SALOON ROBBED AT ELMORE

Robbers Take Between $17 and $20 From the Till of the Krueger Saloon at Elmore

Robbers entered the saloon of August Krueger at Elmore some time Monday night and secured between $17 and $20 from the till. They entered the saloon by forcing the door and the robbery was discovered by Mr. Krueger himself this morning, so it is known the robbery occurred between 9 o'clock Monday night and 4 o'clock this morning. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers. A few weeks ago the hall owned by Mr. Krueger, next door to the saloon was burned. The circumstances were so peculiar that it was thought at the time some one had set the fire.

The Man Who Came Back From

The War on Tuberculosis
By special arrangement and through the courtesy of local Modern Woodmen of the Opera House has been booked a reel of 1940 feet, featuring Robert Wilson of Missouri in a true and realistic finstury of his part in the present war—not of bloodshed—but in the fight against and conquest of that menacing monster of tuberculosis—tuberculosis. Wilson is one of the million members of the Modern Woodmen of America. Discovering that he is afflicted with the disease, he takes advantage of the modern methods, care and cure of the Sanatorium in maintained and operated by the society, free of charge to its members. For several years that fraternal institution has thus actively and effectively cooperated in the world-wide movement advocated by the Red Cross and medical authorities to stamp out the dread "white plague" and Wilson is the beneficiary of this Woodmen life-saving station. It is an intensely interesting and heart gripping story of the leave taking of wife and children. Weak in body and hopeless in mind he journeys to the beautiful Rocky Mountain Region near the foot of the Colorado, where, in the rarified climate and constant sunshine, at an altitude of 7,000 feet, he is destined to spend nine months at the foot of Mount Cedar, in the care of the most modern Sanatorium in the world. His experience in "chasing the cure," his absolute rest from all cares and labor, his gradual return to health and strength "hikes" among the fragrant pines and over the rocky trails of the U. S. forest reserve, leased by and adjoining the Sanatorium, result in his final return to family and friends, victorious over his foe. "The Man Who Came Back" is a thrilling and dramatic story—and absolutely true as well; indeed, his experience has been duplicated by nearly 2,000 of his fellow neighbors, who have already enjoyed the benefit of this justly celebrated institution. This film is pronounced by competent authorities to be one of the very best in this highly-developed age of motion pictures, and is in such great demand that it is booked for only one day and night in each town or city. It is a rare opportunity one can not afford to miss. At the Opera House on Sunday, Nov. 14th at the hours of 8 p. m.

HILL'S STORE NEWS

HITCH TO THE HOUSE OF HILL'S

What's in a Name?

THIS question you often hear. There is everything in a name, we may answer. When you buy an article of merchandise, the chances are two to one that you look for the name of the store, or the name of the maker. The fact of a particular name on your merchandise, is sufficient guarantee as to its quality. If the quality merchandise has always been sold by a firm, that name has been made valuable. Alone the name sells the goods without any other argument, because you know that this store gives the very best for the money.

Thus you see the value of HILL'S name on your package or your garments. This STORE is built on the reputation for QUALITY MERCHANDISE and GOOD SERVICE that has become famous for miles around.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

SUFFRAGISTS TAKE "LITTLE WHITE HOUSE"

Cameron house, in Washington, sometimes called the "Little White House," because so many famous people have occupied it, which has been rented by the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage as its headquarters for the great suffrage rally to be held in Washington beginning the day congress convenes and lasting for a week or more. This house is just across Lafayette square from the White House. The "Little White House" will be the scene of many conferences, mass meetings and social functions during suffrage week, and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, whose portrait is inserted, has already arranged to hold a big reception there on the evening of the day that congress convenes.

FOR ANOTHER WINTER CAMPAIGN

During the cold weather the new sleeping bags of sheepskin will be a great boon to the soldiers of the allied troops. The lower photograph shows one of the men comfortably incased. The upper photograph shows how the bags are examined and folded before shipment. Urgent calls for more and more of such bags are made in England.

Valuable Chinese Coins.

An American, who recently arrived in Peking from the far interior of China, had with him when he reached Peking a string of copper coins with holes through the center such as he had been using on his journey. The whole string, two feet in length, was deemed to be worth about ten or fifteen cents, for the coins were only the ordinary "cash" in current use in the province of Shensi, from which the traveler came; but upon examination by a member of the American legation who knows the Chinese language it was found that some bore the marks of emperors as far back as the year 284 B. C. On the string were "cash" representing every reign since the beginning of the Ming dynasty, and even the dynasties that precede the latter.

New Japanese Industry.

The establishment of blast furnaces at Penhsu, Manchuria, China, by a Japanese company, the Penhsu Colliery and Mining company, may be the beginning of a great industry. The hills northeast of that center are known to contain large deposits of iron ore, while coal and lime are abundant and water power easily developed. The producing capacity of the furnaces is planned to be 150 tons per day. One furnace has already been put into blast, and the product is being shipped to Kobe, Japan.

DAIRY FACTS

RULES FOR FILLING A SILO

Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station Offers Some Excellent Suggestions on the Work.

To farmers who are filling silos this year for the first time, the Iowa agricultural experiment station offers these suggestions:

The corn should be cut when the kernels are dented, or when about a fourth of the husks and lower leaves are turning brown. It should be as near maturity as possible and yet contain enough moisture to insure fermentation.

Either a half-inch of three-quarter-inch cut is best because that length insures less waste and a larger pack of corn in the silo.

Slow filling makes it possible to pack the corn more thoroughly and get in a larger tonnage. With rapid filling the cost is less, but to fill to capacity the silage should be allowed to settle and then refill.

Corn should be uniformly packed in the silo and with good distribution of stalks and ears. If the sides are kept about two feet higher than the center, the silage wedges against the sides, keeps in the heat of fermentation and kills molds.

Water needs to be added when filling if the corn in the silo is not moist. Water must always be added when the corn is very ripe, when the corn is severely frozen before it is properly matured, or when filling late in the fall with shocked corn.

Keep the sides of the silo air-tight by filling cracks with soft clay, if the silo is wooden, or with cement if of masonry.

USEFUL MILK BOTTLE HOLDER

Corrugated Strips Riveted to Intermediate Frame Hold Narrow-Necked Vessels in Position.

ate frame is secured to the corner angles. A longitudinal bar is riveted to the middle frame near the center. Corrugated strips are riveted to the intermediate frame and the longitudinal bar, these holding the milk bottles in place by acting as side supports. Various deviations of the main idea are covered with three other patents.

SERIOUS DISEASE OF CALF

White Scours Usually Appear Within Two or Three Days After and Are Often Fatal.

White scours, or calf cholera, come on so soon after birth that often the calves are dead before they are considered to be seriously sick.

This disease usually appears within two or three days after the calf is dropped. Seldom do any cases develop after the calf is two or three months old.

The symptoms are usually failure to eat, the calf lying down much of the time, the eyes grow dull, and a peculiar pasty white excretion is noticeable. The calf often dies within 24 hours. Only immediate attention will save it.

The disease is usually contracted by infection through the navel cord. Prevention is better than cure.

HORSE LABOR IS NECESSARY

Many Important Factors Can Be Controlled by Manager in Making Dairy Farming Successful.

Horse labor is a necessary item on the dairy farm and should command much attention from the manager. If its efficiency drops the profits of the farm are decreased, and the profits from the cows must bear a loss in the horse-labor item. It is seen then that successful dairying is not making a success with cows alone, but profitably combining a number of factors. Man, labor and crop yields per acre are other important factors that can be controlled to a considerable extent by the manager.

Flavor of Milk Affected.

The odor and flavor of milk are very readily affected by rape, cabbage, turnips and other feeds having strong odors, and if these are used they should be given after milking, in which case there is little danger of imparting an unpleasant flavor or odor to the milk.

Demand for Dairy Butter.

There is always a good local demand for really good farm dairy butter. There is a sentiment connected with homemade butter, which is not attached to that made in butter factories, which impels people to buy it at something above the going price.

Damage to Milk.

Milk is damaged by dirt and bacteria. To be fit for use, milk must be clean. Any clean man can produce clean milk.

Keep Separator Clean.

Be sure the separator is kept clean. Cream is too valuable to have it injured in quality by the separator. Wash the bowl after each separation.

Use of Salt.

Salt in the feed lot; money in the pocket.

CALLED FOR MORE SECURITY

Baggage Carried by United States Senator Did Not Satisfy Colored "Overseer" of Hotel.

Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas tells this one on himself:

"I had an appointment to speak at a town in Eastern Arkansas on a Saturday, and I arrived on a late train the night before, carrying nothing but a small handbag. I went to a hotel near the depot. There was no one on duty at the hour, except the night porter, and he was acting as porter, clerk and general overseer. I registered, and he showed me to a room; but in a few minutes he came back and said:

"Boss, my 'struction is, when a gemman haven't any baggage, to collect in advance."

Lloyd's Misty History.

Now that Mr. McKenna is looking to Lloyd's for a substantial contribution to the revenue from war profits, it is interesting to recall that the greatest maritime institution in the world is named, not after a financier or shipowner, but after a humble coffee-house keeper. Of Lloyd's history, says the London Chronicle, little is known beyond the fact that he kept a coffee house in Lombard street at the beginning of the eighteenth century, which, from its proximity to the Royal exchange, came to be the favorite assembling place of the underwriters.

The first mention of his house occurs in a poem, "The Wealthy Shopkeeper," published in 1700:

Stop That Backache!

There's nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. You are lame when you awake. Pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to rest and next day it's the same old story. SUFFRAGISTS TAKE "LITTLE WHITE HOUSE"

Cameron house, in Washington, sometimes called the "little white house," because so many famous people have occupied it, which has been rented by the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage as its headquarters for the great suffrage rally to be held in Washington beginning the day congress convenes and lasting for a week or more. This house is just across Lafayette square from the White House. The "little white house" will be the scene of many conferences, mass meetings and social functions during suffrage week, and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, whose portrait is inserted, has already arranged to hold a big reception there on the evening of the day that congress convenes.

Valuable Chinese Coins.

An American, who recently arrived in Peking from the far interior of China, had with him when he reached Peking a string of copper coins with holes through the center such as he had been using on his journey. The whole string, two feet in length, was deemed to be worth about ten or fifteen cents, for the coins were only the ordinary "cash" in current use in the province of Shensi, from which the traveler came; but upon examination by a member of the American legation who knows the Chinese language it was found that some bore the marks of emperors as far back as the year 284 B. C. On the string were "cash" representing every reign since the beginning of the Ching dynasty, many of the Ming dynasty, and even the dynasties that precede the latter.

New Japanese Industry.

The establishment of blast furnaces at Penhsiu, Manchuria, China, by a Japanese company, the Penhsiu Colliery and Mining company, may be the beginning of a great industry. The hills northeast of that center are known to contain large deposits of iron ore, while coal and lime are abundant and water power easily developed. The producing capacity of the furnaces is planned to be 150 tons per day. One furnace has already been put into blast, and the product is being shipped to Kobe, Japan.

RULES FOR FILLING A SILO

Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station Offers Some Excellent Suggestions on the Work.

To farmers who are filling silos this year for the first time, the Iowa agricultural experiment station offers these suggestions:

The corn should be cut when the kernels are dented, or when about a fourth of the husks and lower leaves are turning brown. It should be as near maturity as possible and yet contain enough moisture to insure fermentation.

Either a half-inch of three-quarter-inch cut is best because that length insures less waste and a larger pack of corn in the silo.

Slow filling makes it possible to pack the corn more thoroughly and get in a larger tonnage. With rapid filling the cost is less, but to fill to capacity the silage should be allowed to settle and then refill.

Corn should be uniformly packed in the silo and with good distribution of stalks and ears. If the sides are kept about two feet higher than the center, the silage wedges against the sides, keeps in the heat of fermentation and kills molds.

Water needs to be added when filling if the corn in the silo is not moist. Water must always be added when the corn is very ripe, when the corn is severely frozen before it is properly matured, or when filling late in the fall with shocked corn.

Keep the sides of the silo airtight by filling cracks with soft clay, if the silo is wooden, or with cement if of masonry.

SERIOUS DISEASE OF CALF

White Scours Usually Appear Within Two or Three Days After and Are Often Fatal.

White scours, or calf cholera, come on so soon after birth that often the calves are dead before they are considered to be seriously sick.

This disease usually appears within two or three days after the calf is dropped. Seldom do any cases develop after the calf is two or three months old.

The symptoms are usually failure to eat, the calf lying down much of the time, the eyes grow dull, and a peculiar pasty white excretion is noticeable. The calf often dies within 24 hours. Only immediate attention will save it.

The disease is usually contracted by infection through the navel cord. Prevention is better than cure.

HORSE LABOR IS NECESSARY

Many Important Factors Can Be Controlled by Manager in Making Dairy Farming Successful.

Horse labor is a necessary item on the dairy farm and should command much attention from the manager. If its efficiency drops the profits of the farm are decreased, and the profits from the cows must bear a loss in the horse-labor item. It is seen then that successful dairying is not making a success with cows alone, but profitably combining a number of factors. Man, labor and crop yields per acre are other important factors that can be controlled to a considerable extent by the manager.

Flavor of Milk Affected.

The odor and flavor of milk are very readily affected by rape, cabbage, turnips, and other feeds having strong odors, and if these are used they should be given after milking, in which case there is little danger of imparting an unpleasant flavor or odor to the milk.

Demand for Dairy Butter.

There is always a good local demand for really good farm dairy butter. There is a sentiment connected with homemade butter, which is not attached to that made in butter factories, which impels people to buy it at something above the going price.

Damage to Milk.

Milk is damaged by dirt and bacteria. To be fit for use milk must be clean. Any clean man can produce clean milk.

Keep Separator Clean.

Be sure the separator is kept clean. Cream is too valuable to have it injured in quality by the separator. Wash the bowl after each separation.

Cost of Dress in Days of Old.

We have wandered away from the old plan of making gowns last for generations; but, then, the brocades were simply everlasting, says a fashion correspondent. Nor do we demand of our clothes that they should serve from season to season; we can have no standbys. We read in the chronicles of old families of some rich dresses lasting a lifetime and descending to a daughter. Elizabeth, the virgin queen, introduced much extravagance in costume which the chroniclers did not forget and rather amplified. But none of the Stuart queens left, as did Queen Bess, one hundred gowns and more in her wardrobe of hand-woven and exquisite materials, richly embroidered, with jewels intermixed.

Excellent Substitute.

In the good old days which poets praise there were in the average village few bathtubs and not many calendars. But the absence of the former made up in a measure for the paucity of the latter. Any prominent citizen going home in the evening and noticing the residence of one of our first families trembling like the fabled aspen, would readily recognize the symptoms. He would know beyond the peradventure of a doubt that the time was Saturday night and the cause was Elihu or Irving or Zach enduring his weekly bath by the kitchen stove, standing up in a tub and shivering until the whole house shook, while he gave himself a lick and a promise.—Kansas City Star.

Washington Warns Britain to Keep Within Law.

BLOCKADE IS INDEFENSIBLE

England Told That America Will No Longer Submit to Trespass Upon Its Rights—Must Not Molest Trade.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Solemn warning to Great Britain that the United States will not further submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights, which has been the effect of the allies' blockade of Germany since March 11, is contained in the note that Great Britain made public by the state department.

After declaring that the United States "cannot with complacency suffer further subordination of its rights and interests," the note serves notice in the following paragraph that Great Britain will be held to the enforcement of the letter of international law.

Defending Neutral Rights. That the United States has taken upon itself the task of defending the rights of all neutral nations against the British program of seizing and holding up merchant vessels at will is indicated in this paragraph.

Deals With Contraband Question. The note itself is divided into thirty-five points, dealing with all phases of the contraband question, seizure and detentions, and announces that a separate communication will be sent soon dealing particularly with the "propriety and right of the British government to include in their list of contraband of war certain articles which have been so included."

is cited, in which it is stated that it is not necessary to remove every package of a ship's cargo to establish the character and nature of her trade."

Certain points deal with new procedure in the prize courts, the effect of which the United States complains is "to subject traders to risk of loss, delay and expense so great and so burdensome as to practically destroy much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries of Europe."

Maintains Right of Sale. Whatever may be the conjectural conclusions drawn from trade statistics, the United States maintains the right to sell goods into the general stock of a neutral country, and denounces as illegal and unjustifiable any attempt of a belligerent to interfere with that right on the ground that it suspects that the previous supply of such goods in the neutral country, which the imports renew or replace, has been sold to an enemy.

In view of these considerations the United States announces that it has no other course but to contest seizures of vessels at sea upon conjectural suspicion and the practice of bringing them into port for the purpose of obtaining evidence, for the purpose of justifying prize proceedings, or of breaches of the order in council of March 11, relying upon the regard for the principles of justice so frequently and uniformly manifested prior to the present war.

Mistake Neutral Trade. After more than six months application of the blockade order, the note says the experience of American citizens has convinced the government of the United States that Great Britain has been unsuccessful in her efforts to distinguish between enemy and neutral trade.

The government of the United States has viewed with surprise and concern, the attempt of his majesty's government to confer upon the British prize court's jurisdiction by this illegal exercise of force in order that these courts may apply to vessels and cargoes of neutral nationalities, seized on both high seas, municipal laws and orders which can only rightfully be enforceable within the territorial waters of Great Britain, or against vessels of British nationality when on the high seas.
