THE LAW ON THE USE OF FIREWORKS

Many inquiries reaching this department relating to the sale, storage and use of fireworks, leads us to quote the statutory provision and the order of this commission on the subject matter.

Section 4399f. Fireworks. 1. "No person shall sell or keep for sale or manufacture, or bring into this state for use therein, any skyrockets, fire-works or firecracker, containing picric acid, picrates, chlorate of potash compound, dynamite, mixture of dynamite or other high explosive mixtures, pellets or tablets compounded of any of the foregoing or other high explosive mixtures, explosive capsules, blank cartridges, explosive paper in length and one-half of an inch in diameter."

2. The penalty fixed is a fine of from $50.00 to $500.00, or imprisonment in county jail of from 30 days to six months, or both.

Subsection 5 a. of Section 2394-52 gives the Industrial Commission power, jurisdiction and authority to make reasonable orders relating to combustible or explosive materials or inflammable conditions dangerous to the safety of any building, or the occupants thereof, or endangering or hindering firemen in the case of fire.

In compliance with this duty and for the purpose of protecting life, limb and property this commission, after full investigation of the subject of fireworks, and after due hearing, adopted the following order to take effect September 1st, 1919.

"Order 6095. Fireworks. No fire crackers, rockets, torpedoes, Roman candles, bombs or other fireworks, and no pistols, cannons, explosive capsules, blank cartridges, or other similar appliances or displays, shall be stored in a place nearer than 200 feet from a neighboring building, except wholesale storage in original packages. Such fireworks, appliances or displays except rockets and Roman candles, shall not be discharged, fired, or used within 200 feet from any building. No rockets or Roman candles shall be discharged within 500 feet from any building. This order shall not apply to fireworks displays made under the direction of town or municipal authorities, provided the same do not violate the provisions of Section 4398f of the statutes, and provided further that no fire balloons shall be stored or used under any circumstances."

In addition to these provisions many cities have adopted ordinances regulating fireworks.

Police officials should strictly enforce this statute, order and the local ordinance.

Municipal celebrations should be held in parks, or other places away from buildings.

Proper observance will eliminate the usual Fourth-of-July carnage and fires.

Dated May 19, 1919.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION. OF INTEREST TO DISCHARGED SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES.

Congressman Edward Voigt sends word from Washington that the War Department has ruled that any enlisted man who was honorably discharged from the Army, Navy or Marine Corps since November 11, 1918, or who is hereafter discharged is entitled to travel pay at the rate of 50 cents per mile from the place of his discharge to his home or if he prefers to the place where he was mustered into service.

For sea travel, only transportation and subsistence are furnished. Any honorably discharged man who has not received the full 50 cents per mile is entitled to the difference between 50 cents per mile and the amount per mile which he was paid. Any enlisted man who has any travel pay coming under this ruling will be supplied with a proper blank on which to make his claim, if he will address a letter to Congressman Voigt at Washington.

UNCLAIMED WAR RISK CHECKS

Several thousands of dollars for disabled soldiers, sailors and marines, await claimants in the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

To date there have been returned to the Bureau of War Insurance 2,858 checks, which represent compensation payments to disabled soldiers, sailors and marines. The checks have failed of delivery because of the failure of the men entitled to receive them to notify the Bureau of a change of address.

Many men who have applied for compensation have given temporary addresses. Checks sent to these addresses are returned to the Bureau. In making application for compensation all men are urged to give a permanent address to which checks may be sent and to promptly notify the Bureau of any change of address.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxative. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.

AEROPLANE PASSES OVER VILLAGE

On Thursday noon, the citizens of this village had the opportunity of seeing the third aeroplane fly over Kewaskum at an altitude of about 1500 feet. The machine was driven by Lieut. Marly Plumb, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Plumb of Woodhull. He was on his way home from Chicago.

When he arrived at Fond du Lac, he performed a number of "stunts" for some hundred feet above the business section. He looped back and forth over the business district for several minutes, turned upside down and came out right side up, also making a few spirals until he headed straight west for Woodhull, where he performed some more "stunts" over the home of his parents before landing in a field nearby.

Lieut. Plumb recently broke a speed record in an exhibition flight at Kansas City, and is the holder of the world's record for making the greatest number of loop the loops during one flight, he made 139 in all before landing.

On Friday Lieut. Plumb took an exhibition flight at the Red-Arrow Day celebration at Milwaukee, after which he sailed for St. Paul.

GRADUATION EXERCISES WELL RECEIVED

The graduation exercises of the Kewaskum high school at the Opera House last week Thursday evening, were witnessed by a large crowd and created an excellent impression on the audience. The program this year was shorter than that of any previous one given, and the manner in which it was carried through showed great skill on the part of the teachers. The reason for the program being shorter was due to the fact that the class poem, class prophecy, class will were omitted from the exercises. The salutatory by Miss Agnes Stoffel and the valedictory by Miss Ella Bunkel, were well presented and received the most hearty applause from the audience. The commencement address was delivered by F. L. Fawcett of Milwaukee, who had chosen as his topic "On The Plains of Peace". He talked at quite a length on the value of education, discipline and the bringing up of better men and women. His talk was very interesting and beneficial. The high school orchestra furnished the music for the evening. All of the high school teachers have not been re-engaged for next year.

"U. S. TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES."

I was much pleased with the advertisements of automobile tires I saw the other day. I had been passing many enormous board-notices, gaudy in hue, striking in design, and each claiming superlative merit for their tires. "Buy Liveover Tires! They last like steel!" "Use Rockaway Tires! No other tires so smoothly!" "You'll come to us, Plus Ultra Tires! Don't wait!" "The Beststuff Tire! Nothing like it!" So the shrieking advertisements vibrated through the landscape.

Then I saw the quiet announcement: "Smith tires are good tires." Just that. You can't imagine how restful it was. Immediately a sense of satisfaction came over me. "Good tires." No need to bluster and howl. No need to ransack the dictionary for superlatives. No need to run down competitors. "Smith tires are good tires." I wanted to buy some at once. Those are the tires for me henceforth. "Good tires." That is the acme of advertising.

Ah, when will people learn the delicious value of quiet, self-respecting simplicity?

READING THE HOME PAPER

The local newspaper should be found in every home. No child will grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is the stepping stone of intelligence in all matters not to be learned in books. Give your children only foreign papers which contain not one word about any person, place, or thing which they ever saw or perhaps ever heard of and how can you expect them to be interested?

But let them have the home paper and read of persons whom they meet, and places with which they are familiar, an interest is awakened which increases with every arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed, and those children who read the papers-all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in their knowledge of the world as it is today.

ST. KILIAN UNDER-TAKER DIES

After an illness of seven months duration with heart trouble, Philip Strobel, one of St. Kilian's prominent and well known business men passed away in death, last week Friday, May 30th, 1919, at his home here.

Mr. Strobel was born on September 26, 1858, in the town of Ashford, where he received his early education and where he grew to manhood. When a young man he learned the wagon making trade from Joseph Strachota. After he had his trade learned he went to Bloomer, where on February 14, 1880, he was married to Miss Carolina Mittelstadt. Shortly after his marriage he re-moved to St. Kilian, thirty-five years ago, where he managed an undertaking establishment in connection with his wagon making trade up to the time of his death. Ten children were born to them, two dying in infancy.

Those surviving are Anna (Mrs. John Geller) Hartford, Wis.; Kati (Mrs. J. Koenig) Kewaskum, Wis.; Mary (Mrs. Peter Held) Alma Center, Wis.; Cora (Mrs. Ray Spuhler) of Hartford; Tillie (Mrs. Jack Schwartz) of Hartford; Regina (Mrs. Will Tink) Alma Center, Wis.; Philip of Hartford, Kilian of Fond du Lac. He also leaves twenty-one grandchildren, one sister and two brothers.

Mr. Strobel was a member of the Catholic Knights, he was a devoted christian man, a true friend and neighbor, honest in all his business dealings, a man who was a firm believer in building up home industry. The funeral was held Monday morning at St. Kilian's church. Rev. F. Falbisoner officiated at the last rites.

Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. Six of his nephews acted as pall bearers, namely: Andrew Beisher, Philip Beisher, Raymond Strobel, Leo Strobel, Lawrence Strobel and Simon Strachota.

Our heartfelt thanks are extended to our kind friends and neighbors, who assisted us in our misfortune, during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. Their efforts and words of consolation have caused a ray of comfort to enter our hearts and to relieve the burden of sorrow. We also wish to thank the ladies and sisters of St. Kilian's choir for the songs and all for the respect shown our beloved dead.

Mrs. Philip Strobel and family.

One of the prettiest tracts of land in Dodge county and one of the most valuable as well, the 146-acre farm of Otto Schreiber, 2 1/2 miles west of Horton, and one-half mile east of Minnesota Junction was sold Wednesday to J. B. Day, of this city. The purchase included all personal property, growing crops and live stock. The price paid was $250 an acre; the highest price for which a farm was ever sold in that locality. NEW BEVERAGE ON THE MARKET

Lithia—Be Sure, a malt beverage of exceptional quality will soon be placed on the market by the West Bend Lithia Co. This company is a newly organized corporation which will take over the entire plant and equipment of the West Bend Brewing Co. on July 1st, when National War Time Prohibition takes effect.

The company has been experimenting for the last three months with the end in view to produce a product which will be a worthy successor to the enviable reputation which West Bend Lithia has so long enjoyed.

LITHIA—Be Sure, is a beverage made from the choicest malt and Hops brewed according to scientific formulas under the most sanitary conditions. The experiments have been most satisfactory, thus far and the process is being standardized now so as to make it possible to market the beverage in the most economical way.

As the West Bend Brewing Co., has the reputation of having brewed good Lithia beer there is no doubt that the owners of that institution will be able to furnish a beverage that will hold its own as a non-intoxicating drink, against anything on the market. The firm is working hard to produce a beverage that will meet with the best of satisfaction to their customers, so it will pay them to keep their large plant in operation after the nation has gone dry.

WEHLING-BROECKER NUPTIAL

The German Reformed church at Wayne was the scene of a very pretty wedding at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when Rev. Caslos united in Holy bonds of matrimony Miss Dorothea Wehling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wehling of Elmore and Emil Broecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Broecker of Elmore. The bride was attired in white crepe de chien and carried a bouquet of bridal roses, sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Miss Hanie Baehr of Milwaukee was maid of honor and wore a white silk veil and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Marie Wehling, who wore a yellow silk veil and carried white carnations. Oscar Jung was best man and Norman Bartel groomsmen. After the ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride to about eighty invited guests. The house was decorated with cut flowers and wedding bells and national colors. The newly weds will reside on the groom's farm in the town of Wayne.

HARTFORD TO HAVE TRUCK SERVICE

The Motor Transport Co., of Milwaukee, are arranging a schedule which will give Hartford a three-times-a-week truck service with Milwaukee and all cities between. After this schedule has been completed the businessmen of Hartford will be able to have their freight brought to their place of business from Milwaukee for less than freight cost which will eliminate much waste, time and money in handling such freight. The rates charged for shipments either way are as follows: Less than 1000 pounds per cwt. 45c; over 1000 pounds per cwt., 40c; minimum charge for any one consignment, 50c; war tax 3 per cent; less than 10 pounds per cubic foot at special rates. By inaugurating this truck service it will enable the businessmen of Hartford to have their freight shipped much faster than by the old method and no doubt will prove of great benefit to them.

SOLDIERS UPON DISCHARGE MUST HAVE GOOD UNIFORMS

The War Department has ordered that before the discharge of each man from the service, he shall be inspected by his organization commander to insure that the uniform, issued to him and which he takes with him on discharge, is a new one, or a reclaimed one, practically as good as new, and suitable beyond doubt for wear on parade or at ceremonies. If, upon inspection, uniforms are found not to be presentable, new ones will be issued. For this purpose the War Department furnishes forms (637 Ago) upon which statement as to character and condition of uniforms, may be entered.

The same rules governing issuance of uniforms to discharged soldiers applies to recruits.

TO REORGANIZE NATIONAL GUARD

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Tentative War Department plans for the peace time National guard include a return to the pre-war organization comprising sixteen divisions it was stated authoritatively here. Unless unexpected changes occur, this plan will be submitted to Congress for its approval with the request for an appropriation sufficient to carry out the plans. The first year the organization would include 306,000 men, 200 for each senator and representative. This is in accordance with the Hay act. As others proposed a 50 per cent yearly increase for the year there will be 300 guardsmen for every congressman, the third, 450, the fourth, 675, and the fifth, 900.

CARL SCHAEFER HAS RIDE IN AEROPLANE

Harry Schaefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schaefer received a letter from his brother Carl this week, who is in the Signal Corps with the Army of Occupation stationed at Neuweid, Germany. Carl states that he had been detailed to take a ride in an aeroplane across the Rhine river and visited several important cities in Germany. Carl now has the distinction of being the first citizen of Kewaskum to take a ride in an aeroplane. The letter is very interesting and tells of the sensation one has while on one of these flights. He has the following to say:

Dear Brother:— I call this hard labor, writing a letter in such hot weather. Wouldn't do this but have a special reason for it. Had a ride in an aeroplane this morning which is something that few fellows outside of the air service can say. It sure was great while it lasted and expect to take more rides if possible. There is an aviation field across the river from here and the pilots are leased to take up anybody that can get permission to do so. Some sort of arrangements have been made with the aviation officials to let a certain number of men from our organization ride in the aeroplanes. A detail of eight men are supposed to go over there each day. There were only two of us this morning as the other two didn't show up. Four of the boys went over this afternoon but the ship that was to have been used was out of order at that time. Well about one hour before we made a landing. Our captain had the different platoons, (with the infantry) put out its aeroplane panels and we were to locate these and drop a message. The first panel was laid out by the fourth platoon (the one I am with) and then there were two others at Rengsdorf and Wierdorf about ten miles away. At each place we would first locate these panels and then the pilot would swoop down until

ANARCHIST BOMBS KILL FIVE PERSONS

Explosions in Eight Cities Cause Much Property Damage.

PUBLIC OFFICERS NEAR DEATH

Attorney General Palmer and Senator Swanson Badly Shaken by Blasts Which Wreck Their Homes in Washington, D. C.

Washington, June 3.—A series of bombs, aimed at law enforcement officials, were exploded almost simultaneously in widely separated sections of the country late Monday night. Five persons were killed.

Public officials against whose lives attempts were made were:

In Washington:

A. Mitchell Palmer, United States attorney general. One person supposed to have been the bomb thrower, was killed. Police think a second person was killed.

Claude A. Swanson, United States senator from Virginia.

In Boston: Justice Albert F. Hayden of the Roxbury municipal court.

In Cleveland: Mayor Harry L. Davis.

In Pittsburgh: Federal Judge William H. Thompson.

W. W. Sibray, chief inspector of the bureau of immigration.

In New York: Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., of the court of general sessions. One person is known to have been killed. Two others may have been killed.

In New Haven, Conn.: Representative Leland W. Powers of the state legislature.

Other bombs were thrown in Philadelphia and Paterson, N. J.

Officials are trying to connect the latest outrages with the "May day" bombs which were sent by mail to 38 officials in every section. Monday night's bombs were not mailed. Those responsible for the outrages placed them at the homes of those they sought to assassinate.

Seek to Kill Palmer.

The Washington bomb was thrown at the residence of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, 2132 R street.

Mr. Palmer has been the leader in the prosecution of radicals. Previously he was enemy property custodian.

The lower part of the Palmer residence was wrecked. None of the family was injured, as all were on the upper floors.

The explosion seriously damaged the home of Senator Swanson of Virginia, next door.

The bomb, the police said, was contained in a suitcase filled with clothing. The remains of this suitcase and a handbill signed "The Anarchistic Fighters," printed on red paper, were in inflammatory fashion, and serving notice of intent of its authors to begin general war on society, was the only clue available.

Dictionary Is Found.

An Italo-American dictionary was found in the street near the leaders.

From this and the fact that the dark skins of portions of the flesh of fragments of the body found, there is a disposition among the officials to believe that perhaps Italian Reds were responsible for the crime, though the Italo-American dictionary may have been dropped as a ruse.

One or two persons near the spot claimed to have heard two explosions, but most people reported only one.

Representative Ira C. Copley of Illinois, who lives at 2301 R street, also had the front windows of his house smashed. This showed the force of the explosion, for Mr. Copley lives in the block between Twenty-second street and Sheridan circle, while the Palmer house stands in the block lower down, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets.

Another Home Damaged.

The home of James R. Ellerson at 2134 R street, next to Attorney General Palmer's residence, was almost as badly damaged as that of Mr. Palmer.

The neighborhood, which was at once roped off by the police on their arrival shortly before midnight, is in what is known as the west end of Washington, between Du Pont and Sheridan circles, where there are many fine mansions, in which live officials, army, and navy officers, society folk, diplomats, and members of congress.

When reports began to come in of similar outrages in other parts of the country, Major Pullman, superintendent of the capitol police, sent special guards to residence of cabinet officers and other prominent officials.

Secret service agents studied intently reports received here from other cities, and when it was found that the handbills found in Washington corresponded textually with others picked up in Boston, their first opinions that the plots were connected was confirmed, they said. They awaited eagerly clues which might be picked up in other cities.

Property Under Guard.

Washington is practically under martial law. A number of military police and other soldiers who were available quickly were pressed into service to aid in guarding the property and in patrolling streets where prominent persons live.

A special detail has been placed about the White House grounds, the treasury, and in the war and navy departments.

The situation is considered too dangerous a one for officials here and for the nation at large to assume that the man who placed this bomb was killed and the authorities here are not going on the theory that the perpetrator of this particular one of the whole series of bomb explosions throughout the country is out of the way.

New York Bomb Kills.

New York, June 3.—An attempt early this morning to blow up Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. of the Court of General Sessions resulted in the death of at least one person and possibly three. A bomb, which was planted beneath the entrance of Judge Nott's residence exploded at 12:53 a. m.

Agents of the fire department bureau of combustibles reported that they had found portions of one or more bodies buried beneath the debris. The torso of one of the victims apparently was that of a woman. Bits of male clothing and a false mustache also were found in the debris.

Pedestrians who passed the Nott residence shortly before the explosion told the police they had observed two women sitting on the stoop.

Building Front Blown Out.

According to an ambulance surgeon, the woman killed apparently was about 60 years old. The police think that she had been passing by the house when the machine went off. The surgeon said she must have been struck by a portion of the brown-stone wall of the front story, which was thrown almost across the street.

Judge Nott was absent at the time of the explosion. Mrs. Nott, the caretaker, John Bjarkigan, his wife and daughter were in the house, but were not injured.

The explosion completely wrecked the entrance of the Nott residence and shattered windows in houses for several hundred feet.

Portions of bodies were hurled several hundred feet by the explosion. A man's skull was picked up in Lexington avenue, nearly a half block from the Nott residence. Portions of a body were blown through the windows of an army officers' club across the street into a room where Lieut. A. H. Martin was sleeping. Other human fragments were blown into the entrance of the home of Supreme Court Judge R. F. Lyon, next door.

Inspector Owen Eagan of the bureau of combustibles said that in his opinion the explosive used was dynamite. Army officers in the club across the street, however, said that the odor indicated that trinitrotoluol had been used.

In addition to a general shattering of glass in the neighborhood, the home of Judge Lyon on one side and that of Dr. John J. McKay on the other side of the Nott residence were badly damaged.

Judge Nott was for eight years an assistant district attorney on the staff of William Travers Jerome. He was held over when former Gov. Charles S. Whitman succeeded District Attorney Jerome and prosecuted many of the first degree murder trials that took place while Mr. Whitman held the post.

OTHER MURDER ATTEMPTS.

Cleveland, O., June 3.—An attempt was made to blow up the home of Mayor Harry L. Davis here last night. No one was injured, but a part of the house was wrecked. First reports were that it was a gas explosion, but police later declared a bomb or infernal machine had been planted.

Near Judge's Home.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 3.—A bomb explosion, which occurred two doors from the residence of United States District Judge W. H. Thompson late last night, damaged the residence of the jurist and other houses in the vicinity. The homes of three prominent business men of the city were damaged by the force of the explosion.

Shortly before midnight and a few minutes after the bomb explosion in the Highland district there was another bomb explosion in the west end residential district, near the home of W. D. Sibray, chief inspector of the bureau of immigration. Sibray has been active in the work which has led to deportation of enemy aliens, and the police express the belief that the bomb was intended for him.

Blast in Boston.

Boston, Mass., June 3.—The home of Justice Albert F. Hayden of the Roxbury municipal court at 11 Wayne street, was severely damaged by an explosion of unknown origin shortly before midnight Monday. No one was in the house at the time, the judge and his family being at their summer home at the seashore.

Try to Slay Legislator.

Newtonville, Mass., June 3.—The residence of Leland W. Powers, Massachusetts state representative and son of the late member of congress, was badly damaged by a bomb last night. No one was injured.

Two Bombs in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 3.—Bombs were thrown late last night by two men in an automobile at the rectory of the Catholic Church of Our Lady of Victory, in West Philadelphia, and at the home of Louis Jagielky, a jeweler, eight blocks away. The rectory was badly damaged and plate glass windows in the church shattered. A woman and young girl who were passing the church were slightly injured.

The front was torn out of Jagielky's house by the other explosion and a Mrs. Letwin, who resided there, was seriously injured.

Assail Silk Maker.

Paterson, N. J., June 3.—An explosion, which the police believe to have been caused by a bomb, wrecked the home of Max Gold, silk manufacturer, 331 East Thirty-first street, at 12:30 o'clock this morning, partially wrecked an adjoining house, and broke the front door and windows of a residence across the street. Most of the houses within a radius of 200 feet had windows broken.

AUSTRIA STRIPPED BY PEACE TERMS

Huge Territory Is Cut From Former Monarchy.

FOLLOWS THE GERMAN PACT

44,000,000 Nationals Taken Away—Head of Enemy Delegation Says He Will Work for Peace on Allies' Basis.

St. Germain, France, June 4.—Fifteen days was given to Austria on Monday to reply to the terms of peace presented by the allied nations in the Stone Age room in the old palace at St. Germain.

M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, was the first prominent figure to arrive at the meeting at which the terms of peace were presented.

Secretary Lansing and Henry White were the first American representatives to arrive, Premier Orlando of Italy and Premier Paderewski of Poland and Arthur J. Balfour following. Col. E. M. House was the only member of the American delegation not present.

In addition to the conference representatives of the allied and associated powers there were present many distinguished persons, including Marshal Foch, General Bliss, Admiral Benson and American Ambassador Wallace.

Wilson Delays Proceedings.

President Wilson delayed the ceremony of presentation. He reached St. Germain at 12:14. A puncture of the tire of his automobile held him up on the way.

The Austrian representatives arrived at 12:22 o'clock, entering the chamber by a rear entrance. The delegates were attired in conventional morning dress.

The Austrians were escorted in by an Italian officer.

Immediately upon their arrival at 12:22 p. m. the session was opened formally by announcement of the head usher, Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, at once began his address.

Clemenceau spoke in French. His remarks were translated into English, then into Italian and then into German. He spoke only three minutes.

Paul Dutasta, general secretary of the peace conference, presented the terms to the Austrians at 12:37.

Dr. Karl Renner, the Austrian chancellor and head of the delegation, then began an address in French.

Doctor Renner promised loyalty to do his best to work out a peace on the basis presented. "Our state rests in your hands," said Doctor Renner following the presentation of the allies' terms, "and we hope before the conscience of the world that the allies will not abuse this power."

The entire peace treaty was not presented to the Austrians, and the 15-day stipulation with regard to their reply, therefore, refers only to the portion of the terms handed them.

Doctor Renner opened with a complaint at the delay in the presentation of the peace terms. The chancellor declared the Austrian republic was entirely free from the Hapsburg dynasty. It would never have declared war itself, he asserted. The chancellor concluded his address at 12:50. The address was translated into English and Italian.

Doctor Renner stood while reading his speech, and his attitude, like that of the entire Austrian delegation, was extremely courteous, contrasting sharply with that of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and the Germans at Versailles. The conciliatory tones of Doctor Renner apparently created a good impression on the allied delegation. The general atmosphere seemed quite friendly.

After Doctor Renner's address, in which the chancellor expressed gratitude for the food relief that had come from the Hoover commission, Premier Clemenceau asked if anyone else desired to speak. There was no response and he declared the ceremony ended.

The translation of Premier Clemenceau's speeches into three languages occupied the larger part of the session. It adjourned at 1:14 o'clock after having taken up 52 minutes.

Doctor Renner probably will go to Switzerland.

Follows German Treaty.

The Austrian treaty follows exactly the same outline as the German, and in many places is identical with it, except for the change in name. Certain specific clauses which applied only to Germany are, of course, omitted, and certain new clauses included, especially as regards the new states created out of the former Austro-Hungarian empire and the protection of the rights of the racial, religious and linguistic minorities in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Serb-Croat-Slovene state.

Austria is left by the treaty a state of from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 people, inhabiting a territory of between 5,000 and 6,000 square miles. She is required to recognize the complete independence of Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the Serb-Croat-Slovene state, and to cede other territory which previously in union with her composed the empire of Austria-Hungary, with its population of over 50,000,000 people.

Part thirteen of the German treaty containing guarantees of execution is not paralleled in the Austrian treaty.

Preamble.

The preamble is longer and more detailed than in the German summary and is as follows:

"Whereas, on the request of the former imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, an armistice was granted to Austria-Hungary on November 3, 1918, by the principal allied and associated powers in order that a treaty of peace might be concluded, and

"Whereas, the allied and associated powers are equally desirous that the war in which certain among them were successively involved, directly or indirectly, against Austria, and which originated in the declaration of war against Serbia on July 28, 1914, by the former imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, and in the hostilities conducted by Germany in alliance with Austria-Hungary should be replaced by a firm, just and durable peace; and

"Whereas, the former Austro-Hungarian monarchy has now ceased to exist, and has been replaced in Austria by a republican government; and

"Whereas, the said powers have recognized the union of certain portions of the said monarchy with the territory of the kingdom of Serbia as a free, independent and allied state, under the name of Serb-Croat-Slovene state; and

"Whereas, it is necessary while restoring peace to regulate the situation which has arisen from the dissolution of the said monarchy and the formation of the said states, and to establish the government of these countries on a firm foundation of justice and equity.

Recognized as Republic.

"For this purpose the high contracting parties, duly named,

"Who, having communicated their full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

"From the coming into force of the present treaty the state of war will terminate.

"Austria is recognized as a new and independent state under the name of the Republic of Austria.

"From that moment, and subject to the provisions of this treaty, official relations will exist between the allied and associated powers and the Republic of Austria."

The KITCHEN CABINET

We believe there is something for each one to do. Some time, some place and some how. We believe we can do it and we believe, too, we are ready to do it—right now!

SEASONABLE DISHES.

At this season when fish is so much enjoyed are you serving the hot well seasoned

Fish Chowder—Cut up any kind of well cleaned fish and parboil until nearly cooked. In an iron kettle put a fourth of a pound of salt pork cut in dice and brown until crisp, add six sliced onions to the pork fat, cook for five minutes, then add a half dozen sliced potatoes, cover with water and cook, adding the fish; when all are tender add milk, some crackers soaked in boiling water, salt and pepper to taste. Serve in soup bowls.

Scallop of Pork and Cabbage—Place a layer of thinly sliced roast pork, using two cupfuls, a cup and a half of cooked cabbage and a cupful and a half of white sauce, arranged in layers in a baking dish. Put into a hot oven and bake until the sauce is bubbling hot.

Date Souffle—Beat the whites of four eggs very stiff, add gradually one-half cupful of sugar, then stir in a pound of dates that have been stoned and rubbed to a paste. Bake in a well-buttered baking dish until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

Peas and Walnut Salad—Take equal quantities of cold cooked peas and walnut meats broken in bits, season well with French dressing and let stand one hour, then serve in lemon cups with mayonnaise dressing.

Potato and Nut Salad—Take three boiled potatoes, three hard-cooked eggs, one-half cupful of walnut meats and a dozen olives. Cut all fine and mix with French dressing. Just before serving add a little mayonnaise.

Spanish Chicken Soup—Heat three cupfuls of chicken stock and the same of veal. Add a grated onion, a finely minced carrot and two stalks of celery chopped fine. Add one cup of barley and simmer until the barley is done. Season to taste and rub through a sieve before serving.

A half cupful of tapoca put into chicken broth and cooked slowly for half an hour makes a most delicate soup. Season to taste and add beaten egg just before serving.

By friendship I mean the greatest love, and the greatest usefulness and the most open communication and the noblest sufferings and the most exemplary faithfulness and the severest truth and the heartiest counsel and the greatest union of mind, of which brave men and women are capable.

HOUSEHOLD CONVENIENCES.

The skillful worker in any business always keeps up-to-date tools, for he knows he will thus increase his efficiency. The efficient housewife also knows that time, strength and temper are lost by using old, worn-out and cumbersome utensils.

Why use dull paring and carving knives when a small sharpener can be bought which will keep all cutting tools in good order? If there is any one thing which will cause one to use strong language it is a dull carving knife.

A tray to remove food and dishes from the dining table or to carry it to the table is a great saving of steps. If one cannot afford to buy a wheeled tray or tea wagon get the handy man to make you one, using the small wheels from an old go-cart. A wire dish drainer is light and can be used as a tray if no other is at hand, for it is easy to carry.

Paper or wooden trays or plates make fine dishes to use in the ice box, for they do not break and may be renewed often at little expense.

Paper of all kinds saves dish washing. Wipe out the greasy dishes with a piece of soft paper before putting them into the dish water. Keep the table wiped up with paper, saving the dishcloth for stains and grease.

A kitchen table covered with zinc or some hard surface that does not need scouring to keep clean is a most necessary kitchen convenience. Some good scales, a good clock, a kitchen cabinet with everything at hand to use in cookery, are all necessary equipment.

Keep a bottle of kerosene near the sink, and when it is dry wipe out with a cloth dampened with kerosene; it will keep clean without scouring. Repeated scourings with various cleaning powders will ruin the surface, so that it becomes rough and stains easily.

Have a stool that will slip under the table when not needed and use it to sit on while preparing vegetables or doing many kinds of work. It will be found a great saving on tired feet. One can learn to wash and wipe dishes and iron sitting on a stool. Have a rung on which to rest the feet to change one's position.

A small, simple old rocking chair in the kitchen will save many a breakdown. Drop into it while doing various things and relax when possible, keeping a card index of recipes in the kitchen in a convenient place to use in planning the meals.

GREEN FANCY

by GEORGE BARR Mc CUTCHEON

Author of "GRAUSTARK," "THE HOLLOW OF HER HAND," "THE PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK," ETC.

The Girl of Green Fancy.

Synopsis.—Thomas K. Barnes, a wealthy young New Yorker, on a walking trip in New England near the Canadian border, is given a lift in an automobile by a mysterious and attractive girl, who says she is bound for a house called Green Fancy. At Hart's tavern Barnes finds a stranded troupe of "barn-storming" actors, of which Lyndon Rushcroft is the star and "Miss Thackeray" the leading lady. They are doing hotel work for their board. Barnes finds them entertaining, but as the storm rages he worries over the mysterious and attractive girl of the automobile and wonders if she got safely to Green Fancy.

He had been standing there not more than half a minute peering in the direction from whence came the rhythmic bang of the anvil—at no great distance, he was convinced—when some one spoke suddenly at his elbow. He whirled and found himself facing the gaunt landlord.

"Good Lord! You startled me," he exclaimed. His gaze traveled past the tall figure of Putnam Jones and rested on that of a second man, who leaned, with legs crossed and arms folded, against the porch post directly in front of the entrance to the house, his features almost wholly concealed by the broad-brimmed slouch hat that came far down over his eyes. He, too, it seemed to Barnes, had sprung from nowhere.

"Fierce sight," said Putnam Jones, removing the cornucop pipe from his lips. Then, as an afterthought, "Where'd you walk from today?"

"I slept in a farmhouse last night, about fifteen miles south of this place, I should say."

"That'd be a little ways out of East Cobb," speculated Mr. Jones. "Five or six miles."

"Goin' over into Canada?"

"No, I shall turn west, I think, and strike for the Lake Champlain country."

"I suppose you've traveled right smart in Europe?"

"Quite a bit, Mr. Jones."

"Any particular part?"

"No," said Barnes, suddenly divining that he was being "pumped." "One end to the other, you might say."

"What about them countries down around Bulgaria and Roumania? I've been considerable interested in what's going to become of them if Germany gets licked. What do they get out of it, either way?"

Barnes spent the next ten minutes expatiating upon the future of the Balkan states. Jones had little to say. He was interested, and drank to all the information that Barnes had to impart. He puffed at his pipe, nodded his head from time to time, and occasionally put a leading question. And quite as abruptly as he introduced the topic he changed it.

"Not many automobiles up here this time o' the year," he said. "I was a little surprised when you said a feller had given you a lift. Where from?"

Corner and was on his way to meet someone at Spanish Falls. It appears that there was a misunderstanding. The driver didn't meet the train, so the person he was going after walked all the way to the forks. We happened upon each other there, Mr. Jones, and we studied the signpost together. She was bound for a place called Green Fancy.

"Did you say she?"

"Yes, I was proposing to help her out of her predicament when the belated motor came racing down the slope."

"What for sort of looking lady was she?"

"She wore a veil," said Barnes succinctly.

"Young?"

"I had that impression. By the way, Mr. Jones, what and where is Green Fancy?"

"Well," began the landlord, lowering his voice, "it's about two miles and a half from here, up the mountain. It's a house and people live in it, same as any other house. That's about all there is to say about it."

"Why is it called Green Fancy?"

"Because it's a green house," replied Jones succinctly. "Green as a gourd. A man named Curtis built it a couple of years ago and he had a fool idea about paintin' it green. Might ha' been a little crazy, for all I know. Anyhow, after he got it finished he settled down to live in it, and from that day to this he's never been off'n the place."

"Isn't it possible that he isn't there at all?"

"He's there, all right. Every now and then he has visitors—just like this woman today—and sometimes they come down here for supper. They don't hesitate to speak of him, so he must be there. Miss Tilly has got the idea that he is a recluse, if you know what that is."

"Further conversation was interrupted by the irregular clatter of horses' hoofs on the macadam. Off to the left a dull red glow of light spread across the roadway and a man's voice called out, "Whoa, dang ye!"

The door of the smithy had been thrown open and someone was leading forth freshly shod horses.

A moment later the horses—prancing, high-spirited animals—their bridle bits held by a strapping blacksmith, came into view. Barnes looked in the direction of the steps. The two men had disappeared. Instead of stopping directly in front of the steps the smith led his charges quite a distance beyond and into the darkness.

Putnam Jones abruptly changed his position. He insinuated his long body between Barnes and the doorway, at the same time rather loudly proclaiming that the rain appeared to be over.

"Yes, sir," he repeated, "she seems to have let up altogether. Ought to have a nice day tomorrow, Mr. Barnes—nice cool day for walkin'."

Voices came up from the darkness. Jones had not been able to cover them with his own. Barnes caught two or three sharp commands, rising above the pawing of horses' hoofs, and then a great clatter as the mounted horsemen rode off in the direction of the crossroads.

Barnes waited until they were muffled by distance and then turned to Jones with the laconic remark:

"They seem to be foreigners, Mr. Jones."

Jones' manner became natural once more. He leaned against one of the posts and, striking a match on his leg, relighted his pipe.

"Kind o' curious about 'em?" he drawled.

"It never entered my mind until this instant to be curious," said Barnes.

"Well, it entered their minds about an hour ago to be curious about you," said the other.

CHAPTER IV.

An Extraordinary Chambermaid, a Midnight Tragedy, and a Man Who Said "Thank You."

Miss Thackeray was "turning down" his bed when he entered his room after bidding his new actor friends good night. He was staggered and somewhat abashed by the appearance of Miss Thackeray. She was by no means dressed as a chambermaid should be, nor was she as dumb. On the contrary, she confronted him in the choicest raiment that her wardrobe contained, and she was bright and cheery and exceedingly incoherent. It was her costume that shocked him. Not only was she attired in a low-necked, rose-colored evening gown, liberally bespangled with tinsel, but she wore a vast, top-heavy picture hat whose crown of black was almost wholly obscured by a gorgeous white feather that once must have adorned the king of all ostriches. She was not at all his idea of a chambermaid. He started to back out of the door with an apology for having blundered into the wrong room by mistake.

"Come right in," she said cheerily. "I'll soon be through. I suppose I should have done all this an hour ago, but I just had to write a few letters. I am Miss Thackeray. This is Mr. Barnes, I believe."

He bowed, still quite overcome. "You needn't be scared," she cried, observing his confusion. "This is my regular uniform. I'm starting a new style for chambermaids. Did it paralyze you to find me here?"

"I couldn't believe my eyes."

She abandoned her easy, careless manner. A look of mortification came into her eyes as she straightened up and faced him. Her voice was a trifle husky when she spoke again, after a moment's pause.

"You see, Mr. Barnes, these are the only duds I have with me. It wasn't necessary to put on this hat, of course, but I did it simply to make the character complete. I might just as well make beds and clean washstands in a picture hat as in a low-necked gown, so here I am."

"You See, Mr. Barnes, These Are the Only Duds I Have With Me."

She was a tall, pleasant-faced girl of twenty-three or four, not unlike her father in many respects.

"I am very sorry," he said lamely. "I have heard something of your misfortunes from your father and—the others. It's—It's really hard luck."

"I call it rather good luck to have got away with the only dress in the lot that cost more than tuppence," she said, smiling again. "Lord knows what would have happened to me if they had dropped down on us at the end of the first act. I was the beggar's daughter, you see—absolutely in rags. Glad to have met you, I think you'll find everything nearly all right. Good night, sir."

She closed the door behind her, leaving him standing in the middle of the room, perplexed but amused.

"By George," he said to himself, still staring at the closed door, "they're wondrous, all of them. I wish I could do something to help them out of—"

He sat down abruptly on the edge of the bed and pulled his wallet from his pocket. He set about counting the bills, a calculating frown in his eyes. Then he stared at the ceiling, summing up a moment of mental figuring. He told off a half dozen bills and slipped them into his pocket. The wallet sought its usual resting place for the night: Under a pillow.

He was healthy and he was tired. Two minutes after his head touched the pillow he was sound asleep.

He was aroused shortly after midnight by shouts, apparently just outside his window. A man was calling in a loud voice from the road below; an instant later he heard a tremendous pounding on the tavern door.

Springing out of bed, he rushed to the window. There were horses in front of the house—several of them—and men on foot moving like shadows among them.

Turning from the window, he unlocked and opened the door into the hall. Some one was clattering down the narrow staircase. The bolts on the front door shot back with resounding force, and there came the hoarse jumble of excited voices as men crowded through the entrance. Putnam Jones' voice rose above the clamour.

"Keep quiet! Do you want to wake everybody on the place?" he was saying angrily. "What's up? This is a fine time o' night to be—Good Lord! What's the matter with him?"

"Telephone for a doctor, Put—damn! quick! This one's still alive. The other one is dead as a door nail up at Jim Conley's house. Git ole Doc James down from Saint Liz. Bring him in here, boys. Where's your light? Easy now! Easy—"

Barnes waited to hear no more. His blood seemed to be running ice cold as he retreated into the room and began scrambling for his clothes. The thing he feared had come to pass. Disaster had overtaken her in that wild, senseless dash up the mountain road. He was cursing half aloud as he dressed, cursing the fool who drove that machine and who now was perhaps dying down there in the taproom. "The other one is dead as a door nail," kept running through his head—the other one.

A dozen men were in the taproom, gathered around two tables that had been drawn together. The men about the table, on which was stretched the figure of the wounded man, were undoubtedly natives: Farmers, woodsmen or employees of the tavern. At a word from Putnam Jones they opened up and allowed Barnes to advance to the side of the man.

"See if you c'n understand him, Mr. Barnes," said the landlord. Perspiration was dripping from his long, raw-boned face. "And you, Bacon—you and Dillingford hustle upstairs and get a mattress off'n one of the beds. Stand at the door there, Pike, and don't let any woman in here. Go away, Miss Thackeray! This is no place for you."

Miss Thackeray pushed her way past the man who tried to stop her and joined Barnes.

"It is the place for me," she said sharply. "Haven't you men got sense enough to put something under his head? Where is he hurt? Get that cushion, you. Stick it under here when I lift his head. Oh, you poor thing! We'll be as quick as possible. There!"

The man's eyes were closed, but at the sound of a woman's voice he opened them. The hand with which he clutched at his breast slid off and seemed to be groping for hers. His breathing was terrible. There was blood at the corners of his mouth, and more oozed forth when his lips parted in an effort to speak.

With a courage that surprised even herself, the girl took his hand in hers. It was wet and warm. She did not dare look at it.

"Merci, madame," struggled from the man's lips, and he smiled.

Barnes leaned over and spoke to him in French. The dark, pain-stricken eyes closed, and an almost imperceptible shake of the head signified that he did not understand. Evidently he had acquired only a few of the simple French expressions. Barnes had a slight knowledge of Spanish and Italian, and tried again with no better results. German was his last resort, and he knew he would fall once more, for the man obviously was not Teutonic.

The bloody lips parted, however, and the eyes opened with a piteous, appealing expression in their depths. It was apparent that there was something he wanted to say, something he had to say before he died. He gasped a dozen words or more in a tongue utterly unknown to Barnes, who bent closer to catch the feeble effort. It was he who now shook his head; with a groan the sufferer closed his eyes in despair. He choked and coughed violently an instant later.

"Get some water and a towel," cried Miss Thackeray, tremulously. She was very white, but still clung to the man's hand. "Be quick! Behind the bar."

Barnes unbuttoned the coat and revealed the blood-soaked white shirt.

"Better leave this to me," he said in her ear. "There's nothing you can do. He's done for. Please go away."

"Oh, I sha'n't faint—at least, not yet. Poor fellow! I've seen him upstairs and wondered who he was. Is he really going to die?"

"Looks bad," said Barnes, gently opening the shirt front. Several of the crawling men turned away suddenly.

"Who is he, Mr. Jones?"

"He is registered as Andrew Paul, from New York. That's all I know. The other man put his name down as Albert Roon. He seemed to be the boss and this man a sort of servant, far as I could make out. They never talked much and seldom came downstairs. They had their meals in their room."

"There is nothing we can do," said Barnes, "except try to stanch the flow of blood. He is bleeding inwardly, I'm afraid. It's a clean wound, Mr. Jones. Like a rifle shot, I should say."

"That's just what it is," said one of the men, a tall woodsman. "The feller who did it was a dead shot, you c'n bet on that. He got 't other man square through the heart."

"Lord, but this will raise a rumpus," growled the landlord. "We'll have detectives an'—"

"I guess they got what was comin' to 'em," said another of the men.

"What's that? Why, they was ridin' peaceful as could be to Spanish Falls. What do you mean by sayin' that, Jim Conley?" But wait a minute! How does it happen that they were up near your dad's house? That certainly ain't on the road to Span—"

"Spanish Falls nothin'! They wasn't goin' to Spanish Falls any more'n I am at this minute. They tied their horses up the road just above our house," said young Conley, lowering his voice out of consideration for the feelings of the helpless man. "It was about 'leven o'clock, I reckon. I was comin' home from singin' school up at Number Ten, an' I passed the hosses hitched to the fence. Naturally I stopped, curious like. There wasn't no one around, fer as I could see, so I thought I'd take a look to see whose hosses they were. I thought it was derved funny, them hosses bein' there at that time o' night an' no one around. Looked mighty queer to me. Course, thinks I, they might belong to somebody visitin' in there at Green Fancy, so I thought I'd—"

"Green Fancy," said Barnes, starting.

"Was it up that far?" demanded Jones.

Mystery follows upon tragedy. Who are the men and why were they shot? Barnes finds himself forced into the complication.

GERMANY CAN'T FULFILL TERMS

Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau Declares It Is Beyond Country's Power.

SENDS NOTE TO THE ALLIES

Declares "More Deeply We Penetrate Spirit of Treaty the More Convinced We Become of Impossibility of Carrying It Out."

Washington, June 2.—Execution of the peace treaty as framed by the Versailles conference is declared to be "more than the German people can bear" by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, in a note to the associated governments outlining the German counter-proposals.

Count Brockdorff-Rantzau in his note, the text of which was made public by the state department, further asserts:

"The more deeply we penetrate into the spirit of this treaty, the more convinced we become of the impossibility of carrying it out."

The text of the German note, dated May 29, reads:

"I have the honor to transmit to you herewith the observations of the German delegation on the draft treaty of peace. We came to Versailles in the expectation of receiving a peace proposal based on the agreed principles. We were firmly resolved to do everything in our power with a view of fulfilling the grave obligations which we had undertaken.

"We hoped for the peace of justice which had been promised to us. We were aghast when we read in documents the demands made upon us (?) the victorious violence of our enemies."

"The more deeply we penetrate into the spirit of this treaty the more convinced we become of the impossibility of carrying it out. The executions of this treaty are more than the German people can bear."

"With a view to the re-establishment of the Polish state we must renounce indisputably German territory, nearly the whole of the province of West Prussia, which is preponderantly German; of Pomerania, Danzig, which is German to the core. We must let the ancient Hanse town be transformed into a free state under Polish suzerainty."

"We must agree that East Prussia shall be annexed from the body of the state, condemned to a lingering death and robbed of its northern portion, including Memel, which is purely German. We must renounce Upper Silesia for the benefit of Poland and Czechoslovakia, although it has been in close political connection with Germany for more than 750 years, is distinct with German life, and forms the very foundation of industrial life throughout east Germany."

"Preponderantly German circles (Kreis) must be ceded to Belgium."

"Although the exaction of the cost of the war has been expressly renounced, as yet Germany, thus cut in pieces and weakened, must declare herself ready in principle to bear all the war expenses of her enemies, which would exceed many times over the total amount of German state and private assets. The German people would be condemned to perpetual slave labor."

"In spite of the exorbitant demands, the reconstruction of our economic life is at the same time rendered impossible. We must surrender our merchant fleet. We are to renounce all foreign securities. We are to hand over to our enemies our property in all German enterprises abroad, even in the countries of our allies."

"Even after the conclusion of peace the enemy states are to have the right of confiscating all German property. No German trader in their countries will be protected from these war measures. We must completely renounce our colonies, and not even German missionaries shall have the right to follow their calling therein. We must renounce the realization of all our aims in the spheres of politics, economics and ideas."

Speedway, Indianapolis, June 3.—"Howdy" Wilcox of Indianapolis piloted his Peugeot to victory in the 500-mile race held here on Saturday. Three of the contestants—two drivers and a mechanic—were killed in the early stages of the race. Arthur Thurman, a young driver from Washington, was the first to die. Shortly afterward Louis Lecocq and his helper, R. Bandini, were burned to death.

All Yanks Home by August 1.

Washington, June 4.—Continued use of naval ships in returning troops from France was urged by Secretary Baker. With the aid of the navy, the secretary said, practically every soldier will be out of France by August 1.

"CALLUS CORNS" LIFT RIGHT OFF

Apply a few drops of "Freezone"—No pain!

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that ruins men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out for the sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bino-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphorus than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bino-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bino-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—A general bino-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

"Yes; I imagine about ten years."

Lalley Light and Power

Has Saved Labor for Owners for Many Years

Lalley Light is a complete unit—engine and generator—with 18-cell storage battery. It supplies ample electricity for lights, water pump, washing machines, soap, cream separator, fanning mill, etc.

The Lalley Light savings you read about are no new thing. Thousands of farmers know of them now.

Some fortunate Lalley owners have known of them for many years. That is how long the plant has been in farm use.

So these old Lalley owners have paid for their plants, out of the savings, several times over.

Over Three Years' Economical Service

We have had one of your plants installed in our Long Distance switching station for three years. We use it for charging the batteries for both long distance telephone and telegraph operation. During the entire three years it has given continuous service and has been satisfactory in every respect. We find the plant runs from 5 to 6 hours on a gallon of gasoline. Creelville, Ohio, February 17, 1919.

Four Years of Excellent Service

We have had your electric light and power plants since March 13, 1915. During all this period these have given excellent service, have provided electric light for the main building of 37 rooms, men's cottage, 6 rooms, one other cottage, barn and garage. This electricity has been a great saver of labor for us. Route 4, Westerville, Ohio, Yours respectfully, (Signed) W. E. Chapman, Supt. February 15th, 1919.

Cost Less Than 50c Per Week for 3 1/2 Years

Your electric plant now in operation here has done splendid work from the time of its installation. It has been used in lighting church, parson house and sisters' house for almost three years and a half. The expense of operating the plant has been about twenty five dollars a year. Very few repairs have been necessary in its upkeep. My opinion after the experience with the plant is, that its efficiency may be depended upon for a long time to come. Am well pleased so far in every detail and feel inclined to give it the recommendation it so well deserves. Yours sincerely, (Signed) Jacob Kuebler, Pastor, Sacred Heart Church. Shelby Settlement, Ohio, February 17, 1919.

Saves Labor for Over 3 1/2 Years

Your electric light and power plant, which was installed over 3 1/2 years ago, provides light for my big house, the 40 x 60 barn, a yard light and the pump house.

As I am a school teacher I have to do much of my farm work before daylight and after dark. I don't see how I could get along without the Lalley Light—it would require the labor of at least one extra man if we did not have it. Very truly yours, (Signed) E. Jay Line. Galion, Ohio, R. D. 1, February 17, 1919.

WITH CAUSE KNOWN DISEASE EASILY CURED

Inability to Correctly Discover Cause of Disease Cause of Many Deaths

So much depends on the proper diagnosis, that the battle for the cure is half won, when the true cause of the disease is discovered. For some reason many doctors fail to discover the cause of the disease, and do not know what ailed the patient until he dies and is cut open. This condition furnishes the reason so many suffer from year to year with chronic disease.

The sufferer "dopes" himself with patent medicines with no help whatever. Many of these sufferers have finally reached Dr. Karass expert Specialist in chronic diseases and were cured.

Dr. Karass expert in the treatment of chronic diseases, makes a most careful and thorough examination of each case that calls. The direct cause of the ailment is discovered which he removes by easy stages, and thus brings back the health, and makes a vigorous body of a run down system. Dr. Karass treats all diseases of the heart, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, brain, nerves, skin, including rheumatism, epilepsy, catarrh, asthma, deafness, head noises, weak lungs, stomach trouble, head ache, bloating, eczema, and special diseases. The doctor treats without operation goitre, piles, tumors, rupture, gall stones, chronic appendicitis, and special diseases of women. Examination free of all.

Dr. Karass is in his office in the Republican House, Kewaskum, Wisc. every Wednesday. Hours 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.—Advertisement.

Fear of Knife Drives Woman to Poison. Dreading Operation Woman Swallows Deadly Poison.

Fearing another operation a Milwaukee woman tried to end her life recently by taking deadly poison. Many people would rather die than submit to a surgical operation. That gall stones, appendicitis, piles, rupture, tumors, goitre and special diseases of women can be treated without operation has been proven time and again by Dr. Karass. The doctor treats all these conditions without the knife. Dr. Karass also treats chronic diseases of the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, brain, nerves, liver, kidneys, skin, including rheumatism, epilepsy, sciatica, catarrh, asthma, head noises, deafness, stomach trouble, headaches, weak lungs, general weakness, and special diseases.

The doctor makes a thorough examination of every one who calls and if he finds that he can help them he will tell them so, if he cannot help, he will refuse to treat them. Examination free to all.

Dr. Karass is in his office at the Republican House, Kewaskum, Wisc., every Wednesday. Hours 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned.

The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

The Mission of Swift & Company

Swift & Company has become one of the large businesses of the world through continuing to meet the growing needs of a nation and a world.

Society has a right to ask how the increasing responsibilities and opportunities for usefulness which go with such growth are being used by the men who direct its affairs—and the men have the right to answer:

To promote the production of live stock and perishables and increase the food supply;

To reach more people with more and better meat;

To make a fair competitive profit, in order to reimburse the 25,000 shareholders for the use of their capital, and to provide for the future development of the business;

To reduce to a minimum the costs of preparing and distributing meat and to divide the benefits of efficiency with producer and consumer;

To live and let live, winning greater business only through greater usefulness, with injury to nothing but incompetency, inefficiency and waste; to deal justly, fairly, and frankly with all mankind.

These are the purposes and motives of the men who direct the policies and practices of Swift & Company.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

TO KILL FOREIGN LANGUAGE BILLS

Senate State Affairs Committee Favors Postponement.

OLD AGE PENSION ACT O. K.'D

Measure Provides for Persons Sixty Years of Age—Wisconsin National Guard to Be Reorganized.

Madison.—There will be no foreign language legislation at this session of the Wisconsin legislature. The state affairs committee of the senate has reported for indefinite postponement all bills on this subject before the upper branch, and the sentiment of the senate indicates that all of the measures will be defeated by a decisive vote.

In the lower house two foreign language bills have already been killed, and the hope of forcing a measure to that house is not bright. One of the assembly measures provided that the teaching of foreign languages below the high school should be prohibited in all schools of the state, public, private and parochial. This measure was sweeping in its effect and was opposed by many of the churches. After it had been indefinitely postponed a second bill was offered which prohibited the teaching of any foreign language below the high school in the public schools of the state. This measure was also defeated. The indefinite postponement of these two bills indicated that the assembly was not in favor of any legislation on the subject and the unfavorable report of the state affairs committee of the senate indicates that the upper house will take a similar stand on these measures when they come up for consideration.

The senate by a unanimous vote passed a joint resolution, offered by Senator Mueber, memorializing the president of the United States and congress to take steps to stop Jewish massacres in Eastern Europe. Senator Skogmo said that if the resolution meant armed intervention he would want to reflect on the matter. Senator Huber said that intervention was not the intention of the resolution.

Sentiment in favor of the adoption of a modification in Europe has manifested itself in the legislature and the senate has sent to congress a bill by a vote of 12 to 14. The Zumaich bill to accomplish this purpose. The bill is not as radical as some of the old age pension measures which have been introduced in former sessions of the legislature. The Zumaich bill provides for home relief for the aged instead of care in county institutions.

The Zumaich measure provides that any person who is at least sixty-five years of age and incapacitated from gainful work by permanent mental or physical disability and who possesses the qualifications under the terms of the law, may receive a pension. The qualifications are that he must be a citizen of the United States, a resident in Wisconsin for at least fifteen years and in the county in which application is made for at least one year prior to the time of making application; that he is of good moral character; of temperate and industrious character; that he has not been convicted of habitual drunkenness or vagrancy; that he has not within a period of ten years next preceding the time of making application been committed to an almshouse or received any form of public relief to the value of more than $25, and that he has not alienated any property for the purpose of qualifying for a pension hereunder, and that he does not have a clear income of $350 per annum, if married, or of more than $200 per annum, if single, divorced, abandoned or a widow.

In each county containing a city of the first, second or third class the state board of control shall appoint an old age pension committee of three members to act in an advisory capacity to the county judge of said county. Each member of said committee shall receive for his services as much per diem as $5, but no such member shall receive more than $100 in any year.

The state board of control may increase or decrease a pension upon satisfactory proof of such change in the pensioner's circumstances as will warrant such action, and may revoke a pension upon proof of facts which would disqualify an applicant.

The Wisconsin National Guard will be reorganized as soon as congress passes the reorganization bill which is now pending. The new or reorganized National Guard will be composed of approximately 10,500 officers and men, with about 6,000 in reserve if the plans of Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway are carried out as anticipated.

Amends Personal Injury Bill.

Senator Severson has prepared a substitute to his negligence and personal injury bill, with which a substitute and an amendment are now pending in committee. Senator Severson's substitute provides that "Any action to recover damages caused by the omission to comply with any of the requirements of section 1809, or want of care less than gross negligence shall bar recovery; provided, however, that intoxication of the person killed or injured shall be a defense if it was the proximate cause thereof."

Bishop Fallows Is Honored.

The long record of service to mankind of Bishop Samuel Fallows, now eighty-four years old, was commemorated by Chicago alumni and alumnae of the University of Wisconsin recently in Chicago.

The occasion was a dinner in celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Bishop Fallows' graduation from the university. Following is his record as given in enclosed resolutions presented to him and bearing the signatures of many members of the University of Wisconsin club of Chicago:

"Organized two volunteer regiments to fight in the Union cause in the Civil war.

"Served in that war as captain of the Thirty-second Wisconsin infantry, as lieutenant colonel of the Fortieth Wisconsin infantry and as colonel of the Forty-ninth Wisconsin infantry, becoming finally a brigadier general in the United States army.

"All his life taught the gospel of right living and progress.

"Wrote and published many helpful essays, lectures and books.

"Served as regent of the University of Wisconsin, as state superintendent of public instruction of Wisconsin, and on many other public administrative boards for the advancement of education, health and morals.

"Worked diligently and effectively in the world's war, using his eloquence to inspire our soldiers and sailors to meet the clash of arms with enthusiasm and power, to forward the work of the Red Cross and other war undertakings."

Bridge Controversy Is Revived.

The famed Prairie du Sac bridge controversy, subject of a supreme court decision and of many protracted hearings, was heard again the past week before the state highway commission.

In 1913 the matter was involved in action of the legislature which authorized to the state a third of the cost of constructing all bridges exceeding 500 feet. The municipality and county each were to pay a third.

Some time ago Prairie du Sac, Sauk county, applied to the state highway commission for an estimate on a 1,500-foot bridge across the Wisconsin river. West Point, Columbia county, objected to paying its share for construction of a bridge, the necessity of which was questioned.

The matter was taken to supreme court, which decided against Columbia county.

The original $72,000 fixed by the legislature will not build the bridge because of the increased cost of materials and labor. Accordingly, a new petition has been brought to the commission. The entire matter is now where it was years ago. The commission will decide as to the necessity of the bridge and estimate the cost.

Cherry Orchards Heavily Laden.

This is cherry blossom time in Door county. This is a sight worth traveling many miles to see.

The beauty is enhanced by the delicious odor of the perfume that comes from the orchards, and autoists can travel for miles and enjoy the treat.

There are 2,500 acres of cherry orchards. With the trees in bloom at the same time one can easily imagine the beauty of the sight. According to the orchard owners, buds are in a healthy condition and the limbs are fairly covered.

The most conservative estimate of the crop is 250,000 cases.

Thousands of pickers have been engaged. The state Y. M. C. A. will furnish 500 and the boy scouts of Chicago will send up as many more.

The canning factory is making preparations to can all surplus cherries.

War on Intoxicated Auto Drivers.

"Automobile accidents in Madison and Dane county must stop." With that decree, District Attorney Romas Heffman, Sheriff Julius Krug and Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy have launched a warfare against boozing fighters and speeders who, in a large degree, are responsible for the many accidents during the last few weeks. Three speed "cops," two in the county and one in the city, and the law which provides two years in Waupun for offenders, are their weapons.

Eight-Hour Day for Women.

The Maszkowski bill fixing an eight-hour day for women employed in factories was amended by the assembly so as to limit the amount of overtime to six hours a week. This measure fixes an eight-hour day for women in factories, with time and a half for overtime; but the amount of overtime shall not exceed six hours weekly. In the amended form the bill was advanced, 40 to 27.

Sentences for Four Janesville Men.

Edwin Davis, Robert Lowry, Marvin Kirby, and Isaac Nelson of Janesville were sentenced to 30 days in jail by Federal Judge A. L. Sarbom on a charge of illicit sale of liquor to soldiers.

Ballard's Efforts of No Avail.

Assemblyman Ballard attempted to kill the bill to detach a portion of the town of Richmond and add the same to the city of Shawano. He said that the farmers in the town of Richmond were opposed to the bill and claimed that it would increase their rate of taxation. Assemblyman Weirman said that a large paper mill was located in this town and that the city of Shawano was compelled to furnish fire and police protection. By a vote of 51 to 15 the assembly refused to kill the bill and it finally passed.

Badger State Happenings

Menomonee—The assessors of Dunn county passed a resolution at their annual meeting favoring exemption of purebred herd sires from assessment for taxation. The sponsors of the resolution argue that because the livestock interests of the state will be greatly improved thereby, and other benefits will accrue, the purebred bulls should be relieved from assessment. A copy of the resolution has been sent to the representatives of the county in the state assembly and senate with the request that the matter be acted upon at this session. Farmers throughout the country are in favor of the move. It also means that the days of the scrub and grade sires are numbered.

Madison—Another pardon application is to be filed for the release of John F. Dietz, defender of Cameron Hill. His children are circulating petitions throughout the state, and during the past week have been in Winnebago county gathering names to be filed with the governor asking an immediate pardon. The application for the pardon will not be filed until 1,000,000 names have been recorded. These will be gathered all over Wisconsin. Dietz is in the state penitentiary at Waupun, serving a twenty-year term for having killed Oscar Harp, a deputy sheriff, Oct. 8, 1910, at the time of the famous battle. Dietz's sentence was for life, but was commuted.

Superior—The scope of work conducted by Lake Superior Mission at Superior under the direction of the Rev. W. T. D. Powe is being extended. As the pastor has invited pastors of all churches to call on him for work in any part of the city. The mission is especially getting the good will of soldiers. The Rev. Mr. Powe was a chaplain in the Canadian army and understands the peculiarities of fighting men.

Elkhorn—Frank Holton, president of Frank Holton & Co., will build twenty-five new houses on Rogers recently purchased of O. B. Property in the north part of the city. Work will start soon and it is expected that the houses will be completed before winter. The houses will be modern five and six room bungalows costing from $3,000 to $4,000, and all will have different exteriors.

Ladysmith—The proposed Farmers' National bank and the State bank of Ladysmith have consolidated, making one of the strongest financial institutions in this part of Wisconsin. The capital, now $35,000.00, will be increased to $50,000.00, and surplus of $25,000.00. The merger is expected to give the people of this section a better banking service.

Beloit—A monument to Lieut. Ray C. Bickop of the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh infantry, who fell in action in France, was unveiled in the Catholic cemetery on Memorial day. Lieut. Bickop was mentioned by Gen. Pershing as one of the heroes of the war. After being badly wounded, he led an attack until shot to death.

Stoughton—Arrangements are being made for the organization of the eastern district Woman's Missionary federation which will be effected here June 21 by those affiliated with the Norwegian Lutheran church of America. Delegates are expected from 240 parishes in the region east of the Mississippi river.

Madison—Owing to the high cost of living, A. C. A., Blue Dragon, and S. G. A., co-operative cottages at the university, have voted to tangle at the annual $100 scholarship to the maintenance fund of the houses. Women students in the co-operative cottages must pay for all repairs and upkeep of the houses.

Lalley-Light

Eight Years in Use

We do not have to ask you to take our word for a single thing about Lalley-Light.

Back of everything we tell you are eight years of everyday farm use and experience.

We do not know of another farm light and power plant that has a record anything like this.

To you it amounts to a guarantee—stronger than any guarantee of words that we or the makers could give you.

Lalley-Light offers you no new, untried electrical system, but the finished result of eight years' use on practical farms like yours.

Next time you come to town, make it a point to see this plant.

A demonstration will give you a real idea of what it is and does, and put you under no obligation whatever.
