HIGH SCHOOL VICTORIOUS IN DOUBLE HEADER

Boys and Girls Both Win From Campbellsport High in Interesting Games

The Kewaskum High School Boys' and Girls' basketball teams defeated the Campbellsport High School Boys' and Girls' teams in the local Opera House last week Friday evening by a score of 35 to 10 and 11 to 4, respectively. The local teams entered the contest with one express purpose in view, that of winning the games with the spirit of playing real basketball, and took the lead from the start, and at no time were in danger of losing.

There is no doubt that the teams would have played to a packed house, were it not for the fact that the inclement weather and bad roads cut the attendance down. As it was the attendance was comparatively small and the gate receipts left no profit above expenses.

The high school boys team has lost but one game during their seasons playing, that game being with Brillion at the latter place a few weeks ago. This is the best basketball record thus far established by any boys team of the local school. It is hoped that the good work will continue.

The girls can proudly boast of not having lost any game in the history of their basketball career. This is a record of which few schools throughout the Union can lay claim to. The girls challenge all teams who claim the state championship, and are confident in defeating the best of them.

The City Girls basketball team will play the Milwaukee County Specials on the local floor, next week Friday evening. This will be their last game of the season. Everyone should make it a point to attend, for a good, fast and exciting game is in sight.

Nauman Case in County Court

The large number of witnesses in the case of probating the will of Frank Naumann of Scott, necessitated the hearing of the case in the circuit court room.

The session began at nine o'clock Thursday morning before Judge Krez. The first witnesses were J. W. Lieberstein, who drew the will, and L. E. Kaiser, who witnessed it. Both swore that the will was legally drawn and witnessed.

Mesdames Mabel Vollmar and Lillian Gage of Chicago and Daniel Naumann, niece and a nephew of the deceased, testified that Mr. Nauman had a very violent temper and was a peculiar acting man. At times he would leave the table with any cause, go out of doors, wave his hands and talk incoherently. That he often arose in the middle of the night, walk the floor, talk to himself and act as though his mind were unbalanced.

The case grows out of the bequests made in the will of the deceased in which he left an estate of approximately $10,000 in notes and mortgages. $1,000 was left to Mrs. Edwin Koch with whom the case is pending. $1,000 to Joseph Schroeter, who acted as nurse for the deceased during his last days; $5,000 to the Town of Scott for the construction of good roads, and $2,500 for the erection of a monument.

About 19 or 20 farmers have already signed their intention of joining the association and as the membership will be limited to about twenty-six, it has been urged that those who intend to join send in their name at the earliest possible time.

H. C. Scaries, state organizer for the Wisconsin Dairymen's association will be present at the meeting. Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

LETTER FROM ST. PETERSBURG, FLORIDA

Chas. E. Krahn, Who is Touring The South, Sends Interesting Data on Sunshine State

The former editor and proprietor of the Statesman, Chas. E. Krahn, sends us a letter from the "Sunny South" which contains a brief summary of his trip through the land of perpetual sunshine. At present he is at St. Petersburg, Florida, and wants the home paper sent to him, as rews from the old home town is mighty interesting to one who has long ways from home and among total strangers. Mr. Krahn will spend a week at St. Petersburg and from there will go to Jacksonville. After that he will make all short stops.

Friend Chas spent three weeks at Tampa, Florida, and on his homeward trip he expects to visit Lakeland and Orlando and take the boat up the St. John's river to Jacksonville. St. Petersburg is twenty miles across the bay from Tampa and is an extensive tourist town. They estimated the number of tourists there this season at 30,000. Chas. says the Philadelphia base ball team is training at St. Petersburg and he sees them in action nearly every day. He expects to be home about May 1. Following is a brief summary of St. Petersburg: St. Petersburg is situated on the southernmost point of the Pinellas Peninsula, 270 miles south of Jacksonville, has the most even climate of any other section of the state. The average temperature for the past six years has been 72 degrees and the average rainfall for the same length of time has been 46.73 inches.

Fanned by soft winds which blow from Gulf and Bay, tempering the warmth of summer and banishing winter's chill; with rights cool and pleasant for sweet, refreshing sleep; with almost every day an "outdoors" day; and with the purest artesian water for drinking, it is no wonder that physical well-being rises to the highest mark in St. Petersburg. The city has an excellent system of sanitation, health rules are rigidly enforced, and streets, alleys and grounds are kept in an admirably neat and clean condition. The population of this city is 13,812 inhabitants. St. Petersburg has 48 miles of brick streets, 90 miles of cement sidewalks, 24 miles of sewer, 20 miles of trolley lines, 8 beautiful parks, Municipal waterworks, Municipal gas plant, Municipal Incinerator, paid fire department and automobile fire trucks. Commissioned by the government, Municipal pier 40 feet wide, built to 12 feet of water, Yacht basin and harbor, Commercial harbor, Electric light plant, Golf course and country club house.

To Organize Cow Testing Association

A cow testing association will be organized at Eden at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, or immediately following the town caucus, which will take place at 1 o'clock that afternoon.

Preliminary arrangements are to the effect that each member of the association will pay $2 a month. This will provide for having each herd of cows of not more than thirty tested once each month by an inspector.

The money paid by each member will go toward paying the expenses of the tester.

About 19 or 20 farmers have already signed their intention of joining the association and as the membership will be limited to about twenty-six, it has been urged that those who intend to join send in their name at the earliest possible time.

H. C. Scaries, state organizer for the Wisconsin Dairymen's association will be present at the meeting. Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Backhaus Farm Sold

Oscar Backhaus has sold his eighty acre farm one and one-half miles north of Campbellsport to Charles Schultz of Horizon for $5,000. The deal was made through a local agency. Mr. Schultz has also acquired the personal property on the farm for $1,000.

Mr. Backhaus who is a well known resident of the locality, has bought a blacksmith shop at Horizon, Dodge county, where he will move on or about April 1. Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

AN EIGHT WEEKS' TRIP ON WASHINGTON COUNTY ROADS "THE FARMER ON THE SIDE ROAD"

"What good will a hard road do me if it doesn't run by my place?"

This is the question which inevitably comes from the farmer on the side road when he is asked to support a movement for permanent construction of the main highways in his county. He has an undoubted right to ask this question, since he is a part of the county's citizenship. He has an undoubted right to an answer which really answers his question because, under our system of taxation, he will be required to pay on the same basis as the man whose farm faces the road to be improved.

At first glance this would appear as unequal taxation since the road on which the money is to be spent does not run by his place. But this is an apparent injustice only; it is not real. Our system of taxation has been worked out, so far as we have gone, along lines of equal justice to all. It is only in the application of funds raised by fair taxation that unfairness apparently begins in this matter of road improvement.

On this trip the seventh we have taken over our county roads, our main object, then, is to convey an answer to the farmer on the side road—an answer that will really answer a question which he has an undoubted right to ask. And in conveying this answer we are going to assume that all he wants is an honest, straight forward presentation of the facts in the case that he is asking the question not as an objector, but as a citizen who is acting within his rights and duties in requiring a clear statement of the matter before his support in favor of the enterprise is given.

One point we desire to make at the outset is that roads are not improved to increase land values. Roads are improved primarily to lessen difficulties in hauling farm products to market, to save time and wear on teams and harness or automobiles, and to avoid further expense in road repairs. Too often the idea prevails with the man on the side road that because the proposed hard road will not run by his place he will have no other way of sharing in the increased farm land values, although he will be taxed at the same ratio as the man on the main road. This idea that the only way to get returns for money spent on roads is through increased land values is erroneous. True, the permanent removal of difficulties in reaching market makes a farm worth more, but because it can produce more, it can be marketed more readily and with a greater degree of ease and certainty regardless of weather conditions. This being true, the marketing difficulties in the way of the farmer on the side road are removed as surely for him as the road he strikes the main road as they are for the farmer whose land fronts on a main road. He must necessarily connect at some point on the way to town, and from the point where he does connect he shares equally with his neighbors in the advantages gained being able to travel back and forth with greater speed and easier pull on his teams or motor truck.

If the man on the side road stops to consider, as he should, that a hard road, even though he may have to drive a mile or so to reach it, makes money for him in the time it saves, that the lessened strain on his teams or motor truck and consequent reduction of loss by breakage or reduced gasoline and tire expense will more than repay the 8% or 9% he would pay for the road, he would pay as his approximate share of the cost of the road, he will not be so deeply concerned whether his land has been increased in value or not. He will see that he has decreased his hauling expense to an extent that will more than cover his proportion of the cost of the new road, and that should be his main concern. Any other advantage that may result, either in the increased value of his land, or in the pleasure afforded by closer communication with his neighbors will be just that much extra dividend.

Another thing: When our main roads have been paved as now proposed the work will have been done well and further expense for repairs, such as we are now being forced to make, will be practically eliminated. What we are now paying for annual repairs on our main roads may then be expended in securing better drainage and grading on our side roads. In this way our entire system of highways if the county will be improved.

Our townships have spent during the last ten years $94,779 for roads, practically all of which has gone to keep up these same roads which we now propose to improve with a permanent surface. Is it not clear that if we make these roads permanent we can give more attention to the improvement of the side roads? Furthermore, these side roads get only a light traffic, and we can therefore more than make better condition with the same money than we can our main traveled roads as they now stand.

Of course, the farmer who has not yet begun to figure that his time is worth so much per day, this argument will not appeal, no matter where he lives. Neither will it appeal to the man who objects simply because he is by nature against any improvement which is going to cost money, and who cloaks his opposition to any progress under the only apparently plausible excuse he can find, that he should not be asked to aid in paying for a road which is a mile or so away from his farm. He would be just as consistent were he to oppose the building of a schoolhouse, because the structure would be several miles away from his farm, or that he should not be required to pay a school tax because he is a bachelor.

But this argument should not doubt will appeal to the man on the side road who is public spirit enough to appreciate an opportunity to work heartily in conjunction with his neighbors for the permanent improvement of his community. There is much in being fire spirited, and something of the sort should be spirit which actuated our fathers in their "log rolling," "house raising and corn husking days," if applied to our road building now, would introduce a new epoch in our history. In good citizenship, there are no side roads.

This concludes our seventh trip since good roads will affect everybody in town or country, our next trip will be on "Roads and the Man in Town." While on these concluding trips, we shall be glad to hear from any one who has an honest doubt as to whether or not the road support which we are now proposing. As stated at the outset, on the main point there is no division. We all realize that we must have better roads. How to get them is where the only difference arises, and where we welcome every opportunity to argue this matter out fairly and squarely among ourselves. In the meantime, "Roads and the Man in Town" next week. Stick with us to the finish when we get to New Roads and New Days in Washington County you'll be glad you stuck, for its going to be a regular "humdinger." There'll be "some speed" on this last lap you can depend on that.

LYCEUM COURSE WELL RECEIVED MONDAY EVENING

Last Number of Lecture Course Draws Big Crowd. Home Talent Participates

The last number of the Lecture Course held in the Opera House last Monday evening, under the auspices of the Kewaskum Woman's Club, was largely attended, and the program as rendered was well received and enjoyed by all present.

Too much praise cannot be given on all the members who took part in the evening's entertainment. The impersonations and humorous readings of Miss Flora Prentiss, clearly demonstrated her ability as a reciter, and kept the audience in a high pitch of interest throughout her entire performance. The vocal solo rendered by Mrs. Alvin Backus, together with the piano duet given by the Misses Edna Guth and Lazetta Schaefer, were rendered in a splendid manner, making the program one of a social and enjoyable nature.

The Kewaskum Woman's Club certainly is deserving of the highest compliments of all the citizens of this community in their choice of this year's lecture course. Beginning the first in line to successfully manage, both socially and financially, a course in this village. And it is hoped that they will continue the good work in future years.

A Bilious Attack

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

PAYS FOR 160 ACRES OF LAND

From the Crop of Wheat on 53 Acres in Western Canada.

This story of paying for your land out of one year's crop is fully authenticated by a great many farmers in Western Canada.

And now, all that the farmer makes in velvet and you find him going more extensively into stock raising, for all authorities agree that in a short time there will be a demand for live stock, such as even will tax the vast resources of Western Canada. They will go into stock raising because of the adaptability of the country to provide food and fodder without feeding grain if necessary. They will go into stock and improve their places. They will install steam and heating plants—in fact, many are now doing it. They will have automobiles, in fact in many districts there is not a farmer but has one. They will beautify their homes and erect fine barns until the whole country will be as attractive as many of the counties in the best states in the Union. But we started out to tell you of the farmer who paid for 160 acres of land from the crop of wheat off of 53 acres. The Holden district on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific does not appear to be the ordinary observer to be any better than many other districts along that line, and probably isn't. It was in this district that John Larcome, a settler, purchased in 1915 160 acres of raw prairie land. He broke and seeded 53 acres. His crop turned out well, and he sold the greater portion of it for $2,970. His land cost him $16.50 per acre, or $2,640. So that the crop from the 53 acres paid for the land and left a balance of over $300, which with part of the crop left over would just pay for the cost of operation. This is not really an unusual case, hundreds of other farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan having been able to do the same.

Sales of land are being reported from many districts in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at good prices. And values are yet low, but with the dow of any value that will take place after the war, no doubt they will be considerably increased. The homesteads in the Park sections which are to be had actually free are having the attention of a good class of settlers, who want to go into mixed farming.—Advertisement.

THE 3 D'S IN DODD'S

Mr. Robert W. Ferguson, Hingham, Mass., writes: "I suffered from kidney disorder for years. Had incessant backache and trouble. Nearly died from it at one time while in Vancouver, but overcame it by a persistent use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Finally I was completely cured. I occasionally use the remedy now in order to keep the kidneys regulated. I have the highest praise for Dodd's. ## FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

PLOTTERS HELP FLEEING SAILORS

Two Germans Drowned in Dash for Liberty.

TO ARE REPORTED AT LARGE

Teutons Who Escaped From Interned Raiders Reported to Be Well Supplied With Money—Troops Guard Prisoners.

Philadelphia, March 21.—It became known that the German sailors who escaped from the interned raiders Prinz Eitel Friedrich and the Kronprinz Wilhelm last night had a list of outside conspirators who were ready to aid them and that they had been supplied with thousands of dollars to finance their escape.

It now is believed that other members of the crew had escaped before the discovery of the plot.

All the interned sailors still at League Island are to be removed at once.

Believe Ten Men at Large. The Philadelphia detective bureau is responsible for the statement that from three to ten members of the crews got away in the dash for liberty at night. Four sailors were captured.

Nothing can be learned from government officials at the navy yard, where the two ships are interned, but the detectives believe that ten men are at large. They swam 300 yards across a channel to the shore.

The dash was made under cover of darkness, and when search was made at daylight the police found an interesting collection of property. It included ten life preservers marked with the initials of the two cruisers, three discarded uniforms and a dagger.

They also found civilian clothing inclosed in oilskin bags, and this, it is suspected, was placed on the shore by accomplices of the escaping men.

The police say that each of the men captured had ten new $10 bills pinned to his undershirt.

Report Officer Drowned. Washington, March 21.—Lieutenant Chorth and Machinist Mate Hermann Schroder of the German interned crews at Philadelphia navy yards are believed to have been drowned in an attempt to escape. Eight other men who escaped at the same time are reported to have been captured by companies of marines and the Philadelphia police. These are in addition to the four who were reported as having failed to escape.

Fourteen men were concerned in the attempt to escape. Officials feel certain that the dash was known to the German officers and that the men, led by Lieutenant Chorth, made it with the sanction of the commanders. What their purpose was can only be left to speculation.

Von Schoen in U. S. In connection with the coup it may or may not be significant that Baron von Schoen, a former attache of the German embassy, transferred to Mexico before the break with Berlin, recently has been reported traveling in the United States.

In the light of the present situation and all the circumstances the presence of a German diplomatic agent abroad in the country is looked upon with some concern. The prospect of German sailors at large also is regarded with apprehension.

All the men interned at Philadelphia are to be transferred this week to Forts McPherson and Oglethorpe, Ga., where they will be kept in stockades and guarded by troops of the Seventeenth Infantry.

Troops to Guard Crews. El Paso, Tex., March 21.—The Seventeenth United States Infantry left here for Fort Oglethorpe and Fort McPherson, Ga., where they will guard interned German sailors. The headquarters and nine companies were ordered to Fort McPherson and the remaining six companies to Fort Oglethorpe.

FRENCH WARSHIP IS SUNK

Berlin Says Vessel Was Torpedoed by Submarine in the Mediterranean.

Berlin, March 21.—A large French battleship of the Danton class was sunk by a German submarine in the Mediterranean. It was officially announced.

A German submarine commanded by Lieutenant Captain Morath on March 19, in the western Mediterranean, sank a large French battleship of the Danton class, protected by destroyers," the statement said. "The line ship was running a zig-zag course immediately after being hit, but listed heavily and capsized 45 minutes later."

London, March 21.—Nearly all the district governors and officials in Finland voluntarily resigned when they heard of the revolution, and little opposition was shown anywhere toward the new order of things, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to Reuter's quoting the Berlingske Tidende.

A REAL ANSWER AT LAST!

SENATE KILLS PACT MORE U. S. WARSHIPS

TREATY WITH COLOMBIA WITHDRAWN BY CHAIRMAN STONE.

Believed New Plan More Acceptable to Republicans Will Be Offered Next Session.

Washington, March 19.—The treaty with Colombia, to pay $25,000,000 for the partition of Panama was withdrawn from the senate on Friday on motion of Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee.

Senator Stone's action was taken to foreshadow further diplomatic negotiations with Colombia for a new treaty, which would not be received with such strong objections. An effort to frame a more acceptable treaty is expected before the congress, which convenes in special session April 16, has adjourned.

Withdrawal of the treaty was expected in view of the announcement that President Wilson wished the treaty ratified because of the situation in which the United States might find itself in Central America.

The attitude of the administration in the withdrawal of the treaty was not openly disclosed, but it was apparent that such action would not have been taken without a previous understanding.

Sudden withdrawal of the treaty with Colombia and postponement until the session of April 16 is explained by developments disclosing an offer of Colombia to reconsider certain provisions as to condemnation of Roosevelt's course in taking Panama, also to reduce amount of award and particularly to add provisions allowing extra fortifications on the coast of Colombia by the United States and an agreement not to allow any European or Asiatic nation privileges of naval or military base without the consent of the United States.

U. S. SAILORS ROUT REBELS

Americans From Gunboat Eagle Drive Cubans From Altocedo—Mexicans Aid Insurgents.

Havana, March 19.—United States sailors from the gunboat Eagle landed at Altocedo, in Oriente province, and drove a group of insurgents from the town. It was reported that many Mexicans were in the group, which numbered about 300 men. American marines are believed to have evacuated the port of Santiago. They landed when the rebel forces quit, the town. Since then Cuban government troops have assumed control.

The presence with Cuban insurgents of Mexicans caused much surprise and speculation here. There are Mexican colonies in some parts of Cuba, but heretofore no activity of Mexicans, skilled in revolutionary and destructive warfare in their own country, has been reported to government officials here.

Railroad bridges destroyed by the rebels between Havana and Camaguey have been restored. Passenger and freight service will be resumed immediately.

2 INTERNED GERMANS SHOT?

Sailors of Raider Kronprinz Wilhelm Wounded by U. S. Marines at Philadelphia. Says Report.

Philadelphia, March 17.—Two sailors of the interned German raider Kronprinz Wilhelm at the Philadelphia navy yard were shot and wounded by United States marines, according to a report, during a fight on the deck of the vessel Thursday night. The story was denied by the navy yard hospital and the commandant's office would not discuss it.

TEN GREAT BATTLESHIPS ORDERED TO BE BUILT.

Craft Will Cost the Government Over $100,000,000—Record Order for Nation.

Washington, March 17.—Contracts for what is believed to be the largest single order for fighting craft ever given by any nation were placed by the navy department.

Private builders undertook to turn out four great battle cruisers and six scout cruisers, costing nearly $112,000,000 for hulls and machinery alone, and pledged themselves to keep 70 per cent of their working forces on navy construction.

In response to an appeal to their patriotism by Secretary Daniels, the major shipbuilders have agreed to accept 10 per cent net profit on the battle cruisers, whose cost will represent about $78,000,000 of the total sum involved in the contracts. A fifth battle cruiser will be built at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The builders are besieged with offers of merchant work, and are getting as high as 50 per cent profit on these jobs, with more work in sight than they can do. They have placed their facilities at the disposal of the government, making it unnecessary for the president to consider employing authority to commander plants.

Both classes of cruisers ordered are new types to naval architecture, and are designed for a speed of 25 knots an hour.

The scouts were awarded on bids submitted, prices ranging from $5,950,000 to $5,990,000, and stipulated time of delivery from 30 to 32 months. Construction will be hastened to the limit, however, the government footing the bill for additional cost.

The battle cruisers, the fixed limit of cost of which is $18,000,000 per ship, exclusive of speeding up expense, were ordered.

Of the authorized building program there remain to be contracted for three dreadnaughts, 38 submarines, the 15 destroyers, and several auxiliary vessels. Bids will be opened early in April on these craft, and at the same time orders will be placed for more than 100 coast patrol boats.

Chicago, March 20.—Four aged persons were burned to death and thirty-three others were injured in a fire which early Sunday morning destroyed the Scottish Old People's home near Riverside. The loss was placed at $30,000. The dead: Mrs. Janet Greenock, seventy-three; William McPherson, ninety-two; Thomas Louit, seventy-six; William Robertson, eighty. The fire was discovered at 2:30. Within fifteen minutes, just as the fire department arrived, the last of the women was taken to safety. Rescue work was slow because of the heavy smoke.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

POLAR BEARS.

"Another cold day, hurrah, hurrah!" growled the Polar Bear cheerfully.

"Isn't it splendid?" asked another. "Of course it's splendid," said a third. "It's quite utterly foolish of you to even speak of it."

"I talk about it for conversation," the Polar Bear answered.

"What in the world is conversation?" asked the third Bear.

"It's—well, it's conversation, that's all," said the second Polar Bear, whose name, by the way, was Muffy. He had been so named by a little girl who had visited the Zoo and who had said he would make such a marvelous muff!

"That's no answer," said the third Polar Bear, whose name was Silverine—because he looked so much like silver fur.

"Has it anything to do with fish oil or something good to drink?" asked Mrs. Silverine Bear.

"No," said Muffy. "I don't quite know what it is—but it's something like talking."

"That's certainly about all you can do," said Mrs. Silverine rudely. "Now, if you'll only be pleasant and patient," said Muffy, "I'll tell you what I have that is better than conversation."

"Almost anything would be better than that," said Silverine. "What have you got?"

"I've saved the raw meat, fish and bread the keeper gave me. I am going to have a supper party."

"Well, that is worth while," said Silverine. "I am sorry we were cross to you. We will never be cross again."

"We'll never be cross again," said the rest of the Bears.

"No, never," said Mrs. Silverine. "And you'd like a party?" asked Muffy.

"Would we? Well, I should say we would," said Silverine.

"It will start at once," said Muffy. "And I have a special treat."

"What?" they all shouted. "I have some fish oil."

"Ah!" they all said. And they smacked their lips. For fish oil is the favorite drink of the Polar Bears. They love it better than children love soda water or lemonade or hot chocolate.

"And the reason I had a 'conversation' about the cold day that had come was because—"

"Oh," said Silverine, "you needn't make any excuses. We have quite forgiven you that."

"Quite," said the rest of the Bears. "But I did have a reason for what I said."

"He did have a reason," echoed the Bears. "We would love to hear it," they added, for now they were being most polite.

"You see," continued Muffy, "we can all enjoy our food so much better when it is cold. We can frolic and play and have a royal old time."

"Oh, dear," said one of the Little Bears, who was becoming very hungry from all the talk about food. "There you go again with another big word."

"I Have Some Fish Oil."

What is a royal old time? And why can't we have a young time? 'I'm young and none of us are so very old.'

"Ha, ha," roared Muffy. "A royal time means a time such as Kings and Queens would have. A fine time, in short."

"I'm glad you say in short," said the Little Bear. "Then we'll get it all the sooner and not waste time."

"Hush," said the other Bears. "We mustn't be rude to Muffy."

"And I say an old time—not because it's to be an old time, but because I mean a jolly time."

"He doesn't mean an old time. He means a jolly time," said the Bears. "Old and jolly mean just the same."

"Oh, no, you don't," said Muffy. "Dear me, I shall have to have a spring school class I can see, but now we'll have our party."

So all the Bears stopped talking and quietly they began to eat the goodies which old Muffy had for them. The best time they did have, and even if Muffy had said funny things about "conversation," and "old" and "royal" they all decided he was one of the nicest of bears to have a supper party on such a glorious cold day!

It is easy to believe in that golden tomorrow. To young people particularly, the future seems bright with promise, no matter what the complexion of the present. But it should be remembered that tomorrow is likely to have a strong resemblance to today, and that the future is made golden by ardent work in the present—Girl's Companion.

No foolishness! Lift your corns and calluses off with fingers—it's like magic!

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Canadian Government will pay all fare over one cent per mile from St. Paul or Duluth to Canadian destination. It is planned to conduct a series of tests on various soil and stump conditions using every known method, hand power, home-made equipment, horse power machines, and small rigs will be tried out on adjoining plots.

The lack of such land clearing information is reported to be partially responsible for the rather slow development of upper Wisconsin. The settler already on the ground has not the time, money and very often not the ability to experiment with the various known methods to see which is best for him.

The assembly has gone on record against the little green trading stamp. By a vote of 25 to 32 it has engrossed a bill which would prohibit the use of the trading stamp in Wisconsin.

The house also sent to engrassage the Erjue bill for a two-mile dry zone around the two state hospitals for the insane. Assemblyman Schiewietz of Milwaukee offered an amendment to include all county hospitals.

There was a long debate over the proposed amendment to the constitution to permit municipalities to increase the debt limit from 5 to 10 per cent in the city of Milwaukee and from 5 to 15 per cent in other cities of the state.

Another move to hasten the end of the present session of the assembly was taken by the passage of a resolution offered by Carl Hansen requiring that all bills introduced within the five-week period which have not been reported to the assembly by March 26 and that those which are not reported by that time be subject to the same rules and procedure of the assembly as those introduced after the five-week period.

The assembly has killed Carl Pieper's joint resolution on the university prom. The vote to kill the resolution was 36 to 18. Mr. Pieper's resolution provided for holding another prom for taking moving pictures of the same in order to show Wisconsin's taxpayers the extravagance of university students and faculty.

You Can Make Excellent Cake with Fewer Eggs

Just use an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

This applies equally well to nearly all baked foods. Try the following recipe according to the new way:

CREAM LAYER CAKE

Old Way	New Way
1 cup sugar	1 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk	1/2 cup milk
2 cups flour	2 cups flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder	4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
3 EGGS	1 EGG
1/2 cup shortening	2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring	1 teaspoon flavoring

Makes 1 Large 2-Layer Cake

DIRECTIONS—Cream the sugar and shortening together, then mix in the egg. After sifting the flour and Royal Baking Powder together two or three times, add it all to the mixture. Gradually add the milk and beat with spoon until you have a smooth pour batter. Add the flavoring. Pour into greased layer cake tin and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes. This cake is best baked in two layers. Put together with cream filling and spread with white icing.

"CASCARETS" ACT ON LIVER; BOWELS

No sick headache, biliousness, bad taste or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box. Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your store. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipation. Adv.

More Pay Asked at Princeton.

Material increases in the salaries of professors at Princeton university are urged in the report of a special university committee. According to the report the average salary of the two hundred members of Princeton faculty is $2,180, although a full professorship pays at the present time an average of about $3,600. This represents an increase of only about 20 per cent in the past 12 years, whereas, according to the committee, the price of food-stuffs and other commodities has doubled in price during this period. The highest salary paid a professor at Princeton is $6,000, and the lowest paid half-time assistant's salary is $400 a year.

Harvard Students Economize.

A decline in the minor vices that beset college men is indicated at Harvard by the annual figures given by the Harvard Union. In the past year Harvard students have smoked fewer cigarettes and cigars and have played billiards and pool less than they did a year ago. There was a loss of about 20 per cent in the sale of cigarettes and cigars. Harvard students spent $3,942 for tobacco in 1915 and only $2,537 in 1916. Curiously enough, the reading habits of Harvard men slumped last year. In 1915 $1,325 was spent for reading matter; in 1914, $1,282.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

Few persons can be sick who use Green's August Flower. It has been used for all ailments that are caused by a disordered stomach and inactive liver, such as sick headache, constipation, sour stomach, nervous indigestion, fermentation of food, palpitation of the heart from gases created in the stomach, pains in the stomach, and many other organic disturbances. August Flower is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion, both in the stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and whole alimentary canal, and stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. Try it. Two doses will relieve you. Used for fifty years in every town and hamlet in the United States and in all civilized countries.—Adv.

The Sign of Indian Prosperity.

The ownership of a motorcar may not always be a safe index of material prosperity, but in the case of John Lightfoot of Arizona, ownership of a car may at least be taken as a proof that the blanket Indian can succeed at dry farming. Mr. Lightfoot is said to possess such a machine, but it is safe to predict that he will not long be the only red man to enjoy this privilege.

DAVE LAW STRIKES A TRAIL THAT LEADS HIM TO DEATH'S DOOR—HE SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS BUT DOESN'T TURN BACK

Mrs. Ainaire Austin, handsome young mistress of Las Palmas ranch, lost in the Texas desert, wanders into the little camp of David Law, state ranger, lying in ambush for a Mexican murderer. She is forced to stay 24 hours, until Law captures his man, kills another and escorts her home. "Young Ed" Austin, drunken wastrel, berates his wife and makes insulting insinuations about the ranger. Austin is secretly in league with Mexican rebels and horse thieves. Mrs. Austin starts for her other ranch, La Feria, in Mexican territory, to secure damages for cattle taken by Mexican soldiers, and encounters Gen. Luis Longorio, who becomes instantly enamored of her beauty and personality, much to her embarrassment.

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

Law ventured to remark that none of Blaze's enemies had grown fat in prosecuting their feuds, but this was a subject which the elder man invariably found embarrassing, and now he said:

"Pshaw! I never was the blood-letter people think. I'm as gentle as a sheep." Then to escape further curiosity on that point, he suggested that they round out their riotous evening with a game of pool.

The next morning at breakfast Paloma announced, "Father, you must help Dave hunt down these cattle thieves."

"Ain't that sort of a big order?" Blaze queried.

"Perhaps, but you're the very man to do it. Ricardo Guzman is the only person who knows the Lewis gang as well as you do."

Jones shook his head doubtfully. "Don Ricardo has been working up his own private feud with that outfit. It is the kind that went looking for a fight, I wouldn't have paid freight on myself from the Panhandle down here. I could have got one right at home, any morning before breakfast."

"Ricardo Guzman is something of a black sheep himself," Law spoke up. "Pshaw! He's all right. I reckon he has changed a few brands in his time, but so has everybody else. Why, that's how 'Old Ed' Austin got his start. If a cowman tells you he never stole anything, he's either a good liar or a bad roper. But Ricardo's going straight enough now."

"He has lost his share of stock," Paloma explained, "and he'll work with you if father asks him. You go along with Dave—"

"I'm too busy," Blaze demurred. "And I ain't feeling good. I had had dreams all night."

"I don't want you around me here this morning. That new dressmaker is coming."

Jones rose abruptly from the table. "I reckon my business can wait. Hustle up, Dave." A few moments later, as they were saddling their horses, he lamented: "What did I tell you? Here I go, on the dodge from a dressmaker. I s'pose I've got to live like a road-agent now, till something happens."

Don Ricardo Guzman was an American, but he spoke no English. An accident of birth had made him a citizen of the United States—his father having owned a ranch which lay north instead of south of the Rio Grande. Inasmuch as the property had fallen to Ricardo, his sons, too, were Yankees in the eyes of the law. But in all other respects Don Ricardo and his family differed not at all from the many Guzmans who lived across the border. The Guzman ranch comprised a goodly number of acres, and, since live stock multiplied rapidly, its owner had in some sort prospered. On the bank of a resaca—a former bed of the Rio Grande—stood the house, an adobe structure, square, white and unprotected from the sun by shrub or tree. Behind it were some brush corrals and a few scattered mud jacals, in which lived the help.

Ricardo had just risen from a slesta when his two visitors rode up, and he made them welcome with the best he had. In the cool of the afternoon Ricardo rode with his visitors, and then, cordial relations being now established, he began to divulge information of value to Law.

Yes, he had endured many depredations from thieves. It was shameful, but doubtless God willed that a certain amount of stealing should go on in the world. The evildoers were certainly favored by nature, in this locality, for the great expanse of brush country to the north and east offered almost perfect security, and the river, to the south, gave immunity from pursuit or prosecution. The bees were driven north into the wilderness, and the horses went to Mexico, where the war had created a market for them. The federals had plenty of money to buy mounts.

Whom did Don Ricardo suspect? The old man was noncommittal. Suspicion was one thing, proof was quite another; and conviction was difficult under the best of circumstances.

Why, even a cow's recognition of her own calf was not evidence for a court, and alibis were easily proved. Unless the thieves were caught in the very act there was no case against them, and—por Dios!—one could not be forever on guard. Who could tell where the malefactors would strike next? Now, in Mexico one could afford to kill an undesirable neighbor without so much formality. But, thank God! Don Ricardo was not a Mexican. No, he was a good American citizen. It was something to make him sleep well in these war times.

"Just the same, I'll bet he'd sleep better if the Lewis outfit was cleaned up," Dave ventured, and Blaze agreed. Guzman caught his enemy's name, and nodded.

"Ah! That sin verguena! He sells arms to the Candelistas and horses to the Potosistas. Perhaps he steals my calves. Who knows?"

"Senior Lewis doesn't need to steal. He has money," Jones argued.

"True! But who is so rich that he would not be richer? Lewis employs men who are poor, and he himself is above nothing. I, too, am a friend of the rebels. Panchito, the Liberator, was a saint, and I give money to the patriots who fight for his memory. But I do not aid the tyrant Potosi with my other hand. Yes, and who is richer, for instance, than Senior Eduardo Austin?"

"You surely don't accuse him of double-dealing with the rebels?" Blaze inquired curiously.

"I don't know. He is a friend of Tad Lewis, and there are strange stories afloat."

Just what these stories were, however, Ricardo would not say, feeling, perhaps that he had already said too much. The three men spent that evening together, and in the morning Blaze rode home, leaving the Ranger behind for the time being as Guzman's guest.

Dave put in the next two days riding the pastures, familiarizing himself with the country, and talking with the few men he met. About all he discovered, however, was the fact that the Guzman range not only adjoined some of Lewis' leased land, but also was bounded for several miles by the Las Palmas fence.

It was pleasant to spend the days among the shy brush-cattle, with Bessie Belle for company. The mare seemed to enjoy the excursions as much as her owner. Her eyes and ears were ever alert; she tossed her head and snorted when a deer broke cover or a jackrabbit scuttled out of her path; she showed a friendly interest in the awkward calves which stood and eyed her with such amazement and then galloped stilly off with tails high arched. Law had many times undertaken to break Bessie Belle of that habit of flinging her head high at sudden sounds, but she was nervous and inquisitive, and this was the one thing upon which she maintained a feminine obstinacy.

On the second evening the Ranger rode home through a drizzle that had materialized after a long, threatening afternoon and now promised to become a real rain. Ricardo met him at the door to say:

"You bring good fortune with you, senior, for the land is thirsty. Tomorrow, if this rain holds, we shall ride together—you, Pedro and I. Those thieves do their stealing when they leave no tracks."

The sky was leaden, the rain still fell in the morning when Dave and his two companions set out. Until afternoon they rode, their slickers dripping, swaying to the tireless foxtrot of their steaming horses, their eyes engaged in a watchful scrutiny.

At last Pedro, who was ahead, reined in and pointed; the others saw where the barbed-wire strands of the fence they had been following were clipped. A number of horse and calf tracks led through the opening, and after an examination Ricardo announced:

"There are two men. They have come and gone, with the calves tied neck and neck."

"That is Las Palmas, isn't it?" Law indicated the pasture into which the trail led.

Father and son answered, "Si, senior."

For a time the Ranger lounged aside in his saddle, studying the country before him. Perhaps a half-mile away a long, narrow patch of woods, with the tops of occasional oaks showing, ran parallel with the fence for a considerable distance.

"They took them in yonder, to brand," he said, straightening himself. "Maybe we'll be in time."

Side by side the three men rode off Guzman's land, following the tracks to the nearest point of woods; there Law stopped to give his directions.

"Pedro, you ride down this side; Ricardo, you skirt the outside. I shall keep to the middle. Walk your horses, for I shall go slowly." With a dubious shake of the head Ricardo rode away, while Dave guided Bessie Belle into the grove.

CHAPTER VII.

A Ranger's Horse.

Onward through the dense foliage the two friends wound. Now and then they stopped to listen, but the rain was heavy enough to drown all other noises. Encountering fresh tracks finally, Dave leaped from his saddle and studied them. He had gone perhaps half a mile when Bessie Belle raised her head, and he noted that her nostrils were working sensitively. Law fancied that he could detect the smell of a wood fire. Farther along they came to a place where the brush was low, and there, rising through the treetops beyond, he saw a wavering plume of blue smoke.

The Ranger rode into sight of the branding fire with his repeater across his saddle horn and his thumb upon the hammer; what followed came with almost the blinding suddenness of a lightning flash. First there was the picture of a sandy glade, in the center of which burned a fire with branding irons in it, and a spotted calf tied to a tree, but otherwise no sign of life. Then, without warning, Bessie Belle threw up her head in that characteristic trick of hers, and simultaneously Dave saw a figure rise out of the grass at his left with a rifle leveled. With the first jerk of his horse's head his own gun had leaped to his shoulder—he was not conscious of having willed it to do so—and even as he pressed the trigger he felt Bessie Belle give way. The next instant his feet, still in the stirrups, were on the ground and his horse lay between them, motionless. That nervous fling of her head had saved Dave's life, for the rustler's bullet had shattered her skull in its flight, and she lay prone, with scarcely a muscular twitch, so sudden had been her end.

For a moment the Ranger was dazed. He stood staring down at his pet; then the truth engulfed him. He realized that he had ridden her to her death, and at the thought he became like a woman bereft of her child, like a lover who had seen his sweetheart slain.

A shout—it was a hoarse, inarticulate cry; a swift, maddened scrutiny that searched the sodden scene of the ambush; then he was down beside the mare, calling her name heartbrokenly, his arms around her neck, his face against her warm, wet, velvet hide.

Law knew that two men had entered the thicket, and therefore one still remained to be reckoned with, but he gave no thought to that. From the corner of his eye he could see a pair of bootsoles staring at him out of the grass, and they told him there was no need for investigation. Near the body he heard the calf stirring, but he let it struggle.

Bessie Belle's bright eyes were glazing; she did not hear her lover's voice. Don Ricardo and his son burst out of the brush from opposite directions almost at the same moment, to find the Ranger with his face buried in his horse's mane.

"Caramba! What is this?" The old man flung himself from the saddle and came running. "You are injured?"

Pedro, too, bent over the officer, his brown face pale with apprehension. "Mother of God!" breathed the latter. "It was a wild thing to do, to ride alone—"

"I'm all right," Law said, rising stiffly, whereupon both Mexicans voiced their relief.

"The saints be praised!"

"Si! What happened? There was a shot! Did you see nothing?"

Law jerked his head in the direction of the fallen man at his back and Pedro uttered a loud cry.

"Look! Father and son ran through the grass, then recoiled and broke into a jargon of oaths and exclamations.

"Right in the mouth! The fellow was in death before he realized it."

"See! It is as we thought, Pedro; one of Lewis'! Tse! Tse! Tse! What a sight!"

"Who is he?" queried the officer.

"Pino Garza, one of the worst!" chimed the two Guzmans.

Ricardo was dancing in his excitement. "I told you that Lewis knew something. The other one got past me, but I cannot shoot like this."

It was difficult to secure a connected story from Ricardo, but he finally made it plain that at the first report the other thief had fled, exposing himself only long enough for the old man to take a quick shot in his direction. Ricardo had missed, and the miscreant was doubtless well away by this time. He had ridden a sorrel horse, that was all Ricardo could remember.

Law looked only briefly at the gruesome results of his marksmanship, then he turned back to the body of his beloved mare. Ricardo noticed at length that he was crying; as the Ranger knelt beside the dead thoroughbred, the old Mexican whispered to his son:

"Valgame Dios! This is a strange fellow. He weeps like a woman. He must have loved that horse as a man loves his wife. Who can understand these gringos?" After a time he approached cautiously and inquired: "What shall we do with this hombre, senior? Pedro has found his horse."

Law roused himself. With his own hands he gently removed Bessie Belle's saddle, bridle and blanket, then he gave his orders.

"I'll take your horse, Ricardo, and you take—that fellow's. Get a wagon and move him to Jonesville."

"And you?"

"I'm going to follow that man on the sorrel."

The dead man's saddle was left beside the body; then when the exchange of mounts had been effected, and all was ready, Law made a request that amazed both father and son.

"If I'm not back by morning, I want you to bury my mare." His voice broke; he turned away his face. "Bury her deep, Ricardo, so—the coyotes can't dig her up; right where she fell. I'll be back to see that it's done right. Understand?"

"Bueno! I understand perfectly. She was a pretty horse. She was your—bonita, eh? Well, you have a big heart, senior, as a brave man should have. Everything shall be done as you wish; I give you my hand on it." Ricardo reached down and gripped Law's palm. "We will name our pasture for her, too, because it is plain you loved her dearly. So, then, until tomorrow."

Law watched his two friends ride away, then, with a miserable ache in his throat, he mounted and rode off to pick up the trail of the man on the sorrel pony.

The fellow had ridden in the direction of Las Palmas, which Dave judged must be fully twelve miles away, and when they continued to maintain this course the Ranger became doubly interested. He risked his own interpretation of the rider's intent and pushed on without pausing to search out the trail step by step. At the second gate the signs indicated that his man was little more than an hour ahead of him.

The prospect of again seeing the ruddy-haired mistress of Las Palmas stirred Law more deeply than he cared to admit. Nevertheless, he was uncomfortably aware that she had a husband. Not only so, but the sharp contrast in their positions was disagreeable to contemplate; she was unbelievably rich, and a person of influence in the state, while he had nothing except his health, his saddle and his horse—No; no horse now, she was gone.

Dave Law digs up startling evidence and Mrs. Austin finds her position at La Feria dangerous. Some important developments are described in the next instalment.

Buffalo Bill's First Indian.
Col. William F. Cody tells in his book, "The Adventures of Buffalo Bill," published by the Harpers, the story of his first fight with Indians. It was in 1857, when he was only eleven years old, that he killed an Indian. He was accompanying some cattle-herders when they were attacked on the South Platte river. The Indians stumped the cattle, killed three men and then charged on the rest. A volley stopped them for the moment and the herders took refuge in the river, wading behind the bank on their way to Fort Kearney. Buffalo Bill fell behind and when he suddenly looked up at the bank above he saw an Indian's head. He aimed and fired and the next moment was terrified to see "about six feet of dead Indian come tumbling into the river." From that time forward, he says, "I became a hero and an Indian-killer."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Don't you ever stop to realize that no one is wholly indispensable in this world. Someone can take our places if we drop out. Why not accept all that is offered to us and get the most out of life we can?

GOOD COMPANY DISHES.

With eggs and butter so high we need to use both of these precious foods with care, hence cakes with large amounts of eggs or butter are quite too costly for everyday use.

Imperial Pound Cake.—To a half pound of softened, not melted, butter add a half pound of sugar; when well blended add the grated rind and juice of a lemon, a half cupful of citron, finely shredded, and a half pound of raisins, dredging the fruit with part of the flour. Sift a half pound of flour with a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda; the yolks of five eggs are added to the sugar and butter, the whites beaten stiff and added alternately with the flour. Add a half cupful of nut meats and bake in a tube pan an hour and a half in a moderate oven.

Orange Sauce to Serve With Roast Lamb.—Use a half cupful of gravy from the roast; make a brown sauce, using three fourths of a cupful of water, adding the gravy, two tablespoonfuls of flour, the juice of two oranges and the finely shredded peeling of an orange which has been boiled in hot water five minutes then drained; season with salt, cayenne and the juice of a lemon.

Apple Fritters.—Make a batter of one and a third cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, sifted together, and mixed with two-thirds of a cup of milk and an egg. Cut two sour apples into bits and stir into this batter. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and brown. Roll in powdered sugar and serve with roast pork or chops.

Caramel Sponge.—Soften a fourth of a package of gelatin in a fourth of a cupful of water. Brown a half cupful of sugar, then add a cupful of boiling water; stir until dissolved; add the gelatin and stir over ice water until the mixture thickens. Have ready two egg whites, beaten stiff; add them to the gelatin mixture, continue beating until it will hold its shape when turned into a mold. Serve with a cupful and a half of rich milk. Flavor with vanilla if desired.

Apricots and prunes stewed together make a very nice combination; use a little more sugar than with prunes alone, having equal amounts of prunes and apricots. By adding spices a nice conserve to serve with meats may be made.

Just whistle a bit if the day is dark. And the sky be overcast; If must be the voice of the piping lark. Why, pipe your own small blast.

DAINTIES FOR THE TEA TABLE.

A sandwich or two with a small cake or cookie with a cupful of tea is sufficiently sustaining for a light refreshment.

German Cookies.—Stir until foamy one and a third cupfuls of powdered sugar and three eggs, add a few drops of vanilla and two cupfuls of flour. Grease the tin, sprinkle with flour, then drop in teaspoonfuls in round heaps far enough apart so they do not touch and bake in a moderate oven.

Bund Kuchen.—Beat a half cupful of softened butter, with one-half cupful of sugar, four eggs, the grated rind of a lemon, one-half pound of raisins, one teaspoonful of salt; add a yeast cake, softened in a little warm water; one pint of luke-warm milk and three and three-quarters cupfuls of sifted flour. Work the dough with a wooden spoon, butter the pan well and sprinkle with flour, pour in the dough and let it rise for three hours in a warm place, then bake in a hot oven. Cover with paper if it browns too quickly.

Schwarzbrod Torte.—Cut in thin slices rye bread well dried, or dry in the oven, then grate fine. Pour over a cupful of the crumbs, a tablespoonful of vanilla and a half cupful of grape juice. Add two cupfuls of finely chopped almonds, four ounces of citron, the rind of a lemon, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one saltspoonful of cloves, and a tablespoonful of flour. Now stir one and a third cupfuls of powdered sugar and the yolks of a dozen eggs until foamy, using four yolks to begin with and adding them one by one, stirring well after each addition. Mix lightly, then add the stiffly beaten whites. Butter the baking pan, sprinkle with crumbs and put in the cake mixture. Bake forty-five minutes. If it browns too rapidly, cover with paper.

Butter Cookies.—Stir and beat a cupful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar, one whole egg and the yolks of two, flavor with almond and add two cupfuls of flour, sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Cool for an hour, then cut out with a small cookie cutter, brush with the white of an egg and sprinkle with granulated sugar.

It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. Portable Medicine Chest.
The cartridge belt medicine chest is in use in peace as well as in war, but it is especially intended for hunters, prospectors and such persons who have need for remedies, but who cannot be burdened with chests and similar bulky paraphernalia. It has been devised by Dr. Otto Sommer of Seattle, Wash. The belt is made of canvas or leather, as desired, and it has numerous compartments for vials containing medicine, just as a cartridge belt and swallows it. If relief does a person wearing the belt wishes to take a shot at some internal disorder he plucks a medicinal pellet from the belt and swallows it. If relief does not follow he plucks another of a different kind until his medicinal ammunition is depleted. At this point he dons another belt fully loaded and repeats the operation. The inventor says the belt is useful on long walks, trips and on horseback expeditions.

"There's a Reason"

THE GOOD JUDGE OVERHEARD THE TRAVELERS TALKING W-B CUT TOBACCO.

YOU SAY YOU ENJOY GOOD TOBACCO? THEN TAKE A CHEW OF THIS W-B CUT AND TELL ME HOW IT GOES.

IT'S natural that a gentlemanly feeling should prompt one man to tell another about W-B CUT Chewing, so he, too, may enjoy the contentment there is in rich, sappy tobacco—and also avoid so much chewing and spitting.

The common-sense of it appeals to people with brains. There's no getting 'round facts, W-B will save a man money—a little chew lasts and satisfies. A 10c. pouch goes twice as far as ten cents' worth of the old ordinary kind of chewing.

Here is another point, Mr. Farmer, we want to emphasize, that is: Dr. Hess Stock Tonic is highly concentrated; it goes farther, as the small dose quantity proves.

THE STORE FOR BEST VALUES

Spring Opening and Easter Sale now in progress at this store

Apparel for dress, street, motor and sport wear.

With Easter but two weeks away, every woman will find our comprehensive displays of Fashion's favorite modes of unusual interest. Though their styles, tailoring and the excellent fabrics employed are points to be emphasized, we feel that our moderate pricings should be strongly emphasized in these days of inflated values.

Spring suits are charming.

Delightful little touches appear in the suit coats while the skirts are designed to carry out the dominate note of the coat—producing a harmony of style that is most noticeable. Some are daring in color and design, while others of quieter mein are offered for those desiring them.

Captivating blouses.

Never have lovelier blouses been shown than those of exquisite silks in pastel shades, with delightful embroidering of beads or silk. Novel collars and odd sleeves add a charm that is irresistible—and their moderate pricings promise them great popularity.

Spring coats favored styles.

Coat assortments reveal possibilities for attaining individuality in your new clothes. Brilliant colors or subdued—"ultra" styles or conservative—all showing distinctively new touches in their designing.

Many modes in dresses.

Though each dress reveals a new interpretation of the mode, setting it aside from the ordinary the rediscovered waist line and slender silhouette is generally accepted. Silks and Serge are shown in an all inclusive color range.

Smart separate skirts.

Pocetlet and pleats are particularly noticeable among the spring skirts. Some are quite smart and simple in fabric and color, while others choose to be more elaborate in design and brilliant hued material. Every woman will want at least one separate skirt in her spring wardrobe.

The new fashions demand new style corsets.

The popular low, but of the past season, is retained, but the new fashion lines require corsets with a longer skirt to allow perfect fit on all garments below the belt. Comfort is coupled with style in the C-B a La Spirite and Thomson's glove fitting corsets. Our perfect fitting service insures the utmost satisfaction.

New wash dress goods.
