Complaining About Game Hogs

Several of our local rod and reel sportsmen have been complaining about a good deal of illegal fishing being going on the past summer. Now there is nothing as disgusting and provoking for a true sportsman than to run across lines and nets. A man that will troll all day for a fish or two, and speak in glowing terms of the strikes that he made, and struggles with fish that he had nearly landed but which managed to get away, is a true sportsman and a man that can always be relied upon to observe the dictations of the law. It is the game hog that will resort to any and all foul tricks in order to make a big catch, who are draining the lakes of fish and spoiling the fishing for everyone. He is usually the man who will go out for a couple of hours, land all the fish he can, and then brag about his skill to his fellow men. If we wish to protect our fish as they surely must be, for fish are not as plentiful as mosquitoes, and the day is fast approaching when good fishing will be mighty scarce, unless "fish hogs" discontinue the practice of using set lines and nets.

Outsiders Are Favored

The attorney general advises the conservation commission that a nonresident hunter may have thirty prairie chickens in his possession, though not allowed to kill more than two chickens each day in Ozaukee or Washington counties and not more than ten a day in any other county in the state, having an open season for such birds. Under this ruling a nonresident hunter may take out of the state thirty prairie chickens while it would be unlawful for a resident hunter to have more than ten chickens in his possession at any one time.
Some decision, when there are no prairie chickens in Washington county, and no open season.

Circuit Court on Monday

The fall term of the Circuit Court for Washington county will convene in West Bend next Monday afternoon at 2 p. m. Judge Martin L. Luck of Juneau presiding.

AN AVALANCHE OF VALUABLE PRIZES CELEBRATE 50th WEDDING ABOUT HIS WESTERN TRIP

PEOPLE WHO WANT AN AUTOMOBILE SHOULD ENTER AT ONCE. EACH FIELD HAS GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Practically Nothing Done Up to the Present Time. 'Phone 58 to the Contest Manager and Get Particulars. Be The First to Start in Your Field

There's a heap of satisfaction in a contest if you gain. If you keep your nerve in action and wear a lifted chin. There is a joy in doing something and a pride in a dumb thing. Opportunity is knocking at your door.
It's an overcoming trouble. That is labeled "Can't be done" and the harder that the fight is, then the greater is the fun. And the greater your delight. In the Auto you have won.
A beautiful five passenger touring car free, to take your friends for a ride whenever and wherever you please. Such can be your enjoyment.
Now is the time to fill out that nomination blank and get right into the game in earnest. You have just as good a chance as anyone else and your field is probably better than the most of them so make use of it. Call up the contest manager today and he will tell you just what chance your field affords. Start at once and establish yourself well in your field then you will have it all done.
Every community should have a representative and no other person could do any better than you. Every person that has read our offer should be in the thick of the race. You are offered these prizes free, without worry or loss. Simply the pastime of finding that your friends are with you and your faith is substantial enough to take the form of a subscription which in turn will get you votes.
Some may think if they try and don't get the car that their time will be wasted. Just a minute. Before you come to that conclusion, read carefully what we have to offer you. If you don't win the car and get second, we will give you a $75 victrola. If you get third we will give you a chest of community silverware. Fourth or fifth a gold watch. Just supposing you worked right along and did not get a prize at all. In that event we will pay you 25 per cent of the amount you turn in on new subscriptions.
No matter what is the outcome of the contest, everyone who enters is bound to be a winner. There is a straight business proposition. You will be paid just according to what you do. If you prove the best candidate the automobile is yours. Many say, "Oh well, if I could get the car or the victrola I would be glad to work." Now that is there to keep you from getting one of them. What is there to keep you from getting the Car? Have you the confidence in yourself that you can do anything that anyone else ever did? Other people have won automobiles in their spare time. Someone will win this car. If you have the confidence the someone to win this car can be you.

It is all a matter of confidence. You have seen people who start out to do something and they know they are going to do it. Others may start and they say it can't be done, by the fellow who knows he can do it he does it just the same. On the other hand some will try to do things, and feel that they can't before they start. They seldom win. You can win that car. Who is there who can win it if you can't? No one. All right win it.

Hunters Take Notice

Edw. C. Miller is in receipt of the following letter from the State Conservation Commission at Madison, which no doubt interests all hunters from Washington county. The letter reads as follows:
Mr. Edw. C. Miller,
Kewaskum, Wis.
Dear Sir:
Your letter of the 7th received. In reply will say that in accordance with a ruling made by the attorney general squirrels and rabbits that are legally killed may be transported into a county in which the season is closed, provided it will be lawful for you or any hunter to go outside of Washington county and kill rabbits during the open season and bring them home prior to November 1st. The same rule would apply to partridges. The law permits a bag limit of ten birds in most of the counties of the state, but in your county only county and legally go to another county and legally kill ten birds we can see no reason why they should not be transported to your home. Of course they would be your duty to prove that they were taken in another county if you were held up by a warden.
Yours Very Truly,
Wisconsin Conservation Commission, R. S. Scheibel, Sec.

Chas. E. Krahn Experiences Earthquake Shock While at The Pan-American Exposition

The editor is in receipt of a letter from Chas. E. Krahn who is enjoying an extended trip to the Pan American Exposition and other western cities, which was written at San Francisco, dated Oct. 10th and read as follows:
I am here from Portland last Monday after a two weeks visit and where I had the best time of my trip so far. Portland is a beautiful city with large substantial business blocks, pretty homes and roses which are blooming on every lawn. She is well named "The Rose City." The climate is delightful and you can be outdoors all the time without any discomfort. I had the pleasure of visiting the city has more than tripled its population. It is one of the largest wheat shipping ports in the United States, and the largest lumber export point in the world. I had the pleasure of visiting one of the largest saw and shingle mills on the coast. I saw logs 40 to 50 feet in length cut up into lumber, enough to build a good size house in Kewaskum.
One of the largest manufacturing plants in Portland is the Doernbecher Furniture Manufacturing Co., owned solely by a man who was born and bred in Kewaskum. The plant is a mammoth establishment, modern in every respect. He employs about 400 hands and three to four cars of manufactured goods are shipped daily to his warehouses and salesroom at Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles, besides his local shipments. A force of office help and salesmen are maintained at each of the branches. He also owns and operates a saw and veneer mill, located about 25 miles from the Willamette river, where most of his lumber is cut.
I left Portland Sunday at 12 noon and arrived here at 9:30 P. M. Monday. Since I have been here I have experienced a genuine earthquake last Thursday evening at 9:30 and they all say it was the worst they had since the big one. There were two shocks, the first I didn't notice much, but the second rocked the buildings. One of the theatres nearly had a stampede, people trying to get out. The citizens here were much scared that the visitors, who didn't know what it was until it was over. It was a sensation that I never felt. There was not a paper in the city that mentioned it, but it was the talk all over town the next day, many visitors left the city as soon as they could get out. The second shock lasted about a minute. There was no damage done that I heard of.
I spent three days at the fair so far, and like it very much. The landscape section is beautiful and the exterior of the buildings are architectural beauties. The exhibits are good, what there is. I expect to spend a few days more at the fair and leave for Los Angeles next Tuesday and see how the Movies are made.

When Youths May Drive

That a person under the age of sixteen years may operate a motor vehicle in the state when accompanied by an adult person is the opinion of Attorney General Owen to District Attorney Giles H. Patterson of New London. The attorney general was asked whether the presence of a person of requisite age satisfied the terms of the statute enacted by the last legislature.
"It appears to have been the legislative intent to permit persons under age of sixteen years to operate motor vehicles when accompanied by an adult person," said the attorney general, nor can it be said such a legislative intent is not founded in reason. Regardless of the mental or physical condition of the adult it is not unreasonable to assume that the presence of such adult in the vehicle would act as a deterrent to recklessness on the part of the youthful driver.

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völker-Krieges

Zu den „Siegen“ der Alliierten.

Die Alliierten brauchen Geld, und zwar sehr viel und sehr notwendig. Da nun der gemalt angelegte Fumerverbrauch der Alliierten in diesem Lande, das mit ihnen so stark sympathisiert, nicht nach Wunsch konstant gehen wird, brauchen die Alliierten auch Siege. Diese letzteren sollen den fehlenden Kredit für die Alliierten liefern. Daher der Siegesjubel in Petrograd, London und Paris, welcher von dem Getöse unserer Anglobelien noch überdort wird.

Was daran Wahres ist, können wir zur Zeit noch nicht definitiv feststellen. Nach den bisherigen Erfahrungen jedoch sind die alliierten Erfolge nicht die Hälfte von dem, als was sie in die Welt hinausposaunt werden. Nach einer Anzahl mißglückter Offensiv-Verluste hat die französische und englische Heeresleitung Monate lang Zeit zur Vorbereitung gehabt. Somit unterliegt es keinem Zweifel, daß die französisch-englischen Heere die günstige Gelegenheit benutzen, das ansehende große Heer der deutschen Streitkräfte im Osten gebunden sind, um endlich einmal ihren Völkern zu zeigen, daß sie noch nicht ganz tot sind. Ebenso sicher ist es aber auch, daß die deutsche Heeresleitung schon längst bereit war und den ihre letzte Kraft einsetzenden Alliierten keinen schlechten Empfang bereitet hat, oder noch bereiten wird.

Es scheint sogar nicht unwahrscheinlich, daß deutscherseits die begonnene feindliche Offensive mit einem gemächlichen Wegem - Vorstoß beantwortet werden wird. Ohne Zweifel sind schon längst entsprechende Kruppenmassen zu diesem Zwecke bereitgestellt worden, da die Kampagne gegen England das früh eintretende Winter wegen gemäßigtem Vorwärt als abgefaßten betrachtet werden kann.

Wo man aber die neue deutsche Operation einlegen wird, im Westen oder im Osten, das weiß niemand als der deutsche Generalstab. Und der allein drittens, was geschieden soll.

In London und Paris mischen sich zwischen den Tages, aber bereits machende Stimmen, welche es für nötig halten, daran zu erinnern, daß noch schwere Rückschläge zu erwarten sind. Während andererseits die alliierten Heerführer sich heute damit begnügen, zu melden, daß sie imstande seien, die eroberten Positionen zu halten. Lange wird das sicherlich nicht mehr dauern und die Alliierten werden bald ausgebeutet haben. Die deutsche Heeresleitung wird schon dafür Sorge tragen. Darum nur nicht bange machen lassen!

Die Hauptfrage ist, daß den alliierten Völkern die Alliierte in diesem Lande nicht unter dem künftigen Siegestaumel gelinkt.

Wichtigkeit der Alliierten-Sicheritäten ist sehr zweifelhaft.

New York. Auf die Gefahr, sein Geld zu verlieren, der sich jeder aussetzt, der sich direkt oder indirekt an der französischen Alliierte beteiligt, die hier untergebracht werden soll, meist der früheren finanziellen Rückstellungen der Deutschen & Goldminen an der Hand eines dieser Tage von George W. McClellan veröffentlichten Artikels im „Er sagt“.

Von George W. McClellan, der frühere Kommandant der Rechte und Volkswirtschaft an der Princeton Universität, geht in einem längeren Artikel der „New York Times“, daß die französische Regierung in ihrer gegenwärtigen Verfassung nicht in der Lage ist, weil die Antikräfte aller Alliierten der oberen Kammer und die eines Drittels der unteren Kammer abgelehnt sind.

Wenn Herrn McClellans Pfeiffliegen richtig sind — und ein Mann seines Schlages wird sich in einer so wichtigen Angelegenheit schweigen lassen — dann ist die Gültigkeit der Sicherheiten, in denen die Banken und Anleiher in diesem Lande ihr Geld anzulegen aufgefordert werden, äußerst zweifelhaft. Die Erfahrungen, die ich amtlich bezüglich der Höhe betrübten Anleihen und Bonds - Emissionen gesammelt habe, veranlaßt mich, das amerikanische Volk zu ermahnen, hinsichtlich der Gültigkeit der verschiedenen Regierungen - Sicherheiten, in denen es direkt oder als Depositor von Bank-Instituten sein Geld anlegt, äußerst vorsichtig zu sein.

Solche Anleiher sollten sich bei ihren Anleihen genau Rat holen, ehe sie ihr Geld direkt oder indirekt in zweifelhaften Wertpapieren anlegen. Doch auch Geld, welches Amerikaner den Engländern leihen mögen, in erster Reihe schwebt, den Anleiher verloren zu gehen, weiß der Präsident der American Truth Society, Jeremiah A. O'Leary, in einem Schreiben nach, das er an den Vorgesetzten der alliierten Bankkommission Sir Rufus Isaacs gerichtet hat. In dem Briefe erinnert der Anwalt daran, daß Bonds, die während des Bürgerkrieges von Südstaaten ausgegeben wurden, und die von britischen Finanziers finanziert wurden, die ein Interesse daran hatten, den Bürgerkrieg fortzuführen zu lösen, damit die Union zerstört würde, noch nicht eingelöst sind. Diese Bonds befinden sich in den Händen der Nachkommen der damaligen Anleiher, die noch heute darauf warten, daß sie ihr Geld mit Zins und Zinseszins erhalten. Dazu heißt Herr O'Leary die Frage:

Welche Garantie können Sie den amerikanischen Anleiher geben, daß Ihr Volk diese ungelösten Obligationen amerikanischer Staaten nicht als eine Ausrede benutzen wird, um im Falle einer Revolution oder auch in jedem anderen Falle Zahlung zu verweigern?

Anfragen in der „Golfland“-Katastrophe erhoben.

Chicago. In Verbindung mit der „Golfland“-Katastrophe haben die Großgeschworenen wegen Verhinderung bzw. strafbarer Fahrlässigkeit gegen folgende Personen Anklagen erhoben:

George F. Arnold, Präsident der Chicago und St. Joseph Steamship Co., William S. Hull, Vizepräsident und Generalmanager derselben Gesellschaft, Walter C. Steele, Sekretär und Schiffsmeister der Co., Garop Peterson, Kapitän der „Golfland“, J. M. Erickson, Chefingenieur der „Golfland“, sowie die beiden Bundes-Schiffsinspektoren, Charles E. Gelliffe und Robert Reid. Ferner gegen Walter Greenbaum, welcher nur der tatsächlichen Fahrlässigkeit angeklagt ist.

Die Chicago & St. Joseph Steamship Co. eignete das Schiff, sie überließ es der Veräußerung der Indiana Transportation Co. Die Beamten der ersten Gesellschaft wußten, daß das Schiff nicht tauglich war und der Kapitän sowie der Ingenieur haben sich von der Verantwortlichkeit des Schiffes nicht vorher übergeben.

Greenbaum erlaubte, daß das Schiff mehr Leute an Bord nahm, als es nach bestehenden Vorschriften aufnehmen durfte.

Die beiden Inspektoren haben der St. Joseph Gesellschaft einige Wochen vor dem Abgange des Schiffes Certificate über die gute Beschaffenheit des Schiffes erteilt.

Das Schiff wird im Bundesgericht unter Richter Landis öffentlich versteigert.

Die beiden bezeichneten Gesellschaften wurden ferner als Korporationen angeklagt.

Petrograd von Hungernot bedroht.

Berlin, drahtlos über Sayville, N. Y. Nach der russischen Zeitung „Nytich“ ist Petrograd von einer Hungernot bedroht. Die Vorräte müssen sich einschränken, da nicht genug Mehl zur Verfügung steht. Das russische Volk bringt den zitternhaften Nachrichten, daß der Mangel an Nahrungsmitteln die Lage verurteilt hat. Die Stadt benötigt täglich 510 Waggons voll Mehl, und während im Mai noch 2132 Waggons Mehl nach Petrograd gebracht wurden, war die Zahl im August auf 153 heruntergesunken.

Entzug der ganzen Vahulinie Petrograd-Limburg ist kein Zufall, kein Petroleum, kein Tabak und kein Salz mehr zu erhalten. Graf Tolstoi, der Statthalter von Petersburg, hat selbst angegeben, daß es an Holzmaterial gebricht und die Vorräte für die Militärhospitäler verknüpft werden müssen, während die Privatleute sich so durchschlagen müssen. Im die Stadt mit dem nötigen Holzmaterial zu versorgen, waren 25,000,000 Rubel nötig, und die fehlen.

Russische Verluste.

Das „Berliner Tageblatt“ berichtet unter der Ueberschrift „Aurichtbare Zahlen“, die deutsche Luftwaffe und verurteilt mehrere Hunderttausende von Toten. Es schließt mit den Worten: Wie man angeht, so werden Verluste fabeln kann, das russische Heer sei intakt und noch nie so gut imstande gewesen, wie jetzt, ist uns unerschütterlich. Trotzdem wird dies immer noch in gewissen Kreisen behauptet. Der Krieg erzeugt eben eine noch nie da gewesene Atmosphäre der Lüge und Unwahrheit, in die sich nicht nur ein Teil der Presse, sondern leider auch ganze Völker einhüllen, um nur so nicht die Wahrheit sehen zu müssen. Aber es wird ein Erwachen geben. Dann wird die Wahrheit der Nationen mit denen erfolgen, die sie so lange in die Irre gehen ließen.

Die bulgarische Brötchen mitternachts, beläutern sich die russischen Verluste von Beginn des Krieges bis vor etwa 6 — 8 Wochen auf 3 Millionen Mann.

WHY HE WAS IN THE WAY

Presence of Chaplain Prevented Drivers Talking to Their Horses as They Worked.

The weather had been very wet for weeks, and the roads, "Somewhere across the Channel," were in a very bad state.

Consequently, it was not surprising that a wagon in a certain British supply column suddenly dived into a hole full of mud, and refused to budge. At the critical moment up came an army chaplain, who at once proffered his services.

"Men," he said, "I see you're in difficulties. Can I be of any help?" "Yes, sir," answered a burly sergeant, bluntly, as he mopped his brow, "you can give us the greatest help by making yourself scarce."

"Making myself scarce?" gasped the chaplain. "Why, how—?" "Yes, sir," broke in the sergeant: "you see, we can't very well say to the horses what they'd understand, while you are about."

The War Spirit.

A fat "colored mammy" of the "old school" was hauled into court for throwing her washing board at her neighbor's husband, a "Georgia Cracker" of the "poor white trash" variety.

"Did you strike this man with a washboard?" Judge Bryles asked. "I spec' I did, yo' honah."

"What was the provocation?" "We wuz discussin' wah, jedge."

"Well—go on."

"We wuz talkin' 'bout dem Germanings, an' John's Bulls and dem Frenchmens, and he done said I was nutral, yo' honah. I ain't gwine ter let no low-down white trash call me dat."

"You're not smoking as much as you used to. Did your doctor order you to stop?" "No, I'm a martyr to fashion."

"What's fashion got to do with smoking?" "If you saw my wife's dressmaker and milliner bills you wouldn't ask such a foolish question."

Reminded.

"When the autumnal frosts touch the foliage with tints of red and yellow against the gray sky, doesn't that inspire you to thought?"

"It certainly does. The reds and yellows make me think of the job ahead of me tending the furnace, and the gray make me think of the dust when I sift the ashes."

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

Hudson.—Carl Swenson was arrested accused of sending a black hand letter to Miss Anita North, Hudson's wealthiest woman. He demanded that she meet him at Third and Myrtle streets, right in the center of the city, and give him $1,000 in $100 and $50 bills.

It is charged he went to a real estate office, borrowed a sheet of paper and made a plain white envelope and wrote the letter to a typewriter. The letter was signed "Friends." The authorities were notified by Miss North immediately on receipt of the letter. The paper and typewriting were identified. Swenson was arrested at his home by Chief of Police John Keefe before the hour stated in the letter that Miss North was to appear.

Kenosha.—A daring plan for the escape of three prisoners from the county jail was revealed here by James Ransbottom, a young southern Illinois man, who came into court to plead guilty to charges of assault upon L. J. Zack, with intent to do greatly bodily harm. He alleged that the plot was formed by a negro. The other prisoners, however, finally drew the color line and refused to have any part in it. The plan provided for a vicious assault on the undersheriff and a break for liberty. Ransbottom was assessed a fine of $200 and costs.

Many thousands of sandwiches were distributed free to the crowd during the day, while experts prepared various dishes with cheese as the principal ingredient. Swiss wrestling and yodling furnished a part of the entertainment.

He said the city was the heart of the community and that if the moral life there were pure that life throughout the country would be pure. He spoke of the influence the city had on the country, that the great dangers came from the city and that the young people went to the city for their education, that the influence of the city is felt everywhere and for this reason the city must take up its work with great vigor.

The Rev. E. R. MacKinney of Milwaukee spoke on "The Mission and Value of the Small Church," said 75 per cent of the workers came from the small church.

TWO GIRLS BURN TO DEATH

Believed That They Had Poured Kerosene on Coals in Kitchen Stove.

Maiden Rock.—Ophelia, 8, and Violet, 4, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis O. Hansen, Spring Lake township, were burned to death during the absence of their parents.

Mr. Hansen had gone to town and his wife was returning from driving the cows to pasture when she heard an explosion and saw the windows had been blown out and fire pouring out of every opening. Before she could reach the house it was all ablaze. The charred bodies of the little girls were found under an iron bedstead, where they had taken refuge.

It is supposed that the girls poured kerosene on coals in the kitchen stove.

AGED BEAVER DAM PUBLISHER DIES

B. F. SHERMAN SUCCEEDS TO AN ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE.

LONG IN NEWSPAPER WORK

Deceased Editor Served as City Official and in State Legislature—Entered Newspaper Work in 1862.

Beaver Dam.—B. F. Sherman, 73 years old, who ranked among the oldest newspaper men in Wisconsin in point of service and age, died at his home in this city. He had been ill with heart trouble.

Mr. Sherman, who for many years had been editor and publisher of the Beaver Dam Argus, was at his office attending to his usual work up to a short time ago. Since then he had been confined to his home, gradually failing until the end.

His newspaper work in Wisconsin extended all through the years from 1862. He came to Wisconsin from Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1857, and in 1862 entered the office of the Argus. In 1863 he took a part interest in the publication and in 1884 purchased the entire plant.

During the time that he was a resident of Beaver Dam he served as city treasurer and was a member of the city council for twenty-one years. He was a member of the state assembly in 1879 and was elected to the state senate in 1882. He was prominent as an Oddfellow and Mason.

Those who survive are five children, four sons and one daughter, all of Beaver Dam.

WHY HE WAS IN THE WAY

Presence of Chaplain Prevented Drivers Talking to Their Horses as They Wished.

The weather had been very wet for weeks, and the roads, "Somewhere across the Channel," were in a very bad state.

Consequently, it was not surprising that a wagon in a certain British supply column suddenly dived into a hole full of mud, and refused to budge. At the critical moment up came an army chaplain, who at once proffered his services.

"Men," he said, "I see you're in difficulties. Can I be of any help?" "Yes, sir," answered a burly sergeant, bluntly, as he mopped his brow, "you can give us the greatest help by making yourself scarce."

"Making myself scarce?" gasped the chaplain. "Why, how—?" "Yes, sir," broke in the sergeant; "you see, we can't very well say to the horses what they'd understand, while you are about!"

The War Spirit.

A fat "colored mammy" of the "old school" was hauled into court for throwing her washing board at her neighbor's husband, a "Georgia Cracker" of the "poor white trash" variety.

"Did you strike this man with a washboard?" Judge Broyles asked. "I s'pec' I did, yo honah."

"What was the provocation?" "We wuz discussin' wah, judge."

"Well—go on."

"We wuz talkin' 'bout dem Germings, an' John's bulls and dem Frenchmens, and he done said I was nutral, yo honah. I ain't gwine ter let no low-down white trash call me dat."

Case of Must.

"You're not smoking as much as you used to. Did your doctor order you to stop?"

"No, I'm a martyr to fashion."

"What's fashion got to do with smoking?"

"If you saw my wife's dressmaker and milliner bills you wouldn't ask such a foolish question."

Reminded.

"When the autumnal frosts touch the foliage with tints of red and yellow against the gray sky, doesn't that inspire you to thought?"

"It certainly does. The reds and yellows make me think of the job ahead of me tending the furnace, and the grays make me think of the dust when I sift the ashes."

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I. PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R. I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y. PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass. SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

Unromantic Ills.

Do you suppose the romantic per- sonages of the past suffered as we do from colds in the head and other kindred affections? Picture Cleopatra when preparing to apply the asp to her breast pausing in the proceedings to blow her nose violently. Fancy Antony stopping in his oration over the dead body of Caesar to sip a glass of water or to slip into his mouth a jubube lozenge from the sleeve pocket of his toga. Imagine Henry V, unable to breathe properly through his nose on account of a severe rhum con- tracted in the moisty trenches of Agincourt, adjusting his troops. "Once bore unto the breach, dear friends, once bore," or words to that effect. Or Juliet, languishing on her balcony, sneezing violently in the midst of her ardent responses to Romeo, because the nights had drawn in chill at Ve- rona and she was rather too lightly clad. Such ribald fancies are unthink- able. Before the snuffles Romance with averted face flits lightly away.

From the Latin.

The Russians, who were slightly in- fluenced by the Latin races, say that "dogs bark and the wind carries it away," but the French, Spaniards, Ger- mans and English, who have inherited more than they wish to acknowledge from ancient Rome, all agree that "barking dogs don't bite," and we have also in English the warning to "have a care for a silent dog and still water," which is clearly a free translation of the Latin original.

Work of Small Creatures.

It has been learned quite recently that the work of the earthworms is completed, not only by bacteria, fungi and algae, but also by count- less minute animal organisms, in- cluding nematodes or thread-worms, oligochetes, tardigrades or bear animalscules and rotatoria or wheel animalscules, which are worms less than one-fiftieth of an inch long.

Lots of city farmers make a special- ty of sowing wild oats.

If one doesn't believe that honesty is the best policy one should try it.

If You Do Not Sleep Well.

Should you be a restless sleeper, should sleep come to you only at fits and starts, try simple remedies, and do not plunge into narcotics or stimu- lants—at least not until the others have failed. A famous English physi- cian is quoted as saying, "I can cure the worst case of insomnia in this manner: When the patient has re- tired, give her a heaping bowl of bread and milk, with just a dash of salt to season it. This will draw the blood from the head to the stomach, it will quiet the nerves and put the entire body in a healthy glow, and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the patient falls into a healthy, rest- ful sleep. Another tasty dose to take which will induce sleep is a cold or- ange last before retiring. There are certain sedative as well as stimu- lating qualities in an orange, and it is probably one of the most effica- cious fruits that can be taken for this purpose.

Wear Furs of Necessity.

Throughout the cold latitudes of China during the winter the Chinese of all classes wear fur, wool or hair- lined garments. Even the coolies have their sheep or goat skins, and people of the middle and official classes have many sets of garments lined with the richest furs. Their houses are rarely heated to a comfort- able temperature, and in consequence they wear their furs both indoors and out.

Simply Showing Him.

"James, what are you doing to Wil- lie?" asked the schoolteacher. "He wanted to know if you take ten from fifteen how many would remain. So I took ten of his marbles to show him and now he wants them back." "Well, why don't you give them to him, then?" "Cuz he'd forget how many is left."

How we dislike the thoughtless per- son who always changes the subject of conversation when it's in our favor.

A good cook should be at the head of every provisional government.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed, a same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines. It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

English Founder of Turkish Navy.

The Turkish navy of the past owed almost its existence to an English sailor, Hobart Pasha, a bold buccaneer, who was born into the Victorian age. He retired from the English navy in 1863, and during the American war he became a blockade runner with hair-breadth escapes innumerable. After the war he entered the Turkish service, suppressed the Cretan rebellion by intercepting the supplies from Greece and then reorganised the Turkish fleet so well that the sultan appointed him marshal of the empire. Hobart Pasha also enjoyed the unique distinction of being twice struck off the British navy list for breach of the foreign enlistment act and twice reinstated there. And he died in 1886 with the rank of a British vice-admiral.

TURKEY'S RULER A SICK MAN

Sultan Must Feel Burdens of His High Office Press Heavily Upon His Shoulders.

The sultan of Turkey, Mohammed V, the head of Islam and the thirty-sixth ruler of the house of Osman, is sick. Once such a report would bring up visions of royal relatives mysteriously poisoned, bowstrung or dropped, bound and sacked, into the dark waters of the Bosphorus, and of fortune tellers, wizards and exorcisers crowding around the ailing sovereign's bedside. Now the people talk of prospective heirs and of regents, while the sultan's Christian ally commends him to Allah and sends his ablest physician. When the young Turks lifted Raschid Effendi upon the throne from which he had shoved his brother, Abdul Hamid, they dragged a man of sixty-five from a palace where he had been all his life scarcely more than a prisoner. In years of inactivity his body had grown big, big in width, breadth and length, a burden for his short legs. He was a sick man then. On the Selafik Fridays the chalky paleness of his heavy face and the dullness of his eyes were accentuated by the troops of young guardsmen in brilliant uniforms and the officers in glittering gold braid who surrounded him. The picture had in it more of pathos than imperialism. When he went to appeal to the loyalty of the Albanians on the field of Kassofo, Macedonia, he was the first Ottoman sovereign to visit his provinces on a mission of peace. But the Albanians, who had imagined the sultan had wings and few of humanity's frailties, were disappointed at the sight of the heavy, feeble man in a black frock coat, and the mission failed. He seemed to lack either the knowledge or the political force to combat the shrewd politicians around him, and he became merely a figurehead for the dominant party of the committee of union and progress. Many things may happen with the passing of this sick man. He may be the last of the Osmanli to rule in Europe; he may be the last to bear the honors and title of the caliphate. But he has been a part of the almost forlorn hope to restore the glories of the empire, and has lived to see a Turkish army with munitions of war and supplies making a desperate and so far successful attempt to hold the almost sacred Dardanelles against a great enemy.—New York Sun.

Wealth in India.

Immense fortunes in India are jewels, but there is no authoritative method of computation of the extent of this form of wealth. The Imperial Gazetteer of India described 50 years ago a shawl of pearls, with an arabesque border of diamonds, rubies, sapphires and emeralds, valued at $5,000,000. There are tales of carpets of pearls and great diamonds which have become world-famous.

It takes a conscientious man to enjoy his work if the remuneration is small.

In the last hundred years Great Britain has had a dozen different types of rifle.

Assisting Ambition

Men of ambition—with the desire to forge ahead—need revitalizing food to help them to compel success.

Grape-Nuts

is a success food. It is made from whole wheat and malted barley and, pound for pound, contains far more "go" and "get there" than ordinary foods.

It retains all the nutriment of the grains, including their natural mineral salts—Phosphate of Potash, etc., often lacking in ordinary food, but essential to thorough upbuilding of sinew, brain and nerves.

Grape-Nuts is partially pre-digested and agrees with all. It's the ideal vigor-food for child and adult.

Life of Big Guns.

Guns with a bore of 15 inches or more can only fire 30 full charges. They are then considered to be worn out, and have to be sent to the foundry to have a new core inserted.

The Sign.

"I wonder if the chestnut crop will be good this year?" "You can generally tell that by the fish stories."

Modern Life.

"Formerly a girl took pride in accumulating linen for her chest." "Well?" "Now she collects a lot of graphophone records."—Cincinnati Times Star.

More Laws.

"Why can't I come to see you to-morrow night?" "Don't blame me," said the beautiful girl. "Our cook has the use of the parlor under the new domestic relations law."

On Second Thought.

"Those men for whom you failed to get government positions were rather indignant?" "Only for a little while," replied Senator Sorghum. "Since they found how much more they can make in private employment they're honestly grateful."

The Way of It.

"Miss Gladys has a way of getting presents of diamond rings." "I suppose that is because her ways are such engaging ones."

The door of hope swings both ways.

It is. "Time is money." "Yep, but it's mighty tough if time is all you've got to spend."

In Spitzbergen the longest day lasts for three and a half months.

Man. "The Kaiser could have rid the world of flies, of mosquitoes, of consumption—he could almost have rid the world of disease—at less than what this war is costing him."

The speaker was Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. He continued: "But men are like that. It is only big, grand, heroic things that attract men."

"Alexander wept because he had no more world to conquer. But no man ever wept yet because there was no more coal to carry up or dishes to help his wife with."

SAVED MINISTER'S LIFE.

Rev. W. H. Warner, Frederick, Md., writes: "My trouble was Sciatica. My back was affected and took the form of Lumbago. I also had Neuralgia, cramps in my muscles, pressure or sharp pain on the top of my head and nervous dizzy spells. I had other symptoms showing that my Kidneys were at fault, so I took Dodd's Kidney Pills. They were the means of saving my life."

Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c per box at your dealer, or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for indigestion have been proved, 50c per box. Write for Household hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free.—Adv.

Waited for Orders. A drill foreman in Culebra cut sent a negro to the top of the mast on one of his drills to straighten out a rope which had slipped off the sheave. Just after the man went up the general foreman came along and talked about the job for half an hour. In the meantime the man on top of the drill was forgotten and after the general foreman left he was discovered still roosting on top of the mast. The foreman called to him: "Aren't you through up there yet?" "Oh, yes, sir, boss."

"Well, why don't you come down, then?" "You don't tell me to, sir."

A Giveaway.

"You seem to have a deep-rooted aversion to wrist watches." "You bet I have. Just suppose they should become so fashionable that we had to wear 'em. Every time a fellow pawned his watch the whole town would know it."

Their Use.

"What are diplomatic posts for?" "They seem at present to be chiefly for international hitches."

GOOD ENOUGH AS A SAMPLE

Quality of Helping Was All Right, but in Quantity It Left Much to Be Desired.

Jacky had been asked out to a "grown-up" dinner. Swelling with pride, he took his seat at the bottom of the table and looked round—slightly awestruck—at the imposing collection of aunts and uncles.

Then his attention became fixed on the ancient relative who was carving an enormous turkey, and his mouth watered as he saw the big helpings being handed round.

But the carver, who did not know much about little boys, cut off a tiny portion for Jacky.

"Is that the part of the bird you like, my little man?" he asked, as the servant handed Jack the plate.

Jack looked at it for a moment, and then handed it back.

"Yes," he said; "I'll have some of that, please."

Small Chance. "Do you ever expect to be married?" "Well, that depends. If I can find a girl with a million or two who doesn't want to be married for herself alone."

Those Dear Girls. Hazel—Harold tells me all he knows. Aimee—Indeed! Isn't the silence dreadfully oppressive at times?

Her Idea. "What's your idea of a flirt?" he asked. "Oh, every other girl," she replied.

Usually a Liberal One. "Pa, what is graft?" "Graft, my son, is a sort of tip pocketed by the servants of the people."

Love's Way.

"Of course, he hasn't any money, but Charlie says love will make a way."

"Yes, I noticed it will," said the father. "Thus it's made away with about twenty-eight dollars worth of electricity."

THE GOOD JUDGE ARRANGES TO GO BIRD SHOOTING

JUDGE SHOOTING IS GOOD NOW. ILL FURNISH GUNS AND THE THOROUGH BRED SETTER. YOU SUPPLY THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW FOR A HUNTING TRIP.

THAT'S A GO! YOU'RE ON FOR THURSDAY.

WHEN you're tramping all over creation after game, you don't want a big bunch of ordinary tobacco sweating in your hip pocket. There is tobacco satisfaction for two, and plenty of it, in the sweat-proof sanitary pouch of Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW REAL TOBACCO CHEW—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much. One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

SYNOPSIS.

Cazalet, on the steamer Kaiser Fritz, homeward bound from Australia, cries out in his sleep that Henry Craven, who ten years before had ruined his father and himself, is dead and that Hilton Toye, who shares the steamer with him, knows Craven and also Blanche Macnair, a former neighbor and playmate. When the daily papers come aboard at Southampton Toye reads that Craven has been murdered and calls Cazalet's dream second sight. He thinks of doing a little amateur detective work on the case himself. In the train to town they discuss the murder, which was committed at Cazalet's old home. Toye hears from Cazalet that Scruton, who had been Cazalet's friend and the scapegoat for Craven's dishonesty, has been released from prison. Cazalet goes down the river and meets Blanche.

"I wonder who can have done it!"

"So do the police, and they don't look much like finding out!"

"It must have been for his watch and money, don't you think? And yet they say he had so many enemies!"

Cazalet kept silence; but she thought he winced. "Of course it must have been the man who ran out of the drive," she concluded hastily. "Where were you when it happened, Sweep?"

Somewhat hoarsely he was recalling the Mediterranean movements of the Kaiser Fritz, when at the first mention of the vessel's name he was firmly beckled.

"Sweep, you don't mean to say you came by a German steamer?"

"I do. It was the first going, and why should I waste a week? Besides, you can generally get a cabin to yourself on the German line."

"So that's why you're here before the end of the month," said Blanche. "Well, I call it most unpatriotic; but the cabin to yourself was certainly some excuse."

"That reminds me!" he exclaimed. "I hadn't it to myself all the way; there was another fellow in with me from Genoa, and the last night on board it came out that he knew you!"

"Who can it have been?"

"Toye, his name was. Hilton Toye."

"An American man? Oh, but I know him very well," said Blanche in a tone both strained and cordial. "It's a great fun, Mr. Toye, with his delightful Americans, and the perfectly delightful way he says them!"

Cazalet puckered like the primitive man he was, when taken at all by surprise; and that anybody, much less Blanche, should think Toye, of all people, either "delightful" or "great fun" was certainly a surprise to him, if it was nothing else. Of course it was nothing else, to his immediate knowledge; still, he was rather ready to think that Blanche was blushing, but forgot, if indeed he had been in a fit state to see it at the time, that she had paid himself the same high compliment across the gate. On the whole, it may be said that Cazalet was ruffled without feeling seriously disturbed as to the essential issue which alone leaped to his mind.

"Where did you meet the fellow?" he inquired, with the suitable admixture of confidence and amusement.

"In the first instance, at Engleberg."

"Engleberg? Where's that?"

"Only one of those places in Switzerland where everybody goes nowadays for what they call winter sports."

She was not even smiling at his arrogant ignorance; she was merely explaining one geographical point and another of general information. A close observer might have thought her almost anxious not to identify herself too closely with a popular craze.

"I dare say you mentioned it," said Cazalet, but rather as though he was wondering why she had not.

"I dare say I didn't! Everything won't go into an annual letter. It was the winter before last—I went out with Betty and her husband."

"And after that he took a place down here?"

"Yes. Then I met him on the river the following summer, and found he'd got rooms in one of the Nell Gwynne Cottages, if you call that a place."

"I see."

But there was no more to see; there never had been much, but now Blanche was standing up and gazing out of the balcony into the belt of singing sunshine between the opposite side of the road and the invisible river across away.

"Why shouldn't we go down to Littleford and get out the boat if you're really going to make an afternoon of it?" she said. "But you simply must see Martha first; and while she's making herself fit to be seen, you must take something for the good of the house. I'll bring it to you on a lordly tray."

She brought him siphon, stoppered bottle, a silver biscuit-box of ancient memories, and left him alone with them some little time; for the young mistress, like her old retainer in another minute, was simply dying to make herself more presentable. Yet when she had done so, and came back like snow, in a shirt and skirt just home from the laundry, she saw that he did not see the difference. His devouring eyes shone neither more nor less; but he had also devoured every biscuit in the box, though he had begun by vowing that he had lunched in town, and stuck to the table still.

Old Martha had known him all his life, but best at the period when he used to come to nursery tea at Littleford. She declared she would have known him anywhere as he was, but she simply hadn't recognized him in that photograph with his beard.

"I can see where it's been," said Martha, looking him in the lower temperate zone. "But I'm so glad you've had it off, Mr. Cazalet."

"There you are, Blanche!" crowed Cazalet. "You said she'd be disappointed, but Martha's got better taste."

"It isn't that, sir," said Martha earnestly. "It's because the dreadful man who was seen running out of the drive, at your old home, he had a beard! It's in all the notices about him, and that's what's put me against them, and makes me glad you've had yours off."

Blanche turned to him with too ready a smile; but then she was really not such a great age as she pretended, and she had never been in better spirits in her life.

"You hear, Sweep! I call it rather lucky for you that you were—"

But just then she saw his face, and remembered the things that had been said about Henry Craven by the Cazalet's friends, even ten years ago, when she really had been a girl.

CHAPTER V.

An Untimely Visitor.

She really was one still, for in these days it is an elastic term, and in Blanche's case there was no apparent reason why it should ever cease to apply, or to be applied by every decent tongue except her own.

Much the best tennis-player among the ladies of the neighborhood, she drove an almost unbecomingly long ball at golf, and never looked better than when paddling her old canoe, or punting in the old punt. And yet, this wonderful September afternoon, she did somehow look even better than at either or any of those congenial pursuits, and that long before they reached the river; in the empty house, which had known her as baby, child and grown-up girl, to the companion of some part of all three stages, she looked a more lustrous and a lovelier Blanche than he remembered even of old.

But she was not really lovely in the least; that also must be put beyond the pale of misconception. Her hair was beautiful, and perhaps her skin, and, in some lights, her eyes, the rest was not. It was yellow hair, not golden, and Cazalet would have given all he had about him to see it down again as in the oldest of old days; but there was more gold in her skin, for so the sun had treated it; and there was even hint or glint (in certain lights, he it repeated) of gold mingling with the pure hazel of her eyes. But in the dusty shadows of the empty house, moving like a sunbeam across its bare boards, standing out against the discolored walls in the place of remembered pictures not to be compared with her, it was there that she was all golden and still girl.

They poked their noses into, and they had a laugh in every corner and so out upon the leafy lawn, shelving abruptly to the river. Last of all there was the summer schoolroom over the boat-house, quite apart from the house itself, scene of such safe yet reckless revels, in its very aura late Victorian!

It lay hidden in ivy at the end of a now neglected path; the bow-windows overlooking the river were framed in ivy, like three matted, whiskered, dirty, happy faces; one, with its lower sash propped open by a broken plant-pot, might have been grinning a toothless welcome to two once leading spirits of the place.

Cazalet whittled a twig and wedged that sash up altogether; then he sat himself on the sill, his long legs in-stove, particularly the drip-pan, should be wiped off every day with a soft piece of cheese cloth kept for the purpose. Of course care must be used not to allow food to boil over on the cooking surface or into the burners. This causes trouble even with a gas stove, and the burners of an oil stove are more work to clean than the gas burner.

Time to Look Out.

It's time to look out when a business will not bear looking into.

"Pope's Size."

A curious item in the trade slang of hostlers is the term "pope's size," applied to vests. They classify the scale of chest measurements for these as: Small men's, 32 inches; slender men's, 34 inches; men's, 36 inches; pope's, 39 inches; and get, 42 inches.

The origin of this term, which has been current for nearly a century, was discussed some years ago in Notes and Queries, when it was stated on good authority that it had no connection with the successors of St. Peter.

It appears that the head of an old firm of West end hostlers, Messrs Pope & Plante, ordered this size to be made specially for his own personal use, and the manufacturer called it after him for want of a better name.—London Chronicle.

Its Kind.

"That fellow has what I call paradoxical impudence."

"How do you mean?"

"He is always to the front with back talk."

Must Be.

"Smokeless powder has done away with the smoke of battle and these patent silencers have stilled the cannon's roar."

"Just so. And it is pretty rough on us descriptive writers, I can assure you."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Seizes Her Opportunities.

"The good business man turns everything—weather, war, crops—to practical use in his business."

The speaker was George W. Perkins, the millionaire of New York. He continued:

"Just as the clever girl turns everything to practical use toward getting settled in life, you know, I said the other day to a girl:

"Well, did you learn to swim this summer?"

"Oh, yes, she answered; 'seven times."

TROPICAL HURRICANE DEVASTATES THE SOUTH

Five hundred persons are believed to have lost their lives in the tropical hurricane that raged over the lower Mississippi valley. The extent of the tremendous damage wrought has not yet been fully calculated, but probably the figure will be well over $12,000,000. The upper photograph shows the wreckage of the railway depot and St. John's Rowing club buildings at West End, on Lake Pontchartrain near New Orleans. The lower photograph shows the wreck of a ferry boat, barge and gasoline boat at the Tugger landing on the Mississippi river.

JOINING THE ENDS OF HELL GATE BRIDGE

When the last girder of the 19,000-ton bridge over Hell Gate, New York city, was put into place recently, the largest, heaviest and most expensive structure of its kind in the world was nearly completed. The bridge, built for the New York Connecting railroad, is 1,017 feet long and its cost is $12,000,000.

VON HINDENBURG IN WOOD

This huge wooden statue of Field Marshal von Hindenburg was unveiled recently in Berlin in the presence of many notables. Its making required 52,000 pounds of alderwood. Gold, silver and iron nails are being driven into it by the donors to war hospital funds. The picture, taken during the unveiling ceremonies, shows a Zeppelin hovering overhead.

EXPLOSION SHATTERS OKLAHOMA TOWN

Many persons were killed or injured and great damage done to property in Ardmore, Okla., by the explosion of a tank car of gasoline and the resulting explosion of a quantity of dynamite in the railroad yards. This photograph of the east wall of the Whittington hotel shows how numerous buildings were shattered.

AS IT SEEMS TO US

A whole lot of girls go to the seashore simply for the purpose of being saved from drowning and marrying the husky guy who pulled them out of the suds.

Supremely Happy.

Lancaster—You ought to feel very happy, old fellow, now that you are married to Bondclippers' only daughter.

Benedict—I do. Why, it's just like catching a train I thought I was going to miss.—Puck.

DAIRY

DETECTION OF DIRT IN MILK

Sediment Test Shows Dairyman Degree of Cleanliness of Milk—Covered Pail is Favored.

The sediment test is the best method of detecting dirt in milk. This test should be used wherever milk is sold. It shows the dairyman the degree of cleanliness of his milk.

In order that as little dirt as possible may adhere to the cows, clip their udders, flanks and tails. All loose dust can be easily brushed off with the hands before milking. Do not allow anyone to milk wet, as this is a filthy practice.

The cows kept unsoiled on grass in a night pasture, while if they are kept in a dry barnyard the loose, dry manure will stick to their udders and bodies and drop into the pail. If kept in the barnyard in rainy weather it is almost impossible to milk them without first washing their udders.

A covered pail closed about two-thirds with a hood, will keep out at least 75 per cent of the dirt. These pails are just as convenient to use as the ordinary ones, and cost little more.

A strainer will not take out the fine sediment in milk, but is useful for taking out hair and other large foreign stuff and is good for detecting the dirty milk. One farmer uses a strainer made from an ordinary 14-quart tin dishpan. A five-inch hole is cut in the center of the bottom. A ring two inches wide and of the same diameter as the hole is soldered on, over which another ring slips to hold the strainer cloth. Huck toweling makes a very good strainer cloth. Such a strainer covers a factory can, preventing the milk from becoming exposed every time the can is opened.

All cans and utensils are washed and scalded every time used, and given their daily sun bath to keep them sweet.

FEW PRACTICAL DAIRY HINTS

Pure Food Laws Won't Worry If Only Clean, Wholesome Products Are Sent to the Markets.

When counting the by-products of the dairy, do not forget the skim milk allowed to clabber, of which the delicious Dutch or cottage cheese is made. When not all is needed on the home table, it can readily be disposed of at good prices.

Send out only clean, wholesome food products, then the pure food laws will have no worry for you.

Don't feed lice, get rid of them. If the stock has been cleanly kept, there will be no lice to get rid of. Very seldom is a cow or calf lousy when in good condition. Keep their stalls and premises clean, give wholesome feed and enough of it, and the cows will not raise lice.

A little corn or bran will not hurt the cows and will save many steps of getting up the cows to milk. Don't forget the salt at the regular time. Grass requires more salt than did the dry feed of winter.

Feed the calves enough to have them do well. Allow them the run of a grassy, shaded lot, and unless supplied naturally with water, be sure to keep some before them.

Too rich feed may give the young calf indigestion. Guard against this, as after once becoming out of fix, it is much harder to regulate. Keep them well and keep them growing. This is true of all young stock, the only way to make a profit of it is to keep it growing.

Ration for Dairy Cows.

The average grain ration for dairy cows should contain at least one pound of cottonseed meal, as feeding this material results in a firmer fat and harder butter. The greasy appearance in the butter is caused by the softness of the fat globules, and the addition of the cottonseed meal will remedy this matter.

Water for Calves.

Set a pail of water into the corner of your calves' pen. You will find they will drink when not more than two weeks old. They often get very thirsty during the long, hot days of summer.

Anticipate Profits.

The profits of a dairy cow can be anticipated and realized with a greater degree of surety than in any other one phase of farming.

Expensive Practice.

Keeping two cows to do the work of one is one of the most expensive things that a dairy farmer can do, yet many are doing it.

Place for Milking Cows.

It is best to milk the cows in a barn, even in hot weather.

CARING FOR THE OIL STOVE

Simple Matter If One Will Remember a Few Matters That Are Important.

The care of the oil stove, the modern blue-flame variety, is very simple. In the wickless type, the asbestos kindlers should be renewed every six weeks, as a general rule. Wicks in the stoves will last a season. A new wick should be put in about every six months if used all the year round.

They come all stretched on perforated metal cylinders.

Glass reservoirs and glass indicator tubes tell the height of the oil in the supply tank. Never let the oil run out. This is especially necessary in the wick stoves. The wickless stoves require to be set perfectly level in order to have an even height of flame on each burner. Cleaning up about the stoves is made much easier if the stove is equipped with one of the new enameled drip pans, which come with one type of stove. The surface of the stove, particularly the drip-pan, should be wiped off every day with a soft piece of cheese cloth kept for the purpose. Of course care must be used not to allow food to boil over on the cooking surface or into the burners. This causes trouble even with a gas stove, and the burners of an oil stove are more work to clean than the gas burner.
