MATINEE RACES DRAW CROWDS

The matinee races at West Bend last Sunday afternoon were largely attended by people from all over the county. The races were very interesting and some of them were very closely contested, for reason, no doubt that the horses had received more training since the first races several weeks ago. The West Bend Driving association is to be complimented for their efforts in making the races a success. They have certainly started a good move in completing an organization of this kind. Some of the proceeds which are realized from these races go toward keeping the race track in condition during the year. With the good results that the association has so far had and with the large amount of interest that is being taken by citizens of the county, we would suggest that the association go one step further toward the promotion of these races. To get in touch with the officials of the agricultural societies of the various counties in this section of the state, and try and have them hold similar races in their respective counties. Then in the fall of the year have the best horses from each one of these counties compete at the county fair races, for high honors. This would in our opinion stimulate rivalry, create more interest for the fair races and be a bigger and better drawing card, not only for this county but for all the counties from which horses were represented in the races.

FEAR OF KNIFE DRIVES WOMAN TO POISON

Dreading Operation Woman Swallows Deadly Poison

Fearing another operation a Milwaukee woman tried to end her life recently by taking deadly poison. Many people would rather die than submit to a surgical operation. That gall stones, appendicitis, piles, rupture, tumors, goitre and special diseases of women can be treated without operation has been proven time and again by Dr. Karass. The doctor treats all these conditions without the knife. Dr. Karass also treats chronic diseases of the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, brain, nerves, liver, kidneys, skin, including rheumatism, epilepsy, sciatica, catarrh asthma, head aches, deafness, stomach trouble, head aches, weak lungs, general weakness, and special diseases. The doctor makes a thorough examination of every one who calls and if he finds that he can help them he will tell them so, if he cannot help, he will refuse to treat them. Examination free to all. The doctor is in his office in the Republican House, Kewaskum Wis., every Wednesday, Hours 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.—Adv.

NEW LAW FOR COMMUNITY CENTERS

A law recently passed by the legislature provides that a community center be erected in cities and villages of not less than 500 population. The new law promises that a community house may be maintained in any tract of contiguous territory containing an area of not less than sixteen square miles, such territory to be bounded by towns, school district, section, quarter section or ward lines, or streams, lakes, swamps or similar natural boundaries. Such house, if dedicated to the memory of the soldiers and sailors of the United States, may be called by the name of Memorial Community House of such district. The people have the right to vote whether a community center can be established. The officers of the community center shall be a director, treasurer and clerk, who shall constitute a board to manage its affairs. These officials are elected for three years, the term of one expiring each year. A tax not to exceed 1 mill may be voted for erection. Such community house shall be used for the following purposes: Public gatherings for information, discussion, recreation, amusement, public banquets, sappers, and festivals, athletic games, rest-rooms, community agricultural projects, and such other purposes as the electors may deem fit, and the board shall adopt rules and regulations governing the maintenance, operation and management.

JAS. B. DAY MAKES SEVERAL FARM SALES

James B. Day of this city made several important real estate deals the past couple of weeks.
July 3rd Mr. Day bought the 120 acre farm of Peter Fink in the town of Byron, Fond du Lac county, which he sold two days later to Alvin Kohlmann of Brownsville, for $21,000.
July 1st, Mr. Day bought the 140 acre farm of J. C. Zimmerman of the town of Byron, for $24,000 which he leased for a term of five years to Peter Hinkes. This farm is not for sale.
Mr. Day this week, bought the 148 acre farm of Otto Schrieber, in Burnett, for $8,000. This he sold shortly after, to Charles and Herman Berg.
Rosenheimer and Day sold the Haisley farm of 80 acres in the town of Hartford, Fond du Lac county, to Louis Sabath who has been a tenant on the farm for the last five years, for $12,000.
Mr. Day is making a proposition to all men he is putting on his farms as tenants, which is proving very popular with them. When they rent or lease the farm he offers to them $200 cash if he sells the farm while they are on it, or a quarter of the net profit of the sale. The choice is made when they make the lease, so there is no misunderstanding. This gives the tenant the opportunity of not only having his regular share in the products of the farm, but also his share of profits that come from his keeping the farm up in good condition. The tenant appreciates the liberality of the offer, and Mr. Day never fails to secure good wide awake men to take charge of his farms. The policy is surely more productive of good feeling than the way some farm owners have of scraping up every cent of the profit and never giving their tenants a chance to share in the results of their labor.—Hartford Press.

COUNTY BOARD IN SPECIAL SESSION

The County Board of Washington County met in special session at the court house at West Bend last week Friday. The meeting was called to order by John N. Peters, chairman of the last board.
The purpose of the meeting was to organize; to raise a fund for the installation of a heating plant in the court house, and making the necessary changes and alterations, including the erection of a chimney. Another reason for the meeting was to have the County Clerk call a special election on September 2nd, 1919, for the purpose of giving the electors of Washington county a chance to vote on the question whether or not the county shall place itself under bonds of $2,000,000, payable within twenty years, for the construction and maintenance of the state trunk highways. As the buildings on the fair grounds are in poor condition and new ones will have to be added to insure better fairs, and there is not a sufficient sum of money in the treasury to carry out this work, it was decided by the board that thirty thousand dollars be raised at once, the method to be used in raising this sum will be raised by selling twelve hundred shares at $25 a share. By following this method no property tax will have to be levied.

BARTON LANDS BIG NEW INDUSTRY

Our neighboring village of Barton at last succeeded in landing a big manufacturing enterprise. At a meeting held Monday the Stevenson Manufacturing company was organized with a capital stock of $100,000. The company bought two acres of land from Albert Klenke, situated north of the depot, between the river and the railroad track. On this site a modern fireproof factory building, 80 x 128 feet ground space, will be erected. The plant is expected to be ready in about three months. Barn equipment and hardware are to be manufactured in it.
At the stockholders' meeting the following board of directors was elected: J. J. Matenaer, August Schmidt, Math Mueller, A. J. Kupper, J. B. Fellenz, C. M. Stevenson, P. C. Wolf, M. H. Grassmann, and Geo. Gabel. The board of directors elected the following officers: P. C. Wolf, president; J. B. Fellenz, secretary; A. J. Kupper, treasurer.
Preliminary work for organizing the manufacturing concern had been carried on for weeks previous, and the promoters succeeded in largely interesting local men of means. It is to be hoped that the enterprise will prove a paying one and will be of material help in the advancement of Barton.—West Bend News.

BLIMP EXPLODES; 11 PERSONS DIE

Airship in Flames Crashes Through Roof of Chicago Bank.

CLERKSTRAPPED AND BURNED

Thousands See Big Gas Dirigible Burst and Crew Leap in Parachutes—Gas Tank Explodes in the Bank.

Chicago, July 23.—Eleven were killed and twenty-five injured when a gigantic dirigible on its test flight caught fire and fell 500 feet, crashing through the glass roof of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, Jackson boulevard and La Salle street, shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon.

Most of the dead were employees of the bank, trapped and burned to death in a withering rain of fire caused by the explosion of the balloon's gasoline tanks as they hit the floor of the bank rotunda, where over 200 bookkeepers and clerks, nearly all girls, were working.

The dead. James Carpenter, sixteen years old, Illinois Trust and Savings messenger. Earl H. Davenport, formerly a sporting writer on various papers.

Marie Florence, Illinois Trust and Savings bank employee. Irene Miles, stenographer, Illinois Trust and Savings bank.

Evelyn Meyers, stenographer Illinois Trust and Savings bank. Edward Munzer, correspondence clerk at bank.

Carl Otto, telegrapher for the bank. Joseph Scanlan, bank messenger. Henry "Buck" Weaver, Warren, O., mechanic; occupant of dirigible.

Unidentified woman, burned beyond recognition. Unidentified woman, so badly burned identification almost impossible.

The blimp, owned by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., had been flying about the city for several hours when the accident occurred. Thousands witnessed the catastrophe.

When approximately 500 feet above the bank a spurt of flame was seen to shoot from the center of the gas bag near the center of the aircraft. The crowds gathered on the streets to watch the flight saw the great machine buckle and quiver as it started on its fatal plunge.

Four of its five occupants jumped, and two landed safely in the streets as the blimp, a veritable ball of flame, struck the roof of the bank with a crash audible throughout the loop district.

There was nothing to warn the hundreds of employees of the institution of the coming tragedy. A shadow passed over the marble rotunda, where 150 were busy, and a terrifying crash followed. The bank's closing hour for patrons had passed, but the clerks were still at work in various departments.

It seemed, according to the survivors, that the entire bank was on fire. Breaking through the iron supports holding the glass overhead, the fuselage of the blimp, with two heavy rotary engines and several gasoline tanks, smashed to the floor.

Instantly the tanks exploded, scattering a wave of flaming gasoline over the workers for a radius of 50 feet. A panic ensued. There were only two exits through which they could leave the wire cage which surrounded the rotunda.

Men and girls with clothing flaming fought their way through the exits. Girls on the second floor ran screaming to the window and several jumped to the street.

In an instant the marble rotunda was cleared except for the dead, whose bodies were burned under the flaming mass, linked to a white heat by the gasoline blaze, and the dying, who crawled teetly away from the scorching fire, their clothes burning off.

The intense heat made rescue work impossible until after the fire department arrived on a four-eleven alarm call. It was 30 minutes before the bodies under the craft's fuselage could be dragged out. They were burned beyond recognition.

Meanwhile ambulances from every hospital and undertaking establishment near the center of the city came and the police threw a cordon about the place. Dozens were found to have been more or less seriously cut by the shower of glass which preceded the explosion.

The cause of the fire which brought the flaming gas bag plunging down is not known. None of the crew could describe a definite reason for the accident.

Representative Louis B. Goodall of Maine has combined business zeal with sentiment in his congressional directory biography. He says, among other things, that he originated the well-known palm beach cloth.

START FOR PACIFIC

BIG UNITED STATES FLEET IS ON THE WAY.

Dreadnaughts, Cruisers and Destroyers to Number of 175 Leave for West Coast.

Fortress Monroe, Va. July 19.—When the new Pacific fleet started out of Newport News at 8:30 a. m. a new epoch opened in American history. Few amid the bustle of departure, the hurried good-bys, the waving of handkerchiefs, may have realized that another leaf in the nation's development was unfolding.

From the time that America was born, a fleet has been in the Atlantic to protect her from danger in the east. Now she will have one equally strong, 50-50 between the two, to protect her from storm clouds wafted eastward.

Just 70 years ago the hardy forty-niners, lured by the yellow metal which makes and breaks nations, crossed the continent and California was added to the republic. Now through the isthmus of Panama, the new fleet, more battleships than our nation dreamed of owning only a few years ago, is going to string a floating rampart of steel to protect the Pacific.

A flock of torpedo-boat destroyers, birdlike in comparison with the ponderous dreadnaughts, were the first to get under way. At almost the same time the dreadnaught New Mexico, with the fleet commander's flag flying from one of its spider masts, started into sluggish motion.

Other dreadnaughts, predreadnaughts and cruisers fell in behind the big oil burners, carrying Admiral Rodman and his staff in addition to its regular ship complement of 915.

Though the fleet will eventually number 175 ships, not all are on the cruise. Of its seven dreadnaughts, the first under American colors to reach the Pacific, the Tennessee, is being overhauled. Several other fine dreadnaughts, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and miscellaneous tenders, which will eventually be part of the fleet, also will join later.

CHINESE TO FIGHT RUSSIANS

Expedition for Defense of Northwestern Frontiers to Be Made Against General Semenov's Forces.

Peking, July 22.—An expedition for the defense of the northwestern frontiers against General Semenov's alleged aggression there is perhaps China's most modern military effort.

Five thousand troops drawn from contingents trained by the Japanese for the national defense army are being dispatched toward Urga. For the first time in Chinese history automobiles in large numbers are being employed for the transportation of troops. It is expected that airplanes also will be utilized.

EX-CZAR'S BODY IS BURNED

Empress Was Shot Several Times—Proof of Their Deaths Found at Moscow.

Berlin, July 19.—Proof positive of the death of the Russian czarina is said to be contained in a secret official report in the archives at Moscow. The ex-empress was shot several times. After the first shot she said: "Miracles still happen. I am alive yet." At the next shot she dropped, mortally wounded. The czar was shot seven times. His body was taken to the Kremlin in a wooden box and there burned in a stove.

Return Belgian Machinery. Brussels, July 23.—The work of recovering stolen Belgian machinery from Germany is proceeding with full swing. Approximately 3,000 tons of machinery are being shipped back weekly to the original owners.

Farm Loan Law Is Attacked. Kansas City, Mo., July 23.—The constitutionality of the federal farm loan act was attacked in a test suit filed in the United States district court here by counsel for the Kansas City Title and Trust company.

SIX MOBS FORM IN WASHINGTON

Capital Police Force and Provost Guard Unable to Protect Negroes.

FORMER SOLDIERS IN CROWD

Six Bands Operate in Widely Separated Sections of the City and Make at Least Seven Attacks on Blacks.

Washington, July 22.—Despite the entire police force of the capital, together with the assistance of a provost guard, there were seven mob attacks on negroes here as a result of attacks on white women by negroes within the past two weeks.

Huge crowds of men were out searching for negroes, and a number of the latter have been taken to hospitals because of injuries they have suffered at the hands of the infuriated citizens.

On Pennsylvania avenue, the main thoroughfare of the capital, a crowd of men and boys, with a liberal sprinkling of discharged soldiers and sailors among them, quickly gathered.

Their mobilization was apparently the continuation of a massed attack on the negro quarter in the southwest section of the city.

It is estimated that more than 2,000 men made up the largest party, and there were smaller bands in other parts of the town. The sight of a negro was the signal for an attack.

"Get him!" was the cry raised and the fugitive "gotten."

The ambulance of the Emergency hospital would soon clang its way up the avenue to take the victim for treatment and the mob would start off on its search for fresh suspects.

The police and soldiers were evidently powerless in the face of at least six bands operating in widely scattered sections of the city.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE TO SPREAD

Thousands of Marine Workers Thrown Out of Employment—Few Owners Yield to Men's Demands.

New York, July 21.—The strike of seamen, firemen and others, which has resulted in holding several hundred ships at their piers here and caused stowage and railroad terminals to become piled high with freight, entered its second week. Thousands of marine workers have been thrown out of employment and unless a quick settlement is brought about still other trades connected with shipping will be affected. A few private owners are reported to have yielded to the strikers' demands, but their submission is considered almost immaterial in view of the fact that at this port about 400 vessels remain idle and at other ports the number of ships tied up is estimated at more than 100.

FORMER EMPEROR ILL

GREATLY DEPRESSED; PASSES MUCH TIME IN PRAYER.

Dutch Government to Deliver Ex-Ruler to the Allies at The Hague.

Paris, July 19.—The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin, the mouthpiece of the government under the imperial regime, declares it has information that Holland will consent to the extradition of former Emperor William, according to a Berlin dispatch to Paris newspapers.

The formal handing over of the former emperor to the allies, it adds, will take place at The Hague.

Berlin, July 19.—The Pan-German Deutsche Zeitung, which stands close to former royal circles, takes a serious view of the illness of former Emperor William, calling it "deep melancholy." It said that the one-time monarch is so depressed that his physician and family view his condition as critical.

Count Hohenzollern is said rarely to leave his apartment and seldom sees his closest friends.

The paper states that he spends many hours in prayer and that, when he does talk, he wants to converse on religious subjects.

The condition of the former emperor is such, according to the newspaper, that she may have to return to Germany for treatment of her old heart trouble.

FOCH TO VISIT THE U. S.

American Legion to Extend Invitation to the Marshal to Come in November.

New York, July 22.—Marshal Foch, commander in chief of the allied armies, is to be invited by the American Legion to visit America this fall and to attend the next meeting of the legion in November.

The invitation, long urged by the American veterans who fought under the allied generalissimo, is now crystallizing and will be dispatched by cable in a few days over the names of American soldiers now prominent in the great war veterans' association.

ENFORCEMENT BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Drastic Dry Measure Is Adopted by 287 to 100.

SEARCH AND SEIZURE BOARD

Powers Given Officers Under Act Practically Without Limit—Possession of Liquor in Private Dwellings Held Lawful When Reported.

Washington, July 23.—The prohibition enforcement bill, described by opponents of the measure as drastic enough to invite a veto by President Wilson, was finally passed by the house.

The bill was passed after a motion by Representative Igoe to recommit it was defeated by a vote of 255 to 136. Nearly every member of the house was in attendance, and so great was the noise that Representative Mondell was recorded as supporting the Igoe motion, but was permitted to change his vote.

The vote on the passage of the bill was 287 to 100, with three members voting present.

Of the 100 members voting against the bill 52 were Democrats and 48 Republicans, as follows:

Democrats—Bakka, Bec, Blackmon, Buchanan, Carew, Casey, Cleary, Coady, Cullen, Dent, Dewalt, Donovan, Dooling, Dupre, Eagan, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Gallivan, Gandy, Gard, Gold-fogle, Griffin, Humphreys, Igoe, Johnston, Lazero, Lea, Linthicum, Loneragan, McAndrews, McElannon, McKiniry, McLane, Maher, Martin, Mead, Minahan, Mooney, O'Connell, O'Connor, Pell, Phelan, Poy, John W. Rainey (Ill.), Riordan, Rowan, Sabath, Sherwood, Small, Smith (N. Y.), Steele and Sullivan, Total, 52.

Republicans—Baehrach, Britten, Burdick, Burke, Curry, Dyer, Edmonds, Freeman, Garland, Glynn, Haskell, Huh, Husted, Jeffers, Juhl, Kahn, Kennedy, Kleczka, La Guardia, Lam-pert, Leibach, Longworth, McArthur, MacCrate, Madden, Mann, Merritt, Moore, Morin, Mudd, Newton, Nolan, Ogden, Porter, Radcliffe, Ramsey, Reber, Rodenberg, Sanford, Stuel, Snyder, Stephens, Tinkham, Vane, Volch, Walsh, Ward, and Watson, Total, 48.

What the Bill Provides. The enforcement bill, as it passed the house, provides:

After January 16, 1920: Every person permitted under the law to have liquor in his possession shall report the quantity and kind to the commissioners of internal revenue. (This applies to chemists, physicians, etc.)

After February 1, 1920: The possession of any liquor, other than as authorized by the law, shall be prima facie evidence that it is being kept for sale or otherwise in violation of the law.

It will not be required, however, to report, and it will not be illegal to have in one's possession liquor in a private dwelling while the same is occupied and used by the possessor as his private dwelling, and the liquor is used for personal consumption by the owner, his family or his guests.

The possessor of such liquor, however, bears the burden of proof that the liquor was acquired and is possessed lawfully.

Intoxicating liquor is defined as a beverage containing more than one-half per cent of alcohol.

Any house, boat, vehicle or other place where liquor is manufactured or sold, is declared a nuisance.

No person shall manufacture, sell, barter, give away, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish or receive any intoxicating liquors.

No Drinking on Trains. Use of liquor as a beverage on any public conveyance, train, boat or jitney bus is prohibited.

Broad powers are given under the search and seizure section to officers charged with enforcement of the law. They may enter a dwelling house in which liquor is sold and seize it, together with implements of manufacture.

Seizure of all craft or vehicles used in the transportation of liquor is authorized.

Enforcement of the war-time act and the Constitutional amendment is provided for in the measure and in practically the same manner.

For first offense violators the maximum fine is $1,000 or six months' imprisonment and for subsequent offenses fines range from $200 to $2,000 or one month to five years in prison.

Enforcement of both the war-time act and the amendment is reposed in the internal revenue bureau and the department of justice.

Registered physicians are authorized under strict regulations for the use of liquor in cases where it may be considered necessary as a medicine.

Liquor advertisements of all kinds are prohibited.

No Camouflage in This Price

We have reduced the Titan 10-20 price $225. You can now get the world's standard 3-plow tractor for $1,000.

Titan
10-20
$1,000

Cash F.O.B. Factory
$1,050 on Time

When you buy a TITAN the original price includes:

Friction Clutch Pulley

A large, wide friction clutch pulley, made in five sizes, equipped with safety shield, is mounted directly on the crank-shaft of the low-speed, steady Titan engine and delivers the full power to the driven machine. The Titan 10-20 can be quickly backed into the belt because of the location of the pulley and the front end of the tractor and other parts of the tractor by a generous margin. It is not necessary to dig holes for the front wheels to get belt clearance. The Titan pulley was not put on as an afterthought. The designers did not overlook it in the first place. Some tractor builders committed this very serious error, due to lack of farm knowledge and experience. To remedy this error, they designed a small make-shift pulley, in one size only, attached it in an awkward place, and charge you $35 to $40 for it. The Titan 10-20 friction clutch pulley is furnished without extra charge.

Throttle Governor

Some tractors are sold without governors because, perhaps, the designers did not know that one was needed. Which is the best economy—to pay an operator a salary just to sit on the tractor and adjust the fuel to the load variations when engaged in belt work or let a throttle governor do it without extra cost?—do it automatically, perfectly. The Titan throttle governor saves fuel, prevents grain losses by delivering uniform power to your thrasher and lengthens the life of both tractor and driven machines. You get this governor without extra charge.

Drawbar

Some tractor builders put a hook and eye affair on the tail end of their tractors—and call it a drawbar! They seem to have overlooked the fact that a farm tractor not only pulls plows but also mowers, hay loaders, grain binders, harrowers, thrashers, etc., each requiring different hitch adjustment. Perhaps they didn't know about these other machines. Look at the Titan drawbar. Note the provisions for a wide range of adjustment both up and down and sidewise. The Titan drawbar fits every need and it is furnished without extra cost.

Fenders

The designers of some tractors evidently did not know that the drive wheels throw dirt, dust or mud over the operator and machine unless fenders prevent it. The Titan 10-20 has such fenders. They are also "safety first" feature. The state of Michigan has passed a law prohibiting the sale of fenderless tractors. Titan fenders are furnished without the $40 to $50 extra charge made by the "low-price" manufacturers.

Platform

Some tractor designers apparently never sat in a tractor seat ten hours a day or more, jolting over rough fields, so they can't appreciate what a relief it is for the tractor operator to rest himself now and then by standing up, without less of time. You will appreciate the Titan 10-20 platform that enables you to do this. It is a comfort feature furnished regularly with every Titan 10-20 tractor—no extra cost.

Tools

A complete set of sixteen tools is furnished with every Titan 10-20. This handy tool-kit is provided in spite of the fact that Titan 10-20 tractors get out of order less frequently than any other tractors in the world. Some tractor owners whose tractors really need frequent adjustment and repairs, furnish nothing but two or three wrenches. They tell you that their product is so good that it doesn't need adjustment. Do you believe this? As a matter of fact, they omit necessary tools for the same reason they omit the essential features described above—to make a low "camouflage price"! The Titan 10-20 complete tool kit is furnished without extra charge.

THERE is no "joker" in this price. We are not telling you one story in this advertisement and then leaving it for our dealers to break the sad news that the advertised price won't buy a tractor unless you pay extra for a lot of necessary features. The Titan dealer won't charge you extra for "starting and service" before he can deliver the tractor. He won't show you a machine stripped of many essential parts—belt pulley, fenders, platform, governor, drawbar, tools—and then tell you that you can have these things by paying extra for them. The Titan at this advertised price is a complete 3-plow kerosene tractor.

Then there is another thing. We are not experimenting at your expense when we sell you a Titan 10-20. There is real farm machine and tractor manufacturing experience back of it. We have been in the farm machine business for 88 years and have been supplying tractors for 14 years. Not another company in the world knows the farmer's power and machine requirements as the Harvester organization does.

Would you entrust your bank account to a man who had never had any experience in handling money? Will you risk your farm profits in a tractor built by designers whose knowledge of farming is limited to books and a drawing board? It will pay you to think about these things when you buy your tractor.

Starting and Instruction Service

Another "joker" of some tractor concerns is to charge you a large "starting and instruction" fee—extra. This is another way of getting a low price for advertising purposes. But you can't get the tractor without paying this charge. They make it compulsory. The International dealer gives you this service without asking you to pay extra for it when you buy a Titan 10-20. Free tractor schools inaugurated by us, also benefit Titan purchasers in all parts of the country.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BE REVIVED

A call for re-organization of the Wisconsin National Guard units in all cities and towns in the state where they existed heretofore was issued by Adj. Gen. Holway. Former members of the guard and overseas men of other divisions are asked to form the nucleus of the new organizations "which have rendered in the past such splendid service to the state." These men are asked to enlist for one year and the same privilege is extended to the members of the state guard. New men without service training will be asked to enlist for three years.

"By direction of the governor," says the order, "commission in the Wisconsin National Guard reserve is tendered to each person of Wisconsin residence who served as an officer of the United States army between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, and who has since been or may hereafter be discharged from federal service, such commission to be of equal grade of that held, or for which definitely recommended in the United States army.

The initial officer contingent of the active Guard will as a rule be provided by the transfer and assignment to active duty, with their consent, of Reserve officers.

In the initial officering of Wisconsin National Guard, which will be forthwith reconstituted and re-organized on the basis existing August 5, 1917, preference will be given, wherever practicable, to those former National Guard officers, to whose diligent teaching, wise control, and good leadership, Wisconsin military organizations owe much of their justly earned reputation for efficiency.

By direction of the Governor, there is tendered to every Wisconsin town and locality which furnished an organized military unit of Wisconsin National Guard for the war with Germany, the opportunity to re-organize that unit.

To quickly accomplish re-organization, the following procedure is suggested:

That agreements to be enlisted in Wisconsin National Guard be circulated in each locality concerned, to be signed for the term of one (1) year by discharged soldiers of Army or Organized Militia service since April 6, 1917, and by other qualified persons for the term of three (3) years. This agreement may be substantially in form as follows:

"For the purpose of re-organizing a unit of Wisconsin National Guard at _____ the undersigned being of military age and residents of _____ county, Wisconsin, do hereby undertake and agree to be enlisted in said Guard for the period set opposite their respective names—such enlistment to be accomplished as soon as practicable after sixty-five qualified persons have signed this agreement."

The maximum number of enlisted men who may be carried on the active strength of a lettered company of an infantry regiment is 150, but request for recognition together with signed agreement or agreements to be enlisted should be mailed to The Adjutant General, Madison, Wisconsin, as soon as sixty-five fit persons are pledged for enlistment in any such proposed military unit. For minimum strength of other military units, see Tables of Organization, U. S. A., May 3, 1917. Official action will be taken by this office on each request as soon after its receipt as practicable.

Be Kind Always.
One great trouble with unkind thoughts is that it is so very difficult to keep them only thoughts; sooner or later they find utterance. We may fancy that we are keeping our uncharitable opinions to ourselves, but they are almost certain to express themselves in look or tone, if not in word. The only way to be really kind is to be kind clear through.—Exchange.

Heroism.
Heroism is always the same, however the fashion of a hero's clothes may alter. Every hero in history is as near to a man as his neighbor, and if we should tell the simple truth of some of our neighbors, it would sound like poetry.—George W. Curtis.

Monasteries.
The monasteries once thickly strewn throughout England and much of Europe were called abbeys, from being ruled by abbots—or abbots from abbas, Syrian for "father"—as those governed by a prior were called priories.

Makes the Whole World Glad.
Love "thinketh no evil," imputes no motive, sees the bright side, puts the best construction on every action. What a delightful state of mind to live in! What a stimulus and benediction even to meet with it for a day.

MRS BURNS' LETTER

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances:

Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you.

THE JOY OF LIVING
To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged a good share of the time and the poisons that should be expelled are absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will move the bowels, strengthen the digestion and give you a chance to realize the real joy of living. Try it.

NOTICE

Having made arrangements to wish to inform the people of St. Kilian and vicinity that we are ready to do undertaking and funeral work. Give us a call.

"SHE IS LYING AWAKE"

Synopsis.—Thomas K. Barnes, a wealthy young New Yorker, on a walking trip in New England near the Canadian border, is given a lift in an automobile by a mysterious and attractive girl bound for a house called Green Fancy. At Hart's tavern Barnes finds a stranded troupe of "barn-storming" actors, of which Lyndon Ruschcroft is the star and "Miss Thackeray" the leading lady. He learns Green Fancy is a house of mystery. That night Andrew Roon and his servant, guests at the tavern, are shot near Green Fancy. Barnes comes under suspicion and stays to help clear up the double murder. He gets into the Green Fancy grounds; meets the mysterious girl, who gives him the cut direct, and is politely ejected by O'Dowd, an interesting adventurer. Enter at the tavern another man of mystery, Sprouse, "book agent." Barnes visits Green Fancy with the sheriff and stays to dinner. Enter still another mysterious personage, "Loeb," secretary to Curtis, owner of Green Fancy, who does not appear because of illness. Barnes again meets "Miss Cameron," the mysterious girl, who is a ravishing beauty in evening dress. She is a prisoner and secretly appeals to him for help. Sprouse reveals himself as a secret service man and tells the enthralling story of the Green Fancy representatives of a royal house oppressed by Germany and his purpose to recover royal papers and jewels that night.

"With the landlord's approval," he explained, pointing to the instrument, "but unknown to the telephone company, you may be sure. Call him up about half past ten. O'Dowd may be up at this ungodly hour, but not she. Now I must be off to discuss literature with Mrs. Jim Conley. The hardest part of my job is to keep her from subscribing for a set of Dickens. Conley's house is not far from Green Fancy. Snappy?"

Barnes, left to his own devices, wandered from taproom to porch, from porch to forge, from forge to taproom, his brain far more active than his legs, his heart as heavy as lead and as light as air by turns. More than once he felt like resorting to a well-known expedient to determine whether he was awake or dreaming. Could all this be real?

Ten minutes later he was in Sprouse's room, calling for Green Fancy over an extension wire that had cost the company nothing and yielded

"Hello! How Are You This Morning?"

nothing in return. After some delay O'Dowd's mellow voice sang out: "Hello! How are you this morning?"

"Grievously lonesome," replied Barnes, and wound up a doleful account of himself by imploring O'Dowd to save his life by bringing the entire Green Fancy party over to dinner that night.

O'Dowd was heart-broken. Personally he would go to any extreme to save so valuable a life, but as for the rest of the party, they begged him to say they were sorry to hear of the expected death of so promising a chap and that, while they couldn't come to his party they would be delighted to come to his funeral. In short, it would be impossible for them to accept his kind invitation. The Irishman was so gay and good-humored that Barnes took hope.

"By the way, O'Dowd, I'd like to speak with Miss Cameron if she can come to the telephone."

"Don't be surprised if you are cut off suddenly. The coast is clear for the moment, but— Here, Miss Cameron. Careful now."

Her voice, soft and clear and trembling with eagerness, caressed Barnes' eager ear.

"Mr. O'Dowd will see that no evil befalls me here, but he refuses to help me to get away. I quite understand and appreciate his position. I cannot ask him to go so far as that. Help will have to come from the outside. It will be dangerous—terribly dangerous—"

"You say O'Dowd will not assist you to escape?"

"He urges me to stay here and take my chances. He believes that everything will turn out well for me in the end, but I am frightened. I must get away from this place."

"Then keep your eyes and ears open for the next night or two. Can you tell me where your room is located?"

"It is one flight up; the first of the two windows in my room is the third to the right of the entrance. I am confident that someone is stationed below my windows all night long."

"You still insist that I am not to call on the authorities for help?"

"Yes, yes! That must not even be considered. I have not only myself to consider, Mr. Barnes. I am a very small atom in—"

"All right! We'll get along without them," he said cheerily. "Afterward we will discuss the importance of atoms."

"And your reward as well, Mr. Barnes," she said. Her voice trailed off into an indistinct murmur. He heard the receiver click on the hook, and after calling "hello" twice hung up his own with a sigh. Evidently O'Dowd had warned her of the approach of a less considerate person than himself.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Second Wayfarer Receives Two Visitors at Midnight.

The coroner's inquest over the bodies of Roon and Paul was held that afternoon at St. Elizabeth. Witnesses from Hart's Tavern were among those to testify. The verdict was "Murder at the hands of parties unknown."

Sprouse did not appear at the Tavern until long after midnight. The secret agent listened somewhat indifferently to the letter's account of his telephonic experiences. At nine o'clock he yawned prodigiously and announced that he was going to bed, greatly to the surprise of Mr. Barnes, who followed him from the taproom and demanded an explanation.

"People usually go to bed at night, don't they?" said Sprouse patiently. "It is expected, I believe."

"But, my dear man, we are to undertake—"

"I have some cause for believing that one of those chaps in there is from Green Fancy. Go to bed at ten o'clock, my friend, and put out your light. I don't insist on your taking off your clothes, however. I will rap on your door at eleven o'clock. By the way, don't forget to stick your revolver in your pocket."

A few minutes before eleven there came a gentle tapping on Barnes' door. He sprang to his feet and opened it, presenting himself before Sprouse fully dressed and, as the secret agent said later on, "fit to kill."

The night was as black as pitch. Barnes, trusting to the little man's eyes and hanging close upon his coat-tails, followed blindly but gallantly in the tracks of the leader. It seemed to him that they stumbled along parallel to the road for miles before Sprouse came to a halt. "This is the short cut to Green Fancy," he whispered, laying his hand on Barnes' arm. "We save four or five miles, coming this way. Do you know where we are?"

"I haven't the remotest idea."

"About a quarter of a mile below Curtis' house. Are you all right?"

"Fine as a fiddle, except for a barked knee and a skinned elbow, a couple of more or less busted ribs. I've banged into more trees than—"

"Sh!" After a moment of silence, intensified by the mournful squawk of night birds and the chorus of katydids, Sprouse whispered, "Did you hear that?"

Barnes thrilled. This was real melodrama. "Hear what?" he whispered shilly.

"Listen!" After a second or two: "There!"

"It's a woodpecker hammering on the limb of a—"

"Woodpeckers don't hammer at night, my lad. Don't stir! Keep your ears open."

Sprouse clutched his companion's arm and, dropping to his knees in the thick underbrush, pulled the other down after him.

Presently heavy footsteps approached. An unseen pedestrian passed within ten yards of them. They scarcely breathed until the sounds passed entirely out of hearing. Sprouse put his lips close to Barnes' ear.

"Telegraph," he whispered. "It's a system they have of reporting to each other. There are two men patrolling the grounds near the house. You see what we're up against, Barnes. Do you still want to go on with it?"

"I'll stay by you," replied Barnes sturdily.

Several minutes went by. There was not a sound save the restless patter of rain in the tree tops. At last the faraway thud of footsteps came to the ears of the tense listener. They drew nearer, louder, and once more seemed to be approaching the very spot where he crouched.

Then came the sound of a dull, heavy blow, a hoarse gasp, a momentary commotion in the shrubbery.

"My God! Have You Killed Him?"

and—again silence. Barnes' blood ran cold. He waited for the next footfall of the passing man. It never came.

A sharp whisper reached his ears. "Come here—quick!"

He fumbled through the brush and almost fell prostrate over the kneeling figure of a man.

"Take care! Lend a hand," whispered Sprouse.

Dropping to his knees, Barnes felt for and touched wet, coarse garments, and gasped:

"My God! Have you killed him?"

"Temporarily," said Sprouse, between his teeth. "Here, unwind the rope I've got around my waist. Take the end—here. Got a knife? Cut off a section about three feet long. I'll get the gag in his mouth while you're doing it. Hangmen always carry their own ropes," he concluded, with grewsome humor. "Got it cut? Well, cut two more sections, same length."

With incredible swiftness the two of them bound the feet, knees and arms of the inert victim.

"I came prepared," said Sprouse, so calmly that Barnes marveled at the iron nerve of the man.

"By heaven, Sprouse, I—I believe he's dead. We—we haven't any right to kill a—"

"Don't be flincky," snapped Sprouse. "It wasn't much of a crack, and it was necessary." Straightening up, with a sigh of satisfaction, he laid his hand on Barnes' shoulder. "We've just got to go through with it now, Barnes. We'll never get another chance. Putting that follow out of business queers us forever afterward."

He dropped to his knees and began searching over the ground with his hands. "Here it is. You can't see it, of course, so I'll tell you what it is. A nice little block of sandalwood. I've already got his nice little hammer, so we'll see what we can raise in the way of wireless chit-chat."

Without the slightest hesitation he struck a succession of quick, confident blows upon the block of wood.

"By gad, you are a wonder!"

"Wait till tomorrow before you say that," replied Sprouse, sententiously. "Come along now. Stick to the trail. We've got to land the other one."

Turning sharply to the right, Sprouse guided his companion through the brush for some distance, and once more came to a halt. Again he stole on ahead, and as before the slow, confident, even careless progress of a man ceased as abruptly as that of the comrade who lay helpless in the thicket below.

Barnes laid a firm, detaining hand on the man's shoulder.

"See here, Sprouse," he whispered. "It's all very well for you, knocking men over like this, but just what is your object? What does all this lead up to?"

Sprouse broke in, and there was not the slightest trace of emotion in his whisper.

"Quite right. You ought to know. I suppose you thought I was bringing you up here for a Romeo and Juliet tete-a-tete with the beautiful Miss Cameron—and for nothing else. Well, in a way, you are right. But, first of all, my business is to recover the crown jewels and parchments. I am going into that house and take them away from the man you know as Loeb, if he has them. If he hasn't them my work here is a failure."

"Going into the house?" gasped Barnes. "Why, my God, man, that is impossible. You would be shot down as an ordinary burglar and—the law would justify them for killing you. I must insist—"

"I am not asking you to go into the house, my friend. I shall go alone," said Sprouse coolly.

"On the other hand, I came up here to rescue a helpless—"

"Keep cool! It's the only way. Now listen. She has designated her room and the windows that are hers. She is lying awake up there now, take it from me, hoping that you will come tonight. I shall lead you directly to her window. And then comes the only chance we take—the only instance where we gamble. There will not be a light in her window, but that won't make any difference. This nobby cane I'm carrying is in reality a collapsible fishing rod. First we use it to tap gently on her window ledge or shade or whatever we find. Then you pass up a little note to her. Here is paper and pencil. Say that you are below her window and—all ready to take her away. Tell her to lower her valubles, some clothes, etc., from the window by means of the rope we'll pass up on the pole. There is a remote possibility that she may have the jewels in her room. For certain reasons they may have permitted her to retain them. If such is the case our work is easy. If they have taken them away from her shell say so, some way or another—and she will not leave! Now I've had a good look at the front of that house. It is covered with a lattice work and huge vines. I can shin up like a squirrel and go through her room to the—"

"Are you crazy, Sprouse? You'd take your life in your hands and—"

"See here," said Sprouse shortly. "I am not risking my life for the fun of the thing. I am risking it for her, bear that in mind—for her and her people. And if I am killed they won't even say 'Well done, good and faithful servant.' So let's not argue the point. Are you going to stand by me or—back out?"

Barnes was shamed. "I'll stand by you," he said, and they stole forward.

There were no lights visible. The house was even darker than the night itself; it was vaguely outlined by a deeper shade of black.

At last they were within a few yards of the entrance and at the edge of a small space that had been cleared of shrubbery. Here Sprouse stopped and began to adjust the sections of his fishing rod.

"Write," he whispered. "There is a faint glow of light up there to the right. The third window, did you say? Well, that's about where I should locate it."

The tiny metallic tip of the rod, held in the upstretched hand of Barnes, much the taller of the two men, barely reached the window ledge. He tapped gently, persistently on the hard surface. Just as they were beginning to think that she was asleep and that their efforts were in vain their straining eyes made out a shadowy object projecting slightly beyond the sill.

After a moment or two of suspense Barnes experienced a peculiar, almost electric shock. Someone had seized the tip of the rod; it stiffened suddenly, the vibrations due to its flexibility ceasing. Someone was untying the bit of paper he had fastened to the rod, and with fingers that shook and were clumsy with eagerness.

He had written: "I am outside with a trusted friend, ready to do your bidding. Two of the guards are safely bound and out of the way. Now is our chance. We will never have another. If you are prepared to come with me now write me a word or two and drop it to the ground. I will pass up a rope to you and you may lower anything you wish to carry away with you. But be exceedingly careful. Take time. Don't hurry a single one of your movements." He signed it with a large "B."

It seemed an hour before their eyes distinguished the shadowy head above. As a matter of fact but a few minutes had passed. During the wait Sprouse had noiselessly removed his coat, a proceeding that puzzled Barnes. Something light fell to the ground. It was Sprouse who stooped and searched for it in the grass. When he resumed an upright posture he put his lips close to Barnes' ear and whispered:

MORE HOT WEATHER DISHES.

Eggs will have reached the lowest figure for the year, during the summer, and if ever now is the time to indulge in egg dishes galore, as well as in packing them for winter use.

Beauregard Eggs.—Take five hard-cooked eggs, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, five squares of toast, one cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of butter with salt and pepper to taste. Chop the egg whites, rub the yolks through a sieve. Scald milk and add butter and cornstarch rubbed together. Now add the whites, then add salt and paprika to taste. Put the toast on a hot dish, cover with a layer of white sauce, then a layer of the yolks, then the whites, and finish with the yolks on top. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and put into the oven for a few minutes.

Devised Eggs.—One dozen cooked eggs, one teaspoonful of French mustard, four tablespoonfuls of minced ham or tongue, one tablespoonful of olive oil, salt and cayenne to taste.

Eggs Poached in Tomatoes.—Peel and cut into small pieces six medium sized tomatoes. Chop fine one small green onion. Put the onion and tomatoes into a sauce pan and cook slowly 15 minutes, adding salt and pepper. Have ready slices of well-browned toast, buttered. Carefully drop six eggs into the tomatoes, and when well poached place them carefully on the toast; pour the tomatoes around them and serve at once.

Peach Omelet.—Pare and stone three ripe peaches, then press them through a sieve, add two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and the well-beaten yolks of three eggs; add carefully the stiffly beaten whites of six, and pour into a well-greased baking dish. Bake 15 or 20 minutes and serve at once.

If you cannot set to meter all the music of your soul. Then let its heavenly harmony your daily life control; Until from out the discord of life's bitterness and pain Sweet symphonies shall rise—nor your life-song be in vain.

FRUIT COCKTAILS

There is no more appetizing beginning for a summer meal than a fruit cocktail. They should be served very cold in small glasses or in fruit cups such as lemon, orange, apple or grapefruit. Vegetables are also used as cocktails, the tomato being the especial favorite.

In preparing fruits for cocktails two things should be remembered: The fruit should stand in a sirup or sprinkled with sugar to be well sweetened. To prepare the sirup use twice as much sugar as water and cook it until thoroughly dissolved.

The entire menu should be considered when serving a fruit cocktail, as other fruits do not appear at the same meal. If a vegetable cocktail (put together with some sort of a salad dressing) is served, the salad is omitted for that meal.

One of the most attractive cocktails may be made by using watermelon or muskmelon for the foundation. Cut the melon with a French potato cutter into small balls and cover with a ginger sirup, using the Canton ginger and bits of ginger; pour over the balls of canteloupe. For watermelon the dairy color makes a most effective dish; use the heart of the melon for balls and simple, lightly flavored sirup of sugar water and lemon juice. It is unwise to add a sirup too highly flavored, for the fruit flavor itself should be first.

A pineapple and raspberry combination is very good. Cut the pineapple with a small potato cutter and let the fruits stand in sirup uncombined for three hours, then chill them together one hour.

Equal parts of sliced peaches and stoned cherries marinated in sugar sirup and garnished with frosted mint. Dip a sprig of mint in egg white then in sugar, having the mint well chilled.

Twice as much diced peach as very ripe blackberries, treated with the sirup and flavored with a little lemon and orange juice.

INCREASE WEIGHT AND VITALITY WITH PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

The average person is beginning to realize more and more that the lack of physical strength and nerve exhaustion (frequently evidenced by excessive thinness) are the direct cause not only of the failure to succeed in life's struggle for the necessities of existence, but also for the handicap in one's social aspirations. Compare the thin, sickly, angular frame with

At the granite top, the plump well-rounded figure is most admired. The well rounded form which is usually accompanied by the bloom of health and attractiveness.

That millions of people are conscious of this handicap is evident from the continued appearance in newspapers and magazines of many suggestions proposing various remedies in food or medicine or exercise, either of which might or might not be appropriate for a given case.

Authorities, however, agree that healthy nerve tissue is absolutely essential to a strong, robust body and mind. Weak nerves, while indicated by a multitude of different symptoms, more immediately and generally result in lack of energy, sleeplessness, irritability, depression, etc., which conditions gradually consume the healthy flesh, leaving ugly hollows, a flat chest, bony neck and scrawny arms and legs.

Our bodies need more phosphate than most of them are able to extract from the foods we eat nowadays, and many opinions affirm that there is nothing which may be taken into the human system that so effectively supplies this deficiency as the pure organic phosphate known as bitro-phosphate and sold by good druggists everywhere.

The essential phosphoric food elements in bitro-phosphate assimilated by the nerve cells should soon produce a pleasing change in the normal weight, hence increased vitality and strength. With the burdens of nervousness, sleeplessness, lack of energy, and normal weight with its attractive fullness and ruddy glow of health replaces the former picture of skin and bone.

CAUTION:—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unexcelled for the relief of nervousness and attendant disorders, owing to its tendency to increase weight, one should watch the scales while taking it unless it is the desire to put on flesh.

Neenah—John H. Michael, who left a leg "over there," has been honorably discharged from the service and has arrived at his home in this city. He was a member of the Eighty-sixth Division.

Stevens Point—Thomas H. Hanna, former mayor of Stevens Point and prominent democratic leader, was found dead in the bathtub in his home here. He fell asleep and was asphyxiated when the tube on a heater became disconnected. He was alone in the house at the time, his wife and son being in Chicago. The body was found by the family physician. Mr. Hanna was 48 years old and a member of the law firm of Nelson & Hanna. He was mayor of the city two terms, from 1904 to 1908.

Green Bay—Green Bay Elks and chairmen of the campaign for Salvation Army funds serenaded Frank W. Colman, Milwaukee, state chairman of the campaign for the Salvation Army fund, stated that Mr. Murphy's gift was the largest individual donation made to the Salvation Army in the present drive.

La Crosse—La Crosse Rescue Mission children will have a summer's outing this year because a "dollar club" was formed. A camp on the banks of the beautiful Black River, near New Amsterdam, this county, has been constructed and hundreds of children will go there. Interested persons gave a dollar each and enough money has been procured to make a hundred or more children happy for several weeks at a time.

Waupaca—County Agricultural Agent Paul O. Nyhus reports that 88,000 feet of drainage tile has been ordered, amounting to over twenty-two carloads for use by farmers in the vicinity. He also reports that scores of other farmers have requested drainage surveys and are eager to bring into cultivation their wet or poorly drained lands. Every bit of land is soon to be put under cultivation.

Racine—An automobile driven by Vigo Nelson and carrying five passengers, turned a complete somersault on the hill just east of Mount Cemetery. Driver and passengers were thrown out but sustained only minor injuries. The accident happened when the driver attempted to shift gears while making the hill and the machine shot backwards, hitting the curb, and turned completely over.

Watertown—Farmers of Emmet and Lebanon are protesting assessments in the Silver Creek drainage and reclamation district before Commissioners Ernst Bodden, Theresa; H. T. Marshall, Beaver Dam, and George W. Smith, Burnett. Crowds attended the hearing in the city hall. Complaints allege mostly greater property damage by the lining of the drains.

Kenosha—Mrs. Mary Cady, Red Granite, Wis., came direct to Kenosha from her home to hear of the stories of valor of her grandson, Berling Marsh, 15, Kenosha, who was killed in France. After hearing the stories of her grandson's valor told by his comrades in Company M she left satisfied that the lad was "the noblest in the army."

Portage—Miss Mary Curry, while answering a long distance call, was struck by a bolt of lightning which hit a tree a few blocks away. The lightning knocked the telephone receiver from her hand, and she became unconscious, but recovered shortly. The bolt left a streak on her right side and arm, but no permanent injury is feared.

Chetek—In a gasoline explosion in the Heath & Hayward Tire Repair shop, Calvin Hayward was seriously burned and Ed Davis, assistant, fataly burned. Hayward's recovery is doubtful.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

HAVE TO PURCHASE BRIDES

Santali Indian Bridegroom Must Lay Up Money Before He Can Aspire to a Wife.

The Santali Indians must literally purchase their brides. They pay a sum of money to the girl's parents—usually about 100 rupees—and, in addition, they present the mother and the female relatives with new saris or shawls.

Should the bridegroom choose a widow for his wife, she will only cost half the sum mentioned. The reason why the Santali Indians hold widows in less regard than unmarried females is because they assert that in the next world man and wife are reunited, hence a widow who marries again is only "lent" to her second husband. When a young man courts a girl who does not favor his suit, he adopts an eccentric way to cure her stubbornness. After having dipped his finger in red paint, he goes in search of the lady and imprints his mark on her forehead. Then he may claim her as his wife.

Taxed, Too? It seems to Marian that everything that she especially likes bears the burden of the new war tax—sundays, sodas, candy, beads, and about everything she had been accustomed to ask for when mother and father went to town. Now they limit the number of luxuries they buy for her and always explain their limitation by saying "on account of the war tax" or "plus the war tax."

The other day a new baby sister came to Marian's home. Fixedly she looked at it the next day after its arrival. "What did it cost?" she asked. "Twenty dollars," boasted her father.

The second question quickly followed, "plus the war tax?"

Affording a Comparison. "What are you going to do with yourself this summer?" "I'm going to help mother and the girls enjoy themselves at a summer resort," said Mr. Cumrox.

"So you are going with them?" "No. I'm going to stay in my cool, capacious city home and write them a letter every day about how hot and uncomfortable I am."

Some people who save up for a rainy day blow it in as soon as it gets foggy.

A probable story is the first weapon of calumny.

Not a Flattering Portrait. While the minister was making a call the little girl of the house was busy with pencil and paper. "What are you doing?" he asked, when her mother had left the room for a moment.

"I'm making your picture," said the child. The minister sat very still, and she worked very earnestly. Then she stopped and compared her work with the original and shook her head. "I don't like it much," she said. "I can't do a great deal like you, I guess. I'll put a tail to it and call it a dog."

Age Counts. Two very dirty little youngsters were standing in front of the Monument betting the other day. Finally one of them said: "I bet you a nickel I'm dirtier than you are."

The other little fellow, whose bets on his prowess had been large and vigorously made, was confused for a few minutes. Finally he admitted: "Well, you ought to be. You're older than I am, aren't you?"—Indianapolis News.

Family Amenities. Sister—I wish my fiancé was a hero. Brother—Great Scott! What more do you want? Didn't he ask you to marry him?

Did you ever notice that the man who whines and the man who wins are not the same?

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight. Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter.

AUTOMATIC SELF-FEED—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

DANGER-PROOF SELF-FEED ROLLERS—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic, and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

For Tractor Lubrication

Heavy Polarine Oil

Stanolind Tractor Oil

Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

Stanolind Tractor Oil has been found, through severe and thorough tests, to be the best lubricant for more than one-half of the tractors made.

This oil is one of great durability. It stands the high temperature developed in a tractor engine without change in body.

It has the correct body to thoroughly lubricate the remotest frictional surfaces, eliminating scored cylinders and undue wear.

Where mechanical conditions or design make it desirable to use a slightly heavier, or slightly lighter, oil than Stanolind Tractor Oil, Extra Heavy Polarine Oil or Heavy Polarine Oil is recommended.

Any Standard Oil representative will be glad to show you the chart of Tractor Lubrication, prepared by our Engineering Staff. It indicates specifically which of these three oils the Standard Oil Engineers have found will give the best results in your particular tractor.

We have just published a 100-page book "Tractors and Tractor Lubrication," prepared by our engineering staff, which you will find a valuable reference book, and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss. It's free to you for the asking. Address
