

RULES GOVERNING THE PRESENT COAL SUPPLY

F. D. Peardell, superintendent of the Northern Wisconsin Division of the North Western Road, has issued a warning to industrial managers. Following are answer to some debateable points arising out of the coal conservation order:

1. Users of anthracite coal not affected. Any plant operating exclusively with hard coal may continue as usual.
2. Shops having products in course of manufacture which would be damaged or lost by closing down may operate to extent necessary to finish these processes, but not more than seven hours a day.
3. Plants operating exclusively on any fuel other than bituminous coal not affected. Where water power can be shown as only source of power used, plant may continue operation. No bituminous coal, or electric current or gas derived therefrom, may be used.
4. Any plant not clearly exempted by the provisions of the order should close down pending a decision by the fuel committee regarding their right to operate.
5. In case of an industry not clearly exempted in the order, which offers the fulfillment of contracts with the government or with private companies for supplies requisite to the continued operation of an industry clearly essential, must support such claim for exemption by affidavits.
6. Closing order applies to all plants not clearly exempted, whether they have a supply of bituminous coal on hand or not. Such plants which do not use soft coal, but which use, for power, heat or light, electric current or gas directly produced from soft coal must close.

On account of the miners being ordered back to work, after an agreement had been reached between the miners and the government, it is expected that the coal rules will be considerably modified.

PRICE OF NEWS PRINT PAPER ADVANCES

The news print paper on which all newspapers are printed is becoming scarcer each week and the price is going up by leaps and bounds and when the top notch will be reached no one can say. Many small newspapers are being forced out of business because the price has become so high that they can not afford to buy paper. Mill prices in car load lots range from 7 to 15 cents per pound on roll paper and the sheets which most newspapers use in one half to one cent higher. Many papers are cutting down the size of the pages and are refusing to print addresses, reports and all long articles. It is not possible today to say at what price any publisher can buy print paper. Mill quotations on roll print are very high.

INSTRUCTORS IN TIPOVER

While Miss Olga Haug of Kewaskum, the supervising teacher, and Superintendent M. T. Buckley of this city were on their way to Hartford last Saturday the former's Ford Sedan skidded on a slippery highway in Poik and turned turtle. It was an accident which can happen to the best of drivers and can be traced directly to the slippery condition of the highway. Mr. Buckley suffered contusions about the leg, but Miss Haug escaped uninjured. The damage to the car is nominal.—West Bend Pilot.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Sam Moss, wishes to announce to the people of this vicinity, that for some time he has been under quarantine, and thereby unable to attend to his business affairs as usual. He expects that in a week or two the quarantine will be raised and he will again be able to serve you as heretofore. He requests that you hold your business for him and same will be attended to in his usual prompt manner. Anyone having particular business may call him up by phone, as he is unable to answer correspondence.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE

Owing to the recent coal strike and the conserving of coal by the government, it was found necessary to cut down the train service throughout the country. The trains running through this village which were taken off temporarily are as follows: Passenger train No. 113, going north at 12:30 P. M.; No. 210 going south at 12:30 P. M.; No. 214, going south at 2:54 P. M.; No. 121, going north at midnight. The Sunday trains affected were No. 141, going north at 8:42 A. M.; and No. 229 going south at 7:05 P. M. This leaves only two mail trains for the south, Nos. 216 at 5:45 P. M. and No. 206 at 9:48 A. M. Going north the only mail train is the regular mail train at six o'clock in the morning and No. 205 at 9:38 P. M.

KEWASKUM LOSES ITS FIRST GAME

The Kewaskum A. C. Basket Ball team went to North Fond du Lac last week Friday, where they played a return game with the strong Laf-a-Lot team of that place, and met their first defeat by a close score of 20 to 21. The Laf-a-Lots, went into the game with the intention of giving our boys a royal trimming, and their large number of over 300 fans, were with them, having our boys sized up as a bunch of farmers, at least that is the impression anyone would get judging from the nature of their rooting. However, our farmers were there and showed the Laf-a-Lots and their fans that a real team on the floor, one full of speed, tricky playing and pass work galore, playing their opponents off their feet in the first half in such a manner that they at no time during the entire half could get the ball anywhere near their goal, and only for three free throws and one long distance lucky field shot, would not have received a single point. The Laf-a-Lots never had a chance, and realizing their second defeat at the hands of the locals, after having used eight men against five of our sturdy warriors, knew that in order for them to win in the last five minutes of play, only one thing could be done, and that was to play the game in a rough and tumble way. "Spatz" Miller's opponent at center openly remarked that he would play him instead of the ball. He did—for the first chance he got he threw him to the floor with such force that Mr. Miller's right arm was injured to such an extent that said member was placed in a helpless condition. Spatz, however, came back strong after a few minutes of play. Not satisfied with this his opponent went after him again and floored him two consecutive times, each time landing on his injured arm, from which time on our boys practically played with four men, which was not strong enough to keep their opponents from scoring. Had the game lasted a few minutes longer the local quietette would have come out victorious, for they were fast coming back into form again, while the Laf-a-Lots were weakening, having used every man available against our team. After the game the Laf-a-Lots together with a large number of fans who witnessed the game from Fond du Lac openly admitted that Kewaskum was by far the better, and by all means deserved to win. Manager Schaefer of the home squad has issued a challenge to the Laf-a-Lots for a game to be played at West Bend on any Sunday night for a $50 purse. As yet he has not heard anything of the Laf-a-Lots. Wonder why? If stakes are not large enough, we can soon raise them. On Sunday evening the locals will journey to West Bend where they will clash with the West Bend city team. A large number of fans will accompany them. On Saturday evening, Dec. 20, the Fond du Lac Independent team will come here and give the locals one of the hardest games thus far played on the home floor. The Independents are the cream of Fond du Lac.

In what proved to be a one sided game of basket ball, the local high school easily defeated the Random Lake high by a score of 17 to 47, at the Opera House last Friday evening. The local team are practicing hard twice a week, and are fast rounding into shape.

BET VICTIMS ARRESTED

Joe Peebles of Detroit, Mich., and Harry Smith of Akron, O., aged 18 and 19 years, were taken into custody at Campbellsport Monday, while in an attempt to fulfill the conditions of a bet. The two young men claimed they could ride their bicycles from Minneapolis, Minn., to Chicago. They were successful in fulfilling their bet as far as Oshkosh, when bad conditions of the road compelled them to throw up the sponge. They then decided to ride the bumpers, and got as far as Campbellsport, where they were arrested, and hauled before Justice Paas, who sentenced them to five days in the county jail.

The following interest money was received by County Treasurer Henry Kuhnaupt from the various A. C. of Kewaskum for the month of November. Better get your money into the office before it is too late.

BAZAAR WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

The bazaar given by the Kewaskum Woman's Club at the public library last Thursday afternoon and evening was a mammoth success in every way. The ladies had worked very hard to get together the numerous and valuable articles which were offered for sale and which were donated in abundance. The pieces of fancy work certainly were beautiful and well worth the prices paid for them. The culinary display was also an important part of the bazaar and the cakes brought good prices. The grab bags came in for their share of attention from the little ones and were emptied almost as soon as filled. Nothing but praise has been accorded the wonderful lunch served by the ladies, consisting of coffee and cakes. No pains were spared by the ladies in making it a pleasure to purchase the articles on display. A great share of credit is also due the citizens of this village and vicinity in their most generous response to the call for donations and their eagerness to help make the bazaar a long to be remembered success. The funds from this bazaar will be added to the school fund and will be used in the building of a new school house some time in the near future. The net proceeds of the bazaar were $250.00.

STATESMAN ENLARGED

With this issue of the Statesman it comes out in enlarged form, due to the very heavy tax upon it by the advertising public. For some time we have been handicapped for space and feel that this move is the proper one to take in order to give our many readers the amount of reading matter they should rightfully have. Formerly we were running a short seven column quarto and have now changed to a standard 2 1/4 inch column, making a difference of 56 inches in the length of our paper. This gives us plenty of space for our ads and reading matter.

FORMER RESIDENT OF THE VILLAGE DIES

News reached here this week of the death of a former well known and highly respected citizen of this village, namely: Mrs. Albertina Mirtz, wife of the late Carl Mirtz of this village, and a veteran of the Civil War. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Huntzinger, 114 Olmstead street, Waupun, on Monday morning, December 8th, 1919, at one o'clock. Old age is attributed as the direct cause of her death. Mrs. Mirtz was born in Germany on October 18th, 1847. In 1853, at the age of nine, she immigrated with her parents to America, and settled in the town of Kewaskum. After her marriage to Carl Mirtz, they made their home on a farm located about one and one-half mile southwest of this village, where they resided for a number of years then moving to this village where they made their home until the death of her husband about two years ago. Mrs. Mirtz then left for Waupun to make her home with her daughter. Deceased is survived by two sons, Oscar of Fond du Lac, and Charles of Wyoming, and four daughters, Mrs. Paul Huntzinger of Waupun, Mrs. Albert Brodren of Racine and Mrs. Paul Huntzinger of Waupun, arriving at Fond du Lac at 12 o'clock, and was taken to the Hardgrove and Gorden undertaking parlors. Christian Science services were held at 1 o'clock John Stanz had charge of same. Interment was made in the Rientzi cemetery.

DEATH OF JOHN H. JANSSEN

On Monday, Dec. 8th, 1919, at his home in Beechwood occurred the death of John H. Janssen, a prominent merchant of that village. Mr. Janssen had been ill for several weeks with dropsy. He was born on June 27, 1875, in the town of Barton. When 15 years of age he went to Madison where he took up a course in the Dairy Department in the University of Wisconsin. After completing this course he followed the cheese industry at Wayne and Kohlsville for a number of years. 21 years ago he moved to Beechwood where he was owner of the large cheese factory until ten years ago when he disposed of this factory, and purchased a general merchandise store, formerly owned by C. Dresher, which business he conducted until the time of his death. Deceased was at one time a member of the town of Scott. He was a member of the school board and a charter member of the Beechwood Local of the E. F. U. On June 26, 1902, he was married to Miss Christina Felenz. Three children were born of this union, who together with their mother survive, and whose names are Cyrilla, Celesta and Helen, all at home. Besides these he leaves his aged mother and two brothers, Charles of the town of Barton and William of the town of Scott. In the death of Mr. Janssen Beechwood and vicinity loses one of its foremost and prominent citizens, a prosperous and honest business man. He was well liked by all who knew him. His death comes as a great blow to all, and will be keenly felt not only by his family but by his countless friends. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon from the family residence with services in the Evangelical Lutheran church at Beechwood. Rev. Marx of Batavia officiated. Interment was made in the Beechwood cemetery.

REAL ESTATE MEN MUST HAVE LICENSES

Because the real estate business so closely affects the development and the welfare of its residents, the people of Wisconsin have declared that real estate brokers and salesmen shall obtain licenses and be regulated in their transactions, with the public through the Real Estate Brokers Board, created by action of the legislature.
Consequently, as provided by law all real estate brokers and all real estate salesmen are required to furnish the Board with credentials establishing trustworthiness and competency. After January 1st, 1920 no real estate broker or real estate salesman can do business in Wisconsin without a license.
Application blanks may be obtained by addressing the Real Estate Brokers Board at Madison. Separate licenses are required for brokers and salesmen. The fee for a broker's license is $10.00 and the fee for a salesman's license is $5.00. The work of this Board is supported by fees and not by taxation.

HOLIDAYS IN 1920.

Next year's holidays, with a single exception, will come in pairs, through an old freak of the calendar in which leap year figures. When holidays fall on Sunday the following Monday is observed, while a Saturday holiday is followed by another off day—Sunday. Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, occurs next year on a Sunday, and will be observed Monday. The same is true of Memorial day, May 30, and of July 4. Labor day, the first Monday in September, brings another pair of holidays. Christmas falls on Saturday New Year's day of 1921 also falls on Saturday. The only holiday of 1920 that does not fall on Saturday, Sunday or Monday, thus bringing two holidays together, is Thanksgiving, which of course, always is observed the last Thursday in November, and this year will come on Tuesday, Nov. 24. It is not yet a certain thing.

WILSON'S MESSAGE READ TO CONGRESS

President First Urges the Adoption of a Federal Budget System.

PEACE TREATY NOT TOUCHED

Revision of Income and Profits Taxes Is Suggested—Country Must Abandon Provincial Business Standards—Unrest and Its Causes.

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Wilson's message to the sixty-sixth congress was read to that body today. The text of the message follows:

I sincerely regret that I cannot be present at the opening of this session of the congress. I am thus prevented from presenting in as direct a way as I could wish the many questions that are pressing for solution at this time. Happily, I have had the advantage of the advice of the heads of the several executive departments who have kept in close touch with affairs in their detail and whose thoughtful recommendations I earnestly second.

In the matter of the railroads and the readjustment of their affairs growing out of federal control, I shall take the liberty at a later date of addressing you.

Asks Budget System. I hope that congress will bring to a conclusion at this session legislation looking to the establishment of a budget system. That there should be one single authority responsible for the making of all appropriations and that appropriations should be made not independently of each other, but with reference to one single comprehensive plan of expenditure properly related to the nation's income, there can be no doubt. I believe the burden of preparing the budget must, in the nature of the case, if the work is to be properly done and responsibility concentrated instead of divided, rest upon the executive.

The budget so prepared should be submitted to and approved or amended by a single committee of each house of congress and no single appropriation should be made by the congress except such as may have been included in the budget prepared by the executive or added by the particular committee charged with the budget legislation.

Another and not less important aspect of the problem is the ascertainment of the economy and efficiency with which the moneys appropriated are expended. Under existing law the only audit is for the purpose of ascertaining whether expenditures have been lawfully made within the appropriations. No one is authorized or equipped to ascertain whether the money has been spent wisely, economically and effectively.

The auditors should be highly trained officials with permanent tenure in the treasury department, free of obligations to or motives of consideration for this or any subsequent administration, and authorized and empowered to examine into and make report upon the methods employed and the results obtained by the executive departments of the government. Their reports should be made to the congress and to the secretary of the treasury.

Problem of Taxation. I trust that the congress will give its immediate consideration to the problem of future taxation. Simplification of the income and profits taxes has become an immediate necessity. These taxes performed indispensable service during the war. They must, however, be simplified, not only to save the taxpayer inconvenience and expense, but in order that his liability may be made certain and definite.

With reference to the details of the revenue law, the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue will lay before you for your consideration certain amendments necessary or desirable in connection with the administration of the law—recommendations which have my approval and support. It is of the utmost importance that in dealing with this matter the present law should not be disturbed so far as regards taxes for the calendar year 1920, payable in the calendar year 1921.

War Time Rates May Be Too High. The congress might well consider whether the higher rates of income and profits taxes can in peace times be effectively productive of revenue, and whether they may not, on the contrary, be destructive of business activity and productive of waste and inefficiency.

There is a point at which in peace times high rates of income and profits taxes discourage energy, remove the incentive to new enterprise, encourage extravagant expenditures and produce industrial stagnation, with consequent unemployment and other attendant evils.

The problem is not an easy one. A fundamental change has taken place with reference to the position of America in the world's affairs. The prejudice and passions engendered by decades of controversy between two schools of political and economic thought—the one believers in protection of American industries, the other believers in tariff for revenue only—must be subordinated to the consideration of the public interest in the light of utterly changed conditions.

Pre-War Trade Balanced. Before the war America was heavily the debtor of the rest of the world and the interest payments she had to make to foreign countries on American securities abroad, the expenditures of American travelers abroad and the ocean freight charges she had to pay to others about balanced the value of her pre-war favorable balance of trade. During the war America's exports have been greatly stimulated, and increased prices have increased their value. On the other hand, she has purchased a large proportion of the American securities previously held abroad, has loaned some $9,000,000,000 to foreign governments and has built her own ships.

Our favorable balance of trade has thus been greatly increased and Europe has been deprived of the means of meeting it heretofore existing. Europe can have only three ways of meeting the favorable balance of trade peace times: By imports into this country of gold or of goods, or by establishing new credits. Europe is in no position at the present time to ship gold to us, nor could we contemplate large further imports of gold into this country without concern.

Must Have Outlet for Exports. The time has nearly passed for international governmental loans and it will take time to develop in this country a market for foreign securities. Anything, therefore, which would tend to prevent foreign countries from settling for our exports by shipments of goods into this country could only have the effect of preventing them from paying for our exports and therefore of preventing the exports from being made.

The productivity of the country, greatly stimulated by the war must find an outlet by exports to foreign countries and any measures taken to prevent imports will inevitably curtail exports, force curtailment of production, load the banking machinery of the country with credits to carry unsold products and produce industrial stagnation and unemployment. If we want to sell, we must be prepared to buy. Whatever, therefore, may have been our views during the period of growth of American business concerning tariff legislation, we must now adjust our own economic life to a changed condition growing out of the fact that American business is full grown and that America is the greatest capitalist in the world.

Isolation Policy Won't Do. No policy of isolation will satisfy the growing needs and opportunities of America. The provincial standards and policies of the past, which have held American business as if in a straitjacket, must yield and give way to the needs and exigencies of the new day in which we live, a day full of hope and promise for American business, if we will but take advantage of the opportunities that are ours for the asking. The recent war has ended our isolation and thrown upon us a great duty and responsibility.

The United States must share the expanding world market. The United States desires for itself only equal opportunity with the other nations of the world, and that through the process of friendly co-operation and fair competition the legitimate interest of the nations concerned may be successfully and equitably adjusted.

Recognition and Relief to Soldiers. There are other matters of importance upon which I urged action at the last session of congress which are still pressing for solution. I am sure it is not necessary for me again to remind you that there is one immediate and very practicable question resulting from the war which we should meet in the most liberal spirit. It is a matter of recognition and relief to our soldiers. I can do no better than to quote from my last message urging this very action:

"We must see it that our returning soldiers are assisted in every practicable way to find the places for which they are fitted in the daily work of the country. This can be done by developing and maintaining upon an adequate scale the admirable organization created by the department of labor for placing men seeking work; and it can also be done in at least one very great field, by creating new opportunities for individual enterprise. The secretary of the interior has pointed out the way by which returning soldiers may be helped to find and take up land in the hitherto undeveloped regions of the country which the federal government has already prepared or can readily prepare for cultivation and also on many of the cut-over or neglected areas which lie within the limits of the older states; and I once more take the liberty of recommending very urgently that his plans shall receive the immediate and substantial support of congress."

Protection for Dye Industry. In the matter of tariff legislation I beg to call your attention to the statements contained in my last message urging legislation with reference to the establishment of the chemical and dyestuffs industry in America:

"Among the industries to which special consideration should be given is that of the manufacture of dyestuffs and related chemicals. Our complete dependence upon German supplies before the war made the interruption of trade a cause of exceptional economic disturbance. The close relation between the manufacture of dyestuffs, on the one hand, and of explosives and poisonous gases on the other, moreover, has given the industry an exceptional significance and value. Although the United States will gladly and unhesitatingly join in the program of international disarmament, it will, nevertheless, be a policy of obvious prudence to make certain of the successful maintenance of many strong and well-equipped chemical plants. The German chemical industry, with which we will be through long and bitter competition, was and may well be again, a thoroughly knit monopoly capable of exercising a competition of a peculiarly insidious and dangerous kind."

During the war the farmer performed a vital and willing service to the nation. By materially increasing the production of his land he supplied America and the allies with the increased amounts of food necessary to keep their immense armies in the field. He indispensably helped to win the war. But there is now scarcely less need of increasing the production in food and the necessities of life. I ask the congress to consider means of encouraging effort along these lines. The importance of doing everything possible to promote production along economic lines, to improve marketing and to make rural life more attractive and healthful is obvious. I would urge approval of the plans already proposed to the congress by the secretary of agriculture, to secure the essential facts required for the proper study of this question, through the proposed enlarged program for farm management studies and crop estimates.

I would urge, also, the continuance of federal participation in the building of good roads, under the terms of existing law and under the direction of present agencies; the need of further action on the part of the states and the federal government to preserve and develop our forest resources, especially through the practice of better forestry methods on private holdings and the extension of the publicly owned forests to better support for country schools and the more definite direction of their courses of study along lines related to rural problems; and fuller provision for sanitation in rural districts and the building up of needed hospital and medical facilities in these localities. Perhaps the way might be cleared for many of these desirable reforms by a fresh comprehensive survey made of rural conditions by a conference composed of representatives of the farmers and of the agricultural agencies responsible for leadership.

Unrest and Its Causes. I would call your attention to the widespread condition of political restlessness in our body politic. The causes of this unrest, while various and complicated, are superficial rather than deep-seated. Broadly, they arise from or are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace permitting return to normal conditions, from the transfusion of radical theories from seething European centers pending such delay, from heartless profiteering resulting in the increase in the cost of living, and lastly from the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators. With the return to normal conditions, this unrest will rapidly disappear. In the meantime it does much evil.

It seems to me that in dealing with this situation congress should not be impatient or drastic, but should seek rather to remove the causes. It should endeavor to bring our country back speedily to a peace basis with ameliorated living conditions under the minimum of restrictions upon personal liberty that is consistent with our reconstruction problems. And it should arm the federal government with power to deal in its criminal courts with those persons who by violent methods would abrogate our time-tested institutions. With the free expression of opinion and with the advocacy of orderly political change, however fundamental, there must be no interference, but toward pacific and malevolent tendencies to incite crime and insurrection under guise of political evolution there should be no leniency. Legislation to this end has been recommended by the attorney general and should be enacted.

To Reduce Cost of Living. In this direct connection I would call your attention to my recommendations on August 8, pointing out legislative measures which would be effective in controlling and bringing down the present cost of living, which contributes so largely to this unrest. If the government's campaign is to be effective, it is necessary that the other steps suggested should be acted on at once.

I repeat and strongly urge the necessity of the extension of the present food control act as to the period of time in which it shall remain in operation. The attorney general has submitted a bill providing an extension of this act for a period of six months. As it now stands it is limited in operation to the period of the war and becomes inoperative upon the formal proclamation of peace. It is imperative that it should be extended at once. The department of justice has built up extensive machinery for the purpose of enforcing its provisions, all of which must be abandoned upon the conclusion of peace unless the provision of this act are extended.

During this period the congress will have an opportunity to make similar permanent provisions and regulations with regard to all goods destined for interstate commerce and to exclude them from interstate shipment if the requirements of the law are not complied with. Some such regulation is imperatively necessary. The abuses that have grown up in the manipulation of prices by the withholding of foodstuffs and other necessities of life cannot otherwise be effectively prevented. There can be no doubt of either the necessity or the legitimacy of such measures.

The failure of other nations to consider this matter in a vigorous way has produced bitterness and jealousies and antagonisms, the food of radicalism. The only way to keep men from agitating grievances is to remove the grievances. An unwillingness even to discuss these matters produces only dissatisfaction and gives comfort to the extreme elements in our country, which endeavor to stir up disturbances in order to provoke governments to embark upon a course of retaliation and repression. The seed of revolution is repression. The remedy for these things must not be negative in character. It must be constructive. It must comprehend the general interest. The real antidote for the unrest which manifests itself is not suppression but a deep consideration of the wrongs that beset our national life and the application of a remedy.

Capital and Labor. Congress already has shown its willingness to deal as the standard in every field of labor. It has sought to find a way to prevent child labor. It has served the whole country by leading the way in developing the means of preserving and safeguarding lives and health in dangerous industries. It must now help in the difficult task of finding a method that will bring about a genuine democratization of industry, based upon the full recognition of the right of those who work, in whatever rank, to participate in some organic way in every decision which directly affects their welfare. It is with this purpose in mind that I call a conference to meet in Washington on December 1 to consider these problems in all their broad aspects, with the idea of bringing about a better understanding between these two interests.

The great unrest throughout the world, out of which has emerged a demand for an immediate consideration of the difficult relation between capital and labor, bids us put our own house in order. Frankly, there can be no permanent and lasting settlements between capital and labor which do not recognize the fundamental concepts for which labor has been struggling through the years. The whole world gave its recognition and indorsement to these fundamental purposes in the League of Nations.

The statesmen gathered at Versailles recognized the fact that world stability could not be had by reverting to industrial standards and conditions against which the average workman of the world had revolted. It is, therefore, the task of the statesmen of this new day of change and readjustment to recognize world conditions and to seek a way out of permanent ending of age-long antagonisms between capital and labor and that will hopefully lead to the building up of a comradeship which will result not only in greater contentment among the mass of workmen but also bring about a greater production and a greater prosperity to business itself.

Justice in Labor's Demands. To analyze the particulars in the demands of labor is to admit the justice of their complaint in many matters that lie at their basis. The workman demands an adequate wage, sufficient to permit him to live in comfort, unhampered by the fear of poverty and want in his old age. He demands the right to live and the right to work amidst sanitary surroundings, both in his home and in his workshop, surroundings that develop and do not retard his own health and well-being, and the right to provide for his children's wants in the matter of health fields and education. In other words, it is his desire to make the conditions of his life and the lives of those dear to him tolerable and easy to bear.

The establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down in the covenant of the League of Nations offers us the way to industrial peace and conciliation. No other road lies open to us. Not to pursue this one is longer to invite enmities, bitterness and antagonisms, which, in the end, only lead to industrial and social disaster.

The unwilling workman is not a profitable servant. An employee whose industrial life is hedged about by hard and unjust conditions which he did not create and over which he has no control, lacks that fine spirit of enthusiasm and volunteer effort which are necessary ingredients of a great producing entity.

Let us be frank about this solemn matter. The evidences of world-wide unrest which manifest themselves in violence throughout the world bid us pause and consider the means to be found to stop the spread of this contagious thing before it saps the very vitality of the nation itself. Do we gain strength by withholding the remedy? Is it not the business of statesmen to treat these manifestations of unrest which meet us on every hand as evidences of an economic disorder and to apply constructive remedies wherever necessary, being sure that in the application of the remedy we touch not the vital issues of our industrial and economic life?

There can be no recession of the tide of unrest until constructive instrumentalities are set up to stem that tide. Governments must recognize the right of men collectively to bargain for humane objects that have at their base the mutual protection and welfare of those engaged in all industries.

Labor must not be longer treated as a commodity. It must be regarded as the activity of human beings, possessed of deep yearnings and desires. The business man gives his best thought to the repair and replenishment of his machinery, so that its usefulness will not be impaired and its power to produce may always be at its height and kept in full vigor and motion. No less regard ought to be paid to the human machine, which, after all, propels the machinery of the world and is the great dynamic force that lies back of all industry and progress.

Old Standards Unthinkable. Return to the old standards of wage and industry in employment is unthinkable. The terrible tragedy of war which has just ended and which has brought the world to the verge of chaos and disaster would be in vain if there should ensue a return to the conditions of the past Europe itself, whence has come the unrest which now holds the world at bay, is an example of standstillism in these vital human matters which America might well accept an example, not to be followed, but studiously to be avoided. Europe made labor the differential, and the price of it all is enmity and antagonism and prostrated industry.

The right of labor to live in peace and comfort must be recognized by governments, and America should be the first to lay the foundation stones upon which industrial peace shall be built.

Labor not only is entitled to an adequate wage, but capital should receive a reasonable return upon its investment and is entitled to protection at the hands of the government in every emergency. No government worthy of the name can "play" these elements against each other, for there is a mutuality of interest between them which the government must seek to express and to safeguard at all cost.

The right of individuals to strike is inviolate and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government, but there is a predominant right, and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and majesty against the challenge of any class.

Defends Rights of People. The government, when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class, but simply to defend the right of the whole people as against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt of any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all.

In the matter of international disputes which have led to war, statesmen have sought to set up as a remedy arbitration for war. Does this not point the way for the settlement of industrial disputes by the establishment of a tribunal, fair and just alike to all, which will settle industrial disputes which in the past have led to war and disaster?

America, witnessing the evil consequences which have followed out of such disputes between the contending forces, must not admit itself impotent to deal with these matters by means of peaceful processes. Surely there must be some method of bringing together in a council of peace and amity these two great interests, out of which will come a happier day of peace and co-operation, a day that will make for more comfort and happiness in living and more tolerable conditions among all classes of men. Certainly human intelligence can devise some acceptable tribunal for adjusting the differences between capital and labor.

Hour of Test and Trial. This is the hour of test and trial for America. By her prowess and strength and the indomitable courage of her soldiers she demonstrated her right to vindicate on foreign battlefields her conception of liberty and justice.

Let not her influence as a mediator between capital and labor be weakened and her own failure to settle matters of purely domestic concern be proclaimed to the world. These are those in this country who threaten direct action to force their will upon a majority.

Russia, today, with its blood and terror, is a painful object lesson of the power of minorities. It makes little difference what minority it is; whether capital or labor, or any other class; no sort of privilege will ever be permitted to dominate this country.

We are a partnership or nothing that is worth while. We are a democracy, where the majority are the masters, or all the hopes and purposes of the men who founded this government have been defeated and forgotten.

In America there is but one way by which great reforms can be accomplished and the relief sought by classes obtained, and that is through the orderly processes of representative government. Those who would propose any other method of reform are enemies of this country. America will not be daunted by threats nor lose her composure or calmness in these distressing times. We can afford, in the midst of this day of passion and unrest, to be self-contained and sure. The instrument of all reform in America is the straight road of justice to all classes and conditions of men. Men have but to follow this road to realize the full fruition of their objects and purposes. Let these beware who would take the shorter road of disorder and revolution.

The right road is the road of justice and orderly process.

Start Health Crusade. That the children of the world shall be "physically fit" is the ideal of the modern health crusade of the Junior Red Cross and Anti-Tuberculosis Association. In one small Ohio town 7,000 toothbrushes are at work on teeth that had never been cared for until it was made one of the "chores" of the crusaders.

Hopeful. "How's that new fad I saw you talking home the other night?" "By George! I think we're going to please her."

one newspaper writer of later renown won his spurs through his reports of the Beecher trial.

It is a pity that the evil men do should attract more attention than their good deeds, but, as the wise Father Kelly says to his friend, Mr. Dooley: "Sin is news and news is sin."

Three reasons why you'll like the new "U.S." Walrus

- 1—Can be cleaned instantly
- 2—Slips right over your leather shoe
- 3—Fleece-lined—warm and dry

NO more dirty, mud-clogged overshoes! Here's some thing new—an overshoe that you can clean instantly. Dash a pail of water over it—or hold it right under a faucet—and every trace of dirt washes quickly off its smooth rubber surface.

For dozens of odd jobs around the place, you want an overshoe that you can slip on and off in a hurry. Here it is—buckle it on in a second—unbuckle it and push it off with your toe when you're through.

Ever work on a job all day long with wet, cold feet? Then you'll be glad of the soft, fleecy lining in this new overshoe that keeps your feet always warm and comfortable. Dry, too—it's absolutely watertight.

Think of having an overshoe as warm and convenient as an arctic—as watertight and easily cleaned—as a rubber boot! That's the new U. S. Walrus—don't forget that name! In every way, it's the farm- ers' ideal overshoe.

Ask your dealer today to show you the new U. S. Walrus. Note the smooth, all-rubber surface—the heavy reinforcements at all points of strain. After you've worn a pair of U. S. Walrus for a day or two, you'll realize why they're fast becoming so popular with farmers everywhere.

Other "U.S." models—all built for the hardest wear

Whether you prefer a boot or a bootee for the wet season, a "rubber" for general use, or a cloth- top arctic—you can find in U. S. rubber footwear exactly what you need. Tough, heavy soles—special reinforcements at toe and heel—and always the highest quality rubber—these points are winning U. S. rubber footwear thousands of new friends every year.

Ask for U. S. Rubber footwear—it means solid wear and long ser- vice for your money.

"U.S." Arctic—Made of snow- tight, cashmere, warm and comfortable. Reinforced where the wear is hardest. In one, two, four, and six buckles, all weights and sizes.

"U. S." Boots—Made in all sizes and styles—Short, Storm King, Sporting and Hip. In red, black, and white.

GARFIELD O. K.'S RAISE FOR MINERS

Fuel Administrator Approves Ohio's Plan for 25 Per Cent Increase.

OPPOSE RAISE IN PRICES

Declares Government Will Not Object if Increase Can Be Given Without Boosting Cost of Coal—Southwest Outlook Brighter.

Washington, Dec. 9.—"Not one cent can be added to the price of coal to finance any increase in the wages of miners," Fuel Administrator Garfield declared, after reading press dispatches that Gov. Cox of Ohio had proposed that miners and operators in that state compromise on the basis of a 25 per cent advance in pay for the men.

Dr. Garfield indicated that the government would interpose no objection if the increase could be given without advancing coal prices.

"There will be no increase in the present price of coal as fixed under the Lever act," Dr. Garfield said, "no matter what local arrangements and agreements are put into effect."

He added that his position was absolutely unchanged from that taken on Nov. 26 with the authorization of the cabinet.

Dr. Garfield explained then, in suggesting the 14 per cent advance, which the miners promptly rejected, that he was not fixing wage scales, and had no authority to do so. He indicated that the increase suggested was merely that which the operators were able to grant without advancing the price of coal which the government has fixed.

The government has under consideration additional suggestions for relieving the acute coal shortage in those parts of the country where industries are reported as facing a paralysis of activity.

Dr. Garfield is in control of the coal situation. Through him the various governmental departments have been coordinated in an effort to make the most of a bad situation created by the soft coal miners' walkout.

Columbus, O., Dec. 9.—Industries in all parts of the state are curtailing the consumption of coal and a great many have suspended operation because of the shortage.

Unless production is resumed within a few days, state officials predict that several hundred thousand workmen in Ohio will be idle.

Industrial leaders, however, are optimistic and have hopes that Governor James M. Cox's negotiations with operators and miners' leaders will bring about a settlement of the strike of the Ohio miners. Gov. Cox, following a conference with operators yesterday, declared the prospects for settlement are good and conferences will be resumed Monday.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 7.—Kansas was getting coal in fairly appreciable quantities through the volunteer plan today; Missouri expected to be doing so by night; Oklahoma, where martial law has been declared in the coal-producing counties, hopes to be in the business by Monday; and Arkansas, reports indicated, probably will have launched its mining venture by early next week.

That apparently summarized the coal production situation in the Southwest early today.

The fuel shortage situation, however, did not show great improvement, all reports received here indicating that an actual famine existed in many localities. The Kansas City fuel administration was revising its fuel restrictions "upward," there being a further curtailment in many directions. Reports, of similar action elsewhere were received.

CUT TRAINS ONE-THIRD

DRASTIC STEP TAKEN TO SAVE COAL ON RAILROADS.

Administration Decides That Northwest, Central West and Southwest Shall Be Affected.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Train service out of Chicago to all points west, northwest and southwest was cut one-third by a drastic order of the United States railroad administration for the conservation of coal.

The order, which was directed to R. H. Ashton, Hale Holden and B. S. Hush, regional directors of the Northwest, central West and Southwest regions, respectively, also called for the immediate removal of parlor cars, the curtailment of switching and the lengthening of schedules to meet the demands, which the reduction of the number of trains will make upon the service.

Increase in mail and express train service, customary to care for the Christmas traffic was forbidden, and railroad officials were instructed to care for the rush with added cars.

Washington, Dec. 6.—An increase in miners' wages described as greater than the 14 per cent suggested by Doctor Garfield was agreed upon by the scale committee of the operators in the central competitive field. The committee's announcement said it had been decided to advance the rates per ton for mining coal to pick and machine miners 11 cents in the "thin vein" district. This, it was said, would result in giving the machine miners a rate of around 81 cents per ton, and the pick miners a rate of around 97.64 cents, though it necessarily would vary in all fields.

Reports of miners drifting back to work were received from various parts of the country, but conditions in the central fields in the main appeared unchanged. The new offer, the operators believed, would break down the stubborn holdout of the miners and ere long soft coal again would be issuing from the shafts in volume and relieve the country of the disastrous effects of a coal famine.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Of two sets of orders affecting delivery of coal and electric power and light to industrial and private consumers, one issued last night by Regional Fuel Director T. W. Proctor becomes effective today. By its provisions industries not on the preferred priority list of the fuel administration will be denied fuel with the exception of enough to keep sprinkler systems going and permitting enough fuel consumption to prevent freezing of water mains.

This provision throws from 150,000 to 300,000 wage earners out of work when the fuel supplies of the plants now on hand are exhausted, according to estimates.

U. S. QUILTS SUGAR CONTROL

Attorney General Palmer Announces Discontinuance of Attempts to Govern Trade.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Abandonment of governmental attempts to control the distribution and sale of sugar was announced by Attorney General Palmer.

After the sugar equalization board is dissolved December 31, the government will confine its efforts to prosecution of profiteering in sugar, Mr. Palmer said.

This was said to mean the end of the program for bringing in fresh supplies of sugar from Cuban and other sources. Apparently little use can be made of the new authority conferred upon Mr. Palmer by the president, who designated him as food administrator.

WILSON DELAYS MEXICO ACTION

President Withholds Decision Until He Investigates Charges Against Carranza.

CONSUL JENKINS IS FREED

State Department Notified as President Receives Senators for Conference—Executive's Mind is Clear, Senator Fall Believes.

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Wilson reserved judgment on the Mexican situation until he could examine evidence submitted by Senator Fall of New Mexico, on which the senator based his charge that the Mexican ambassador and consuls in the United States had distributed "red" propaganda in the United States.

Senator Hitchcock said that while the president did not express himself as regarding the Mexican situation as extremely grave, he declared it involved possibilities which made it too serious to deal with in any hasty fashion.

On his return to the capitol, Senator Fall conferred with many Republican senators, telling them that mentally President Wilson was capable of handling any question coming before him, and that physically, he was in better condition than the senator had expected to find him.

Senator Fall said that he did not ask the president his views as to whether or not there should be intervention in Mexico, nor did he ask if the president favored the Fall resolution, and the president did not venture any information.

When asked if he was satisfied with the president's condition and ability to handle the Mexican situation, Senator Fall said:

"You mean his mental condition?"

"Yes, sir—entirely," the senator replied.

Senator Hitchcock said the president was in rare good humor and told some jokes, one of which particularly concerned intervention in Mexico.

Senator Fall said the president told him he did not know the details of the Mexican situation, but had a general knowledge on the subject.

While the president did not say directly that he would communicate with congress on the Mexican situation, the senators gained the impression that he would have some advice to give before the senate foreign relations committee meets Monday.

Mrs. Wilson was present at the conference, which was held in the president's sick room. Mr. Wilson being propped up in bed. Senator Hitchcock said the president seemed in better health than when he last saw him, more than two weeks ago. His face was fuller, the senator said, and his general condition seemed much improved.

The president asked Senator Fall to prepare for him a memorandum covering some of the disclosures before the senate committee investigating Mexico, of which Mr. Fall is chairman.

The conference had been in progress only a few minutes when Secretary Lansing sent for Doctor Grayson to inform him that Consul Agent Jenkins had been released from the Puebla penitentiary.

"This nearly broke up the conference," one of those present jokingly remarked in relating the incident.

The American embassy at Mexico City notified the state department that American Consul Agent William O. Jenkins, at Puebla, Mex., had been released from custody.

The secretary of state announced that a dispatch from the embassy stated that Third Secretary Hanna of the embassy, who was sent to Puebla in connection with the department's repeated representations for the immediate release of Jenkins, had reported that Jenkins was released from the penitentiary.

FARMER A GREAT STABILIZER

Governor Lowden of Illinois Wishes He Could Rule Only Tillers of the Soil.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—"In these troublesome times I often wish I were the governor of a state whose only citizens were farmers," said Gov. Frank O. Lowden at a meeting of the United States Association of Fairs and Expositions at the Auditorium hotel. "I would have much less trouble if I were."

"The farmer is the greatest stabilizer in this country, and if it were not for our 6,000,000 farmers I would despair of the future of America."

"It is from the farmer that our future must come."

TELLS OF TABOR DEATH

SISTER-IN-LAW SAYS MAUDE DIED IN MOTHER'S ARMS.

Body of Michigan Woman Was Buried in Trunk to Save Family's Name—Son and Mother Arrested.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 8.—"Maud Tabor died in her mother's arms."

Thus did Mrs. Walter Tabor, wife of Maud's brother, Walter, explain the death of Maud Tabor and the mystery surrounding it in an interview last night at her home here at 909 West North street, in which the first straightforward attempt by any person knowing the facts was made to clear up this unusual case.

"This secret, which I have kept for three years, was told to me by Maud's mother, Mrs. Sarah Tabor, and I reveal it now only because it is necessary to prove that my husband, Walter, is entirely innocent of any connection with the death. It was a natural death, for the birth of a child at Maud's age, forty-six, is a serious matter for a woman. The body was hidden to save the family from disgrace."

Law Paw, Mich., Dec. 8.—Walter Tabor and Mrs. Sarah Tabor, brother and mother, respectively, of Maude Faith Tabor, mystery trunk victim, were arrested in California, according to official notification received here by Sheriff Andrew Lang of Van Buren county.

Tabor was taken into custody by Sheriff Andrew Calkins of Siskiyou county, at Weel, a picturesque old placer mining town, 350 miles north of San Francisco. His mother, who is eighty-two years old, was found at Bray, 50 miles from Weel.

FARMERS UP TO EMERGENCY

What They Did to Win the War and Save World from Starvation Told by Houston.

Washington, Dec. 6.—In his annual report, issued this afternoon, Secretary of Agriculture Houston tells in a brief way how the farmers of America helped to win the war and are saving the world from starvation by marvelously increased production of foodstuffs. He says the wheat crop for 1919 is estimated at a million bushels over that of 1918 and that of corn 300,000,000 bushels over the last year's.

In meat production, also, the record figure of last year will be exceeded, and the same is probably true of milk, eggs and poultry. Crop yields per acre, says Mr. Houston, show an upward tendency, due largely to better methods and better machinery.

Among other recommendations made by the secretary are: The building up of a system of personal credit unions; expansion of existing facilities and activities for aiding farmers in marketing; continuation of present building, regulation and control of stockyards and packinghouses; protection of consumers against misbranded and adulterated feeds and fertilizers; increased support by states for rural schools, and legislation for improvement of sanitary conditions and medical facilities in rural districts.

Sow Less Wheat in Kansas.

Topoka, Kan., Dec. 8.—A decrease of more than 2,500,000 acres in the area sown to winter wheat in Kansas over the record of 11,610,445 acres sown for the crop in 1919 is shown in the report issued by the state board of agriculture. The total acreage this fall is given as 8,951,834, which is 23 per cent less than the 1919 record.

Was Afraid of Alligators.

Little Dorothy was visiting her Aunt Eleanor in New Orleans. There were several southern delicacies on the dinner table that were new to the little visitor.

"Dorothy," said Aunt Eleanor, "will you have some alligator pears?" Dorothy held up her chubby hands in wild protest.

"No! No! Auntie!" she exclaimed nervously.

"And why don't you care for alligator pears, my dear?"

"'Cause I'm afraid of their toofs."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

Mary Graham Donner

SANTA COMFORTS REINDEER.

"Oh, dear; oh, dear," said the first reindeer. "I feel so worried."

"I feel worried, too," said the second reindeer.

"And I feel dreadfully worried," said the third reindeer.

"Would it not be horrible if we were left home?" asked the fourth reindeer.

"Oh, don't speak of such a thing," said the first reindeer.

"Can't anything be done about it?" asked the second reindeer.

"I don't know," said the third reindeer, "except we can show we feel badly and as our master is the very kindest man in all the whole world he will, perhaps, take pity."

"Oh, oh," said a voice, "that is hard." They looked around and they saw Santa Claus coming towards them. He was bringing with him a basket of the kind of moss they loved best.

"What did we say that you thought was hard?" asked the third reindeer, not knowing which speech of theirs Santa was thinking of.

"I heard you say," said Santa Claus, his head, jolly, happy face looking sad for a moment, "that I was the very kindest man in all the whole world so that I might, perhaps, take pity."

"I do not know what you are talking about, but, my lovely reindeer friends, if I am the kindest man in all the whole world why do you say that 'perhaps' I will take pity? Aren't you sure of your old Santa Claus? Don't you know that he loves you; oh, how he loves you?"

"Yes, Santa, dear master, we know it," said the third reindeer.

"We know it," said the second reindeer, and all the others said:

"But, why, then, didn't you seem to be sure?" asked Santa.

"Well," said the third reindeer, "we didn't stop to think long enough about it."

"Dreadfully Worried."

It. We just became frightened and we felt, oh, dear, how we felt."

The reindeer almost wept at the thought of it.

"But, reindeer, I do not know what you are talking about," said Santa.

"I do not know what has frightened you," he added.

"We'll tell you," said the third reindeer, "but please don't think we're jealous and please don't think that we will be angry, for after we think it over we will understand that it is all for the best. Of course you are always in a hurry and they will—"

The reindeer let a tear escape from his right eye though he tried to hold it back.

"My lovely reindeer, what is the matter?" asked Santa Claus. "Oh, tell me; I cannot bear to see this unhappiness—and at the beginning of the wonderful Christmas season."

"We saw a picture," said the third reindeer, "last year, and we also saw a toy. The picture was of you flying over a snowy, Christmasy looking country in an aeroplane."

"And we also saw a toy aeroplane in which there was a little make-believe Santa Claus sitting up and driving it. It was a doll dressed up to look like you, dear master, but, oh, we shivered and we thought—"

"Will Santa ever fly in an aeroplane and take toys to the children in that way and leave us behind? Then we forgot all about it and were so happy for you are always thinking of us. But the other day we saw you making a toy aeroplane, and, oh, dear, oh, dear!"

"We thought, perhaps, you were going to make a big aeroplane and that you would fly in it this Christmas and leave us behind."

"Of course it was very selfish of us, for we know that aeroplanes go even faster than we can go and that they're fine things and we'll try to feel differently about it, but still—oh, we do love to go with you and stand around on the roofs while you go down the chimneys and fire escapes with presents—"

"My beautiful reindeer," said Santa Claus, "I may make toy aeroplanes and all sorts of toys, old-fashioned and modern, but I'll never change my way of traveling, never, never, never! Always I will have my lovely reindeer family take me." And the reindeer were so happy again.

Her Changes.

"Isn't your wife rather dogmatic?" "She was when Pomeranian pups were the style, but now she's automatic."

Necessary Preliminary.

"Miss Cutie, will you accept my hand?" "First, let me see what you have in it."

Enigmatic.

Father—Can the girl you are courting make a good batch of bread?" Son—Well, she can handle the dough all right.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

FOOLED BY FINE FEATHERS

Eastern Potentate Evidently Unaccustomed to Seeing Flunkys With So Much Gold Lace.

The gorgeous uniforms of the dignified English servants who always are in attendance at all official receptions have been the rocks upon which the pride of more than one foreigner has been wrecked. The initiated is never sure as he approaches one of these impressive-faced functionaries whether the latter is a field marshal or a footman. Witness the discomfort of his highness Prince Felsal, son of the king of Hedjaz, at the great reception in the guldhall to England's returning hero, Field Marshal Viscount Allenby.

The Arabian prince, clad in his official robes of oriental design, was one of the many famous men at the guldhall. Always punctilious in the extreme, his highness made his way into the ancient hall, bowing to right and left as he met great soldiers and statesmen of the country.

He greeted one, who, wearing wonderful tailment adorned with yards of heavy gold lace, appeared to be greater than them all. The prince bowed deeply—to the lord mayor's dunkey.
