, which passes around two heavy sprocket wheels like a belt. These wheels revolving, pass the chain about them, the lower part moving backward, with the weight of the engine resting on the broad surface of the chain between the two sprockets. An engine of this type can be operated on ground soft enough to mire an ordinary farm wagon.

Hands Up!

Ever hear that sort of a command? We hope not, but if you ever should hear it and were carrying around a pocket full of money we'll bet that you would feel rather shaky when your hands go into the air. But, if you had adopted the modern plan, had your money in a good safe bank like ours, a holdup would not worry you so much. The robber might "lift" your check book but it wouldn't do him any good, and we would give you another one. Moral, keep your money in the bank.

TAGGART IS INDICTED

INDIANAPOLIS MAYOR AND 125 OTHERS ALSO CHARGED WITH POLL FRAUDS.

ACTION IS SURPRISE TO ALL

Men Prominent in City and Political Affairs Included in Charges of Corruption at Election—Taggart and Bell Give Bond.

Indianapolis, June 24.—Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committeeman for Indiana; Mayor Joseph E. Bell, Samuel V. Perrott, chief of police, and 125 others were indicted by the Marion county grand jury here on Tuesday, charged with conspiracy to commit a felony through violation of election laws bribery and blackmail. Taggart and Bell were the first to acknowledge service in the case and were released on $5,000 bond each. Several other men appeared and were released on bond.

The indictment caused a sensation. While it has been rumored on the streets for some time that several men were to be indicted as a result of an investigation of the last election, it was not thought men so high in political councils would be included. Not more than a dozen spectators were in court when the grand jurors, accompanied by Alvah J. Rucker, prosecutor, submitted the report to Judge James A. Collins of the criminal court.

More than a dozen members of Mayor Bell's official family were indicted and as many more members of the police force were named. The others indicted included election officials, ward and precinct leaders, workers at the polls and voters.

Mr. Taggart arrived in Indianapolis from French Lick about the time the indictment against him was being returned.

"No, I don't know anything about it," said Mr. Taggart when asked if he had any statement to make.

Many members of Mayor Bell's official family, former city officials, policemen, ward leaders and primary and election officials are among those indicted. The more prominent are the following:

Frank P. Baker, former county prosecutor.

Herman Adam, city sealer of weights and measures.

Dennis Bush, street commissioner.

Edward Lyons, Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Dr. John W. Sluss, Republican, and former superintendent of the city hospital.

Donn M. Roberts former mayor of Terre Haute, who was convicted in the election fraud trial in the federal court here recently.

Charles Coval, formerly Mayor Bell's secretary.

Jacob H. Hilkens, city building inspector.

Oscar Merrill, police lieutenant.

Patrick J. Roche, city detective.

Michael Glenn, city detective.

Roberts' connection with Indianapolis politics was touched upon at the trial in the federal court when he was convicted and sentenced to six years in the federal prison. Several witnesses mentioned the alleged fact that Roberts had sent repeaters to Indianapolis from Terre Haute to work during the election and two Indianapolis men testified to going from this city to Terre Haute to work in the election there.

All the men—Democrats, Republicans and Progressives—are named in a single indictment, which contains 48 counts and covers 175 typewritten papers. The main charge is conspiracy to commit felonies by corrupting the election, by violation of the primary law, the registration laws, by bribery and blackmail.

U. S. WARNED BY MEXICO

Secretary Daniels Puts Action in Sonora Up to Discretion of Admiral Howard.

Washington, June 24.—The Mexican authorities in the state of Sonora, where Americans are threatened with extermination by the Yaqui Indians, have served a practical ultimatum on Admiral Howard, who has gone to the rescue, that he must not land his forces on Mexican soil. Secretary Daniels said after receiving this information on Tuesday that he would not send Admiral Howard any further instructions. The state and navy departments have thus put squarely up to the discretion of Admiral Howard whether or not he shall land and take the consequences of his act.

SKETCH MAP OF THE FAMOUS LABYRINTH

This map taken from the Paris Temps, is a sketch of the famous "Labyrinth," the strongest German fortification which bars the French advance on Lens, north of Arras. The sketch is based on the reports and sketches of French aviators, together with those of French Engineers who already have mined their way half way through the vast work.

The square mile or more of fortifications is one enormous warren of trenches, intersecting at all angles, covered communication burrows and concrete bombproofs. At almost every angle is a cunningly-hidden machine gun to sweep the trench each way, and the circles shown are armored cupolas where field pieces and howitzers are mounted. In the whole work there are probably several miles of trenches.

In the northern corner of the map is Souchez and the famous sugar refinery, at the point of the French salient, and the nearest point of the line to Lens. The shaded territory is that held by the French.

FRANK'S LIFE IS SAVED WARDEN'S WIFE SLAIN

GOVERNOR SHIFTS DEATH SENTENCE TO LIFE TERM.

Prisoner Hurled From Atlanta Jail to Convict Farm Near Milledgeville Under Heavy Guard.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—The sentence of Leo M. Frank, condemned to die for the murder of Mary Phagan on Memorial day two years ago, was commuted by Gov. John M. Slaton to life imprisonment.

The prisoner was at once taken out of the jail, under guard of Sheriff Mangum and a number of his deputies, and carried to the Terminal station. He was placed in a Central of Georgia train for Milledgeville, where Frank will at once begin serving a life sentence.

Closely following the governor's action, a mob of several thousand persons started for the home of the executive, six miles from the city, crying for vengeance.

Governor Slaton quickly called out the entire Fifth regiment of the Georgia National guard, and the soldiers as quickly made their way to the governor's home.

The troops with fixed bayonets, soon dispersed the mob. But not without a struggle, and in the slight resistance made by the rioters, who hurled bricks at the troopers, three soldiers, Lieut. Arnold Parker, Major Catron, and Private Popper, were struck and seriously hurt.

After a few hours of threatening disorders, the crowds were dispersed and Atlanta assumed its normal condition.

Governor Slaton, who commuted the sentence of Leo M. Frank, was hanged in effigy at Marietta, Ga. A life-sized dummy strung up to a telegraph pole bore an inscription, "John M. Slaton, Georgia's traitor governor." Mary Phagan, the victim of the pencil factory murder, formerly resided at Marietta.

When reports that Frank's sentence had been commuted began to circulate crowds gathered on the principal downtown street corners. The arrest of a man who attempted to dismount a policeman by grabbing the horse's reins aroused one crowd to excitement.

MRS. EDMUND M. ALLEN KILLED IN JOLIET PRISON.

Woman is Attacked and Then Cremated in Bed—Negro "Trusty" is Suspected.

Joliet, Ill., June 22.—Mrs. Edmund M. Allen, wife of the warden, was murdered in her room on the third floor of the administration building of the state penitentiary at Joliet early Sunday morning. It is believed that an attempt was made to attack Mrs. Allen before she was struck down. Then, when she was either dead or unconscious, her body was placed on the bed, a quantity of wood alcohol poured over it, and the bedclothes ignited. Mrs. Allen was a young and very handsome woman in robust health. The man who slew Mrs. Allen, who was the only woman in that part of the prison structure known as the "men's quarters," was an inmate of the institution, and is now within its walls.

There are approximately 1,750 men prisoners confined in the Joliet penitentiary, many of them murderers. Warden Allen was at West Baden, Ind., when the crime was committed. Mrs. Allen had expected to join him later.

EIGHT BATHERS DIE IN SURF

Great Crowd Sees Men and Women Perish in Undertow at Atlantic City, N. J.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 22.—Lashed and beaten into helplessness by merciless waves while held in the grip of an undertow, eight persons met heroic deaths on the beach on Sunday, while other heroes, red-shirted beach guards and bathers, battled desperately against tremendous odds to save them.

Besides the known drowned, three persons, one of them a young woman, are missing. The known victims:

Miss Marian Rhoads Creamer, twenty years old, student of Beechwood college.

Charles Mattlack, Philadelphia.

John Lisle, thirty years old, lawyer, Philadelphia.

Charles Green, fisherman.

William Francis Crow, Philadelphia.

Frank Brigham, sixteen, student.

QUAKE IN CALIFORNIA

TWO PERSONS KILLED WHEN IMPERIAL VALLEY IS SHAKEN BY SERIES OF SHOCKS.

MANY OTHERS ARE INJURED

Loss of Property Will Reach Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars—Buildings in Several Towns Wrecked—El Centro Hard Hit.

El Centro, Cal., June 23.—The Imperial valley from end to end was rocked by a series of earthquake shocks at 3 p. m. last night, and the damage done will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. El Centro, Calexico, Mexicali, Heber and other smaller places report buildings destroyed. Many persons, however, were injured.

Telegraphic communication between El Centro and Los Angeles was restored at 10:30. Two persons are known to have lost their lives and the property damage is heavy. Fire is still raging.

Holtville, about twenty miles east of El Centro, is reported in flames.

At the first tremble the occupants of the houses in every town in the valley rushed into the streets; lights went out, and as one shake followed another the people remained in apprehensive groups in the center of the streets.

In El Centro the police roped off the sidewalks, mounted armed guards to protect property from looters, and shunted all traffic off the streets.

From reports received here, El Centro was hardest hit. On either side of Main street are ruins of small brick buildings. Practically every display window in town is shattered.

The new Barbara Worth hotel and the Masonic temple, the largest structures, are seriously damaged. The wholesale building of the Delta Mercantile company was burned to the ground. The annex to El Centro is a heap of brick and tangled girders.

At Mexicali gamblers rushed into the streets, leaving their gold on the tables. Female denizens of the tough little town became hysterical. Few were fully clothed.

At Heber a pillar of the Heber hotel and the west side of the First National bank were cracked. Pearl Emery, aged twenty-one, was in a moving picture theater and falling bricks broke her foot.

Between Heber and El Centro a lantern in a six-room house owned by I. A. Morgan, a valley capitalist, overturned and ignited flames which devoured the house. Near by the house of John Betts fell.

Patriotism Makes Her Wealthy

The other day an old woman came into a bank in Prague and handed to the clerk an antique savings book, which showed a credit of $48. She asked whether this would serve for the war loan, since she had no other money. She explained that this book was left by will to her mother, who, dying, gave it to her.

"Anyhow," she added timidly, "I would like so much to help a little bit." The clerk took the book and disappeared. After a while he came back and with him his superiors, including even the president of the bank. And then they broke it gently to her that the book dated since 1836 and that therefore the $48 amounted now, with compound interest, to about $3,300.

Without her patriotism she would never have known how rich she was.

SEEK TO IMPROVE SUBMARINE

Engineers Working on Plans Which Will Make the Undersea Boats More Deadly Than They Are.

Some of the best thought of the naval engineering profession, says the Engineering Record, is now engaged in trying to unify the motive power of the submarine; that is, to do away with the oil engine and the battery-driven electric motor, and to substitute for it perhaps an ordinary boiler with oil fuel for running on the surface, and the so-called secondary "soda boiler," for running submerged. Many changes are afoot in submarine designs, notably a more minute subdivision of the hull to withstand the maximum water pressure likely to be encountered; a change in the cross-sectional shape to get better results in the way of stability and ease of handling, and more room for storing fuel and air; the perfecting of the signaling apparatus for use under water; an increased power of offensive; some way by which the boats can lay mines; some way providing the boats with light armor and with light, disappearing guns, and with two and three propellers. Like the modern air craft, the submarine is immensely valuable within its limitations; but dangerous as it is in the more confined waters of seas fairly close to its base, a vast amount of constructive work is still necessary before it can seriously compete with the more powerful battleships for the command of the ocean.

The CZAR'S SPY The Mystery of a Silent Love by Chevalier WILLIAM LI QUEUX

SYNOPSIS.

The yacht Lola narrowly escapes wreck in Leghorn harbor. Gordon Gregg, locum tenens for the British consul, is called upon by Horby, the Lola's owner...

And Muriel, a pretty figure in a low-cut gown of turquoise chiffon, standing behind her father, smiled secretly at me. I smiled at her in return...

I had suspected Leithcourt because of his constant trysts at that spot, but I had at least proved that my suspicions were entirely without foundation...

Whether or not I acted rightly in remaining away from the place, I leave it to you to judge in the light of the amazing truth which afterwards transpired.

I decided to walk straight back to my uncle's, and dinner was over before I had had my tub and dressed. Next day the body would surely be found...

But who was the woman? Was she young or old?

A thousand times I regretted bitterly that I had no matches with me so that I might examine her features. Was the victim that sweet-faced young girl whose photograph had been so ruthlessly cast from its frame and destroyed?

At six I shaved, descended, and went out with the dogs for a short walk; but on returning I heard of nothing unusual, and was compelled to remain inactive until near midday.

I was crossing the stable yard where I had gone to order the carriage for my aunt, when an English groom, suddenly emerging from the harness room, touched his cap, saying:

"Have you heard, sir, of the awful affair up yonder?"

"Of what?" I asked quickly. "Well, sir, there seems to have been a murder last night up in Rannoch wood," said the man quickly.

"Why?" asked the detective suspiciously.

court's under gamekeeper as he was going home at five this morning came upon a dead body."

"I don't know very much, sir," was the man's reply. "I went into the inn for a glass of beer at eleven, as I always do, and heard them talking about it. A young man was murdered last night up in Rannoch wood."

"The body was that of a man?" I asked, trying to conceal my utter bewilderment.

"Yes—about thirty, they say. The police have taken him to the mortuary at Dumfries, and the detectives are up there now looking at the spot, they say."

A man! And yet the body I found was that of a woman—that I could swear.

After lunch I took the dogcart and drove alone into Dumfries. The police constable on duty at the town mortuary took me up a narrow alley, unlocked a door, and I found myself in the cold, gloomy chamber of death.

The victim was the man who had acted as my friend—the Italian waiter, Olinto.

I advanced and peered into the thin, inanimate features, scarce able to realize the actual fact. But my eyes had not deceived me.

The policeman lifted the end of the sheet, revealing to me a white, hard set face, with closed eyes and dropped jaw.

"Through the heart," responded the constable, as turning the sheet farther down he showed me the small knife wound which had penetrated the victim's jacket and vest full in the chest.

"This is the weapon," he added, taking from a shelf close by a long, thin poniard with an ivory handle, which he handed to me.

In an instant I recognized what it was, and how deadly. It was an old Florentine misericordia, with a hilt of yellow ivory, the most deadly and fatal of all the daggers of the middle ages.

I looked again for the last time upon the dead face of the man who had served me so well, and yet who had enticed me so nearly to my death.

Could it be that my enemies were his? Had he fallen a victim by the same hand that had attempted so ingeniously to kill me?

"Why had Leithcourt gone so regularly up to Rannoch wood?" Was it in order to meet the man who was to be entrapped and killed?

"I will write today if you so desire," I said readily. "Indeed, I will get my friend the British consul to go round and see the old man and telegraph the address if he obtains it."

"Capital!" he declared. "If you will do us this favor we shall be greatly indebted to you. It is fortunate that we have established the victim's identity—otherwise we might be entirely in the dark. A murdered foreigner is always more or less of a mystery."

"Therefore, then and there, I took a sheet of paper and wrote to my old friend Hutcheson at Leghorn, asking him to make immediate inquiry of Olinto's father as to his son's address in London."

We sat for a long time discussing the strange affair. In order to betray no eagerness to get away, I offered the big Highlander a cigar from my case and we smoked together.

"The fact is," I said confidentially, "you must omit me from the witnesses at the inquest."

"Why?" asked the detective suspiciously.

"Because if it were known that I had identified him all chance of getting at the truth will at once vanish," I answered.

"Then you know something of the affair?" he said, with a strong Highland accent.

"I know nothing," I declared. "Nothing except his name."

"He was in my service in Leghorn for several years, and on leaving he came to London and obtained an engagement as waiter in a restaurant. His father lived in Leghorn; he was doorknocker at the prefecture."

"How can I tell?" "You know something of the affair, I mean that you suspect somebody, or you would have no objection to giving evidence at the inquest."

"I have no suspicions. To me the affair is just as much of an enigma as to you." "I hastened at once to explain. 'My only fear is that if the assassin knew that I had identified him he would take care not to betray himself.'"

"You therefore think he will betray himself?" "I hope so."

"By the fact that the man was attacked with an Italian stiletto, it would seem that his assassin was a fellow-countryman," suggested the detective.

"The evidence certainly points to that," I replied.

"Someone who waited for him on the edge of that wood and stepped out and killed him—that's evident," he said, "and my belief is that it was an Italian. There were two foreigners who slept at a common lodging house two nights ago and went on tramp towards Glasgow. We have telegraphed after them and hope we shall find them. Scotsmen or Englishmen never use a knife of that pattern."

"I know not whom to suspect," I declared. "It is a mystery why the man who was once my faithful servant should be enticed to that wood and stabbed to the heart."

"There is no one in the vicinity who knew him?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"We might obtain his address in London through his father in Leghorn," suggested the officer.

"I will write today if you so desire," I said readily. "Indeed, I will get my friend the British consul to go round and see the old man and telegraph the address if he obtains it."

"Capital!" he declared. "If you will do us this favor we shall be greatly indebted to you. It is fortunate that we have established the victim's identity—otherwise we might be entirely in the dark. A murdered foreigner is always more or less of a mystery."

"Really, Mr. Gregg, I can't quite make you out, I confess. You seem to be apprehensive of your own safety. Why?"

"One never knows whom one offends when living in Italy," I laughed, as lightly as I could, endeavoring to allay his suspicion.

"He may have fallen beneath the assassin's knife by giving a small and possibly innocent offense to somebody. Italian methods are not English, you know."

"By Jove, sir, and I'm jolly glad they're not!" he said. "I shouldn't think a police officer's life is a very safe one among all those secret murder societies I've read about."

"Ah, what you read about them is often very much exaggerated," I assured him. "It is the vendetta which is such a stain upon the character of the modern Italian, and depend upon it, this affair in Rannoch wood is the outcome of some revenge or other—probably over a love affair."

"But you will assist us, sir?" he urged. "You know the Italian language, which will be of great advantage, besides, the victim was your servant."

"Be discreet," I said. "And in return I will do my very utmost to assist you in hunting down the assassin."

And thus we made our attempt. Half an hour after I was driving in the dogcart through the pouring rain up the hill out of gray old Dumfries to the uncle's house.

As I descended from the cart and gave it over to a groom, old Davis, the butler, came forward, saying in a low voice:

"There's Miss Leithcourt waiting to see you, Mr. Gordon. She's in the morning room, and been there an hour. She asked me not to tell anyone else she's here, sir."

I walked across the big hall and along the corridor to the room the old maid had indicated.

And as I opened the door and Muriel Leithcourt in plain black rose to meet me, I plainly saw from her white, haggard countenance that something had happened—that she had been forced by circumstances to come to me in strictest confidence.

Was she, I wondered, about to reveal to me the truth?

CHAPTER VI.

The Gathering of the Clouds. "Mr. Gregg," exclaimed the girl with agitation, as she put forth her black-gloved hand, "I—I suppose you know—

"Yes, Miss Leithcourt, I only wish you would tell me about it," I said gravely, inviting her to a chair and seating myself. "Who is the man?"

"Ah! that we don't know," she replied, pale-faced and anxious. "I wanted to see you alone—that's the reason I am here. They must not know at home that I've been over here."

"Why, is there any service I can render you?"

"Yes. A very great one," she responded with quick eagerness. "I—well—the fact is, I have summoned courage to come to you and beg of you to help me. I am in great distress—and I have not a single friend whom I can trust—in whom I can confide."

"For the moment," she moved nervously, but no sound came from her. She was so eager to tell me something, and yet at the same time reluctant to take me into her confidence.

"It concerns the terrible discovery made up in Rannoch wood," she said in a hoarse, nervous voice at last. "That unknown man was murdered—stabbed to the heart. I have suspicions."

"Of the murdered man's identity?"

"No. Of the assassin. I want you to help me, if you will."

"Most certainly," I responded. "But if you believe you know the assassin you probably know something of the victim?"

"Only that he looked like a foreigner."

"Then you have seen him?" I exclaimed, much surprised.

"My remark caused her to hold her breath for an instant. Then she answered, rather lamely, it seemed to me:

"From his features and complexion I guessed him to be an Italian. I saw him after the keepers had found him."

"Besides," she went on, "the stiletto was evidently an Italian one, and a foreigner would most make it appear that a foreigner was the assassin."

"Is that your own suspicion?"

"No."

"Why?"

"She hesitated a moment, then in a low, eager voice she said: "Because I have already seen that knife in another person's possession."

"Then what is your theory regarding the affair?"

"It seems certain that the poor fellow went to the wood by appointment, and was killed. The affair interested me, and as soon as I recognized the old Italian knife in the hand of the keeper, I went up there and looked about. I am glad I did so, for I found something which seems to have escaped the notice of the detectives."

Depends on the Man. Any woman can have any man she likes if she pursues him vigorously enough or eludes him—either does. There are two ways for a woman to get what she wants. Either chase it for all she is worth, or run from it in the same manner. It depends on the man—"Time of Day," by Doris Egerton Jones.

Painting Points. When preparing paint remember that better results are obtainable from several applications of thin paint than from heavier coats. Of course, it takes longer to do the work. Paint put on in thin coats and allowed to dry, lasts much longer and will not flake off as is often the case when heavier coats are applied. When very fine results are wanted rub down each coat after it has thoroughly dried.

Gigantic Hot Springs. Some of the hot springs of New Zealand are actually small lakes, large enough to float a battleship.

"And what's that?" I asked eagerly. "Why, about three yards from the pool of blood where the unfortunate foreigner was found is another small pool of blood where the grass and ferns around are all crushed down as though there had been a struggle there."

"There may have been a struggle at that spot, and the man may have staggered some distance before he fell dead."

"Not if he had been struck in the heart, as they say. He would fall. Would he not?" she suggested. "No. The police seem very dense, and this plain fact has not yet occurred to them. Their theory is the same as what you suggest, but my own is something quite different. Mr. Gregg, I believe that a second person also fell a victim," she added in a low, distinct tone.

I gazed at her open-mouthed. Did she, I wondered, know the actual truth? Was she aware that the woman who had fallen there had disappeared?

"A second person!" I echoed, as though in surprise. "Then do you believe that a double murder was committed?"

"I draw my conclusion from the fact that the young man, on being struck in the heart, could not have gone such a distance as that which separates the one mark from the other."

"But he might have been slightly wounded—on the hand, or in the face—at first, and then at the spot where he was found struck fatally," I suggested.

She shook her head dubiously, but made no reply to my argument. Her confidence in her own surmises made it quite apparent that by some unknown means she was aware of the second victim. Indeed, a few moments later she said to me:

"It is for this reason, Mr. Gregg, that I have sought you in confidence. No body must know that I have come here to you, or they would suspect; and if suspicion fell upon me it would bring upon me a fate worse than death. Remember, therefore, that my future is entirely in your hands."

"I don't quite understand," I said, rising and standing before her in the fading twilight, while the rain drove upon the old diamond window panes. "But I can only assure you that whatever confidence you repose in me, I shall never abuse, Miss Leithcourt."

"I trust you in this matter implicitly. I have come to you for many reasons, chief of them being that if a second victim has fallen beneath the hand of the assassin, it is, I know, a woman."

"A woman! Whom?"

"At present I cannot tell you. I must first establish the facts. If this woman were really stricken down, then her body lies concealed somewhere in the vicinity. We must find it and bring home the crime to the guilty one."

"But if we succeed in finding it, could we place our hand upon the assassin?" I asked, looking straight at her.

"If we find it, the crime would then tell its own tale—it would convict the person in whose hand I have seen that fatal weapon," was her clear, bold answer.

"Then you wish me to assist you in this search, Miss Leithcourt? My search may bring suspicion upon me. It will be difficult to examine the whole wood without arousing the curiosity of somebody—the keeper or the police."

"I have already thought of that," she said. "I will pretend tomorrow to lose this watch bracelet in the wood, and she held up her slim wrist to show me the little enameled watch set in her bracelet. "Then you and I will search for it diligently, and the police will never suspect the real reason of our investigation. Tomorrow I shall write to you telling you about my loss, and you will come over to Rannoch and offer to help me."

"I was silent for a moment."

"Is Mr. Woodroffe back at the castle? I heard he was to return today."

"No. I had a letter from him from Bordeaux a week ago. He is still on the continent. I believe, indeed, he has gone to Russia, where he sometimes has business."

"I asked you the question, Miss Muriel, because I thought if Mr. Woodroffe were here he might object to our searching in company," I explained, smiling.

Her cheeks flushed slightly, as though confused at my reference to her engagement, and she said mischievously:

"I don't see why he should object in the least. If you are good enough to assist me to search for my bracelet, he surely ought to be much obliged to you."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Texture of Butter. The texture of butter is dependent upon its grain, which is secured by its process of manufacture. Over-churning and too high temperature both injure the texture of butter.

Cow "Holds Up" Milk. Once a cow is out of sympathy with the milker, the process of elaboration and concentration is retarded, and we are apt to say she "holds up" her milk.

Machinery of Cow. The machinery of a cow, by means of which she produces milk, is as delicate as that of a watch, and yet we often act as though the contrary were true.

Using Milk Tube. The regular use of a milking tube will remedy defects of a hard-milking cow, but do not have such a cow and you won't need the tube.

Determine Worth of Cow. The two things that determine the real worth of the cow are her production and the cost of production. Upon these two depend the success and profit of your dairy work.

Profitable Side-Line. The keeping of poultry will prove a profitable side-line for the dairy farm as skim milk is a valuable egg food.

Start of Scours. Many calves die every year from scours that started from a filthy pail.

DAIRY FACTS

ONE COMMON DAIRY MISTAKE

Some Farmers Turn Calf Out With Cow as Matter of Convenience—Effect is Generally Ruinous.

Many farmers who do not own hand cream separators, and several who do, frequently make a mistake in their management, of the cow and calf, where the calf is allowed to suck the cow.

We know of numerous instances in which some farmer, for some reason or other, turned the calf out with the cow. Sometimes this is done as a matter of convenience for a few days; or it may be done where one has so many cows to milk that they cannot be attended to properly.

Again, if it is a young heifer's first calf, this is frequently done because she gives such a small quantity of milk that the farmer turns the calf out with her, expecting to take her up as a profitable cow at her next calving.

In any and all of these cases, the effect is generally ruinous. The cow grows accustomed to being with her calf, and if she is separated from it at weaning time, or even during the hour of milking, there is at once a falling off in the milk flow, caused by the change. In fact, such a dairy cow is almost sure to go entirely dry within a very short time after the calf is weaned or absent.

USEFUL LITTLE DAIRY HINTS

Waste of Time and Feed to Breed Scrubs—Provide Supply of Clean Water for the Calf.

Do not waste your time and feed on scrubs, as they take just as much feed and time and do not give as much return, either in quality or quantity, as the pure-bred stock.

Do not feed calves hot milk. Do not feed the calf cold milk. It causes scours.

Do not forget that the calf needs salt even when he is very young. Do not forget to keep plenty of clean water for the calf to drink. It is better to warm it in cold weather.

Keep the calf in a clean, dry, warm place. For warts or rough scaly patches on the calf, rub on a mixture of sulphur and lard twice a day.

For scours give castor oil, then break two or three eggs into a dish and beat them, put them in a bottle and give the calf as a drench, two or three times the first day or two. Also omit the calf's milk and grain for at least one feed, then feed him less than usual the next two or three feeds.

PLAN FOR GOOD VENTILATION

Arrangement Illustrated Shows How Air Can Be Admitted Between Sashes Without Draft.

It is possible to secure very good ventilation in any room in any part of the dairy house or barn by the following device: Take a board about six inches wide and just long enough to reach the exact width of the window. Place this below the lower sash, letting the sash rest upon it as shown in the figure. This arrangement will admit air between the sashes, upper and lower, and there will be no drafts. This suggestion is taken from Farmers' Bulletin 607.

MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn. — "I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have such tired, worn out feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. Maben, 211 S. Spring St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

GOOD WORD FOR THE BIRDS

Beautiful, and Useful in Their Destruction of Much Insect Life. That Is Harmful.

The warm weather has brought the birds again. Their chirping and singing make a morning symphony the like of which can be heard from no trained orchestra. They dot the landscape with a beauty that no artistic skill can rival. They are beautiful, useful in their destruction of harmful insects, pests and aid us mightily in appreciating the joy of living.

Now, then, is a good time for a renewed appeal for the lives and well-being of birds.

The best instincts of the human race are devoted to the saving of all kinds of life, and sanction the taking of life only when such destruction serves a purpose useful to mankind.

This cannot be urged in the case of the birds. For the most part they are not food animals. The higher intelligence and spiritualism of humanity should bring about a concerted movement for small bird protection.

Difficult Task. "The responsibilities of parents are very great," remarked the proud father.

"Undoubtedly," rejoined the old bachelor. "It must be awfully hard for them to refrain from repeating the smart things their children are supposed to say."

Instead of calling a doctor, the self-made chap should send for a repairman.

THE GOOD JUDGE STARTING ON A CAMPAIGN TOUR

DO I NEED TO SHOW MY TICKET?
NOT HERE, JUDGE. YOU ARE TOO WELL KNOWN-- YOU AND THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

LEAVE it to railroad men to get the right word on chewing tobacco—from agent to Super they are switching to the Real Tobacco Chew. And now they are glad they found the little chew that satisfies on less tobacco. That's why they are letting one another know about it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED!
Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

FREE PORTS BUILDERS OF COMMERCE

CONGRESS SHOULD GIVE THEM PREFERENCE IN APPROPRIATIONS.

By Peter Radford.

This nation is now entering upon an era of marine development. The wreckage of European commerce has drifted to our shores and the world war is making unprecedented demands for the products of farm and factory. In transportation facilities on land we lead the world but our port facilities are inadequate, and our flag is seldom seen in foreign ports. If our government would only divert the energy we have displayed in conquering the railroads to mastering the commerce of the sea, a foreign bottom would be unknown on the ocean's highways.

This article will be confined to a discussion of our ports for the products of the farm must pass over our wharves before reaching the water. We have in this nation 51 ports, of which 41 are on the Atlantic and 10 are on the Pacific Coast. The Sixty-second Congress appropriated over $51,000,000 for improving our Rivers and Harbors and private enterprise levies a toll of approximately $50,000,000 annually in wharfage and charges for which no tangible service is rendered. The latter item should be lifted off the backs of the farmer of this nation and this can be done by Congress directing its appropriations to ports that are free where vessels can tie up to a wharf and discharge her cargo free of any fee or charge.

A free port is progress. It takes out the unnecessary link in the chain of transactions in commerce which has for centuries laid a heavy hand upon commerce. No movement is so heavily laden with results or will more widely and equally distribute its benefits as that of a free port and none can be more easily and effectively secured.

THE VITAL PROBLEM OF AGRICULTURE

By Peter Radford.

There is no escaping the market problem and the highest development of agriculture will not be attained until it is solved, for a market is as necessary for the producer as land on which to grow his crop. Governmental and educational institutions have spent $180,000,000 in the United States during the past ten years for improving soil production and improving seeds and the very little attention and less money has been given to the marketing side of agriculture.

The problem is a monumental one and one which will never be solved until it gets within the grasp of a gigantic organization where master minds can concentrate the combined experience and wisdom of the age upon it. It is a problem which the farmers, merchants, bankers, editors and statesmen must unite in solving.

The Farmers' Union stands for all there is in farming from the most scientific methods of seed selection to the most systematic and profitable plans of marketing, but does not believe in promoting one to the neglect of the other. We consider the work of farm demonstrators valuable and we ask that governmental and commercial agencies seeking to help us, continue to give us their assistance and advice, but we believe that their influence should be extended to the marketing side of our farm problems also.

We cannot hope to develop manufacturing by over-production of the factory; we cannot build up mercantile enterprises by the merchants leading their shelves with surplus goods and no more can we develop agriculture by glutting the market with a surplus of products.

DARIUS

The neigh of a horse made Darius King of Persia, the six contending powers for the throne agreeing among themselves that the one whose horse should neigh first should possess the kingdom. This ancient method of settling disputes among politicians could be revived with profit today. If our partisan factions and petty politicians could only settle their disputes by the neigh of a horse, the bark of a dog or the bray of a donkey, it would be a great blessing and would give our citizens a better opportunity to pursue the vocations of industry free from political strife.

Let those who pick political plums raising rows and who flash swords dripping in the blood of industry understand that they cannot turn the public forum into a political arena and by a clash of personal aspirations still the hammer and stop the plow and that their quarrels must be settled in the back alleys of civilization.

HEALTH
Story of Weak Foundation
A thirteen year old school child broke down in health and when questioned and examined by the physician complained of pain in the back and stomach. Finally a diagnosis of chronic appendicitis was made and operation was performed. There was no improvement.
The child continued to complain of pain and weakness in the back, and the physicians suspected tuberculosis of the spine. Inasmuch as an aunt, a trained nurse, was working among deformed children in a far-away city, the parents sent the child to visit the aunt and to secure treatment.
On examination, the surgeon (a specialist in deformities) failed to find any evidences of spinal disease except the weakness and unwillingness of the child to stand and use her back to any extent. When he finally induced her to get out of bed, his attention was attracted by the condition of her feet. He found the arches badly flattened and instead of the feet being pliable and easily movable, they were somewhat rigid and sensitive to gentle motion. Treatment of the feet, massage and later support of the arches caused all symptoms and fear of serious spinal disease to disappear.
This is a rather extreme example of a condition of the feet which frequently handicaps and may make a helpless invalid of a person whose primary trouble is not at all difficult to correct. I don't know why people should be so neglectful of painful feet unless it be their notion that nobody who wears shoes is really comfortable. And perhaps there is some warrant for such belief. Certain it is that a pair of painful feet causes the owner to avoid exercise and play, which are so important in maintaining the bodily functions in a healthy condition. Parents whose children do not show a normal puppy-like inclination to romp and play should look to shoes and feet for a possible explanation.
Notwithstanding the fact that most people look to unusual and important-sounding causes for important results, careful observers and students know that frequently the most important. Recently, in the course of a discussion similar to this one, a very competent and successful physician said: "Science is always simple. Frequently we fail to understand because we ignore the things right under our eyes and are blind to everything but the mysterious."
