THE COUNTY EDUCATIONAL LISTENING POST

Two editors gave commendation to the initial numbers of the Educational Listening Post. Editor Huber commented thus: "Every item interested me." Editor F. K. Lovth of the rural school department of the Wisconsin Journal of Education writes: "It has made a good beginning if kept up to the present standard it will be an instrument of good in Washington county. May I use some of its ideas?"

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

With the sky clear and the sun shining brightly, Sunday, it was an ideal day for tourists, however, it seemed to be a hoodo day to a number of tourists who were taking advantage of the beautiful weather, and as a result the most tragic automobile accident ever occurring here, happened about four miles west of this village, near the home of Wm. Lay, which cost the lives of two persons, when a large new six-cylinder Studebaker car, driven by Joseph Marshall of Racine tipped over twice. The occupants of the car were: Joseph Marshall, a barber, and wife, and Fred Burkle, a painter, his wife, daughter Jeanette and son Robert, all of Racine. They were on their way to Omro, where they intended spending Labor Day with Mr. Burkle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Burkle, whom they had not seen for some time.

BONUS AND GOOD ROADS CARRY

Election in this village passed off very quietly, on Tuesday, only 133 votes were cast, out of which 57 votes were for the good roads and 73 against. In the town of Kewaskum 21 votes were for the good roads and 104 against, and for the bonus 30 were for and 96 against. Washington county overwhelmingly voted in favor of the soldiers' bonus, while the vote for the two million bond issue was carried by 808 majority. The vote for the county is as follows:

MARTIN WARDEN KILLED BY AUTO

Martin Warden of Beechwood, and a pioneer resident of the town of Scott, Sheboygan county, was instantly killed at 10:30 Sunday morning by a car driven by his son Orin Warden. Orin in company with L. J. Kaiser were driving to Lake Seven for a day's fishing, and when about eighty rods from the homestead, met his father. Orin blew the horn and made every effort to stop, but his father in some manner got confused, which is only natural for people of advanced age to do, and stepped directly in front of the machine, causing instant death.

THE COMING COUNTY FAIR TO BE BETTER AND LONGER

The Washington County Fair this year fairly and lawfully can lay claim to another epithet which is absolutely new and therefore unprecedented in its history of sixty odd years. Since times immemorial it has been "bigger and better" than ever before, and the slogan did its duty although the improvement of the institution sometimes made the visitors wonder where to look for it. It wasn't always readily seen on the surface, although doubtless it was there. This year our fair can add another adjective, making the phrase read "bigger, better, and longer than ever before." And every one of the adjectives is put down here in the fullest sense of its meaning, backed by proofs and facts that will stand any test. The Fair management for years has been contemplating the extension of the time for holding the Fair. To be tied up with any other Fair, one depending on the other and seeing to it that none interferes with the other, was at best only a half-and-half makeshift which at last was recognized more of a dead weight than a benefit. Washington county has outgrown the half-week Fair and is fully justified to set aside a week for the important event, and it can well afford to run it independent of any other Fair. The change of the Agricultural society into a stock company was the forerunner of the other change, which from anything that might hinder the free and vigorous growth of our Fair. Aside from being unannounced in the careful and thorough arrangements, the four-day Fair has other advantages. Foremost of all is the impression the change makes. It will raise the importance of the Fair several hundred per cent in our own eyes and the eyes of others beyond the county lines. If we can devote practically a whole week to show what we have accomplished in a year, glory in our achievements learn new lessons where we have failed to succeed, and gain new inspirations that make work a pleasure and lead us along the road of progress, the rest of the state may well sit up and take notice of us. Another advantage of a four-day Fair is that every member of the family can visit it. As it was so far, many people were not able to attend it because somebody had to remain on the farm while other family members enjoyed the sights and pleasures of the Fair. Still another advantage is the fact that a four-day Fair offers better inducements to race horse owners who did not find it worth while to ship their animals to a Fair with only two race days. And yet another advantage is the chance to get around the whims of the weather. In four days one can expect more sunshine than in three or two, and if a rainy spell comes along there is a very good chance to make up for the loss. It seldom rains for four days in succession. The first day October 7, is the entry day, and the last day, Friday, October 10, is children's day, with free admission for children under twelve years. The great event being less than six weeks off it is time to prepare for it. If you have anything that is worth while showing, get it ready. Help to make the various exhibitions richer than ever before. Do not be over-modest unless you want to get nowhere and care little how things run on generally. Be proud of your success, show what you have accomplished; it will do good to you and to others. Then the county Fair will be the true gauge of the year's progress in the county. The premium list is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution shortly.

That there will be a mutual understanding in this matter among school boards, teachers and superintendents of schools the following things will determine the granting of state aid: 1. The order must be good. 2. There must be evidence of good school house-keeping. 3. The teacher must make daily preparation and definite assignment. 4. The school manual should not only be on deck, it should be used all the time. 5. The printed for that purpose. 6. The teaching must be practical. It must connect up with the problems of the home and the farm. 7. Preparation must be clear and definite assignment. 7. The pupils must be kept busy at their seats. 8. There must be a good spirit. The children should show genuine interest in their work and pride in the good name of the school. 9. The 350 state aid is not granted a day dreaming, not writing, school. That is the school of the incompetent teacher. State aid presupposes competency and equipment.

ARE SPENDING HONEYMOON HERE

The village of Kewaskum, this week has the rare opportunity of having within its midst a young couple whose romance started in an orphan home of which institution both were inmates at one time. They are spending their honeymoon at the home of Sam Moses and family. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Amster, the newly weds, whose wedding took place on Sunday evening, August 31st at the Marx Nathan Orphan Home at Chicago, the leading institution of its kind in that city, was the first wedding that ever occurred at said home, and as a result proved to be a very elaborate affair. The marriage had gained wide popularity in Chicago, over 2000 people attended the wedding ceremony, which was conducted by Rabbi Brugnisky. Following the ceremony, Judge Fischer, Judge of the Juvenile court delivered a very appreciative and impressive address. After his address a wedding supper was served to about 400 guests. The festivities at the home were taken care of in a most elaborate way, and it is estimated that the institution spent over $500 for the celebration in the hopes of making the occasion one which will linger in the memory of the newly weds and those who had the honor of attending same. Mr. and Mrs. Amster were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. After spending their honeymoon here they will go to honeymooning in East Chicago, where the groom is employed as cost accountant for the General American Tank Car Corps. Miss Sarah Moses left last Friday evening for Chicago to attend the wedding of the young couple. Mrs. Amster was a school mate of Miss Moses in the Metropolitan Business College at Chicago. Miss Moses returned home on Monday evening accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Amster.

PIECES OF EIGHT

By Richard Le Gallienne

Being the Authentic Narrative of a Treasure Discovered in the Bahama Islands in the Year 1903. Now First Given to the Public.

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Company.

LOVE AND ADVENTURE

"Pieces of Eight!" Immediately the imagination begins its magic work. Thoughts fly to the old pirate days of the West Indies—the days of the buccaniers, of fighting, adventure and treasure. "Pieces of Eight"—Spanish dollars bearing the figure of a man to the imagination great, dark, steel-bound chests, with their puzzle-locks and mysterious holes of gold and gems. They mean pirate loot buried and lost to their pirate owners—and still waiting through the years a lucky finder.

They mean, too, tropic climes where it is always green and frost is a thing unthinkable—where fruit is ready to the hand and clothing is an ornament and the sun "comes up like thunder," and blue skies and crystal waters run the gamut of all that is lovely in color.

Richard Le Gallienne is a literary craftsman. Poetry and prose come equally to his pen.

So, in addition to interest of plot, we have in "Pieces of Eight" the charm of the written word.

Love, adventure, mystery, buried treasure amid scenes far from the ordinary—what more can the reader ask in entertainment?

Book I.

CHAPTER I.

Introduces the Secretary of the Treasury of His Britannic Majesty's Government at Nassau, New Providence, Bahama Islands.

During the summer of 1903 I was paying what must have seemed like an interminable visit to my old friend John Saunders, who at that time filled with becoming dignity the high-sounding office of secretary of the treasury of his majesty's government, in the quaint little town of Nassau, in the island of New Providence, one of those Bahama Islands that lie half lost to the world to the southeast of the Caribbean sea and form a somewhat neglected portion of the British West Indies.

Time was when they had a sounding name for themselves in the world; when the now sleepy little harbor gave shelter to rousing freebooters and tarry pirates, tearing in there under full sail with their loot from the Spanish Main.

But those heroic days are gone, and Nassau is given up to a sleepy trade in sponges and tortoise shell, and peace is no name for the drowsy tenor of the days under the palm trees and the scented poincianas.

Here a handful of Englishmen, clothed in the white linen suits of the tropics, carry on the government after the traditional manner of British colonies from time immemorial, each of them, like my friend, not without an English smile at the humor of the thing, supporting the dignity of offices with impressive names—lord chief justice, attorney general, speaker of the house, lord high admiral, colonial secretary and so forth.

My friend the secretary of the treasury is a man possessing in an uncommon degree that rare and most attractive of human qualities, companionship. As we sit together in the bush of his snuggerly of an evening, surrounded by guns, fishing lines and old prints, there are times when we scarcely exchange a dozen words between dinner and bedtime, and yet we have all the time a keen and satisfying sense of companionship. It is John Saunders' gift. Companionship seems quietly to ooze out of him, without the need of words.

And occasionally we have as third in those evening conclaves a big, slow-cooking, broad-faced young merchant of the same kidney. In he drops with a nod and a smile, and takes his place in the smoke cloud of our meditations, radiating without the effort of speech that good thing—humanity; though one must not forget the one subject on which now and again the good Charlie Webster achieves eloquence in spite of himself—duck shooting.

John Saunders' subject is shark fishing. Duck shooting and shark fishing. It is enough. Here, for sensible men, is a sufficient basis for life-long friendship, and unwearied, inexhaustible companionship.

It was in this peace of John Saunders' snuggerly one July evening in 1903, the three of us being duly met and ensconced in our respective armchairs, that we got onto the subject of buried treasure. It was I who started us off by asking John what he knew about buried treasure.

At this John laughed his funny little quiet laugh. "Buried treasure!" he said; "well, I have little doubt that the islands are full of it—if one only knew how to get at it."

"Seriously?" I asked.

"Certainly. Why not? Weren't these islands for nearly three centuries the stamping ground of all the pirates of the Spanish Main? Morgan was here. Blackbeard was here. The very governors themselves were little better than pirates. This room we are sitting in was the den of one of the biggest rogues of them all—John Tinker—the governor when Bruce was here building Fort Montague at the east end yonder; building it against pirates, and little else but pirates at the Government house all the time. A great old time Tinker gave the poor fellow. You can read all about it in his 'Memoirs.' Nassau was the rendezvous for all the cutthroats of the Caribbean sea. Here they came in with their loot, their doubloons and pieces of eight; and John's eyes twinkled with enjoyment of the rich old romantic words, as though they were old port.

"Here they squandered much of it, no doubt, but they couldn't squander it all. Some of them were thrifty knaves, too, and these, looking around for some place of safety, would naturally think of the bush. The niggers keep their little hoards there to this day."

"It is their form of stocking," put in Charlie Webster.

"Precisely. Well, as I was saying, those old fellows would bury their hoards in some cave or other, and then go off—and get hanged. Their ghosts perhaps came back. But their money is still here, lots of it, you bet your life."

"Do they ever make any finds?" I asked.

"Nothing big that I know of. A jug full of old coins now and then. I found one a year or two ago in my garden here—buried down among the roots of that old fig tree."

"Then," put in Charlie, "there was that mysterious stranger over at North Cay. He's supposed to have got away with quite a pile."

"Tell me about him," said I.

"Well, there used to be an old eccentric character in the town here—a halfbreed by the name of Andrews. John will remember him—"

John nodded.

"He used to go around all the time with a big umbrella, and muttering to himself. We used to think him half crazy. Gone so brooding over this very subject of buried treasure. Better look out, young man!"—smiling at me. "He used to be always grubbing about in the bush. Well, several years ago there came a visitor from New York, and he got thick with the old

"Those Old Fellows Would Bury Their Hoards."

They used to go about a lot together, and were often off on so-called fishing trips for days on end. Actually, it is believed, they were after something on North Cay. At all events some months afterward the New Yorker disappeared as he had come and has not been heard from since. But since then they have found a sort of brick vault over there which has evidently been excavated. I have seen it myself. A sort of walled chamber. There, it's supposed the New Yorker found something or other. That's the story for what it's worth."

As Charlie finished John slapped his knee.

"The very thing for you!" he said; "why have I never thought of it before?"

"What do you mean, John?" we both asked.

"Why down at the office I've got the very thing. A pity I haven't got it here. You must come in and see it tomorrow."

"What on earth is it? Why do you keep us guessing?"

"Why, it's an old manuscript that came into my hands a short time ago. Charlie, you remember old Vicks—old Billy Wicks—'Wrecker' Wicks, they called him—"

"I should say I do. A wonderful old villain—"

"But the document, for heaven's sake," I said. "The document first; the story will keep."

"Well, they were pulling down Wicks' own house just lately, and out of the rafters there fell a roll of paper—now I'm coming to it—a roll of paper, purporting to be the account of the burying of a certain treasure, telling the place where it is buried, and giving directions for finding it—"

Charlie and I exclaimed together; and John continued, with tantalizing deliberation:

"It's a statement purporting to be made by some fellow on his death-bed—some fellow dying out in Texas—a quondam pirate, anxious to make his peace at the end and to give his friends the benefit of his knowledge."

"Oh, John!" said I. "I shan't sleep a wink tonight."

"I don't take much stock in it," said John. "I'm inclined to think it's a hoax. Someone trying to fool the old fellow. . . . But, boys, it's bed-time, anyhow. Come down to the office in the morning and we'll look it over."

So our meeting broke up for the time being, and taking my candle I went upstairs, to dream of caves overflowing with goldpieces, and John Tinker, fierce and mustachioed, standing over me, a cutlass between his teeth and a revolver in each hand.

CHAPTER II.

The Narrative of Henry P. Tobias, ex-Pirate, as Dictated on His Death-bed, in the Year of Our Lord 1859.

The good John had scarcely made his leisurely, distinguished appearance at his desk on the morning when I too entered by one door and Charlie Webster by the other.

"Now for the document," we both exclaimed in a breath.

"Here it is," he said, taking up a rather grimy-looking roll of foolscap from in front of him, which, as he pointed out, was evidently the work of a person of very little education, and began to read as follows:

County of Travis, State of Texas, December 1859.

Feeling my end is near, I make the following statement of my own free will and without solicitation. In full exercise of all my faculties, and feel that I am doing my duty by so doing.

I was born in the city of Liverpool, England (on the 5th day of December 1784). My father was a seaman and when I was young I followed the same occupation. And it happened that when, on a passage from Spain to the West Indies, our ship was attacked by free-traders, as they called themselves, but they were pirates. We all did our best, but were overpowered, and the whole crew, except three, were killed. I was one of the three they did not kill. They carried us on board their ship and kept us until the next day when they asked us to join them. They tried to get us to join them willingly, but we would not, when they became enraged and loaded three cannon and lashed each one of us before the mouth of each cannon and told us to take our choice to join them, as they would touch the guns and that dimmed our eyes. It was less than six months, but I was with them for more than two years, in which time we collected a vast quantity of money from different ships we captured and we buried a great amount in two different lots. I helped to bury it with my own hands. The location of which it is my purpose to point out, so that it can be found without trouble in the Bahama Islands. After I had been with them for more than two years, we were attacked by a large warship and our commander told us to fight for our lives, as it would be death if we were taken. But the guns of our ship were too small for the warship, so our ship soon began to sink, when the man-of-war ran alongside of our vessels and tried to board us, but we were sinking too fast, so she had to haul off again, when our vessel sank with every thing on board, and I escaped by swimming under the stern of the ship, as ours sank, without being seen, and holding on to the ship until dark, when I swam to a portion of the wrecked vessel floating not far away. And on that I floated. The next morning the ship was not seen. I was picked up by a passing vessel the next day as a shipwrecked seaman.

And let me say here, I know that no one escaped alive from our vessel except myself and those that were taken by the man-of-war. And those were all executed as pirates—so I know that no other man knows of this treasure except myself and it must be and is where we buried it until today and unless you get it through this statement it will remain there always and do no one any good.

Therefore, it is your duty to trace it up and get it for your own benefit, as well as others, no delay now, but act as soon as possible.

I will now describe the place, locations, marks, etc., etc., so plainly that it can be found, without any trouble, with every thing.

The first is a sum of one million and a half dollars ($1,500,000).

At this point John panted. We all took a long breath, and Charlie Webster gave a soft whistle and smacked his lips.

"A million and a half dollars. What ho!"

Then I, happening to cast my eye through the open door, caught sight of a face gazing through the ironwork of the outer office with a fixed and glittering expression, a face anything but prepossessing, the face of a halfbreed, deeply pockmarked, with a coarse hook nose and evil-looking eyes, unnaturally close together. It was evident from his expression that he had not missed a word of the reading.

"There is someone in the outer office," I said, and John rose and went out.

"Good morning, Mr. Saunders," said an unpleasantly soft and cringing voice.

"Good morning," said John, somewhat grumpily, "what is it you want?"

It was some detail of account, which, being dispatched, the man shuffled off, with evident reluctance, casting a long, inquisitive look at us seated at the desk, and John, taking up the manuscript once more, resumed:

. . . a sum of one million and one half dollars—buried at a bay known as Dead Men's Shoos, near Nassau, in the Bahama Islands. About fifty feet (50 ft.) south of this Dead Men's Shoos is a rock, on which we cut the form of a compass.

And twenty feet (20 ft.) East from the cay is another rock on which we cut a cross (X). Under this rock it is buried four feet (4 ft.) deep.

The other is a sum of one million dollars. It is buried on what was known as Short Shrift Island; on the highest point of this Short Shrift Island is a large cabbage wood stump and twenty feet (20 ft.) south of that stump is the treasure, buried five feet (5 ft.) deep and can be found without difficulty. Short Shrift Island is a place where passing vessels stop to get fresh water. No great distance from Nassau, so it can be easily found.

The first pod was taken from a Spanish merchant and it is in Spanish silver dollars.

The other on Short Shrift Island is in different kinds of money, taken from different ships of different nations—it is all good money.

Now friends, I have told you all that is necessary for you to know to recover these treasures and I leave it in your hands and it is my request that when you read this, you will at once take steps to recover it, and when you get it, it is my wish that you use it in a way most good to yourself and others. This is all I ask.

I am, truly your friend,

HENRY P. TOBIAS.

"Henry P. Tobias?" said Charlie Webster. "Never heard of him. Did you, John?"

"Never."

And then there was a stir in the outer office. Someone was asking for the secretary of the treasury. So John rose.

"Who Is That Fellow?" I Asked Charlie.

"I must get to work now, boys. We can talk it over tonight." And then, handing me the manuscript: "Take it home with you, if you like, and look it over at your leisure."

As Charlie Webster and I passed out into the street I noticed the fellow of the sinister pockmarked visage standing near the window of the inner office. The window was open, and anyone standing outside could easily have heard everything that passed inside. As the fellow caught my eye he smiled unpleasantly and slunk off down the street.

"Who is that fellow?" I asked Charlie.

"He's a queer-looking specimen."

"Yes! he's no good. Yet he's more half-witted than bad, perhaps. His face is against him, poor devil!"

And we went our ways till the evening. I to post home to the further study of the narrative. There, seated on the pleasant veranda, I went over it carefully, sentence by sentence. While I was reading, someone called me indoors. I put down the manuscript on the little bamboo table at my side and went in. When I returned a few moments afterward the manuscript was gone!

A million and a half dollars buried on Dead Man's Shoos and a million on Short Shrift island—what ho!

Robby was a small boy, but he objected vigorously to a little waist that had a big collar and cuffs with a narrow ruffle around the edge. When asked the reason he said he didn't like the "girl" on it.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM SENT TO GERMANY

Constitution Must Be Changed; Violates Treaty Provision.

RHINE ADVANCE THREATENED

Clause Admitting Teutonic Delegates to Reichstag Is the Cause—Roumania Also Menaced With Entente Action.

Paris, Sept. 3.—The supreme council of the peace conference decided to send a note in forceful terms to the German government pointing out the contradiction with the Versailles treaty of the provision in the new German constitution providing for the representation of Austria in the German reichsrath.

The council demands the suppression of the article within a fortnight, declaring that otherwise the allies will be compelled to undertake a further occupation of the left bank of the Rhine.

Article 61 Objected To.

The provision objected to is article 61 of the German constitution, which is held to be in conflict with article 80 of the German peace treaty, forbidding German interference in Austrian affairs.

(Article 80 of the Versailles treaty reads: "Germany acknowledges and will respect strictly the independence of Austria within the frontiers which may be fixed in a treaty between that state and the principal allied and associated powers; she agrees that this independence shall be inalienable except with the consent of the council of the League of Nations.")

The text of the paragraph in the German constitution referred to has not been received in this country. It appears, however, that the clause applied to all territories of German-speaking peoples in Europe and therefore to German Austria, with the effect of providing that Austria might have a certain number of representatives in the German parliament, proportionate to the Austrian population.

The supreme council also discussed the failure of Roumania to make written responses to the council's notes. It is likely the council will send an admiral in the near future with an emphatic note, demanding an immediate response by Roumania to the council's communications.

American at Meetings.

In spite of the fact that it will be impossible for the United States to name its member of the permanent reparations commission until the American government ratifies the treaty with Germany, the American delegation is being kept constantly in touch with financial and economic discussions which are taking place at Versailles and Paris.

Ellis Drees, formerly of the American legation at Bern, is temporarily looking after the financial and economic interests of the United States and the assistance of several other experts, who are studying problems arising out of the German treaty provisions. He is sitting in the conferences between allied and German financial representatives.

It is expected in official circles that the chamber of deputies will vote on the German peace treaty Saturday, according to Marcel Huth of the Echo de Paris.

The senate will require four sittings before voting on the treaty, and consequently it is believed that the ratification of the convention will be promulgated in the official journal between September 15 and September 18.

Treaty Delivered to Austria.

Paris, Sept. 3.—The revised text of the peace terms for Austria was handed to the Austrian plenipotentiaries at St. Germain-an-Laye. The treaty was presented by Paul Dutasta, general secretary of the peace conference.

He also handed them the allies' reply to the Austrian counter-proposals and a covering letter reiterating that Austria had precipitated the war by an ultimatum unacceptable to Serbia. It was set forth, however, that the allies were willing to assist Austria to adapt itself to its new situation and to admit it in the near future to the League of Nations. The treaty was presented in French, English and Italian.

Rush Bulgarian Treaty.

The allies' supreme council, desiring at the earliest moment possible to conclude a treaty with Bulgaria, has decided to hand the Bulgarian delegation the text of a convention which will determine the boundaries of the country.

The Aegean seaport, access to which the allies have decided to give Bulgaria under the peace treaty, is Dedeagach, with the railway leading to that port.

The Bulgarian delegation will be asked to renounce claim to certain territory which will be stipulated in the peace treaty. The distribution of this territory will be made later. The situation with regard to the disposition of Thrace, on which the allied delegates still are divided, will not be a cause for delay in the conclusion of peace with Bulgaria.

LIFT BLOCKADE ON HUNGARY

Shipping Restrictions to Remain Only on Dyes and Certain Other Commodities.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The allies' blockade against Hungary has been lifted. Restrictions remain, however, on dyes and certain other commodities which will be under the control of the reparations commission, as was the case when the German blockade was lifted.

WALLIS

AMERICA'S FOREMOST TRACTOR

WHAT THE WALLIS WILL DO

THE WALLIS, America's Foremost Tractor, will solve your labor problem. It will increase your profit-acres by reducing your pasture land, allowing it to be used for cash crops. It will save time, work, and crops. Wallis will do your plowing, haying, reaping and other work at exactly the right time, and just when weather and soil conditions are at their best. Perhaps the biggest job on any farm is the plowing. With the Wallis an acre an hour, under average conditions, is turned in even, perfect furrows. A sub-soiler may be used where it would be impossible with horses. Thus plow-pan is broken up and growing conditions vastly improved. The Wallis is designed for a working speed of 2 1/2 miles an hour, pulling three 14-inch bottoms, turning a furrow six inches or deeper under favorable conditions. Or it will pull 2 bottoms, to the same depth, at a speed of about 3 miles per hour under the same soil conditions. In both cases the day's work will average about 10 acres. But plowing is by no means all the work a Wallis will do. In discing, harrowing, hay cutting, harvesting, seeding, etc., and in many belt jobs the Wallis is ever useful.

U. S. TIRES BIG SELLERS ABROAD

American tires are keeping step in popularity in foreign lands with American automobiles. Last year the United States Tire Company sent its products to forty countries scattered throughout the world. The removal of shipping restrictions is expected to result in adding twenty-five or thirty countries to the list during the current year.

A few days ago an Iceland automobile dealer paid a visit to the New York office of the United States Tire Company and ordered full line equipment for fifty cars. He said that this brand of tire was regarded as the "quality brand" in his country.

Turning to the southern hemisphere, it is noted that a recent issue of "La Nacion", the leading newspaper of Santiago, Chili, carried a half page article telling of the wonderful performance of a Scripps-Booth car in a test run of 1835 kilometers over the mountain roads of that country.

At the conclusion of the run the driver remarked, "I must mention that during the entire run from Concepcion to Coquimbo a distance of about 1200 miles we had only one puncture. The tires were United States Royal Cords and we think it our duty to speak of their quality."

While this approval for the popular American tire is being given in the South and the North, unusual testimonials are given from the tropics, where long tire life is generally regarded as impossible because of high temperatures. One United States tire in Manila has already given 16,300 miles on a heavy garage car. Another went 10,200 miles without being fit taken off the wheel. A Royal Cord gave 14,400 miles under most severe conditions of road and weather. The largest transportation company in the Philippines states that 7,600 miles is the average mileage with United States fabric tires.

THERE IS A CURE FOR EVERY ONE WHO IS SICK AND SUFFERING

So many people who are sick and tried a number of doctors who are not Specialists, have given up hope of ever being well. I say that there is a CURE FOR EVERY ONE WHO IS SICK—this statement is based entirely on the results I have obtained in cases which other doctors have failed to help. Cases I have cured who have been given up as incurable. Therefore if you are suffering from any disease of the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, stomach, nerves, brain, skin, or if you have rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, asthma, catarrh, deafness, head noises, weak lungs, stomach trouble, or if you have rupture, piles, goitre, gall stones, appendicitis, special diseases of women or tumors, I want YOU to come to me—I will make a thorough examination of you and it won't cost you a penny—then if I find my treatment will help you, I will tell you so. ONE DOLLAR BILLS PASSED OVER FIVES

Several merchants, druggists and cigar dealers of Fond du Lac were victimized last week by crooks who put on a clever stunt, and got away with it. One dollar bills with the figure five pasted over the one were used. The work was neatly camouflaged with a crayon or pencil, and anyone at first glance would take the bill for a five. The bills were payable at the Federal Reserve Bank at Chicago, and had a white facing with the picture of Washington. Where the bill was written in letters "One Dollar" it was neatly camouflaged with green ink and a white pencil and it required the closest scrutiny to detect the counterfeit.

TIRE TAPE VERY USEFUL.

Tire tape is to the automobilist what a bandage is to a Red Cross nurse, and a man who drives a car would as soon think of leaving it out of his tool box as a Red Cross nurse would think of leaving a bandage out of her first aid kit.

The United States Tire Company advises all its patrons to include a roll of its tape in their equipment. Its uses are innumerable. It is most frequently used to reinforce bad spots caused by blowouts and punctures. It is also valuable for winding "leaky" electric wires or making temporary repairs to broken rods or rattling parts.

U. S. TIRE MEN CAREFULLY TRAINED.

A conference of the service men of the United States Tire Company was held recently at the Company's Hartford factory. The gathering included men from every state. The service men from that part of the company's staff which advises the consumer of the best means of getting the most miles out of his tires. The purpose of the conference was to acquaint the service men fully with the latest developments in the manufacture and the best means of avoiding tire trouble.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

Cure for Dysentery

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, a trial which he did, and fully believes that by doing so he saved his child. He stated that he also used this remedy himself with gratifying results"—Adv.

Why Have Tractor Troubles?

LUBRICATING oil is inexpensive — the cost of a burned-out bearing will pay for the lubricants necessary to keep the machine in order for months. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures three lubricating oils for tractors—

Heavy Polarine Oil
Stanolind Tractor Oil
Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

One of these three is the correct oil for your tractor.

Our Engineering Staff has prepared a chart showing which one will give the best results in your particular tractor. The nearest Standard Oil representative will be glad to show it to you.

Write for "Tractor Lubrication," which you will find a valuable reference book of 100 pages and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss.

It's free to you for the asking. Address

WERE QUIETLY MARRIED

Miss Josephine Blum, daughter of Mrs. Ida Blum, and Edward Basil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Basil, of this village, were quietly married on Tuesday at high noon, at the parsonage of the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church. Rev. F. Greve tying the nuptial knot. The bride, was dressed in a blue wool poplin gown with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Leona Magritz, cousin of the bride as bridesmaid, while Oscar Basil, brother of the groom acted as best man. The bridegroom was dressed in a salmon color tulle de alme dress, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. After the ceremony the bridal party together with only near relatives repaired to the home of the bride, where a four course dinner was served. The house was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue and cut flowers. The newly weds left the same day via auto to West Bend, where they boarded a train for a short wedding trip to points of interest in the southern part of the state.

The bride is an estimable and accomplished young lady, and through her kind and cheerful disposition has won for herself a host of warm friends. The groom is one of Kewaskum's popular young men, who recently returned from the army, he is a carpenter by trade, in which vocation he has proven himself a worthy workman. The newly weds will be at home to their many friends after October 1st, in the residence now occupied by Albert Ogenorth and family on Wilhelm street, in this village, which was recently purchased by Mrs. Blum. The Statesman extends hearty congratulations and best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

MARRIED AT CAMPBELLSPORT

The St. Matthew's Catholic church at Campbellsport was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Evelyn Haessly and Joseph J. Smith, both of Campbellsport were united in holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. B. July officiated. The attendants were Miss Mildred Haessly and Leo Lelmon. The bride wore a dress of white georgette crepe over white satin and a long tulle veil arranged in cap effect. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Haessly's dress was of pink georgette crepe, and she wore a picture hat and carried a basket filled with pink Killarney roses. The ceremony was followed by a reception and dinner for immediate relatives and a few friends at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Haessly. The tables were decorated in pink and white. The groom is junior member of the firm of Gilroy & Smith, furniture dealers. Miss Haessly was formerly a compositor at the Campbellsport News office. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a wedding trip, keeping their destination a secret.

1919 BLUE BOOK REVIEWS STATE'S WORK IN WAR.

The first copies of the 1919 Blue Book were received by State Superintendent of Public Property M. F. Blumenfeld from the printer and the entire 37,000 copies will be delivered in a short time and will be distributed through the state senators and assemblymen.

The book was compiled by Paul F. Hunter, newspaper man. The special feature this year is devoted to Wisconsin's war activities there being 137 pages of facts and figures which show why Wisconsin was at the very height of the states in all war activities. Gov. Philipp wrote the brief review of war activities, which is followed by a brief account of the Wisconsin National Guard on the Mexican border and abroad, together with the personnel of officers, and brief accounts of reports of the machine gun battalion of the Rainbow division and the famous Thirty-second division in France.

SELLS GENERAL MERCHANDISE STOCK

Last week Friday, George Petri of Wayne sold his entire stock of merchandise to Friend Brothers of Chicago. M. D. Davidson a representative of Friend Brothers, has been appointed manager of the entire stock and will have a big sale beginning September 9th, 1919, during which time all groceries, hardware, tinware, crockery, paints, oils and all household utensils will be disposed of at greatly reduced prices.

Mr. Petri intends to retire from business and offers for sale all his property at Wayne. With the closing of this business one of the oldest stores in Washington County goes out of existence. The store was built about sixty years ago by the late Wendell Petri, who continued to manage same until his death, when his son George took charge of it, who managed same up to the present time. As this was the only store in Wayne, the citizens of that place will in the future have to travel a greater distance to buy their merchandise. Mr. Petri will at present reside at Wayne until he can find a suitable place. His many friends regret to see him retire.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koehn of Dundee, was the scene of a happy reunion when the venerable old couple, who although having passed the 70th milestone of their lives, are hale and hearty enjoying life for all there is in it, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, on Sunday evening. Services were held at the Lutheran church at Dundee at 8 o'clock, Rev. Applep officiating, after which together with about 250 guests the party marched to their home, where the evening was very enjoyably spent in games and dancing. A sumptuous supper was served at midnight. The marriage of Albert Koehn and Miss Emily Sem-nicht took place at New Fame in 1849. They were held at the Lutheran church in the town of Mitchell where they lived until several years ago, when they retired from farm life, and moved to the village of Dundee, where they have since resided.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THE BLUE-SKY LAW

a decided step forward for Wisconsin.

PROVISIONS IN BRIEF:

- No one can sell securities without a permit from the Railroad Commission.
- With the exception of exempted securities (which includes farm mortgages, municipal bonds, church bonds, etc.) securities are issued under the following restrictions:

- All securities must be approved by the Railroad Commission
- Propositions submitted to the Commission are handled in one of three ways:

- First. If the investment is bad it cannot be sold in Wisconsin.
- Second. If companies issuing securities are not known to have a record of past success the securities must be sold as "speculative" or Class B securities.
- Third. If the company has a good record of earnings and has property of sufficient value the securities are approved as Class A securities.

(Note: The Commission by law cannot recommend)

Benefits of the Law:

- The sale of "wild-cat" preferred stocks is prohibited.
- The law guarantees that those who buy "speculative" securities will know it.
- Good investments will be available to investors.
- Reliable loan and bond companies will not have to contend with "get-rich-quick" agents and brokers.

NOW—

All details of the West Bend Aluminum Company bond issue were submitted to the Railroad Commission on August 13, 1919. On August 28th the Commission granted permit to sell these bonds as Class A securities.

"The Bank of the People and for All the People"

Experts or Theorists—Which?

The packing industry is intricate, complex—far more so than the railroads or the telegraph. Every day multiplying needs of society increase its problems and multiplying responsibilities demand more of it.

Highly trained experts, specialists of years' experience, thinkers and creative men, devote their lives, their energies, their activities, to solving the problems of the packing industry and meeting its widening duties.

Swift & Company is not a few dozen packing plants, a few hundred branch houses, a few thousand refrigerator cars, and a few million dollars of capital, but an organization of such men. It is the experience, intelligence, initiative and activity which operates this physical equipment.

Can this intelligence, this experience, this initiative and creative effort which handles this business at a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources, be fostered through the intervention of political theorists, however pure their purposes? Or be replaced by legislation? Does Congress really think that it can?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

To Improve Your Digestion.

A Bilious Attack

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa.—Adv.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible head ache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.—Adv.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Green Bay—John Lempereur, 21, of Brussels, near here, was drowned in East river, when the automobile which he was driving struck the railroad tracks with such force that he was hurled into the stream. Two other occupants of the car, Henry Nicker and Frank Lemens, sustained severe injuries in the smashup. His fellow passengers say they believed he was driving in a street with a bridge crossing the river, whereas he was one block east of the bridge. The car was demolished. This is the second river tragedy of this nature to occur here within two years.

He will resume his position as head of the school's biology department.

Birchwood—Present indications point to the largest harvest of both hard and soft wood timber next winter than in any one season before in the history of northern Wisconsin's lumber industry. Stevens Point—Rural school teaching jobs are going begging in Portage county, and according to County Superintendent L. A. Gordon, the reason is failure of district school boards to offer attractive wages to applicants for positions. Many of the rural schools have begun the fall term and in some cases vacancies in the teaching staff still exist.

Antigo—The body of Sever Halvorson, a woodsman who had been in the employ of the Lancklade Lumber company, was found on the shore of Post Lake. Halvorson had been missing since Aug. 20, when it was said he started to cross the lake. A boat was found containing his hat. Halvorson is thought to have fallen overboard.

Ripon—A meat chopper in the market of William Friday cut off the left hand of Ruth, his little daughter. She was assisting her mother in grinding meat, dropping pieces into the hopper of an electrically driven machine. The machine caught her hand and mangled it so that it had to be amputated above the wrist.

Eau Claire—The Eau Claire Canning company, which has just begun its annual string bean pack expects to pack at least a million cans before it closes down its plant this fall. The bean crop is of excellent quality. Next year the company will also pack peas.

Madison—Ed. Nordman, Polar, democratic leader in the state assembly for years, may be appointed state director of marketing, the $5,000 position created by the recent legislature. He has strong backing by farmers and is said to be acceptable to Gov. Philipp. Mr. Nordman was chairman of the agricultural committee of the state council of defense during the war. He served for many years as a member of the state board of agriculture.

Madison—The possibility of reviving a profitable crop in Wisconsin is largely in the hands of the farmers who intend to buy seed peas. If they buy this fall, seed of improved strains will be available, says R. A. Moore, agronomist at the Wisconsin experiment station. If they wait until next spring most of the seed peas will be of the unimproved strains, and the industry will stand just where it has before.

Madison—The largest enrollment in the history of the state university is expected with the opening of the fall semester on Oct. 1. The regular edition of the university catalog has been exhausted and a second is now on the press. The largest previous attendance was in 1916 when the registration totalled 5020. It is believed that this year it will pass this figure by at least 1,500.

Eau Claire—Rather than go to Rochester, Minn., to undergo an operation Albert Butcher, president of the Boyd State bank of Boyd, north of here, shot himself through the brain with a thirty-eight caliber revolver. Mittelstaedt, local butcher who enlisted in the quartermaster corps last winter, has been promoted to represent Wisconsin in the Middle West steer skinning and spitting contest at Peoria, Ill., on Sept. 11. He will be pitted against the champion meat carvers of the troops from Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, and California.

La Crosse—That public milk depots in voting rooms have been a factor in keeping down the price of milk is indicated by the fact that dairymen are still selling milk in La Crosse at prices ranging from 10 to 12 cents a quart, delivered, while in other cities the price is 2 and 3 cents higher.

La Crosse—Two unidentified men held up James Deneen, La Crosse police officer for the Milwaukee railroad, in the yards here, robbed him of his revolver, his "sap", and his money and watch, then fired a shot at him as he was making his way out of the yards. The bullet missed him.

Short of help and with a rush of fall work, dozens of growers are paying no attention to their apple crop. Apples that hogs do not eat are left to rot. Ways and means of inducing farmers to permit city people to travel in autos to their orchards and pick fruit on a percentage basis are being considered by the agricultural bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

Walking for Pleasure.
 The old-fashioned person who used to walk miles after mile on pleasant Sunday afternoons through the countryside, has practically disappeared. This is the inevitable conclusion drawn by anyone who still pursues this ancient pastime and who has spent Sunday after Sunday drilling by foot over macadam and dirt roads frequented by automobilists and an occasional farm hand traveling to a neighbor's.

"And, fuddermo, bruddern and sisterns," solemnly said good old Parson Bagster in the midst of a recent sermon, "leumee beseech yo'—Ho! Wake up dar, Brudder Sizzle!"
 "Who—me?" a trifle indignantly returned the member addressed, starting from his nap. "Dat's a purt' bowdy-do; howlin' at a parson datus-way and 'sturb'n' his meditations. I wasn't asleep, sah!"
 "Den sah if yo' wasn't asleep yo' knows what I's been uh-say'n'?"

Crumb of Comfort.
 Miss Sympleson—Oh, dear! I found another wrinkle today and I'm afraid I'm growing old. And I do so dread it.
 Professor Harinut—Don't worry, miss. Beauty is only skin deep. It's the mind that counts, and your mind is still that of a child of ten.

A man may not be a coward because he is afraid of a woman.

French Farmer Had 36 Children.

A French farmer had 36 children—22 sons and 14 daughters—all of whom were living when the war broke out. The father and one daughter were shot by Germans because they went to Lille to attend a party in honor of a relative's one-hundredth birthday; a second daughter was killed by a German shell at Dunkirk; three sons were discharged from the army with grave injuries, and thirteen were killed in action. The size of the family does not make its terrible sacrifice any less tragic.—Youth's Companion.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations
Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:
 "I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."
How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.
 Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."
 "My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

The NEW EDISON

The Three Million Dollar Phonograph

THOMAS A. EDISON invented the phonograph in 1877. Later he improved his original phonograph to a point where his business advisers said to him: "You now have the best phonograph in existence. Let's go ahead and market it."

Mr. Edison shook his head and replied: "I am not going to put out a new phonograph until it is so perfect that its reproduction of music cannot be detected from the original music."

Thomas A. Edison spent three million dollars in cold cash to develop an instrument which matched the human voice and all kinds of musical instruments so perfectly that the original could not be told from the reproduction—or RE-CREATION as it is now called.

We are prepared to sell you today, for $285, an exact duplicate of Edison's three million dollar Phonograph. You may even have extended terms of payment, if you desire that accommodation. First of all, however, we want you to hear this wonderful instrument. May we have the pleasure of demonstrating to you that Music's RE-CREATION is a reality and not merely a fanciful phrase?

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter:

AUTOMATIC SELF-FEED—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

DANGER-PROOF SELF-FEED CUTTERS—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are rilled. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.
