AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By the County Agricultural Agent

DO YOU KNOW

1. That only 1 per cent of the swine in America are Pure Breed.
2. There is no line of stock more easily established on the farm.
3. Swine make the quickest money returns of any farm animal.

This clearly indicates a bigger call and better sale in the future for pure bred swine. THINK THIS OVER and attend the Washington County Duroc Jersey Breeders' Association sale at the West Bend Fair Grounds on Feb. 16th.

Notable among the sows for sale are the lot of 12 bred to a son of Taxpayers Model from an aged sow who won second place at the 1919 state fair. The sons of Taxpayers Model are all in demand. A boar from him and a sow that won second at the state fair is hard to beat. All of the herd boars have equally good breeding. Five of the sows to be sold are bred to a boar that won second place at the 1919 state fair in the class shown under 6 months of age.

Here is an opportunity for Washington County breeders to secure well bred stock. Buy a pure bred sow and next year sell part of her litter on this annual sale that will be bigger and better next year. Washington County is well on its way to make a name for itself in the swine business. Get in on the ground floor and boost.

The Duroc Bulletin is authority for the statement that "of every four hogs sold in 1919, two of them were Duroc." The Duroc popularity is well established and their sales are always popular. Don't forget the date, February 16th.

THOUGHT HE WAS A BOLSHEVIK

A Russian truck driver employed by the Motor Car company, and known to his fellow workmen by the name of Pete had an experience last week which he won't forget in a hurry.

Pete, who owns a farm in Russia and who has made several trips back there, although being a citizen of this country, left here the latter part of last week on one of his trips to Russia and when he got off the train in Milwaukee he was picked up by detectives on the supposition that he was a Red. After being looked up for a while and his identity being established he was allowed to proceed on his journey. We understand he has a sister in Milwaukee where he intended to visit for a time before leaving for Russia. It would seem to us that this would be a good time to stay out of Russia, as by wearing long hair and a horse moustache it is mighty easy these days for a person to be taken for a Red.—Hartford Press.

A COMPARISON OF CITY TAXES

MADISON, January 13.—The bulk of 1920 taxes will be paid into offices of city treasurers throughout the state by the end of this month. Figures gathered at the office of the state tax commission disclose that the city of Burlington is the only one in the state which will not have an increased rate this year. There the rate will be reduced and is the lowest in the state—$17.00 per $1,000 valuation.

The average rate is $25, with the highest at Shawano—$41.50. The reason given for the great difference is that Burlington has pruned its budget to a minimum while Shawano's budget has been nearly doubled.

The 1920 rates for most Badger cities follow: Burlington, $17.00; Watertown, $19.75; Madison, $20; Port Washington, $20; Green Bay, $21; Menasha, $22; Edgerton, $22.00; Oshkosh, $22.50; Eau Claire, $22.64; De Pere, $22; Watertown, $23.34; La Crosse, $24; Neenah, $25; Sheboygan, $25.20; Oconomowoc, $25.28; Hartford, $25.63; Milwaukee, $26.44; Racine, $26.67; Waukesha, $26.47; Manitowish, $26.90; Fond du Lac, $27; Eau Claire, $28.50; Sturgeon Bay, $28.51; Plymouth, $28; Marinette, $29.10; Kaukauna, $29.50; Elkhorn, $30; Kenosha, $30; Superior, $30; West Bend, $30; Shawano, $31.50.

Deceased was born in Ibersdorf, Germany, February 18, 1843. At the age of ten he immigrated to America with his parents, settling on a farm in the town of Addison. In 1867 he was united in marriage to Margaret Gallitz, making their home on his father's farm. In 1869 they moved to Freedom Outagamie county, and in 1870 came to the present homestead in the town of Kewaskum, where he resided up to the time of his death. The funeral was held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock with services in the Holy Trinity church here. Rev. Vogt officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. KEWASKUM TAKES EASY VICTORY

The local city basket ball team, easily defeated the Waldheim Specials of Milwaukee last Saturday evening at the Opera House in a one-sided contest by a score of 11 to 66. The visitors were outclassed in every stage of the game, and never had a chance. Saturday night's game makes the local eighth victory out of eleven games played this season, a reputation and record never established by any team in the history of Kewaskum, outside of the girls team, who have yet to meet their superiors. The local team is again fast rounding into shape, after a severe shakeup in their lineup, on account of three of the players, who were forced to retire definitely on account of injuries received several weeks ago. Maurice Rosenheimer, however, will be out of the game for at least two more weeks. "Spatz" Miller, who was unable to play last Saturday night on account of a sore neck, will be in his usual form Sunday evening when the locals clash with the strong Oshkosh By-Gosh team of Oshkosh. The visitors will arrive here on the evening train, and will return to Oshkosh on the midnight which will stop to pick up the players. Sunday night's game promises to be the fastest exhibition of basket ball thus far staged here this season, as the Oshkosh quintette has established an excellent record this season. The lineup is as follows: Oshkosh—Center Schmidt, Forwards, Bixby and Simon; Guards Simpson, Page and Wilson. Kewaskum—Center "Spatz" Miller, Forwards Jack Tessar, and August Bilgo; Guards, Harry, Walter and Carl Schaefer. Game will be called at eight o'clock. Dance after the game.

Next week Saturday evening, Jan. 31, the local team will put up with the Cedarburg quintette at the Opera House. Dr. Alvin Backus, a former Kewaskum boy, is manager of the Cedarburg basketeers.

The local girls were scheduled to play the Boston store girls at Milwaukee last Monday evening, but for some reason the Milwaukee cancelled the game at the eleventh hour. Wonder why. We have been informed since the game was cancelled that the general talk of the Milwaukee girls was that the Kewaskum girls had an undefeated team, since its organization 8 years ago, and that this year's team is by far stronger than ever before. A record of that kind often times takes quite an effect upon the opponents. The local girls will put up with the Fred Ruppert Leather company team of Fond du Lac as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made. This game will be a hummer.

LOCAL HIGH VICTORIOUS

In spite of all odds against them, such as, very little practice, opponents head and shoulder taller in height, old experienced players against several young quite inexperienced players, and no hope of winning, Hoppel's Stars showed themselves brave and real sportsmen in their appearance against the strong Jack's Specials last Friday evening. As above stated the Stars had no hopes of winning with the line up as it was so aimed to play a guard game in order to hold the opponents to as low a score as possible. In spite of the Stars covering the opponent's end of the floor most of the time the ball was rushed to the loser's goal several times during the game and it seemed a field goal was certain. Miss Martin did most of the shooting for the Stars. In spite of good aim and judgment the shots would strike the rim and get away without bringing a score. The Specials showed good team work and ability in long shots. The close guarding kept them from securing very many short throws. The final whistle found the Stars in better circumstances than they had expected; the score indicated their opponents had a 15 to 1 victory instead of about 25 to 1 as was expected.

The close of the game by the fairer sex was soon followed by the Menominee Falls H. S. visiting the Kewaskum High School. The visitors were a good match for the home team as to size and weight. From the very beginning of the game both teams showed a good brand of ball; a few minutes of play however, found the home team taking a nice lead in the score and showed clearly that the visitors were used to a very low ceiling, and small hall in which to practice. Not being used to regulation height for their goals their attempts at the basket usually fell below the line and were occasionally quite wild. Their skill in short passing was very good however. The cheery smile of one of Fall's guards, the true sportsmanship, clean and gentlemanly attitude and conduct of both teams, along with the fast playing done by both teams made a far more interesting game to watch than the 53 to 22 score might indicate. Friday night, Jan. 23 promises to bring another good game when the local Highs clash with the Grafton High School quintette. The locals are set on a victory and will do their best to win. They appreciate the splendid crowds they have at their games recently. Come out and help the boys along to another victory.

CAMPBELLSPORT INSURANCE CO. HOLDS MEETING

The annual meeting of the Campbellsport Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held at the company's office, Campbellsport, Wis., at 1 o'clock P. M., Monday, January 19th, 1920, and the following three directors were elected for the ensuing three years: L. C. Kohler, E. F. Martin and Leo R. Rosenbaum.

During 1919, over $3,850,000.00 of insurance was written, and the gross income was nearly $41,750.00, and the losses were not unusually heavy, though a little heavier than the preceding year.

The total admitted assets are over $58,400.00, and the company carries $6,000,000.00 of insurance on its books. The company has written, since organization, in 1895, over 59,650,000.00 of insurance, aggregating over $52,000,000.00 of insurance, and the gross premiums have amounted to over $455,000.00. The annual report showed substantial gains during the past year.

Since organization, the company has paid over 1378 losses, amounting to over $227,300.00, but has an un-earned premium reserve of over $27,200.00, and surplus of over $29,800.00. The company has a commodious, brick office building, with fire proof vaults, erected in 1913, and valued at $5,000. Over $300,000.00 in premiums, has been saved the members.

The following are the officers and board of directors, most of whom have been connected with the company since organization: O. G. Hendricks, Pres.; L. C. Kohler, Vice-President; H. A. Wrucke, Secretary; and John H. Paas, Treasurer; E. F. Martin, Wm. Wedde, C. R. Van De Zande, F. H. Haskin and Leo R. Rosenbaum.

The company is one of the leading mutuals of Wisconsin, and has a successful record of over 24 years, being incorporated July 30, 1895, and commenced writing insurance September 18, 1895.

The record made by the company certainly argues greatly in favor of Mutual Fire Insurance, which is a benefit to the people by giving them insurance at actual cost.

IS IT GETTING AS BAD AS THIS?

In this week's issue of The Times, one of our readers is advertising for an all-around farm hand, offering $125 a month in order to get a competent workman. To be compelled to pay this price for a farm hand would be ruinous to the majority of farmers, even though prices for their produce stay where they now are. We are not familiar with the circumstances connected with this position, but it would seem that the shortage of farm labor is becoming a really serious factor. If this wage increase becomes general it will mean smaller farms which can be worked by one man, and thousands of acres will be let lay idle because a farmer cannot afford to work them. To increase farm produce in price much above what it now commands would be working a handicap upon millions of wage earners. The only solution is to educate young men to stay upon the farms, and those who have drifted away from the free, open life of the country to the dirty, ill smelling and disease breeding cities, to again go back to the soil.—Hartford Times.

Another big crowd is expected at the basket ball game Sunday evening, when the locals clash with the strong Oshkosh team at the Opera House.

DEATH OF MRS. B. HAUFSCILD

Again the grim reaper, death, called to her final reward, one of the town of Kewaskum's most estimable citizens, namely: Mrs. Ottilie Henrietta Haufschild (nee Roeske), who died at her home two miles east of this village, on Wednesday evening, January 21, 1920, at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Haufschild had been in ill health for some time, but not of a serious nature until nine days ago when she contracted pneumonia, which hastened her death. Deceased was born on April 1st, 1859, at Rosendale, Wis., where she spent her early days, coming to her present home thirty-eight years ago. On July 8, 1883, she was married to Bernard Haufschild, who preceded her in death eight months ago. Three children were born of this union, two of whom survive, namely: Henry and Arthur, both at home. One daughter Lydia died twelve years ago. Besides these she leaves to mourn her untimely death, two step-daughters, Mrs. Dena Joecks of Hartford; and Mrs. Anna Hoppe of Milwaukee; five sisters, Mrs. Dora Lieppert of Milwaukee; Mrs. Sarah Marx of Chicago; Mrs. Mary Hicks of Oshkosh; Mrs. Minnie Horton of Summer, Wash.; Mrs. Hulda Schwanke of Canada; three brothers, Edward Roeske, William and August Roeske, all of Milwaukee; Mrs. Haufschild's death has caused sincere regret among her wide circle of friends, she was a lady who always stood ready to help those in need, to make her home a comfortable place for those nearest to her, was her hobby, a true christian and a kind neighbor. Her kind deeds will long live in the memory of her family circle and to those who had the good fortune of knowing her. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon, at one o'clock from the family residence, with services in the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Greve will officiate. PLAN TO REDUCE PROHIBITION LOSS

Dry Leaders Working on Program of Compensation for Liquor Dealers.

ABOUT 60,000,000 GALLONS

Government May Issue Treasury Certificates in Payment for Stock Held in Bonded Warehouses and Sell for Legitimate Uses.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Prohibition leaders are working out a comprehensive program for reimbursing the owners of intoxicating liquor for the losses to be sustained under constitutional prohibition.

A proposal has been submitted to the treasury department by some of the prohibitionists in congress which provides that the government shall purchase all the liquors now being held under bond, amounting to about 60,000,000 gallons.

From ten to twenty years, prohibition leaders estimate, will be required to use up this stock legitimately—such as for medicinal, scientific or industrial purposes.

The fact that many banks, holders of warehouse certificates for government bonded liquor, will be large losers unless some relief is granted, is drawing support for the program.

The disposition of the liquor now in bond has been put up to congress squarely by the internal revenue bureau. Extra guards are being placed around all bonded warehouses by the prohibition enforcement division of the bureau.

The new program contemplates the concentration of this liquor in several large bonded warehouses, so that its distribution for illegal purposes can be prevented absolutely.

At present it is stored in 250 government and about 175 private warehouses, thus requiring a small army to guard it.

A few radical prohibitionists in congress favor the immediate destruction of all this liquor, but others point out that a small supply for medicinal purposes will be needed always.

Refund by the government of taxes paid on liquors held in bond which the owners have been unable to sell or dispose of, redemption by the government of unused tax stamps purchased to be placed on such liquors, and purchase by the government of all liquors in bond are provided by a bill introduced in the house by Representative Sabath of Illinois.

As its enactment would result in a heavy drain on the treasury, which the Republican leaders are now determined to prevent wherever possible, it is not believed that the legislation will receive favorable consideration at this session.

Wholesale arrests of bootleggers all over the country were predicted here by John F. Kraemer, federal prohibition commissioner.

"With thousands of detectives at work all over the country," said Kraemer, "we plan drastic and quick measures to make the law effective."

With the appointment of the ten department commissioners for prohibition enforcement, the government's machinery to be created under the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution was practically completed.

DANIELS DEFENDS SELF AT INQUIRY

Secretary Says No Organization Ever Did Better Job Than U. S. Navy.

REPLIES TO ADMIRAL SIMS

Declares Officer's Policy Was to Divert Convoys to Guard Merchandise—Gen. Wood Denies Calling Navy a "Death Trap."

Washington, Jan. 21.—There will be a complete and full investigation by the senate of the charges made by Admiral William S. Sims against the conduct and naval policy of Secretary Daniels during the war. The investigation was ordered by the full committee on naval affairs of the senate at a meeting called by Chairman Page.

The subcommittee now probing the manner in which awards for distinguished service during the war were made will conduct the inquiry as soon as the matters relating to the awards are finished. Meanwhile a court of inquiry is in sight for Admiral Sims if the congressional inquiry does not go to the bottom of all the charges made by the admiral, "and his motives in attacking the naval administration, of which in time of war the president is the actual and active head," Secretary Daniels let it be known.

Chairman Hale said the committee would not complete its investigation of naval decorations in less than ten days.

Unless the senate investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges of failure of the navy department to co-operate fully with the allies during the war is made to the entire satisfaction of the American people, an inquiry will be made by a naval board, Secretary Daniels announced. He added that "no organization in the history of the world ever did a better job than the American navy."

While refusing to discuss Admiral Sims' letter of criticism of the department, Mr. Daniels indicated the admiral frequently clashed with the department through his insistence that more destroyers be withdrawn from troop convoys to augment the anti-submarine forces in European waters.

"The paramount duty of the American navy," Mr. Daniels declared, "was to protect the passage of American troops to Europe and the safeguarding of merchant shipping, vital as that was recognized to be, necessarily secondary."

Secretary Daniels emphasized that, contrary to the popular impression, Admiral Sims throughout the war was subordinate to Admiral Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet. He indicated that on the question of the distribution of destroyer strength as well as on other questions Admiral Sims was overruled by Admiral Mayo as well as the department.

"Every naval order, every document bearing on the navy's war activities," Mr. Daniels continued, "is open to the light of day, and the more thoroughly the entire record is laid before the people of this country the greater the pride they can have in the achievement of their navy. The country will be entirely reassured."

Secretary Daniels said that in the first summer of the war, Admiral Sims was given the title of commander of the United States naval forces in European waters, but that as a matter of fact "his duties were not afar."

"The business of Rear Admiral Sims was to obey orders," declared the secretary. "His duties were to make recommendations, give us all the information and all the facts and then carry out instructions from the department."

"The country and the world know already that the job of the navy was very well done. Whether on the 27th of June or the 27th of July, or some particular date, we should or should not have sent so many destroyers to a certain place, or whether they could be made ready at that time, or whether it was important to retain some to protect our coasts, were, of course, matters of naval strategy. There may be differences of opinion between naval officers as to these matters, but there is nothing about this big job the navy did that I am not willing but glad and happy for all the people in America to know about."

Portland, Me., Jan. 21.—"I did not say that our navy was a 'floating death trap' in my speech at Boston," Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood said when informed that he would be asked to appear before the house naval committee to explain his statement quoted to that effect. "What I did say was that the ships that were filled with untrained men in battle were floating death traps."

AMERICANS AND GENDARMERIE REPEL ATTACK IN HAYTI.

Yanks Pursue Outlaws Outside the Capital—150 Rebels Are Killed or Captured.

Washington, Jan. 17.—United States marines and Haytian gendarmes repelled an attack on Port au Prince, the Haytian capital, by a force of 300 bandits, more than half of whom were killed, wounded or captured after being pursued outside the city, the navy department was advised.

The casualties of the marines were two privates wounded, according to the report of the engagement received at the navy department today from Col. J. H. Russell, commanding the marine forces and gendarmes in Haiti.

The bandit force, Colonel Russell said, approached Port au Prince in three columns, which immediately were met and driven back.

Certain revolutionary elements of the city attempted to join the bandits in the assault, he said, adding that he believed the fate of the attacking forces should be "sufficient to prevent an early repetition of the assault."

It became known when William H. Tidwell, special agent of the treasury department was appointed chief assistant to Special Assistant United States Attorney General Bert Schlesinger here.

The government, according to information from authoritative sources, is alleged to have been defrauded through shipyard conspiracies worked by the payment of false vouchers for sums that shipbuilders obtained illegally.

It is understood that Attorney General Palmer, on the strength of the scope of the alleged discoveries of graft, has ordered the United States shipping board to hold up claims amounting to $37,000,000 to await the outcome of the investigation.

FIRST LEAGUE MEET

World Union Formally Started at French Foreign Office.

All Members of Council With the Exception of United States Present—Protest From the Irish.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Representatives of France, Great Britain, Italy, Greece, Belgium, Spain, Japan and Brazil, members of the council of the League of Nations, met in the "clock" room of the French foreign office for the first meeting in the history of the league.

The council organized at 10:30 o'clock by electing Leon Bourgeois chairman and confirming the choice of Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain as general secretary.

The first official act of the council was the appointment of a commission to trace upon the spot the frontiers of the territory of the Sarre basin.

The council received its first formal protest to be presented to it almost before it came into being with today's initial session. The protest was from "the envoys of the elected government of the Irish republic" against "the unreal English simulacrum of an international league of peace."

All the members of the council called for by the covenant of the league, with the exception of the representatives of the United States, were present when M. Bourgeois called the meeting to order.

After the appointment of the commissioners, M. Bourgeois proposed London as the place for the next meeting of the council, and this was approved. Lord Curzon suggested leaving the date and the order of business open, to be decided by the chairman and the secretary, since, he said, "it will be necessary to consult the United States on a great many questions likely to arise."

FLEET COMMANDER SUPPORTS DANIELS

Admiral Mayo Disagrees With Sims in Navy Row.

SECRETARY AND BOARD RIGHT

Opposes Sims' Stand on Decorations and Tells the Senate Committee That Changing of Medal Awards Was Justified.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander in chief of the United States fleet during the war, told the senate committee investigating naval awards that his letter to Secretary Daniels on December 23, asserting that the Knight board did not give sufficient consideration to the service at sea, particularly to the duties and responsibilities of members of the staff of the commander in chief of the fleet, was not to be considered, in any sense one of protest. He read the letter at the request of Chairman Hale.

Admiral Mayo took a view diametrically opposed to that expressed by Rear Admiral Sims, who told the subcommittee that the Knight board in granting awards gave too little consideration to the records of officials who served on shore. The navy department made public Admiral Mayo's letter on the subject several days ago.

General Charges Deferred.

Charges made by Admiral Sims that the navy department did not co-operate fully with the allies during the war are being deferred for subsequent investigation.

Admiral Mayo said his letter was written after practically all of his recommendations had been changed or disapproved by the board or Secretary Daniels.

"I made very few recommendations for awards," he said, "mostly in the cases of my personal staff, force commanders and commanders operating independently. Captain Jackson was the only member of my staff, I believe, who finally received any decoration at all."

Testifying that Admiral Sims was "supposed to be" under his command during the war, Admiral Mayo said that in order to facilitate matters Admiral Sims did not report to him, but directly to the navy department.

Lack of well-defined policy for awarding naval honors may have had a bearing on the decoration situation, Admiral Mayo said.

"I do not say I was satisfied with the result of the action of the board and the secretary," added Admiral Mayo, "but I do say that they had the right to take such action as they wished and to assume the responsibility."

Staff Had Real Duty.

Admiral Mayo said he had written Secretary Daniels because he felt there had not been sufficient realization of the value of staff duty and that this might cause officers to avoid staff assignments.

"There has been a popular idea," he said, "that the chief function of the staff is to go along and look pretty when the Old Man goes on a call. That is not true. They are hard working, efficient men."

Senator Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, asked if Admiral Mayo believed there should be a policy that officers who lost their ships should be honored.

Such a policy would not be a good thing for the service, Admiral Mayo said, but added that in cases where the officer's conduct during and after the sinking was distinguished it should entitle him to high distinction. Under ordinary circumstances, he added, an officer who lost his ship was in all navies, court-martialed.

Major General Barnett, commandant of the marine corps, will be called.

Vice to Be Investigated.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A board of inquiry, headed by Rear Admiral Dunn, commander of the First naval district, has been appointed by Secretary Daniels to investigate conditions at the naval station at Newport, R. I., which led to charges by John L. Rathorn of the Providence (R. I.) Journal of immorality in the navy.

YANKS HIT BY "FLU"

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC AMONG U. S. TROOPS IN EUROPE.

Also Spreads at Camp Grant, Fort Sheridan, Great Lakes and Other Barracks.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Influenza has become epidemic among American soldiers at Camp Grant and Rockford, Ill., and the Great Lakes naval training station, Surgeon General Ireland of the army announced.

Smaller epidemics have been reported from Love Field, Tex., and Fort Sheridan, Ill. General Ireland said, and the disease is prevalent among American troops in Europe.

The incidence of pneumonia thus far has been low, General Ireland said, and the type of the disease appears to be mild.

In view, however, of the appearance of the disease, medical officers have been instructed to carry out regulations providing for adequate floor space and cubic air space in barracks and hospital wards, proper ventilation, masking of cases, prevention of use of common drinking cups and adequate clothing and bedding.

The outbreak among the American troops in Germany has assumed more alarming proportions, with 163 new cases reported there for the week ended January 9, an increase of 65 over the week before. There also were 23 new cases of pneumonia.

The outbreak of influenza in the Coblenz command is accompanied by a marked increase in the death rate for the troops in Europe. For the week ended January 9 the annual death rate for disease was 36 per 1,000, as against the rate of three per 1,000 the week before. Twelve deaths, six from pneumonia and five from measles, were recorded.

FLU INCREASES IN CHICAGO

Believed Peak is Reached With 2,514 More Ill in One Day—Pneumonia Takes Drop

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Reports to the health department indicated 2,514 new cases of influenza from 8 o'clock Monday morning to 5 p. m. Tuesday.

This is 114 more than was recorded for the record day of the epidemic last winter.

Pneumonia took a drop of from 382 for Monday to 297 new cases for Tuesday. There were 36 deaths from influenza and 57 deaths from pneumonia, or ten more deaths from influenza as compared with the previous day's report and nine less deaths from pneumonia.

Health Commissioner Robertson believes the epidemic has reached its crisis. He expects a steady decline from now on.

"FOOLI FOOLI FOOLI!"

Synopsis.—David Elden, son of a drunken, shiftless ranchman, almost a maverick of the foothills, is breaking bottles with his pistol from his running cayuse when the first automobile he has ever seen arrives and tips over, breaking the leg of Doctor Hardy but not injuring his beautiful daughter Irene. Dave rescues the injured man and brings a doctor from 40 miles away. Irene takes charge of the housekeeping. Dave and Irene get well acquainted during her enforced stay. They part with a kiss and an implied promise. Dave's father dies and Dave goes to town to seek his fortune. A man named Concord teaches him his first lesson in city ways.

Dave's duties were simple enough. He had to drive a wagon to a coal yard, where a very superior young man, with a collar, would express surprise that he had been so long gone, and tell him to back in under chute number so-and-so. It appeared to be always a matter of great distress to this young man that Dave did not know which chute to back under until he was told. Having backed into position a door was opened. There was a fiction that the coal in the bin should then run into the wagon box, but, as Dave at once discovered, this was merely a fiction. Aside from a few accommodating lumps near the door the coal had to be shoveled. Then Dave had to drive to an address that was given him, shovel the coal down a chute located in the most inaccessible position the premises afforded, and return to the coal yard, where the young man with the collar would facetiously inquire whether Mrs. Blank had invited him in to afternoon tea, or if he had been waiting for a change in the weather.

His work and supper were over by seven o'clock each evening, and now was the opportunity for him to begin the schooling for which he had left the ranch. But he developed a sudden disinclination to make the start; he was tired in the evening, and he found it much more to his liking to stroll downtown, smoke cigarettes on the street corners, or engage in an occasional game of pool. In this way the weeks went by, and when his month with Metford was up he had neglected to find another position, so he continued where he was. He was being gradually and unconsciously submerged in an inertia which, however much it might hate its present surroundings, had not the spirit to seek a more favorable environment.

So the fall and winter drifted along; Dave had made few acquaintances and no friends, if we except Concord, whom he frequently met in the pool rooms and for whom he had developed a sort of attachment.

One Saturday evening, as Dave was on his way to their accustomed resort, he fell in with Concord on the street. "Hello, old man!" said Concord cheerily. "I was just looking for you. Got two tickets for the show tonight. Some swell dames in the chorus. Come along. There'll be doings."

There were two theaters in the town, one of which played to the better-class residents. In it anything of a risqué nature had to be presented with certain trimmings which allowed it to be classified as "art," but in the other house no such restrictions existed. It was to the latter that Concord led. Dave had been there before, in the cheap upper gallery, but Concord's tickets admitted to the best seats in the house.

It was an entirely new experience. From the upper gallery the actors and actresses always seemed more or less impersonal and abstract, but here they were living, palpating human beings, almost within hand-reach, certainly within eye-reach. Dave found himself regarding the young woman immediately before him; all in white she was, with some scintillating material that sparkled in the glare of the spotlight; then suddenly she was in orange, and pink, and purple, and mauve, and back again in white. And although she performed the various steps with smiling abandon there was in her dress and manner a modesty which fascinated the boy with a subtlety which a more reckless appearance would have at once defeated. And then Dave looked in her face. It was a pretty face, notwithstanding its grease paint, and it smiled right into his eyes. His heart thumped between his shoulders as though it would drive all the air from his lungs. She smiled at him—for him! Now they were away again; there were gyrations about the stage.

Then there was a sudden break-away in the dance, and the girl disappeared behind a forest. Dave supposed she had gone to rest; dancing like that must be hard on the wind. He found little to interest him now in what was going on on the stage. It seemed rather foolish. He wished the girl behind the forest would come down and rest there. Then she could see the show herself. Then she could

But there was a whirl from the forest, and the girl reappeared, this time all in red, right before him. And then she looked down and smiled again at him. And he smiled back. And then he looked at Concord and saw him smiling too. And then he felt a very distressing uncertainty, which brought the color slowly to his face. He resolved to say nothing, but watch. And his observations convinced him that the smiles had been for Concord, not for him. And then he lost interest in the play.

They hustled into their overcoats to the playing of the national anthem. "Hurry!" said Concord. "Let's get out quick! Ain't she some dame? There—through the side exit—the stage door is that way. She promised to have her chum with her. They'll be waiting if we don't hurry."

Concord steered him to the stage entrance, where a little group was already congregated. In a moment the girl appeared, handsomely dressed in furs. With her was another girl, also from the chorus, but Dave could not recall her part. He was suddenly aware of being introduced.

"You Made a Fool of Me, I've a Mind to Bash Your Skull In for You."

"This is my friend Belton," Concord was saying. Dave was about to correct him when Concord managed to whisper: "Whist! Your stage name. Mine's Edward. Don't forget."

Concord took the first girl by the arm, and Dave found himself following rapidly with the other. They cut through certain side streets, up a stairway, and into a dark hall. A door opened. Concord pressed a button, and they found themselves in a small but comfortably furnished room—evidently bachelor apartments.

The girls threw off their wraps and sauntered about the place, while Concord started a gas grate and put some water to boil.

"Sorry I've nothing for you to eat," he said, "but I've some good medicine for the thirst."

"Eating's poor business when there's a thirst to be quenched," said one of the girls with a yawn. "And, believe me, I've a long one."

The glasses were filled and raised. "Ho!" said Concord.

"Here's looking!" said one of the girls.

Dave hesitated, but the other girl clinked her glass against his. "Here's looking at you," she said, and she appeared to lay special emphasis on the last two words. Certainly her eyes were on Dave's as she raised her glass to her lips. And under the spell of those eyes he raised his glass and drained it.

Other glasses were filled and drained. The three were chattering away, but Dave was but vaguely conscious of their talk and could weave no connected meaning into it. His head was buzzing with a pleasant, dreamy sensation. A very grateful warmth surrounded him, and with it came a disposition to go to sleep. He probably would have gone to sleep had his eye not fallen on a picture on the wall. It was a picture of a girl pointing her finger at him. No girl could point her finger at him. He arose and made a lunge across the room. He missed her, and with difficulty retraced his steps to the table to make a fresh start.

"She's makin' fun of me," he said, "an' I don't stand for that. Nobody can do that with me. Nobody—see! I don't low it."

"Oh, you don't?" laughed one of the girls, running into a corner and pointing her finger at him. "You don't?"

He turned his attention to her, steadying himself very carefully before he attempted an advance. Then, with wide-stretched arms, he bore down cautiously upon her. When he had her almost within reach she darted along the edge of the room. He attempted a sudden change in direction, which ended disastrously, and he found himself very much sprawled out upon the floor. He was aware of laughter, but what cared he? He was disposed to sleep. What better place to sleep than this? What better time to sleep than this? In a moment he was lost to all consciousness.

It was later in the night when he felt himself being dragged into a sitting posture. "Where am I?" he said, blinking at the light. He rose uncertainly to his feet and stared about the room in returning consciousness.

"Where's the girls?" he asked. "Gone," said Concord sulkily. "Couldn't expect 'em to stick around all night to say goodby, could you, and you sleeping off your drunk?"

Dave raised his hand to his head.

A sense of disgrace was already upon him. Then he suddenly turned in anger on Concord. "You put this up on me," he cried. "You made a fool of me. I've a mind to bash your skull in for you."

"Don't be silly," Concord retorted. "I didn't enjoy it any more than you did—introducing you as my friend, and then have you go out like that. Why didn't you tip me? I didn't know it would put you to sleep."

"Neither did I," said Dave. "Well, the next thing is to get you home. Can you walk?"

"Sure."

Dave started for the door, but his course suddenly veered and he found himself leaning over a chair. Concord helped him into his overcoat, and half led, half shoved him to his boarding house.

CHAPTER IV.

Elden awoke Sunday morning with a prodigious thirst, which he slaked at the water pitcher. It was the practice of Metford's gang to select one of their number to care for all the horses on Sundays while the others enjoyed the luxury of their one day of leisure. In consequence of this custom the room was still full of snoring sleepers and the air was very close and foul.

Dave sat down by the little table that fronted the open window and rested his head on his hands. He was recalling, with considerable effort, the events of the previous night; piecing them together in impossible ways; re-asserting them until they offered some sequence. The anger he had felt toward Concord had subsided, but the sting of shame rankled in his heart. "Fool!" he said to himself. And because he could think of no more specific expression to suit his feelings, and because expression of any kind brought a sort of relief, he kept on repeating the word, "Fool! fool! fool!" And as his self-condemnation gradually won him back to a sense of perspective he became aware of the finger of his position. He had left his ranch home better himself, to learn things to do to be somebody. He had worked harder than ever before, at more disagreeable employment; he had lived in conditions that were almost nauseating—and what had he learned? That you can't beat a card man at his own game, price sixty dollars, and that the gallery seats are cheaper and sometimes safer than the orchestra.

Then all of a sudden he thought of Reenie. He had not thought of her much of late; he had been so busy in the days and so tired at nights that he had not thought of her much. Now she burst upon him again with all that beauty and charm which had so magnetized him in those glad, golden days, and the frank cleanness of her girlhood made him disgusted and ashamed. It was to fit himself for her that he had come to town, and what sort of mess was he making of it? He was going down instead of up. He had squandered his little money, and now he was squandering his life. He had been drunk. . . .

Dave's nature was one in which emotions were accelerated with their own intensity. And the sudden manner in which Reenie had now invaded his consciousness intensified the blackness in which he was submerged, as lightning darkens the storm. . . . He saw her on that last night, with the moonlight wooing her white face, until his own body had eclipsed it in a warmer passion, and he heard her words, "I know you are true and clean."

True and clean. "Yes, thank God, I am still that!" he cried, springing suddenly to his feet and commencing to dress. "I've been splattered, but nothing that won't wash off. Perhaps—and he stopped as the great thought struck him—"perhaps it was the luckiest thing in the world that the booze did put me out last night. . . . It'll wash off."

Dave turns over a new leaf.

TAKES NO ACCOUNT OF TIME

Australian "Sundowner" a Carefree Wanderer Along the Dusty River Roads of Australia.

And there, a lone pathetic figure on the river road of the Australian bush, is the swagman, the sundowner—thus picturesquely named because of his habit of arriving at a homestead exactly as the sun goes down, and so insuring that he will be offered rations and a place to camp should he desire it. There he stumbles in the crossing wheel tracks, Australia's tramp and wanderer, with an individuality of his own which marks him out from all the wayfarers of the world.

The gray dust of the plains is on his bronzed and bearded face, on his simple dress of Crimean shirt and mole skin trousers, on his rough unblackened boots, on his blanket bundle strapped across his shoulders, on his swinging billy can and dangling ration bags. He carries no staff or stick, but instead a light switch, broken from a willow tree or buddah bush, with which to brush away the myriad persistent flies which follow him in a dancing cloud.

At his heels is a dog which may be the veriest mongrel, or may be a champion sheep dog of purest pedigree and worth anything up to $250. His day's march may be two miles or twenty, according to the goal which he has set himself to reach as the sun goes down. Sometimes he will camp for a day or a week or a month in a bend of the river. Time is of no account to the sundowner on the river road. —Will H. Ogilvie in the King's Highway.

SIMPLE AFTERNOON DRESSES OF BEAUTY

We are told that all the foremost designers, both in France and America, are advocating, with one accord, simplicity in the construction of clothes. Let us be duly and truly thankful, because the inevitable result will be better looking and more artistic garments. There is something so satisfying about a simple dress, with no freakish points in its make-up, and every little ingenious touch in its construction becomes important and gratifying. The two pretty afternoon frocks shown in the picture above are examples of simplicity that is ingenious as well. Satin, which proves the most reliable of all fabrics for dresses of this kind, reveals a plain, straight skirt having a tunic over it irregular in length and finished at the edges with a covered cord of satin. The bodice fastens on the shoulder and along one side, over an underbody, with satin covered buttons. Satin makes the wide, crushed girde with long, pointed ends and the deep, flaring cuffs that are faced with georgette crepe in a light color. Satin and georgette are associated in the dress at the right, the under-skirt being of satin and the bodice and tunic of georgette. But the tunic is bordered with a satin band and a row of small satin-covered buttons appear at each side of this border. The shapeli sleeves are long and extend over the hand a bit. The plaited frill that finishes the neck is of georgette crepe also, but the plain girde is made of the satin. The vogue for simplicity is particularly favorable to afternoon frocks of velvet or velveteen. These are usually one-piece frocks without tunics, but the skirts are draped. There is a liking for three-quarter length sleeves in velvet frocks and for brilliant vestees and handsome lace collars and cuffs. Nothing makes quite so good a background for good faces as these frocks of velvet.

SPORTS TOGS

"Sports Togs" is a short caption for a long story since there are sports togs of many kinds. The most fascinating and interesting of these are the clothes that have borrowed the character of those garments made for real sports wear but not intended for service, just "for looks." The sweater coats and varied scarfs made of silk or wool in many fanciful and fragile ways, the delicate colored headwear and the very handsome skirts of sports silks are all examples of sports clothes made to be admired for their beauty, not for the usefulness to the sportsman. They serve a very useful purpose, however. No matter how elegant and rich their materials these clothes are informal and very smart in character. They are a part of the play—the sports clothes of onlookers—in which they are well enough dressed and not too much dressed for whatever the day may bring.

After the brilliant skirts of heavy, rough silk weaves the most interesting members of the sports family are the scarfs and sweaters that are refined and glorified modifications of their forerunners, the warm woolen scarf and sweater. The new scarfs are in light and brilliant colors, in angora wool and in silk and they are variously made. One pretty new scarf in bright green is crocheted of silk with a fringe at the ends. Other scarfs in light-colored plaids, of angora wool, have a diagonal seam at the center, which allows them to set snugly to the figure when worn over the shoulders. They are finished with fringe in the colors of the scarf. The short knitted sweater-coats of silk or silk fiber usually open at the front and have a sash knitted of the same silk, but there are some very pretty slipover styles with square neck opening at the front from which fall narrow plaitings of fine white lace. The strong yarn golf socks shown in the picture are meant for real service and proud is the possessor of a hand-knitted pair. The pair at the left is knitted in diamond-shaped blocks of contrasting color with cross-bars of black while the other pair is in solid color with bars and dots contrasting.

Julia Bottomly

Saves Much Hand Work. Old lingerie blouses nearly always contain somewhere in sleeves or body enough material for a pretty collar or two. They can be planned many times so a bit of embroidery or lace will make the finish for the collar. Medallions of lace or squares of fine pin tucking can be combined with new material and will make a collar often far more original and pretty than one bought in the store at a pretty price. Sometimes a shallow yoke for a night-gown can be planned from a discarded lingerie waist and much time and labor of fine handwork and embroidery will be saved.

Basque Blouse Ties in Sash. A basque blouse that ties in a sash at the back is made of seal brown georgette. The unique trimming at the front of the blouse is a three-inch band of arched fringe made of iridescent cut steel gunmetal and rose-colored beads. The round neck and short sleeves are piped with self material.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Bonner

TENNESSEE WARBLER.

"I suppose we have such a great deal to tell folks about ourselves," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler to his mate. "Well," said Mrs. Tennessee Warbler, "you might describe me and I might describe you. We both might be too modest about ourselves, and it would be fairer for each to describe the other."

"That's a good suggestion," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler. "Well, who will begin?"

"You begin," said Mrs. Tennessee Warbler.

"No, my love," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler, "but it is true of more things than going. It means that ladies should walk through a door first or enter the nest first, and that they should speak first and be considered first."

"But I'm a little bird," said Mrs. Tennessee Warbler. "I'm not a lady."

"But birds are always behaving like little ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler, "so we had better do it in this case, too. Now, you give the description first. At any rate it's dividing the honors, for if you give the description first it is to be about me, for you're to describe me, and I'm to describe you."

"That's so," said Mrs. Tennessee Warbler; "well, I agree to that. In the first place," she began, "you have a gray head and a beautiful dull, simple, stylish suit of light color, and the back of your suit is of most beautiful greenish blue. By hue I mean color," she explained.

"You shouldn't really be called the Tennessee bird any more than you should be called the bird of any other state or territory or province. But you were seen first in that state, and so you were given your name."

"You look like the vireos, except your little beak is different, as mine is different. Your voice is lovely. It is a cheery little voice like that of the chipping sparrow. Of course some mightn't think so much of your voice, but I like

"What is it?"

It, for it is so sweet and cheerful, and that often means more than beautiful notes.

"And in the winter we live in Central and South America."

"The description you give of me is one which I could give of you, too, except that your head is of the same color as your back and isn't different like mine," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler, "and there are a few things you forgot to tell about us which I will tell."

"We go far up north when it is warm, in the summer time, so we're really great travelers."

"And oh, Mr. Tennessee Warbler, I forgot to say something," said Mrs. Tennessee Warbler, looking up at her mate with her lovely little beaklike eyes.

"What is it you forgot to say?" chirped Mr. Tennessee Warbler.

"I didn't say anything about the nest and the precious eggs. Would folks be interested in hearing about the nest and the eggs?"

"Of course they would, my love," said Mr. Tennessee Warbler.

"We have a nest of grass, lined with soft hair, and we always have it low down, near the ground, on the ground, or in low bushes, don't we, Mr. Warbler?"

"That's the kind of a neighborhood we always want to be in," agreed Mr. Warbler, cocking his head to one side.

"And the eggs," whispered Mrs. Warbler, "are white, with reddish specks on them. They're very lovely, and they make little warblers later on."

"They do," said Mr. Warbler, "and you make a lovely little bird mother, so do they make nice little birdings for the nest."

"I hope they like hearing about the eggs," said Mrs. Warbler, "just hearing about them, and so never hurting them."

"You needn't worry, Mrs. Warbler, no one would hurt a lovely bird and her precious feelings, I feel sure," said her mate.

Jones Was the "It." Jimmy—I say, Mr. Jones, what do you think my sister said about you this evening?" Jones (sister's admirer)—Really, Jimmy, I'll have to give it up.

"Yes, that's what she said. How did you guess it?"—London Answers.

NEW SANATORIUM UNDER WAY

Recent action of the Racine board of supervisors in instructing trustees of Sunny Rest Sanatorium to discharge all tuberculous patients from other counties in order to make room for Racine county patients furnishes a new impetus for speeding up sanatorium construction program in counties now without sanatoria and gives added significance to the tri-county sanatorium campaign now under way in Fond du Lac, Dodge and Washington counties and in several other county groups in other sections of the state. The action of the Racine county board is the result of the overcrowded condition of the sanatorium and of a long waiting list of Racine county patients, it being asserted that there are a number of patients on the waiting list in need of immediate treatment. At the recent meeting of the county board, Judge Palmer of the county court appeared before the supervisors and urged the erection of an addition to the sanatorium, stating that during the present winter many patients had sought treatment who could not be admitted.

That Wisconsin's second tri-county tuberculosis sanatorium will be erected by the group of counties comprising Fond du Lac, Dodge and Washington seems practically assured both by popular sentiment in each of the counties and by official steps which have been taken. The Fond du Lac county board, the first of the three to meet, has led the way for immediate action by its appointment of a sanatorium building committee and by authorizing it to act with similar committees which it is expected will be appointed by the other two counties. The Fond du Lac board has gone far toward eliminating delay in construction by giving its committee, appointed at the January meeting, power to act in the selection and purchase of a site and in the preparation of plans for a model institution which shall be adequate to the needs of the three counties. The committee consists of Supervisors H. F. Northrup of Waupun, S. M. Pedrick of Ripon and J. W. Rosenbaum of Fond du Lac, chairman of the board.

It is expected that similar action will be taken this week by the Dodge county board, its preliminary sanatorium committee being enthusiastically in favor of the tri-county sanatorium plan and next week by the Washington county board. At a recent meeting of members of the county board of the Washington county medical society, and the Commercial club of West Bend, resolutions endorsing the plan of joining with Fond du Lac and Dodge counties in the erection of a sanatorium and urging the county board to take the necessary action were adopted. Such strength of sentiment developed that the prediction was freely made that no supervisor would feel justified in voting against the proposition.

Plymouth Self-Feed ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter:

AUTOMATIC SELF-FEED—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

DANGER-PROOF SELF-FEED ROLLERS—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8 inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic, and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

WOMAN'S TROUBLE

Saginaw, Mich.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Pellets and they cured me of my ailment. A few years ago I was taken with a bad case of feminine trouble. I was sick about six months. I felt miserable. MILO EVANS, Box 1.

Bay City, Mich.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my family for over thirty years and I think everyone related to me has used them and was cured. I have taken both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' as well, whenever I was not feeling right. I never need a doctor. Dr. Pierce's medicines have been my 'family doctor' for years. I can recommend them to all. If directions are followed they will always do the work."—MRS. ELIZABETH DENISON, 1008 N. Johnson St.

Make Progress in Philippine Islands

Woman Has Advanced in Professional and Industrial Life, Says One of Them.

IS HUSBAND'S REAL PARTNER

Shares With Him the Cares of Business, Especially in Its Financial Aspects—Many Take Up Legal Profession.

New York—Mrs. Jalme De Veyra, wife of one of the representatives of the Philippine Islands to the United States, has recently been visiting women's clubs in New York city, telling what she has already told the women of Washington. They have fine systems of education, she says, good schools, and a high degree of economic usefulness. Mrs. De Veyra wore, in giving her talks, one of the beautiful gowns of the Philippines, a delicate pineapple fabric, hand-woven and hand-embroidered, shaped like a gauzy-winged butterfly.

"Things are made very easy for the Filipino woman in many ways," she said. "The professional opportunities are as good for her as for the men. Women are already members of the Philippine Bar association—something which is impossible for the women of Great Britain—they are in business for themselves, and they are successful practicing physicians. Laws made for our women combine the best of Spanish and American precedents. Made Easy for Women.

"Everything has been made much more simple for us than for either the American or Spanish women. Married women hold their property in severalty, and they are guardians of their own children. Of the property which accrues to a married couple, the wife has half administratrix, and these are vested rights which cannot be taken from her. It is not unusual for the mother of a family to have not only a household leadership, but economic control. M. De Veyra, who is interested in history, tells me that before the Spanish came we had a matriarchal system, and this has made the Philippine women self-respecting and valiant.

"Of our 3,141 islands, only 400 are inhabited, the principal ones being Luzon, Mindanao and Visayas; yet even in rural little Barrios you will find some sort of a woman leader. One

Expect Many U. S. Students

French Universities Look for Influx of Americans.

University Union Preparing to Receive and Advise Seekers After Knowledge.

Paris—Next year is likely to see a great influx of American students to French universities, in the opinion of H. S. Krans, secretary of the American university union in France.

Mr. Krans' new Paris headquarters, facing the Luxembourg gardens, are being fitted up to receive and advise seekers after knowledge from overseas.

Founded shortly after America's entrance in the war, by fifteen of the leading American universities and colleges, the union now has thirty-three American-learned institutions on its membership list, including Harvard.

Sand Digger Quits Work When He Finds Fortune

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Fortune just laughed right out loud in the face of a humble sand digger here recently.

Thirteen hundred and fifty dollars, thoroughly wet from its long immersion on the bottom of the Ohio river, but still good, spendable money, was scooped up in his bucket. As no owner's name appeared in the wallet, the finder claimed the coin by right of discovery and immediately quit his job by right of affluence.

Merciful Provision. Jud Thurman thinks the reason Nature gave a hen so little intelligence is to keep her from knowing how much an egg costs and feeling ashamed of herself.

France in Dire Need of Sugar

Famine is Likely to Last for Three Years.

Shells Render the Ground Unfit for the Production of Beets.

Solssons, France.—The sugar shortage in France, due to the German invasion, will not be relieved for three years, according to government reports and commercial statistics furnished to the correspondent of the Associated Press by the authorities who arranged his trip of inspection through devastated regions to witness reconstruction work. Of the country's 206 raw sugar plants, 145 virtually were razed during the war, the figures show, and most of the half-million acres of sugar-beet land were devastated by the ravages of battle.

None of the larger sugar plants has resumed business because of lack of buildings, and sugar beet production this year was said to be almost nil. Both of these conditions are due in a measure to insufficient transportation facilities. Estimates of a special committee of the chamber of deputies, which forecast a sugar shortage lasting three years, however, gave encouragement for half the normal output of the country within two years.

At the present time, the absence of sugar in France has resulted in the inability of persons holding sugar cards to get any of the commodity for weeks at a time. Raising of sugar beets virtually has ceased in six of the eight beet-raising departments, due to the churning of the ground by shell explosions, the necessity of clearing away unexploded ammunition and the presence of barbed wire and other debris. About one-twentieth of the land is considered useless for many years, and at least one-third is declared to have suffered depreciation of half its value. The loss in land is in addition to the destruction of buildings and the stripping or removal of machinery.

Direct loss to plants in the sugar industry is estimated by the chamber committee to be 675,000,000 francs.

U.S. Wounded Go 4,000 Miles

Two Hundred Brought to Red Cross Hospital at Vladivostok From Western Front.

Washington.—Transported 4,000 miles from the far western front in Russia, more than 200 wounded American soldiers arrived recently in Vladivostok and were received in the military hospital of the American Red Cross only a few days after the anniversary of the signing of the armistice which brought the activities of the American expeditionary forces in France to an end.

The hospital which was taken over from the British naval authorities by the Red Cross, will accommodate 300 patients. The civilian hospital which the Red Cross had maintained has been closed.

Eight girls from the Red Cross Petrograd children's colony, located on Russian island, have been brought to Vladivostok to enter hospital training.

They were driven from Petrograd two years ago by the bolshevik and formed part of the small army of children under the care of the Red Cross in Russia.

Wrote Her 10,000 Letters. London.—A record for courtship love letters was revealed in the South-west county court when Miss Maud Birch testified that her former lover, William George Cooke, a discharged soldier, had sent her 10,000 tender missives. The Society for American Fellowship in French universities is planning to send twenty Americans each year to the Sorbonne and other French seats of learning; nor will the Alsian university of Strasbourg be neglected. Twenty-five scholarships for American girls in France already are filled.

Adapt With Needs. "Mme. Calderon is a successful business woman, owning a fish farm and an embroidery enterprise. This industrial problem has not reached the Filipino women to any great extent except through the cigar factories and in embroidery. There are, I believe, five big American embroidery firms in the Philippines, and one of them in Manila employs 7,000 women. Everything in the underwear business, except the weaving of cloth, is done by hand; the hemstitching and even the seams are sewed by hand.

"All of the pineapple cloth is made by the women in their homes on handmade looms, made by an ordinary carpenter. Comparatively little of it is made nowadays, for it is slow work, and the women cannot afford to do it. "We are interested in the Philippines in progressive legislation, in public health measures and day nurseries, and the women have introduced a profit-sharing plan in Ilihid and other prisons. They have introduced police matrons and industrial teachers for the insane.

WINDBREAK FOR LIVE STOCK

Good Protection From Winter Winds and Gives Animals Chance to Stay Outdoors.

Right now when the winter winds are blowing there are many farmers who wish they had a windbreak on the exposed side of their homes. They are a fine protection for live stock and give the cows a chance to spend sunny days outside when the cold winds would otherwise be very uncomfortable. If the soil is not too moist the Norway spruce makes a satisfactory windbreak. The white pine is also quite generally used for that purpose.

CORN WEEVIL IS EASY TO HANDLE

Florida County Agent Reports Most Valuable Work in Control of Harmful Insect.

SERIES OF MEETINGS HELD

As a Result of Illustrated Lectures Great Many Farmers Have Built Tight Crib for Proper Housing and Fumigation of Corn.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The Marion county (Florida) agricultural agent, co-operating with the bureau of entomology's field agent in Florida, reports his most valuable work to be controlling the corn weevil. During the current season approximately 850,000 bushels of corn were raised in his county. The agent held a series of meetings and gave illustrated lectures about the evils and control of the corn weevil, with the result that a great many farmers have built tight cribs for the proper housing and fumigation of their corn, and as a direct consequence many thousands of bushels of corn have been salvaged.

CRIB IS FIRST ESSENTIAL

An airtight crib large enough to store a reasonable amount of corn is the first essential in combating the weevil. It is also necessary that the corn be thoroughly dry to prevent heating before it is placed in the cribs for fumigation. The best results usually follow where the husks are removed from the corn, so that the grain can be placed in an open crib for a period of ten to fifteen days where it will have access to plenty of light and air. This also operates to free the grain from the weevil, which cannot withstand light, especially sunlight.

APPLY CARBON DISULPHID

After the corn is thoroughly dry, it should be placed in an airtight crib and four pounds of carbon disulphid should be applied for each 1,000 cubic feet of space in the crib. If the husks are not removed, the quantity should not be made on damp or rainy days, as too much moisture prevents speedy evaporation. A second fumigation should be performed within 25 to 30 days after the first.

Ordinarily, two fumigations are sufficient to save the corn crop, although it is essential to watch the grain closely thereafter, and, if necessary, to make use of the carbon disulphid treatment a third time.

HARM BY WHITE ANTS CAN BE CONTROLLED

Insects Are Especially Injurious to Foundation Timbers.

Woodwork Can Be Protected From Attacks of Bugs by Proper Construction—Coal Tar Creosote is Quite Efficient.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Damage by white ants is serious to many classes of crude and finished forest products. These insects are especially injurious to foundation timbers and woodwork of buildings and to material stored therein. Damage to timber in contact with the ground is especially serious in the South.

The woodwork of buildings can be protected from the attack of white ants by proper construction and these insects can be eliminated where already established, say entomologists. Where possible make the foundation of buildings entirely of stone, brick, or concrete, including stone columns or pillars in the basement to support the floor above; make walls and flooring in basement or cellar of concrete, and lay concrete floors on a gravel base.

Where stone or concrete foundations are impracticable, use timber impregnated with coal-tar creosote.

Lay basement window sills and frames over concrete and do not allow woodwork to come in contact with the ground. Never sink untreated timber in ground or moist concrete; let no wood be in contact with the ground.

Complete dryness of the foundation and basement walls and flooring is an important means of rendering buildings safe from attack; therefore, provide for air spaces between the ground and wooden flooring and lay concrete floors on a gravel base.

Promptly examine the foundation timbers and other woodwork in the basement to determine the approximate point of entrance and the extent of damage already accomplished. After removing the damaged wood dress the ground with kerosene oil.

Then replace damaged timber with rock, brick, concrete or metal work; or substitute, for the foundation, timbers impregnated with coal-tar creosote.

Since termites always require access to damp earth, shut off this source of moisture and the insects will not be able to extend their galleries further and will perish.

Full information concerning the control of this pest is contained in Farmers' Bulletin 1037.

vested in 1918. Based on reports received from the packers as to the average yield per acre this year, it is estimated 2,162,036 bushels were produced in 1919 on the contracted acreage reported, as compared with 6,818,322 bushels in 1918. No stock procured in the open market is included in the above estimates.

FEEDING TABLE

Frequently no scales are at hand when the feeder is trying to feed a balanced ration. The following estimates of the common feeding stuffs will be handy: A quart measure of cottonseed meal weighs 1.5 pounds; wheat bran (coarse), 5 pound; wheat middlings (coarse), 8 pound; wheat middlings (fine), 11 pounds; mixed wheat feed 6 pound; cornmeal, 1.5 pounds; oats, 1.2 pounds; rye bran, 6 pound; linseed meal, 1.1 pounds; gluten, 1.2 pounds.

MANURE APPLIED IN WINTER

No Better Place Than on Fall-Sown Crops—Practically No Loss of Valuable Fertility.

If stable manure of any kind is available during the winter, there is no better place to apply it than on the fall-sown cover crops, or on clover and grass sods. When thus applied, there will be practically no loss of fertility—much less than if the manure is kept in yards, especially if uncovered.

COPY OF LAW

REGARDING SNOW REMOVAL ON HIGHWAYS

This law is published upon the request of The County State Road and Bridge Committee so that the public at large and town officials may acquaint themselves with it.

Section 1317 (6) (a) Whenever a street, highway, or alley is maintained by any town, village or city, the town, village or city shall make every reasonable effort to keep said streets, highways and alleys open for all travel during the winter months, and shall use such means of accomplishing the necessary results as the statutes provide.

(b) Whenever any highway or street shall be maintained by the county, at either county or state expense, or both, such maintenance shall in no way impose upon the county the duty of keeping such highway or street free from snow and open for travel during the winter season. The removal of snow on said streets and highways shall be the duty of the town, village or city in which they lie, and the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection shall apply. Any county board may, at any meeting, provide that the county will remove snow during the winter season from any highway or street maintained by the county, in which case the county shall be responsible for the proper removal of snow to allow all customary modes of travel, and the cost of such snow removal shall be paid by the county out of such funds as the county board may provide by county tax or otherwise.

At the discretion of the county board, the board may, by resolution, charge not to exceed fifty per cent of the cost of the removal of snow from any highway or street subject to county snow removal, to the unit of government in which said removal is performed. In no case shall the cost of snow removal under the provisions of this paragraph be charged to any maintenance funds received from the state. In case a county board, after adopting a road for snow removal, shall desire to relinquish the snow removal during the succeeding winter, it may do so by resolution, and snow removal on the said road or street shall revert to the control of the unit of government in which the same may lie, and the provisions of paragraph (a) of this subsection shall apply.

(c) If any town, village, city or county shall fail to keep open to travel during the winter season any portion of the state trunk highway system which the state highway commission shall determine the public interest demands should be kept open for travel during the winter season, the state highway commission may direct the county state road and bridge committee to keep such road or street open to travel during the winter season, and the cost of any such work shall be paid by the county out of any county funds which may be appropriated, and the county board at its next meeting shall provide for the payment of the same by the county tax or otherwise, and may charge not to exceed fifty per cent of the cost of such removal to the unit of government in which said removal took place. In no case shall the state highway commission order any section of the state trunk highway system kept open for travel in the manner specified in this paragraph unless the state highway commission shall have received a petition signed by at least (50) persons certifying that they would not travel with vehicles the portion of the highway in question in the pursuit of their ordinary avocations if it were open for travel during the winter season.

(d) Nothing in this subsection shall be interpreted to impose upon any town, village, city or county, the duty of making, passable for travel any portion of a highway, street, or alley during or after snow storms when the necessary work would impose an unreasonable public expense. The term "unreasonable public expense" shall be interpreted to mean an expense which in the opinion of the court is unreasonable in view of the public benefit which would accrue from making passable for travel the said portion.

Old Friends are True Friends

The man, who loves a dog and a pipe, has two staunch friends that never fail him in good luck or in bad. They give all and ask nothing in return. Day by day they become nearer and dearer to him. The man who has not a dog and a pipe has missed two of the greatest things this good old world can give.

Every man who loves his pipe should know Velvet, the one tobacco that brings out all of a pipe's best and sweetest qualities. Your pipe takes on an added friendliness from Velvet's choice Kentucky leaf aged in the wood to a mellowness that's rich and smooth as cream.

Your pipe takes on a mild sweetness that is Velvet's natural tobacco sweetness. And around you hovers the real tobacco fragrance that all good pipe smokers love.

Never did Velvet Joe say a wiser, truer thing than this:

"Folks say you can't buy friendship. You can buy a dog and a pipe and good old Velvet—and I reckon no man ever had three better friends."

Leggett & Clark

There's a lot of pipe-loads in every big generous tin of Velvet, and every pipe-load is good tobacco at its best.
