BIG FOOD EXPOSITION AT MILWAUKEE

It is an accomplished fact that an indoor exposition of the Industrial and Agricultural products of Wisconsin will be shown in Milwaukee in 1920.

The "Made in Wisconsin" Exposition, which was planned last fall under the direction of the Milwaukee Journal, in co-operation with a number of experienced exposition managers and committees, will be the only indoor home products show in 1920. The dates set in January for this Exposition, were from May 22nd to May 30th—the place, the big Milwaukee Auditorium in its entirety.

The necessity of an exhibition of the many and varied products of Wisconsin, together with the educational lectures, is very apparent. There has been no similar character exhibition held since 1912.

Invitations have been sent throughout the state, asking communities, county organizations, associations of Commerce and the manufacturers, to make space in the forthcoming May Exhibition, and help to educate the people as to the splendid resources, both natural and manufacturing of Wisconsin. Not only Milwaukee firms but representatives of the Exposition are making a tour of the various cities and communities in enlisting state-wide co-operation.

Special features of the proposed Exposition will be the beautiful interior decorations of the Auditorium; special prizes in silver cups for working and manufacturing demonstration exhibits; a profile soil map, made of dirt, sod, miniature trees, etc., of Wisconsin, 40 x 50 feet in size, in one of the side halls of the Auditorium, will be one of the most costly and educational exhibits of the entire Exposition. Five big silver community cups will be awarded as prizes. Expert lectures and moving pictures will show the natural scenic beauties of our State. A special concert band of fifty pieces will bring forth music lovers from all over the state. It is proposed to ask for reduced excursion rates during that period. The members of the various civic organizations will take part in an opening Milwaukee night. The state officials will have a special Wisconsin night.

It is expected that over four hundred exhibitors will participate in this "Made in Wisconsin" Exposition, using for a slogan, "Home Goods for Home People." 100,000 square feet of floor space has been engaged, with a possibility of adding 20,000 more square feet, by putting up the mezzanine platform around the Auditorium arena, which was constructed and used for exhibition during the recent big Automobile Show.

A popular 25 cent rate of admission will be charged and advantageous arrangements and terms for making exhibits have been decided upon.

DEATH OF FORMER ST. KILIAN RESIDENT

At the St. Joseph's hospital at Marshfield occurred the death of Peter Strachota, early Sunday morning, Mr. Strachota had been ailing for a few days with inflammatory rheumatism, which is attributed as the cause of his death. Deceased was born in June, 1876, one mile west of St. Kilian, where he spent his boyhood days, later he was united in marriage to Miss Agnes Hall of Campbellport. This union was blessed with nine children, seven of whom with their grief stricken mother survive, and whose names are: Agnes, Esther, Alice, Lucie, Helen, Walter and Peter Jr., all at home with the exception of Esther and Alice who are attending school at Madison. Leonard and Laura preceded their father in death several years ago. The funeral was held Thursday at 9 a. m., with services in the Catholic church at Stratford, Wis. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. Mr. Strachota's death came as a great shock to all his relatives and friends, as he was able to be around a short time prior to his death. He is well known in this vicinity. He left St. Kilian about twenty-one years ago, settling near Athens, Wis., where he conducted a sawmill, and later engaged in the hotel business at Wausau for a short time when he removed to Stratford, Wis., where he conducted a saloon business until twelve years ago when he engaged in farming near the latter place, he was also engaged in live stock dealing until the time of his death. He was an industrious young man of sterling character, honest in his dealing with everyone and highly esteemed by all who knew him. Those who attended the funeral from afar were: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Strachota, Simon Strachota, Henry Strobel, Andrew Flaseh and Rosa Strobel, all of St. Kilian.

GET-TOGETHER MEETING AT WEST BEND

A new innovation, the first of the kind ever undertaken by any auto company in this county and the outcome of which, both from the standpoint of sociability and as a business-getter will be keenly anticipated by those in charge, is to be carried out in West Bend on Wednesday, March 17. The occasion is a "get together meeting," arranged by C. M. Nielsen and R. M. Hansen of the West Bend Motor Co. These gentlemen are planning to bring before the people of Washington county the methods of present-day motoring and farm utilities and with this purpose in view have arranged a programme which will not only be entertaining but instructive to all mechanically inclined. The morning programme will begin at 10 a. m. and will be continuous until 1:30 at the Motor Co.'s building. Visitors will be allowed to make an inspection of the plant and its repair shop, while factory representatives will be in attendance to explain power farm equipment. At the afternoon session, which begins at 2 o'clock at the Mernac theater, there will be an address by A. W. L. Gilpin, one of the best known men in the motor world, and who at present holds the responsible position as manager of the Milwaukee branch of the Ford Motor Co. Mr. Gilpin is an authority on motor construction and is an entertaining speaker, the kind who can put just enough humor in his talk so as not to be tiresome. He will be followed by John Reilly, a farmer and power farm enthusiast of Fond du Lac county. A movie film—"A Hunk of Tin," "Keep the Boy on the Farm"—will conclude the day's programme. Messrs. Nielsen and Hansen are striving to make this "get together meeting" a success and in order to induce motorists and others to manifest interest in the meeting will give a number of prizes, the first prize to be a barrel of oil; second, set of chains; third, spark plug. Tickets will be given out at the company's salesroom during the morning and will be collected as you enter the theater in the afternoon. A good time is in store for everybody. Whether or not you own a car, come anyway and get acquainted. The programme will be free to everybody. All those desiring to attend from this vicinity should be at the depot at Kewaskum by 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Our local Ford dealer, A. A. Ferschbacher will be at the depot to accompany you.

EICHSTEAD-KLUEVER WEDDING

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eichstead on Saturday, March 6th, when their youngest daughter Lena A. became the bride of Ervin Kluever. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mohme at 5:30 o'clock in the town of Wayne. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white messaline and georgette over draper gown, her veil being arranged in a crown effect, caught with sweet peas. She carried a bouquet of yellow bridal roses and ferns. Miss Elsie Doepke, who acted as bridesmaid carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. Art Kluever, brother of the groom was best man. After the ceremony a five course wedding supper was served to only nearest relatives. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eichstead, and is one of the town of Wayne's most popular ladies. The groom is a son of Henry Kluever of the town of Barton, where he is an industrious young farmer with a large host of friends, who wish that their luck in wedded life be as deep as the ocean, and their sorrows as light as its foam. The newly weds will make their future home in the city of West Bend, after April 1st.

WHY COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you: Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases. People who contract pneumonia first take cold. The longer a cold hangs on, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less the danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and can be depended upon. It is pleasant to take.

OUR GIRLS LOSE AT MILWAUKEE

After not playing for two years, and with only a few weeks of practice in basket shooting, the local city girls basket ball team journeyed to Cudahy last week Saturday evening, where they played the Federal Rubber Company girls' basket ball team of that place, losing by a score of 13 to 16. According to the method of advertising, the management of the Federal team used prior to the game, this contest was to have been for the state title (?). We do not understand, however, how the Federal team can make no have the nerve to claim themselves to be contenders for the qualification of a good team, let alone the state title. Out of the five hundred fans who witnessed the game four hundred at least together with the members of the Milwaukee Athletic Club openly admitted that our girls are state champions, and the article of ball they put up well deserves that credit in full measure, and absolutely denounces the Federal team in claiming such honors. However, the game was lost,—Why? The following article written by a member of the Milwaukee Athletic Club has the following to say in the Wisconsin News of Tuesday evening, March 9th, fully explaining the game: "An Ardent Fan writes to THE WISCONSIN NEWS protesting the win of the Federal Girls over the Kewaskum Girls Saturday night on the Federal's floor. He claims that the Federals were handed the game by their own referee, and that they were outplayed by the upstate girls throughout. He further accuses the Federals of stalling in the second half, when the Kewaskum team tried to make a fast game of it. This fan does not see how the Federal girls can claim the championship by winning such a game." With the encouragement given our girls they took their defeat in a true sportsmanlike manner, satisfied in saying: "We are still champions of the state," and challenge any team who claim themselves to be contenders for that title." After the game our girls were guests of the Milwaukee Athletic Club and surely appreciate the royal manner in which they were entertained and the courtesy extended to them by the club, for which they express their sincere thanks. The Home Defense girls team of Milwaukee will play our girls at the Opera House some time after Easter. Watch for further particulars."

The game scheduled last Sunday evening between the Heppes Specials and the West Bend Junior team at the Opera House did not materialize on account of the visitors not showing up. On Saturday evening, March 10th, the local A. C. team will play the strong Hartford city team at the Opera House. The Hartford team now claims the county championship for reason that the Slinger team refused to play Hartford. Consequently this game will be the first game of a series for the county championship. It will also mark the closing game of the season for the city team.

Chambers' Food.
The proper diet of chamberlains and librarians consists of flies and other insects; also meat worms, and the common idea that sugar and water will serve in winter is incorrect. A good many of these animals perish from the winter months and all of them need warmth and sunshine as well as water. They are difficult to keep in health, and if not given their natural food will starve to death in time, though their ability to fast for long periods is well known.

MESSAGE FROM MADISON, S. D.

Christ Tischauser of Madison, South Dakota in a letter to the Statesman has the following to say:

Madison, March 8th, 1920.

To the Dear Publishers and Readers of the Statesman:—

As I was the first correspondent from Elmore at the start of the Statesman, I feel it to be my duty to report still longer from time to time from Madison, South Dakota. The month of January and three weeks of February were exceptions in winter weather.

Our contractors only lost a day in their work, and certainly were kept busy putting up the following buildings: The Leader Publishers new office was completed last fall; the Berther and Robinson furniture store; the Lutheran church, are about finished, the men were forced to leave their work on account of lack of material. A large garage built by the road company, covering three lots on West Center street will soon be completed. Work on building a new Baptist church at the beginning of February, the basement of same having been completed before, and on the 1st of March at 2 P. M. the corner stone was laid at which a large number of the members of the congregation and other congregations together with several ministers attended. The occasion was celebrated with nice sunny weather, but at 12 o'clock that night a blizzard swept over this section, lasting all next day and into the night, blocking our sidewalks, public highways and railroads so badly that traffic was at a standstill for two days. It seemed that the good weather we had in January and February would now have its revenge. Contractor Backmeier has completed the Crane Bros. storage and shipping building, his lumber yard building is also nearing completion. He will start work on the Hexon Monument garage building on Main street next week. The brick laying on the new hospital will also be completed soon. Besides the building that has been going on the past winter, many citizens have moved to our city since last fall and houses are scarce. A lot of property is also changing hands at high prices. Will close now, but will furnish the readers a peculiar love story soon, such as I have never heard of before. Truly yours,

Christ Tischauser.

LET'S ALL UNITE FOR A HEALTHY CITY

The movement to secure pure water is widespread. Standards of purity are becoming higher. It has been found that to sell pure water pays better than to sell impure water. In fact, where waterworks properties have passed from private to municipal ownership, depreciation due to pollution has been recognized by the courts and the award has been lowered because the water supply was contaminated.

Many of the factors involved in these undertakings are pertinent to Kewaskum as our village faces the necessity of providing more modern methods of sewage disposal and water supply.

Wells as a principal source of water supply where privy vaults and cesspools abound have often been the cause of typhoid fever outbreaks. With the substitution of municipal pipe supplies, the well becomes a factor of comparatively little moment in city typhoid. Experience has even shown that sometimes in loose, coarse gravel or in seamy shale and limestone formations, wells may become infected from sources of pollution situated at long distances, and have even been known to be the cause of much sickness. Outbreaks of typhoid fever from infected well water continue to be reported from time to time.

The source of infection of well water with typhoid and dysentery bacilli is the excreta of persons infected with the specific germs. If such excreta can be kept out of drinking water, or if the germs can be removed from it after it has become infected, the problem is solved and this can be done at a not prohibitive expense.

According to Chapin, a national authority, a plentiful supply of pure water can only be furnished through a system of mains operated by a public or quasi-public corporation. His investigations disclosed that a majority of the waterworks systems are owned by the municipalities.

Sanitary engineers and health authorities are agreed as to the safety of ground waters. Taken from artesian or moderately deep driven wells, ground waters are almost invariably safe against infection; the natural filtration on which the water receives in the ground is almost invariably a sufficient protection.

The gradual decline in typhoid mortality throughout the country is attributed chiefly to better water supplies and a more logical sanitary regime based on the germ theory of disease. It is predicted that the disease will be all but obliterated as the findings of sanitary science are generally put into practice. A number of years ago infected water probably caused more typhoid fever than all the other causes combined. This is not the case today, although it is still the most important cause. The long continued struggle for pure water is bearing fruit, and all who have the welfare of Kewaskum at heart will favor any plan seeking to protect her citizens from the dangers of disease through drinking water.

There are other highly important factors in this problem. Public water supplies mean increased cleanliness in the home and the advantages of bathtubs, lavatories, laundries and kitchen sinks with running water. Only the housewife can fully appreciate what the convenience of hot and cold running water at all times really means as a time-and-labor-saver. Although the men of the household benefit also, their work is usually elsewhere, and it is the wife and mother who throughout the day must carry the water under the old order of things. Pumped water must be heated over a special fire, which means extra fuel and time. piped municipal water, on the other hand, can be heated during much of the year in the hot water tank connected with the furnace, at no extra expense, and is available at every hour of the day and night for instant use. The act of washing dishes would lose half its repugnance for some when these convenient facilities are at hand.

As a factor in personal cleanliness a public water supply is no less important. Bathrooms and lavatories for washing and bathing purposes are modern essentials in the movement for public health. Where these are lacking, the natural tendency often is to neglect personal ablutions, and sanitary science has shown that this neglect spells illness and loss of vitality, and that it predisposes to disease. Bathing in sanitary bathtubs with hot and cold water on tap easily becomes a fixed habit, where otherwise it may be a distasteful duty easy to postpone. A clean body conduces to clean living.

To remedy bad conditions in any town costs some money, but it always pays. A reputation as a healthy city is a municipal asset which the modern city nor craves. From the standpoint merely of convenience the adoption of both these systems will amply justify the expenditure. Several communities of Kewaskum size have recently voted to proceed with similar projects and others are giving the subject earnest consideration. Their fulfillment will mark a distinct advance in municipal improvement.

But Doan's Effected a Complete Recovery After Other Remedies Failed. Now in Good Health. Mrs. J. A. Stutsworth, E. Bell Ave., Red Key, Ind., says: "Kidney trouble came on me suddenly and before I realized it I was in a critical condition. My body bloated and my feet and ankles swelled like toy balloons. My kidney secretions burned terribly in passage. My face puffed up and the flesh under my eyes and on my cheeks hung down in folds. I had another thing, when I thought I would die. So much water had collected under my skin, I weighed 176 pounds, a gain of 45 pounds. My sight failed and little black specks passed before my eyes. I felt drowsy and was so nervous, I couldn't stand the least noise. Rheumatism pains darted all through me and it felt as if every nerve in my body was affected. Medicine didn't help me and I had little hope or strength left. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they restored me to health. I am now well and strong." Sworn to before me. M. W. Hens Pool Efforts and Assist in Putting Boys Through Agricultural College.

REAL MONEY WAS AT STAKE

Contest Suggested by State Leader of Connecticut, Who Had Co-Operation of Extension Specialist of University.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Now honors are due "Biddy," the barnyard fowl, since 225 of her have pooled their efforts and are helping put three boys from Goshen, Conn., through Connecticut agricultural college. The hens, which now reside not far from the college, are doing a mighty good job too, for the boys know how to care for them. In fact, the boys' interest in college, hens as well, goes back to their membership in the Goshen Poultry club, one of two organizations that engaged in a contest intended to show what intelligent care can do in raising poultry.

Marathon Race. It was a Marathon race, so to speak, that lasted over a year, the finish taking place last October. And it was a race for real money, $1,000 being the prize. Strangely enough, both sides won. A net profit of $1,000 from each group of hens in a period of one year was the goal set for each club, and both groups cleared considerably more than that amount. Eleven boys living near Goshen (including the three now attending their flocks while going to college) constituted one club, and the other, known as the West Hartford Poultry Club, was composed of boys living near Hartford. The unique contest was suggested by the State club leader of Connecticut, who had the co-operation of the poultry extension specialist of the agricultural college.

Rivalry Between Clubs. In a sense each club was racing against time to see if its hens, which aggregated approximately 400, could be made to produce $1,000 profit in a year. Naturally also there was rivalry between the two clubs to see which would make the biggest showing. Both clubs held monthly meetings at which each boy reported regarding his flock—the number of hens, the number of eggs laid, the amount of scratch feed and dry mash used. More than one boy received kindly but pointed criticism of his methods when reports showed poor egg production. At the close of the club year the West Hartford club had made a profit of $3,324 a year, while the Goshen club did even better, with a profit of $4 a bird. Thus each club surpassed its goal by a wide margin.

Inspired by this success, the three Goshen boys have gone to college, taking their hens with them. The birds, all of which were raised last summer by club members, have been true to their trust, laying eggs more prized than the golden variety laid by the legendary goose.

MARKETING IS BIG PROBLEM. High Prices Must Remain Until Farmer Is Able to Sell Produce at Less Expense. Marketing is still the greatest problem farmers have to solve. Until farmers can sell at less expense and to better advantage, city consumers will continue to complain at the cost of living. The wasted labor, the wasted products and the extortionate cost of handling farm products are draining the farms and costing city laborers their hard earnings to live.

PLANS ARE MOST ENJOYABLE. Fascinating to Look Into Future Arrangement of Garden for More Satisfactory Returns. The making of plans is one of the most enjoyable features of gardening. It is exceedingly interesting to review operations of past seasons, but it is fascinating to look into the future and to make plans which we hope will result in more satisfactory returns.

THOROUGHLY WASH UTENSILS. Receptacles of Any Kind That Have Contained Milk Should Be Cleaned Immediately. The sooner the utensils that have contained milk or been in contact with it are washed the easier the job will be, and the more thoroughly it can be done, and the utensils, if of iron or tin, will last longer.

SUDAN GRASS PROVES MOST VALUABLE CROP

Interesting Tests Made at Kansas State College.

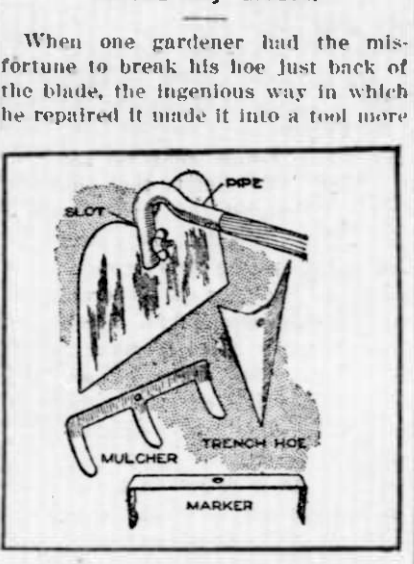

Not Only Good as Other Pastures, But Is Equal to a Silage, Grain and Alfalfa Hay Ration—Cows Held Up Milk Yield.

Sudan grass, when used for pasturing stock, is not only as good as other pastures, but is equal to a silage, grain and alfalfa hay ration, according to an experiment carried on by the Kansas State Agricultural college during the past summer. Six grade Holstein cows were put on four acres of Sudan grass. July 1, and were not taken off until October 10. The cows used in this experiment were taken off of a ration of silage, grain and alfalfa hay, when they were placed on the Sudan grass. After they were on the pasture they were fed only a grain ration of corn, bran, and linseed meal in proportion to their milk production. These cows held up in their milk production throughout the summer.

The greatest significance of this experiment is that Sudan grass will supply pasture during the hot summer months when other pastures fail, and that cows on this pasture will yield as well as those being fed a regular ration of silage, grain, and alfalfa hay.

COMBINATION TOOL IS HANDY

Blades Made to Fit Handle of Hoe for Performing Various Tasks Around Any Garden. When one gardener had the misfortune to break his hoe just back of the blade, the ingenious way in which he repaired it made it into a tool more useful than before. He bent a piece of pipe to the shape shown, fastened the handle firmly with a pin, drilled another hole, sawed a slot, and fastened the blade with a bolt and wing nut. Blades were then made in various shapes, any one of which could be fastened in the same slot in the piece of pipe. This one tool did the work of three or four.—Elnor O. Pitzlaff, Cleora, Ill., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Useful combination tool.

SHELTER SWINE IN WINTER. It is Essential That Young Porks Be Provided With Well Ventilated, Dry Quarters. Pregnant sows in summer can be turned on tender, succulent pasture without grain. About three weeks before farrowing they should receive a ration of rolled barley or wheat meal parts and tankage one part, or three pounds of skim milk to one pound of the above grains. This method of feeding will insure strong, lusty, active, new-born pigs. It is very essential that fall pigs be provided with dry and well protected shelter during the winter, and kept free of lice.

ATTEND TO NEEDED REPAIRS

Don't Wait Until Tractor Has Stopped Before Making Investigation of Engine. Attend to needed repairs immediately. Don't wait till something goes to smash on your tractor before stopping. Such a course means money lost for additional repairs and for extra time lost. It is the novice that will run when he thinks his engine needs repairing. The good operator will stop as soon as he thinks all is not as it should be.

OLD IDEA IS PROVEN WRONG

Experiment Stations Show That Standard-Bred Poultry Is More Profitable Than Scrubs. The old idea that standard-bred poultry would not give as good results as the mixed or scrubs has long ago been proven false in egg-laying contests and by experiment stations which have thoroughly tried out both sides of the question.

KEEP BUSY ON STORMY DAYS

Splendid Opportunity for Making Necessary Supply of Flats and Plant Boxes. It is difficult to get too many flats or plant boxes on hand. Stormy days can be used to advantage in making a supply. Use sound lumber and make them uniform in size and shape, so there will be no loss of space in the frames and on the greenhouse bench.

MAKE PROFIT RAISING HOGS

Necessary That Pigs Be Given Best of Attention and Feed to Make Business Pay. A pig is responsive to good care and feed. Under the present economic conditions it is necessary that the pig be given the best care and the right kind of feed in order to make hog raising a real paying proposition.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

CAMPBELL CAMEL CHATS.

"Well, folks, I'm glad to see you at the zoo. In the winter there aren't so many of you, but those who've come are very nice, indeed. I have no objection in the least to my I see. No objection." "Of course," Campbell Camel continued, "if anyone should ask me why I have no objection I wouldn't know. I'm not blessed with many brains. Although I'm not sure whether it is a blessing to have brains. Think what a trouble they would be. I'm so glad I'm stupid and dull and all such things which it's easy to be. "If I had brains I might cause myself an awful lot of trouble. And it isn't wise for any creature to cause themselves any more trouble than is necessary—especially so when they want to spend most of their time idly chattering. "To be sure I will carry grown-ups on my back. I will do that obligingly, and other loads, too, including children and packages. "But I am most extremely glad about the brains and that I have so few. "Why, if I had brains," Campbell Camel continued, "I would have to take them out at night and put them to bed and maybe sing them to sleep. And in the morning I'd have to wash their faces and smooth their hair and everything like that. I'd have to brush their teeth, perhaps. It's quite a troublesome thing to do and I suppose I should follow the fashion about this. "And they might want to hear stories, funny stories and sad stories, which would make them weep so they'd have to use their handkerchiefs. "I'd have to get them handkerchiefs, too. That would be a nuisance. I'd have to go to a shop for them and folks in the shop might like to see me. They might wait on me and— "I'm Glad to See You."

"He is not seeing anyone while we are here," Miss Forbes says real smooth, "you must try to let me entertain you." "Well, I didn't let her entertain me long; but if I was you, Mary, I'd ask Bob, seeing how things is going, if he has seen the father of this new girl like those on a fashion cover, her complexion too good, I say, to be true, and her hair done up like a dancer's," Abbie Mead coughed. This Medicine Recommended by a Doctor

When a doctor uses a medicine himself besides prescribing it to his patients, he must know that it has merit.

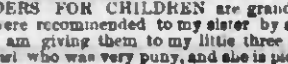

This is what Dr. J. H. Wagner, a prominent physician of Skate, Kentucky, has to say about Dr. Hartman's well-known remedy, PE-RU-NA: "I have used PE-RU-NA myself for catarrh and have given it to others for catarrh, bloating after eating and other ailments. It has proved a success in all cases with old and young men and women. All speak well of PE-RU-NA. It is the best of all tonics."

Dr. Wagner, out of the fullness of his own personal experience, for the good of all sick and suffering, recommends a medicine which he knows to be good. You may be sure a doctor would not endanger his professional reputation by endorsing PE-RU-NA unless satisfied beyond a doubt of its value.

Whether your trouble be a cough or a cold, or a more subtle catarrhal affection of the stomach, bowels or other organs, give PE-RU-NA a trial. The immediate improvement which you will see will satisfy beyond a doubt that PE-RU-NA is what you need.

PE-RU-NA may be purchased anywhere in tablet or liquid form.

PORTER HAD FELLOW FEELING UNABLE TO IDENTIFY MUMMY

Witness of Osculatory Exercises Meant to Do Good Turn in Putting Gob Wise.

The gob was on shore leave and happy because he had found a girl as affectionate as he. His joy was dimmed, however, for a bluecoat had forbidden spooning in the park and his girl had tubed it in the streets.

But life took a new turn when he saw a man kiss his wife farewell in front of the Pennsylvania station, New York. He rushed his girl toward a crowd hurrying toward the Philadelphia express and bade her a fond farewell. When the crowd thinned, they joined a throng for Washington and repeated the act. They repeated it again before the Chicago train.

This was too much for a colored porter who had been watching. He stepped up to the gob. "Boss," he said, "why don't you go downstairs and try the Long Island station? Dem local trains an a-leavin' mos' all de time."—Everybody's.

Black Opals in Australia. A find of black opal at Tintabar, near Ballina, New South Wales, has caused much excitement at Melbourne, reports Trade Commissioner A. W. Ferrin. There has been a rush of applicants for miners' rights and permission to enter private lands. The Melbourne Age states that nearly a hundred claims have already been pegged.

MODE DEMANDS SEPARATE SKIRTS

EVERY day sees the sport skirt and the hygienic blouse growing in importance, and it looks now as though they are to crowd the tailored suit for wear upon some occasions where, heretofore, the latter has reigned supreme.

For instance, sport skirts, hygienic blouses and summer sweater coats or sweaters appear often on railway trains, when their wearers are making short trips. They are practical for clean trips—that is, where all instead of coal is used in the engines, and there are no cinders or smoke. They are sponsored by people who dress well and we may look for them to persist in the use, for frequenters of the California and southern resorts have established a precedent.

Among the new arrivals in these separate skirts there are some interesting black and white models in foulard or similar silks and a few striped taffetas have entered the contest for favor, the latter in colors and white, as well as black and white. All these skirts, with dainty lingerie blouses, look well. The light, open-knit sweater, in black yarn, trimmed with white, follows naturally and is very smart, but the gayer colors look well also with these black and white skirts and white blouses.

In wool there are such good specimens as are pictured above. There is not much to say about the details of these skirts, for they are nearly all simply made this season. This one is straight with flat box-plais over the hips and inverted plaits at the back to dispose of the fullness. The set-in pockets reveal a very clever ingenuity. They appear to be straps with rounded ends turned back and fastened with small black and white buttons. Two very large buttons of the same kind fasten the wide belt.

Reflect upon your present blessings, of which every man has many, not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.—Dickens.

Revivals and New Arrivals

Among the necessities of dress which the smart shops are featuring, there are to be found revivals of fashions that pleased the gentlewomen of two or three generations ago.

Along with the vogue for shorter sleeves comes the lace mitre, to make a bid for favor, and lace stockings to be worn with satin slippers, or other finery in the way of footwear. Naturally in their company we find the older types of fans, like that shown in the picture above, the cut steel slipper buckles, together with beaded, knitted and crocheted purses and wide-brimmed, flower-trimmed hats. They are all enchanting, with a flavor of old-time elegance.

Among new arrivals there are some matched sets in sports clothes that soon destined to success, with people who can afford them. They are the new skirts, scarfs and hats made to match, or skirts, scarfs and parasols, or scarf, bag and hat; in fact almost any combination of not more than three pieces. They are a triumph at southern resorts and will journey north and reappear in the summer on the beaches, in the mountains, and elsewhere. These sets are classed among sports clothes, but some other way of describing them must be found, for that term is too narrow. "Pastime clothes" fits pretty well. They are of several degrees of costliness and expensiveness—out of the category of inexpensive fashions entirely. Still, a clever needlewoman might acquire a matched set without too much extravagance by making the pieces herself.

One very handsome set is made of white figured fantaisi silk combined with white and sapphire blue striped silk of the same kind. The upper part of the skirt is of the all white and the side panels and border of the striped silk. The long scarf is white with bordered ends in the stripe and the crown of the soft hat is also white, but the upruling brim is striped. One can think of many color combinations that would be as adorable as this masterpiece in blue and white.

There is a decided vogue for the dark silk blouse which will be welcomed by women who go in for the practical things.

Kid for Hats. Opinion in the millinery trade is to the effect that a novel fabric called kid, which was introduced in hats last fall for the first time, will have bigger vogue in the season ahead. Unlined kid, as shown by an importer, is soft and pliable, despite its being treated with a rubberized glazing. The material can be had in a number of attractive colors, some of the most effective being peach, gray and an unusual shade called a "deep Copenhagen" blue.

Child's Wardrobe. Among the warm weather fabrics that will be favored for the child's wardrobe may be mentioned heavy linen, gingham, especially striped and Scotch plaid weaves, natural colored pongee, and taffeta. Taffeta, of course, is designed for frocks of the "dressy" type, but the other materials are all washable and, therefore, in the utility class. For early spring, serge will play its part. Some smart little models are shown equipped with detachable gimples of white pique.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Noble deeds are held in honor, but the wild world sorely needs Hearts or patience to unravel this—the worth of common deeds.—Stedman.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR DINNER.

A rather unusual cake is prepared according to the following recipe:

French Sponge Cake.—Separate the yolks and whites of four eggs, beat the yolks to a cream, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Sift one cupful of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder; add to the first mixture, stirring lightly.

Bake in two small layers. When cold, spread with the following filling: Beat to a cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, add gradually one-quarter of a cupful of powdered sugar; drop into this the yolk of an egg, beat well; add a second yolk and beat again. Add a tablespoonful of strong coffee infusion. Stand on ice until cold.

Mock Cherry Pie.—Mix one cupful of cranberries, cut in halves and washed under the tap to remove the seeds; add one cupful of raisins, one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour and one-third of a cupful of hot water. Set in a warm place while preparing the crust. Bake with two crusts.

Nut Omelet.—Put through a meat chopper a half cupful of nuts; beat three eggs until light, add salt and pepper and three tablespoonfuls of cold water; then add the nutmeats and mix well. Put a piece of butter the size of a walnut in a frying pan; when hot, pour in the mixture, and as soon as it begins to set lift the edges until it is firm all through; fold over and send it to the table on a hot dish.

Harvard Pudding.—Mix and stir two and one-half cupfuls of flour with three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-third of a cupful of sweet fat. Beat one egg, add one cupful of milk and combine with the flour mixture. Turn into a buttered mold, cover, steam two hours. Serve with warm apple sauce and hard sauce.

Parsnip Croquettes.—Cut in halves, lengthwise, four uniform-sized parsnips; cook until tender; remove the skins and mash until perfectly smooth; add butter, salt and pepper and set aside to cool. When cool mold into balls, roll in egg, then crumbs, and roll in fat. Serve as a garnish for a roast.

Chocolate Cake.—Take one cupful of brown sugar, add half a cupful and a half of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Dissolve two squares of chocolate in half a cupful of boiling water and add to the cake the st. thing. Flavor with vanilla and add a little salt. Bake in two layers.

For the housewife who finds it necessary to pack a lunch for the dainty schoolgirl, the husky lad or the business man, working outside or inside, the nature of the sandwich will vary. More satisfying and hearty fillings will be necessary for the man at hard labor.

Of the first importance in the preparation of sandwiches is bread of a close texture, 24 hours old. White, entire wheat, Graham or brown and rye are all favorites. Nut bread makes an especially nice sandwich bread, either that raised with yeast or baking powder bread. The following is a baking powder bread which may be used when cold: Take one cupful of milk, one beaten egg, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, sifted with two and one-quarter cupfuls of flour. Bake in a loaf pan in a moderate oven 45 minutes.

Bread made of sweetened bread dough, with an egg, cinnamon or orange and lemon rind for flavoring, when sliced thin and spread with fresh butter, is most satisfactory and gives variety.

Bread for sandwiches should be sliced thin. The butter should be softened and creamed to spread without difficulty. The butter may be creamed with nuts, pounded nuts or parsley, celery or any desired flavor.

Lettuce, tomato, cucumber and mayonnaise combinations should not be made long ahead of time. Such sandwiches are best made a few minutes before serving.

Sandwiches may be kept in a tight tin box near the ice, but not in it. Sandwiches ice cold are not good. If wrapped in waxed paper and kept in a cool place they will be in good condition for half a day, or longer. The removal of the crust is desirable when serving a dainty sandwich for an afternoon tea or luncheon; cut in fancy shapes and decorated with chopped vegetables in designs, they look very fancy, but for ordinary occasions the crusts are retained.

ELECTRICITY FOR THE FARMER

What is a farmer's time worth? What is he worth an hour? Does he charge his business—the business of farming—with the value of the time he gives to it? And does he know how much time he is giving to executive work and productive labor and how much to non-productive labor? The farmer who is not giving these things a little thought is not in the front rank of those who are making of farming what it really should be—a business on a business basis.

The average gross income from a farm of one hundred and fifty acres will be something over $3,000, and to produce that income between 7,000 and 8,000 hours of productive labor are required. This makes the average productive labor hour worth about 40 cents.

To make every one of these 40 cent hours productive of its share of profit, it is necessary to reduce non-productive labor to the minimum, and in farming as in manufacturing it has been found that the best way to do this is to use labor-saving machinery. The small electric light and power plants now in use on so many farms accomplish a lot of this labor saving. Instead of spending hours pumping and carrying water for stock and for all household purposes the modern farm family has an electric pumping system installed, which keeps water at a pressure of fifty pounds wherever it is needed in the house or barns. Grindstones, fanning mills and many other light power appliances in the barn which used to require the time of two men are now turned by electricity. In the house the pumping, churning, separating, sweeping, washing and ironing are all done by electricity, relieving the farmer's wife of a great part of the burdens which have made her life a hard one. And of course electric light itself makes the farm home a bright and cheerful place to live in.

Where electricity serves the farm family we find the best of living conditions, and we find too that every member of that family makes each hour of labor pay a profit.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I, the undersigned, do hereby announce that it has been rumored by some persons that doctor Studley's method of treatment at the Riverside Sanatorium did not agree with me, and had left some bad after effects, (Paranoia) because I didn't show up after I left the sanatorium, and therefore made it necessary to lock me up in jail for a few days, and then committed me to the insane asylum on false charges, as was stated in a former issue of the Statesman. It was more of a punishment than anything else, and therefore made it a hard task for me to endure, so as not to become crazy. I will state right here that I left the Riverside Sanatorium in a perfectly healthy condition, physically and mentally and without any bad after effects. But I have a grudge now, and I despise the leaders, who committed me to the insane asylum and who denied my absolute facts before and I shall certainly avoid such persons. The reason why I didn't show up after leaving the Riverside Sanatorium is this. Any person who is brought into such a bad situation as I was brought in through his or her own fault, or through the christian malice of others, and don't feel ashamed or disgusted about it, has very little character. Should the necessity arise at any time, as to the credibility of this statement, I will cheerfully testify in Doctor Studley's favor.

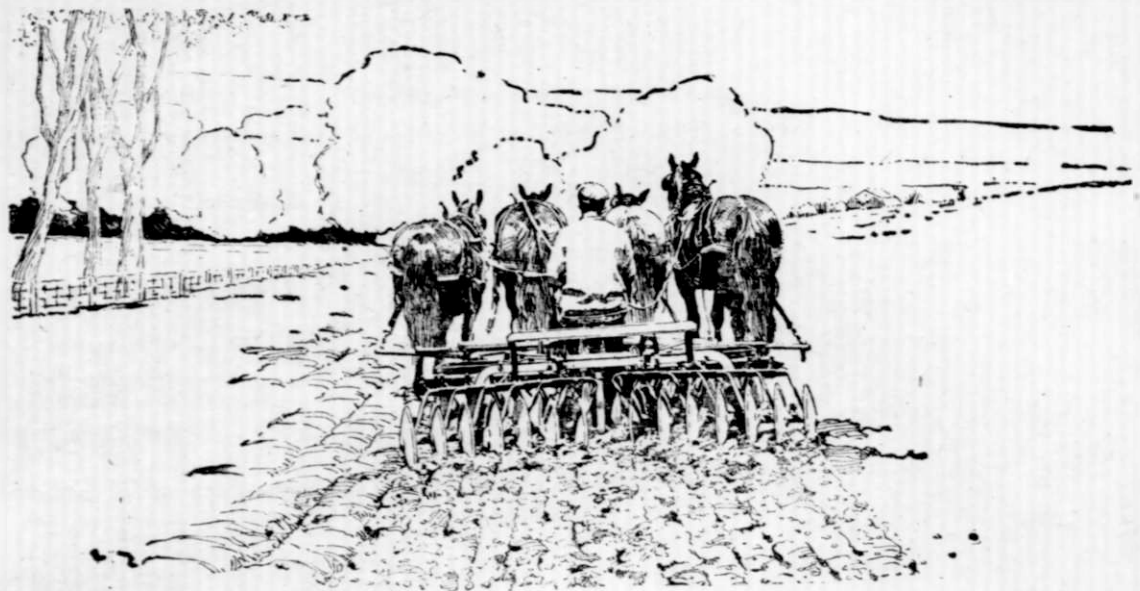

(Signed) Christian Guggisberg.—Advertisement.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

The next time you have a cough or cold try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is pleasant to take and you are sure to be pleased with the relief which it affords. This remedy has a wide reputation for its cures of coughs and colds.

Next to a General? The large number of "Generals" in Haiti is due to the fact that this rank is awarded for almost any sort of service to the state or politics.

The Sun is Drawing Dollars Out of Your Pocket

You have noticed the thin light vapor that arises from newly plowed ground. But—did you know that this vapor represents DOLLARS going out of your POCKET? It does. That vapor is valuable moisture being drawn from the sun's rays, which act like a suction pump and pump the water out of the ground. This is a costly draft on your future crop prospects. The sub-soil moisture is nature's provision for nourishing the seed and stimulating a healthy, vigorous growth.

To save all the moisture for your crop, cover the surface of the plowed ground with a pulverized dust mulch prepared by an INTERNATIONAL DISK HARROW. This serves two ends. While permitting moisture to seep in from on top it offers effectual resistance to the rays of the sun,—clings up the "suction pipes"—and hoards the sub-soil water so necessary to the proper germination and growth of the seed.

Aside from this important reason why you should own an INTERNATIONAL DISK HARROW there is also the matter of preparing the right kind of a seed-bed and killing weeds to be considered.

In addition to Disk Harrows the International Line of tillage implements smoothing a spring-tooth harrows and 1-horse cultivators. See us about your tillage requirements the next time you are in town.

"No, Bill, I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for it."

THAT'S what users say about Delco-Light, the complete electric plant.

Levi Stout, Coffee Creek, Montana, says: "I would not take $2,000 for my Delco-Light if I could not get another."

Albert Knoepke, Moccasin, Montana, says: "I would rather quit the ranch than do without Delco-Light."

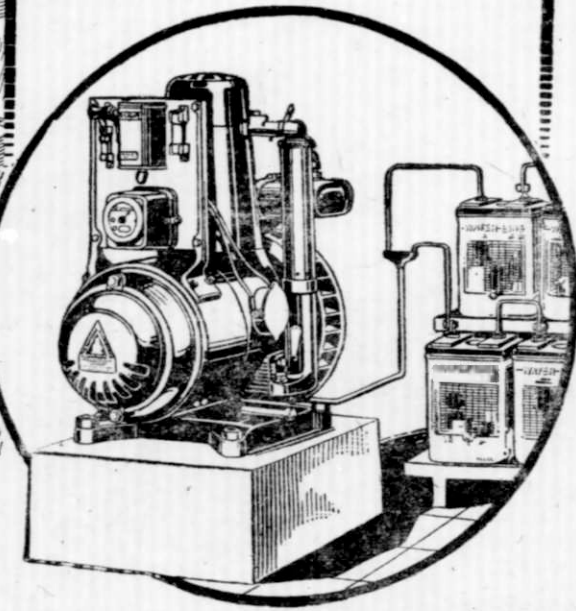

Why are these men so enthusiastic?

It's because Delco-Light, with its successful air cooling, its one place to oil, its kerosene burning engine and production of four kilowatt hours of electricity per gallon of fuel, gives them maximum service with minimum attention.

The experiences of more than 75,000 satisfied users prove these things to be true of Delco-Light.

It turned to snow during the day, however, and by next morning it remained so until Monday, when the weather moderated, and the snow commenced to melt, flooding the street. This is the first thaw we have experienced since November 29th. This winter was one of the coldest we have had for many years.

ASKS BILLION TAX CUT

W. G. McAdoo Says U. S. Business is Fettered.

Declares Heavy Tax is Contributing Factor of Large Proportions in High Cost of Living.

Washington, March 6.—An immediate billion-dollar reduction in federal taxes was urged in a statement issued here by William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury.

McAdoo proposed that collection of a tax to establish a sinking fund for retirement of the war debt, recommended by former Secretary Glass to begin with the fiscal year, 1920, be postponed for two years, and that the deferred payments of European interest be funded until Europe is in position to pay its interest charges.

"The financial policies of the nation as embodied in future congressional legislation," Mr. McAdoo said, "should realize the utmost economy in expenditure and might well fund in long term bonds $1,000,000,000 per annum for two years of the amount now raised by taxation."

"Under the laws a tax to establish a 1 per cent sinking fund to retire bonds now outstanding is to be collected beginning with the fiscal year 1920. This might well be postponed for at least two years and thus reduce the tax burden by $250,000,000 annually. There, too, is the debt which Europe owes us and which now amounts to about $1,000,000,000. If the economic restoration of Europe had proceeded far enough so that Europe could now pay interest on this debt (as she will be able to within a few years) we should have an income of $500,000,000 from this source. But that is not now available. Why not fund that amount against the day when it will come back to us? By postponing for two years the establishment of a sinking fund and funding the deferred payments of European interest, we could cover $750,000,000 of the billion dollars by which our taxation might be reduced."

"By discontinuing purchase of Liberty bonds for retirement under provisions of existing law the treasury would be relieved of a large burden. It would seem that reduction of our tax bill for the next two years in this manner could be accomplished and that it would involve the issuance of additional bonds to the extent of probably not more than one and a half billion dollars."

"The immediate burden of taxation is too great. It is having an injurious effect on business. It is a contributing factor of large proportions in the high cost of living."

RAILROADS GIVEN PREFERENCE

Director General Recalls Old Lists Used for Division of Coal During War by the United States Fuel Administration.

Washington, March 8.—A coal shortage estimated in the neighborhood of 50,000,000 tons resulted in the complete re-establishment of preferential lists by Director General of Railways Walter D. Hines. Acting under the powers conferred upon him by the president under executive orders issued February 28 and March 5, Director Hines ordered that all producers and shippers give preference in the shipment of bituminous coal as follows:

- 1. Railroads.
2. Army and navy, together with other departments of the federal government.
3. State and county departments and institutions.
4. Public utilities.
5. Retail dealers.

STARTS RAIL BOARD

Wilson Asks Unions and Companies to Submit Names. Believed That Rail Workers Will Not Force Their Demand for Increase in Wages at This Time.

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson asked the railway executives and employees to join in selecting representatives for a bipartisan board "for the purpose of attempting by conference to agree" upon a solution of the railway wage problem under section 301 of the railroad bill.

In his letter to the employees President Wilson quoted from his communication to them of last Saturday, saying he believed such a board would go far toward maturing the wage dispute "for final disposition" and asked that the brotherhood select "such numbers of representatives as may seem appropriate" to conduct the conference.

Both sides were requested by the president to forward the names of their representatives to Director General Hines, who, the letter said, would arrange for the first conferences at which questions of procedure and representation which might arise could be decided.

Representatives of the railroad unions are understood to have voted to bring the new railroad law a trial in bringing about a settlement of their wage demands.

It is understood also that they decided to hold in abeyance plans to test the constitutionality of the law and not to refer the controversy to the union membership for a vote "until the law has been given a fair trial."

This means, it is said, that all danger of a general strike at this time has been removed. One of the union officials said: "We are all good Americans and desire to go along with the president as far as we can."

Back in Conway's office, while the agreement was being drawn, Irene was possessed of a consuming desire to consult with Dave Eiden. She was uneasy about this transaction in which her mother prospered so precipitately to invest the greater part of her little fortune.

"My health was never better," Mrs. Hardy interrupted. "And I'm not going to miss a chance like this health of mine."

But her mother was writing a check. "I shall give you five thousand dollars now," she said, "and the balance when you give me the deed, or whatever it is. This is the proper way, isn't it?"

"Well, it's done," said Irene with an uneasy laugh which her excitement pinched a little higher than she had intended.

In an adjoining room Dave Eiden heard that and it stirred some remembrance in him. Instantly he connected it with Irene Hardy. The truth was Irene Hardy had been in the background of his mind during every waking hour since Bert Morrison had dropped her bombshell upon him.

"You are not," said Dave. "You are charging this woman twenty-five thousand dollars for a house that won't bring ten thousand."

"I heard your voice," he said, in quiet tones that gave no hint of the emotion beneath. "I am very glad to see you again. I took the hand which she extended, in the firm, warm grasp; it was nothing in it, as Irene protested to herself, that was more than firm and warm, but it set her finger tips a-trembling."

"My mother, Mr. Eiden," she managed to say, and she hoped her voice was as well controlled as his had been. Mrs. Hardy looked on the clean-billed young man with her dark eyes and the brown mouth face, but the name suggested nothing. "You remember," Irene went on, "I told you of Mr. Eiden. It was at his ranch we stayed when father was hurt."

"Oh, I suppose," said her mother, for lack of a better answer. "Everything is so absurd in the West. But you were good to my daughter, and to poor, dear Andrew. If only he had been spared. Women are so ungrateful these business responsibilities, Mr. Conway. It is fortunate there are a few reliable firms upon which we can lean in our inexperience."

"Mother has bought a house," Irene explained to Dave. "We thought this was a safe place to come"—A look on Eiden's face caused her to pause. "Why, what is wrong?" she said.

Dave looked at Conway, at Mrs. Hardy, and at Irene. He was instantly aware that Conway had "stung" them. It was common knowledge in the office circles that the bottom was going out. The firm of Conway & Eiden had been scurrying for cover, as quietly and secretly as possible, to avoid alarming the public, but scurrying for cover, nevertheless. And Dave had acquiesced in that policy. His position was extremely difficult.

"I don't think I would be in a hurry to buy," he said, slowly turning his eyes on his partner. "You would perhaps be wiser to rent a home for a while. Rents are becoming easier."

"But I have bought," said Mrs. Hardy, and there was triumph rather than regret in her voice. "I have paid my deposit."

"It is the policy of this firm," Eiden continued, "not to force or take advantage of hurried decisions. The fact that you have already made a deposit does not alter that policy. I think I may speak for my partner and the firm when I say that your deposit will be held to your credit for thirty days, during which time it will constitute an option on the property which you have selected. If, at the end of that time, you are still of your present mind, the transaction can go through as now planned; and if you have changed your mind your deposit will be returned."

Conway shifted under Dave's direct eye. He preferred to look at Mrs. Hardy. "What Mr. Eiden has told you about the policy of the firm is quite true," he managed to say. "But, as it happens, this transaction is not with Conway & Eiden, but with me personally. I find it necessary to dispose of the property which I have just sold to you at such an exceptional price—he was looking at Mrs. Hardy—and naturally I cannot run a chance of having my plans overturned by any possible change of mind on your part."

"I am entirely satisfied," said Mrs. Hardy. "The fact that Mr. Eiden wants to get the property back makes me more satisfied," she added, with the peculiarly irritating laugh of a woman who thinks she is extraordinarily shrewd and is only very slightly wrong.

"The agreement is signed," said Dave. He walked to the desk and picked up the documents, and the check that lay upon them. His eye ran down the familiar contract. "This agreement is in the name of Conway & Eiden," he said. "This check is payable to Conway & Eiden."

Conway's livid face had become white, and it was with difficulty he controlled his anger. "They are all pointed that way," he explained. "I am going to have them indorsed over to me."

"You are not," said Dave. "You are charging this woman twenty-five thousand dollars for a house that won't bring ten thousand. The firm of Conway & Eiden will have nothing to do with that transaction. It won't even indorse it over."

A fire was burning in the grate. Dave walked to it and very slowly and deliberately thrust the agreement into the flame.

"Well, if that doesn't 'beat all' cow punchers so discourteous?" "I mean no discourtesy," said Dave. "If my behavior has seemed abrupt, I assure you I have only sought to serve Doctor Hardy's widow—and his daughter."

"It is a peculiar service," Mrs. Hardy answered, curtly. "I can only apologize for my partner's behavior," said Conway. "It need not, however, affect the transaction in the slightest degree. A new agreement will be drawn at once—an agreement in which the firm of Conway & Eiden will not be concerned."

"That will be more satisfactory," said Mrs. Hardy. She intended the remark for Dave's ears, but he had moved to a corner of the room and was conversing in low tones with Irene. "I am sorry I had to make your mother's acquaintance under circumstances which, I fear, she will not even try to understand," he had said to Irene.

"Oh, Dave—Mr. Eiden, I mean—that is—you don't know how proud—you don't know how proud of a man you made me feel you are." She was flushed and excited. "Perhaps I shouldn't talk like this. Perhaps—" "It all depends on one thing," Dave interrupted.

"What is that?" "It all depends on whether we are Miss Hardy and Mr. Eiden or whether we are still Irene and Dave."

Her bright eyes had fallen to the floor and he could see the tremor of his fingers as they rested on the back of a chair. She did not answer him directly. But in a moment she spoke. "Mother will buy the house from Mr. Conway," she said. "She is like that. And when we are settled you will come and see me, won't you?"

When the Hardys had gone Conway turned to Eiden. "We had better try and find out where we stand," he said, trying to speak dispassionately, but there was a tremor in his voice. "I agree," returned Eiden, who had no desire to evade the issue. "Do you consider it fair to select inexperienced women for your victims?"

"Conway made a deprecating gesture. "There is nothing to be gained by quarreling, Dave," he said. "Let us get at the facts. When we have agreed as to facts, then we may agree as to procedure."

"Shoot," said Dave. He stood with his shoulder toward Conway, watching the dusk settling about the foothill city. "I think," said Conway, "we can agree that the boom is over. We have done well, on paper. The thing now is to convert our paper into cash."

boom is over, where do we stand? We are rated as millionaires, but we haven't a thousand dollars in the bank at this moment. This—the lifted Mrs. Hardy's check—"would have seen us over next payday, but you say the firm must have nothing to do with it. And which is the more immoral—since you have spoken of the morality—accept labor from clerks whom you can't pay or to sell property to women who say they want it and are satisfied with the price? We have literally thousands of unsettled contracts. We must keep our staff together. We have debts to pay, and we owe it to our creditors to make collections so that we can pay those debts, and we can't make collections without a staff. Why, on the property we are now holding the taxes alone will amount to twenty thousand dollars a year. And I put it up to you, if we are going to stand on sentiment, who's going to pay the taxes?"

"I know," said Dave, whose anger over the treatment of the Hardys was already subsiding. "We are in the grip of the system. Still—in

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Kenosha—The curtain was rung down on the famous American Brass company robbery of last March in the municipal court here when August Blank, third of the trio of bandits to be sent "over the safe" pleaded guilty to "dominating the raid" and was sentenced by Judge Tuilly to serve thirty years at Waupun. Blank had no attorney and asked for none. Earl Loveday and Carl O. Carlson, his pals, are both serving life sentences at the state penitentiary. All three were Chicago gunmen.

Madison—More than 500 beaver tags have been issued by the state conservation commission so far this year to trappers in northern counties that have open season on beavers during February and March. Petitions are now being received by the commission urging a closed season for a year or so on the little fur bearing animals whose skins now bring from $60 to $110 each. Trapping on the scale of this year and last will wipe out the beavers, the petitioners say.

Madison—Bonus checks to Wisconsin soldier boys are signed at the rate of 1,500 an hour by a new process which has been installed at the office of the state treasurer. The new machine is called the stigmograph and signs five checks at a time. The person signing the check writes his own name, and by the same movement operates a piece of apparatus which makes five identical signatures.

Antigo—The popular impression that Havana is flooded with Americans in quest of Dr. F. V. Watson, who, with his family, just returned from a sojourn in the south, which included a trip to Cuba. The authorities are inclined to believe it to be the work of local talent.

 Maryland in History.
 The city of Baltimore was founded in 1728, Frederick in 1745 and Georgetown in 1751. Maryland played an honorable part in the Revolutionary war, and in 1783 congress met at Annapolis, where, on December 23, after the conclusion of peace, Washington resigned his commission as commander in chief. In the war of 1812 the state suffered severely. Fort Mifflin was surrendered by the English fleet in September, 1814, this battle being the occasion for the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key.
 Fisherman's Lucky Day.
 A 14-carat gold band ring was found by John Moore, one of the crew of the fishing schooner Gertrude De Costa, inside a big halibut caught on George bank recently. The ring is a nice size and is believed to have been dropped overboard from some trans-Atlantic liner. Judging from its condition when recovered from the halibut's stomach by Moore, the ring had been lost recently. Moore will wear it, as there is no way of determining the ownership.
 Hare's Ears Better Than Its Eyes.
 Although the hare has beautifully large and prominent eyes, devoid of eyelashes, and adjusted so that it can see backward and forward, they are not good eyes. Perhaps for this reason it sleeps a great part of the time and always with its eyes open. There is some compensation for poor eyes, however, in the fact that its hearing is extremely keen.
