TEACHERS' INSTITUTE AT WEST BEND

The annual teachers' institute will be held at West Bend from Aug. 11 to 15 inclusive. Dr. M. A. Bussewitz of Milwaukee Normal School, Prof. F. J. Louth of Janesville, County Agent Geo. Blank and Miss Olga Haug, supervising teacher will be the conductors.

No teacher should miss this institute. If you are a young teacher you must attend to come in contact with experienced teachers. If you are an experienced teacher and are growing in the business you will be there that you may continue to grow. The institute is the planning time for the year's work.

The new plans for effective and worth-while county contests will be explained. The teachers of this county have always had men and women of ideas. During the next two years we wish to use your ideas and for that reason the advisability of organizing a county teachers association will be discussed. If there is sentiment in favor of it such an organization will be perfected.

J. H. Puelicher, vice-president of the Marshall-Isley Bank of Milwaukee will deliver an address Thursday evening on Thrift. State Supt. Cary is backing a program of thrift instruction in the schools. The enthusiasm of a big man, like Mr. Puelicher, will inspire us in our school thrift work.

All teachers should attend this institute because the institute needs you and you need the institute. The program:

RESOLUTION
Whereas, Our beloved co-worker Miss Sadie LeCount, on the 24th day of July, 1919, was called by Divine Providence from her earthly home to meet her reward in a home where pain and sorrow are unknown—be it therefore Resolved, That in the death of Miss Sadie LeCount, the Executive Committee of the Washington County Council of Defense fully recognizes that this organization has lost one of its most highly esteemed members and the county one of its noblest women, a woman whose unselfish devotion to humanity and to the public welfare inspired her and enabled her to be a member of the Washington County Council of Defense, and to render such invaluable service during the period of the late war. This service was not only generous and efficient, but also broadly humanitarian, and purely and sincerely patriotic at all times.

Resolved, That the sincere and heartfelt sympathies of the members of this committee be, and are hereby extended to the family of the deceased Miss LeCount, whose loss we, with them, deeply mourn.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this committee, and that copies be sent to the family of the departed, and also to the Washington County papers for publication.

CANNOT TRAP MUSKRATS IN WASHINGTON CO.

Trappers of Washington, Brown and Oconto counties will be disappointed to learn that a bill recently passed by the Wisconsin Legislature prohibits the trapping of muskrats in any of the above mentioned counties until 1921. What the reason for putting Washington county under this law is not known as there seems to have been no scarcity of muskrats within this county last season. Dodge county was also on the list, but through hard work on the part of D. J. Hotchkiss of Fox Lake, said county was not placed under the law.

AUCTION SALE

Beginning at one P. M. sharp, on Tuesday, August 26, 1919, the undersigned will sell at Public Auction on his farm located two miles south of Campbellsport, six miles northwest of Kewaskum in the village of Elmora, his household furniture, including a Five Passenger Baby Grand Chevrolet 1919 Model car, driven 2500 miles. ASHFORD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

After a lingering illness of one year's duration, Miss Flora Hendricks, aged 54 years, passed away in death at her home in Fond du Lac on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Deceased was born in the town of Ashford on September 14, 1864, where she spent the early days of her life. She lived to mourn her demise two brothers, C. W. Hendricks of Milwaukee; and E. E. Hendricks of Chicago.

The funeral was held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning with services at the residence, Rev. W. E. Gilroy officiated. The body was then taken to Campbellsport where a funeral service was held at the M. E. church. Rev. H. H. Jones, a cousin of the deceased officiated at Campbellsport. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

A friend contributes the following paragraph as a part of the notice: "Death has come to us again. The law of being has once more been fulfilled; the law that gives color a red-staleness to the oak and then hides them away for a while in the bosom of mother earth, till she shall send forth again; the law that gives beauty of form and glory of soul to our humanity, and then through the mystery which we call death, lifts to grander possibilities. It is not permitted us to choose the time of our going, and it may be doubted if ever, with all the faith and hope possible to our humanity, we should ever be ready to say good bye to this beautiful world and to our loving friends, even for the little while that must come before we meet again on the other side. But if our affections could but listen to argument, if we say it is well when one who has so nobly done her part all along the journey of a useful life comes at last to where she may lie down and rest."

MADE 1,273 MILES IN FIVE DAYS
In a card received at this office on Monday, J. B. Day, who is to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Jones are making the trip to New York City in Mr. Day's Packard, informs us that they reached their destination last Wednesday, after having been on the road just five days, in which they covered 1,273 miles. The party left Ashford on the Saturday previous. Mr. Day said previous to his leaving that they were going to make a leisurely trip east, but according to the number of miles they covered in the time they were on the road, they evidently did not while away much time, averaging 264 miles per day. Mr. Day states that they had a fine trip, good roads and only one puncture to annoy them. They will return some time next week with Mr. Day's wife and daughter, Flossie, who have been visiting relatives in the East for the past five weeks. Among the stops made on the only east was one at Richmond, Va.—Hartford Times.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR VICTORY PICNIC NEARLY COMPLETED
Arrangements for the Big Victory Picnic to be held at the North Side Park on Sunday, August 17th, are nearly completed. Intentions for a large attendance are looking up stronger every day. Besides the attractions already engaged for that day, a new one has been added to the celebration. "The Great Howard Knife Throwing Act" in which Mr. Howard (the King of all knife throwers) and Alice Howard will be the principals. Mr. Howard will throw knives all around a human target (Alice Howard). Throwing Blindfolded, a startling exhibition of nerve, skill and daring throwing through a sheet of paper. This alone will be worth going miles to see. Next to act in this kind of a show here. Admission to the park will be free. Joseph Eberle has announced that with the large variety of refreshments which will be served, 2 1/2 per cent beer will number among them.

NO GREAT CHANGES IN GAME LAWS
The game laws have not undergone many changes, most of the amendments effect special localities. Non-resident fishermen will find that the licenses have been increased from $2 to $2. The new license, called a trout license, entitles the holder to ply the line for game fish in inland waters. It costs $3. Hunters' license remain the same. There is an open season declared for the hunting of bears. This was done because the bears are devouring sheep on the ranges. The closed season for partridges and prairie chickens continues for two years. Deer hunters are entitled to the same quarry—one deer of either sex.

BAN ON PARCEL POST LIFTED
The Postmaster General issued an order on the 14th instant by which mail service with all parts of Germany is resumed. On July 17th an order was issued by which parcel post service with Germany is resumed. Letters and parcel post packages can therefore be sent to any part of Germany in the same manner as before the war.

—Offices of the Western Union Telegraph company have been officially notified that the United States cable ownership has been withdrawn. There will be no more British or American ownership. Private telegrams of all classes may now be accepted for places in Germany if written in plain English, French, German, Italian or Spanish.

MAY WEAR UNIFORMS ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS
Citizens are being issued by the War Department advising honorably discharged soldiers that they are entitled to wear their uniforms on special occasions, namely: Parades, patriotic celebrations, etc. The War Department found it necessary to have these circulars issued on account of the numerous requests made by discharged soldiers for such information. An act passed by the last Congress allowed honorably discharged men in any branch including the navy and the marines corps to retain one complete uniform and authorized it to be worn after the men had returned to private life.

RESOLUTION
Whereas, Our beloved co-worker Miss Sadie LeCount, on the 24th day of July, 1919, was called by Divine Providence from her earthly home to meet her reward in a home where pain and sorrow are unknown—be it therefore Resolved, That in the death of Miss Sadie LeCount, the Executive Committee of the Washington County Council of Defense fully recognizes that this organization has lost one of its most highly esteemed members and the county one of its noblest women, a woman whose unselfish devotion to humanity and to the public welfare inspired her and enabled her to be a member of the Washington County Council of Defense, and to render such invaluable service during the period of the late war. KEWASKUM TO HAVE ATHLETIC CLUB

At a meeting held at the Opera House, Tuesday evening, by a number of citizens of this village, an organization known as the Kewaskum Athletic Club was perfected. Much interest was taken on the part of those who attended. A Committee of three, Maurice Rosenheimer, Elwyn Romaine and Arthur Schaefer were appointed to draw up a constitution for said organization. Another meeting will be held at the Opera House next week Tuesday evening, at which time the constitution as drawn up by the committee will be submitted to the members of the organization for approval. The election of officers will also take place. It will be the purpose of the club to offer wholesome and exciting amusements to the citizens of this village and community throughout the year. Athletic games, such as baseball, basketball, football, races, bowling, in fact games and amusements of every description will be offered. As this is a good move, one which is successful will all help toward the uplifting and the welfare of the village, everyone is urgently requested to attend the next meeting, and help boost the organization to the limit. Plans are being made to hold a Booster dance in the near future for the benefit of the club, particulars of which will be published in this paper later. Remember Tuesday evening, the date for the next meeting. Be on deck. Be a Booster.

WITH CAUSES KNOWN DISEASE EASILY CURED

Inability to Correctly Discover Cause of Disease Cause of Many Deaths

So much depends on the proper diagnosis that the battle for the cure is half won, when the true cause of the disease is discovered. Pay some reason many doctors fail to discover the cause of the disease, and do not know what ailment the patient will die and is cut open. This condition furnishes the reason so many suffer from year to year with chronic disease. The sufferer "deeps" himself with patent medicines with no help whatever. The majority of these sufferers have finally reached Dr. Karuss Specialist in chronic diseases, and were cured.

Dr. Karuss, expert in the treatment of chronic diseases, makes a most careful and thorough examination of each case that calls. The direct cause of the ailment is discovered which he removes by easy stages, and thus brings back the health, and makes a vigorous body of a run down system. Dr. Karuss treats all diseases of the heart, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, brain, nerves, skin, including rheumatism, osteoporosis, catarrhs, asthma, deafness, head noises, weak lungs, stomach trouble, head aches, bloating, eczema, and special diseases. The doctor treats without operation, gonorrhea, piles, tumors, ruptures, gall stones, chronic appendicitis and special diseases of women. Examination free of all. The doctor is in his office in the Republic House, Kewaskum, Wis., every Wednesday, Hours 9 A. M. to 2 P. M.—Adv.

PURCHASE PROPERTY

On Tuesday a deal was closed whereby the Theresa Union Telephone Company purchased the D. M. Rosenheimer property on lower Main street in this village, formerly known as the Dave Casey property. The Theresa Telephone Company will raze the building on said lot and erect a first class modern equipped building which they will use for central office. Work of tearing down the old building will be started in the near future.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of ugly hollows, the rounding off of protruding angles with the abundant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many and varied suggestions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorus becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book, "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: "It is a fact that the amount of phosphorus required for the normal nutrition of man is estimated to be contained in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout Europe as "Nitro-Phosphate." Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content absorbed in the system normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in the mind. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole system, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty, and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION.—While Nitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

But Mr. Newrich was in Evidence at Dramatic Performance, as He Had Intended.

Mr. Corporal Newrich offered to finance the performance of his daughters' dramatic society, and his announcement was received with acclamation.

But when he added the provision that he paid the expenses on condition that he was given a part the joy diminished.

Mr. Newrich was well endowed with wealth, but his vocabulary did not include a single "h."

They argued, but Mr. Newrich stood firm. "No part, no money," was his decision.

At last they hit on a plan. He was to come on in the second scene and just say "Silence." He could not go far wrong with that. Mr. Newrich was satisfied. He would be in evidence at the performance.

The great day arrived and all went well until the curtain rose on the second scene.

From the wing strode Mr. Newrich. Holding up his hand, he uttered one word: "Ush"—London. Answered.

Back Giving Out?

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in a dull throbbing headache, or sharp twinges when stooping. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired, nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect the cause of this danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have saved themselves more serious ailments by the timely use of Doan's.

A Wisconsin Case

Henry Peters, 606 Grand Ave., Kenosha, Wis., says: "I caught a severe cold and it settled in my kidneys. I was lame and sore across my kidneys and my back hurt me. At night I could not get any rest, the pain was so severe. I had to lay on from work for three weeks and I suffered terrible pains all through one night and day. I was told to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few days, got much better."

Large Bodies Move Slowly—But Mr. Sprouse Was Smaller Than the Average.

There was not a sound for many seconds. She was the first to speak.

Lying there, he made swift calculations. The quarry, no longer of use to the builder, was reasonably sure to be abandoned. In all probability some sort of a stone-cutter's shed would be found nearby. It would provide shelter from the chill night air. He remembered that O'Dowd, in discussing the erection of Green Fancy the night before, had said that the stone came from a pit two miles away, where a fine quality of granite had been found. Two miles, according to Barnes' quick calculations, would bring the pit close to the northern boundary of the Curtis property and almost directly on a line with the point where he and Sprouse entered the meadow at the beginning of their advance upon Green Fancy.

That being the case, they were now quite close to the stake and ridge fence separating the Curtis land from that of the farmer on the north.

"Good," he said, more to himself than to her. "I begin to see light. Are you afraid to remain here while I go down there for a look around? I shan't be gone more than a couple of minutes."

"The way I feel at present," she said, jerkily, "I shall never, never from this instant till the hour in which I die, let go of your coat-tails, Mr. Barnes."

"Suiting the action to the word, her fingers resolutely fastened, not upon the tail of his coat but upon his sturdy arm. "I wouldn't stay here alone for anything in the world."

"Heaven bless you," he exclaimed, suddenly exalted. "And, since you put it that way, I shall always contrive to be within arm's length."

And so, together, they ventured along the edge of the pit until they reached the wagon road at the bottom. As he had expected, there was a ramshackle shed hard by. It was not much of a place, but it was deserted and a safe shelter for the moment.

A workman's bench lay on its side in the middle of the earthen floor. He righted it and drew it over to the boarding. She laid her head against his shoulder and sighed deeply.

He kept his eyes glued on the door and listened for the most ominous sound outside. A long time afterward she stirred.

"Are you cold? You are wet—"

"It was the excitement, the nervousness, Mr. Barnes," she said, drawing slightly away from him. "Isn't it nearly daybreak?"

He looked at his watch. "Three o'clock," he said.

There ensued another period of silence. She remained slightly aloof. "You'd better lean against me," he said at last. "I am softer than the beastly boards, you know, and quite as harmless."

"Thank you," she said, and promptly settled herself against his shoulder. "It is better," she sighed.

"Would you mind telling me something about yourself, Miss Cameron? I should like to know whether I am to address you as princess, duchess, or just plain Miss."

"I am more accustomed to plain Miss, Mr. Barnes, than to either of the titles you would give me."

"Don't you feel that I am deserving of a little enlightenment?" he asked. "I am working literally as well as figuratively in the dark. Who are you? Why were you a prisoner at Green Fancy? Where and what is your native land?"

"Mr. Barnes, I cannot answer any one of your questions without jeopardizing a cause that is dearer to me than anything else in all the world. I am sorry. I pray God a day may soon come when I can reveal everything to you—and to the world. I am of an stricken country; I am trying to serve the unhappy house that has ruled it for centuries and is now in the direst peril. The man you know as Loeb is a prince of that house. I may say this to you, and it will serve to explain my position at Green Fancy: he is not the prince I was led to believe awaiting me there. He is the cousin of the man I expected to meet, and he is the enemy of the branch of the house that I would serve. Do not ask me to say more."

"Your sympathies are with the entente allies, the prince's are opposed? Is that part of Sprouse's story true?"

"Yes."

"And O'Dowd?"

"O'Dowd is anti-English, Mr. Barnes, if that conveys anything to you. He is not pro-German."

"Wasn't it pretty risky for you to carry the crown jewels around in a traveling bag, Miss Cameron?"

"I suppose so. It turned out, however, that it was the safest, surest way. I had them in my possession for three days before coming to Green Fancy. No one suspected. I was to deliver them to one of their right-

"I am ready to return with you, Mr. O'Dowd," she said distinctly. "There must be no struggle, no bloodshed. Anything but that."

O'Dowd spoke out of the darkness: "You forget that I have your own word for it that you'll be a dead woman before the day is over. Wouldn't it be better for you to begin shooting at once and spare your soul the everlasting torture that would begin immediately after your self-produced decease?"

A little cry of relief greeted this quaint sally. "You have my word that I will return with you quietly if—"

"Thunderation!" exclaimed Barnes wrathfully. "What do you think I am? A worm that—"

"Easy, easy, my dear man," cautioned O'Dowd. "Keep your seat. Don't be deceived by my infernal Irish humor. It is my way to be always polite, agreeable and—prompt. I'll shoot in a second if ye move one step outside that cabin."

"O'Dowd, you haven't the heart to drag her back to that beast of a—"

"Hold hard! We'll come to the point without further palavering. Where are ye dragging her yourself, ye rascal?"

"To a place where she will be safe from insult, injury, degradation—"

"Well, I have no fault to find with ye for that," said O'Dowd. "Bedad, I don't believe you had the nerve to tackle the job. You may be interested to know that up to the moment I left the house your absence had not been noticed, my dear Miss Cameron. And as for you, my dear Barnes, your visit is not even suspected. How the devil did ye do it, Barnes?"

"Are you disposed to be friendly, O'Dowd?" demanded Barnes. "If you are not, we may just as well fight it out now as later on."

"You are not to fight!" she cried in great agitation. "What are you doing? Put it away! Don't shoot!"

"Is it a gun he is pulling?" inquired O'Dowd calmly. "And what the deuce are you going to aim at, me hearty? I have a bull's-eye lantern with me. From the luxurious seat behind this rock I could spot ye in a second. Having said as much I now propose arbitration. Would ye mind handing over that tin box in exchange for my polite thanks and a courteous goodbye to both of ye?"

"We have no box of any description, Mr. O'Dowd," cried she triumphantly. "Thank heaven, he got safely away!"

"Do you mean to tell me you came away without the—your belongings, Miss Cameron?" exclaimed O'Dowd.

"They are not with me," she replied. Her grasp on Barnes' arm tightened. "Oh, isn't it splendid? They did not catch him. He—"

"Will you both swear on your sacred honor that ye haven't the jewels in your possession?"

"Unhesitatingly," said Barnes. "I swear, Mr. O'Dowd."

"Then," said he, "I have no time to waste here. I am looking for a tin box. I beg your pardon for disturbing you."

"Oh, Mr. O'Dowd, I shall never forget all that you have—"

"Whist, now! There is one thing I must insist on your forgetting completely: all that has happened in the last five minutes. What I am doing, Mr. Barnes, would be my death sentence if it ever became known."

"It shall never be known through me, O'Dowd. I'd like to shake your hand, old man."

"God bless you, Mr. O'Dowd," said the girl in a low, small voice, singularly suggestive of tears. "Some day I may be in a position to—"

"Don't say it! You'll spoil everything if you let me think you are in my debt. Bedad, don't be so sure I shan't see you again, and soon."

"Tell me how to find Hart's Tavern, old man. I'll—"

"No, I'm dashed if I do. You ought to be grateful to me for not stopping you entirely, without asking me to give you a helping hand. Good-by, and God bless you. I'm praying that ye get away safely, Miss Cameron. So long, Barnes. If you were a crow and wanted to roost on that big tree in front of Hart's Tavern, I dare say you'd take the shortest way there by flying as straight as a bullet from the mouth of this pit, following your extremely good-looking nose."

They did not wait for the break of day. Taking O'Dowd's hint, Barnes directed his steps straight out from the mouth of the quarry and pressed confidently onward. In answer to a question she informed him that there were no fewer than twenty-five men in Green Fancy, all of them shrewd, resolute and formidable.

"I cannot, for the life of me, see why they took chances on inviting me to the house, Miss Cameron."

She was silent for a moment, and when she spoke it was with great hesitancy. "Mr. Barnes, I had your life in my hands all the time you were at Green Fancy. I shudder now when I think of what might have happened. Before you were asked to the house, I was coolly informed that you would not leave it alive if I so much as breathed a word to you concerning my unhappy plight. The first word of an appeal to you would have been the signal for—your death. That is what they held over me. When I spoke to you on the couch that night, I—oh, don't you see? Don't you see that I wantonly, cruelly, selfishly risked your life—not my own—when I—"

"There, there, now!" he cried, consolingly, as she put her hands to her face and gave way to sobs.

"Forgive me," she murmured. "I didn't mean to be so silly."

"It helps, to cry sometimes," he said lamely.

The first faint signs of day were struggling out of the night when they stole across the road above Hart's Tavern and made their way through the stable yard to the rear of the house. His one thought was to get her safely inside the Tavern.

The door was locked. He delivered a series of resounding kicks upon its stout face. Revolver in hand, he faced about and waited for the assault of the men who, he was sure, would come plunging around the corner of the building in response to the racket. But there was no attack.

At last there were sounds from within. A key grated in the lock and a bolt was shot. The door flew open. Mr. Clarence Dillingford appeared in the opening, partially dressed, his hair sadly tumbled, his eyes blinking in the light of the lantern he held aloft.

"Well, what the—?" Then his gaze alighted on the lady. "For the love of—!" began the embarrassed Dillingford. "What the dev— I say, can't you see that I'm not dressed? What the—?"

"Give me that lantern," said Barnes, and snatched the article out of the unresisting hand. "Show me the way to Miss Thackeray's room, Dillingford. No time for explanations."

"Well, for the love of—"

"I will take you to Miss Thackeray's room," said Barnes, leading her swiftly through the narrow passage. "She

WHERE BEGGING IS AN ART

Syrians Are Adepts, and Thieving in All Branches is a Flourishing Business.

The well-fed German out here (in Syria) used to call the Turkish soldier an "artiste de faim." The poor Syrian is a genius at it. Begging is the most flourishing trade in Syria, and the only one at which the craftsman gets a proper apprenticeship. Interspersed among the real starvers you will find child actors who would win a fortune in London. They lie in an attitude of death in a woman's lap, their well-rounded limbs carefully covered with vermilion rags. You will see them ten minutes later, when mamma has gone home for lunch, playing touch.

Thieving in all its branches—piracy from off-loading ships, fraud, smuggling of stolen goods, pilfering and pocket picking—had such a boom on the arrival of the British as was never known in the best Turkish days, though now it is waning beneath a somewhat determined police surveillance. Animals? They talk at home of selling army horses out here. Well, the Arab and even the Syrian knows the value of his horse and that while he is in working order it pays to keep him so. That is the utmost limit; and as to work horses, or any other animals, they would need all the staff of the R. S. P. C. A. to keep even the streets free of eyesores.—Anglo-French Review.

Fastidious Landlord.

"That your father up the road?" asked the man in the linen duster.

"Yes," replied the boy with many freckles.

"He tells me there are lots of mosquitoes around here."

"Why, mister, I don't see he ought to have told you that. Pup's gettin' kind of weak in the eyes."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Well, you see, pup's got a system. When anybody asks about summer board they always mention mosquitoes. If pup likes their looks he tells the truth, which is that we haven't seen a skeet in ten years; but if folks don't happen to please him he draws on his imagination and fills the air with winged terrors."

will make you comfortable for the— that is until I am able to secure a room for you. Come on, Dillingford. Miss Thackeray was awake. Through the closed door she asked what on earth was the matter.

"I have a friend here—a lady. Will you dress as quickly as possible and take her in with you for a little while?"

There was no immediate response from the inside. Then Miss Thackeray observed, quite coldly: "I think I'd like to hear the lady's voice, if you don't mind. I recognize yours perfectly, Mr. Barnes, but I am not in the habit of opening my—"

"I guess I don't need to dress," said Miss Thackeray, and opened her door. "Come in, please. I don't know who you are or what you've been up to, but there are times when women ought to stand together. And what's more, I shan't ask any questions."

She closed the door behind the unexpected guest, and Barnes gave a great sigh of relief.

"Say, Mr. Barnes," said Miss Thackeray several hours later, coming upon him in the hall, "I guess I'll have to ask you to explain a little. She's a nice, pretty girl, and all that, but she won't open her lips about anything. She says you will do the talking. I'm a good sport, you know, and not especially finicky, but I'd hate to—"

"How is she? Is she resting? Does she seem—?"

"Well, she stretched out on my bed with my best nightie on, and she seems to be doing as well as could be expected," said Miss Thackeray dryly.

"Has she had coffee and—?"

"I am going after it now. It seems that she is in the habit of having it in bed. I wish I had her imagination. It would be great to imagine that all you have to do is to say, 'I think I'll have coffee and rolls and one egg' sent up, and then go on believing your wits could come time. Still, I don't mind. She seems so nice and pathetic, and it troubles, and I—"

"Thank you, Miss Thackeray. If you will see that she has her coffee I'll—I'll wait for you here in the hall and try to explain. I can't tell you everything at present—not without her consent—but what I do tell will be sufficient to make you think you are listening to a chapter of a dime novel."

LABOR DEMANDS SHARE IN RAILS

Federation Measure Asks Retirement of Private Capital and Part of Profits.

BILL READY FOR CONGRESS

Measure Put Forth as Remedy for the High Cost of Living, Because Railroads Are the Key Industry of Nation.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Organized labor came out with the unequivocal, formal demand that private capital be retired from the railroads.

A tripartite control composed of the public, the operating management and the employees is demanded instead.

Addressed to the American public and signed by the engineers and firemen, the conductors and the American Federation of Labor, a formal statement was issued announcing this proposal, which will be carried before congress.

"It marks," says the statement, "the step by which organized labor passes from demands for wage increases to demands that the system of profits in industry be overhauled."

This sentence sums up in a few words the proposal, of which there have been hints and indications, but which is now laid before the country for the first time. Everywhere in official Washington it is recognized as the most serious and far-reaching proposition the country will be called on to face.

Characterizing the proposal as "labor's bill," it is put forth as a remedy for the high cost of living, because the railroads are the key industry of the nation. It demands the "genuine co-operation and partnership, based on a real community of interest and participation in control," of which President Wilson spoke to congress, and which the statement says has been ignored by labor and the private owners of the railroads.

"We ask," it says, "that the railroads of the United States be vested in the public; that those actually engaged in conducting that industry, not from Wall street, but from the railroad offices and yards and out on the railroad lines, shall take charge of this service for the public."

Briefly, labor's plan demands: That private capital be eliminated from the railroads.

That the private owners receive for them government bonds "with a fixed interest return for every honest dollar that they have invested."

That the tripartite control, heretofore referred to, be established in corporations which shall lease the roads and in which the public, the operating managements and labor shall be represented equally.

That the public, the operators and the wage earners share equally all revenue in excess of the guarantee to private capital, by granting to the operators and the employees one-half the savings which are expected to be made by such a perfected organization, and to the public the other half as consumers, either by increasing service without adding costs or by reducing costs.

"This role originates with labor," says the statement, "because labor happens to have firm organizations through which it may become articulate."

The statement follows: "The innuendoes in telegraphed dispatches from Washington, appearing also in the speech of Representative Blanton of Texas, that the railroad unions are holding up congress and the government, may as well cease. This appeal is made to the American people direct. It invokes the judgment and common sense of public sentiment, of all the public which earns a wage or a stipend. We recognize that the only way in which we can exist under the present system is to demand further increases in wages. But we agree with Representative Blanton that this affords but temporary relief. It does not offer a remedy.

"Labor's bill, on the other hand, provides a remedy, and we ask merely that its terms be scrutinized. Our full argument in support of these terms will be presented on Wednesday before the house committee on interstate commerce. In this statement we are sounding the note of our basic principle."

Warships Guard Pl. bicite.
Paris, Aug. 6.—The peace conference, replying to Denmark's request that a warship be sent to Flensburg in connection with the plebiscite in Schleswig, notified Denmark that a British warship is already at Flensburg.

Strike Off on B. & O.
Cumberland, Md., Aug. 6.—Taking the stand that the walkout Friday was irregular, as it did not have the sanction of the brotherhood officials, the Baltimore & Ohio shopmen's strike was called off at a meeting of the men.

British, West Indies to U. S.?
London, Aug. 6.—The National News says a suggestion that the British West Indies be ceded to the United States in part payment of Great Britain's war debt is being considered seriously on both sides of the Atlantic.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Thinking of Grandpa.

Right now is grandfather's most troublesome time of the year. His bald head is so inviting that the flies simply cannot resist the temptation of biting it. And this worries little Jane almost as much as it does grandfather. The other evening she was in one of the neighbor's gardens when the head of the house came out and began to sprinkle his cucumber vines with lime. "What is that for?" she promptly asked.

"To keep the bugs away," the neighbor smilingly explained.

Jane watched him a minute in silence and then said very sweetly: "Can I have a little can of it? Grandpa could use it on his head."

Thankful for Small Favors.

The other evening a young matron was scolding her husband for having forgotten to observe their fifth wedding anniversary. Her single sister, a town schoolteacher, happened to come to their house in time to hear a great part of the lecture. At its end she turned to the defense of her brother-in-law. "I think you should be thankful enough for having had the wedding without expecting anniversaries," she told her sister.

Worse Still.

"Miss Ann was very angry when I kissed her in the dark and refused to accept my apology."
"Perhaps you did not make it strong enough."
"Oh, yes, I did. I told her I had mistaken her for her pretty young cousin."

Their Use.

"They say lead pencils carry germs."
"Well, they are the very things to draw them."

It's a poor wedding ceremony that hasn't a hitch in it.

The pill of experience is seldom sugar coated.

Accomplished Child.

Gabe Yawkey, on his way to Tun-linville, met Gap Johnson of Rumpun Ridge, going home.

"Ho, Gap!" he saluted. "I sorter stopped at your place to get a drink of water and they told me your least boy, Bearcat, had got hold of your gun a few minutes before and cracked down on the presiding elder, who was passing, and shot his hat from his head as slick as a whistle at about a hundred and fifty yards."

"Well, I'll b'dogged!" was the reply. "And, just think, Gabe, the little cuss is only five years old!"—Kansas City Star.

Doing a Man's Part.

"What are you doing for our cause?" asked a suffragette worker.
"Doing," replied the man. "I'm supporting one of your most enthusiastic members."

It is easier for love to find a way than it is for a good many young men to pay the way.

Its Kind.
"Cities now have a new sky line."
"How so?"
"They have a dirigible route."
A successful man keeps his eyes and ears wide open and his mouth closed.

Being Exact
"Don't you think Bliggins has a great deal of idle curiosity?"
"Curiosity, yes. But never idle."
One strong point of many a woman is at the end of a hat pin.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Yes, it's toasted

YOU know how much toasting improves bread. Makes it taste good. Of course—more flavor.

Same with tobacco—especially Kentucky Burley.

Buy yourself a package of Lucky Strike cigarettes. Notice the toasted flavor. Great! Nothing like it. The real Burley cigarette.

MRS BURNS' LETTER

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances:

Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

FORD MAKES 54 MILLION IN NINE MONTHS

MOUNT CLEMENS, MICH.—Profits of the Ford Motor company for the nine months ending last April amounted to $54,000,000. Edsel Ford testified in his father's million dollar libel suit against The Chicago Tribune.

The younger Ford was on the stand as an adverse witness. When he could not bring the profits figures up he was requested to have them in court Monday.

He said his company had manufactured army tanks made of a special steel just as strong, but half the weight of those ordinarily used.

$312.60 FROM 3½ ACRES OF AL-SYKE CLOVER

Ralph Snyder, one of the town of Hartford's enterprising farmers, is the first to start the ball rolling relative to large yields of clover seed. Yesterday Ralph threshed 2½ acres of al-syke clover from which he received 15½ bushels of seed, which he sold to the Heppie Cash store, receiving $20.50 a bushel, or $312.60 in all. A mighty fine yield indeed.—Hartford Times.

U. S. GOES AFTER FOOD PROFITEERS

Machinery Set in Motion to Crush High Cost Opre.

WILL NOT TRY EXPERIMENTS

To Keep Clear of Subsidizing Food-Action Will Be Earnest, Aggressive and Vigorous, Directed by Department of Justice.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The government is going to prosecute the food profiteers in the United States as an immediate remedy for the high cost of living.

This was announced by Attorney General Palmer after a conference with the president which followed an all-day deliberation of the special cabinet committee on means of reducing the prices of necessities to the agitated public.

The department of justice, it was declared, will employ every resource at its command to ferret out and prosecute the hoarders of food and those who are charging extortionate prices.

Big and little profiteers are to be prosecuted and congress is to be asked to supplement the existing penal code of the food act with amendments which will enable the government to reach its hand out and grapple the retailer who in many communities is charging exorbitant prices for food-stuffs.

The president authorized the statement that he will address congress on the subject within a few days and at that time will submit recommendations to aid in dealing with the critical situation adequately and effectively. Beyond that announcement the president had nothing to say regarding the issue.

Profiteers the Target. It was made clear, however, that the government does not contemplate entering upon any experiment in subsidizing food, such as purchasing wheat at the guaranteed price, and selling it for less to the miller, making up the deficit from the billion-dollar wheat guarantee fund.

Action, as Attorney General Palmer put it, "earnest, aggressive, vigorous action," will be directed by the department of justice against all profiteers, and it was reported that among the first big offenders to be proceeded against will be the big packers.

Following the attorney general's conference with the president, Mr. Palmer consulted with Charles F. Clyne, district attorney of Chicago, and C. E. Ames of the department of justice.

It was admitted that the particular subject of the conference was the Chicago packers. When asked about the conference, District Attorney Clyne said he could not discuss it.

Will Not Subsidize Food. The decision of the administration not to heed suggestions relating to government subsidization of food was made public by Julius Barnes, director of the grain corporation, who conferred with the president.

Mr. Barnes issued a long statement to explain the world wheat situation, in the course of which he said that the wheat corporation was now engaged in buying new flour at less than market prices and that this would be sold to the public at $10 a barrel, no more and no less, in any community where dealers sought to charge more for the product.

Discusses Cost of Bread. "In America," said Mr. Barnes, "flour is 50 per cent of the final wholesale cost of bread, and 50 per cent is made up of labor, other ingredients and delivery. Roughly speaking, to reduce the 10-cent loaf of bread to 9 cents, 45 cents per bushel must be taken from the price of wheat."

"If flour were supplied to the bakers free (the present cost of labor and other materials remaining the same) we could hardly attain a retail 5-cent loaf."

"If, with later developments, a world wheat price is indicated lower than the guaranteed basis, the wheat director will not hesitate to readjust American flour prices at the expense of the national treasury, as authorized by congress."

GAS KILLED 756 U. S. SOLDIER

Average Age of All Slain Troops Was Twenty-Three—241 Still Missing, War Office Announces.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Seven hundred and fifty-six of the American soldiers killed in action were victims of gas, according to an announcement by the war department. The average age of the men killed was twenty-three years. The total of missing in action on July 31 was 241, the department announcing that large reductions had been made in the list as a result of checking against the list of the central records office of the expeditionary forces.

ROUMANIAN FORCES ENTER SUBURBS OF CAPITAL

Paris, Aug. 5.—Roumanian troops have entered the suburbs of Budapest, according to a dispatch received here from Vienna.

Soviet newspapers in Budapest have been suppressed, according to a dispatch from the Hungarian capital received here by way of Innsbruck. The city is reported as being calm, the workmen's battalion preserving order there.

Budapest, Aug. 4.—The city presents a pitiful appearance after the flight of the communists. The streets are half deserted, no stores are open, there is little food in the hotels or private houses, and no soap, coffee, tobacco or linen is to be had.

The communists, who robbed both for political and private purposes, left the banks empty. Financial institutions which contained about five billion crowns now have barely 50,000,000 crowns in good money in their vaults.

CHICAGO RIOTS CEASE

TROOPS KEEP SUNDAY FREE OF RACE DISTURBANCES.

Fifteen Thousand Negroes Employed at Stock Yards Not to Return at Present.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Movement of additional troops into the riot belt had its effect. For the first Sunday in a month there was no riot call at police stations south of Roosevelt road and west of Cottage Grove avenue.

Chief Garrity and Adjutant General Dickson made separate tours of the riot and fire districts, questioning militia and police officers enroute. When they completed their inspections and returned to the loop both declared conditions to be "nearly normal."

The 15,000 negro stockyard workers did not go back to work this morning, however. Representatives of the packers said "it had been agreed" not to bring the colored workers back until the situation was such "that the police could handle any outbreaks."

Neither Chief Garrity nor First Deputy Alcock would intimate when they thought the troops could be withdrawn and the police able to handle the outbreak which, white workers in the yards say, will come when the negroes attempt to return to work there.

BIG FIRE PLOT IS BARED

Mayor of Chicago Says That Information Caused Him to Yield to Troop Call.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—In a statement supplementing an announcement he made, Mayor Thompson said that it was information that Wednesday night had been chosen for a widespread plot to start fires in the riot district, which induced him to call out the state troops. He was guided in that action, too, by knowledge that the police were worn out by continuous duty.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Racine — The police and sheriff forces are at work in search of two holdup men who entered the confectionery store of E. W. Gelavegve, 1710 Washington avenue, and at the point of revolvers held up the proprietor and three customers, getting away with $85. Men in the store were so frightened by the threats of the holdup men that they made no report to the police until several minutes after the robbers had escaped. It is believed that they made their escape in an automobile.

Park Falls — Edward Hines, of the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago, has purchased at Eau Claire, the entire holdings of the Rice Lake Lumber company, including the mill property and 45,000 acres of land. With Arpin land recently bought by the Hines company, the Rice Lake mill will have fifteen years cut of hemlock and hardwood. The deal is considered one of the largest in the north in several years.

Kenosha—Possibility of a solution of the mystery surrounding the finding of a body on the lake shore just south of the Racine county line, loomed up here, when George Kelberger of this city attempted to link up the disappearance of his son, George Kelberger, Jr., more than four weeks ago. The coroner probably will order the body exhumed that this may be definitely established or rejected.

La Crosse — The wives of Joseph Fyett, Sr., and Joseph Fyett, Jr., appeared in circuit court at the same time asking divorces from their respective husbands on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Julia Fyett was granted a separation from the younger Fyett, but the court was reluctant to grant a divorce to the latter's father and mother, adjourning the case.

BUICK 1920 MODEL PRICES ANNOUNCED

"With the announcement of our new 1920 model 'K' series, says, A. A. Perschbacher, local dealer—and the marked improvement in refinements, brings our new series before the buying public with instant stamp of approval—and invariably the expression is made, how such beautiful types and thoroughly constructed models can be manufactured at the prices announced, with high cost of materials and labor entering into them.

To still maintain the 1919 price upon some models with only a slight increase upon the coupe and sedans, coupled with increased quality and improvements is the result of strong purchasing power and careful consideration on the part of the Buick Motor Company. Prices instantly become a secondary consideration in comparison with the different models, as hundreds of these models have already been sold by dealers upon a sight unseen plan, buyers having complete confidence in the Buick Motor Company to manufacture a series of models retaining the Buick high standard of quality first—price later. True to all former policies and backed by their integrity. "There is not a single part entering into the construction of the 1920 Buick car that is not as good as, or better than the same part used at any previous time," and further that the design has been improved and quality elevated. These model "K" series excel in finish and all materials, including upholstery and every component part that enters into their construction.

It will be a pleasure for you to see these new series—inspect every detail, check over every improvement and part that has been employed in their manufacture, acquaint yourself with the method of painting, note the fenders, steering wheel tops, upholstery, comfortable seats, new style windshields, improved top materials and inspect the motor and chassis construction, see the staunchness of all improvements that the best engineering talent in existence can produce, combining power, speed, beauty, value and economy, thereby making the Buick car a selected investment which commands the attention of thousands of other discriminating buyers and careful observers.

The most difficult situation that confronts the prospective Buick purchaser is the matter of car delivery for demands are increasing daily for these famous Valve-in-Head motor cars.

This great group of men were the best judges of one a past-master in this profession. There was not one who did not want from three to five times the number of their allotment for, with their fingers ever upon the pulse of the buying public, they know what demands would be made upon their eagerness to secure every car possible.

For several hours, the sales room was a busy place, after which a tour of inspection was made through the new parts manufacturing building displaying the wonderful improvements the Buick Motor Company has made to care for the needs and give assistance to all Buick owners. Here, the Branch Managers and Distributors were again treated to another surprise in seeing these large extensions and the added equipment installed for the production of Buick parts for Buick cars.

The day's session was completed with a motor tour of inspection through the new Civic Heights park, where an addition is under construction by the General Motors Corporation, who are building hundreds of new homes for Buick employees. During the evening a special educational moving picture show was given in the auditorium room. This was a fitting climax for the first day's session, as the different reels displayed in minute detail every operation in the manufacture and construction of the Buick Valve-in-Head Motor Car.

Price was a secondary consideration when compared with the added improvements and what each visitor wanted was more cars.

At the morning convention, June 27, the prices were announced, allotments assigned and the afternoon turned over to recreation visits to the new Flint Golf and Gun Clubs, where visitors tramped over the bunkers and green or discovered hitting clay targets was more difficult than smashing sales records.

The wives of many of the visitors were present and several delightful luncheons and dinners were given these guests. Everyone went back home full of information for their dealers' organization lingering behind "We'll block the streets and roads with 1920 models".

GOOD ROADS SAVE MONEY

The improved roads of Milwaukee county save $25,000 a day to the people who use them. This is the estimate of the county commissioner of highways, as reported to the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. The statistics are based on a census of the traffic taken periodically during the past four years. The census is made by selecting fifty-two points scattered throughout the county, and making seven counts at each point, for one every day of the week. The count is not made on consecutive days, but at various periods from April to November so as to arrive at average conditions.

This census is taken to determine the durability of certain types of pavement, according to the amount of traffic a square yard. It shows that about 25,000 vehicles of all kinds travel the highways each day. Traffic on the road has increased about 42 per cent a year during the four years in which the survey has been made.

If paved roads in Milwaukee county save those who use them $25,000 a day a system of paved roads in Washington county should save the inhabitants of this county putting it conservatively at least $5,000 a day. This saving would be affected through reduction in wear and tear on vehicles using the highways, in time and labor saved in hauling. At this rate, the $2,000,000 to be invested in permanent highways in this county would be returned to the people in an indirect way in reduced costs, before the end of a year's time, and the road remaining for at least a quarter of a century longer to effect an additional saving each year.

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter.

AUTOMATIC SELF-FEED—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

DANGER-PROOF SELF-FEED ROLLERS—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged a good share of the time and the poisons that should be expelled are absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. MANY OPERATIONS WHOLLY UNNECESSARY

That many sufferers are unnecessarily operated on, who could have been cured without this too frequent use of the knife, is the claim of Dr. Karass, the well known Specialist. Think of the suffering that can be avoided, the money saved, and the healthiness restored by the method of treatment as used by Dr. Karass. The doctor treats without operation such conditions as goitre, gall stones, tumors, piles, rupture, appendicitis and special diseases of women. He also treats chronic diseases of the heart, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, brain, skin, nerves, including rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, catarrh, deafness, head noises, weak lungs, stomach trouble, general weakness, and special diseases Dr. Karass offers free examination to the who call. Only curable cases accepted for treatment. Dr. Karass is in his office in the Republican House, Kewaskum Wis. every Wednesday between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.—Adv.

Get Efficiency From Your Tractor

KEEP it in service constantly. The one best way to do that is to give it all the lubricating oil it will take, providing you select the correct oil.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has produced three oils which will correctly lubricate the entire range of tractors. These are:

- Heavy Polarine Oil
- Stanolind Tractor Oil
- Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

Any Standard Oil representative will be glad to show you the chart of Tractor lubrication, prepared by our Engineering Staff. It indicates specifically which of these three oils the Standard Oil Engineers have found will give the best results in your particular tractor.

We have just published a 100-page book, "Tractors and Tractor Lubrication," prepared by our Engineering Staff, which you will find a valuable reference book, and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss.

It's free to you for the asking. Address

Perfection's Price In Tire Building

A tire-maker's first problem is to decide how much he can give for the money. This, and every other question in tire building, depends upon policies.
A super-tire, such as The Brunswick, can be made only by a concern which knows well and appreciates that there is nothing exclusive in the tire industry except high standards.
Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has held first place in every line it entered. Brunswick Tires, as more and more motorists come to know them, will certainly be awarded that coveted place held only by the superfine.
Motorists who buy one Brunswick usually adopt it for complete equipment. Yet this is not strange, since the first one so completely proves its superiority.
If the name of Brunswick certifies to you, as to most men, an extraordinary tire, at no higher price, would it not be good business to test one or two Brunswick Tires?
